Twenty-eighth, Montgomery, A. D. Sayre, dem.

Twenty-ninth, DeKalb and Cherokee, D. C. Case, pop.

Thirtieth, Dallas, F. L. Pettus, dem.

Thirty-first, Colbert, Marion and Franklin, W. H. Matthews, dem.

Thirty-second, Greene and Hale, William M. Browder, dem.

Thirty-third, Mobile, Thomas H. Smith, dem.

The senate will be composed of 23 democrats, 9 populites and 1 republican.

THE HOUSE.

Autauga, Thomas B. Love, dem.

Baldwin, C. W. Joseph, dem.

Barbour, Eugene Graves and A. H. Merrill, dems.

Bibb, W. W. Lavender, dem.

Blount, J. T. Stewart, dem.

Bullock, James T. Flewellen and George Harris, dems.

Butler, F. B. Lloyd, dem.

Calhoun, D. H. Brothers and Thomas W. Coleman, dems.

Chambers, J. T. Heflin and G. W. Newman, dems.

Cherokee, A. Shamblin, pop.

Chilton, Mr. Reynolds, pop.

Choctaw, A. J. Hearin, pop.

Clarke, Thomas A. Long and James A. Henderson, dems.

Clay, D. M. Carmichael, pop.

Cleburne, W. J. Campbell, pop.

Coffee, J. L. Lewis, pop.

Colbert, Wilson R. Brown, dem.

Conecuh, Frank Simmons, rep.

Coosa, J. B. Porter, rep.

Covington, J. T. Bradshaw, dem.

Crenshaw, A. R. Elland, pop.

Cullman, W. T. L. Cofer, dem.

Dale, J. C. Killebrew, pop.

Dallas, J. Craig Smith, John T. Burns and P. H. Pitts, dems.

DeKalb, J. N. Franklin, rep.

Elmore, W. A. Huddleston, pop.

Etowah, W. B. Beeson, pop.

Escambia, Mr. Henley, pop.

Fayette, M. W. McCullum, dem.

Franklin, I. T. Gast, pop.

Greene, A. J. Glover, dem.

Geneva, ——— ———, pop.

Hale, C. E. Waller and A. M. Tunstall, dems.

Henry, S. B. Wood and T. F. Epsy, pops.

Jackson, P. B. Timberlake, and Virgil Bouldin, dems.

Jefferson, J. J. Altman, I. A. Brown, Daniel A. Greene, John Harkins, L. Y. Lipscomb and D. J. Ovens, dems.

Lamar, Walter NeSmith, dem.

Lauderdale, J. J. Mitchell and ——— Killing, dems.

Lawrence, J. J. Abercombie, pop.

Lee, R. B. Barnes and Elisha Baker, dems.

Limestone, W. McClellan, dem.

Lowndes, C. P. Rogers and Joe D. Pool, dems.

Macon, J. R. Wood, dem.

Madison, J. P. Hampton and B. P. Hunt, dems.

Marengo, D. J. Meador and David M. Prowell, dems.

Marion, W. C. Davis, dem.

Mobile, Leslie B. Sheldon, F. M Robinson and J. J. DeChamps, dems.

Monroe, B. L. Hibbard, dem.

Montgomery, W. W. Hill, A. .

Wiley, A. T. Dreyspring and W. I Waller, dems.

Morgan, O. Kyle and L. P. Troup, dems.

Perry, W. A. Barron and W. C. Peer, dems.

Pickens, M. L. Stansell, dem.

Pike, W. B. Darby and A. C. Townsend, pops.

Randolph, S B Gaston, pop.

Russell, John W Knowles and W C McGuire, dems.

St Clair, John Yarbrough, pop.

Shelby, A P Longshore, pop.

Sumter, C P Mills and M B Cameron, dems.

Talladega, Cecil Browne, dem., and J C Wilson, pop.

Tallapoosa, J A Smith, dem, ———, pop.

Tuskaloosa, W W Bandon and N N Clements, dems.

Walker, W B Appling, dem.

Washington, B P Turner, dem.

Wilcox, John T Dale and Samuel Jenkins, dems.

Winston, G R Dave, rep.

New Advertisements.

We call the attention of our readers to the following new advertisements in this week's issue, viz:

COLLEGES.

Isbell Female College, Talladega, Ala.

Wesleyan Female Institute, Staunton, Va.

Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

State Normal College, Florence, Ala.

Birmingham Business College, Birmingham, Ala.

MEDICINES.

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

It is said that a good railway locomotive will travel 1,000,000 miles before it is worn out.

In these days when we are almost afraid to eat or drink or breathe by reason of the ubiquitous microbe and its supposed habit of going to and fro in the earth seeking whom it may devour, it is a real comfort to read this in a paper presented by a Chicago physician to the State Board of Health Auxiliary Sanitary Association: "Stress should be laid upon the fact that there are numberless microbes that are harmless, and very many that are useful and even necessary to mankind. Indeed, the public should be warned against microphobia (if I may use the term). The study of the microbe, its habits and tendencies, should be left to scientists. It is enough work for the public to know that the dangerous microbes thrive best and multiply fastest in dirt, just plain dirt and filth, and that the best and most convenient weapon to use in the conflict against them is soap and water in abundance, frequently applied and well rubbed in.

Personal.

ANY ONE who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, will receive information of much value and interest by writing to Pink Pills, P. O. Box 1592, Phila., Pa.

Every girl of sixteen has contempt for the patience old women have for their husbands.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

When a woman is engaged [illegible] she thinks that life has just begun

Dobbins' Floating-Borax is [illegible] and don't turn yellow with age [illegible] imitation of anything, but better [illegible] floating soap made. Be sure all [illegible] each wrapper and cake. Red [illegible]

Death is so swift that it [illegible] body and yet so slow that [illegible] it.

A Druggist's Experience.

"I have never known [illegible] directed. [illegible] has permanently cured several [illegible] of tetter [illegible] knowledge. One case of fifteen [illegible] ing, that had resisted the [illegible] skillful physician for several [illegible] manently cured by the use of [illegible] than one box." E. A [illegible]

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps [illegible] J. T. SHUPTRINE, [illegible]

Life is an [illegible] that very [illegible] to be had just as we get ready [illegible]

Piso's Cure cured me of a Th[illegible] trouble of three years' standin[illegible] Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing S[illegible] teething softens the gums, [illegible] tion, allays pain, cures wind colic [illegible]

If afflicted with sore eyes use [illegible] Thompson's Eye [illegible]ater. Druggists [illegible] a bottl[illegible].

St. Vitus' Dance. One [illegible] Dr. Fenner's Specific cures. Circular, Fredonia, N. Y.

Our I's and Other Eyes.

Our I's are just as strong as they were fifty years ago, when we have cause to use them. But we have less and less cause to praise ourselves, since others do the praising, and we are more than willing for you to see us through other eyes. This is how we look to S. F. Boyce, wholesale and retail druggist, Duluth, Minn., who after a quarter of a century of observation writes:

"I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla for more than 25 years, both at wholesale and retail, and have never heard anything but words of praise from my customers; not a single complaint has ever reached me. I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier that has been introduced to the general public." This, from a man who has sold thousands of dozens of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is strong testimony. But it only echoes popular sentiment the world over, which has "Nothing but words of praise for Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook." It kills doubts and cures doubters. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

$150 FOR $50.

THE GREATEST OFFER EVER MADE BY AN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.

The Southern Shorthand and Business University,

In "The Grand," ATLANTA, GA.,

Will immediately issue 100 Re-Organization Scholarships, including the $50 Business, $50 Shorthand and $50 Academic Courses.

All Three Combined for the Price of One—$50.

Good in Day or Night Sessions.

In touch with the business and professional men of the entire South. Several thousand graduates in positions. Superb equipment. New typewriters.

Only 100 hundred Scholarships will be offered at $50, and they will be sold at once. After September 1, regular catalogue rates. Send for catalogue, free. Address

A. C. BRISCOE, Pres., Atlanta, Ga.

Howard College,

EAST LAKE, ALA.

The Fall term of this old and honored institution begins

September 22, 1896.

The school will be conducted upon strict, business principles.

Mountain spring water supplies the campus, and the location is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and such demoralizing agencies are excluded from East Lake by an act of the Legislature.

The society of the place is cultured and religious. The students of Howard College are free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns; also from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements of such places. It is six miles from Birmingham, and students will be allowed to go to that city once a week only; also to visit the manufacturing plants from time to time with an officer of the college, and that from 8 to 12 o'clock a. m. on Saturdays.

Furnished room, fuel, board, tuition, medical fee, and laundry for room, $44.00 per term, or $188 per year. For catalogue and other information, address

A. D. SMITH, East Lake, Ala.

UNION FEMALE COLLEGE

Eufaula, Alabama.

Charming location; delightful climate; wonderful health record. This is a chartered college of the highest grade. Literary faculty unsurpassed in the south. Art, Elocution, Physical Culture, etc., under the finest instructors. CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC (Piano, Voice, Organ, Violin, Harp, etc.) unquestionably THE BEST. School select. Fare excellent. Terms very reasonable. Session opens September 17th. Please write for catalogue.

T. J. SIMMONS, A. M. Pres't.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute,

A. & M. COLLEGE,

AUBURN, ALABAMA.

The next session begins Wednesday, September 16. The college offers five different courses of education. It has sixteen professors and ten well equipped laboratories in the following departments: 1, Mechanic Arts; 2, Chemistry; 3, Botany; 4, Biology; 5, Drawing; 6, Physics; 7, Electrical Engineering; 8, Mechanical Engineering; 9, Pharmacy; 10, Physiology and Veterinary Science. There is no charge for tuition; board $8.50 to $15.00 per month. For catalogue address Wm. LeRoy Broun, President.

Established 1848. Chartered 1849.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,

STAUNTON, - - VIRGINIA.

Located in the "Washington City of the Valley," where hundreds of Southern girls have been educated. Recently placed upon a new and sound financial basis. Nine different schools in Literary Department. Conservatory course of Music. Art in all its branches. Elocution, Physical Culture, and a thorough business training.

Special Features.

Healthful location (1,500 above tide); high standard of scholarship; refined social life; positive Christian influences, and reasonable terms.

For catalogue and particulars, apply to

REV. HENRY P. HAMILL, Pres't.

VERNER MILITARY INSTITUTE

TUSKALOOSA, ALA.

Send for catalogue giving advantages and terms. Especially equipped for training and caring for boys. Prepares for West Point, Annapolis, any university or college or for business.

W. H. VERNER, Principal.

LaGRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE,

LaGRANGE, GA.

Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, gymnasium. Conservatory advantages in Music. Elegant pipe organ. Art and Voice Culture specialties. [illegible] bookkeeping and [illegible] typewriting, stenography. Economical matters [illegible] social surroundings. Pupils board with faculty in College Home.

RUFUS W. SMITH, President.

TUSCALOOSA FEMALE COLLEGE,

Tuscaloosa, Ala.

REV. JOHN D. SIMPSON, A. B., President.

Fall session opens September 16, 1896.

Largest enrollment of any female college in the state. Full faculty. Electric lights; hot and cold baths. Terms reasonable. Write for catalogue.

ISBELL FEMALE COLLEGE,

1849——TALLADEGA, ALA.——1896

Leading school for girls in North Alabama. New building, gas, steam, hot and cold water baths; every modern convenience. Corps of experienced teachers. Music, Art and Elocution, specialties. Normal department. Enrollment double last year. The Bible a text book. Rates reasonable. Term opens September 17. A postal will bring you a catalog. Address

GEO. R. McNEILL, President.

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars.

COUCH & LUGENBEEL, Senoia, Ga.

MARTIN COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

PULASKI, AND SCHOOL OF MUSIC TENN.

The only Endowed Female College in the State. Permanent Endowment $30,000.00. An ideal Home School for Girls and Young Ladies. The present President and his wife, with many years experience in Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, North Carolina and Virginia, have never lost a boarding pupil by death. The best place in the South to send your daughter.

School of Music Unsurpassed. F. J. ZIESBERG, for many years at Martha Washington College, Director.

For further particulars and rates to suit the times, address

S. N. BARKER, President.

"LAYING BY TIME?" What are you going to do now? Want to earn a little ready cash? We want agents of every sex, in every county, for the Fine Art Edition of the Self-Interpreting New Testament. In addition to the aids and helps which form an encyclopedia of biblical knowledge, it contains over one hundred photographic views selected and described by Dr. Lee, author of "Making of a Man." They show the places as they appear today where the principal events in the life of the Savior transpired. Most attractive and useful edition of the New Testament has ever been published. SELLS AT SIGHT. Liberal terms to the right parties. Address H. C. HUDGINS & CO., No. 22 Kiser Building, Atlanta, Ga.

THE BANNER.

Clark

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY AUGUST 27, 1896 NO. 44.

Burglary doesn't pay very well in London. Last year 582 burglaries were reported with proceeds of $17,740, only about $30 each.

The only passenger saved from the luckless Drummond Castle, which went down off the Basque coast, was the one who occupied room No. 13.

There are, approximately, 13,500,000 voters in the United States and 8,500,000 of these, a preponderating majority, are farmers, farm laborers, or stock raisers.

An English army officer is trying to persuade his Nation that London ought to be fortified. Great Britain is not so strong on the sea as the rest of Europe combined.

The effort to reach the clouds is not confirmed to the aeronauts, notes the New Orleans Picayune. A new skyscraper is projected for New York, on the site of the old International Hotel on Park Row. The building is to be twenty-eight stories high.

The poor chap who can't afford a long holiday may be able to console himself with the aid of the writer in the London Medical Press, who says that holidays of more than ten days to a fortnight are not good for people in health who have work to do.

The Chicago Times-Herald says that "amongst the momentous end-of-the-century questions that were settled in Chicago during a recent week were: A man may own fifteen dogs, may kiss his own wife, and may take his own baby riding on his own bicycle."

The anti-this, that and other league craze has spread to France, and the latest to be formed is a society for the elimination of foreign words from the French language. An exception will surely be made in favor of a few English words and phrases, for dear to the Frenchman's heart is his success in acquiring "rosbif," "le fif o'cloque" and a few others.

The "debt tables" of Europe issued by the Economiste Europeen make interesting and eloquent comment upon the condition of affairs abroad. The combined debt of Europe, according to the journal, in 1895 was $24,393,200,000. This is an increase in ten years of $4,101,200,000. Among the countries whose public obligations have largely increased in that period are Russia first, with $1,508,200,000, and Germany with $1,148,600,000. Then follow France, with an increase of $455,600,000; Italy, with $382,800,000, and Austria-Hungary, $247,100,000. In the same period the public debt has decreased in England by $118,800,000; Spain, $78,800,000, and Denmark, $4,600,000. Of the twenty-one European countries, those with the largest debts were: France, $5,[illegible]7,800,000; England, $3,286,000,000; Russia, $3,153,400,000; Germany, $[illegible],050,400,000; Austria-Hungary, $2,804,200,000, and Italy, $2,[illegible]8,200,000. At the rate of increase of the debts of Russia and Germany in the last decade, not many years will go by before they will head the list. The increased expenses and appropriations for the army in each of these countries are mainly responsible for the additions to the public debt.

America leads the world in the bicycle industry. Within the last few months foreign orders have been received to the amount of something over $1,000,000. The popularity of the American bicycle in foreign countries can be very easily explained, says the Atlanta Constitution. Every year thousands of Americans [illegible] Europe. Experience has shown [illegible] pleasure can be derived [illegible] these European trips through [illegible] the bicycle than without it. [illegible] European life as it really [illegible] bicycle has many advantages [illegible] window. Every American [illegible] who takes a bicycle [illegible] to take his machine with him when he goes abroad [illegible] the foreigner has become [illegible] with the American bicycle. This acquaintance has [illegible] the superior advantages of our [illegible] of European [illegible] and consequently [illegible]

[illegible]

OH! SUCH PATRIOTISM

POLITICIANS' PLAYTHING AND DEMAGOGUES' TOOL.

The Treatment Accorded to the Private Soldier and the "Patriotic" Money Furnisher (?) During Our Late War Compared.

"Oh, liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!" exclaimed Madame Roland as she ascended the steps of the French guillotine. "Oh, patriotism, what a prolific source of misery thou art!" the world's masses may well exclaim.

Webster defines "patriotism" as "love of country; the passion which aims to serve one's country."

According to the common interpretation of this definition there seems to be but one way in which one's "love of country" may display itself to gain for him the title of "patriot." The ditch digger, the engine stoker, the farmer, mechanic or artisan of any kind is never spoken of as a "patriot" while engaged in humbly "serving his country" by his daily toil, but let danger threaten the stability of his government, its laws, its flag, and his "patriotism" will at once be judged by the zeal he displays in rushing to their defense.

The watchwords of patriotism in England are "God save the queen," in Germany "Long live the emperor," and in this land of the free where the people are supposed to rule, "Hail Columbia, happy land." There was a time, about a third of a century ago, when it seemed possible that this country might support two breeds of patriots, one directly opposed to the other. Had the Southern confederacy succeeded in its designs Jeff Davis and Robert E. Lee would have beeen specially honored as the leading "patriots" of that section and an imaginary line like that which divides us from Mexico and Canada would have marked the bounds where treason to the south might lose itself in patriotism to the north or vice versa.

It is the establishment or maintenance of these imaginary lines, supposed to divide one "country" from another, but which really separates the victims of one gang of politicians from those of another. That "patriotism" is supposed to do its perfect work. The history of the world shows that untold billions of wealth and millions of lives have been sacrificed upon the altar of "patriotism" and this proves that the sentiment for which it is supposed to stand is diametrically opposed to that which Jesus embodied in the doctrine of "the Fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man."

There are patriots and patriots. It was considered very patriotic on the part of our farmers, mechanics, clerks and laboring men generally when Sumter was fired upon to drop everything and spring to the defense of their "country" for the poor wages of thirteen dollars per month. It will be remembered that the only "dollar" recognized at that time by our national government was composed of gold or silver and that therefore the promise of thirteen dollars per month meant thirteen silver or gold dollars. As the war progressed, however, silver and gold disappeared into the bank vaults and the government could not comply with its promise to the soldiers, but to meet the demands of the war it had to issue paper dollars and declare them to be a full legal tender for certain purposes, among these purposes, of course, being that of paying the soldier, who had been promised silver or gold.

While the war was on there was another class of men in the country who while not recognized as patriots at the time, certainly were nevertheless, the most patriotic of patriots, or else the country is now being egregiously deceived. That class was the bankers who it is now said "furnished the money" with which the government carried on its gigantic war operations. One peculiarity which attaches to these "patriots-after-the-war" is that the further we get away from the dark days of the rebellion the brighter and fairer appears the service they rendered until now, thirty-one years after the war the service rendered by the common soldier who left home and loved ones to serve in the ranks of the army and if need be die in the field or moan his life away in a hospital tent, is thrown completely in the shade by the splendor of the act of those who "furnished the money" to carry on the war. There is nothing too good for that class [illegible] and while the money they "furnished" was frequently depreciated to less than half value yet that same money [illegible] to be returned in gold, and if "patriots" can ever find a better money than gold it will, of course, give it to the men who so generously assumed the awful responsibility of "backing the government" at that time.

Oh, yes, there are patriots and patriots.

Let us briefly consider the "money furnishing" kind.

On the first of December, 18[illegible] [illegible]

the government wouldn't have been sufficient to pay one year's war expenses. On the 25th of February, 1862, Abraham Lincoln signed the legal tender act, and the money created by that act paid the annual national expenditures as follows:

1862	$570,841,700
1863	895,796,630
1864	1,298,144,656
1865	1,897,674,224
Total	$4,662,457,210

Everybody old enough to remember that period in our history can recall the flood of abuse with which the "patriotic capitalists" received this issue of "Lincoln's shinplaster." These "shinplasters" did contain a weak spot, not one that the common patriots could take advantage of, but one which proved a wonderfully rich harvest to the "money furnishing" kind. They were made a legal tender for all debts, public and private, except interest on the public debt and duties on imports," and when an importer brought goods to this country subject to import duties he was obliged to patronize one of the coin money brokers and buy enough coin from him to pay the government its import duties. It was not until the war had been going on more than two years, or in May, 1863, that the government offered a bond for sale, and then it wasn't done for the purpose of procuring money to continue the war, but for the purpose of putting the "best banking system on earth" on its feet. At this time the "exception clause" in the greenback had got in its perfect work, and because, and only because it was prevented by law from doing all that coin money would do, it depreciated one-half. Please remember, though, it was a legal tender for all debts, public and private, and when one of our "patriotic money furnishers" wanted to nearly treble his money in one day all he had to do was to take $50,000 in coin, buy $100,000 of the greenbacks, invest them in government bonds, deposit the bonds with the secretary of the treasury, receive from him $90,000 in national bank money, and $4,000 in coin interest on his bonds in advance, and invest this coin in greenbacks and here is the way his account stood:

Money invested	$50,000
Bonds received	100,000
Bank notes received	90,000
Greenbacks received for coin interest	8,000
Total	$198,000
Patriotic money furnishers	50,000
Profit on one day's deal	$148,000

Is anybody so silly as to believe that the money of these national banks, secured by government bonds, was better than the greenback?

"If the government had failed, its money wouldn't have been worth anything."

Exactly, and if you will quote the value of Confederate bonds at present it will be easy to tell you the value of the national bank money which the "patriotic money furnishers" provided (?) our government with had it failed.

"But the national banking system had to be adopted in order to make a market for our bonds, which had to be sold to prevent the further depreciation of the greenbacks by absorbing the overplus in circulation."

In the first place, what caused the greenbacks to depreciate? The exception clause and nothing else. That clause did not better the greenback one mill in the estimation of the people, but it did make a market for the "patriotic money furnisher's" coin, who put it in place? The "patriotic money furnisher," of course. In the next place, the national bank money was not any better than the greenback, and if the banker issued the 90 per cent to which he was entitled, the circulation was reduced only 10 per cent. But viewed even from the most charitable standpoint, the money furnisher did not advance a cent until he was placed where he could almost treble the value of his money in the event of government success. So it seems that his patriotism was of the kind that had to have a good big premium to compensate it for the awful "risk it ran."

Oh, yes, there are patriots and patriots.

Look at another kind a few moments.

We will say that company H Forty-seventh Illinois infantry was composed of 100 men, who enlisted for "three years or during the war." Uncle Sam promised them as a compensation for the risk they ran (?) $13, [illegible] per month. Of the original 100 who enlisted, but 28 returned at the end of the three years. The others had taken the "risk" in vain, and their bones were left to bleach and whiten, and to "God's good time" to fertilize some sunny Southern field. [illegible] seen that there are two radically different kinds of "patriots," even in this country where all men are supposed to be equal before the law.

UNCLE SAM

[illegible]

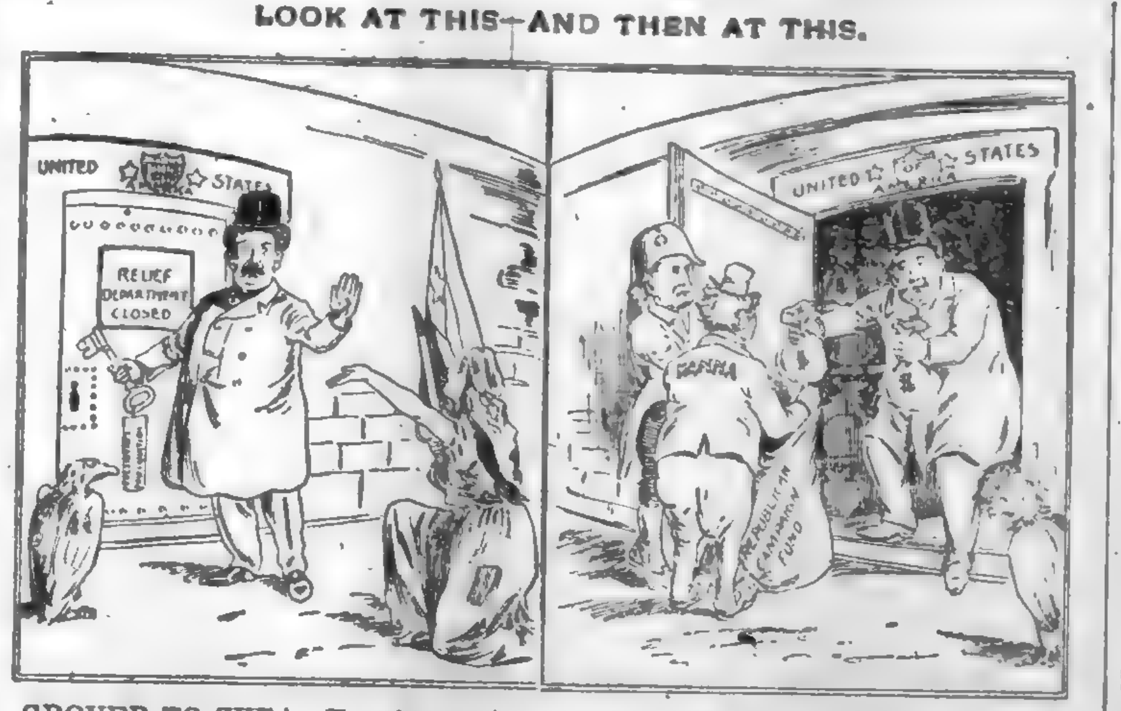
The commonest understanding is able to grasp the fact that there was not gold and silver enough coined in the whole world, to say nothing about the United States alone, to pay the nearly five billions war expenses, and that, therefore, the claim that the bonds represent "coin" furnished by certain patriotic money lenders is based on sheerest impudence. It is a matter of indisputable record that the war expenses were paid by the greenbacks; that the only bonds sold during the war were for the purpose of establishing national banks; that every bond sold by the government was paid for with greenbacks; that at least three-fourths of the entire amount sold were disposed of after the war terminated, and that the patriotic (?) gentlemen who bought them paid for them with greenbacks worth less than 50 cents on the dollar. Can you give any good reason why Uncle Sam is obliged in honor to pay them in coin, especially considering the case of Private Smith?

"Thurston on Silver."

Senator Thurston, in his speech at Madison, Wis., said: "I happened to hear W. J. Bryan four years ago in his congressional campaign in the first district of my state. I pledge you, my countrymen, and it is a solemn fact, that from the beginning of that campaign to the end W. J. Bryan advocated no other issue, made no other argument than that upon the tariff." If this is a matter of sufficient importance to be worthy of mention in this campaign the truth at least should be stated. At the commencement of the campaign of 1892 Mr. Bryan delivered two speeches in Falls City, Neb., one in the afternoon on free coinage, to which I was requested to reply, and one in the evening on the tariff, to which Judge Lansing replied. Judge Lansing and I were furnished with complete stenographic reports of the speeches and we spoke in the afternoon and evening of the same day that Bryan and Field had their first joint discussion in Lincoln. The policy to be pursued in these speeches was this: The tariff was to be the main issue and the argument in favor of free coinage was to be met with the statement that since the Sherman law was providing a sufficient increase in the volume of money and consuming the product of our silver mines it was best to let the matter rest till other nations were willing to make some arrangement to provide for the coinage of the silver product of the rest of the world. So when Mr. Bryan sought to discuss the silver question we gave but a brief reply and that to the above effect and then waded into the tariff, our "stronghold," and, by the way, got licked on our own issue. That Mr. Bryan's interest in free coinage abated in the least during the campaign is not true; in every speech which came to my notice during the campaign I made it my particular business to keep track of his arguments on the money question, and I wrote more articles on the money question for the State Journal, the leading republican paper of the state, than any other contributor, and perhaps more than any five. As I said before, we sought to force the issue on the tariff and he, happening to have heard somewhere that there were two sides to the question, took the side we left and proceeded to wipe the ground with us, leaving us sadder if not wiser.

Now, John, my dear boy, is it not true that after carefully examining the silver question you wrote some very interesting letters, one in particular to Mr. Burrows, written at my request and in reply to an invitation extended to you by the Nebraska Bimetallic league, who on my motion sent you the invitation to address them? This letter, together with two others written by you, is now being printed and is attaining wide circulation. If any of your friends want to know all about the silver question let them write to W. B. Crombie, Lincoln, Neb., for "Thurston on Silver." I notice that in these letters you failed to say anything about the foreigners owning 90 per cent of our silver mines and about there being so much silver lying on the dumps in British Columbia. As you are so near Canada you might just step over the line and ask them why they persist in importing silver when they have silver of their own to throw at the birds, for I see by a letter from Toronto to The Chicago Record July 30 that the Canadian jewelers are importing silver bullion for manufacturing purposes.

You speak about Mr. Bryan being in the employ of the mine-owners and at the same time being in the pay of the [illegible]



GROVER TO CUBA—You do not deserve liberty.

GROVER TO HANNA—Here, take this and use it in the interest of "Sound Money."

"ANARCHY," THEY SAY

ELECTION OF BRYAN WILL RESULT "IN RIOT AND RUIN."

Charles Dudley Warner Is in Line with Other Plutocrats in His Diagnosis of Existing Social and Political Conditions.

"I regard the silver agitation as a step toward anarchy. I have no doubt its success would lead to revolution and riot. Such is the logical result of the present political and social conditions, if the counsel of the conservative and intelligent citizens of the country does not prevail. I do not mean that there is any revolutionary intent in the silver doctrine, but I believe the election of Mr. Bryan on the Chicago platform would result in a financial panic. What I fear is that the result of the discovery that the adoption of the silver standard will not better existing social and political conditions with the masses of workmen out of employment would mean a revolution and rioting in our great cities. In any event the silver movement is the forerunner of disorganization. It is aimed at the destruction of property values. When I say that silver is a step toward anarchy I mean to make the point that the success of the movement would certainly bring about conditions that would lead to disorganization, riot and ruin. On the other hand I believe that sound money will be sustained by the conservative, intelligent voters. I look to the Germans, the Jews and the power of the Catholic church for support of the gold standard."—Evansville Courier.

Mr. Warner, on his way to Yellowstone Park, a delightful haven of rest for those financially able to indulge in its luxuries, to rest and recuperate, seems impressed with the idea that "existing social and political conditions with the masses" are not what they should be, and expresses the fear that "the result of the discovery that the adoption of the silver standard will not better them—would mean a revolution and rioting in our great cities."

Although expressing himself thus, Mr. Warner lets fall no hint or suggestion of a plan which would change to a satisfactory state the existing social and political conditions of the masses, but, on the contrary, expresses the belief that "sound money (the kind we now have under the social and political conditions that might be bettered) will be sustained by the conservative, intelligent voters." "I look," says Mr. Warner, "to the Germans, the Jews and the power of the Catholic church for support of the gold standard."

Wouldn't Mr. Warner be better employed in trying to devise some means of staying the "revolution" which he plainly implies is to come unless present social and political conditions are changed for the better than in attempting to array one part of our citizens against the other because of a difference in religious creeds or nationality? To the casual reader the implied sneer at the lack of intelligence on the part of our native and Protestant voters, in the insinuation that the "intelligent voters" are confined to the Germans, the Jews and the Catholic church is plain enough, but to the analytical reader it is easily apparent that the insult in what he says is in reality directed at those whose intelligence he hypocritically pretends to commend. Here is a fair analysis of what he says:

Present social and political conditions are wrong because they are such as will, unless the counsel of the conservative and intelligent citizens prevails, result in revolution and ruin. [illegible] same organs that the English, Italians and Protestants do. They have wise patriots and demagogues, truthful men and liars, strong men and weak men in their ranks, just as all other creeds and nationalities have in theirs, and it is because this is true that Mr. Warner writes himself down an ass or demagogue when he assumes, as he evidently does, that a little superficial flattery, deftly applied, is all that is necessary to array them in a solid mass on the side of the gold standard.

But let us look at Mr. Warner's argument closely, and divine, if possible, what he means. He has no doubt that the success of the silver agitation "would lead to revolution and riot." Who would instigate the riot and who would revolt in the event of the success of the silver agitation? Would the silver agitators revolt against the very conditions which they were the means of bringing about? Certainly not. Mr. Warner tries to explain his position, which is palpably that of the "rule or ruin" class, by saying that about his "fear" that when the workingmen find that the political and social conditions have not been bettered by free silver they will at once engage in rioting and revolution in our great cities. But the sentence in which he expresses this "fear" is followed immediately by the declaration that: "In any event the silver movement is the forerunner of disorganization. It is aimed at the destruction of property values."

In any event, heh? the silver movement is the forerunner of disorganization. If this is the case doesn't Mr. Warner cut a very poor figure in standing around with his hands in his pockets talking about his "fear" of something which is bound to happen in any event? Wouldn't he be better and more intelligently employed if he were putting his affairs in shape to meet what must come in any event? The "in any event" includes the election of Mr. McKinley, does it not? Certainly it does, and if Mr. Warner is right concerning existing conditions and the effect of silver agitation, he is right in including even the election of Mr. McKinley among the events which will not prevent "disorganization." Every posted man knows that the silver question is up for settlement, and that the Republican senators from the western states without whose help the McKinley forces even if successful beyond their most sanguine expectations in the present campaign, have laid down the ultimatum to their party, demanding silver legislation as the price of their assistance on tariff legislation. So it seems that the "destruction of property values" is bound to come in any event.

But as the only "property values" threatened by the "silver movement" are those artificially conferred upon manufacturers and gold and gold bonds by class legislation, the people may rest serenely assured that their destruction since they are enjoyed at the expense of all other real "property values," will prove of lasting benefit to legitimate values.

Mr. Warner is a gold bug of gold bugs and what he lacks in ability to prove the gold standard a remedy for wrong existing conditions he makes up in recklessness of assertion and impudent attempts to cajole and flatter, hoping by this means to create a discord among the people which will result in benefit to the power at whose throne he worships. He is laboring under a misconception as to the degree of real intelligence existing in this country.

[illegible]

TRUTH NOT THEIRS.

GOLD STANDARDITE PREVARICATIONS RUNNING WILD.

Not Being Able to Convince Voters a Concerted Effort Is Being Made to Mix Up the Populistic 16 to 1 Proposition.

Advocates of the single gold standard do not discuss the free-coinage-of-silver proposition fairly. They start out with the present low price of silver bullion as the proper and natural relative value of that metal as compared with gold and argue from this that silver money is not sound or stable, and that it would be dishonest to have free and unlimited coinage. They do not attempt to explain the various acts of unfriendly legislation by which silver has been discredited and made to take a position in the money system of the country it never occupied prior to 1873. Congress then sent it into the world branded with the mark of Cain, and has allowed no opportunity to pass since without giving it a kick. Let the gold barons tell the people why it has been necessary to [illegible] the people's money on every occasion, if it could not hold its own in an even race with gold. The American-British gold party by prating about the 50-cent dollar cannot fool the people. They know that the bullion in a silver dollar is worth only 53 cents, and they also know that labor and farm products have kept even pace with its decline. They have all the light on the subject that they need. What they demand to know is what has brought about this condition. They have a very strong idea that the gold barons of Wall and Lombard streets are now, and have been all the time, at the bottom of the trouble. That the legislation against silver was conceived in iniquity for the sole purpose of playing into the hands of these same money sharks. The fact that the republican party has been in power almost continuously since 1860 and is responsible for the laws passed during that time, and the further fact that the platform of that party recently adopted at St. Louis was dictated by these same gold barons and is wholly in their interest has led the independent, thinking portion of the American people to believe that that grand old party has sold itself, body and soul, to the money power. And the people want to hear from it on these questions. They will not be led from the issue by any cry of anarchism, socialism or repudiation. If republicans are so capable of making good laws and love the dear people so well these same people will be pleased to have them explain why the country is in its present condition, and what measure of relief they propose. They want these questions fairly met and discussed. No dodge or straddle will do. No doubt Maj. McKinley would much rather the gold plank had been left out of his platform. It is there, however, and he must accept it and stand upon it. If the single gold standard is such a good thing why doesn't McKinley say so, and not talk so much about the tariff—an issue the people don't care to hear about now? Does any one believe that if the little Napoleon felt clear and strong on the money question he would not put it to the front in every speech he makes? When he does aproach it he deals in such general platitudes that no one can tell just what his views are. It is not fair to the voters to have a candidate for president with no convictions on the main issue before them. It looks like an attempt to fool them. Public sentiment has made the issue, and republicans will be compelled to meet and discuss it fairly.

Honesty and Dollars

Here is a sentence from one of Mr. McKinley's speeches: "The republican party stands for honest money and the chance to earn it by honest toil." If this is true everybody ought to vote the republican ticket. But let us see. What is honest money? Money is that which can be used at any time to purchase what is wanted or to pay a debt. Honest money is money whose intrinsic value or its equivalent coincides with that expressed on its face.

Gold and silver or their representative in circulation are, and have been, [illegible]

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly, K. of L. of Alabama.

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

THE PLATFORM.

"The People's Party of the State of Alabama, in convention assembled, recognizing the supremacy of political liberty over all the questions that can come before the people of the State for solution at the general State election, to take place on the 3rd day of August, 1896, reaffirm our allegiance to the cardinal principles of Populism as follows:

"First—We demand a free ballot and a fair count.

"Second—We believe in the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of international agreement.

"Third—We demand that miners and others like corporate labor be paid in lawful money of the United States semi-monthly.

"Fourth—We favor a tariff for revenue, so adjusted as to protect, as far as practicable the farmers, and the labour in our shops, mines, factories and mills, and their products against foreign pauper labor."

Judge Zell Gaston's amendment to the 2d section was as follows:

"We demand the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the abolition of national banks, the expansion of the currency to meet the needs of the people and the demands of commerce, free from the control of corporate influences, and we condemn the issue of interest bearing bonds in time of peace."

Next came a lot of resolutions, which passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that our representatives in congress be and are hereby requested to use their best endeavors to secure appropriations by the Federal Government to open the Warrier River to navigation from the coal fields to the Gulf of Mexico."

"Resolved, That our county appointing boards are hereby requested to give to the political opposition a competent inspector at every polling place in their respective counties.

"And we further request the inspector so appointed to give a competent clerk and fixer at each polling place to said political opposition."

ALL our newly elected county officers have made bond and are diligently studying the routine of the offices they are to fill. We say all, and with one exception it is correct. Mr. A. G. Dake who was elected to the office of County Treasurer unfortunately was under the impression he had until Monday, the 24th inst. in which to file his bond, and consequently on Saturday last had failed to do so. On the other hand the commissioners had decided that Saturday, the 22d inst. was the last day on which they were entitled to receive bonds and upon this idea have published a notice to the effect that the office being vacant they will hold a special term for the purpose of filling that vacancy. Under all the circumstances, and Mr. Dake being in a position of filing his bond, we think the court of commissioners can do no less than appoint Mr. Dake, who was unquestionably elected by the people. There appears to be a slight misconstruction of the law upon the date and it may be the commissioners are correct and it may be Mr. Dake is correct, anyway it appears to us that Mr. Dake being in a position to make bond the commissioners can do no less than ratify the vote of the people and appoint him.

THE Democrats of Chilton county on Tuesday held their county convention for the purpose of electing delegates to the district convention to be held in Selma next Friday. We are not particularly concerned in this election but there is a most peculiar feature attached to it. The delegates elected were Messrs John Garner of Clanton, Harrison of Jemison, Downs of Coopers, Watersworth of Stanton and Crumpton of Maplesville, each and all postmasters or connected with their respective post offices under Cleveland's administration. No one denies that Chilton county, either Populist or Democratic, is without the shadow of a doubt unquestionably for free silver, and this action of a Democratic free silver convention in electing Cleveland's appointees would seem to us open to the construction that the so-called free silver Democrats are not so much in favor of Bryan and Sewall as exponents of the cause of free silver as that they desire the election of some man to congress whose views and aims are exactly the contrary. We have implicit faith in the people of Chilton county—whether Populist or free silver Democrat—and do not doubt but that their votes will be cast for men whom they are sure of being in favor of free silver. But to say the very least our free silver Democrats of Chilton must hesitate and think twice before they vote for any man nominated for congress under such conditions.

POPULISTS of Chilton county are asking when our congressional convention is going to be called. The policy of being last in the field has not been such a brilliant success as to make us wish to see it indefinitely continued. The Republicans held their convention last March, one wing nominating our present representative, Hon. W. F. Aldrich and the other nominating Mr. H A. Wilson of Lomax. The free silver Democrats will to-morrow name their man, and it remains to be seen whether or not the Democratic gold element will put out a candidate. All this, however, is no reason why Populists of the Fourth district should not nominate our candidate and get down to work to elect him. In Chilton county Mr. Wilson is generally credited to be working not so much for his own election as for the election of the Democratic nominee, and we may as well make up our minds that we have a hard battle to fight. Let us have the convention.

THE Chilton Democratic delegation to the Fourth district congressional convention is instructed for Gaston A. Robbins, the late silent member of congress, and T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, for second choice. Robbins is supposed to be in favor of free silver, while Plowman is in favor of the gold standard. Verily our Democratic friends are badly mixed. A free silver convention elects a delegation composed of goldbugs, then instructs them to vote for a free silver candidate first and a gold bug second. Where are they at?

HON. Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior, has resigned his portfolio, and President Cleveland has offered the position to ex-Governor David R. Francis of Missouri. Mr. Smith's resignation is caused by his adoption of the Democratic candidates Bryan and Sewall and his support of the Chicago platform. The new secretary is a gold standard man.

Such was the origin and such were the causes of the People's party. God bless it, and speed it on its mission. If William J. Bryan is elected President the People's party will have done it. His hope is in the solid vote of the South and the West. Let it be remembered that these Populists of the West, to whom he must look to carry even his own State, were once republicans, and but for the People's party they would now be a guarantee of succes to McKinley. Populism in the South made possible the Populism in the West, and vice versa. If Bryan wins it will be due to the fact that our leavening the Democratic party in the South pulled the Republicans out of their party in the West. If his campaign succeeds he will owe it to the Southern Populists who had eyes clear enough to see the vast importance of union between West and South, and who had courage enough to endure all the sacrifices the triumph of their faith demanded.

THOMAS E. WATSON.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., August 27.

Any fear that may have been entertained that Watson's name would be removed from the Populist National ticket should be dispelled, since the meeting of the Executive Committee last week, when it was positively decided that Mr. Watson would remain in the field.

Astonishment has been expressed in many sections of the country at the fusion scheme between the Populist and republicans in Texas. Either Texas republicans are unlike the republicans in other states, or the Populists are different from the ordinary sort. At any rate, no one need fear that Texas Populists are not able to hold their own in any kind of combination.

Georgia Populists are very sanguine of success. They claim they will poll a larger vote this year than ever before and that large accessions are being received from the republicans and prohibitionists.

The democrats of South Dakota have endorsed the Populist State ticket, which practically insures its success.

All reports agree that there never has been such a demand for campaign literature before as this year, and that nine-tenths of all matter sent out by the various committees deals with the finance question.

Eugene V. Debs, the great labor agitator, is a staunch friend of Tom Watson. He thinks the democrats should substitute the Georgian for Sewall, on their National ticket.

The speech delivered by Bourke Cochran at Madison Square, New York, last week, in reply to Mr. Bryan's speech of acceptance, is characterized by the New York Journal as a piece of "billingsgate and bombast." When the Cochrans and other attorneys for Wall street begin to weep crocodile tears for the laborer it is evident they have an ax to grind.

Mr. Bryan denies emphatically that he has at any time been in the employ of the silver mine owners or the Bimetallic League.

A. L. Maxwell, the ex chairman of the People's Party State Committee of Illinois, has been given a place on the democratic state ticket, as candidate for Auditor of State, in fulfillment of a fusion compact between the two parties. Four Populists have been given places on the electoral ticket and H. E. Taubeneck, ex-chairman of the National committee, has been made chairman of the Illinois State committee of the People's party.

A majority of the republican state committee of Montana have declared their intention to support Bryan.

The name of Lafe Pence, the brilliant ex-congressman from Colorado is being mention in connection with the Populist nomination for the governorship in that state.

The state executive committee of the People's party of California, met recently and endorsed the action of the national convention. They also issued a statement concerning the work of the convention, calculated to correct erroneous impressions regarding the proceedings.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has issued an order against the sale of silver literature on their trains. Silverites might reciprocate by refusing to ride over their line.

The democrats of Texas have rejected the proposition of the People's party looking toward fusion, in which the intention was that the democrats should have eight and the People's party seven electors.

Nearly all the democratic county conventions in Colorado have endorsed Senator Teller and Congressman Shafroth, republicans, and Congressman Bell, Populist, for re-election.

The suspicion exists in many localities that the "National Democratic Party," (the name assumed by the gold democrats) will endeavor through the aid of the supreme court to exclude the Chicago nominees from the official ballot in states where the Australian system is operative. In the event of their success Bryan's only hope of election will be through the Populist ticket.

ask your doctor. The doctors approve of Scott's Emulsion. For whom? For men and women who are weak, when they should be strong; for babies and children who are thin, when they should be fat; for all who get no nourishment from their food. Poor blood is starved blood. Consumption and Scrofula never come without this starvation. And nothing is better for starved blood than cod-liver oil. Scott's Emulsion is cod-liver oil with the fish-fat taste taken out.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

To the People of Chilton County:

In retiring from the office of Sheriff, I desire thus publicly to return my sincere thanks for the uniform kindly and considerate treatment I have received at your hands during my term of office.

Very respectfully,
P. M. MOORE.

* * *

Vine Hill

Hot and dry; highest point of temprature 101 degrees; cotton crop about one half, if dry weather continues will all be gathered by the first of September.

Heap of sickness just now; measles and whooping cough in the neighborhood. Ginning cotton has commenced.

Messrs. Vincent and Merony went seining the other day, they had more fun than fish. Times are dull but there seems to be no loafers, every body is busy.

PAT.

* * *

Verbena News.

Messrs. Will and Frank Caffey have been visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Hudson and her beautiful daughter, Miss Bessie, of Selma, are staying with friends in Verbena.

Mrs. C. J. Houseman and charming daughter, Miss Pauline, of Montgomery, are at the Clifton house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of Montgomery, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Mary Brightman, of Hayneville is the charming guest of friends in our city.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lanier of Montgomery, are on a visit to relatives in Verbena.

Miss Sadie May Bentley of the capital city is stopping with friends in our city.

Mr. Frank Smith of Montgomery has been visiting friends here.

Miss Vesta Anderson is staying with her mother, Mrs. C. S. Anderson, at the Clifton house.

Messrs. Wyatt and Jesse Franks of Birmingham have been spending some time here.

A large number of visitors are spending the summer in our delightful summer resort.

Cotton continues to shed badly and the prospective yield is being lowered steadily; rust is very general; correspondents seem to agree that one-half to two-thirds of the cotton is already open, and some say that bolls the size of hickory nuts are popping open. Most of the crop is forced so prematurely that rains will now be of little benefit, though gentle showers might save some of the top crop, which now promises a failure. Picking progresses rapidly, and it now looks as if the bulk of the crop will certainly be gathered during September.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Consumption and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guarteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. per box. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

Program Teachers' Institute.

A Teachers' Institute will be held at Collins' Chapel September 11, 12, 1896.

FRIDAY—9 a.m. Devotional exercises.

9:30 a.m. Welcome address, J. D. Collins.

10 a.m. What is teaching? W. S. Garner, Miss M. V. Palmer.

11 a.m. Child study, G. L. Speer Miss Sophie Mullins. Recess.

2 p.m. How should Arithmetic be taught? Wm. Askins, Miss Jennie Wilson.

2:30 p.m. The requisites for successful teaching, J. E. Creel.

3 p.m. Public education, C. C. Slaton.

SATURDAY—9 a.m. Nature's own text-book, Alex Moore, Miss Ida Robinson.

10 a.m. Modes of preventing whispering, W. R. Headley.

11 a.m. Educational address. C. C. Slaton. Recess.

2 p.m. Public school law, E. Y. McMorries.

2:30 p.m. The work of the primary teacher, A. B. Harwood, Mrs. V. Z. Palmer.

3 p.m. How to teach reading, R. E. R. Hicks.

Collins' Chapel is located two and a half miles from Strasburg. There will be conveyance for teachers from Strasburg and return. This being the last Institute in this scholastic year, all the teachers are expected to attend.

J. W. MOORE, Supt.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles' Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

LEGAL NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a special Term of the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton county will be held at the court house in Clanton on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1896, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the office of County Treasurer for Chilton county.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 26, 1896.

State Executive Committee.

The state executive committee is hereby called to meet in the city of Birmingham at the Opera House hotel on Thursday, September 3rd. Business of importance will come before the committee and a full attendance is desired.

G. B. DEANS, chairman.

Program of S.S. Convention

of the Mulberry Association to be held with Pleasant Grove church, beginning on Friday before the 5th Sunday in August, 1896.

FRIDAY—Preaching at 11 o'clock by Sutton Smitherman.

Welcome address by Z. J. Jones.

Should teachers in order to be successful make pointed application of their lessons? Discussed by J. E. Joner, L. B. Pounds, J. P. Gentry and others.

Can any one who is not a Christian teach the Scriptures correctly? Discussed by J. Bice, David Jackson, A. Glasscock and others.

SATURDAY—Song service at 9:30 conducted by Prof. N. A. Logan.

10 o'clock Sunday-school experience meeting, opened by W. R. Dawson, continued by D. B. Smitherman, A. J. Lee, W. A. Mimms and others.

What effect has the teaching of the Bible on civilization? Discussed by J. C. Hicks, L. B. Pounds, J. P. Allen and others.

Can we obtain a knowledge of the Bible independent of the Sunday-school, as well as in it? Discussed by R. M. Honeycutt, W. A. Wood, W. G. Riggins and others.

What is the intention of the Sunday-school—salvation of souls or to give a knowledge of the Bible? Discussed by G. W. Freeman, Wm. Reynolds, A. L. Eoshee and others.

SUNDAY—9 o'clock Song service conducted by Prof. N. A. Logan.

What is the greatest enemy to Christianity, and what are the means used by the enemy, and how can we overcome them? Discussed by H. L. Hicks and S. M. Adams.

At 11 o'clock preaching.

All Christian Sunday-school workers are invited to attend.

COMMITTEE.

Program of S.S. Convention

of Unity Association, to convene with Mulberry church, Chilton county, August 28-30.

FRIDAY—10 a.m. Devotional exercises W. J. Fleming.

11 Sermon J. M. McCord.

2 p.m. The importance of Sunday-school work J. G. Harris.

SATURDAY—9:30 a.m. Devotional exercises, 30 minutes, R. J. Long.

10 The duty of parents to foster the Sunday-school, F. M. Woods.

11 The best plan for conducting the Sunday-school, T. L. Long.

2 p.m. The best preparation for teaching, J. M. McCord.

3 The Sunday school as related to missions, W. J. Ruddick.

SUNDAY—9:30 a.m. Sunday-school mass meeting, T. L. Jones and J. G. Harris.

11 Missionary Sermon W. D. Gay.

All of the churches in our Association are earnestly requested to send delegates to this convention, with letter giving full statistics of their Sunday-school. A cordial invitation is extended to all who can attend.

J. G. LOWREY, Ch'n.

IN Washington last Tuesday the Populist and Democratic campaign managers jointly ordered one million documents for distribution to further educate the people in the silver question.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J. S. Johnson Jr.

The State Alliance.

Pinckard, Ala., July 18, 1896.

The State Alliance will hold its next session in Ozark, Dale county, on the 8th and 9th days of September. We hope every county in the State will have a representative present, and as many visiting brethren of the order as possible as matters of unusual moment will come before us.

J. O. PINCKARD,
Pres. Ala. State Alliance.

STOP THAT SLIPPING

and save fuel and power by using Green Seal Belt Dressing. Guaranteed to keep any belt from slipping the moment it is applied. Write us and we will send you a package subject to your approval.

The Phoenix Oil Co.
CLEVELAND, O.
Agents Wanted.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	[illegible]
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight-National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. —LOWEST PRICES.

W. L. SAMPEY,
CLANTON, ALA.

CURES V ERUPTIONS, PIMPLES V ITCHING HUMORS, HEREDITARY TAINT, V IMPURE BLOOD, BOILS Etc.

Every disease arising from an impure condition of the blood is quickly, surely and permanently cured by the great vegetable blood purifier and family remedy—V. V. V. No one living in or near a malarial district should be without this wonderful specific. A single bottle of V. V. V. will suffice to convince anyone that it positively as well as liver complaint, rheumatism, kidney diseases, catarrh, etc. V. V. V. will thoroughly cleanse the blood of all impurities, driving from the system scrofula, tetter, eczema and all other humors. It strengthens and invigorates the whole body. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

Cures Malaria

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 7 cents.
Bales received to-date:

Scurry	19
Mullins	12
Wilson	4
	35

CHINAWARE CHEAP. Call and see it at the BANNER office.

WANTED!

We want honest, pushing, active persons to sell the Improved Singer Sewing Machines and collect on accounts in the different counties in Alabama. No experience necessary, no capital required. Applicants must however furnish their own horse and harness; we supply a wagon and machines. A $500 honesty bond is required. Address,

The Singer M'f'g. Co.,
Montgomery, Ala.

Mrs. Ehrman and her charming daughters, after a week's stay in the cool, fresh air of Chilton, returned to their home in Birmingham last Saturday.

The accomodation now stops at Verbena and we are pleased to see some of the citizens occasionally trading in Clanton.

Messrs. Durword Fosbee and Will Van Deveer left Tuesday last for a visit to Montevallo.

Mrs. J. W. Johnson is visiting Birmingham this week.

Dr. V. H. Caine has returned from a visit to parents in Dallas county.

Rev. P. M. Guthrie has gone this week to assist in a protracted meeting at Deatsville.

Judge Callen spent a few day at Talladega Springs this week.

Mrs. H. L. Johnson and two daughters, of Piedmont, Ala., spent last Tuesday night with Mrs. Evans' family.

Mr. Louis Dejarnette, of Montgomery, was in Clanton yesterday.

Mr. Harry Blasingame visiting relatives in our town this week.

The new court house is being plastered.

The service announced for last Monday night at the Episcopal church was rained out.

Mr. Joe A. Miller has been paying a visit to his old home in Coosa and on his return has brought back with him his mother who will spend a short time at his home.

A protracted meeting will be commenced at the Congregational church the first Sunday in September, the pastor, Rev. J. L. Busby, being assisted by visiting ministers.

Mrs. John Aldridge, of Birmingham, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Robinson, of this place.

Miss Willie Robinson, to the delight of her many little friends here, returned home last night after a pleasant visit to Birmingham.

There are seven bicycle in our town now and good prospects for more soon.

CEMENT. If you have anything broken send for Worn's and Kamp's cements. 15 cents a stick. Will mend anything. The best cement in the market. WORNS & KAMP, Cement M'f'rs, 822 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate judge to the following persons:

Mr. Tom Hale and Miss Minnie Stewart.

Colored. Ned Houston and Ela Golson.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,228.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August, 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,720, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, Tom McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Simonton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

Notice to Delinquent Tax-payers.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
CHILTON COUNTY.

To J. M. Hardin:

Take notice that the Tax Collector has filed in my office a list of delinquent tax payers, and of Real Estate upon which taxes are due, and therein is reported as assessed to you the following Real Estate, to-wit:

BEAT 5.

S ½ of ne ¼ and e ½ of nw ¼ and e ½ of sw ¼ and se ¼ sec 4 tp 20 r 15 tax and costs $53.57.

This is to notify you to appear before the Probate court of said county at the next term thereof, commencing on Monday, August 31, 1896, then and there to show cause if any you have why a decree for the sale of said real estate should not be made for the payment of the taxes assessed upon the same together with fees and costs.

This 30th day of July, 1896.
R. M. HONEYCUTT, Probate Judge.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18226.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Bearden, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18227.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: Louis B. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼, section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John Ed Beardin, J. W. Worthy, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE:
For the Announcements of
Dr. A. J. MASSEY,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,
Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Notice to Non-resident.

The State of Alabama,
Chilton county.

In Chancery at Clanton, Alabama, Seventh district, North-eastern Chancery division.

Rudolph Ehrman, Complainant, vs. W. H. Merritt et al Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of Rudolph Ehrman that the Defendant, M. J. Bond is a non-resident of the State of Alabama and that that he resides at Clarksburg in the State of Mississippi, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant the Defendant is over the age of twenty one years

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said M. J. Bond, to answer or demur to the same, within thirty days after the 24 day of August, 1896, and failing so to do a decree pro confesso will be taken against him in said cause.

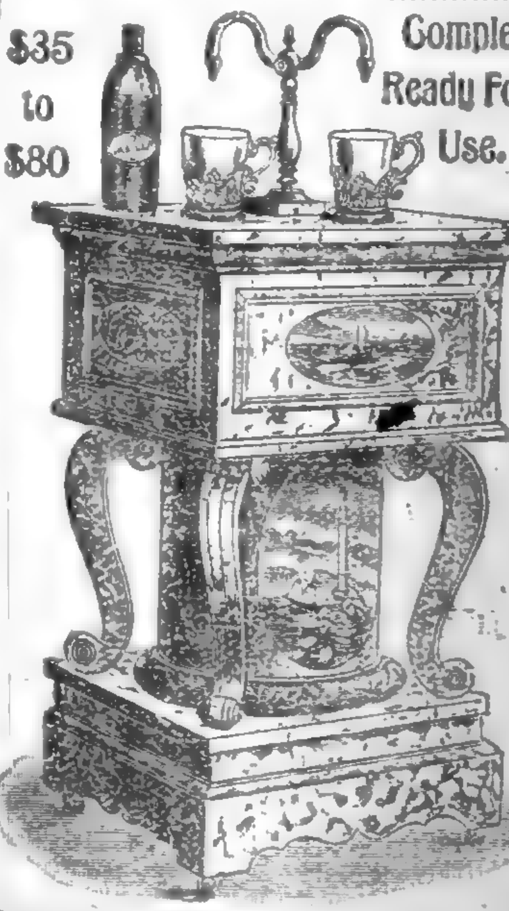
Done at office, in Clanton, Alabama, this 20 day of July, 1896.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

PORTABLE
SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.



30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.
MADISON, INDIANA.

"Past Prestige Is Our Present Power."
Faultless Shapes!
Superb Styles!
Beautiful Designs!
Steels that are Warranted Not to Break in Wear!
Colors—White, Drab and Black.
Made in All Sizes, Lengths and Shapes. Prices from 50c. to $6.00 per Pair.
If your dealer cannot supply you we can.
GLOBE CORSET Co.
WORCESTER, MASS.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

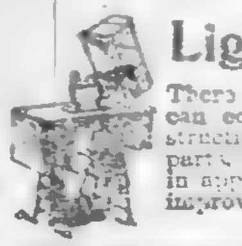
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY
W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of de qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.
P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.
P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

Notice to Non-Resident

The State of Alabama,
Chilton county

In Chancery at Clanton Alabama, Seventh District. Northeastern chancery division. July 20, 1896.

W. H. Coker & Co., Complainant, vs. J. G. M. Burke, et al., Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of W. M. Adams that the Defendants in the cross bill, W. H. Coker & Co., are non-residents of the State of Alabama, and to the best of affiant's knowledge, information and belief, said defendants are over the age of twenty-one years, and that their post office and residence are Rome Floyd county, in the state of Georgia.

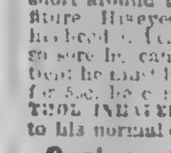
It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Banner a newspaper published in Clanton once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them the said W. H. Coker & Co. to answer or demur to the same, within thirty days after the 24 day of August, 1896, and failing so to do a decree pro confesso will be taken against them in said cause.

Done at office, in Clanton, Alabama, this 20 day of July, 1896.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

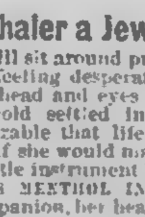
1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, a "sweat" foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old hand made cough cure, these and over the other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold



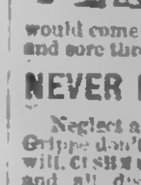
A man must be miserable indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache, unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing, when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!



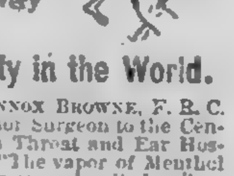
He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, snuffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head a dead weight, and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Pshaw! he can't be to endure it all when for 50c. he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!



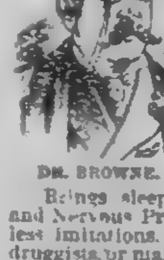
A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH



Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breathing passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.



DR. BROWNE.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. E., Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

(Is not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?)

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

We Employ Young Men to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 16, 189 .
ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart Ind.,
DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only my-self but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.
CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

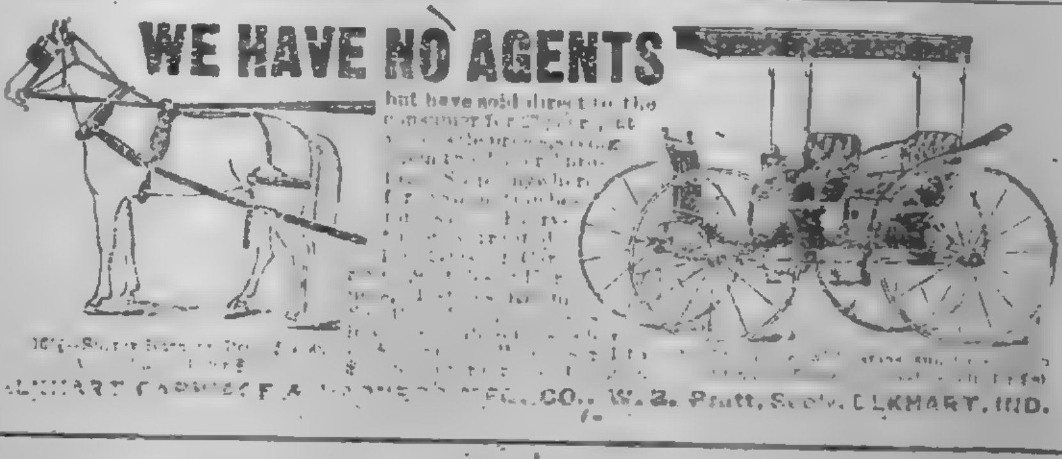
SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 23 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason J. H. Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined ... deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; ... look out that some dealer, not knowing you are posted, don't sell you a cheap package at a profit of ... 400 per cent., instead of ... Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, which you be sure to specify, and take no other, ... like it.

[illegible]

C. F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS MO

WE HAVE NO AGENTS



but have sold direct to the consumer ... [illegible]

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!

THESE Badges are ... [illegible]

STATE HERALD BADGE DEP'T
Birmingham, Ala.

MEDICAL TREATMENT.

If you want the best expert and scientific treatment of the leading physicians and specialists of this country, consult only DR. HATHAWAY & CO., 70 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. All Chronic Diseases of men and women, Private, Skin, Blood and Nervous Diseases. ... [illegible]

FREE

[illegible]

DR. HATHAWAY & CO.,
No 85, St. Charles St., Masonic Temple,
New Orleans, La.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE
FIRST-CLASS WORK
LOWEST PRICES

LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.
J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.
W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.
DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.
JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.
Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

One redeeming feature in connection with the latest developments affecting South African affairs appears in the fact that a great majority of the English people are ashamed and disgusted because of the developments brought to light through the shrewd investigation by President Kruger. While they are yet smarting under the indignities heaped upon them by the Sultan, and the scathing criticism which the weak policy of Salisbury in this connection elicited from the entire civilized world, they find their official representative convicted of one of the grossest and most despicable conspiracies that a stronger power could conceive against a weaker.

An enterprising Kansan who has acquired a facility for selling liquor, and whose business in Tonganoxie was greatly hampered by numerous jail sentences for violating the law, has transferred his saloon equipment to a farm wagon and is following a zigzag course among the thirsty workers in the fields. An accurate knowledge of the location of county boundary lines has enabled him thus far to elude the watchful sheriffs, and his experiment is being noted with increasing interest by a host of expectant imitators.

THE STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, TROY, ALA.

This college is supported by state and Peabody fund appropriations for the training of teachers and is not a mere "Preparatory School" for some other, but is of college grade in every way, as a teachers' training school should be, and grants college degrees and diplomas, and its graduates receive state certificates for two, four and six years, or for life, from the state superintendent of education of Alabama, and these are the strongest testimonials of professional worth to a teacher. Indeed, the graduates of this college are in great demand as teachers, and the college authorities take great pleasure in answering requests for trained teachers sent in by school authorities from all over Alabama and adjoining states.

It will be seen from the Normal Exponent that students desiring the usual college course may get it here at very low expense, too. Board is but $9 to $10 per month and tuition and incidentals low.

Persons desiring information as to this college or wishing to secure a good teacher should write to Dr. E. R. Eldridge, president, at Troy, Ala., for the Normal Exponent explaining everything.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY, }

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.
FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
{ SEAL. } A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A Physician's Testimony.

"I know it to be a radical cure for tetter, salt rheum, eczema and all kindred diseases of the skin and scalp. I never prescribe any thing else in all skin troubles."
M. L. FIELDER, M. D.,
Eclectic P. O., Elmore Co., Ala.
1 box by mail, for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

A man without enemies may not be much of a man, but he has a soft time of it.

"Penny wise and pound foolish" are those who think it economy to use cheap soda and resin soaps, instead of the good old Dobbins' Electric Soap; for sale by all grocers since 1865. Try it once. Be sure, buy genuine.

There are occasions in all our lives when we would rather have the conversation founded on somebody else.

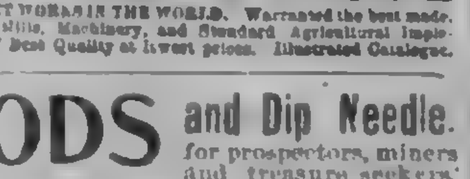
FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—RALPH ERIEG, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1893.

Feed
Your nerves upon rich, red blood and you will not be nervous. Blood is made rich and pure by
Hood's
Sarsaparilla
The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Hood's Pills are always reliable. 25 cents.

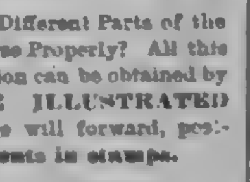
THE FARQUHAR
PATENT VARIABLE FRICTION FEED.



Medal and Highest Award at the World's Columbian Exposition.
SAW MILL & ENGINE
BEST SET WORKS IN THE WORLD. Warranted the best made. Shingle Mills, Machinery, and Standard Agricultural Implements of Best Quality at lowest prices. Illustrated Catalogue.

RODS and Dip Needle.
for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers. Circ. 2c. P. & M. Agency. Box D, Palmyra, Pa.

Here It Is!



Want to learn all about a Horse? How to Pick Out a Good One? Know Imperfections and so Guard against Fraud? Detect Disease and Effect a Cure when same is possible? Tell the Age by the Teeth? What to call the Different Parts of the Animal? How to Shoe a Horse Properly? All this and other Valuable Information can be obtained by reading our 100-PAGE ILLUSTRATED HORSE BOOK, which we will forward, postpaid, on receipt of only 25 cents in stamps.
BOOK PUB. HOUSE,
134 Leonard St., N. Y. City.

ENGINES
FOR GINNING.
Most economical and durable. Cheapest and best in the market for cash. VARIABLE FRICTION FEED SAW MILLS AND STANDARD IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Send for catalogue.
A. B. FARQUHAR CO., Ltd.,
Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, York, Pa.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR SELMA.

Rolling Mills to Resume Work—Results of Primaries and Conventions for Congressmen—Homicide at Carbon Hill—Two Murderers Break Jail—Valuable Relic Found.

Cuba's Delegation for Rogers.

Cuba, Sumter county, sends her delegation to the county convention for Rogers for congress.

Clarke Gives Taylor a Majority.

Clarke county gives Taylor 4⅓, Bray 2⅓ and Austell 1⅓ delegates in the congressional convention.

Mobile Favors Sheldon.

Sheldon has got everything in sight in the city of Mobile and his majority is assured, even if the county is adverse.

Marengo Instructs for Taylor.

The county congressional convention held at Linden Saturday sent eleven delegates instructed for Hon. George W. Taylor.

Walker Unanimous for Bankhead.

The Walker county democratic convention instructed delegates for Bankhead by a unanimous vote. There was no opposition in any beat.

Marion Instructs for Bankhead.

The Marion county convention sent four delegates instructed for Bankhead to the congressional convention. The party is solid for Bryan.

Rolling Mills to Resume Work.

The Birmingham and the Alabama rolling mill companies will resume operations September 1. Large forces are now at work making repairs.

Stallings Has No Opposition.

Democratic congressional primaries were held in the Second district Saturday. The vote all over the district was light, Hon. J. F. Stallings having no opposition.

Etowah Instructs for Winston.

The Etowah county convention met Saturday and selected delegates to the congressional convention. Solicitor J. J. Winston was unanimously indorsed and the delegates instructed to vote for him for congress.

Fatal Fall From a Tree.

Aaron Morgan, colored, fell from a tree near Gadsden Friday, and died a few hours afterwards as a result of his injuries. He fell a distance of thirty-five feet. He received internal injuries and fractured his skull.

Murderers at Large.

George and Will Howell, two negroes sent to Decatur for safe keeping from Limestone county, and under sentence of death for the murder of a white man named Smith, broke jail some time Friday night and are at large.

Bankhead Re-Nominated.

A dispatch from Tuskaloosa says: Bankhead has safely carried Tuskaloosa, Fayette, Marion, Lamar, Walker and Greene counties for congress in the primary election today, (Saturday) and his nomination is conceded.

Tusseling Over a Loaded Gun.

A man named Doster shot and killed Ford Dukes in Montgomery Saturday afternoon. Both are white. The men were tusseling over a loaded gun when the piece was accidentally discharged. Both are said to have been drinking.

Four Hundred Dollars Reward.

The governor has offered $400 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the person who committed the outrage on the little daughter of Rev. Gardener C. Tucker, in Baldwin county, a few days ago. The crime was a most atrocious one, and every one hopes the brute may be brought to justice.

Bibb County Convention.

The democratic convention of Bibb, held at Centreville Saturday, appointed delegates to the congressional convention and instructed them to vote as a unit for Hon. Oscar W. Underwood. The convention instructed Bibb's representative to vote for Bankhead for United States senator, and for Pugh as second choice.

A Valuable Relic.

W. H. Rice, while at work near Bee Tree bar, near Florence, discovered a mother-of-pearl gorget of Indian workmanship 6 inches in diameter, bearing the four foxes' heads, the badge or crest of the Cherokee tribe, who played the noted game and secured the territory at Ball Play. It has been sent to an officer of United States engineers at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Fatal Accident Near Selma.

J. B. Peak, a prominent planter of Dallas county, while working with his cotton gin across the river, in sight of Selma, Friday morning, got his right hand caught between the saws and was instantly drawn between the sharp teeth. His fingers were cut off and the flesh was literally torn from the bones of the arm. The right side of his body was terribly lacerated. He was carried to his home in Selma, where he died three hours later. He leaves a young wife.

With His Little Rifle.

A. J. Rains, captain of the E. T. Coles, a Tennessee river steamboat, narrowly escaped death by gunshot at Decatur Saturday. The little son of Pilot Newsom, while handling a loaded rifle on the upper deck of the boat, accidentally discharged it. The ball passed through the floor of the deck and plowed a furrow through the scalp of Mr. Rains just above the temple, making quite a painful, but not serious, flesh wound.

Assault With Intent to Murder.

Charles Hicks, the negro charged with shooting Laura Hicks, his wife, Saturday night, near Twenty-sixth street, Birmingham, was arrested Sunday afternoon by officers Bodeker, Hillard and Disheroon. A charge of assault with intent to murder was placed against him, and an order left to allow no bail until the result of the wounds inflicted is known. The woman is in a dangerous condition, being shot in the abdomen. The shooting is said to have been the result of jealousy.

Fowler Admitted to Bail.

R. H. Fowler, who ten days or so ago shot and seriously wounded P. B. Greene, in Birmingham, has been released from the county jail, where he was held to await the result of Greene's injuries. Greene has recovered sufficiently to be on the streets, and Fowler was, therefore, allowed to make bond to appear to answer a charge of assault with intent to murder. The bond was fixed at $500. It now seems to be certain that Greene will eventually recover from his wound.

Homicide at Carbon Hill.

Saturday was pay day at the mines around Carbon Hill, and considerable whisky drinking was indulged in by the miners. John Linihan, a miner from McDonald's mines, while intoxicated, was creating a disturbance, when Albert Oakley, the town marshal, commanded him to keep quiet. Linihan told him he had done nothing disorderly. This led to a dispute, which ended in Linihan pulling a pistol and firing two shots at Oakley. The first shot struck the marshal in the heart, killing him instantly, and the second took effect in the hip of James Roden, a bystander, producing a serious wound. Linihan's friends contend that Oakley made a motion to pull his pistol, which caused Linihan to shoot. After the shooting Linihan gave himself up to some friends. Sheriff Guttery, of Walker county, was notified of the affair and went over to Carbon Hill Sunday morning and got the prisoner.

Contest in the Eighth District.

County conventions were held Saturday in the seven counties composing the Eighth Alabama Congressional district for the purpose of choosing delegates to the free silver democratic nominating congressional convention, which meets in Decatur on September 1 next. Six county conventions—those of Lauderdale, Lawrence, Jackson, Limestone, Madison and Morgan—have, without contest, sent instructed delegations to the district convention, the first three for General Joseph Wheeler, present member of congress from this district, and the latter three counties sent similar delegations instructed for Judge William Richardson, General Wheeler's opponent in the congressional race. Colbert, the seventh county in the district, held separate Wheeler and Richardson conventions Saturday, the former being composed of forty-nine and the latter fifty-five delegates, resulting in sending contesting delegations from that county. As it now stands the Decatur convention will be organized with an initial representation for General Wheeler of twenty-four and for Judge Richardson twenty-eight delegates, which will give the Richardson men control of the organization, and, together with the added strength of Colbert county, will undoubtedly secure Judge Richardson the nomination, which his friends here believe is now assured.

An Old Firm Falls.

The T. T. Haydock Carriage company, of Cincinnati, assigned Saturday to the Union Savings and Trust company. The assets are $200,000, including five shops and stock. The liabilities are $150,000. The officers of the company are: President, Mrs. T. S. Haydock; vice-president and general manager, E. P. Peeplo; secretary, C. C. Wyck. Mr. Haydock died in 1885 and his estate was represented by his widow. The firm has been in business over forty years. The failure is due to recent failures of other carriage companies.

Shot His Wife's Father.

A shotgun duel between W. A. Haynes and his son-in-law, Daniel Lee, at Arlington, a Louisville and Nashville station south of Nashville, Tenn., is reported. Lee and his wife fell out and separated. Thursday Lee returned to Haynes', where she was staying, and was ordered away. He armed himself and went back, when the men quarreled and Lee shot Haynes. The latter got his gun, and several shots were exchanged. Haynes lies in a dying condition, and Lee has been jailed without bond.

Extensive Phosphate Deposits.

A. J. Welch, chief clerk of the railway mail service, has returned from a trip through Middle Tennessee on official business. Mr. Welch says that at Mt. Pleasant, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, very extensive deposits of phosphate were but recently discovered. Several car loads of phosphate are now being turned out daily, and a large number of men are employed.

A Missouri Hurricane.

A terrific hurricane struck West Plains, Mo., Saturday evening at 5:45, lasting until 6:30, which was accompanied by a heavy rain, followed by hail. At the base-ball park the grand stand was blown down and completely demolished. A number of people were injured, but none seriously.

OF INTEREST TO BICYCLE RIDERS.

There can be no question that one of the most important parts of a bicycle is the tire. It has to bear the brunt of the work, is constantly coming in contact with destroying elements, and generally receives the least care from the rider. The importance of the work it has to do was early recognized by makers of bicycles, however, and they have given much attention to this important adjunct of the wheel.

There are today, perhaps, thirty different styles of bicycle tires on the market, all of which vary in detail. As to their various merits, theories are of little value, actual experience is the only way to determine this question. Unless an article gives satisfaction, demand for it soon ceases. After a test of over six years, during which time double-tube and single-tube tires have been marketed, at least three-fourths of all the riders in this country today demand and ride double-tube tires.

The leading firm in the United States, and in fact in the entire world, in the manufacture of double-tube tires, is Morgan & Wright, Chicago. Their history is interesting. The first pneumatic tire—the rags-and-glue kind—was giving trouble, and Morgan & Wright stepped in to fill a great public want. They furnished a tire that could be easily taken from the rim to be repaired. That was the principal requirement in those days, besides the usual requirements of speed, durability and comfort.

That was several years ago. Single tube tires had been pushed in Europe and were failing, and the same effort was being started in this country. The Morgan & Wright double-tube tire quickly proved its superiority, with the result stated above. The quick-repair, inner tube, which is this year a standard feature of all of this firm's tires, has made the position of double-tube tires practically invincible, by making it quick and easy for the riders to secure, at the roadside, a permanent repair—a thing admittedly impossible in the majority of single-tube accidents.

BEAT THE COTTON TIE TRUST.

The Georgia Commissioner Urges the Use of Wire Tires.

Commissioner Nesbitt has received a letter from D. P. Duncan, manager of the Farmers' Alliance exchange of South Carolina, recommending the use of the cotton wire tie and asking that as many farmers of the state as possible be urged to adopt the tie in order to break down the cotton tie trust recently formed by the manufacturers.

The new tie is made of large size wire. One end of the wire is made into a loop. Through this loop the other end is passed. The wire is then bent down, twisted under the loop and tied in a simple yet effective manner.

Mr. George W. Truitt, of Lagrange, wrote to Commissioner Nesbitt that the new tie was a success in every particular. Mr. Truitt says the tie is perfect and a practical test shows the loop is not needed. He says that after making a thorough test the spiral twist in the wire is best. The wire is said to be large enough not to cut its way into the bagging, as was at first claimed would be the result if they were adopted.

COLONEL NESBITT'S LETTER.

Commissioner Nesbitt has addressed the following letter to the farmers of the south in regard to the wire cotton ties:

"Atlanta, Ga., August 24.—To the farmers of Georgia: This department has been investigating the question of substituting wire ties for the flat ties heretofore used in baling cotton, and I believe now that a satisfactory solution of the question has been reached. I now urge upon the farmers of this and the other cotton growing states to meet together in their respective counties and devise plans for securing wire ties. If necessary delay packing your cotton for a short time in order that you may get the wire ties.

"The following letters explain the matter. The ties used by Mr. George W. Truitt are made by the Continental Wire company, Laclede building, St. Louis, Mo. They weigh eighteen pounds to the bundle and are offered at 50 cents a bundle (thirty ties) on the cars at St. Louis in car load lots or 60 cents in smaller quantities.

"The ties recommended by the Farmers' Alliance exchange of South Carolina can be purchased from Washburn & Moore Manufacturing company, 241 Pearl street, New York. They weigh thirty-seven and a half pounds to the bundle and will cost 90 cents a bundle down in Atlanta. Any further information desired will be cheerfully furnished upon application to this department.
R. T. Nesbitt,
"Commissioner."

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?
(KEATING)—
KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

TWO NEGRO DUELISTS DEAD.

Suicided on the Eve of Her Wedding. Destructive Prairie Fires Raging. Ship Ashore—Two Girls Burned to Death—Plant System Establishes a Hospital Department.

The O'Hara Walthall (Mass.) Dial company has notified its employes that after August 29 the dial works will be closed indefinitely pending the advent of better times.

Dennis Williams, a prominent cotton man of Norman, Okla., was shot Tuesday night from ambush. He was on his way to the county seat to have warrants issued for a gang of horse thieves.

The democrats of the First congressional district of Mississippi have renomited Congressman John M. Allen. In the Second district W. V. Sullivan, a leading young lawyer of Oxford, was chosen to succeed Congressman Kyle.

Saturday morning a large barn full of feed and containing four horses and five mules belonging to H. D. Kampmann's ranch, near San Antonio, Tex., burned, together with his valuable driving horse, Bessie. Loss, $5,000.

At Legate, in Stewart county, Tenn., Oscar Prewitt and J. T. Travis quarreled over a crop of tobacco and Travis was shot by Prewitt six times, killing him instantly. Prewitt escaped and a heavy reward is offered for his apprehension.

Fire of incendiary origin destroyed the exposition building, a large frame structure at the driving park, Buffalo, N. Y. Loss, $200,000. All the horses were removed safely, but the owners will lose most of their sulkies, harness, etc.

The Missionary Baptist Church Association of southern and western Kentucky on Thursday passed resolutions condemnatory of Dr. Whitsett at Louisville, declaring that he was guilty of heresy in stating and believing that for years immersion was a lost art in England.

The Chattanooga police arrested a man Friday night who gave his name as Charles M. Brinkley, of Pike county, Ga., on suspicion of being the man who made the murderous assault on Captain Russell, of the local police, Tuesday night. Brinkley has been committed to await an investigation.

One member of the family of George Blase, a market gardener of St. Louis, Mo., has died of glanders, his wife is dying and another child, a boy two years old, is beginning to show symptoms of the dreadful disease. The disease was transmitted to the Blase family from a horse used in marketing the garden product.

The Argentine bank, a pioneer institution of Argentine, Kan., was closed Wednesday by Myron A. Waterman, deputy state examiner of Kansas. The bank, he says, has some bad loans and could not make sufficient collection to tide it over. The liabilities are placed at about $198,000, of which $122,500 is due depositors.

Little Walter, the two-year-old son of C. E. Steine, a soldier at Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga., while playing with matches at noon Friday, set his clothing a-fire and was so badly burned that he died in about four hours. Both his parents were away from home when the sad event took place.

Walker B. Adams, who was shot at Bedford station, N. Y., Thursday by burglars, died Friday morning. The two burglars shot refuse to talk and have not been identified. Two women, who are undoubtedly related to them, have called to see them, but the women refuse to talk, and speak of the men by their first names only.

The American ship Governor Goodwin, Captain Oakes, from New York April 29 for Chee-Foo, is ashore on Prince's island and is a total wreck. The crew were all saved. The Governor Goodwin was a wooden ship of 1,495 tons. She was built in Boston, Mass., in 1877, and was owned by Foster & Prack, of Boston.

Jesse Rudicil, a motorman on the Austin (Texas) Rapid Transit, had five bullets fired into him Friday morning by Will Cooper, a grocery clerk, and one bullet through the spine will kill him. He was shot without warning, Cooper entering the car and firing into Rudicil's back. Cooper says Rudicil has been too intimate with his wife.

Leopold Weil & Co., diamond and jewelry dealers, New York, are in financial difficulty. The trouble is attributed to the banks shutting down on discounts. The liabilities are $130,000. It is said the assets are sufficient to pay all the debts, but cannot be realized on at present. On January 1 last the firm placed its assets at $350,000.

John Felbach and his two daughters, Tillie and Hattie, aged 10 and 15 years, were burned to death Wednesday night in the destruction of the family residence in Watertown, S. D. The mother and one daughter were saved and one of the dead girls lived two hours after being removed from the building. The origin of the fire is still unknown.

Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, United States secretary of the navy, arrived in London Wednesday. He called at the United States embassy next morning and afterwards attended the funeral of Sir John Milais at St. Paul's church.

Fire destroyed the Van Wert county infirmary in Ohio Wednesday. Thirty inmates barely escaped. Two were badly burned.

The store of N. Friedman, dealer in dry goods and notions, Nashville, Tenn., was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. The damage will amount to about $5,000. The store of Charles Sickler, grocer, next door, was damaged $2,000 by smoke and water.

News reached Louisa, Ky., of the killing of J. B. Hensley by John Lett, at Zelda. The former is said to have gone into the store where Lett is a clerk and raised a disturbance. Lett was assaulted by Hensley and used a knife in defense disembowling Henseley. The latter died in a few minutes. Both the men were married.

A NEW DISCOVERER OF AMERICA

Did His Work About the Year Columbus Was Born.

To sum up briefly. The shortest route from the old world to the new is from Cape Verde to Brazil. Winds and currents tend to carry a ship across. There is, therefore, an inherent probability that a Portuguese vessel should have been driven on to the Brazilian coast. This actually happened to Cabral in 1500. It might have happened at any time after ships began to round Cape Verde. That cape was first rounded in 1445. In 1448 a remarkable map was made by Bianco, showing the most recent Portuguese discoveries. On it a long stretch of coastline is shown southwest from Cape Verde, with an inscription saying that it is authentic, and 1,500 miles to the west. The only land in such a position is South America. The discovery must have been made between 1445 and 1448.

It is recorded that an unknown island was found far to the west in 1447. On the first map dealing with the Atlantic Ocean after Bianco's map, a large island is found in the position indicated by Bianco. The Portuguese had good reason for not troubling much about such an island, until the papal bull of 1493, with its line of demarcation, when their conduct leading to the Tordesillas treaty of 1494, by which the line was shifted so far that they secured Brazil, seems to have been based on knowledge of the existence of land in the position of that country. Moreover, there is evidence to show that they publicly claimed the possession of such knowledge. If the views here set forth are tenable, the interesting and important result is obtained that America was discovered by the Portuguese in or about the very year in which Columbus is believed to have been born. Without removing one iota from the real merit of Columbus, it would add the crowning laurel to the already great glory of that marvelous man, Prince Henry the Navigator, who, it is pardonable to remember, was half an Englishman.—Geographical Journal.

A POOR MAN'S GOOD LUCK.

A Disheartened Prospector Finds a Bowlder Worth a Million Dollars.

A romantic good luck story comes from Spokane, Wash.: Martin Neilly was returning home disheartened from an unsuccessful prospecting tour in the Salmon River district and sat down on the bank of the Columbia River to eat his dinner. As he did so he noticed a huge bowlder half buried in the sand in a dry portion of the river not far from where he sat. When he was through with his repast he shouldered his pick and sauntered over toward the huge bowlder. He struck his pick into it several times and dislodged a piece of the decomposed rock. Great was his surprise when upon picking up the fragment he saw traces of gold and copper. Chipping a few more pieces he carried them to the nearest town and had them examined by assayers, who found that they would average $50 worth of gold and copper to the ton. Neilly has established a claim and is now holding off for a syndicate offer. The bowlder is estimated to weigh 20,000 tons, and its value is considered to be a million dollars.

NEILLY'S BOWLDER.

In speaking of the discovery Neilly says: "It was some time before I fully realized what a fortune I had discovered, but when it dawned upon me that at last I was a rich man I am afraid I made such demonstrations as would justify anyone who might have seen me in believing that I had lost my senses. For several years I have been 'grubstaked' in prospecting these mountains without success, and many is the time I have gone hungry for the want of the price to get something to eat, and can you blame me for going nearly crazy when I realized that I was no longer poor?"

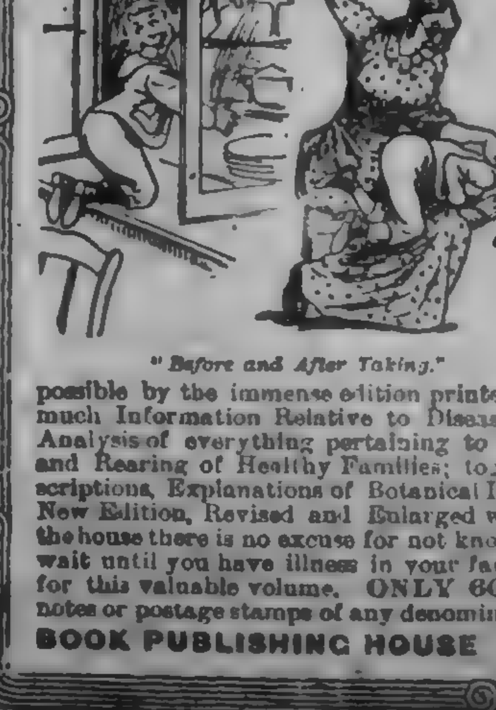
Kindness draws out the better part of our nature, disarming resistance, dissipating angry passion, and melting the hardest heart.

A geared Aermotor on a barn is a POWER for good and a powerful good thing.

Address: AERMOTOR COMPANY.
Chicago; San Francisco, Cal.; Ft. Worth, San Antonio, Tex.; Lincoln, Neb.; Kansas City, Saint Louis, Mo.; Sioux City, Dubuque, Davenport, Des Moines, Ia.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Toledo, O.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Detroit, Mich., Buffalo, N.Y.; New York City, Boston, Mass.; Baltimore, Md.

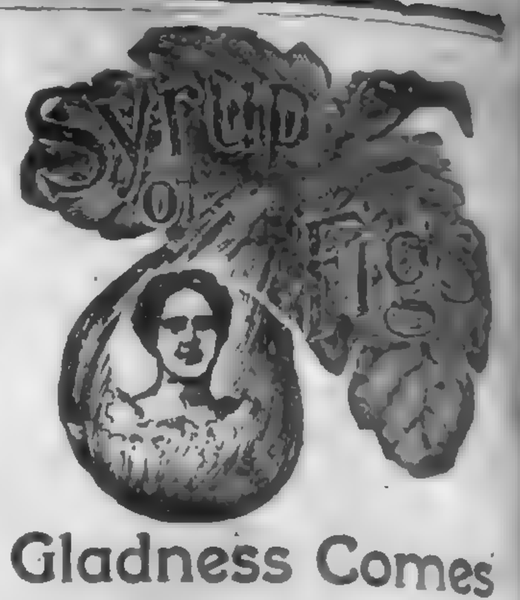
IF SILVER WINS and if farm produce, labor and labor products double in price, then metals must also double in price, as they are 95% labor. If labor doubles in cost and the product of the mine doubles in cost, Aermotors, Pumps, Spiral Pipe, Fittings, Cylinders, Tanks and Substructures, being the product of the mine and labor, must also double in cost and price; therefore, your $1 now will buy as much as 2 of the same dollars if silver wins, or if people think it will win IT IS 2 TO 1 in favor of buying now. The advance may come in a month or in a week. Aermotor prices will not advance unless compelled by an advance in labor and material. Our prices on brass Cylinders are 40% below anything ever quoted, and our other goods are as low as they can be produced, even with our splendid facilities. A general rush to cover future needs, while $1 buys so much, may quickly exhaust our immense stock and compel the advance. Great saving can be assured and advance avoided IF YOU BUY NOW

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR



"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.
This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.
598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.
The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only
60 CTS. POST-PAID.
(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.
BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

Howard College,
EAST LAKE, ALA.
The Fall term of this old and honored institution begins
September 22, 1896.
The school will be conducted upon strict business principles.
Mountain spring water supplies the campus and the location is one of [illegible] moral security. Saloons [illegible] are excluded from East Lake by an act of the Legislature.
The society of the place is cultured and religious. The students of Howard College are free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns; also [illegible] distractions of a commercial community [illegible] the the unwholesome social excitement [illegible] such places. It is six miles from Birmingham, and students will be allowed to go to that city once a week only; also to visit the manufacturing plants from time to time with an officer of the college, and that from 9 to 12 o'clock a. m. on Saturdays!
Furnished room, fuel, board, tuition, [illegible] fee, and laundry for room, $4.00 per term or $188 per year. For catalogue and other information, address
A. D. SMITH, East Lake, Ala.

UNION FEMALE COLLEGE
Eufaula, Alabama.
Charming location; delightful climate, wonderful health record. This is a chartered college of the [illegible] south. [illegible] Physical Culture, [illegible] CONSERVATORY of Music, Voice, Organ, Violin, Harp, [illegible] School select. [illegible] Terms very reasonable. Session opens September 15th. Please write for catalogue.
T. J. SIMMONS, A. M. Pres't.

LaGRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE,
LaGRANGE, GA.
Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, gymnasium. [illegible] tory advantages in music. Elegant pipe organ. Art and Voice Culture specialties. [illegible] Bookkeeping and harmony free. Sight singing daily. Dressmaking, typewriting, [illegible] Economical uniform. Health unsurpassed. Best social surroundings. Pupils board with faculty in College Home.
RUFUS W. SMITH, President

TUSCALOOSA FEMALE COLLEGE,
Tuscaloosa, Ala.
REV. JOHN D. SIMPSON, A. B., President
Fall session opens September 16, 1896.
Largest enrollment of any female college in the state. Full faculty. Electric lights; hot and cold baths. Terms reasonable. Write for catalogue.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND, BOOKKEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE.
SHORTHAND BY MAIL. LESSON FREE

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars.
COUCH & LUGENBEEL, Senoia, Ga.

SCHOOL BOOKS.
THE PEOPLE CAN BUY
From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.
W. P. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

Am. N. U. No. 35. 1896.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

VO

This coun of timber a other.

The South
ported mule to buy every State.

The recen against dueli sult. Profes
Berlin Univ that every e down the cus students.

Europe, t ads consume of coffee an cultivated i the profits growers on other parts o thing enorm

The Mexi costs the Go for employes traveling age vice on the mail agents, mails in the
of railways.
mails withou

The repor
Education sh
16,000,000 p
tutions of th
1894 the valu
the United S 000,000. Du the value o
South has in to $56,000,00

Some year
Saxe Weima in England, one day, and he had just b golf at the the Prince was. This because one of Wales is E

The twent ilton, New the wonder o to give place of ordnance.
ton ball a di miles with a powder, but cessfully acc charge are s men and brea

A represen
ernments sh
Czarina of it, and we a that for a da topic of conv foreign socie not be infer question w telligent, but and really su may lead ev
the geography

According Illinois Railr were 10,472 that State J seventeen pe age of the co ending June employes and killed and 1 ployes and 4 jured. The gers carried dicates the h
the roads of

Now her claims the running alo and his wife the country came they w taurant—a v
gave a larg they were quietly infor bicycle cloth lishment.
their nerves shock change have sued fo

The Japa
cuitar way on their rai
the railroa in heavy d provide over peopl relatives of them to tra poor man ne two children a train. T not ensur money rece
There are peratiome he to see duced here.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1896. NO. 45.

This country used us 80,000 acres of timber a day in one way and another.

The South has paid enough for imported mules in the last thirty years to buy every farm in every Southern State.

The recent agitation in Germany against dueling has had one good result. Professor Wagner, rector of the Berlin University, has given orders that every effort shall be made to put down the custom of dueling among the students.

Europe, the United States and Canada [illegible] over 2,000,000,000 pounds of coffee annually. As the plant is not cultivated in any of these countries the profits accruing to the coffee growers on the small islands and in other parts of the globe must be something enormous.

The Mexican railway mail service costs the Government $70,591 per year for employes, consisting of twenty-five traveling agents, who inspect the service on the railways, and ninety-one messengers, who are in charge of the mails on the cars on the different lines of railways. The companies carry the mails without charge.

The report of the Commissioner of Education shows a total enrollment of [illegible] pupils in the various institutions of the land. During the year 1891 the value of school property in the United States increased over $26,000,000. During the last twenty years the value of school property in the South has increased from $16,000,000 to $56,000,000.

Some years ago Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, who was then visiting England, met the Prince of Wales [illegible], and mentioned the fact that he had just been playing a game of golf at the Eltham Club, whereupon the Prince asked him where Eltham was. This amused Prince Edward, because one of the titles of the Prince of Wales is Earl of Eltham.

The twenty-inch gun at Fort Hamilton, New York Harbor, which was the wonder of the world in 1875, is to give place to a more modern piece of ordnance. The piece fired a half-ton ball a distance of two and a half miles with a charge of 125 pounds of powder, but when the feat was successfully accomplished the officers in charge are said to have counted their [illegible] and breathed sighs of satisfaction.

A representative of one of the Governments shook the hand of the Czarina of Russia instead of kissing it, and we are told, remarks Judge, that for a day the event was the sole topic of conversation in the home and in society at Moscow. It must not be inferred that the society in Moscow was less than usually intelligent, but that topics were scarce; [illegible] really such events in such circles [illegible] lead eventually to a change of the geography of Europe.

According to the last report of the Illinois Railroad Commissioners there were 10,172 miles of railroad track in the State June 30, 1895; or about seventeen per cent. of the total mileage of the country. During the year ending June 30 last 12 passengers, 175 employes and 443 other persons were killed and 155 passengers, 1433 employes and 400 other persons were injured. The total number of passengers carried was 60,000,000, which indicates the high standard of safety on the roads of the State.

Now here is a queer lawsuit, exclaims the New York Herald. It is dragging along in Chicago. A man and his wife went wheeling through the country and when dinner time came they went into a fashionable restaurant—a very swell restaurant—and gave a large order for edibles, for they were hungry. The proprietor [illegible] informed them that nobody in bicycle clothes could eat in his establishment. This was a terible shock to their nerves, but after a while the shock changed to anger and now they have sued for damages.

The Japanese authorities have a peculiar way of discouraging accidents on their railroads. They don't permit railroad companies to be mulcted in heavy damages or force them to adopt safeguards against running over people. Instead they fine the relatives of the killed for permitting the tresspass on the railroad. A [illegible] man near Kamakura recently lost two children, who were run down by a train. The railroad company was not censured and he received no money recompense, but was fined $10. There are a good many railroad corporations in this country that would like to see the Japanse method introduced here.

A SHORT CATECHISM.

AN EASY METHOD OF CONVERTING MISLED VOTERS.

Once They Understand That This Is a Battle for Universal Supremacy Between Uncle Sam and John Bull They'll Vote for Free Silver.

Question—What issue outweighs all others in this year's campaign?

Answer—The question of the restoration of the principle of bimetallism in our monetary system.

Q.—Why is so much earnestness felt on the subject?

A.—Because the vote next November will probably determine the question finally one way or the other.

Q.—Is not the tariff equally an issue in the campaign?

A.—No, there is no appreciable opposition to a protective tariff, and all other issues are lost in the great one of gold or bimetallism.

Q.—Explain the position of the gold advocates?

A.—They insist that 23.22 grains of gold shall constitute the measure of the dollar, no matter to what point gold may advance.

Q.—Why are they so wedded to the gold standard?

A.—Because it is the English standard, and England is looked upon as the most enlightened nation of the world.

Q.—Is there any reason why we should have the same standard as European countries?

A.—None whatever. The monetary system of a country is purely a matter of its own internal concern.

Q.—What influence has precipitated the issue at this time?

A.—The speculative money influence.

Q.—What do you mean by speculative money influence?

A.—Capital legitimately employed has little to make or lose by the question of the standards. A piece of property is worth just as much whether expressed in English pounds or in French francs or in American dollars. So invested capital represents the same intrinsic value whether it be measured by gold dollars or silver dollars. Only large investors in money have any very real interest in maintaining forever the gold standard.

Q.—But would not a change of standard be an injustice to them?

A.—The issue had better not have been raised at this time, but as it has been raised some injustice must be experienced on one side or the other.

Q.—Who raised the issue?

A.—The advocates of the gold standard.

Q.—What are their chief arguments?

A.—Denouncing the advocates of bimetallism as populists, anarchists, fanatics and cranks.

Q.—Are these denunciations justified?

A.—No; many able political economists and statesmen advocate bimetallism.

Q.—Does free silver carry with it the destruction of the national banking system, the restriction of the powers of the government to preserve the peace in times of riot and insurrection, and other so-called populistic measures?

A.—By no means. The remonetization of silver is a legitimate question of statesmanship with a solid basis of scientific truth underlying it.

Q.—Just what do the bimetallists contend for?

A.—For the free coinage both of gold and silver.

Q.—What do you mean by free coinage?

A.—The privilege on the part of any holder of the precious metals of taking them to the mint and having them coined into money without limitation.

Q.—Then the term "free" simply means unrestricted as to amount?

A.—Exactly. If every coin contains the full weight of pure metal and passes at what it is worth, there can be no object in limiting the coinage. The more money we have the better.

Q.—But how about the expense of running the mints?

A.—At present gold is coined at the expense of the government. In some countries the cost of coining is charged to the person getting his metal converted into coin. That would be a matter for congress to settle. There can be no objection to a charge for coinage. There may be advantages in it.

Q.—Then free silver simply means putting silver on an equality with gold in throwing open the mints to its coinage?

A.—It does.

Q.—What do you mean by 16 to 1?

A.—The present silver dollar has 16 times the weight of the gold dollar. The expression 16 to 1 means the continuance of the coinage of the silver dollar at the present weight, or at 16 times the weight of the gold dollar.

Q.—But the present silver dollar has but half the bullion value of the gold dollar, has it not?

A.—True, but its depreciation results very largely from its demonetization. Restore its functions as real money and it will certainly advance.

Q.—Will it return to a parity with gold at the 16 to 1 ratio?

A.—Many good thinkers believe it will. In any case the disparity would be but very small compared with what it is to-day.

Q.—What advantages are claimed for free coinage?

A.—It would break the existing corner in gold and cause the dollar to return to its old value.

Q.—What would be the effect of that?

A.—Prices for all products of labor would advance, business would revive, debts would be more easily paid, labor would be in greater demand, and strikes and riots would cease. Prosperity would be restored to the country.

Q.—Then the support of free silver does not mean anarchy and repudiation?

A.—Far from it; the intelligent and conscientious free-silver advocates have solely in view the prosperity of the nation.

THE SLINGS AND ARROWS OF OUTRAGED FARMERS.

LABOR'S WAGES AND MONOMETALLISM.

The advocates of the present gold standard are fond of asserting that wages are higher in gold standard countries than they are in bimetallic countries. They quote the daily wages paid in Brazil, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Great Britain, Argentina, Norway and Sweden, Spain, Turkey, Portugal, Canada, Switzerland, Venezuela, United States, Chili and Australasia, all gold standard countries, as against Austria, China, Russia, Central America, Persia, Peru, Uruguay, Mexico, Colombia, Japan, India and Ecuador—all silver standard countries. It will be noticed that not one of the countries named are on a bimetallic system, except it be the United States (the figures are for the year 1890, when this country was on a partial bimetallic basis) which they nevertheless put in the gold standard column. Today all the countries named have either a single silver standard or a single gold standard. Not one of them has a financial system like the United States had up to 1873, and, in a measure, from that time to 1893, when the Sherman law was repealed by a forced panic and under which wages advanced so much. A single silver standard is almost as bad as a single gold standard. The one virtue of silver monometallism over gold is that it keeps the forces of production at work. There is practically no unemployed in the silver countries. A third of the forces of production in the gold countries are idle at the present time.

And again it is organized labor that keeps wages up in every country. Labor is thoroughly organized in nearly all of the gold standard countries. In the silver countries it is not. All of the gold countries named have heretofore been bimetallic countries. The silver countries have always been monometallic. Wages thrive under the bimetallic system. Wages go down under the monometallic system—be it gold or silver. This country is now on a gold monometallic system and has been since 1893. Wages have gone down 30 per cent. since then. The daily pay of workmen in the United States in 1892 was $12,000,000; today it is about $8,000,000. We want to get back to the bimetallic system, not merely as it partly existed prior to 1893, but as it wholly existed prior to 1873. Then wages will go up.

TO OPPRESS LABOR.

Aldrich's Committee Misrepresents the Facts.

New York Journal: What are these statistics in which such constant appeals are made, and for which men are asked to distrust their common sense and common observation? Fortunately, this question may be briefly answered, because all these labor sympathizers refer to the same set of statistics—the only set in the world that would answer their purpose. It is the report made by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island to the senate finance committee in 1893.

Those who know nothing about the wages accepted the committee's summary, but others looked to see in what industries this astonishing rise in wages had taken place. They found that upon "books and newspapers" wages had fallen since 1873; in the "building trades" they had fallen; in "city public works" they had fallen; in "cotton goods" they had fallen, but that in "dry goods," where the greatest fall was expected, wages were reported to have risen over 40 per cent!

Turning to the employers' reports in another volume to learn where the wages of clerks had been rising at such a phenomenal rate, it was found that but a single dry goods store, up in New Hampshire, had made a return. Less than twenty clerks were employed by it, and yet the Aldrich committee assumed that all clerks throughout the country had had a similar advance in wages. As clerks are more numerous than cotton operative, for example, a rise of 40-odd per cent in the wages of a score of clerks was made to offset a fall of about one-sixth in the wages of over a thousand cotton operatives and leave a handsome balance to be applied to other industries as needed. Other methods likewise extraordinary were used by the committee, such as the separation of the foremen from the hands, and the making a rise in a foreman's wages offset a fall in the wages of a score of men under him. By these means the desired results were secured.

What the employers' returns really showed was something very different, according to an independent investigator, who went over the returns a few months ago. The summary for all the persons employed in all the industries covered was as follows:

Date	Persons Empolyed.	Aggregate wages (daily.)	Average daily wages currency.	Average daily wages (gold.)
January, 1860	5,651	$6,566	$1.18	$1.18
January, 1873	6,153	12,566	2.04	1.81
January, 1891	7,765	13,125	1.69	1.69

In other words, between 1860 and 1873, under bimetallism, gold wages rose 53 per cent in thirteen years; between 1873 and 1891, under the incomplete monometallism, gold wages in the most favored establishments fell 7 per cent.

Since 1893, under complete monometallism, the decline in wages has been at a much more rapid rate. In Massachusetts the labor report for 1894 showed that in two years the nominal rate of wages in the factories of the state had fallen 7 per cent and that even this lower rate was received by fewer hands, working fewer days. Wage-earners who do not know the statistics know the facts from hard experience, and those who depend upon statistics to persuade the wage-earners to take the side of money lenders and tighten their grip upon the industry of the country have a difficult task before them.

"Fool Logic."

St. Louis Republic: In the same column a republican organ tells the workingman that if he votes for Bryan he will vote 47 per cent of his wages into the pockets of mine owners, and that he will vote to depreciate not only the silver dollar, but all the currency to 53 cents on the dollar. How in the name of Hanna can free silver coinage put 47 per cent of each dollar coined into the pocket of the silver miner and at the same time reduce the value of the silver dollar and all the currency dependent upon it to the value of 53 cents? Any schoolboy can figure out that if the value of the silver dollar depreciates to 53 cents, or anything less than its face value the miner can not make 47 cents by its free coinage at the mints. Or, to put it the other way, if the miner makes 47 cents, the value of the silver dollar will have to be raised to the value of the present gold dollar, in which case there will be no depreciation of the currency. The gold-standard advocate can take his choice of alternatives, but not both. This is a fair sample of the kind of logic with which Hanna's agents are flooding the country. It proceeds on the assumption that the workingmen are fools.

Demonetizing Silver.

I will take it on myself to answer Mr. Edward Helliwell, who inquires about what is meant when it is asserted that silver has been "demonetized." His letter, published in the Record Aug. 6, refers to two objections often stated, as he says, which he gives as follows: 1. "We were not using any silver in 1873, and therefore silver could not have been demonetized." 2. "We are using more silver money than ever before in our history."

It is a technical word. One might say the silver coin now has no independent purchasing power, whereas once with us all the silver coin of the United States did have such independent purchasing power, and from 1853 to 1873 the silver dollar possessed it, while the fractional silver coin did not. The independent purchasing power of the fractional silver coin was taken away in 1853 and that of the silver dollar in changes that occurred from 1873 to 1878. That is "demonetizing." The taking away of the independent purchasing power of any of the precious metal coinage by law is the "demonetizing" of such coin. While we did not actually use the silver or gold coin as a part of the volume of the circulating medium in 1873 the law permitted the gold coin and the silver dollar to be carried on independent purchasing power, and after that this privilege was taken from the silver dollar. While the silver coin now has the same purchasing power as gold coin it is so because they are in the volume of the circulating medium as the solvent representation of the gold coin. The silver coin changes purchasing power with the change of the gold coin, and not with the change of silver bullion. It may then be true that in 1873 we were not using the silver coin in our volume of the circulating medium, and yet the silver dollar was privileged to be coined and used on its own purchasing power, but after 1878 it could only be used as the solvent or insolvent representation of gold coin. The silver dollar was restored in everything but its independent purchasing power in 1878. The silver dollar therefore remained "demonetized."

Nor does it make any difference about the volume of silver coin, for be the issue few or many, the question involving the "demonetizing" of precious metal coinage is whether or not it is issued on independent or dependent purchasing power. Purchasing power alone is "standard of prices," and any money to perform the office of a "standard of prices" must have sufficient independence of purchasing power to fill this office. Solvent representative money never has any purchasing power of its own, and therefore can only be subordinate money and is "demonetized."—Ebenezer Wakeley in Chicago Record.

Just Like Cleveland.

Those Republican papers that have been roasting Cleveland for his goldite financial policy can now with the same consistency roast McKinley, but it is a noticeable fact that they do nothing of the kind. If there is any difference between the policy announced by McKinley and that pursued by Cleveland, people would like to know what that difference is.—Wood River News-Miner, Hailey, Idaho.

Puts Its Foot In It Every Day.

Chicago Tribune, today: This silver agitation is all in the interests of the silver miners. They want to make fifty cents' worth of silver worth a dollar.

Chicago Tribune, yesterday: The value of silver cannot be increased by unlimited coinage.

Query—If the value of silver cannot be increased by free coinage, how is free silver going to benefit the silver miners?

Except in the Ottoman empire, Persia, Arabia, Siam, China and the interior of African countries, slavery is now extinct.

OBADIAH POORDEVIL

GOES TO CHURCH BUT THEY DON'T ASK HIM TO PRAY.

However, the Spirit Moves Him and He Pours Out His Soul "In Meetin'"—One of W. S. Morgan's Newest Characters.

Obadiah Poordevil was on hand at church again last Sunday, but neither Deacon Skinflint nor Twentypercent invited him to lead in prayer. But Obadiah, having once begun, now felt it his duty to keep it up. Taking advantage of a temporary lull in the exercises he said, "Let us pray." Of course there was no way to shut him off, so they all knelt and Obadiah made the following prayer:

"O, Lord, I know old Skinflint and Twentypercent don't want me to pray any more, but I can't help it. They told me last month that you would put words in my mouth, and O, Lord, when you do it I can't hold 'em. O, Lord, I want to know what I was made for? Why did you make me the same shape as old Deacon Skinflint, and he don't work and I do? O, Lord, did you intend for us all to work, or not? If you didn't, why did you give us all hands? If you didn't intend us all to work, why didn't you make them that you didn't intend to work without any mouths and with hair on so they wouldn't eat up and wear out what us workers produced? If you intended for us all to work, why do you let them dodge it?

O, Lord, it may be because I am ignorant, but I can't understand. You made the earth for the people but I can't git any of it while old Twentypercent has got enough for a dozen families. Did you intend for him to gobble up more than his share? If you didn't why don't you snatch him bald-headed?

O, Lord, it seems the world is turned upside down, anyway.

And, now, O, Lord, if I have to keep on slaving for old Twentypercent I want you to send me down a wagon load of grace, for I can't hardly stand it. I want you to help me to understand everything on this earth, and if it's right help me to bear my share of the burdens and as much of old Twentypercent's share as he makes me bear.

Now, O, Lord, you know what there is to do here that I can't do. I haint askin' you to do anything I can do, but just give me a whole lot of grace to help me put in my best licks. If you put words in my mouth that hurts old Skinflint's and Twentypercent's feelin's, I can't help it. If you want me to wipe up the ground with them all you've got to do is just to say the word, like you did to Joshua about all of them different kind of "ites" that were up at Jericho and Gilgal and other towns, where I think old Twentypercent's ancestors came from.

O, Lord, this is enough for today; I'll hit 'em again some other time. Amen.

W. S. MORGAN.

How Mark Is Viewed at Home.

Cleveland Citizen (official organ Cleveland Central Labor Union)—At a regular meeting of the Cleveland (O.) Central Labor union, the committee on legislation made the following report:

"To the Republican Trades Unionists of the United States: Realizing that in a few short months the union workingmen of this country will be again asked to cast their ballots for president, we, the delegates of the organized laboring people of Cleveland, appeal to republican wage workers, who have been repeatedly told by their party newspapers and politicians that they must imitate capital and organize if they would enjoy the benefits of a higher tariff, to demand that the Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, the principal manager of William McKinley (who, it is stated, will be a member of the latter's cabinet in case he is elected), explain his attitude relative to labor organizations:

"1. Ask the Hon. M. A. Hanna if he did not aid in destroying the Seamen's unions of the lower lake regions and then contribute to a fund to send A. B. Rumsey, his scab procurer, on a pleasure trip around the world.

"2. Ask Major McKinley's 'bosom friend,' the Hon. M. A. Hanna, if he has not taken a prominent part in wrecking the Mine Workers' unions of Pennsylvania.

"3. Ask this tremendous political general, who fleeces his workingmen with one hand and spends money lavishly with the other to purchase a presidency, the Hon. Mark A. Hanna, if he did not destroy the union of his street railway employes and positively refuse to allow them to organize.

"4. Ask the great President Maker Hanna if he did not say to the striking employes of the Globe shipyard that $1.30 per day was sufficient for them (when competitors were paying more), but if they would vote for McKinley he would favor paying $1.05 a day.

"5. Ask the unselfish Hanna if he is not at this moment erecting a mansion for his son and employing scab labor and disregarding the wage rate and eight-hour day of the building trades.

"6. Finally, ask Mr. Hanna, before his candidate is given the nomination for the highest honor in the land, if destroying workingmen's unions and paying pauper wages for long hours of toil is his interpretation of protection to American labor and prosperity and patriotism."

On motion the resolution was adopted and the secretary instructed to forward it to the chairman of the National Republican committee.

Hot Shot for the Bond Brokers.

Monthly Journal (official organ of the International Association of Machinists)—Great and startling changes are taking place; history is being made. Party politics are all shaken up; party lines are strained. Fealty to party and advocacy of partisanship are giving place to honesty of purpose and devotion to principle. The veil is rent; workingmen see clearer than they ever did before what forces have been at work, what tactics are employed to keep them in subjugation and to prevent their emancipation. On the one side is producing labor; on the other side the money power, strongly intrenched in official power by years of scheming and corruption, pulling and straining for supremacy. Never before has the outlook been so cheering. Government is to be founded on intelligence and equality and not upon the wishes of the plutocrats and their unholy desires, that are sucking and sapping the life blood of our people. The governmental partnership that is in existence with the powers that be and the favored classes, is about to be broken; the people have come to the realization of the fact that all must have equal recognition before the law; that all must share in the prosperity, that thought, brawn and muscles have created, and that all are entitled to equal liberty and opportunity.

A Friend to the People.

The noblest position a public man can now assume is a friend to the common people.

Thos. Jefferson dictated the inscription to be placed on his tomb before he died.

He said he wanted it stated on his monument that he was the author of the declaration of independence and founder of the University of Virginia.

A grander inscription for the monument of a dead statesman would be, "He was the friend of the common people."

This inscription would be a good one, and worthy to mark the last resting place of any man the world has called good and great.

A man, to be a friend to the common people, must possess rare traits of character and nobleness of mind. No grander conception can be made of a truly great man than that he was the friend of the common people.

The world has produced many great, wise and good men, but there is niche yet for the man who possesses the transcendent nobleness of character to be indeed and in truth the friend of the common people.

BEHOLD THE LEADERS OF THE BOLTOCRATIC SIDESHOW.

[Preparing to Aid McKinley's Election—In Their Minds.]

Are they not the same men who Accomplished the complete destruction of silver as money in 1893? Since then Wages have gone down nearly one-half. Three million able bodied men have since been thrown out of employment. The prisons of the country have become overcrowded. The insane asylums cannot accommodate the victims The poor houses are turning victims into the highways to die by the roadway. Voters of this country do you want this state of affairs continued? If you do just vote along with the Cleveland-Carlisle-Whitney-Brice sideshow for McKinley and Hobart. If you want to see the wheels of industry set in motion again just vote for Bryan and Watson.

One redeeming feature in connection with the latest developments affecting South African affairs appears in the fact that a great majority of the English people are ashamed and disgusted because of the developments brought to light through the shrewd investigation by President Kruger. While they are yet smarting under the indignities heaped upon them by the Sultan, and the scathing criticism which the weak policy of Salisbury in this connection elicited from the entire civilized world, they find their official representative convicted of one of the grossest and most despicable conspiracies that a stronger power could conceive against a weaker.

An enterprising Kansan who has acquired a facility for selling liquor, and whose business in Tonganoxie was greatly hampered by numerous jail sentences for violating the law, has transferred his saloon equipment to a farm wagon and is following a zigzag course among the thirsty workers in the fields. An accurate knowledge of the location of county boundary lines has enabled him thus far to elude the watchful sheriffs, and his experiment is being noted with increasing interest by a host of expectant imitators.

THE STATE NORMAL COLLEGE,
TROY, ALA.

This college is supported by state and Peabody fund appropriations for the training of teachers and is not a mere "Preparatory School" for some other, but is of college grade in every way, as a teachers' training school should be, and grants college degrees and diplomas, and its graduates receive state certificates for two, four and six years, or for life, from the state superintendent of education of Alabama, and these are the strongest testimonials of professional worth to a teacher. Indeed, the graduates of this college are in great demand as teachers and the college authorities take great pleasure in answering requests for trained teachers sent in by school authorities from all over Alabama and adjoining states.

It will be seen from the Normal Exponent that students desiring the usual college course may get it here at very low expense, too. Board is but $8 to $10 per month and tuition and incidentals low.

Persons desiring information as to this college or wishing to secure a good teacher should write to Dr. E. R. Eldridge, president, at Troy Ala., for the Normal Exponent explaining everything.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY,

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A Physician's Testimony.

"I know it to be a radical cure for tetter, salt rheum, eczema and all kindred diseases of the skin and scalp. I never prescribe any thing else in all skin troubles."

M. L. FIELDER, M. D.,
Eclectic P. O., Elmore Co., Ala.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

A man without enemies may not be much of a man, but he has a soft time of it

"Penny wise and pound foolish" are those who think it economy to use cheap soap and rosin soap, instead of the good old Dobbins' Electric Soap; for sale by all grocers since 1869. Try it once. Be sure, buy genuine.

There are occasions in all our lives when we would rather have the conversation founded on somebody else.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—RALPH ERIEG, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1893.

Feed

Your nerves upon rich, red blood and you will not be nervous. Blood is made rich and pure by

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are always reliable. 25 cents.

THE FARQUHAR
PATENT VARIABLE FRICTION FEED.

Medal and Highest Award at the World's Columbian Exposition.

SAW MILL & ENGINE

BEST SET WORKS IN THE WORLD. Warranted the best made. Shingle Mills, Machinery, and Standard Agricultural Implements of Best Quality at lowest prices. Illustrated Catalogue.

RODS and Dip Needle.
for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers. Cir. 2c. P. & M. Agency, Box D, Palmyra, Pa.

Here It Is!

Want to learn all about a Horse? How to Pick Out a Good One? Know Imperfections and so Guard against Fraud? Detect Disease and Effect a Cure when same is possible? Tell the Age by the Teeth? What to call the Different Parts of the Animal? How to Shoe a Horse Properly? All this and other Valuable Information can be obtained by reading our 100-PAGE ILLUSTRATED HORSE BOOK, which we will forward, postpaid, on receipt of only 25 cents in stamps.

BOOK PUB. HOUSE,
134 Leonard St., N. Y. City.

ENGINES
FOR GINNING.

Most economical and durable. Cheapest and best in the market for cash. VARIABLE FRICTION FEED SAW MILLS AND STANDARD IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Send for catalogue.

A. B. FARQUHAR CO., Ltd.,
Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, York, Pa.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR SELMA

Rolling Mills to Resume Work—Results of Primaries and Conventions for Congressmen—Homicide at Carbon Hill—Two Murderers Break Jail—Valuable Relic Found.

Cuba's Delegation for Rogers.

Cuba, Sumter county, sends her delegation to the county convention for Rogers for congress.

Clarke Gives Taylor a Majority.

Clarke county gives Taylor 4½, Bray 2½ and Austell 1½ delegates in the congressional convention.

Mobile Favors Sheldon.

Sheldon has got everything in sight in the city of Mobile and his majority is assured, even if the county is adverse.

Marengo Instructs for Taylor.

The county congressional convention held at Linden Saturday sent eleven delegates instructed for Hon. George W. Taylor.

Walker Unanimous for Bankhead.

The Walker county democratic convention instructed delegates for Bankhead by a unanimous vote. There was no opposition in any beat.

Marion Instructs for Bankhead.

The Marion county convention sent four delegates instructed for Bankhead to the congressional convention. The party is solid for Bryan.

Rolling Mills to Resume Work.

The Birmingham and the Alabama rolling mill companies will resume operations September 1. Large forces are now at work making repairs.

Stallings Has No Opposition.

Democratic congressional primaries were held in the Second district Saturday. The vote all over the district was light, Hon. J. F. Stallings having no opposition.

Etowah Instructs for Winston.

The Etowah county convention met Saturday and selected delegates to the congressional convention. Solicitor J. J. Winston was unanimously indorsed and the delegates instructed to vote for him for congress.

Fatal Fall From a Tree.

Aaron Morgan, colored, fell from a tree near Gadsden Friday, and died a few hours afterwards as a result of his injuries. He fell a distance of thirty-five feet. He received internal injuries and fractured his skull.

Murderers at Large.

George and Will Howell, two negroes sent to Decatur for safe keeping from Limestone county, and under sentence of death for the murder of a white man named Smith, broke jail some time Friday night and are at large.

Bankhead Re-Nominated.

A dispatch from Tuskaloosa says: Bankhead has safely carried Tuskaloosa, Fayette, Marion, Lamar, Walker and Greene counties for congress in the primary election today, (Saturday) and his nomination is conceded.

Tusseling Over a Loaded Gun.

A man named Doster shot and killed Ford Dukes in Montgomery Saturday afternoon. Both are white. The men were tusseling over a loaded gun when the piece was accidentally discharged. Both are said to have been drinking.

Four Hundred Dollars Reward.

The governor has offered $400 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the person who committed the outrage on the little daughter of Rev. Gardener C. Tucker, in Baldwin county, a few days ago. The crime was a most atrocious one, and every one hopes the brute may be brought to justice.

Bibb County Convention.

The democratic convention of Bibb, held at Centreville Saturday, appointed delegates to the congressional convention and instructed them to vote as a unit for Hon. Oscar W. Underwood. The convention instructed Bibb's representative to vote for Bankhead for United States senator, and for Pugh as second choice.

A Valuable Relic.

W. H. Rice, while at work near Bee Tree bar, near Florence, discovered a mother-of-pearl gorget of Indian warship 6 inches in diameter, bearing the four foxes' heads, the badge or crest of the Cherokee tribe, who played the noted game and secured the territory at Ball Play. It has been sent to an officer of United States engineers at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Fatal Accident Near Selma.

J. B. Peak, a prominent planter of Dallas county, while working with his cotton gin across the river, in sight of Selma, Friday morning, got his right hand caught between the saws and was instantly drawn between the sharp teeth. His fingers were cut off and the flesh was literally torn from the bones of the arm. The right side of his body was terribly lacerated. He was carried to his home in Selma, where he died three hours later. He leaves a young wife.

With His Little Rifle.

A. J. Rains, captain of the E. T. Coles, a Tennessee river steamboat, narrowly escaped death by gunshot at Decatur Saturday. The little son of Pilot Newsom, while handling a loaded rifle on the upper deck of the boat, accidentally discharged it. The ball passed through the floor of the deck and plowed a furrow through the scalp of Mr. Rains just above the temple, making quite a painful, but not serious, flesh wound.

Assault With Intent to Murder.

Charles Hicks, the negro charged with shooting Laura Hicks, his wife, Saturday night, near Twenty-sixth street, Birmingham, was arrested Sunday afternoon by officers Bodeker, Hilard and Disheroon. A charge of assault with intent to murder was placed against him, and an order left to allow no bail until the result of the wounds inflicted is known. The woman is in a dangerous condition, being shot in the abdomen. The shooting is said to have been the result of jealousy.

Fowler Admitted to Bail.

R. H. Fowler, who ten days or so ago shot and seriously wounded P. B. Greene, in Birmingham, has been released from the county jail, where he was held to await the result of Greene's injuries. Greene has recovered sufficiently to be on the streets, and Fowler was, therefore, allowed to make bond to appear to answer a charge of assault with intent to murder. The bond was fixed at $500. It now seems to be certain that Greene will eventually recover from his wound.

Homicide at Carbon Hill.

Saturday was pay day at the mines around Carbon Hill, and considerable whisky drinking was indulged in by the miners. John Linihan, a miner from McDonald's mines, while intoxicated, was creating a disturbance, when Albert Oakley, the town marshal, commanded him to keep quiet. Linihan told him he had done nothing disorderly. This led to a dispute, which ended in Linihan pulling a pistol and firing two shots at Oakley. The first shot struck the marshal in the heart, killing him instantly, and the second took effect in the hip of James Roden, a bystander, producing a serious wound. Linihan's friends contend that Oakley made a motion to pull his pistol, which caused Linihan to shoot. After the shooting Linihan gave himself up to some friends. Sheriff Guttery, of Walker county, was notified of the affair and went over to Carbon Hill Sunday morning and got the prisoner.

Contest in the Eighth District.

County conventions were held Saturday in the seven counties composing the Eighth Alabama Congressional district for the purpose of choosing delegates to the free silver democratic nominating congressional convention, which meets in Decatur on September 1 next. Six county conventions—those of Lauderdale, Lawrence, Jackson, Limestone, Madison and Morgan—have, without contest, sent instructed delegations to the district convention, the first three for General Joseph Wheeler, present member of congress from this district, and the latter three counties sent similar delegations instructed for Judge William Richardson, General Wheeler's opponent in the congressional race. Colbert, the seventh county in the district, held separate Wheeler and Richardson conventions Saturday, the former being composed of forty-nine and the latter fifty-five delegates, resulting in sending contesting delegations from that county. As it now stands the Decatur convention will be organized with an initial representation for General Wheeler of twenty-four and for Judge Richardson twenty-eight delegates, which will give the Richardson men control of the organization, and, together with the added strength of Colbert county, will undoubtedly secure Judge Richardson the nomination, which his friends here believe is now assured.

An Old Firm Falls.

The T. T. Haydock Carriage company, of Cincinnati, assigned Saturday to the Union Savings and Trust company. The assets are $200,000 including five shops and stock. The liabilities are $150,000. The officers of the company are: President, Mrs. T. S. Haydock; vice-president and general manager, E. P. Peeplo; secretary, C. C. Wyck. Mr. Haydock died in 1885 and his estate was represented by his widow. The firm has been in business over forty years. The failure is due to recent failures of other carriage companies.

Shot His Wife's Father.

A shotgun duel between W. A. Haynes and his son-in-law, Daniel Lee, at Arlington, a Louisville and Nashville station south of Nashville, Tenn., is reported. Lee and his wife fell out and separated. Thursday Lee returned to Haynes', where she was staying, and was ordered away. He armed himself and went back, when the men quarreled and Lee shot Haynes. The latter got his gun, and several shots were exchanged. Haynes lies in a dying condition, and Lee has been jailed without bond.

Extensive Phosphate Deposits.

A. J. Welch, chief clerk of the railway mail service, has returned from a trip through Middle Tennessee on official business. Mr. Welch says that at Mt. Pleasant, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, very extensive deposits of phosphate were but recently discovered. Several car loads of phosphate are now being turned out daily, and a large number of men are employed.

A Missouri Hurricane.

A terrific hurricane struck West Plains, Mo., Saturday evening at 5:45, lasting until 6:30, which was accompanied by a heavy rain, followed by hail. At the base-ball park the grand stand was blown down and completely demolished. A number of people were injured, but none seriously.

OF INTEREST TO BICYCLE RIDERS.

There can be no question that one of the most important parts of a bicycle is the tire. It has to bear the brunt of the work, is constantly coming in contact with destroying elements, and generally receives the least care from the rider. The importance of the work it has to do was early recognized by makers of bicyles, however, and they have given much attention to this important adjunct of the wheel.

There are today, perhaps, thirty different styles of bicycle tires on the market, all of which vary in detail. As to their various merits, theories are of little value, actual experience is the only way to determine this question. Unless an article gives satisfaction, demand for it soon ceases. After a test of over six years, during which time double-tube and single-tube tires have been marketed, at least three-fourths of all the riders in this country today demand and ride double-tube tires.

The leading firm in the United States, and in fact in the entire world, in the manufacture of double-tube tires, is Morgan & Wright, Chicago. Their history is interesting. The first pneumatic tire—the rags-and glue kind—was giving trouble, and Morgan & Wright stepped in to fill a great public want. They furnished a tire that could be easily taken from the rim to be repaired. That was the principal requirement in those days, besides the usual requirements of speed, durability and comfort.

That was several years ago. Single tube tires had been pushed in Europe, and were failing, and the same effort was being started in this country. The Morgan & Wright double-tube tire quickly proved its superiority, with the result stated above. The quick-repair, inner tube, which is this year a standard feature of all of this firm's tires, has made the position of double-tube tires practically invincible, by making it quick and easy for the riders to secure, at the roadside, a permanent repair—a thing admittedly impossible in the majority of single-tube accidents.

BEAT THE COTTON TIE TRUST.

The Georgia Commissioner Urges the Use of Wire Ties.

Commissioner Nesbitt has received a letter from D. P. Duncan, manager of the Farmers' Alliance exchange of South Carolina, recommending the use of the cotton wire tie and asking that as many farmers of the state as possible be urged to adopt the tie in order to break down the cotton tie trust recently formed by the manufacturers.

The new tie is made of large size wire. One end of the wire is made into a loop. Through this loop the other end is passed. The wire is then bent down, twisted under the loop and tied in a simple yet effective manner.

Mr. George W. Truitt, of Lagrange, wrote to Commissioner Nesbitt that the new tie was a success in every particular. Mr. Truitt says the tie is perfect and a practical test shows the loop is not needed. He says that after making a thorough test the spiral twist in the wire is best. The wire is said to be large enough not to cut its way into the bagging, as was at first claimed would be the result if they were adopted.

COLONEL NESBITT'S LETTER.

Commissioner Nesbitt has addressed the following letter to the farmers of the south in regard to the wire cotton ties:

"Atlanta, Ga., August 21.—To the farmers of Georgia: This department has been investigating the question of substituting wire ties for the flat ties heretofore used in baling cotton, and I believe now that a satisfactory solution of the question has been reached. I now urge upon the farmers of this and the other cotton growing states to meet together in their respective counties and devise plans for securing wire ties. If necessary delay packing your cotton for a short time in order that you may get the wire ties.

"The following letters explain the matter. The ties used by Mr. George W. Truitt are made by the Continental Wire company, Laclede building, St. Louis, Mo. They weigh eighteen pounds to the bundle and are offered at 50 cents a bundle (thirty ties) on the cars at St. Louis in car load lots or 60 cents in smaller quantities.

"The ties recommended by the Farmers' Alliance exchange of South Carolina can be purchased from Washburn & Moore Manufacturing company, 241 Pearl street, New York. They weigh thirty-seven and a half pounds to the bundle and will cost 90 cents a bundle down in Atlanta. Any further information desired will be cheerfully furnished upon application to this department.

R. T. Nesbitt,
"Commissioner."

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING;

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

GENERAL NEWS SUMMARY.

Compiled and Condensed for the Convenience of Our Readers.

TWO NEGRO DUELISTS DEAD.

Suicided on the Eve of Her Wedding. Destructive Prairie Fires Raging. Ship Ashore—Two Girls Burned to Death—Plant System Establishes a Hospital Department.

The O'Hara Walthall (Mass.) Dial company has notified its employes that after August 29 the dial works will be closed indefinitely pending the advent of better times.

Dennis Williams, a prominent cotton man of Norman, Okla., was shot Tuesday night from ambush. He was on his way to the county seat to have warrants issued for a gang of horse thieves.

The democrats of the First congressional district of Mississippi have renomited Congressman John M. Allen. In the Second district W. V. Sullivan, a leading young lawyer of Oxford, was chosen to succeed Congressman Kyle.

Saturday morning a large barn full of feed and containing four horses and five mules belonging to H. D. Kampmann's ranch, near San Antonio, Tex., burned, together with his valuable driving horse, Bessie. Loss, $5,000.

At Legate, in Stewart county, Tenn., Oscar Prewitt and J. T. Travis quarreled over a crop of tobacco and Travis was shot by Prewitt six times, killing him instantly. Prewitt escaped and a heavy reward is offered for his apprehension.

Fire of incendiary origin destroyed the exposition building, a large frame structure at the driving park, Buffalo, N. Y. Loss, $100,000. All the horses were removed safely, but the owners will lose most of their sulkies, harness, etc.

The Missionary Baptist Church Association of southern and western Kentucky on Thursday passed resolutions condemnatory of Dr. Whitsett at Louisville, declaring that he was guilty of heresy in stating and believing that for years immersion was a lost art in England.

The Chattanooga police arrested a man Friday night who gave his name as Charles M. Brinkley, of Pike county, Ga., on suspicion of being the man who made the murderous assault on Captain Russell, of the local police, Tuesday night. Brinkley has been committed to await an investigation.

One member of the family of George Blase, a market gardener of St. Louis, Mo., has died of glanders, his wife is dying and another child, a boy two years old, is beginning to show symptoms of the dreadful disease. The disease was transmitted to the Blase family from a horse used in marketing the garden product.

The Argentine bank, a pioneer institution of Argentine, Kan., was closed Wednesday by Myron A. Waterman, deputy state examiner of Kansas. The bank, he says, has some bad loans and could not make sufficient collection to tide it over. The liabilities are placed at about $198,000, of which $122,500 is due depositors.

Little Walter, the two-year-old son of C. L. Steine, a soldier at Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga., while playing with matches at noon Friday, set his clothing a-fire and was so badly burned that he died in about four hours. Both his parents were away from home when the sad event took place.

Walker B. Adams, who was shot at Bedford station, N. Y., Thursday by burglars, died Friday morning. The two burglars shot refuse to talk and have not been identified. Two women, who are undoubtedly related to them, have called to see them, but the women refuse to talk, and speak of the men by their first names only.

The American ship Governor Goodwin, Captain Oakes, from New York April 29 for Chee-Foo, is ashore on Prince's island and is a total wreck. The crew were all saved. The Governor Goodwin was a wooden ship of 1,495 tons. She was built in Boston, Mass., in 1877, and was owned by Foster & Prack, of Boston.

Jesse Rudicil, a motorman on the Austin (Texas) Rapid Transit, had five bullets fired into him Friday morning by Will Cooper, a grocery clerk, and one bullet through the spine will kill him. He was shot without warning, Cooper entering the car and firing into Rudicil's back. Cooper says Rudicil has been too intimate with his wife.

Leopold Weil & Co., diamond and jewelry dealers, New York, are in financial difficulty. The trouble is attributed to the banks shutting down on discounts. The liabilities are $130,000. It is said the assets are sufficient to pay all the debts, but cannot be realized on at present. On January 1 last the firm placed its assets at $350,000.

John Felbach and his two daughters, Tillie and Hattie, aged 10 and 15 years, were burned to death Wednesday night in the destruction of the family residence in Watertown, S. D. The mother and one daughter were saved and one of the dead girls lived two hours after being removed from the building. The origin of the fire is still unknown.

Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, United States secretary of the navy, arrived in London Wednesday. He called at the United States embassy next morning and afterwards attended the funeral of Sir John Milais at St. Paul's church.

Fire destroyed the Van Wert county infirmary in Ohio Wednesday. Thirty inmates barely escaped. Two were badly burned.

The store of N. Friedman, dealer in dry goods and notions, Nashville, Tenn., was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. The damage will amount to about $5,000. The store of Charles Sickler, grocer, next door, was damaged $2,000 by smoke and water.

News reached Louisa, Ky., of the killing of J. R. Hensley by John Lett, at Zelda. The prisoner is said to have gone into the store where Lett is a clerk and raised a disturbance. Lett was assaulted by Hensley and used a knife in defense, disemboweling Hensley. The latter died in a few minutes. Both the men were married.

A NEW DISCOVERER OF AMERICA

Did His Work About the Year Columbus Was Born.

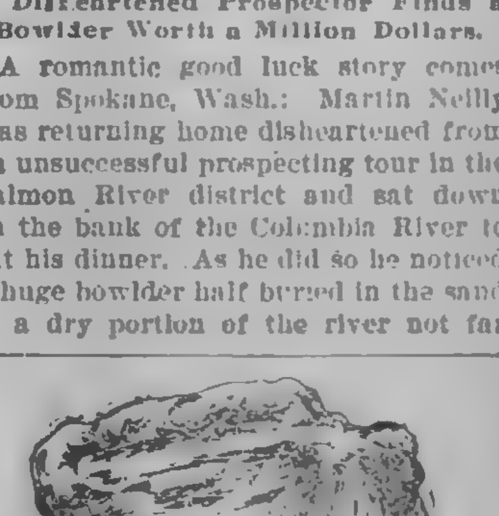
To sum up briefly. The shortest route from the old world to the new is from Cape Verde to Brazil. Winds and currents tend to carry a ship across. There is, therefore, an inherent probability that a Portuguese vessel should have been driven on to the Brazilian coast. This actually happened to Cabral in 1500. It might have happened at any time after ships began to round Cape Verde. That cape was first rounded in 1445. In 1448 a remarkable map was made by Bianco, showing the most recent Portuguese discoveries. On it a long stretch of coastline is shown southwest from Cape Verde, with an inscription saying that it is authentic, and 1,500 miles to the west. The only land in such a position is South America. The discovery must have been made between 1445 and 1448.

It is recorded that an unknown island was found far to the west in 1447. On the first map dealing with the Atlantic Ocean after Bianco's map, a large island is found in the position indicated by Bianco. The Portuguese had good reason for not troubling much about such an island, until the papal bull of 1493, with its line of demarcation, when their conduct leading to the Tordesillas treaty of 1494, by which the line was shifted so far that they secured Brazil, seems to have been based on knowledge of the existence of land in the position of that country. Moreover, there is evidence to show that they publicly claimed the possession of such knowledge. If the views here set forth are tenable, the interesting and important result is obtained that America was discovered by the Portuguese in or about the very year in which Columbus is believed to have been born. Without removing one iota from the real merit of Columbus, it would add the crowning laurel to the already great glory of that marvelous man, Prince Henry the Navigator, who, it is pardonable to remember, was half an Englishman.—Geographical Journal.

A POOR MAN'S GOOD LUCK.

A Disheartened Prospector Finds a Bowlder Worth a Million Dollars.

A romantic good luck story comes from Spokane, Wash.: Martin Neilly was returning home disheartened from an unsuccessful prospecting tour in the Salmon River district and sat down on the bank of the Columbia River to eat his dinner. As he did so he noticed a huge bowlder half buried in the sand in a dry portion of the river not far from where he sat. When he was through with his repast he shouldered his pick and sauntered over toward the huge bowlder. He struck his pick into it several times and dislodged a piece of the decomposed rock. Great was his surprise when upon picking up the fragment he saw traces of gold and copper. Chipping a few more pieces he carried them to the nearest town and had them examined by assayers, who found that they would average $59 worth of gold and copper to the ton. Neilly has established a claim and is now holding off for a syndicate offer. The bowlder is estimated to weigh 20,000 tons, and its value is considered to be a million dollars.



NEILLY'S BOWLDER.

In speaking of the discovery Neilly says: "It was some time before I fully realized what a fortune I had discovered, but when it dawned upon me that at last I was a rich man I am afraid I made such demonstrations as would justify anyone who might have seen me in believing that I had lost my senses. For several years I have been 'grubstaked' in prospecting these mountains without success, and many is the time I have gone hungry for the want of the price to get something to eat, and can you blame me for going nearly crazy when I realized that I was no longer poor?"

Kindness draws out the better part of our nature, disarming resistance, dissipating angry passion, and melting the hardest heart.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

Howard College,
EAST LAKE, ALA.

The Fall term of this old and honored institution begins

September 22, 1896.

The school will be conducted upon strict business principles.

[illegible] and the location is one of health, [illegible] moral security. Saloons and [illegible] agencies are excluded from East Lake by an act of the Legislature.

The society of the place is cultured and religious. The students of Howard College are free from the temptations to [illegible] which prevail in large towns, also from the distractions of a commercial community and the the unwholesome social excitements of such places. It is six miles from Birmingham, and students will be allowed to go to that city once a week only; also to visit the manufacturing plants from time to time with an officer of the college, and that from 1 to 12 o'clock a. m. on Saturdays.

Furnished room, fuel, board, tuition, medical fee, and laundry for room, $[illegible] per term, or $[illegible] per year. For catalogue and [illegible] formation, address

A. D. SMITH, East Lake, Ala.

UNION FEMALE COLLEGE
Eufaula, Alabama.

Charming location; delightful climate; wonderful [illegible] Literary faculty [illegible] Organ, Violin, Harp, [illegible] Terms very reasonable. Session opens [illegible] 15th. Please write for catalogue.

T. J. SIMMONS, A. M. Pres't.

LaGRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE,
LaGRANGE, GA.

Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, gymnasium. [illegible] Bookkeeping and harmony free. [illegible] daily. Dressmaking, typewriting, stenography. Economical uniform. Health assured [illegible] social surroundings. Pupils board with [illegible] College Home.

RUFUS W. SMITH, President.

TUSCALOOSA FEMALE COLLEGE,
Tuscaloosa, Ala.

REV. JOHN D. SIMPSON, A. B., President.

Fall session opens September 16, 1896.

Largest enrollment of any female college in the state. Full faculty. Electric lights; [illegible] baths. Terms reasonable. Write for catalogue.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND, BOOKKEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE
SHORTHAND BY MAIL. LESSON FREE

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a Situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars.
COUCH & LUGENBEEL, Senoia, Ga.

SCHOOL BOOKS.
THE PEOPLE CAN BUY
From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.
W. P. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

Am. N.U. No. 35. 1896.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

IF SILVER WINS and if farm produce, labor and labor products double in price, then metals must also double in price, as they are 95% labor. If labor doubles in cost and the product of the mine doubles in cost, Aermotors, Pumps, Spiral Pipe, Fittings, Cylinders, Tanks and Substructures, being the product of the mine and labor, must also double in cost and price; therefore, your $1 now will buy as much as 2 of the same dollars if silver wins, or if people think it will win IT IS 2 TO 1 in favor of buying now. The advance may come in a month or in a week. Aermotor prices will not advance unless compelled by an advance in labor and material. Our prices on Brass Cylinders are 40% below anything ever quoted, and our other goods are as low as they can be produced, even with our splendid facilities. A general rush to cover future needs, while $1 buys so much, may quickly exhaust our immense stock and compel the advance. Great saving can be assured and advance avoided IF YOU BUY NOW

Address: AERMOTOR COMPANY. Chicago; San Francisco, Cal.; Ft. Worth, San Antonio, Tex.; Lincoln, Neb.; Kansas City, Saint Louis, Mo.; Sioux City, Dubuque, Davenport, Des Moines, Ia.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Toledo, O.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; Buffalo, N.Y.; New York City; Boston, Mass.; Baltimore, Md.

A geared Aermotor on a barn is a POWER for good and a powerful good thing.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1896. NO. 45.

This country used us 30,000 acres of timber a day in one way and another.

The South has paid enough for imported [illegible] in the last thirty years to buy every farm in every Southern State.

The recent agitation in Germany against dueling has had one good result. Professor Wagner, rector of the Berlin University, has given orders that every effort shall be made to put down the custom of dueling among the students.

[illegible] the United States and Canada [illegible] over 2,000,000,000 pounds [illegible] annually. As the plant is not cultivated in any of these countries the profits accruing to the coffee growers on the small islands and in other parts of the globe must be something enormous.

[illegible] Mexican railway mail service [illegible] Government $70,591 per year [illegible], consisting of twenty-five [illegible] agents, who inspect the service [illegible] the railways, and ninety-one [illegible], who are in charge of the [illegible] the cars on the different lines [illegible]. The companies carry the [illegible] without charge.

[illegible] report of the Commissioner of [illegible] shows a total enrollment of [illegible] pupils in the various institutions of the land. During the year [illegible] value of school property in the United States increased over $26,000,000. During the last twenty years the value of school property in the South has increased from $16,000,000 to $56,000,000.

Some years ago Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, who was then visiting England, met the Prince of Wales [illegible], and mentioned the fact that he had just been playing a game of [illegible] at the Eltham Club, whereupon the Prince asked him where Eltham was. This amused Prince Edward, [illegible] one of the titles of the Prince of Wales is Earl of Eltham.

The twenty-inch gun at Fort Hamilton, New York Harbor, which was [illegible] of the world in 1875, is to give place to a more modern piece of ordnance. The piece fired a half-ton ball a distance of two and a half [illegible] with a charge of 125 pounds of [illegible], but when the feat was successfully accomplished the officers in charge are said to have counted their [illegible] and breathed sighs of satisfaction.

A representative of one of the Government [illegible] shook the hand of the [illegible] of Russia instead of kissing [illegible], and we are told, remarks Judge, [illegible] a day the event was the sole [illegible] of conversation in the home and [illegible] society at Moscow. It must be inferred that the society in [illegible] was less than usually interesting, but that topics were scarce; [illegible] really such events in such circles [illegible] lead eventually to a change of geography of Europe.

According to the last report of the [illegible] Railroad Commissioners there were 10,472 miles of railroad track in [illegible] June 30, 1895, or about [illegible] teen per cent. of the total mileage of the country. During the year [illegible] June 30 last 12 passengers, 175 employes and 143 other persons were killed and 155 passengers, 1433 employes and 400 other persons were injured. The total number of passengers carried was 60,000,000, which indicates the high standard of safety on the roads of the State.

[illegible] here is a queer lawsuit, [illegible] the New York Herald. It is [illegible] along in Chicago. A man [illegible] his wife went wheeling through [illegible] country and when dinner time [illegible] they went into a fashionable restaurant—a very swell restaurant—and [illegible] a large order for edibles, for [illegible] were hungry. The proprietor [illegible] informed them that nobody in [illegible] clothes could eat in his establishment. This was a terible shock to [illegible] nerves, but after a while the [illegible] changed to anger and now they [illegible] for damages.

[illegible] Japanese authorities have a peculiar way of discouraging accidents [illegible] railroads. They don't permit [illegible] road companies to be mulcted [illegible] damages or force them to [illegible] safeguards against running [illegible] people. Instead they fine the [illegible] of the killed for permitting [illegible] to trespass on the railroad. A poor man near Kamakura recently lost two children, who were run down by a train. The railroad company was not censured and he received no money recompense, but was fined $10. There are a good many railroad corporations in this country that would like to see the Japanese method introduced here.

A SHORT CATECHISM.

AN EASY METHOD OF CONVERTING MISLED VOTERS.

Once They Understand That This Is a Battle for Universal Supremacy Between Uncle Sam and John Bull They'll Vote for Free Silver.

Question—What issue outweighs all others in this year's campaign?

Answer—The question of the restoration of the principle of bimetallism in our monetary system.

Q.—Why is so much earnestness felt on the subject?

A.—Because the vote next November will probably determine the question finally one way or the other.

Q.—Is not the tariff equally an issue in the campaign?

A.—No, there is no appreciable opposition to a protective tariff, and all other issues are lost in the great one of gold or bimetallism.

Q.—Explain the position of the gold advocates?

A.—They insist that 23.22 grains of gold shall constitute the measure of the dollar, no matter to what point gold may advance.

Q.—Why are they so wedded to the gold standard?

A.—Because it is the English standard, and England is looked upon as the most enlightened nation of the world.

Q.—Is there any reason why we should have the same standard as European countries?

A.—None whatever. The monetary system of a country is purely a matter of its own internal concern.

Q.—What influence has precipitated the issue at this time?

A.—The speculative money influence.

Q.—What do you mean by speculative money influence?

A.—Capital legitimately employed has little to make or lose by the question of the standards. A piece of property is worth just as much whether expressed in English pounds or in French francs or in American dollars. So invested capital represents the same intrinsic value whether it be measured by gold dollars or silver dollars. Only large investors in money have any very real interest in maintaining forever the gold standard.

Q.—But would not a change of standard be an injustice to them?

A.—The issue had better not have been raised at this time; but as it has been raised some injustice must be experienced on one side or the other.

Q.—Who raised the issue?

A.—The advocates of the gold standard.

Q.—What are their chief arguments?

A.—Denouncing the advocates of bimetallism as populists, anarchists, fanatics and cranks.

Q.—Are these denunciations justified?

A.—No; many able political economists and statesmen advocate bimetallism.

Q.—Does free silver carry with it the destruction of the national banking system, the restriction of the powers of the government to preserve the peace in times of riot and insurrection, and other so-called populistic measures?

A.—By no means. The remonetization of silver is a legitimate question of statesmanship with a solid basis of scientific truth underlying it.

Q.—Just what do the bimetallists contend for?

A.—For the free coinage both of gold and silver.

Q.—What do you mean by free coinage?

A.—The privilege on the part of any holder of the precious metals of taking them to the mint and having them coined into money without limitation.

Q.—Then the term "free" simply means unrestricted as to amount?

A.—Exactly. If every coin contains the full weight of pure metal and passes at what it is worth, there can be no object in limiting the coinage. The more money we have the better.

Q.—But how about the expense of running the mints?

A.—At present gold is coined at the expense of the government. In some countries the cost of coining is charged to the person getting his metal converted into coin. That would be a matter for congress to settle. There can be no objection to a charge for coinage. There may be advantages in it.

Q.—Then free silver simply means putting silver on an equality with gold in throwing open the mints to its coinage?

A.—It does.

Q.—What do you mean by 16 to 1?

A.—The present silver dollar has 16 times the weight of the gold dollar. The expression 16 to 1 means the continuance of the coinage of the silver dollar at the present weight, or at 16 times the weight of the gold dollar.

Q.—But the present silver dollar has but half the bullion value of the gold dollar, has it not?

A.—True, but its depreciation results very largely from its demonetization. Restore its functions as real money and it will certainly advance.

Q.—Will it return to a parity with gold at the 16 to 1 ratio?

A.—Many good thinkers believe it will. In any case the disparity would be but very small compared with what it is to-day.

Q.—What advantages are claimed for free coinage?

A.—It would break the existing corner in gold and cause the dollar to return to its old value.

Q.—What would be the effect of that?

A.—Prices for all products of labor would advance, business would revive, debts would be more easily paid, labor would be in greater demand, and strikes and riots would cease. Prosperity would be restored to the country.

Q.—Then the support of free silver does not mean anarchy and repudiation?

A.—Far from it; the intelligent and conscientious free-silver advocates have solely in view the prosperity of the nation.

THE SLINGS AND ARROWS OF OUTRAGED FARMERS.

LABOR'S WAGES AND MONOMETALLISM.

The advocates of the present gold standard are fond of asserting that wages are higher in gold standard countries than they are in bimetallic countries. They quote the daily wages paid in Brazil, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Great Britain, Argentina, Norway and Sweden, Spain, Turkey, Portugal, Canada, Switzerland, Venezuela, United States, Chili and Australasia, all gold standard countries, as against Austria, China, Russia, Central America, Persia, Peru, Uruguay, Mexico, Colombia, Japan, India and Ecuador—all silver standard countries. It will be noticed that not one of the countries named are on a bimetallic system, except it be the United States (the figures are for the year 1890, when this country was on a partial bimetallic basis) which they nevertheless put in the gold standard column. Today all the countries named have either a single silver standard or a single gold standard. Not one of them has a financial system like the United States had up to 1873, and, in a measure, from that time to 1893, when the Sherman law was repealed by a forced panic and under which wages advanced so much. A single silver standard is almost as bad as a single gold standard. The one virtue of silver monometallism over gold is that it keeps the forces of production at work. There is practically no unemployed in the silver countries. A third of the forces of production in the gold countries are idle at the present time.

And again it is organized labor that keeps wages up in every country. Labor is thoroughly organized in nearly all of the gold standard countries. In the silver countries it is not. All of the gold countries named have heretofore been bimetallic countries. The silver countries have always been monometallic. Wages thrive under the bimetallic system. Wages go down under the monometallic system—be it gold or silver. This country is now on a gold monometallic system and has been since 1893. Wages have gone down 30 per cent. since then. The daily pay of workmen in the United States in 1892 was $12,000,000; today it is about $8,000,000. We want to get back to the bimetallic system, not merely as it partly existed prior to 1893, but as it wholly existed prior to 1873. Then wages will go up.

TO OPPRESS LABOR.

Aldrich's Committee Misrepresents the Facts.

New York Journal: What are these statistics in which such constant appeals are made, and for which men are asked to distrust their common sense and common observation? Fortunately, this question may be briefly answered, because all these labor sympathizers refer to the same set of statistics—the only set in the world that would answer their purpose. It is the report made by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island to the senate finance committee in 1893.

Those who know nothing about the wages accepted the committee's summary, but others looked to see in what industries this astonishing rise in wages had taken place. They found that upon "books and newspapers" wages had fallen since 1873; in the "building trades" they had fallen; in "city public works" they had fallen; in "cotton goods" they had fallen, but that in "dry goods," where the greatest fall was expected, wages were reported to have risen over 40 per cent!

Turning to the employers' reports in another volume to learn where the wages of clerks had been rising at such a phenomenal rate, it was found that but a single dry goods store, up in New Hampshire, had made a return. Less than twenty clerks were employed by it, and yet the Aldrich committee assumed that all clerks throughout the country had had a similar advance in wages. As clerks are more numerous than cotton operative, for example, a rise of 40-odd per cent in the wages of a score of clerks was made to offset a fall of about one-sixth in the wages of over a thousand cotton operatives and leave a handsome balance to be applied to other industries as needed. Other methods likewise extraordinary were used by the committee, such as the separation of the foremen from the hands, and the making a rise in a foreman's wages offset a fall in the wages of a score of men under him. By these means the desired results were secured.

What the employers' returns really showed was something very different, according to an independent investigator, who went over the returns a few months ago. The summary for all the persons employed in all the industries covered was as follows:

Date	Persons Empolyed.	Aggregate wages (daily.)	Average daily wages currency.	Average daily wages (gold.)
January, 1860	5,651	$6,566	$1.18	$1.18
January, 1873	6,153	12,566	2.04	1.81
January, 1891	7,765	13,125	1.69	1.69

In other words, between 1860 and 1873, under bimetallism, gold wages rose 53 per cent in thirteen years; between 1873 and 1891, under the incomplete monometallism, gold wages in the most favored establishments fell 7 per cent.

Since 1893, under complete monometallism, the decline in wages has been at a much more rapid rate. In Massachusetts the labor report for 1894 showed that in two years the nominal rate of wages in the factories of the state had fallen 7 per cent and that even this lower rate was received by fewer hands, working fewer days. Wage-earners who do not know the statistics know the facts from hard experience, and those who depend upon statistics to persuade the wage-earners to take the side of money lenders and tighten their grip upon the industry of the country have a difficult task before them.

"Fool Logic."

St. Louis Republic: In the same column a republican organ tells the workingman that if he votes for Bryan he will vote 47 per cent of his wages into the pockets of mine owners, and that he will vote to depreciate not only the silver dollar, but all the currency to 53 cents on the dollar. How in the name of Hanna can free silver coinage put 47 per cent of each dollar coined into the pocket of the silver miner and at the same time reduce the value of the silver dollar and all the currency dependent upon it to the value of 53 cents? Any schoolboy can figure out that if the value of the silver dollar depreciates to 53 cents, or anything less than its face value the miner can not make 47 cents by its free coinage at the mints. Or, to put it the other way, if the miner makes 47 cents, the value of the silver dollar will have to be raised to the value of the present gold dollar, in which case there will be no depreciation of the currency. The gold-standard advocate can take his choice of alternatives, but not both. This is a fair sample of the kind of logic with which Hanna's agents are flooding the country. It proceeds on the assumption that the workingmen are fools.

Demonetizing Silver.

I will take it on myself to answer Mr. Edward Helliwell, who inquires about what is meant when it is asserted that silver has been "demonetized." His letter, published in the Record Aug. 6, refers to two objections often stated, as he says, which he gives as follows: 1. "We were not using any silver in 1873, and therefore silver could not have been demonetized." 2. "We are using more silver money than ever before in our history."

It is a technical word. One might say the silver coin now has no independent purchasing power, whereas once with us all the silver coin of the United States did have such independent purchasing power, and from 1853 to 1873 the silver dollar possessed it, while the fractional silver coin did not. The independent purchasing power of the fractional silver coin was taken away in 1853 and that of the silver dollar in changes that occurred from 1873 to 1878. That is "demonetizing." The taking away of the independent purchasing power of any of the precious metal coinage by law is the "demonetizing" of such coin. While we did not actually use the silver or gold coin as a part of the volume of the circulating medium in 1873 the law permitted the gold coin and the silver dollar to be carried on independent purchasing power, and after that this privilege was taken from the silver dollar. While the silver coin now has the same purchasing power as gold coin it is so because they are in the volume of the circulating medium as the solvent representation of the gold coin. The silver coin changes purchasing power with the change of the gold coin, and not with the change of silver bullion. It may then be true that in 1873 we were not using the silver coin in our volume of the circulating medium, and yet the silver dollar was privileged to be coined and used on its own purchasing power, but after 1878 it could only be used as the solvent or insolvent representation of gold coin. The silver dollar was restored in everything but its independent purchasing power in 1878. The silver dollar therefore remained "demonetized."

Nor does it make any difference about the volume of silver coin, for be the issue few or many, the question involving the "demonetizing" of precious metal coinage is whether or not it is issued on independent or dependent purchasing power. Purchasing power alone is "standard of prices," and any money to perform the office of a "standard of prices" must have sufficient independence of purchasing power to fill this office. Solvent representative money never has any purchasing power of its own, and therefore can only be subordinate money and is "demonetized."—Ebenezer Wakeley in Chicago Record.

Just Like Cleveland.

Those Republican papers that have been roasting Cleveland for his go-dite financial policy can now with the same consistency roast McKinley, but it is a noticeable fact that they do nothing of the kind. If there is any difference between the policy announced by McKinley and that pursued by Cleveland, people would like to know what that difference is.—Wood River News-Miner, Hailey, Idaho.

Puts Its Foot In It Every Day.

Chicago Tribune, today: This silver agitation is all in the interests of the silver miners. They want to make fifty cents' worth of silver worth a dollar.

Chicago Tribune, yesterday: The value of silver cannot be increased by unlimited coinage.

Query—If the value of silver cannot be increased by free coinage, how is free silver going to benefit the silver miners?

Except in the Ottoman empire, Persia, Arabia, Siam, China and the interior of African countries, slavery is now extinct.

OBADIAH POORDEVIL

GOES TO CHURCH BUT THEY DON'T ASK HIM TO PRAY.

However, the Spirit Moves Him and He Pours Out His Soul "In Meetin'"—One of W. S. Morgan's Newest Characters.

Obadiah Poordevil was on hand at church again last Sunday, but neither Deacon Skinflint nor Twentypercent invited him to lead in prayer. But Obadiah, having once begun, now felt it his duty to keep it up. Taking advantage of a temporary lull in the exercises he said, "Let us pray." Of course there was no way to shut him off, so they all knelt and Obadiah made the following prayer:

"O, Lord, I know old Skinflint and Twentypercent don't want me to pray any more, but I can't help it. They told me last month that you would put words in my mouth, and O, Lord, when you do it I can't hold 'em. O, Lord, I want to know what I was made for? Why did you make me the same shape as old Deacon Skinflint, and he don't work and I do? O, Lord, did you intend for us all to work, or not? If you didn't, why did you give us all hands? If you didn't intend us all to work, why didn't you make them that you didn't intend to work without any mouths and with hair on so they wouldn't eat up and wear out what us workers produced? If you intended for us all to work, why do you let them dodge it?

O, Lord, it may be because I am ignorant, but I can't understand. You made the earth for the people but I can't git any of it while old Twentypercent has got enough for a dozen families. Did you intend for him to gobble up more than his share? If you didn't why don't you snatch him bald-headed?

O, Lord, it seems the world is turned upside down, anyway.

And, now, O, Lord, if I have to keep on slaving for old Twentypercent I want you to send me down a wagon load of grace, for I can't hardly stand it. I want you to help me to understand everything on this earth, and if it's right help me to bear my share of the burdens and as much of old Twentypercent's share as he makes me bear.

Now, O, Lord, you know what there is to do here that I can't do. I haint askin' you to do anything I can do, but just give me a whole lot of grace to help me put in my best licks. If you put words in my mouth that hurts old Skinflint's and Twentypercent's feelin's, I can't help it. If you want me to wipe up the ground with them all you've got to do is just to say the word, like you did to Joshua about all of them different kind of "ites" that were up at Jericho and Gilgal and other towns, where I think old Twentypercent's ancestors came from.

O, Lord, this is enough for today; I'll hit 'em again some other time. Amen.

W. S. MORGAN.

How Mark Is Viewed at Home.

Cleveland Citizen (official organ Cleveland Central Labor Union)—At a regular meeting of the Cleveland (O.) Central Labor union, the committee on legislation made the following report:

"To the Republican Trades Unionists of the United States: Realizing that in a few short months the union workingmen of this country will be again asked to cast their ballots for president, we, the delegates of the organized laboring people of Cleveland, appeal to republican wage workers, who have been repeatedly told by their party newspapers and politicians that they must imitate capital and organize if they would enjoy the benefits of a higher tariff, to demand that the Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, the principal manager of William McKinley (who, it is stated, will be a member of the latter's cabinet in case he is elected), explain his attitude relative to labor organizations:

"1. Ask the Hon. M. A. Hanna if he did not aid in destroying the Seamen's unions of the lower lake regions and then contribute to a fund to send A. B. Rumsey, his scab procurer, on a pleasure trip around the world.

"2. Ask Major McKinley's 'bosom friend,' the Hon. M. A. Hanna, if he has not taken a prominent part in wrecking the Mine Workers' unions of Pennsylvania.

"3. Ask this tremendous political general, who fleeces his workingmen with one hand and spends money lavishly with the other to purchase a presidency, the Hon. Mark A. Hanna, if he did not destroy the union of his street railway employes and positively refuse to allow them to organize.

"4. Ask the great President Maker Hanna if he did not say to the striking employes of the Globe shipyard that $1.30 per day was sufficient for them (when competitors were paying more), but if they would vote for McKinley he would favor paying $1.05 a day.

"5. Ask the unselfish Hanna if he is not at this moment erecting a mansion for his son and employing scab-labor and disregarding the wage rate and eight-hour day of the building trades.

"6. Finally, ask Mr. Hanna, before his candidate is given the nomination for the highest honor in the land, if destroying workingmen's unions and paying pauper wages for long hours of toil is his interpretation of protection to American labor and prosperity and patriotism."

On motion the resolution was adopted and the secretary instructed to forward it to the chairman of the National Republican committee.

Hot Shot for the Bond Brokers.

Monthly Journal (official organ of the International Association of Machinists)—Great and startling changes are taking place; history is being made. Party politics are all shaken up; party lines are strained. Fealty to party and advocacy of partisanship are giving place to honesty of purpose and devotion to principle. The veil is rent; workingmen see clearer than they ever did before what forces have been at work, what tactics are employed to keep them in subjugation and to prevent their emancipation. On the one side is producing labor; on the other side the money power, strongly intrenched in official power by years of scheming and corruption, pulling and straining for supremacy. Never before has the outlook been so cheering. Government is to be founded on intelligence and equality and not upon the wishes of the plutocrats and their unholy desires, that are sucking and sapping the life blood of our people. The governmental partnership that is in existence with the powers that be and the favored classes, is about to be broken; the people have come to the realization of the fact that all must have equal recognition before the law; that all must share in the prosperity that thought, brawn and muscles have created, and that all are entitled to equal liberty and opportunity.

A Friend to the People.

The noblest position a public man can now assume is a friend to the common people.

Thos. Jefferson dictated the inscription to be placed on his tomb before he died.

He said he wanted it stated on his monument that he was the author of the declaration of independence and founder of the University of Virginia.

A grander inscription for the monument of a dead statesman would be, "He was the friend of the common people."

This inscription would be a good one, and worthy to mark the last resting place of any man the world has called good and great.

A man, to be a friend to the common people, must possess rare traits of character and nobleness of mind. No grander conception can be made of a truly great man than that he was the friend of the common people.

The world has produced many great, wise and good men, but there is niche yet for the man who possesses the transcendent nobleness of character to be indeed and in truth the friend of the common people.

BEHOLD THE LEADERS OF THE BOLTOCRATIC SIDESHOW.

[Preparing to Aid McKinley's Election—In Their Minds.]

Are they not the same men who Accomplished the complete destruction of silver as money in 1893? Since then Wages have gone down nearly one-half. Three million able bodied men have since been thrown out of employment. The prisons of the country have become overcrowded. The insane asylums cannot accommodate the victims. The poor houses are turning victims into the highways to die by the roadway. Voters of this country do you want this state of affairs continued? If you do just vote along with the Cleveland-Carlisle-Whitney-Brice sideshow for McKinley and Hobart. If you want to see the wheels of industry set in motion again just vote for Bryan and Watson.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

THE PLATFORM.

"The People's Party of the State of Alabama, in convention assembled, recognizing the supremacy of political liberty over all the questions that can come before the people of the State for solution at the general State election, to take place on the 3rd day of August, 1896, reaffirm our allegiance to the cardinal principles of Populism as follows:

"First—We demand a free ballot and a fair count.

"Second—We believe in the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of international agreement.

"Third—We demand that miners and others like corporate labor be paid in lawful money of the United States semi-monthly.

"Fourth—We favor a tariff for revenue, so adjusted as to protect as far as practicable the farmers and the labour in our shops, mines, factories and mills, and their products against foreign pauper labor."

Judge Zell Gaston's amendment to the 2d section was as follows:

"We demand the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the abolition of national banks, the expansion of the currency to meet the needs of the people and the demands of commerce, free from the control of corporate influences, and we condemn the issue of interest bearing bonds in time of peace."

Next came a lot of resolutions, which passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that our representatives in congress be and are hereby requested to use their best endeavors to secure appropriations by the Federal Government to open the Warrier River to navigation from the coal fields to the Gulf of Mexico."

"Resolved, That our county appointing boards are hereby requested to give to the political opposition a competent inspector at every polling place in their respective counties,

"And we further request the inspector so appointed to give a competent clerk and fixer at each polling place to said political opposition."

DON'T be in too great a hurry,

HOLD back your cotton; prices are bound to go up!

THE state executive committee meets to-day and we have no doubt will decide to put out a straight Bryan and Watson ticket.

J. C Manning is reported to have gone over to the Republican party and will work for the election of McKinley.

WE have looked in vain for the People's Tribune to come straight out for either the Populist or Democratic ticket. Have the Tribune and Capt. Kolb no choice, or what is the matter?

IT is being said that our present representative, congressman W. F. Aldrich, does not intend to offer himself for re-election. Why do we not hold our convention and find out whom we are expected to support.

AND now they are charging Wm J. Bryan with having voted for Weaver. Well, we think all the more of him for doing so and hope that Weaver will reciprocate.

WE wish to inform our new county officers that we can furnish them with all the stationery needed for their official duties and that there is no necessity to make the people of Chilton county pay higher prices and heavy express charges from St. Louis or elsewhere when they can get all that is required in Clanton. Save the people's money and keep it in circulation at home.

THE Democratic convention of the fourth congressional district met at Selma last Friday and after casting 870 ballots adjourned Saturday night to meet at Shelby Springs on Friday, Sept. 11. Our Democratic friends seem to have a hard job on hand to find a candidate, but from all we can learn the choice lays between Craig Smith of Dallas and Plowden of Talladega, or possibly Kelly of Calhoun. "Silver" Democrats dont care whether its a gold bug or silver bug.

THE Montgomery weekly crop bulletin of Sept. 1 says: No improvment is shown in cotton, which continues to shed badly and has now reached such a stage that rains will be of no material benefit; about two-thirds of the crop is open; picking is progressing very rapidly, but there is a scarcity of labor in some sections; the yield is far below an average one and there are many complaints of poor quality of lint. The last of September will see but little if any cotton left in the fields."

THE gold Democrats at their national convention at Indianapolis nominated John M. Palmer of Illinois for President and Simon B. Tuckner of Kentucky vice president

---

THE patrons of the public schools in this township will meet with the trustees at Clanton on Monday the 14th inst. to locate schools, etc.

OUR Congressman, Hon. W. F. Aldrich, has at his home at Aldrich, Shelby county, a limited number of the following "Farmers' Bulletins," which he desires to send to all who take an interest in the subjects treated. Any of our readers can obtain some or all of the list by application to him, until the supply is exhausted.

No. 14 Fertilizers for cotton; No. 18 Forage plants for the South; No. 19 Important insecticides; No. 20 Washed soils, how to prevent and reclaim; No. 22 Feeding farm animals; No. 24 Hog cholera and swine plague; No. 25 Peanuts, culture and uses; No. 26 Sweet potatoes, culture and uses; No. 28 Weeds and how to kill them; No. 31 Alfalfa or Lucern; No. 35 Potato culture; No. 37 Kaffir corn characteristics. culture and uses; No. 38 Spraying for fruit diseases.

Mulberry Baptist Association

The Sabbath school convention of this association was held with Pleasant Grove church last Friday to Sunday, Rev. Sutton Smitherman presiding. The various subjects on the program were ably discussed, and the song services conducted by Prof. N. A. Logan were greatly enjoyed. A vote of thanks was tendered to Prof. Logan for so faithfully and skillfully conducting the music which has added so much to the interest of this convention. It was voted to hold the next session with Macedonia church on the fifth Sunday in November.

The following resolution was adopted: Whereas the Clanton BANNER has published the programs of this convention free of charge for several years, therefore

Resolved, that we tender the BANNER most heartily our thanks for kindly and liberally giving notice of the different sessions of this conention.

A vote of thanks was tendered the community for their hospitality and kindness, Rev. S. M. Adams preached the closing sermon and the convention adjourned.

Mapleville Music.

The record has at last been broken of the "longest dry spell ever known." The last rain came too late to benefit cotton and corn, but peas, potatoes, cane and turnips were greatly benefitted.

Our summer boarding-houses are overflowing with health-seekers, and our very salubrious climate has justly earned its reputation as a health resort.

Mr. Herbert Woolley, of Birmingham, and wife, are visiting his parents here.

Mrs. Savage, of Anniston, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. D. C. Savage, at this place.

On the 29th ult. Rev. — Marx, an ex-Catholic priest, was the guest of Mr. T. U. Crumpton, and preached a most interesting sermon to a large and respectful audience.

Mr. James DuBose sr., and wife, of Selma, are staying with his mother, Mrs. Mary DuBose, here.

Mrs. T. R. Giles, of Selma, with two children, has been visiting old friends and relatives here.

SUBSCRIBER.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.

Hon. Thos. E. Watson, candidate of the People's party for Vice President, has resigned the editorship of the People's Paper, at Atlanta, Ga., in order that he may devote his whole time to the campaign. J. L. Sibley, secretary of the state committee, succeeds Mr. Watson as editor of the paper.

The Populists and democrats in the Fifth Nebraska district have nominated R. D. Southerland for congress.

The Populists of Colorado will hold their state nominating convention at Pueblo, on Sept. 9th.

Governor Boies has gone on the stump for Bryan in Iowa.

John P. St. John, former prohibitionist governor of Kansas, has taken the stump for free silver. He recently held several joint debates in Illinois with William E. Mason, the leading republican candidate for the United States senate.

It has been established by actual reproduction of letters in the newspapers that the delegates to the recent "sound money" democratic convention were furnished with free transportation by the railroads.

By fusion in California the People's party secures five of the nine electors.

The People's party of the 6th Minnesota district has endorsed the candidacy for re-election to congress of the brave Congressman Towne, who was one of the first delegates to walk out of the republican national convention upon the adoption of the gold standard platrorm.

W. D. Vandiver, the democratic candidate for congress in the Fourteenth Missouri district has declined the eminently fair proposition of A. H. Livingston, the People's party nominee, to leave the question as to which candidate should remain in the race to a vote of the state committees of the two parties in joint session. The patriotic course of Mr. Livingston has resulted in greatly strengthening his candidacy to the relative weakening of the chances for Vandiver.

Ex-congressman Amos J. Cummings, of New York, says that not only will Senator Hill come out for Bryan but that Tammany will support him most loyally and that free silver will carry the state, a consummation made the more probable since the split in the republican forces made by the walking out of the state convention of ex-Senator Miller, who refused to be placed absolutely under the thumb of dictator Tom Platt.

Fusion in Michigan has been accomplished. The name of the ticket will be the "Democratic People's Union Ticket".

Tom Watson has reconsidered his intention of making a tour of the western states and all his dates have been canceled by the national committee. He believes that if he confines his stumping to Georgia the People's party can carry the state at the October election, and if this is done the influence on the national election will be of incalculable value.

Marion Williams, member of the Populist campaign committee of Texas, has issued an address advising the Texas Populists to fuse with the republicans.

The Populists and democrats of Marshall county, Kans. have fused, division of offices being about even.

The democrats of Oregon have entirely surrendered and the joint electoral ticket will cast its entire vote for Bryan and Watson.

Among the prominent workers on the stump for the People's party who will speak in Missouri this campaign are J. N. and Cora Deihl Harvey, of Oklahoma. Mrs. Harvey, at the age of 20, was elected register of deeds of Logan county, Ok., by the largest majority cast for a successful candidate.

The silver clubs of Poke county, Mo., held a reunion at Bolivar, Aug. 29, which was addressed by Hon. P. T. Allen, of Springfield, and M. V. Carroll, Lamar. The goldbug crowd have had control of that counny for a long time but will be ousted at the coming election. A. R.

changes

There are medicines which change the action of organs and tissues. When a part does not properly perform its work, they restore it to health. Such remedies are called "alteratives."

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is one of these remedies. This is largely because of certain drugs which naturally exist in the oil, as iodine and bromine. If you are neither hard sick nor real well; if you feel below your usual standard, these alteratives will change your condition and bring back your health and strength.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Lily Lyrics.

Farmers are busy picking cotton; the cotton crap in this section is turning out very sorry; if the weather continues favorable we will get through picking the little crop much earlier than usual.

The "Converted Jew" delivered two very able and interesting sermons at Mulberry last Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Mr. Charlie Hutto, of Jasper, was here on a visit to his sisters, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Veazey, last week.

Mr. T. W. Wright and wife, Mr. J. S. Wright and wife, and Mrs. Veazey are visiting relatives in Coosa county.

We have had considerable sickness in our community this summer; the "pill vendors" have been quite busy. No serious sickness now, except M. Middlebrooks and he is much better.

Miss Lena Parnell, of Dixie, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Bessie McCary, of Montevallo, has been spending some time with relatives here.

Mr. S. K. Rasberry's new dwelling is nearing completion.

Mr. W. Headley and Miss Sadie King are the applicants for the school here another year.

Mr. Dave and Miss Sallie Cooley who have been visiting relatives in Georgia, returned home Thursday and were heart-broken when they found that their brother Tom had died while they were away. They have the sincere condolence of the writer.

The Sunday-school convention was well attended and was a grand success and an enjoyable occasion.

Mr. Robert Fleming was at home last Sunday.

CLINT.

State Executive Committee.

The state executive committee is hereby called to meet in the city of Birmingham at the Opera House hotel on Thursday, September 3rd. Business of importance will come before the committee and a full attendance is desired.

G. B. DEANS, chairman.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

California.

California celebrated to-day, July 7th a semi-centennial of great importance. Fifty years ago at Monterey the stars and stripes were hove above the flag of Mexico, and two days later the act was duplicated in San Francisco, and the decendants of the conquered Mexicans pay increasing respect to the colors which displaced the ensigns of their fathers. At that time California, though greater than all New England with Alabama and Georgia thrown in gave no promise of either becoming populous or wealthy; it was regarded chiefly as of strategic value against Mexico and Great Britain. In 1846 the population was confined to a half-dozen adobe hamlets on the coast and the scattered cattle ranches of the interior.

The dust-swept land and bronzed foot hills which Commodore Sloat saw from his quarter deck as he sailed along the coast to Monterey fifty years ago has attracted the husbandman as well as the miner and the tillage of the soil has made California the tenth State in the list of farm products. In the production of beet sugar it ranks first; in wheat, third; in hay, fourth; yields 23 per cent. of the beans raised in the United States, and the total value of its orchard and vineyard product in a single year is over $30,000,000 or more than double that of its present output of gold. And yet the progress of this State has but reached its initial stages.

San Francisco leads all the cities of the Union in its number of suicides, 146 in the twelve months ending June 30, 1896! Fifty-one of these were Americans!! It is a gruesome record. The explanation may be found in the tendency of persons pursued by misfortune to migrate westward. Theoretically the world may continue to pretend to despise riches; but many who have done this prefer a suicide fate to a pauper's living.

The moral betterment has not kept apace of the material develpement and yet large results have accompanied the material progress. The Rev. Dr. Willey who landed at Monterey in February 1849 with a commission from the A. H. M. S. (Congregational) was the first Protestant minister arriving here to seek the salvation of souls. He is still among us, respected and honored. Congregationalists, in the persons of Whitman, Ells, and Willey, were the Protestant pioneer missionaries of the entire coast from San Diego to Seattle.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a special Term of the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton county will be held at the court house in Clanton on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1896, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the office of County Treasurer for Chilton county.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 28, 1896.

The State Alliance.

Pinckard, Ala., July 18, 1896.

The State Alliance will hold its next session in Ozark, Dale county, on the 8th and 9th days of September. We hope every county in the State will have a representative present, and as many visiting brethren of the order as possible as matters of unusual moment will come before us.

J. O. PINCKARD,
Pres. Ala. State Alliance.

Program Teachers' Institute.

A Teachers' Institute will be held at Collins' Chapel September 11, 12, 1896.

FRIDAY—9 a.m. Devotional exercises.

9:30 a.m. Welcome address, J. D. Collins.

10 a.m. What is teaching? W. S. Garner, Miss M. V. Palmer.

11 a.m. Child study, G. L. Spcer Miss Sophie Mullins. Recess.

2 p.m. How should Arithmetic be taught? Wm. Askins, Miss Jennie Wilson.

2:30 p.m. The requisites for successful teaching, J. E. Creel.

3 p.m. Public education, C. C. Slaton.

SATURDAY—9 a.m. Nature's own text book, Alex Mocre, Miss Ida Robinson.

10 a.m. Modes of preventing whispering, W. R. Headley.

11 a.m. Educational address. C. C. Slaton. Recess.

2 p.m. Public school law, E. Y. McMorries.

2:30 p.m. The work of the primary teacher, A. B Harwood, Mrs. V. Z. Palmer.

3 p.m. How to teach reading, R. E. R. Hicks.

Collins' Chapel is located two and a half miles from Strasburg. There will be conveyance for teachers from Strasburg and return. This being the last Institute in this scholastic year, all the teachers are expected to attend.

J. W. MOORE, Supt.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kindneys will find true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions, Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Literary Note.

Apropos of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt's disagreement with his son, and the latter's marrage to a woman very much older than himself, the editor of the Cosmopolitan, in the September issue, seriously discusses the education most useful to modern life, and substantially, if not in words, asks: "Does modern college education educate?" The September Cosmopolitan, as if to show what a magazine can do, gives four complete stories in this single number, by such noted authors as Frances Courtenay Baylor, Maurice Thompson, Gertrude Hall, and John J. a'Becket. Louis Chandler Moulton, Mrs. Lew Wallace, I. Zangwill and others are also among the contributors to this one issue of a magazine that is sold for ten cents. Nor is this all. Among other writers not already mentioned is Camille Flammarion, who has an article on "The Wonderful New Eye of Science," which alone is worth the entire price of the magazine. The Cosmopolitan has been gradually perfecting its engraving and mechanical departments until the publishers believe that in the September issue they present a number unrivaled in artistic and mechanical excellence.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY. } Probate Court.

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application,

You are, therefore, hereby notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness this the 2d day of Sept., 1896,
R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

POST OFFICE.

CLANTON.

Mail, South,	[daily]	closes	4:25 p.m.
Mail, South,	[daily]	arrives	6:30 a.m.
Mail, North,	[daily]	closes	9:00 a.m.
Mail, North,	[daily]	arrives	4:40 p.m.

Mail for Jumbo every Tuesday and Friday, closes 7:00 a. m.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.

DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.

AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.

LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

W. L. SAMPEY, CLANTON, ALA.

V V V

Chain Shot

You've got to use heavy ammunition when you fight such a malignant enemy as SCROFULA. There is nothing that will rout this disease like V. V. V.—the wonderful blood purifier and family remedy. It drives out all impurities and taints—whether hereditary or not—making the blood pure and healthy and the whole body strong and vigorous. V. V. V. is a specific for all blood and skin diseases, as well as rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, etc.

Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

HABERS, MORROW & SINNICE, Birmingham, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly S. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain;
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER.
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Subscribers who receive this number of The Banner marked with two cross marks (XX) [illegible] understand that [illegible] their subscription [illegible] paid.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
of Georgia.

PLATFORM.

The People's Party of the State of Alabama, in convention assembled, recognizing the supremacy of political liberty over all the questions that can come before the people of the State for solution at the general State election, to take place on the 3rd day of August, 1896, reaffirm our allegiance to the cardinal principles of Populism as follows:

"First—We demand a free ballot and a fair count.

"Second—We believe in the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of international agreement.

"Third—We demand that miners and others like corporate labor be paid in lawful money of the United States semi-monthly.

"Fourth—We favor a tariff for revenue, so adjusted as to protect as far as practicable the farmers and the labour in our shops, mines, factories and mills, and their products against foreign pauper labor."

Judge Zell Gaston's amendment to the 2d section was as follows:

"We demand the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the abolition of national banks, the expansion of the currency to meet the needs of the people and the demands of commerce, free from the control of corporate influences, and we condemn the issue of interest bearing bonds in time of peace."

Next came a lot of resolutions, which passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that our representatives in congress be and are hereby requested to use their best endeavors to secure appropriations by the Federal Government to open the Warrier River to navigation from the coal fields to the Gulf of Mexico."

"Resolved, That our county appointing boards are hereby requested to give to the political opposition a competent inspector at every polling place in their respective counties,

"And we further request the inspector so appointed to give a competent clerk and fixer at each polling place to said political opposition."

Don't be in too great a hurry,

Hold back your cotton; prices are bound to go up!

The state executive committee meets to-day and we have no doubt will decide to put out a straight Bryan and Watson ticket.

J. C Manning is reported to have gone over to the Republican party and will work for the election of McKinley.

We have looked in vain for the People's Tribune to come straight out for either the Populist or Democratic ticket. Have the Tribune and Capt. Kolb no choice, or what is the matter?

It is being said that our present representative, congressman W. F. Aldrich, does not intend to offer himself for re-election. Why do we not hold our convention and find out whom we are expected to support.

And now they are charging Wm J. Bryan with having voted for Weaver. Well, we think all the more of him for doing so and hope that Weaver will reciprocate.

We wish to inform our new county officers that we can furnish them with all the stationery needed for their official duties and that there is no necessity to make the people of Chilton county pay higher prices and heavy express charges from St. Louis or elsewhere when they can get all that is required in Clanton. Save the people's money and keep it in circulation at home.

The Democratic convention of the fourth congressional district met at Selma last Friday and after casting 870 ballots adjourned Saturday night to meet at Shelby Springs on Friday, Sept. 11. Our Democratic friends seem to have a hard job on hand to find a candidate, but from all we can learn the choice lays between Craig Smith of Dallas and Plowden of Talladega, or possibly Kelly of Calhoun. "Sewer" Democrats dont care who gets a gold bug or silver bug.

The Montgomery [illegible] in the fields.

The gold Democrats at their national convention at Indianapolis nominated John M. Palmer of Illinois for President and Simon B. Buckner of Kentucky vice president.

The patrons of the public schools in this township will meet with the trustees at Clanton on Monday the 14th inst. to locate schools, etc.

Our Congressman, Hon. W. F. Aldrich, has at his home at Aldrich, Shelby county, a limited number of the following "Farmers' Bulletins," which he desires to send to all who take an interest in the subjects treated. Any of our readers can obtain some or all of the list by application to him, until the supply is exhausted.

No. 14 Fertilizers for cotton; No. 18 Forage plants for the South; No. 19 Important insecticides; No. 20 Washed soils, how to prevent and reclaim; No. 22 Feeding farm animals; No. 24 Hog cholera and swine plague; No. 25 Peanuts, culture and uses; No. 26 Sweet potatoes, culture and uses; No. 28 Weeds and how to kill them; No. 31 Alfalfa or Lucern; No. 35 Potato culture; No. 37 Kaffir corn characteristics, culture and uses; No. 38 Spraying for fruit diseases.

Mulberry Baptist Association

The Sabbath school convention of this association was held with Pleasant Grove church last Friday to Sunday, Rev. Sutton Smitherman presiding. The various subjects on the program were ably discussed, and the song services conducted by Prof. N. A. Logan were greatly enjoyed. A vote of thanks was tendered to Prof. Logan for so faithfully and skillfully conducting the music which has added so much to the interest of this convention. It was voted to hold the next session with Macedonia church on the fifth Sunday in November.

The following resolution was adopted: Whereas the Clanton Banner has published the programs of this convention free of charge for several years, therefore

Resolved, that we tender the Banner most heartily our thanks for kindly and liberally giving notice of the different sessions of this conention.

A vote of thanks was tendered the community for their hospitality and kindness, Rev. S. M. Adams preached the closing sermon and the convention adjourned.

Mapleville Music.

The record has at last been broken of the "longest dry spell ever known." The last rain came too late to benefit cotton and corn, but peas, potatoes, cane and turnips were greatly benefitted.

Our summer boarding-houses are overflowing with health-seekers, and our very salubrious climate has justly earned its reputation as a health resort.

Mr. Herbert Woolley, of Birmingham, and wife, are visiting his parents here.

Mrs. Savage, of Anniston, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. D. C. Savage, at this place.

On the 29th ult. Rev. — Marx, an ex-Catholic priest, was the guest of Mr. T. U. Crumpton, and preached a most interesting sermon to a large and respectful audience.

Mr. James DuBose sr., and wife, of Selma, are staying with his mother, Mrs. Mary DuBose, here.

Mrs. T. R. Giles, of Selma, with two children, has been visiting old friends and relatives here.

SUBSCRIBER.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.

Hon. Thos. E. Watson, candidate of the People's party for Vice President, has resigned the editorship of the People's Paper, at Atlanta, Ga., in order that he may devote his whole time to the campaign. J. L. Sibley, secretary of the state committee, succeeds Mr. Watson as editor of the paper.

The Populists and democrats in the Fifth Nebraska district have nominated R. D. Southerland for congress.

The Populists of Colorado will hold their state nominating convention at Pueblo, on Sept. 9th.

Governor Boies has gone on the stump for Bryan in Iowa.

John P. St. John, former prohibitionist governor of Kansas, has taken the stump for free silver. He recently held several joint debates in Illinois with William E. Mason, the leading republican candidate for the United States senate.

It has been established by actual reconstruction of letters in the newspapers that the delegates to the recent "sound money" democratic convention were furnished with free transportation to the convention.

[illegible]

The [illegible] of the [illegible] Missouri district [illegible] Congressman Towne, who was one of the first delegates to walk out of the republican national convention upon the adoption of the gold standard position.

W. D. Vandiver, the democratic candidate for congress in the Fourteenth Missouri district has declined the eminently fair proposition of A. H. Livingston, the People's party nominee, to leave the question as to which candidate should remain in the race to a vote of the state committees of the two parties in joint session. The patriotic course of Mr. Livingston has resulted in greatly strengthening his candidacy to the relative weakening of the chances for Vandiver.

Ex-congressman Amos J. Cummings, of New York, says that not only will Senator Hill come out for Bryan but that Tammany will support him most loyally and that free silver will carry the state, a consummation made the more probable since the split in the republican forces made by the walking out of the state convention of ex-Senator Miller, who refused to be placed absolutely under the thumb of dictator Tom Platt.

Fusion in Michigan has been accomplished. The name of the ticket will be the "Democratic People's Union Ticket".

Tom Watson has reconsidered his intention of making a tour of the western states and all his dates have been canceled by the national committee. He believes that if he confines his stumping to Georgia the People's party can carry the state at the October election, and if this is done the influence on the national election will be of incalculable value.

Marion Williams, member of the Populist campaign committee of Texas, has issued an address advising the Texas Populists to fuse with the republicans.

The Populists and democrats of Marshall county, Kans. have fused, division of offices being about even.

The democrats of Oregon have entirely surrendered and the joint electoral ticket will cast its entire vote for Bryan and Watson.

Among the prominent workers on the stump for the People's party who will speak in Missouri this campaign are J. N. and Cora Deihl Harvey, of Oklahoma. Mrs. Harvey, at the age of 20, was elected register of deeds of Logan county, Ok., by the largest majority cast for a successful candidate.

The silver clubs of Poke county, Mo., held a reunion at Bolivar, Aug. 29, which was addressed by Hon. P. T. Allen, of Springfield, and M. V. Carroll, Lamar. The goldbug crowd have had control of that counny for a long time but will be ousted at the coming election. A. R.

changes

There are medicines which change the action of organs and tissues. When a part does not properly perform its work, they restore it to health. Such remedies are called "alteratives."

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is one of these remedies. This is largely because of certain drugs which naturally exist in the oil, as iodine and bromine. If you are neither hard sick nor real well; if you feel below your usual standard, these alteratives will change your condition and bring back your health and strength.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—Editor.]

Lily Lyrics.

Farmers are busy picking cotton; the cotton crap in this section is turning out very sorry; if the weather continues favorable we will get through picking the little crop much earlier than usual.

The "Converted Jew" delivered two very able and interesting sermons at Mulberry last Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Mr. Charlie Hutto, of Jasper, was here on a visit to his sisters, Mrs. Wright and Mrs Veazey, last week.

Mr. T. W. Wright and wife, Mr. J. S. Wright and wife, and Mrs. Veazey are visiting relatives in Coosa county.

We have had considerable sickness in our community this summer, the "pill vendors" have been quite busy. No serious sickness now, except M. Middlebrooks and he is much better.

Miss Lena Farnell, of Lane, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Bessie McCary, of Monte[illegible], has been spending some time with relatives here.

Mr. S. K. Rasberry's [illegible] is drawing competition.

Mr. W. Headley and Miss Sadie King are the applicants for the school here another year.

Mr. Dave and Miss Sallie Cooley who have been visiting relatives in Georgia, returned home Thursday and were heart-broken when they found that their brother Tom had died while they were away. They have the sincere condolence of the writer.

The Sunday-school convention was well attended and was a grand success and an enjoyable occasion.

Mr. Robert Fleming was at home last Sunday.

CLINT.

State Executive Committee.

The state executive committee is hereby called to meet in the city of Birmingham at the Opera House hotel on Thursday, September 3rd. Business of importance will come before the committee and a full attendance is desired.

G. B. DEANS, chairman.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

California.

California celebrated to-day, July 7th a semi-centennial of great importance. Fifty years ago at Monterey the stars and stripes were hove above the flag of Mexico, and two days later the act was duplicated in San Francisco, and the decendants of the conquered Mexicans pay increasing respect to the colors which displaced the ensigns of their fathers. At that time California, though greater than all New England with Alabama and Georgia thrown in gave no promise of either becoming populous or wealthy; it was regarded chiefly as of strategic value against Mexico and Great Britain. In 1846 the population was confined to a half-dozen adobe hamlets on the coast and the scattered cattle ranches of the interior.

The dust-swept land and bronzed foot hills which Commodore Sloat saw from his quarter deck as he sailed along the coast to Monterey fifty years ago has attracted the husbandman as well as the miner and the tillage of the soil has made California the tenth State in the list of farm products. In the production of beet sugar it ranks first; in wheat, third; in hay, fourth; yields 23 per cent. of the beans raised in the United States, and the total value of its orchard and vineyard product in a single year is over $30,000,000 or more than double that of its present output of gold. And yet the progress of this State has but reached its initial stages.

San Francisco leads all the cities of the Union in its number of suicides, 146 in the twelve months ending June 30, 1896! Fifty-one of these were Americans!! It is a gruesome record. The explanation may be found in the tendency of persons pursued by misfortune to migrate westward. Theoretically the world may continue to pretend to despise riches; but many who have done this prefer a suicide fate to a pauper's living.

The moral betterment has not kept apace of the material development and yet large results have accompanied the material progress. The Rev. Dr. Willey who landed at Monterey in February 1849 with a commission from the A. H. M. S. (Congregational) was the first Protestant minister arriving here to seek the salvation of souls. He is still among us, respected and honored. Congregationalists, in the persons of Whitman, Ells, and Willey, were the Protestant pioneer missionaries of the entire coast from San Diego to Seattle.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a special Term of the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton county will be held at the court house in Clanton on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1896, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the office of County Treasurer for Chilton county.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala, Aug. 28, 1896.

The State Alliance.

Pinckard, Ala., July 18, 1896.

The State Alliance will hold its next session in Ozark, Dale county, on the 8th and 9th days of September. We hope every county in the State will have a representative present, and as many visiting brethren of the order as possible as matters of unusual moment will come before us.

J. O. PINCKARD,
Pres. Ala. State Alliance.

Program Teachers' Institute.

A Teachers' Institute will be held at Collins' Chapel September [illegible] 1896.

Friday—9 a.m. Devotional exercises.

9:30 a.m. Welcome address, [illegible].

10 a.m. [illegible] Miss M. [illegible] Palmer.

11 a.m. [illegible] Miss [illegible].

2 p.m. How should Arithmetic be taught? [illegible] Miss Jennie Avison.

2:30 p.m. The requisites for successful teaching, J. E. Crean.

3 p.m. Public education, C. C. Slaton.

Saturday—9 a.m. Nature's own text book, Alex Moore, Miss Ida Robinson.

10 a.m. Modes of preventing whispering, W. R. Headley.

11 a.m. Educational address C. C. Slaton; Recess.

2 p.m. Public school law, E. Y. McMorries.

2:30 p.m. The work of the primary teacher, A. B. Harwood, Mrs. V. Z. Palmer.

3 p.m. How to teach reading, R. E. R. Hicks.

Collins' Chapel is located two and a half miles from Strasburg. There will be conveyance for teachers from Strasburg and return. This being the last Institute in this scholastic year, all the teachers are expected to attend.

J. W. MOORE, Supt.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Literary Note.

A propos of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt's disagreement with his son, and the latter's marrage to a woman very much older than himself, the editor of the Cosmopolitan, in the September issue, seriously discusses the education most useful to modern life, and substantially, if not in words, asks: "Does modern college education educate?" The September Cosmopolitan, as if to show what a magazine can do, gives four complete stories in this single number, by such noted authors as Frances Courtenay Baylor, Maurice Thompson, Gertrude Hall, and John J. a'Becket. Louis Chandler Moulton, Mrs. Lew Wallace, I. Zangwill and others are also among the contributors to this one issue of a magazine that is sold for ten cents. Nor is this all. Among other writers not already mentioned is Camille Flammarion, who has an article on "The Wonderful New Eye of Science," which alone is worth the entire price of the magazine. The Cosmopolitan has been gradually perfecting its engraving and mechanical departments until the publishers believe that in the September issue they present a number unrivaled in artistic and mechanical excellence.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, } Probate
CHILTON COUNTY. } Court

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application,

You are, therefore, hereby notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper,

Witness this the 2d day of Sept., 1896,

R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

POST OFFICE.

CLANTON.

Mail, South, [daily] close 8:25 p.m.
Mail, South, [daily] arrives 9:30 a.m.
Mail, North, [daily] close 9:00 a.m.
Mail, North, [daily] arrive 5:45 p.m.
Mail for Jumbo every Tuesday and Friday, close 7:00 a. m.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution
New York World (3 papers every week)
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)
Silver Knight National Watchman

For $1.25 we will send you [illegible] either of the following papers [illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.

AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. —LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

W. L. SAMPEY,
CLANTON, ALA.

V V V

Chain Shot

You've got to use heavy ammunition when you fight such a malignant enemy as SCROFULA. There is nothing that will rout this disease like V. V. V.—the wonderful blood purifier and family remedy. It drives out all impurities and taints—whether hereditary or not—making the blood pure and healthy and the whole body strong and vigorous. V. V. V. is a specific for all blood and skin diseases, as well as rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, etc.

Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

HABERS, MORROW & SINNICE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Bales to-day 7½ cents.

Bales received to-date:

Samey	56
Mims	52
Wilson	9
	117

CHINAWARE CHEAP. Call and see it at the BANNER office.

WANTED!

We want honest, pushing, active salesmen to sell the Improved Singer Sewing Machines and collect on accounts in the different counties in Alabama. No experience necessary, no capital required. Applicants must however furnish their own horse and harness; we supply a wagon and machines. A $500 honesty bond is required. Address,

The Singer M'f'g. Co.,
Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. H. L. Honeycutt left Monday night on a trip to Texas for a few weeks.

Mr. J. H. Middleton is enjoying a vacation in South Alabama.

[illegible] Agent Green will leave to-night for Cullman where he will spend a few days.

Col. and Mrs. Collier are paying their old friends a visit here.

The infant child of Mr. Ed Boyd died at Montgomery, Sunday, and was buried in the cemetery on Tuesday.

The new court-house is rapidly approaching completion, plastering is finished, painting is going on, and the outside graunds being cleared off.

Mr. Middleton is staying with her afflicted daughter at Springfield [illegible]. It is but a very short time since Miss Gamma left here a happy bride amidst the congrtulations of everyone and now she is left to mourn her husband, Mr. Geo. W. [illegible], died this morning.

Judge Callen is spending a few days at Hartselle, north Alabama.

No marriage licenses have been issued this week.

Mr. Durword Foshee has returned to business in Birmingham.

[illegible] Knox attended the meeting of the Republican state committee at Birmingham yesterday.

On Wednesday evening the horse which Mr. W. Martin was driving became scared and jumping about five feet into the railroad cutting ran up into the trestle. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Mr. J. M. Stanfield has removed back to Clanton.

CEMENT. If you have anything broken send for Worn's and Knapp's cements. 15 cents a stick. Will mend anything. The best cement in the market. WORNS & KNAPP, Cement M'f'rs, 822 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

On Tuesday last the prisoners in the jail, evidently thinking the advent of a new jailor was an opportunity not to be missed, attempted to break jail. They had broken the staples from the doors and were almost in possession of a clear [illegible] when they were discovered and their plans frustrated.

Merritt & Bond have closed down their mill at Lomax for an indefinite period.

Rev. P. B. Tichnor, after an enjoyable vacation with his family here has returned to his charge in North Carolina.

Two Lives Saved

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,228.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August, 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz: John K. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,730, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, Tom McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

Full Details Gladly Given.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health......

P. O. Box 65, David City, Nebraska.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18226.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz.: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Bearden, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18227.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: Louis B. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼, section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John Ed Beardin, J. W. Worthy, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

LANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

We Employ Young Men to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme Bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.
ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it, pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years In Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

"Past Prestige is Our Present Power."

Faultless Shapes!
Superb Styles!
Beautiful Designs!

Steels that are Warranted Not to Break in Wear!

Colors—White, Drab and Black.

Made in All Sizes, Lengths and Shapes. Prices from 50c. to $6.00 per Pair.

If your dealer cannot supply you we can.

GLOBE CORSET CO.

WORCESTER, MASS.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

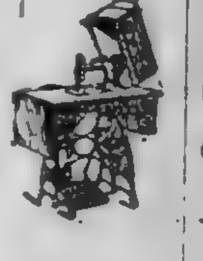
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

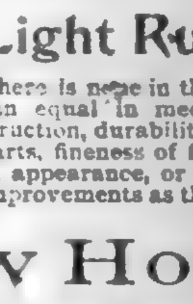
GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is





Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY, lanton, Ala.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12. w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12. s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12. n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12. se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12. 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12. e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12. nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13. n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13. s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13. se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12. sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12. e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12. s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13. nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13. s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13. n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13. se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

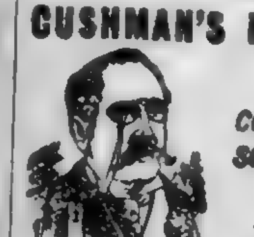
THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

— FOR —

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or

Any Head or Throat Trouble.



DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when CUSHMAN'S INHALER will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Companion! $2.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No sickening or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the influenza bacilli."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Besley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off."

MOTTVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 21, '92.

I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I tried it.

T. DOUGLAS MORTON,
KINGSTON, N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried.

H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for Book on Menthol and testimonials. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chi[illegible], Ill.

CAMPAIGN
SILVER
BADGES!

THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. The designs are catchy and each will fit portray the present financial situation. They will be treasured for years as souvenirs of the greatest political rev[illegible] since the birth of our republic. Big profits for agents. Samples 25c. each. For terms address

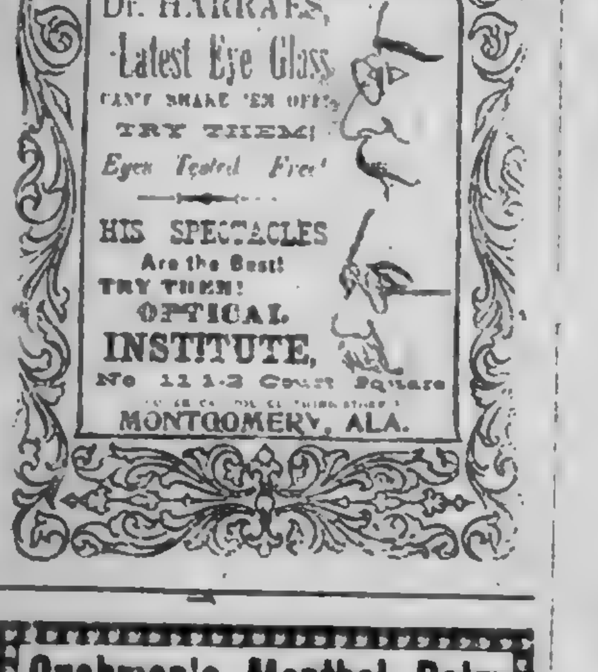
STATE HERALD BADGE DEP'T
Birmingham, Al.

MEDICAL TREATMENT.

If you want the best expert and scientific treatment by the leading physicians and specialists of this country, consult only DR. HATHAWAY & CO., 70 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. All Chronic Diseases of men and women. Private Skin, Blood and Nervous Diseases. Cases treated by mail all over the world by sending for Symptom Blank No. 1 for men No. 2 for women, No. 3, Skin Diseases, No. 4 for Catarrh. Best of professional and financial references, a legal guarantee given if necessary.

FREE 64-page Medical Reference Book for men and women who are afflicted with any form of private disease peculiar to their sex, contagious diseases, female troubles, etc. Send two 2-cent stamps to pay postage, to the leading Specialists and Physicians in this country.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO.,
Old No. 83, St. Charles St., Masonic Temple,
New Orleans, La.



Dr. HARRAES,
Latest Eye Glass
CAN'T SHAKE 'EM OFF!
TRY THEM!
Eyes Tested Free!
HIS SPECTACLES
Are the Best!
TRY THEM!
OPTICAL INSTITUTE,
No 111-2 Court Square
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS	SALT RHEUM	CHAPPED HANDS
BURNS	ULCERS	FROSTED FEET
BRUISES	ITCH	RINGWORM
SCALDS	ERYSIPELAS	AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation.

Guaranteed to give satisfaction, when you need an ointment, be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.
VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. [illegible] styles of Vehicles, [illegible] styles of Harness, [illegible] styles Riding Saddles. [illegible]

[illegible] Harness. Price $16.00. As good as sells for $25. No. [illegible] Price [illegible] with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST —IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

TAX ASSESSOR'S NOTICE

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897:

		1896
Pletcher's Mill	October	1
Kincheon	"	2
Albert Headley's Store	"	3
Benson	"	5
Maplesville	"	6
Shoultz	"	7
Valley Creek Church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 a.m.	"	10
Clantonford 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.	"	10
Macedonia Church	"	12
Providence Church Beat 2	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Strasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's Mill	"	21
Gore's School-House	"	22
Calloway's Mill	"	23
Maple Springs Church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' Gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30

A. C. MIMS,
Tax Assessor Chilton County.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE
FIRST-CLASS WORK
LOWEST PRICES

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

White Girls' Industrial School of Alabama.

A business education furnished young women free of cost, except living expenses. This school will open at Montevallo, Ala., on the 12th of October. A faculty representing the best talent in the south is now being selected. Professions taught which will make girls independent. We make teachers, artists, musicians, stenographers, typewriters, telegraphers, bookkeepers, dressmakers and milliners. Other industrial branches will be added. A complete literary course furnished also. Total expenses for the entire session, $80. This includes tuition in all its branches, board, lights and fuel, laundry and medical bills and all ordinary text books used in the school. No incidentals, except a small fee for use of pianos to pupils taking instrumental music. Only $15 required to enter; balance monthly. Each county in the state is entitled to its quota of scholars between the ages of [illegible] and 21 at the above named rates. They must be in good health and have fair primary education. Pupils in the different counties desiring the benefits of this school should make immediate application. Prospectus furnished on application.

H. C. REYNOLDS,
Acting President.

There are so many women school-teachers in town that you can find hairpins on the streets.

There is something pleasant in being innocently accused.

The more a woman knows about literature and art, the less she knows about housekeeping.

New Advertisements.

Among the new advertisements in this issue we would call the special attention of our readers to the following, viz:

TEACHERS' BUREAU.

Texas Teachers' Bureau, Palestine, Texas.

CAMPAIGN BADGE.

Silver Badge Co., Jasper, Fla.

CANCERS CURED.

Dr. Hess, Grand Rapids, Mich.

AGENTS WANTED.

Mineralized Rubber Co., New York, N. Y. Rubber goods.

NEWSPAPERS.

Weekly Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn.

Madagascar was so named by the early explorers, from the Malagasy, or Malays, who inhabited it.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Company, printed near the bottom of the package. For sale by all responsible druggists.

He is indeed a master who can teach others how to learn.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

For the Political Campaign

Take the Weekly Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn. Price for three months during the campaign is only 10 cents. For a club of 50 three months subscriptions a nice watch will be sent. Sample copies free.

There are farms where more head work would bring better results than more hard work.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap has not one atom of adulteration in it. It is 100 per cent. pure. Try it once. Be sure you get the genuine. Your grocer has it, or will get it for you. Wrappers printed in red.

See that the roosters have firm flesh. The flabby ones are no good for breeding.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. HARDY, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, '94.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Good

Blood is what gives strong nerves, vigor, vitality. Good blood and good health come by taking

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Be sure to get Hood's and only HOOD'S.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic.

ENGINES
FOR GINNING.

Most economical and durable. Cheapest and best in the market for cash. VARIABLE FRICTION FEED SAW MILLS AND STANDARD IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Send for catalogue.

A. B. FARQUHAR C[illegible], Ld.,
Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, York, Pa.

FROM... a slight chafe
TO...
the worst old 20-years' case of Eczema.
CURES THEM ALL—
TETTERINE.
1 box by mail for 50c. in cash or stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.
It Cures all Skin Diseases.

DO YOU WANT TO COME TO TEXAS?

We have this day received calls for 21 teachers, salaries ranging from $40 per month to $1,200 per year. Convince yourself of our worth by sending a 2 cent stamp for full particulars.

Supt. P. V. PENNYBACKER, Mgr.
Texas Teachers' Bureau, Palestine, Tex.

CANCERS CURED—by the absorption process. No knife. No caustic. No blood. No pain. Not a failure in fifteen years. Write DR. HESS, Grand Rapids, Mich., for particulars and references from those already cured. (Enclose ten cents.) (For cancer of the heart, if not broken out, treatment can be sent.)

AGENTS WANTED to sell Mackintoshes, Rubber, etc. Exclusive ground. Free sample. Factory, P. O. 1371, New York.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N.U. No. 36. 1896.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

A PROMINENT JOURNALIST DEAD.

New State Health Officer Elected, Furniture Factory Burned—A Miner Found Dead—Judge Smitherman Dead; Sketch of His Life, Selma's New Chief.

J. Ashcroft, Sole Proprietor.

J. Ashcroft is now sole proprietor of the Opelika Post, having purchased A. E. Barrett's stock.

The Proposed Canal.

A survey of the proposed canal between Birmingham and the Warrior river will be commenced this week.

A Large Vessel in Port.

The steamer Miami, 2,300 tons, the largest vessel that ever entered the port of Mobile, is now loading grain for Mexico.

An Alarming Percentage.

It is reported that the cotton and corn crop in and around Conger has been knocked off fully 50 per cent by dry weather.

The Coosa Low.

Navigation has not closed entirely on the Coosa river, but there is very little water and only light draught boats can run.

The Barber Memorial.

The Barber Memorial building for colored girls, in Oxanna, is nearing completion. It will be ready for occupancy this week.

Eufaula Oil Mills.

The cotton seed oil mills at Eufaula will resume operations some time this week, having succeeded in accumulating quite a large quantity of seed.

Charged With Burglary.

Evans Caver, charged with burglarizing the postoffice at Bell's Mills, Cleburne county, was bound over under a bond of $500 to the United States court.

Selma's New Chief.

Percy Dawson succeeds Mr. Lumkin as chief of police of Selma. Mr. Lumkin assumes the duties of sheriff, to which office he was recently elected.

His Chief Clerk.

Major Culver, Commissioner-elect of Agriculture, has appointed Hon. Don F. Sessions, of Bullock, chief clerk in his office, and R. M. Culver, his son, assistant clerk.

Camp Meeting.

The East Brewton camp meeting will be held in September, beginning on the 10th and lasting several days. A number of distinguished ecclesiastics will be present.

Health Officer of the State.

The Board of Censors of Alabama have elected Dr. W. H. Saunders, an eminent physician of Mobile, as health officer of the state, to succeed the late Dr. Jerome Cochran.

Looking for Homes.

A number of immigrants are now in the section of Luna looking for homes. A letter received at that place from Ohio states that a large number of people are intending to come south very soon.

Crap Shooting Den.

The biggest crap shooting den in Alabama is in Montgomery, and is known as the "Iron Cage." It is said to be provided with trap doors and underground passages, and the police are half afraid to enter it.

Shelby's Cotton Crop.

The cotton crop is damaged from 35 to 40 per cent in Shelby county. Peas, potatoes, sorghum and ribbon cane are promising. The corn crop is fair, though not so good as last year, the late planting being much injured by the drouth. Cotton picking is progressing finely. A great deal of it is open.

Furniture Factory Burned.

The two-story brick building used for offices and a storeroom for furniture of the West Huntsville Furniture factory, was destroyed by fire Saturday night, the origin of which is unknown. The storeroom was filled with furniture, which was also destroyed. The loss is supposed to be fully insured, and the burned building will be replaced at once.

A Miner Found Dead.

Pat Gallagher, white, aged 6?, was found dead Sunday afternoon in a room over John Brown's saloon at Pratt City. Death is supposed to have resulted from morphine, whether taken accidentally or intentionally cannot be stated. The body was found by a police officer at Pratt City, Mr. Brown and another person. It was about 2:30 o'clock and death had taken hold of the unfortunate man some little time before. Gallagher was quite well known in the community. He leaves a wife.

Judge Thomas J Smitherman.

Judge Smitherman who died at his home in Centreville last week, was a prominent figure in the affairs of Bibb county and the state of Alabama for more than a quarter of a century. He was a brave Confederate soldier in the war between the states. He represented Bibb county in the legislature several terms. He was at one time register in chancery and was also county solicitor for several years. He was probate judge of Bibb county for a period of four years, and filled the office with credit to himself and satisfaction to the people. He was prominent in the religious affairs of his church and superintendent of the Sunday school. He was a man of the strictest integrity of character, and was respected and beloved by all who knew him. He leaves a wife, four sons and one daughter to mourn his loss.

Arthur H. Keller.

Capt. Arthur H. Keller, editor of the North Alabamian, died at Tuscumbia last Saturday morning of acute dysentery.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE

Capt. Arthur H. Keller was a gallant Confederate soldier, a leading political spirit in the state which he represented as delegate at large in the National democratic conventions which nominated Tilden, Hancock, Cleveland and Bryan. He served as United States marshal for the Northern district of Alabama under President Cleveland's first administration.

Captain Keller was a man of strong convictions, of fine personal appearance, and in the city in which he lived was a leading figure in all public enterprises. He was the father of Helen Keller, the wonderful deaf mute, who is the intellectual marvel of the age; was a brother to Dr. J. M. Keller, of Hot Springs, Ark.; Dr. Dave Keller, of Lexington, Ky., and a brother-in-law of Fred Adams, Esq., of Memphis. During his illness he was constantly attended by Drs Keller and Thornton, of Memphis, and Palmer of this place, who exhausted every remedy known to the medical profession to save his life. He leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters. Captain Keller was 60 years of age. He was buried at Oakwood cemetery, in Tuscumbia, on Sunday.

HAWAII'S FUTURE.

Royalists Predict That Dole Will Retire and Kaiulani Reign.

E. C. McFarlane, a prominent royalist, left for San Francisco on the 20th. It is rumored he is on his way to England to confer with Princess Kaiulani, who is heir to the Hawaiian throne. The rumor is contradicted by royalist papers, which claim that his errand has no political significance. In the same issue the editor says:

"The natural outcome of the present situation is that President Dole will retire and that Princess Kaiulani will be asked to head a new regime of which Dole's present cabinet will be the leaders."

The royalists claim that they have received information to the effect that Kaiulani will be restored, while supporters of the republic are under the impression that President Cleveland has empowered Minister Willis to negotiate for an annexation treaty, or, failing in that, to offer the present government the protection of the United States. Either annexation or a protectorate is acceptable to the white people here, and judging from appearances any attempt to restore the monarchy will be met with resentment.

SERIOUS FIGHTING IN CRETE.

Turks Defeated with Great Loss of Killed and Wounded.

The most serious fighting which has been recorded in Crete up to the present time occurred Friday, when the Christians in the mountains organized a strong expedition against a number of Moslem villages in the Heraklion district. A thousand well armed Turks left Heraklion to defend their property. In the pitched battle which followed the Turks were defeated losing eighty killed and forty-seven wounded. The losses of the Christians were smaller. The Cretans captured an enormous booty, hundreds of rifles and thousand of sheep and cattle falling into their possession.

The news of the reverses terribly excited the Moslem population of Heraklion. The Mohommedans gathered in front of the palace of the governor and clamored furiously for arms. The governor refused to accede to these requests, but he was powerless to restore order. He therefore telegraphed the authorities at Canea warning them of the gravity of the situation.

THE REVOLUTION IN CUBA.

The Insurgents Attack a Convoy of Spanish Troops.

A report has been received of an attack by insurgents upon a convoy of Spanish troops near Vinales. The Spaniards made a stout resistance holding off the rebels until the arrival of assistance when the attacking forces were repulsed. Further Spanish reinforcements arrived and the insurgents were compelled to abandon the attack and disperse. The Spanish lost six killed and eighteen wounded including one lieutenant. Four of the rebels were killed and many wounded.

The official Gazette prints the decree of Captain-General Weyler for the enforcing of the circulation of paper money on a par with gold except in payment of customs dues. The refusal on the part of any person to so accept paper is punishable with military penalties.

CHAOS IN MADAGASCAR.

Faharalos Plundering Villages and Massacreing the Inhabitants.

A telegram from Marseilles says Mail news which has reached here from Madagascar says that the Faharalos were plundering and burning buildings and murdering the inhabitants in all directions, while the French were executing all the rebels captured. Chaos, it was said, prevailed everywhere.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?
(KEATING)—
KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

Shot His Wife and Himself.

Church & Sons, bankers, Lowell, Mich., closed their doors last Monday and posted a notice announcing that owing to inability to realize on assets they were temporarily unable to meet their obligations. The deposits are estimated at $8,000 to $12,000, including about $2,200 belonging to the village treasury.

Tuesday morning Charles A. Church, a member of the above firm, shot and fatally injured his wife, Jennie, and then turned the revolver on himself and fired a bullet into his head with fatal results. Deputy Sheriff Cowans, of Grand Rapids, was approaching Church's house to serve a writ on that gentleman, which was sworn out by the National City bank of Grand Rapids. Church saw him coming. He locked the doors of the house and then seized a revolver and shot his wife and then himself.

ITALY AND BRAZIL.

Signor Martin Sent to Rio Janeiro on a Special Mission.

At Rome an official note has been issued announcing that owing to the gravity of the situation the government has decided to send Signor Martin, formerly Italian minister to Brazil, on a special mission to Rio Janeiro, on board the Italian warship Piemonte, armed with precise instructions to demand and obtain all measures which the dignity of Italy and the security of her subjects demand. After settling the claims arising from the recent disturbances, which must first be satisfied, he will arrange the former claims, which were recently rejected by the Brazilian congress.

Extensive Clan of Counterfeiters.

The federal authorities at Waco, Tex., have discovered a counterfeiting system of large proportions and have captured a complete outfit for the manufacture of bogus silver dollars in imitation of the United States coins of that denomination. The first clew was furnished by Edward D. Ennis who attended a revival meeting, and after professing conversion, rose in the congregation and stated that he was a counterfeiter. The arrest of Ennis was followed by the arrest of John Mitchell and H. S. Shanner. When these prisoners were arraigned Ennis repeated his confession and gave details which led to the finding of the camp near Hill county, at which place the metal, molds, rollers and crucibles were scattered around like common pots and pans. Ennis told Commissioner Fink that seven factories for the manufacture of the spurious coin existed in the United States. The syndicate was called the Royal Manufacturing company. It is stated by Ennis that agencies of the counterfeiting corporation exist in Canada and Mexico. He also says operations are going on in New York and Chicago. A consignment of 2,000 Mexican dollars was received in Waco a few months ago, it is said, and was used in the manufacture of the spurious coins. Another consignment of 10,000 Mexican dollars arrived here a few weeks ago, but was forwarded by Ennis to some other point.

Admiral Rawson's Report.

A dispatch received from Admiral Rawson, dated Zanzibar, 2:45 Thursday, says: "I issued an ultimatum at 7 o'clock this morning calling upon the usurper to haul down his flag and surrender to me and directing his followers to pile their arms and leave the palace before 9 o'clock, or otherwise it would be bombarded. Instead of complying, he commenced increasing his fortifications and his corvette trained her guns on my squadron. I opened fire at 9 on the palace and on the corvette, which promptly replied. I ceased firing at 9:40, when the corvette was sunk, all the guns were silenced and the usurper yielded to the German consul. The enemy's loss was heavy. Only a petty officer of the gunboat Thrush was wounded."

Outlaw Bill Doolin Dead.

Bill Doolin, the last of the noted outlaws of the south, was killed in a battle with deputy marshals under command of Heck Thomas near Ingalls, fifty miles northeast of Guthrie, Okla., last Monday night. One marshal was also badly wounded. Doolin's body was carried to Guthrie in a covered wagon, where he was officially identified and then turned over to his wife for burial. The battle took place close to Doolin's old home, the marshals waylaying him as he was leaving from a visit to his wife's baby.

Lawlessness in Michigan.

Two local companies of the Fifth Regiment State militia were notified Friday night by the governor to go to Ontanagon, on call of the sheriff there. The lawless element was reported to be in control of the burned town. An appeal was made for prompt action for the safety of the suffering residents or the stricken village and the governor issued the order accordingly.

CUBANS GET WAR SUPPLIES.

How Arms and Ammunition Were Sent from Our Shores.

General Roloff, Colonel Nunez and fourteen others landed on the south beach at Key West, Fla., Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. It is rumored that they were landed from the steamer Dauntless. General Roloff states that he has landed three of the largest expeditions in Cuba during the last twelve days that ever landed on that island. Besides the men, they landed successfully four thousand stands of arms, two million rounds of cartridges, four cannons, three thousand pounds of dynamite and plenty of medicine. Roloff states that he expects to land four or five more expeditions, but as none of those lately landed was organized in the United States, he will pursue the same course in relation to the organization of the others. He says that he does not want to violate any laws of the United States. He refuses to give the landing places.

LAURADA AND DAUNTLESS LAND.

The tug Dauntless and the steamer Laurada have landed the largest amount of arms and ammunition in Cuba for the insurgents that has been landed at any one time, and the two steamers are now on their way back to American shores.

This information is by a gentleman who is in a position to know, and he added that the supposed fitting out of the Commodore in Charleston and the tug Three Friends in Key West for expeditions recently was only a blind to attract the attention of the revenue cutters Boutwell to watch the Three Friends and the Colfax to watch the Commodore.

The Commodore and the Three Friends were also used to keep the Spanish gunboats on the watch for them at the northern end of the island, while the two expeditions taken out by the Laurada and Dauntless were landed on the southern and western ends of the island.

The combined expeditions amounted to 140 tons of arms and ammunition, and among the ammunition was 53,000 pounds of stick dynamite, which is sufficient to blow up the entire island.

The expedition on the Laurada consisted of eighteen men under the command of General Roloff, and it was landed at Santiago de Cuba. The expedition on the Dauntless consisted of forty men and was turned over to General Maceo in Pinar del Rio.

ILLINOIS NATIONAL DEMOCRATS

Adopt a Platform and Make Nominations for State Officers.

The Illinois state convention of the national democratic party was held in Chicago last Tuesday. A full ticket for state officers was nominated, headed by General John C. Black for governor and delegates to the national convention to be held at Indianapolis September 2d were appointed.

The platform reported by the committee on resolutions and adopted declares that the democratic party is primarily and solemnly pledged to liberty regulated by law; to equal justice to all men of whatsoever condition or persuasion, religious or political; to economy; to peace and honest friendship with all nations and entangling alliances with none; to the payment of debts in honest money and to the maintenance of the public faith, and is opposed to class legislation and indorses "every act, executive, legislative and judicial, of the present democratic national administration."

The second section declares that the gold dollar is now and for more than sixty years has been the American standard of value fixed by democratic statesmen who were opposed to a debased and fluctuating currency, and it is the measure upon which private and public faith has rested and now rests, and declares unreservedly in favor of maintaining that standard.

Section 3 favors the use of silver as currency and the coinage and circulation of such quantities thereof as can be kept at a parity with gold coin, but opposes "the free and unlimited coinage of silver by the United States government as a measure certain to impair contracts, disturb business, diminish the purchasing power of the wages of labor, inflict irreparable injury upon commerce and industry and fasten an ineffaceable stigma upon the financial honor of the American people."

Whole Family Dead.

At noon Friday the family of Charles W. Green, traveling passenger agent of the Big Four railway, consisting of Mrs. Greene and three children, a boy, aged 13, a girl aged 9 and a little girl of 6, were found dead in their home, No. 519 West Thirty-fourth street, Kansas City, Mo. All the little ones were in their beds, and the mother lay in the doorway with a revolver by her side. The murder or suicide is supposed to have occurred Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock, as at that hour the neighbors heard pistol shots near the Greene home, but no investigation was made until the non-appearance of the Greene family led to an inquiry. Mr. Greene left the city a week ago last Tuesday.

Zanzibar's Sultan Dead.

The sultan of Zanzibar, Hamin Bin Thwain Bin Said, is dead. He was about 40 years of age, and a nephew of the late sultans Ala Khalifa and Burghash.

Seyyid Kalid has occupied the palace, taking possession of that building immediately after the death of Hamin Said became known. He proclaimed himself sultan and barricaded himself in the palace with 700 armed Askaris. Sailors from the British warships Philomel, the Rush and Sparrow have been landed to protect property ashore, and all the ladies have been lodged in the British consulate, which is guarded by the sailors. Trouble is feared.

REFORMS FOR CRETE.

The Sultan Adopts the Proposals of the Powers With Slight Change.

A special from Athens says: Reliable information has been received here from Constantinople to the effect that the Sultan has adopted the proposals of the powers for the future government of Crete, with the addition that concentration of civil and military powers shall be in the hands of a governor general. It is believed that the conditions will be acceptable to the Cretans.

Only One Way to Get Volunteers.

There had been a lack of men joining the ranks, and the colonel was visiting a recruiting station, inspecting the workings of his recruiting sergeants. Suddenly a terrible noise of shouting and shuffling of feet came through the open window. Now it came from the stairway, intermingled with sundry loud bumps and knocks, and the door burst open, showing a red-faced, perspiring little sergeant pushing, hauling and tugging at a big country lad. The latter was doing his best to escape the firm grip of the soldier. "Halt!" cried the colonel. "How is this?" he said to the sergeant. "Is this the way you secure recruits—by force, sir?" The red-faced sergeant looked up and down, then at the colonel, and blurted out: "Sure, sir, the only way to get them volunteers is by force, sir."

The Cincinnati Times-Star says that the reported discovery at Dickinson, N. D., of a human skull below a vein of coal "proves the presence of man on the earth at a geological epoch more remote than that of the carboniferous age." Not in several thousand years! It merely proves where Joe Mulhatton is spending his summer vacation.

Pleasant Attraction for Guests.

A man to hang by the neck thirteen days and nights was the attraction at a Montmartre cafe recently. The [illegible]tors, however, stopped the performance at the end of the fourth day, the man being in a critical condition. His name is Durand.

There are three things women should not do: Spit in public, yawn in public, or blow their nose in public.

Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of Ayer's sugar coated pills. They treat the liver as a friend, not as an enemy. Instead of driving it, they coax it. They are compounded on the theory that the liver does its work thoroughly and faithfully under obstructing conditions, and if the obstructions are removed, the liver will do its daily duty. When your liver wants help, get "the pill that will."

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

LaGRANGE FEMALE COLLEGE,
LaGRANGE, GA.

Opens September 16, '96. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, gymnasium. Conservatory advantages in music. Elegant pipe organ. Art and Voice Culture specialties. Elocution, fine Bookkeeping and harmony free. Sight singing daily. Dressmaking, typewriting, stenography. Economical uniform. Health unsurpassed. Best social surroundings. Pupils board with faculty in College Home.

RUFUS W. SMITH, President.

THE FARQUHAR PATENT VARIABLE FRICTION FEED.

Medal and Highest Award at the World's Columbian Exposition

SAW MILL & ENGINE

BEST SET WORKS IN THE WORLD. Warranted the best. Shingle Mills, Machinery, and Standard Agricultural Implements of Best Quality at lowest prices. Illustrated Catalogue.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING &c
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE.
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE

"16 to 1. No Crown of Thorns, No Cross of Gold."

Handsomest free silver badge on the market. [illegible] at [illegible] cents. Big discount to agents. Send one dime for sample.

SILVER BADGE CO., Jasper, Fla.

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars.

COUCH & LUGENBEEL, SENOIA, GA.

RODS and Dip Needle for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers. Circular. P. & M. Agency. Box D, Palmyra.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

(PURE VEGETABLE EXTRACT.—NOT INTOXICATING.)

CURES FEMALE DISEASES!

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

Look Out

For Imitations of Walter Baker & Co.'s Premium No. 1 Chocolate. Always ask for, and see that you get, the article made by

WALTER BAKER & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain everyday English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA might well be the name of the 520-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE. 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopædias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely Indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1896. NO. 46.

THEY WORSHIP GOLD

THEIR THROAT IS AN OPEN SEPULCHER.

With Their Tongues They Have Used Deceit: the Poison of Asps Is Under Their Lips. Romans 3, 13—True as Gospel, This.

[illegible] I have a few things against thee, [illegible] hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a stumbling block before [illegible] of Israel.—Rev. 11, 14.

[illegible] we are asked why we de[illegible] of our time and space to the [illegible] ministry; and there are [illegible] who deny that the church has [illegible] part in the political strug[illegible] some clergymen protest that [illegible] entirely non-partisan, and in[illegible] the church be kept out of the [illegible] and political controversy, [illegible] all temporal matters alone; and that it is sacrilegious to speak of these things from the Christian standpoint. [illegible] assume that we are very wicked, because we uncover their nakedness and expose their hypocrisy. [illegible] this same class of pharisees who [illegible] pass by on the other side that [illegible] after; and the sooner we smoke [illegible], the sooner will the church re[illegible] teachings of Christ.

[illegible] an exhibit of what these religious [illegible] are doing—not all, but "these [illegible]onists"—we have been saving some of their political sermons, that they uttered about the time McKinley was nominated. But space will not allow us to note them in this issue. What [illegible], this time, is the high church [illegible] in "rotten politics."

We have before us the Chicago Ad[illegible] of June 25, it is the organ of Con[illegible]tionalism of the west, and its [illegible] light, since O. M. Lunry was [illegible] from the head of Wheaton col[illegible] the usurers and bank power, for [illegible] money reform ideas. We quote from the editorial part of this paper because [illegible] has stood as a beacon light for that [illegible] church, recognized authority for [illegible] or forty years. It seems to [illegible] into gold theory, and is perfect[illegible] to scream for McKinley. A large part of the first page is given up to the grand climax of victories in [illegible] nomination of the always success[illegible] statesman from Ohio. We quote:

One of the best features of the St. [illegible] convention was the political un[illegible]ng of the bosses. It was a people's [illegible]ention and men who have long [illegible] with power were thrown aside as [illegible] struck by a locomotive. (What a [illegible])

This discomfiture of the bosses is [illegible] be credited to the great personal popularity of the successful candidate. The people wanted Major McKinley [illegible] they wanted him so badly that [illegible] would permit no interference with [illegible] wishes." (What else?)

[illegible] of the page is given up to [illegible] and it closes with the fol[illegible]: "As he stands before the peo[illegible] to-day William McKinley person[illegible] represents as much merit as [illegible]able expectation could demand." [illegible]ther along a page is given to the [illegible]vention, that is full of glowing trib[illegible] to corporation rule, and the gold [illegible] with sneers at Teller and the [illegible]. Of Teller's farewell it says:

He was so embarrassed at this [illegible] moment that he constantly [illegible]ed, reached again and again and [illegible] for the glass of water, wiped his [illegible] rocked on his feet, exclaimed, [illegible] President,' and exhibited all the [illegible] signs of distress which go with [illegible] attempt at a debating school." The seceders have issued a pronun[illegible]ento to the country. It is too [illegible] and too abstract to be a stirring [illegible] document."

[illegible] a lengthy eulogy of Thurston we [illegible] He stood at the very top in the [illegible]tion. His eloquence is weighted [illegible] great earnestness and with a de[illegible] religious tone. There was [illegible]ng tremendously impressive in [illegible]clamation: 'My countrymen, let [illegible] your hearts be troubled. God [illegible]

[illegible]n't ask us to keep mum while the [illegible] is helping to roll the burdens [illegible] people, and hisses at the poor [illegible] oppressed. Here is another sec[illegible] May God have mercy on the [illegible] sepulchre that wrote it:

And while the audience was ap[illegible]ing the votes the hero of the hour [illegible] receiving the congratulations of [illegible]ends. The cannon began firing [illegible] Louis and in Canton at the same [illegible]nt. The news flashed over the [illegible] to European capitals, and before [illegible]airman announced the result of [illegible]lot to the convention word came [illegible]m Paris that an extra was on [illegible]eets proclaiming the news to its readers."—Reform Press.

THEY WON'T COMPETE.

[illegible] Gigantic Thieves Agree to Divide the World.

[illegible] Standard Oil company has [illegible] another triumph. Arrange[illegible] have been completed whereby [illegible]ade of the world has been di[illegible]tween Rockefeller's trust and [illegible]ussian producers. The latter [illegible] the oil trade of Europe, and [illegible] in turn controlled by the [illegible]ds. The entire Russian oil [illegible] is owned by the Rothschilds [illegible] the business is conducted [illegible] in the guise of com[illegible], and individual dealers. Standard has been invading the [illegible]ld's territory but by the agree[illegible] has been made there will be [illegible]petition in the future. Each [illegible] has its own field to operate in [illegible] the whole world will pay tribute to [illegible]

[illegible] little information about this gi[illegible] organization, which has plun[illegible] the people of millions of dollars during the past twenty-five years, has been printed. The newspapers of the country have kept a mysterious silence, and it has been only recently that any public prints have shown bravery enough to publish the facts about Rockefeller, Payne, Whitney, Archbald, Flagler, Rogers and the half dozen other men who own the Standard Oil company.

The New York Journal is not published in the interests of the plutocracy, but is fighting for the people and the rights of the people. The Journal has the following to say about the oil trust:

"What do the American people think about it? Built up by the most nefarious discriminations by the railroads, and the most suspicious relations with state legislatures, city councils, and even the courts and our congress at Washington, this gigantic monopoly has become the object of envy and imitation among the justly hated trusts now formed or forming in almost every industry.

"Although built up and still, apparently, somewhat favored by secret railroad rates, present methods of throttling competition are even more startling. To quote but one out of many illustrations at hand, we know of a merchant in a certain Michigan city who began to buy oil where he could buy it cheaper than he could of the Standard. Soon an agent of the latter told the merchant that, unless he bought all his oil of the Standard the trust would sell it far below cost in his town and make up any loss, while ruining him, by charging a cent a gallon more than before in the surrounding towns. The merchant had to surrender and become the slave of this monopoly, as has been the case with thousands of merchants similarly situated throughout the land.

"In the spring of 1895 the trust suddenly forced up the price of oil over 100 per cent and then as quickly and arbitrarily lowered it again, though not to its former level. Can we wonder that the trust declared $35,000,000 dividends on its nominal capital of $98,000,000 last year?

"It is sought to hood-wink the public by claiming that the trust is to be credited with the decline in the price of oil since the formation of the trust. A greater popular fallacy does not exist. Repeated investigations by such men as President Andrews of Brown university, Prof. J. W. Jenks of Cornell university and others, show that the average charge for refining oil—that is, the difference between the cost of crude and refined oil—was 5.57 2-3 cents in 1881 to 1883 inclusive and 5.55 cents in 1891 to 1893, inclusive—the figures at hand.

"Before the formation of the trust the charge for refining, which alone until lately was in the province of the trust, had been steadily falling from the average of 13.87 cents per gallon in 1871 to 1873, inclusive, to 5.57 2-3 cents in 1881 to 1883.

"This is absolute proof that the fall in the price of oil since 1882 has been due to a fall at the wells, and not due to the reduced charges of the Standard. Yet how can we expect the public to realize this when the wealth of the company is used to debauch many sources of information, even our colleges and our churches, though fortunately a few such fearless investigators as President Andrews are left."

Same Old Story.

We heard a traveling man remark the other day, "I have been a Republican all my life and if anybody had told me six months ago I would change my politics I would have told him he was crazy. But I have been thinking of late. I don't want any more hard times gold standard in mine and shall vote for the nominee of the Populist convention. Lots of us are thinking and 95 per cent of the traveling men are of the same opinion. No McKinleyism for me." They are coming every day.—New Era, Wahoo, Neb.

Minnesota in Line.

The bolt of silver Republicans in Minnesota still continues. The latest of prominence is Sheriff Butchart, of Duluth, who has refused a renomination on the straight Republican ticket and will come up for re-election as an independent silver candidate. In speaking of the outlook in that section of the country, he says: "The silver ticket will win out in St. Louis county from President down to the lowest office. Town can not fail to get 10,000 plurality in this district, and more if he wants them."—Alert, Jamestown, N. Dak.

The Gold Standard Brigands.

A gang of illiterate foreigners of Hazelton, Pa., who had been listening to goldbug twaddle about fifty-cent dollars, refused silver in payment of their wages last week and demanded gold, which their employer couldn't furnish them. It would go hard with the single standard people if workingmen throughout the country should demand gold instead of silver in payment of their wages.—Register Call, Central City, Colo.

The Way to Tell.

Arling Tonplayce—How are the fish biting up your way, Kohlspring? Kohlspring—Look at me, sir, and ask such a question as that! Do I look sober?—Buffalo Times.

The plutocratic papers are frothing at the mouth because Bryan, in his Chicago speeches, used some ideas and words which had been used before. It don't make any difference where he got them, he seems to have used them to a better purpose than they were ever used before. Judging from the noise the plutocratic papers are making, they must have hit the mark. The truth is the plutocratic liars are madly jealous of Bryan's growing popularity.

WALL STREET ANARCHY.

The Reserve Power on Which Wall Street Is Reposing.

Along the latter part of May last, Henry Clews, the banker, in his Financial Review, said that Wall street believed there were "greater potencies than party platforms"; that the certainty of free coinage "would evoke in Wall street the kind of conditions that no congress has ever yet dared to disregard"; that the free coinage movement would be overthrown in the very hour of its success by the "reserved power on which Wall street is reposing."

According to a New York dispatch, dated July 29, the Journal of Commerce, as reliable a financial journal as can be found has unearthed one of the secrets of Wall street's boasted "reserved power."

Not the decline of the treasury's gold reserve, not the spread of the silver craze, not the increasing tightness of the money market is responsible for all the disturbing effects seen in business and financial circles.

A monster conspiracy, a combine of speculating millionaires, leading stock-dealers, men controlling large corporations, all having influential bank connections, has been discovered. "Their united wealth and control of capital," says the Journal of Commerce, "amounts to hundreds of millions."

The Journal of Commerce goes on to give details as follows, and for its brave outspoken course is savagely denounced by the crew of schemers whose designs have been temporarily baffled by exposure:

"It is no secret that among the assailants were citizens accustomed to blend politics with large speculative operations. Men who stand high in party councils, who distinguished themselves at the late national conventions and who have figured conspicuously before the country as valiant opponents of the free coinage heresy are credibly reputed to have been in the ranks of these millionaire raiders, both political parties having been equally represented. Herein lies one of the most interesting phases of the extraordinary feat of buccaneering speculation.

"The facts reveal a depth of financial venality which we had scarcely been prepared to expect, even in the moral slums of Wall street. We have heard of members of congress and of high politicians speculating on the fate of sugar bills and on the mysteries of tariff legislation and on the secrets of administrative departments; but it is at least something new that men who are leaders in protecting our money system should employ themselves in creating panics and endangering the ability of the treasury to maintain gold payments.

"How near these high politicians, with their millionaire associates, came to succeeding in their attempts to create a serious crisis may be inferred from the fact that, in order to restore the confidence they have destroyed, the banks have demed it necessary to contribute twenty millions to the treasury gold reserve, while the foreign bankers have intervened to stop gold exports by issuing, if needs be, $75,000,000 of bills of exchange. These grave precautions are due almost exclusively to the attempt of this millionaire combination to supply themselves with stocks at panic prices."

Voter, keep your eye on Wall street as long as the campaign lasts.

We are fighting the money power of the world—as well as that of Wall street.—Nevada Director.

A Remedy for Hay Fever.

The capriciousness of hay fever and the occasional relief obtained from an entirely empirical method of treatment warrant the publication of any means which has proved successful in the hope that it may be of use to some other person afflicted with this annoying and disabling disease. Feber, of Homburg, reports his own case, which has been so severe as to necessitate his using a closed carriage all through the summer. His relief was brought about from accidentally noticing that in the winter a coryza was usually accompanied with hot ears, which regained their normal temperature when the discharge from the nose was established. He determined to try a reversed order of effect on the hay fever in the summer, and began accordingly to rub his ears until they became red and hot. It is now the third year that he has been able to lead an endurable existence during hay fever season. "As soon as the least sensation of fullness in the nose appears there is recognized a certain amount of pallor in the ears. A thorough rubbing of the ears, at times even to contusion, has always succeeded in freeing the nasal mucous membrane from its congestion. The rubbing, however, must be thorough, and repeated as often as the least symptoms of congestion return to the nose. Since using this means I have been able to take long sandy walks, sit and even sleep in my garden without distress. Several patients have had relief from this treatment, always in proportion to the thoroughness of the rubbing, and I hope by this means some other physician may be able to give his patients the same great relief.

Life of a Locomotive.

Some careful experiments which have been made in England prove that the life of a locomotive is about 500,000 "train miles." In other words, that a locomotive of the latest approved pattern will run 500,000 miles before wearing out so as to be useless. In making this run of 500,000 miles the fire-box will have to be renewed three times, the wheel tires five or six times, and the crank axles from three to five times.

IT WANTS WATSON.

A DEMOCRATIC PAPER COMES OUT FOR HIM.

Bryan and Watson Both Sprang from the Hearts of the People, the Old Commercial Says—A Voice from the City of Atlanta.

The Atlanta Commercial comes out in a ringing editorial in favor of Bryan and Watson. The Commercial is a democratic paper, but it is also a fair and patriotic paper, and, with the courage which is characteristic of him, Editor Blackburn does not hesitate to speak what is in his heart. He has the honor of taking the lead while his less courageous brethren hesitated. We copy the Commercial article entire:

"The next campaign will be conducted on the basis of patriotism against money—soul against gold.

"It will be Bryan and Watson against McKinley and Hobart.

"Mr. Sewall will decline. He will be obliged to decline in answer to the demand of the people. He cannot be regarded as a true friend to the silver movement if he fails to decline.

"In the Chicago convention the heart of the people was dominant when the democrats nominated Bryan. The convention was drunk with enthusiasm or something else when it presented Sewall for second place.

"At St. Louis the heart of the people dominated the entire convention in its selection of a presidential ticket.

"Bryan and Watson both sprang from the hearts of the people, and together they will electrify the nation with their oratorical fervor, and we hazard nothing when we say that Nebraska will have no advantage over Georgia in forensic display.

"Mr. Sewall must decline. The success of silver demands it. The impoverishment of the people cry out aloud for it. Watson is in sympathy with every demand made at Chicago; Sewall is not. Let us play honest with the people. The idea of nominating a national bank president on a platform that repudiates the national banking system is inconsistent with every requirement of common honesty.

"Watson is in accord with every principle of the Chicago platform. He says so, and he means what he says, for he is a patriot, who breathes with the respiration of the toiling masses.

"In Nebraska there are more populists than democrats—less of either than republicans. The same condition exists in Kansas and other western states without populistic aid. Every sane man knows that, without fusion, democracy and silver are doomed to everlasting defeat in Tennessee and North Carolina.

"Why not combine? Why not make our wish good by bringing the populists back into the democratic party? This can only be done on the basis of fairness. It will not do for the democrats to eat apple dumpling while we give crow pie to the populists. The Commercial does not favor such courtesy. It believes in that whole-souled southern and western hospitality which recognizes that there is nothing too good for the invited guest.

"We wouldn't give Tom Watson for the whole state of Maine—for there is no more chance of electing a democratic candidate in Maine than there is for the democracy of the union taking wings and flying in a solid body to heaven.

"Give us Bryan and Watson. That makes the issue square and will save the people from financial enslavement."—Atlanta Commercial.

THE REAL ANARCHISTS.

The Men Who Rob the Poor and Oppress the Weak.

Are the American people anarchists, as charged by the advocates of the English gold standard? Anarchy is the offspring of oppression and wrong. Tyrannical, despotic and cruel governments produce anarchists, and the worse the government the more numerous anarchists. For more than one hundred years the United States was the sanitarium of the poor and oppressed, who knew their former governments only to know the wrongs which it inflicted upon them. Such were called anarchists at home. They came by hundreds of thousands to these shores and in a few short months the great mass of them became liberty-loving honest men. Here and there a poor wretch had been bereft of reason by the cruelty of the government under which he was born and reared, but the local authorities took care of such. There was no anarchy in the land. Prosperity, patriotism and love of country went hand in hand. The goldites now declare that the great mass of the American people are anarchists. If so, who made them anarchists? Does anybody believe that there would be any anarchists in the land if the people enjoyed the prosperity which they did previous to the crime of 1873. If there are anarchists in the land, they have wrongs, deep wrongs, to complain of. The anarchists of wealth, who destroyed one-half of the people's money and induced the government to hoard two-thirds of the other half, thereby depriving the people of labor and of food, are guilty of all the anarchy in this country.

The people of the United States are a proud, patriotic people, are lovers of law and order, and will maintain it at any cost, but they must be allowed to live. When the corrupt agents of the old world seized upon the government of the United States and robbed the people of money, doubled the burden of all obligation, created a 200-dollar, produced falling prices, stagnation, hard times, they created in the producers discontent and a determination to right the wrongs which the enemies of civilization had inflicted upon them. If the goldites call the people of the United States anarchists because they are laboring to restore the laws of the better days of the republic and to reinstate the government of the fathers which has been usurped by a band of conspirators, the people will reply: "We are conspirators and malefactors and enemies of the republic which patriotism compels us to uphold and preserve. We will not allow you to change the government of the fathers into a government of an English banking syndicate without raising our hands to defend our most sacred rights."

If there are anarchists in America the gold combination made them. We deny that there are anarchists. We say that anarchists are those who disregard law and justice, who trample upon the rights of their neighbors. Who violate the law? Those who defended their country and are laboring honestly to uphold it, or these who have conspired to rob the people of money, pauperize and enslave them? If in 1776 there was cause for rebellion against King George for oppressing the colonies, in 1896 there are many causes for resisting the money changers, gold gamblers and robbers of London and New York, and for liberating the people from their extortion, misrule, robbery, plunder and devastation. The rule of the gold kings has become intolerable. The American people will no longer endure it. They will not violate the law as the goldites have. They will not smuggle legislation through congress. They will not raid the treasury, but they will by their ballots put honest men in office to rescue their government from the hands of those who have subverted it and literally made the Treasury of the United States a den of thieves.—Silver Knight.

Significant Talk in England.

We believe that the London Financial News is regarded as an authority on both sides of the Atlantic, and yet it is saying strange things just now about the free silver movement in this country:

"There is a plain moral in the remark that if the United States would venture to cut herself adrift from Europe and take outright to silver she would have all America and Asia at her back and the command of the markets of both countries. The barrier of gold would be more fatal than any barrier of a custom house. The bond of silver would be stronger than any bond of free trade. There can be no doubt about it that if the United States were to adopt a silver basis to-morrow British trade would be ruined before the year was out. Every American would be protected, not only at home, but in every other market. Of course the United States would suffer to a certain extent through having to pay her obligations abroad in gold, but the loss of exchange under this head would be a mere drop in the bucket as compared to the profit to be reaped from the markets of South America and Asia, to say nothing of Europe. The marvel is that the United States have not long ago seized the opportunity. It has been a piece of luck that it has never occurred to the Americans to scoop us out of the world's markets by going on a silver basis, and it might serve us right if, irritated by the contemptible apathy of our government toward the silver problem, the Americans retaliated by freezing out gold. It could be easily done."

We have heard this prophecy before. It has been made by more than one prominent European writer on finance. Moreton Frewen has insisted for a long time that the United States was blind to its own interests in hesitating to adopt free silver coinage and then enter into a commercial union with Asia and South America. He has always insisted that under such an arrangement the silver countries of the world, while they might sell to England, would do all their buying here. Prof. Ahrent, the great German authority, has also argued that the United States, if followed by Germany, Belgium and Italy—as he thinks it would be, sooner or later—could through the medium of free silver coinage almost destroy England's foreign trade. He has been extensively quoted by the gold men, but chiefly as to the difficulty, in his opinion, of our acting alone. He has invariably said that a concert of action among the nations named above would give them control of commerce in every quarter of the globe. And now comes the London Financial News with the positive statement that free silver coinage by the United States, acting independently, will multiply its trade beyond conception and isolate Great Britain so far as concerns the silver using countries.

It is nedless to say, of course, that the Post does not intend to surrender its convictions at the instance of a British newspaper. The Post, however, believes in a fair and impartial discussion of public questions, and we therefore reproduce this rather unexpected utterance as a contribution to the controversy—a contribution, by the way, from a source hitherto regarded as of high authority.—Washington Post.

Victory Is Near.

Every indication now points to a victory for silver in November. In that event money for investment will be more plentiful than it has been for a quarter of a century, and we hope to see a portion of it diverted to the Decatur, where the natural advantages for the establishment of manufacturing industries are better than in any other town or city in the South. Every effort should be put forth by our business men and commercial bodies to advertise our advantages and bring here that capital which is only needed to make of the Decaturs the great industrial centre between Louisville and New Orleans.—Advocate, New Decatur, Ala.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING.

What is Going on in the World of Politics.

MR. W. J. BRYAN IN CHICAGO

His Southeastern Trip Mapped Out, Headquarters of National Democrats to be in Chicago, With a Branch in New York—Oklahoma Dems Fuse with Pops—Other News

W. J. Bryan arrived in Chicago at 9:35 Friday morning. He was met by Governor Stone and escorted to the hotel. Unable to meet Mr. Bryan at the train owing to the arrival at the same hour of Mrs. Jones at another depot. A consultation was held with Chairman Jones, Governor Stone, Hon. Thomas Gahan, of Illinois, and National Committeeman Shankin, of Indiana, and other leading democrats.

William J. Bryan spent the day in conferences lasting from the hour of arrival until nearly 6 o'clock in the evening. There were present at these conferences Senator Jones, of Arkansas, Hon. E. C. Wall, of Wisconsin, Hon. B. J. Campau, of Michigan, Hon. Dan McConville, of Ohio, National Silver Chairman Stevens, National Silver Organizer George J. Keener, Governor Stone, of Missouri, and Secretary C. A. Walsh.

At the close of the day it was stated that beyond arranging an itinerary for Mr. Bryan's southern and eastern trips nothing had been done except to discuss the situation in a general way. The conferences were held in a room on the fourth floor of the Auditorium annex, from which Mr. Bryan descended to the parlor floor and held an informal reception.

During the afternoon some time was spent conferring with Chairman Jones regarding Mr. Bryan's letter of acceptance of his nomination by the silver party, to be read at the Lincoln ratification meeting Tuesday.

The programme arranged for the southeastern tour is as follows: St. Louis, September 12, Salem, Ill., (Mr. Bryan's old home), Sunday, September, 13; Henderson, Ky., morning of 15th, evening at Louisville; Lexington, Ky., 15th; Asheville, N. C., 16th; Richmond, Va., 18th; Washington, 19th; Baltimore, 20th; and New York city, September 28 and 29, from which city he will make a tour through New Jersey, Delaware and the New England states.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS.

Chicago Will Be the Place With a Branch in New York.

Chairman W. D. Bynum of the national committee of the "sound money" democratic party announced this morning that the headquarters will be located in Chicago, with a branch in New York. This decision was reached at a conference of leaders in the movement held in the quarters of the national committee in the Grand hotel Saturday. There had been strong talk of locating the headquarters here and the Indianapolis papers at Indianapolis announced it as a settled fact that the selection of Mr. Bynum meant that the headquarters of the "sound money" democrats would remain where it has been from the first. No reason for the change has been announced, but it is probably due to the fact that an Illinois man is at the head of the ticket. It is conceded by the active men in the movement that the main fight is to be made in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan and Wisconsin. Chicago was decided to be the best location from which to direct the campaign. Literature will be circulated and speakers put in the field. Both candidates will be called upon to make some speeches, but no oratorical tour will be attempted.

Bryan's Itinerary.

The following is announced as the program for Bryan's tour through Kentucky and Tennessee: Leaving St. Louis Monday morning, September 14, Mr. Bryan will arrive at Henderson, Ky., at 2:43 p. m., and speak at 3:45 p. m. He will leave Henderson on a special train, stopping at Owensboro for a ten-minute talk, at Hawesville, five minutes, at Cloverport, five minutes, and at Irvington, five minutes. There will be no other stops between Henderson and Louisville. The special train will arrive at Louisville at 8 p. m., and Mr. Bryan will speak at once, the place to be selected by the local committee, probably the Caldwell square, Brook and Breckinridge streets, and later at Phœnix Hill. Next morning he will leave for Lexington, speaking en route at LaGrange, Eminence, Frankfort and Midway, thence going over to Versailles and dining with Senator Blackburn, making brief addresses there, and arriving in Lexington in time to speak at 2 p. m. At 5 p. m. he will go to Maysville by special train, thence back to Lexington to take the Southern night train for Harriman, Tenn., and Asheville, N. C.

North Carolina Populists.

The populists of North Carolina will demand, as a prerequisite to fusion with the democrats, that the latter shall help them elect four congressmen, says a recent special from Raleigh. The populists put it this way: "While we deplore any division of the silver forces, we are determined to lose no congressional representative we now have." When the republicans heard that this would be the demand they said: "It all means that the populists are really friendly to fusion with us. They can't afford to fuse with democrats. They don't believe the democratic party is any more sincere than we are on the free silver question. This is their feeling all over the state."

Silver Party in Utah.

At a mass meeting at Ogden, Utah, largely attended from the principal points of the state, the silver party was organized under the name of the "Independent Republican Party" of the state. The meeting refused to join in the proposition to nominate McKinley electors, and appointed a general committee for the purpose of issuing a regular call for a state convention.

The Convention Postponed.

The convention of democratic clubs at St. Louis, called for September 30, has been postponed until October 2 and 3. Officials at democratic headquarters, from advices received, estimate the number of clubs that will be in attendance between 5 000 and 10,000. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Sewall have notified headquarters that they will be present at the convention.

NO BATTLE ABBEY.

The Rouss Movement Takes the Form of the "Confederate Institute."

The movement inaugurated by Chas. B. Rouss to perpetuate the history of the Southern Confederacy was promoted by the action of the board of trustees, whose first session was brought to a close Thursday night on Lookout mountain, near Chattanooga. The idea of a battle abbey has been abandoned as impracticable, and the structure to be erected will be called the "Confederate Memorial Institute." Col. Robert C. Wood of New Orleans, will continue to act as general manager. The Fourth National Bank of Nashville will be designated as treasurer and depository of funds. General Jackson of Tennessee, Col. Robert White of West Virginia, General Briggs of Kentucky, and General Ross of Texas, were constituted an executive committee. The plan for raising the necessary funds provides for the appointment of agents in each county to make a thorough canvass in every state in the south. Fifteen states, the District of Columbia, Oklahoma and Indian Territory are represented on the board. The charter holds good for fifty years. It is estimated that the institute will involve an outlay of at least $50,000 before its completion. Its chief mission will be educational in character by collecting together the correct facts at issue in the history of the late war. The location of the memorial hall will not be considered until after the money has been raised.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

Fate of Joseph McCoy While En Route to Athens, Ala.

Joseph McCoy, of Prescott, Ariz., disappeared while passing through St. Louis August 28 for Athens, Ala. Saturday his brother-in-law, D. N. Gilbert, sheriff of Prescott, visited St. Louis in search of the missing man. Late in the afternoon McCoy's badly mutilated body was found in Richland creek, just south of Belleville, Ill. He had been murdered and robbed. His bloody hat and cane were found at a place where there were evidences of a violent struggle.

Pearl Bryan's Murderers.

A negro prisoner named Walker was searched by a turnkey in the Covington, Ky., jail Sunday night and a 38 calibre revolver was found in his pocket. Walker occupied a cell adjoining the ones in which Jackson and Walling, the Pearl Bryan murderers, are confined. The jailer suspected a plot to break jail and ordered the cells searched. In Walling's cell half a dozen saws were found. Both Walling and Jackson protest their innocence, but the jail officials think the plot was to have been carried out at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, when only two men would be on guard. A search of Jackson's cell disclosed two fine steel saws hidden between the sole and lining of an extra pair of tan shoes, which belonged to the prisoner.

Oklahoma Democrats Fuse.

The democratic territorial convention to nominate a candidate for delegate to congress was in session till 1:30 Saturday morning, when an indorsement of J. Y. Callahan, populist nominee, was made. The fight was a bitter one, and much feeling was shown. The report of the committee upon resolutions was quite long. It advocated the principles of the Chicago platform, single statehood, free homes, opposed army officers acting as Indian agents and advocated separate schools and fusion.

The North Carolina Drouth.

The state crop bulletin of North Carolina says: The drouth is unbroken over many parts of central and eastern districts, and that but little improvement is now possible in crop conditions. Cotton picking is rapid and under favorable conditions the quality of cotton is high. The crop will be nearly all open by October 1 in the eastern districts. Many fields already look as if struck by frost. The peanut crop is cut short by the August drouth. Rice is only ordinary. Tobacco continues poor in quality. Most of that crop has been housed.

An Engineer Killed.

In a head-end collision on a curve known as "Dead Man's Dump," three miles north of Jackson, Miss., on the Illinois Central railroad, at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, Engineer "Clef" Quinn, of McComb City, was instantly killed. Engineer Hoskins, of the north-bound train, escaped without injury, as did the two firemen. The engines and several flat cars were completely wrecked. Quinn leaves a wife and five small children.

A Nervy Engineer.

An attempt was made Saturday to hold up the Overland express eight miles west of Sacramento, Cal. The engineer killed one of the robbers and then pulled out and the train reached this city.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., a Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain.
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER.
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

THE PLATFORM.

"The People's Party of the State of Alabama, in convention assembled, recognizing the supremacy of political liberty over all the questions that can come before the people of the State for solution at the general State election, to take place on the 3rd day of August, 1896, reaffirm our allegiance to the cardinal principles of Populism as follows:

"First—We demand a free ballot and a fair count.

"Second—We believe in the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of international agreement.

"Third—We demand that miners and others like corporate labor be paid in lawful money of the United States semi-monthly.

"Fourth—We favor a tariff for revenue, so adjusted as to protect as far as practicable the farmers and the labour in our shops, mines, factories and mills, and their products against foreign pauper labor."

Judge Zell Gaston's amendment to the 2d section was as follows:

"We demand the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the abolition of national banks, the expansion of the currency to meet the needs of the people and the demands of commerce, free from the control of corporate influences, and we condemn the issue of interest bearing bonds in time of peace."

Next came a lot of resolutions, which passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that our representatives in congress be and are hereby requested to use their best endeavors to secure appropriations by the Federal Government to open the Warrier River to navigation from the coal fields to the Gulf of Mexico."

"Resolved, That our county appointing boards are hereby requested to give to the political opposition a competent inspector at every polling place in their respective counties,

"And we further request the inspector so appointed to give a competent clerk and fixer at each polling place to said political opposition."

IT has been decided that Bryan and Watson are to be officially notified of their nomination by the People's Party. The notification will be by letter.

Bryan was notified of his nomination by the national Silver party on Tuesday at Lincoln, Neb. By the time he receives the Populist notification he will be getting used to it.

Two States have just held elections—Vermont and Arkansas. Vermont went Republican by an increased majority, and Arkansas retaliated by largely increasing its Democratic majority.

TOM WATSON is now in Texas and spoke to an enthusiastic crowd at Dallas on Monday. After keeping some other appointments he will return and take an active part in the Georgia campaign and when that is over will go West again.

BEGIN to study the names of the electors. There will be four different tickets, which means there will be forty-four names of electors on the official ballot, and you should make yourself thoroughly acquainted with the names of the men you intend to vote for.

The trial of Sheriff Kennedey of Dallas for killing Percy Wood took place in Montgomery this week. The jury returned a peculiar verdict which practically releases Kennedey. The verdict was "We find the defendant guilty as charged, but insane at the time he committed the crime." Kennedey will be taken to the asylum at Tuscaloosa and the examining board will declare him sane and he will be at once released.

THE Democrats of the Fourth District will meet tomorrow at Shelby Springs in adjourned session and will make another attempt to untangle the nominating muddle they got into at Selma. The chances seem to be in favor of Plowman or Kelly.

Jesse R. Grant, a son of Gen. Grant, has renounced the Republican party and joined the Populist. He says: "The platform of the People's Party has no objectionable principles, and seem to offer a political home which any American can proudly enter."

FROM now until the close of the campaign we will send you THE BANNER for Ten cents.

CALL FOR MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting of the People's Party of Chilton county is hereby called to meet at Clanton on Saturday, September 19, 1896 for the purpose of electing delegates to the Fourth District Congressional convention and for the transaction of any business that may properly come before the meeting.

As the time is short it is requested that each Beat sends up good representative men to attend the meeting.

H. I. HONEYCUTT,
Chairman P. P.

THE State executive committee met last Thursday at Birmingham and put out the following electoral ticket:

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

Alternates—S. M. Adams of Bibb and Frank Baltzell of Montgomery.

The following district electors and alternates were chosen:

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile; alternate, J. M. Young of Choctaw.

Second district—W. S. Reese of Montgomery; alternate, J. S Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour; alternate, J. O. Pinkard of Dale.

Fourth district—Thomas L. Harvey of Calhoun; alternate, Thomas D. Parsons of Talladega.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langsley of Tallapoosa; alternate, H. R. Robbins of Coosa.

Sixth district—H. B. Gaines of Walker; alternate, Jack Savage of Fayette.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall; alternate, Thos. W. Powell.

Eigth district—T. B. Bickley of Colbert; alternate, A. C. Nixon of Morgan.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb; alternate, Julius Davidson of Blount.

The electoral college of 1896 will be composed of 447 members. Of that number it will require a clear majority of 224 to elect a president and vice president, and should no one of the candidates receive such a majority, there will be no election by the college. The vote of the electoral college will be taken in each state on the second Monday in January next. The result of the ballot in each state will be sent to the vice president of the United States and opened by him in the presence of the senate and house of representatives in joint session.

If it is found that no candidate has received a majority of the electoral college votes then the house, sitting independently, will proceed to ballot for vice president. If the house fails to elect a president by the 4th of next March, the vice president, chosen by the senate before that time, then becomes president.

The electoral college vote is taken in each state separately, but on the same day, and it has only one chance to elect the president and vice president. The ballot of each state electoral college is taken and sent, sealed, to the vice president at Washington. The state electors may meet at such place as may be prescribed by each state legislature, the general government having no jurisdiction over the electors except that it can require the vote for president and vice president to be taken on the same day in each state.

The electoral college system was engrafted into the constitution of the United States when that instrument was written, and it remains the law to-day, only one or two slight changes having been made in the system.—Atlanta Constitution.

CALL FOR CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The district convention of the People's Party of the Fourth congressional district is hereby called to meet at Calera on the 22nd day of September at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress from said District, and for the consideration of other matters that may properly come before the convention. The representation in said convention will be as follows:

Cleburn County.	6	Delegates
Calhoun "	13	"
Talladega "	13	"
Shelby "	11	"
Chilton "	6	"
Dallas "	4	"

G. B. DEANS,
Chairman 4th District.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 9.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, Chairman of the committee appointed by the National Populist convention to notify Mr. Bryan of his nomination announces that he will call the committee together for that purpose at an early date.

A call has been issued by the "middle-of-the-road" Populist of Illinois for a state convention, to be held at Chicago on Sept. 15, for the nomination of a state ticket.

The Populists of Denver, Colorado, in convention recently, endorsed Senator Teller and Congressman Bell and favored a fusion state ticket.

Hon. W. H. Robb, editor of the Daily American, of Creston, Iowa, has been nominated for congress by the Populists of the Eigth district, against W. P. Hephurn, the silver-tongued railroad attorney. Mr. Robb is a magnificent man, a splendid campaigner, and his prospects for success are very bright.

The Populists of the Third Virginia district have postponed their nominating convention until after the democratic convention is held. In the Fourth district the Populists have nominated Col. J. Thomas Good for congress.

It is positively asserted that a considerable portion of the $20,000,000 that Mark Hanna secured from Wall street has been used to pay dividends on metropolitan goldbug newspapers.

Hundreds of prominent republicans in Nebraska are espousing the cause of free silver, and the friends of Mr. Bryan claim that he will carry the state by not less than 15,000 majority.

A favorite trick of the goldbug press is to keep repeating the stale story that the free silver sentiment is dying out. There is little danger of anyone being deceived by it.

The Populists and democrats of Idaho got together recently on a state ticket. It is asserted that the reason Senator Dubois and the free silver republicans were not recognized was because they refused to go into the combination except as regular republicans.

The Populists and democrats are uniting in nearly every county in Oklahoma for the overthrow of the gold standard crowd and they will udoubtedly succeed.

The recent growth of free silver sentiment in the rural districts of New York, make it not only possible, but probable, that Bryan will carry that stater

The few Populist papers that refused to support Bryan immediately after the National Convention have generallp fallen into line and are now supporting the regular nominees. Any other course would be suicidal,

Quite a large number of factories in various sections of the country are closing their doors and throwing their workmen out of employment. This is a part of she political play adopted by the gold power to intimidate the voters and farce them to support the republican nominees.

Gen. Weaver is qoted as saying that Iowa will give a majority of 35,000 for Bryan.

Twenty Years....

For more than twenty years we have been telling how Scott's Emulsion overcomes the excessive waste of the system, puts on flesh, nourishes and builds up the body, making it the remedy for all wasting diseases of adults and children, but it isn't possible for us to tell the story in a mere stickful of newspaper type.

We have had prepared for us by a physician a little book, telling in easy words how and why Scott's Emulsion benefits, and a postal card request will be enough to have it sent to you free. To-day would be a good time to send for it.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

The old story is going the rounds dry weather and short crops. Economy is in great demand.

A good family is afflicted. Mr. J. Cleckler, near Jumbo post office has been suffering with dropsy two years now he has three carbuncles, what he is suffering God only knows. Their eldest son, the only one large enough for help, has an abcess which has disabled him from work about one year, no hopes of speedy recovery.

To the readers of the BANNER who will contribute a nickel, a quarter, a dollar, or more to these honest, industrious citizens of our county—money to procure the medicine which is much needed just now, or rather to hold his doctor's treatment. Rewards will be held in reserve in the by and by for those who assist their fellow mortals. We will pass this way but the one time, then let us be up and doing as we would be done by. Please go and see the afflicted family in question, you will never sleep good till you aid them. Mrs. Cleckler and young daughter are wearing their lives away in hard out door work.

MRS. IRA CAMPBELL.

* * *

Lily Lyrics.

Farmers are busy picking cotton. The crop in this section is about half gathered.

Mr. Frank Bazemore, of Coosa county is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Robt. L. Veazey, who has been teaching at Weogufka, returned home last Wednesday and will enter Prof. Wilson's school at Stanton Monday.

Miss Lena Parnell, of Dixie, who has been spending some time here with relatives, returned home last Sunday, much to the regret of her friends.

Potatoes, cane, peas, &c, will be almost a complete failure in this section on account of dry weather.

Misses Dovie and Mamie Smitherman, of Saginaw, are visiting relatives here.

Prof. Slaton was out here a few days ago in the interest of the Jemison High School. We hope for the Professor much success in his new field of labor, for we think he is the right man in the right place.

Miss Geneva Jones, who is teaching near Plantersville, paid home folks a visit last Saturday and Sunday.

CLINT.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

National Association of People's Party Clubs.

Washington, D.C., Sep. 2, 1896.

Political club organization has proven one of the most effective adjuncts to campaign work that has ever been devised. The present campaign has brought into existence more clubs than any other known in the history of the country. The People's Party must not lag behind the procession. There should be a People's Party club in every township in America and, where the party is strong, in every school district. There should be one in each village, and in each city clubs shoulds be organized by wards. These clubs can be not only an important help in the present campaign, but they can also be a permanent good to the party.

Here is the plan: Let each state committee recommend, through the public press and through the regular party organization, the starting of Populist clubs in every precinct in the state. No organizers are necessary for this, although state organizers and county organizers may be appointed. But in the main the people should organize for themselves. These clubs are to be open, are to hold weekly meetings during the campaign and after that as often as they see fit. They are to report the names of their officers (chairman, secretary and Treasurer) at once to the national committee, together with a nominal charter fee of, say, One Dollar. The national committee will in turn forward a charter and enroll the club as a member of the National Association of People's Party Clubs. These clubs are to have public discussions, are to distribute literature which will be sent to them from national and state headquarters, are to attend rallies in a body, are to do quiet work, to make converts in the neighborhoods in which they are organized; and are practicable to lend enthusiasm, energy and effectiveness to the campaign. No initiation fee shall be charged, and no dues other than voluntarily contributed. No dues shall be paid either to state or national committees other than voluntarily contributions, except the charter fee, which is to be turned at once into the national campaign fund.

MARION BUTLER, Ch'n.
J. A. EDGERTON, Secretary.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897:

		1896
Pletcher's mill	October	1
Kincheon	"	9
Albert Headley's store	"	3
Benson	"	5
Maplesville	"	6
Shoultz	"	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church, Beat 2	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Strasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore's school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

		1896
Shoultz	October	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Srasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville	"	3
Benson	"	4

T. J. HULLARD, TaxCollector.

Program Teachers' Institute.

A Teachers' Institute will be held at Collins' Chapel September 11, 12, 1896.

FRIDAY—9 a.m. Devotional exercises.

9:30 a.m. Welcome address, J. D. Collins.

10 a.m. What is teaching? W. S. Garner, Miss M. V. Palmer.

11 a.m. Child study, G. L. Speer Miss Sophia Mullins. Recess.

2 p.m. How should Arithmetic be taught? Wm. Askins, Miss Jennie Wilson,

2:30 p.m. The requisites for successful teaching, J. E. Creel.

3 p.m. Public education, C. C. Slaton.

SATURDAY—9 a.m. Nature's own text book, Alex Moore, Miss Ida Robinson.

10 a.m. Modes of preventing whispering, W. R. Headley.

11 a.m. Educational address. C. C. Slaton, Recess.

2 p.m. Public school law, E. Y. McMorries.

2:30 p.m. The work of the primary teacher, A. B Harwood, Mrs. V. Z. Palmer.

3 p.m. How to teach reading, R. E. R. Hicks.

Collins' Chapel is located two and a half miles from Strasburg. There will be conveyance for teachers from Strasburg and return. This being the last Institute in this scholastic year, all the teachers are expected to attend.

J. W. MOORE, Supt.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA } Probate
CHILTON COUNTY. } Court.

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application.

You are, therefore, hereby notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness this the 2d day of Sept., 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution $1.50
New York World (3 papers every week) . . $1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham) . . $1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine) . $1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson) $1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman . . $1.50

For $1,25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal $1.25
Birmingham State-Herald $1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
—LOWEST PRICES.

LOOK AT THEIR SAMPLES AT

W. L. SAMPEY,
CLANTON, ALA.

CATARRH

is a more common and a more serious disease than most people imagine. Its cure depends upon constitutional treatment, not upon local remedies. V.V.V. cures catarrh because it purifies the blood, cleanses the secretory organs and brings the entire system to a condition of health and vigor. Composed entirely of health-giving vegetable remedial agents,

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a wonderful specific for all blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—as well as rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 7.80 cents.

Bales received to-date:

[illegible]	148
[illegible]	110
[illegible]	26
	284

[illegible] CHEAP. Call and see [illegible] at the BANNER office.

Mr. [illegible] McBell, of Grady, visited his [illegible] family Saturday and [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] Parkhead, of Montgomery, visited relatives at this place Saturday and Sunday, on his [illegible].

M[illegible] Roe and friend, of Mo[illegible], after a pleasant visit to Mr. [illegible] Gardner's family, returned [illegible] this morning much to the [illegible] many friends here.

Mr. [illegible] McMorries, who [illegible] a position in the drug store at this place, has accepted a position in Birmingham. We wish for Bascom success in [illegible] undertakings.

Mr. [illegible] J. Davis was in Birmingham Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. [illegible] Curry was in Jemison [illegible] of his profession this week.

Those desiring Good Family Groceries and Confectionaries can obtain the same by calling on J. A. [illegible], who has recently opened up with a [illegible] of Goods in the old [illegible] by Patrick Smith.

A [illegible] number of our citizens [illegible] camp meeting about [illegible] miles west of town. A great interest was manifested in the meeting and we hope that much good [illegible] from it.

Mrs. [illegible] Ree, returned home [illegible] of her many friends [illegible] last Tuesday morning, [illegible] visit to relatives [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collier, of [illegible], are visiting in Clanton.

Mr. Tom Thornton has been [illegible] a few days in Coosa and [illegible].

Mr. J. M. Potts has gone on a [illegible] Georgia and the Carolinas.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons: Mr. James Thacker and Miss Nola Baker; Mr. H. M. Hathcock and Miss Mary Logan; Mr. L. D. Popwell and Miss M. P. Stonecypher.

On Saturday night a crowd of negroes were shooting craps in the swamp when a dispute occurred and Will Mumpfield was fatally shot by Matthew Clark who made his escape and has not been captured.

The Ideal Panacea

[illegible] Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family [illegible] five years, in the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or [illegible]." [illegible] Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, [illegible]: "I have been a Minister of the [illegible] Episcopal Church for [illegible] more, and have never [illegible] anything so beneficial, or that [illegible] relief as Dr. [illegible] Discovery." Try this [illegible] Remedy now. Trial [illegible] at J. S. Johnson, Jr. [illegible]

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18225.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., August 10, 1896.

[illegible] hereby given that the [illegible] settler has filed notice [illegible] to make final [illegible] of his claim, and [illegible] will be made before [illegible] Circuit Court, at [illegible] on September 19th, [illegible] Beardin, Homestead [illegible] No. 24,7[illegible], for the [illegible] tp 21 north of r 11 [illegible].

[illegible] following witnesses [illegible] continuous residence [illegible] cultivation of, said land [illegible] Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey [illegible], Tom McCormick, all [illegible], Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Administrator's Sale.

[illegible] virtue of an order and [illegible] R. M. Honeycutt, [illegible] Probate Court of Chilton [illegible] I, Mary E. Gibbons, [illegible] estate of D. H. [illegible] deceased, will sell at public [illegible] highest bidder on the

[illegible] MONDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896,

[illegible] for cash, the following [illegible] real estate, belonging to [illegible] tp 21 except the e1-2 of [illegible] sw1-4, ne1-4 and sw1-4 of se1-4 of [illegible] 30, e1-2 of sw1-4 and sw1-4 of se[illegible] 1-4 of sw1-4 of section 16 all in township 22 range 13.

MARY E. GIBBONS,
Administratrix of the estate of D. H. [illegible], deceased.

Will Not Perform Miracles But It Will Cure.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases require prolonged treatment as shown by that of Mrs. M. B. Reed, of Delta, Iowa, who writes: "As the result of a lightning stroke, the physicians said I had a light stroke of paralysis, my limbs would all draw up. I would have throbbings in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for sleep, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 40 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Book on heart and nerves free. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18226.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Bearden, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18227.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., August 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: Louis B. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼, section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: John Ed Beardin, J. W. Worthy, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING

SHAVING

SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Clanton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

United States Marshal's Sale of Valuable Real estate.

Under and by virtue of power conferred upon me by a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of the United States District Court, for the Middle District of Alabama, commanding me, that of goods and chattels, land and tenements of B. H. McCrary and B. F. Rasberry, to be made the sum of $300.00 with interest from the 28th day of May, 1896, together with all costs. I have this day levied upon the following described real estate as the property of B. H. McCrary, to-wit:

W½ of sw¼ sec 15 tp 22 r 12; sw¼ of se1-4 of sw1-4 sec 16 tp 22 r 12; ne1-4 of sw1-4 of sec 16 t 22 r 12; s½ of sw1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of se 1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13.

Also the following described real estate as the property of the defendant B. F. Rasberry, to-wit:

[illegible] of se1-4 and ne1-4 of se1-4 sec 18 t 22 r [illegible] sw1-4 of ne1-4 sec 19 t 22 r 13; [illegible] of se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, w½ of sw1-4 and [illegible] of sw1-4 of nw1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13; se1-4 of nw1-4 and w½ of ne1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13, lying and being in the County of Chilton and State of Alabama, together with appurtenances and improvements thereunto belonging and will proceed to sell the same at the Court House door in Clanton to the highest and best bidder for cash on the first Monday in October, being the 5th day, 1896.

This the 4th September, 1896.

W. H. TISDALE, United States Marshal
By J. A. DUDLEY, Deputy.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena.
Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

✻ PORTABLE ✻

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

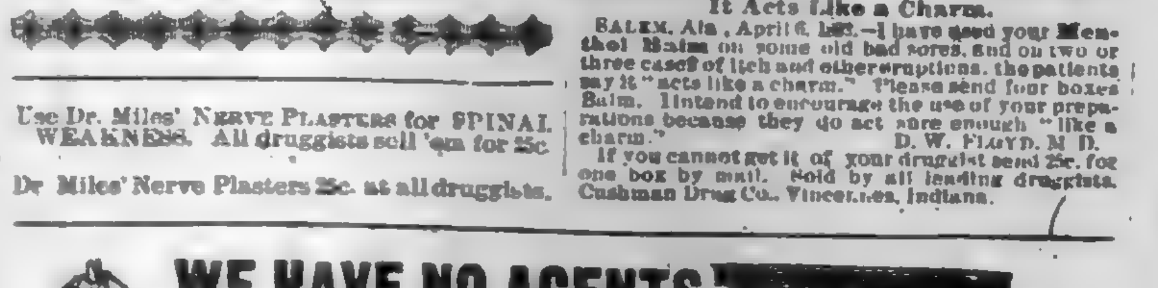
CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS



but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.

No. 3014—Surrey Harness. Price $16.50. As good as sells for $30.

No. [illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry. I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12 s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

A BOON TO HUMANITY!

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

Greatest Discovery of 19th Century.

Cures all troubles of the Head and Throat.

CATARRH, HEADACHE, NEURALGIA, LaGRIPPE, WILL CURE You. First Inhalation stops Sneezing, Snuffing, Coughing, Headache. Continued use effects SURE CURE.

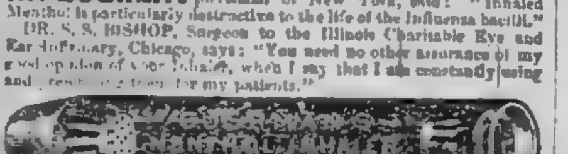
It has no equal for COLDS, Sore Throat, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, La GRIPPE. The most Refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration.

ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS EVERYWHERE.

J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

DR. BROWNE also says: "Always carry the ingenious MENTHOL INHALER known as CUSHMAN'S, which should be used not only on the first approach, but three or four times a day during an epidemic, and always in cold catching weather by those subject to head colds."

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."
DR. S. S. BISHOP, Surgeon to the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, Chicago, says: "You need no other assurance of my good opinion of your Inhaler, when I say that I am constantly using and recommending them for my patients."



Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. Price, 50c. at all Druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials. AGENTS WANTED. Address
Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Ind., or 324 Dearborn St., Chicago.

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!

THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. The designs are catchy and each vividly portrays the present financial situation. They will be treasured in after years as souvenirs of the greatest political war during the [illegible] of our country. Big profits for agents. Immediate sale. For terms address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEP'T
Birmingham, Ala.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

Softens the Hands.

Go and get a 25c box of Cushman's Menthol Balm and keep it in the house. It is the safest remedy and surest for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Sores, or any skin eruptions. It is quick to relieve pain and inflammation. For Farmers cracked hands it is a wonderful cure. Largest box of ointment on the market.

Cured His Mother.

CARTHAGE, Mo., July 24, 1893.—Your Menthol Salve cured mother's hands. She has had no trouble with her hands since I got her the box. My mother is happy and doing all her own work again. She was not able to do any work for three years on account of her hands. Your Balm has cured them. I thank you very much. ROY BARN.

It Acts Like a Charm.

SALEM, Ala., April 6, 1893.—I have used your Menthol Balm on some old bad sores, and on two or three cases of itch and other eruptions, the patients say it "acts like a charm." Please send four boxes Balm. I intend to encourage the use of your preparations because they do act sure enough "like a charm."
D. W. FLOYD, M. D.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists. Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Indiana.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co.; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is, Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of [illegible] a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, [illegible] will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

[illegible] the ailments, caused by [illegible] positions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, and [illegible] Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840. [illegible] HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILITY.—[illegible]—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEP[illegible]—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS.—[illegible] STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOW[illegible] YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.—[illegible] SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH.—[illegible] THE EYES.—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.—TORPID [illegible] & FLABBY.—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.—BILE COMING [illegible] NERVOUS HEADACHES.—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.—WIND [illegible] CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASES. [illegible] NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.—BELCH[illegible] AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR AP[illegible] OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY GETTING [illegible] DESPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—NAUSEA [illegible]—YELLOW JAUNDICE.—DEFICIENCY OF [illegible]—BAD COLDS.—BACKACHES SO COMMON TO [illegible] APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN JOINTS.—[illegible] FEEL TOO HEAVY.—CRAMP COLIC [illegible] PALENESS.—WEAKNESS.—[illegible] OF HEAT.—GENERAL DEBILITY.—[illegible] DYSPEPSIA.—NERVOUS DEPRESSION [illegible] RISING UP OF FOOD AFTER EATING.—[illegible] FEELING, SO COMMON WITH OVER[illegible] & DEBILITATED MOTHERS AND FATHERS & [illegible] BY REGULATING THE ACTION OF THE K[illegible] FOOD TAKEN [illegible]

[illegible] SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

MEDICAL TREATMENT.

If you want the best expert and scientific treatment by the leading physicians and specialists of this country, consult only DR. HATHAWAY & CO. 70 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. All Chronic Diseases of men and women, Private Skin, Blood and Nervous Diseases. Cases treated by mail all over the world by sending for Symptom Blank No. 1 for men No. 2 for women, No. 3 Skin Diseases, No. 4 for Catarrh. Best of professional and financial references, a legal guarantee given if necessary.

FREE 64-page Medical Reference Book for men and women who are afflicted with any form of private disease peculiar to their sex, contagious diseases, female troubles, etc. Send two 2-cent stamps to pay postage, to the leading Specialists and Physicians in this country.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO.,
Old No. 85, St. Charles St., Masonic Temple,
New Orleans, La.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.
ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.
DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy our wheel.
Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE

FIRST-CLASS WORK

LOWEST PRICES

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P. and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.
J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.
W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.
Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.
JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.
Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

For many years there has been a growing recognition among business men that newspaper advertising on a large scale possesses a value hitherto seldom appreciated. An increasing number rapidly enlarge their outlay in this direction, as well applied tests prove how useful it can be made in that particular business. It is repeatedly found that public favor gained in this way withstands even the lower prices of competitors who do not advertise. Frequently after a few years of newspaper advertising the annual expenditure for this purpose exceeds the total capital of the advertiser at the start of the advertising.

It seems that several hundred years of higher education in this country have not been sufficient to eradicate the sophomore's theory that to beat a freshman, pour soft soap down his neck and decorate his face with green paint is intensely humorous.

The latest Venezuela entanglement has been peaceably settled by the release of the British surveyor, Harrison, the result being due to the intercession of Secretary Olney, through the American Minister at Caracas. This serves to emphasize the fact that the influence of the United States is paramount in Venezuelan affairs.

THE STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, TROY, ALA.

This college is supported by state and Peabody fund appropriations for the training of teachers and is not a mere "Preparatory School" for some other, but is of college grade in every way, as a teachers' training school should be, and grants college degrees and diplomas, and its graduates receive state certificates for two, four and six years, or for life, from the state superintendent of education of Alabama, and these are the strongest testimonials of professional worth to a teacher. Indeed, the graduates of this college are in great demand as teachers and the college authorities take great pleasure in answering requests for trained teachers sent in by school authorities from all over Alabama and adjoining states.

It will be seen from the Normal Exponent that students desiring the usual college course may get it here at very low expense, too. Board is but $8 to $10 per month and tuition and incidentals low.

Persons desiring information as to this college or wishing to secure a good teacher should write to Dr. E. R. Eldridge, president, at Troy, Ala., for the Normal Exponent explaining every thing.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have $50 or $60 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopedia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopedia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts collated in it.

Are You Afflicted!

If so, read the advertisement of Dr. Dozier's Southern Medical Dispensary Birmingham, Ala. in this paper. This institution is one that stands high in the esteem of its patrons. Read what the press of Birmingham and elsewhere say of Dr. Dozier and his institution.

A Final Cure.

"I used it for tetter which had been running for five years. Nothing could give relief until I used your medicine, and one box made a final cure."
MRS. S. E. HART,
Cross Trails, Ala.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

The law is without depth to those who, without heed, do plunge into it.—Shakespeare.

All who use Dobbins' Electric Soap praise it as the best, cheapest and most economical family soap made, but if you will try it once it will tell a still stronger tale of its merits itself. Please try it. Your grocer will supply you.

By Jove the stranger and the poor are sent and what to these we give to Jove is lent.—Homer.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

I am entirely cured of hemorrhage of the lungs by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—LOUISA LINDAMAN, Bethany Mo., Jan. 8, 1894.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Health

is impossible without pure, healthy blood. Purified and vitalized blood results from taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills for the liver and bowels. 25c.

THE FARQUHAR PATENT VARIABLE FRICTION FEED.

Medal and Highest award at the World's Columbian Exposition.

SAW MILL & ENGINE

BEST SET WORKS IN THE WORLD. Warranted the best made. Shingle Mills, Machinery, and Standard Agricultural Implements of Best Quality at lowest prices. Illustrated Catalogue.

DROPSY Treated free. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases pronounced hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. TEN DAYS TREATMENT FURNISHED FREE by mail DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

Am. N. U. No. 37. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

WHITE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL OF ALABAMA.

A business education furnished young women free of cost, except living expenses. This school will open at Montevallo, Ala., on the 12th of October. A faculty representing the best talent in the south is now being selected. Professions taught which will make girls independent. We make teachers, artists, musicians, stenographers, typewriters, telegraphers, bookkeepers, dressmakers and milliners. Other industrial branches will be added. A complete literary course furnished also. Total expenses for the entire session, $80. This includes tuition in all its branches, board, lights and fuel, laundry and medical bills and all ordinary text books used in the school. No incidentals, except a small fee for use of pianos to pupils taking instrumental music. Only $15 required to enter; balance monthly. Each county in the state is entitled to its quota of scholars between the ages 14 and 21 at the above named rates. They must be in good health and have fair primary education. Pupils in the different counties desiring the benefits of this school should make immediate application. Prospectus furnished on application.

H. C. REYNOLDS,
Acting President.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Dr. Eldridge to Alabama School Teachers and Others.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE,
Troy, Ala., Sept. 8, 1896.

The State Normal college, at Troy, grateful for the increasing confidence and support of the state and the Peabody board, desires to show their gratitude by extending the benefits of teacher training to counties remote from the college, in order to equalize, as far as possible, the advantages of the college for the training of teachers for our public schools. They therefore propose the following plan to-wit:

A. To issue to each representative the authority to nominate one or more teachers, from his county; preference being given to superiority of certificate, or license, in selecting between rival candidates, the county superintendent of education attesting such superiority of qualification and endorsing one such nomination to the state superintendent of education, who may, if his judgment so approve, issue a full tuition and incidental scholarship for two years, valid so long as the holder may continue in attendance within the two years, under the laws, rules and regulations governing the college. Forfeitures and expirations of such scholarships under college law, rules, etc., to be entered upon the college books, and due notice given the state superintendent of education, who may cause the place to be given to teachers already in attendance from the given counties, who shall always be given preference over all others, or filled again, in the manner before mentioned; Provided, That no appointment to such scholarships shall be made from any county adjoining Pike county, wherein is located the State Normal college, nor from any county adjoining such counties, or in which is located any state educational institution.

B. To issue to each senator the authority to nominate one or more candidates for a one half tuition, incidental and board scholarship, all of which shall be valued at twelve dollars per month, that when presented with the balance of $12 ($6) per month in a cash payment for one term in advance, shall entitle the holder to be enrolled term by term, during the limit of his scholarship; Provided, That such senatorial one half scholarships shall be governed by all the conditions of appointment and tenure by the provisions of representative scholarships, before mentioned, under A.

C. Nominees for beneficies should at once file their certificate of nomination by the representative or senator with the county superintendent of education, and the successful applicants, on receiving their appointment by the state superintendent, should report at the college on the day and date specified in the certificate of appointment from the state superintendent, equipped as per directions following this, viz:

A. Persons accorded representative scholarships will receive tuition and incidentals, free, under college regulations. They should bring such books as they may have on the course they expected to study, but are not advised to buy any new books until they find out just what they need.

C. Senatorial scholarships entitle to one-half tuition, incidentals and board at table and all necessary heavy furniture. Students need to furnish their own bedding, fuel, lights and toilet arrangements.

Send for applications at once and apply to your representative or senator.

Issued by authority of the State Normal College, the state superintendent, Hon. John O Turner, Montgomery, Ala., approving.

Attest: E. R. ELDRIDGE, Pres.,
Troy, Ala.

Destructive Hail Storm.

Last night a very destructive wind and hail storm visited the northern part of this county, says a Saturday's dispatch from Perry, O. T. Hail as big as hens' eggs fell and did great damage. A number of farm houses were blown down and it is reported that one residence was blown away at McKiney and several persons hurt. Lightning struck the residence of Joseph Kibbe and it was torn to pieces, but the family escaped injury by being in the storm cave.

Caught at Nashville.

John Wedlock, a negro wanted for murdering Adolph Potter, another negro, in cold blood, at Birmingham, Ala., July 12, and who has been at large ever since, was captured in Nashville, Tenn., Saturday by the city detectives. He confesses to the killing of Potter, but says it was in self-defense.

Impaled on a Fence.

Marcy Wright, the little six-year-old son of Mr. N. M. Wright, of Cedartown, Ga., fell from a tree Saturday afternoon, impaling himself on the fence. His skull was broken and pieces of paling and a portion of the skull were taken from the right side of his head. The little fellow is not expected to live.

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS CHAIR.

Father Shoots His Son for a Burglar. Congressman Howard Renominated—An Inexperienced Burglar. The Florence Normal—Taylor for Congress in First District.

Choccolocco Trestle Burned.

A burnt trestle near Choccolocco hustled things on the Southern railroad slightly Tuesday. But little time was lost, as the trains were sent around by Rome, Ga., and made their time. The trestle has been rebuilt.

Its Sixtieth Session.

The sixtieth annual session of the Wills Creek United Primitive Baptist association will be held with Rocky Mount church, two miles south of Collinsville, commencing on Friday before the first Sunday in October.

Found Dead in His Chair.

Mr. Tom Cole, an old citizen and at one time sheriff of Perry county, died very suddenly Tuesday at Vienia, seven miles south of Marion. When found he was sitting in his chair at an open window and had evidently been dead only a short time. His death was probably caused from heart disease.

Taylor Nominated.

George Washington Taylor, of Marengo, was nominated for congressman from the First district Wednesday on the second ballot. Mr. Taylor is a gold man, but will support the Chicago platform and nominees. The convention adopted resolutions indorsing Bryan and Sewall and the platform.

The Florence Normal.

The faculty of the State Normal college at Florence is recognized throughout the state as one of the ablest in the south. It contains graduates of the University of Alabama, the University of Virginia, Johns Hopkins University, the Courtland New York Normal, the Albany Normal college and the Bridgewater Normal in Massachusetts. It also contains two of its own graduates, thus recognizing the value of its own work. All are specialists. No wonder its graduates are held in such high esteem.—Florence Times.

The Ozark Convention.

The Third district convention met at Ozark at noon Tuesday, and nominated Hon. Henry D. Clayton, of Eufaula. Mr. Clayton had no opposition, as Congressman Harrison, who he has been named to succeed, has gone off with the national democrats and will very likely be nominated by them to congress in the same district. Mr. Clayton is United States district attorney for the middle district of Alabama, a member of the national democratic executive committee and a nephew of United States Senator James L. Pugh.

An Inexperienced Burglar.

When the agent of the Southern railroad at Lincoln went to his office Tuesday morning he found that some inexperienced burglar had made an extended call during the night. A glimpse at the surroundings showed that the blacksmith shop of I. J. Reeves had parted company with many of its tools, and these tools had been forced to do work on the fire proof safe of the Southern railway. Powder had not been neglected. The agent received instructions to lock the room, and let everything remain as he found it. Some five or six weeks since the same office was entered at night and deprived of $10 in cash. The company is doubtless tired of such work, and will put forth proper efforts to capture the guilty party.

Howard Re-Nominated.

The Seventh district populite convention met in Birmingham Thursday. The meeting was held in the Hood building on the third floor in the hall occupied by the American Protective association organization. Congressman Howard was re-nominated on the first ballot the vote being as follows:

Cullman voted five for Howard.

Cherokee county voted nine for Howard.

DeKalb voted seven for Howard.
Etowah voted eight for McHan.
Franklin voted six for Howard.
Marshall voted nine for McHan.

St. Clair voted eight for Howard.

On motion the nomination was made unanimous.

Upon the suggestion of the state committee, as presented by Dr. G. B. Crowe, the convention then selected its elector and alternate, viz: Mr. O. D. Street, of Marshall, and Mr. T. W Howell, of Cullman.

At the State Capital.

The new Commissioner of Agriculture, Maj. I. F. Culver, of Bullock, took charge of the affairs of the office at Montgomery Tuesday. Captain Sessions, of Bullock, is the new chief clerk in the office and a son of Major Culver is the assistant clerk. Messrs Smith and Key, clerks under Mr. Lane's administration, have been exceedingly capable and agreeable in the discharge of their duties and their retirement from the public service is greatly regretted. The newly elected county officers took charge in all of the counties of the state September 1. For ten days past the secretary of state has been busily employed issuing commissions to the various officials-elect. Drs. Saunders, of Mobile, who has been selected by the state board of health to succeed the late Dr. Jerome Cochran as health officer of Alabama, has retained as his chief clerk Mr. Walter R. Brassell, an exceedingly capable and efficient official, who has presided over the position for the past ten years.

Shot For a Burglar.

A very sad accident occurred at the home of Engineer James Lacey, of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, in Tuscumbia Tuesday morning. At that time his 13-year-old son, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, had occasion to go out into the yard, and on his return to the house he rapped at his father's door, which was locked, for admittance. His father was awakened by the knocking, and reaching for his revolver, inquired who was there, and what was wanted. Receiving no reply, he fired one shot through the door, which struck his son just below the cheek bone, the ball passing downward and lodging in his neck. A physician was hastily summoned, but on account of the swelling in the little fellow's face, was unable to extract the ball. Several burglaries have been committed recently in the city, and Lacey concluded that one of them was attempting to enter his house, and without awaiting further developments fired through the door with the above result. The wound is not considered fatal.

TENNESSEE'S YOUNG BAPTISTS.

The State Convention in Session at Chattanooga.

The state convention of young Baptists of Tennessee was called to order Friday at the First Baptist church in the city of Chattanooga by Dr. George A. Lofton, of Nashville. After a scriptural lesson had been read by Dr. E. E. Falk, Dr Lofton made the introductory address. He paid a glowing tribute to the enterprise and progressiveness of the young Baptists of Chattanooga. He gave a history of the movement to organize a state union, and spoke of the benefits that would accrue from such an organization.

At the conclusion of Dr. Lofton's address the question of organizing a state union and the adoption of a constitution was considered, and it was finally decided to organize at once. Dr. M. D. Jeffreys, of Knoxville, was elected chairman of the convention, and Emmet H. Rolston, of Knoxville, was elected president of the union for the ensuing year, and E. H. Rolston, of Chattanooga, was made secretary.

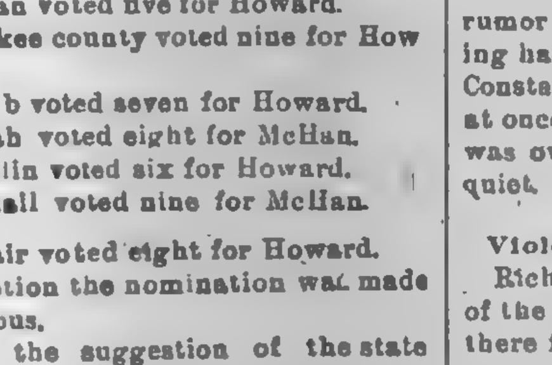
At Saturday's session the organization was completed by electing the following officers: Vice-Presidents—For East Tennessee, Rev. B. B. Garrett, of Chattanooga; for Middle Tennessee, J. O. Bush, of Nashville; for West Tennessee, W. T. McCullough, of Memphis. Stacy Lord, of Chattanooga, was elected treasurer. The following executive board, with headquarters at Chattanooga, was chosen: R. F. Motley, of Cleveland; C. C. Pierce, of Chattanooga; F. B. Stapp, of Chattanooga; W. A. Moffit, of Hill City, and Phil McGuire, of St. Elmo. The place for the next meeting was left to the selection of the executive board, and after discussing matters relative to the success of the newly formed organization, adjournment was had, the date of the next meeting to be announced later.

Panic in Constantinople.

In Constantinople, Saturday, a complete panic was caused by the falling of an Armenian from a window to the street below. The people who saw the man fall believed that he had been thrown out of the window, and a rumor spread like wild fire that rioting had been renewed. The shops in Constantinople and Galata were closed at once and kept closed until the scare was over and the people had become quiet.

Violent Rain Storm at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., was visited by one of the most violent rain storms known there for years Saturday night. Chococs creek, which divides the eastern and western shores of the city, rose suddenly out of its banks, flooding two of the streets and doing $50,000 worth of damage to merchandise in cellars along its line.



YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)-

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

BIG STRIKE IMMINENT,

The World's Shipping Interest to be Paralyzed.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME UNFOLDED.

Plan Already Prepared to Unite All Classes of Laborers Employed in Docks in a New Federation for a Mammoth Strike This Fall the World Over.

Press dispatches from London give notice of an impending strike of gigantic proportions. It is reported among the delegates to the trades union congress which opened at Edinburgh on Monday that all the plans for a gigantic strike of the dock laborers of the world at large have been perfected in everything but the minute details and that the most important labor movement ever conceived may be commenced this autumn.

The trades union men who do the work of the ports of the United Kingdom have been working on this scheme for a long time past and it is looked upon as likely to be the signal for a new era not only in the history of trades unionism, but in the history of all labor organizations or secret societies.

Since the year 1889 every strike for better wages or shorter hours at any port of the United Kingdom has practically come to nothing because when the men went out at any particular port the trade of that place has been transferred for the time being to some other British or continental port and the strikers have been compelled to surrender. The present plan is designed to prevent any such fiasco by uniting all classes of laborers employed in or about the docks, ships, wharves and warehouses in the United Kingdom, the United States, Canada, Germany, France, Holland, Belgium and Australia, as well as other countries in one great new federation. Its members are to wear a specific badge and the cardinal principle of membership will be to stand firmly united and to implicitly obey instructions of the governing council in spite of anything and everybody. Throughout the world the members of this federation will be pledged to uphold strikes of any section of the federation by striking in sympathy and remaining out until notified to return to work.

The scheme is so gigantic in scope and may have such far-reaching consequences that it is attracting attention on all sides and is seriously considered by the law makers of Great Britain, who see in it a great damage, which may have to be met by radical measures.

The strike is to be principally against the piece work system.

Tom Mann, one of the leaders of the movement, was interviewed by a representative of the Associated Press. He said:

"The organization which is controlling this new movement is called the International Federation of Ship, Dock and River Workers, an organization that directly appeals to over one million men. When we have completed the organization of these men, and so far we are sure of a fourth of the number mentioned, and the number is growing every hour, it will be the biggest event that has happened in the labor movement. In the United Kingdom the men are responding as freely as we could wish. We have already made great steps at organization in the United States, Belgium and Holland, and the work is going on in a number of other countries. In the United States our propositions have met with a cordial reception by Mr. Gompers, who has thoroughly distributed our literature in the proper quarters. The replies already received from the United States are very encouraging and so soon as we have made further progress here, we shall complete the work in the United States and Canada by sending delegates there and all the little details of completing the organization of the new federation will be finished and the result will be that a strike will at once be inaugurated here, the dock laborers and other members of the federation in America will quit work at the same hour and our continental brethren will also lay down their tasks.

"We do not wish for a strike, nor do our members desire it, if our demands can be granted by quiet discussion with the employers. In any case if we wait until we have 750 000 men enrolled, there will be no need for a strike, as the employers will yield in the face of a threat of a general paralysis of the shipping business of the world.

"Yes, it is true that it has been proposed that the general strike should commence on September 29 next, but I hope this will not be the case. Of course there will be two factions in the new federation, those who are smarting under prolonged injustice and who are therefore eager for a strike, and those whose affairs are in a better condition and who therefore are somewhat lukewarm and undesirous of precipitating the great strike.

Tennessee's Legislature.

The Tennessee legislature met Monday in response to call of Governor Turney to make provisions for sufficient revenue to tide the state over until January. Treasurer Craig declares there will be a deficit of $300 000. Comptroller Harris says that after all expenses are paid there will be a surplus of $72 000. The situation is rather grave. A message from the governor was read. After arranging for appointment of committees of investigation, both houses adjourned, the national holiday preventing the introduction of bills.

Sunday Lynching.

At 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning Charles Singmars and Dorman Musgrove, who murdered Sheriff Rogers in June, were hanged to the railroad bridge, less than a quarter of a mile out of the town of Glencoe, Minn. One of the men was hanged from the north of the bridge and the other from the south side. The deed was done by 100 citizens of McLeod county, who thus expressed their disapproval of Saturday's verdict that Musgrove be confined to the state prison for life instead of being sent to the gallows.

"Uncle Billy" Hubbell of Bath, N. Y.

From the Advocate, Bath, N. Y.

Residents of Bath, N. Y., have taken a great fancy of late to Lake Salubria, which lies just outside the village, and during the past two years a score of new cottages have gone up on its shores. Choice locations are becoming scarce and the early settlers are careful now to keep what dooryard they have left. Your correspondent visited the Lake recently and dropped in to see "Uncle Billy" Hubbell in his comfortable cottage under the pines. Mr. Hubbell established himself at the Lake before the boom commenced, and has one of the prettiest locations there.

Mr. Hubbell said that this was the first spring in twenty years in which he had been free from his old enemy, sciatic rheumatism. He thought he had contracted this disease while running as express messenger on the Erie and other railroads between 1849 and 1859, although he did not feel its acute symptoms until some fifteen years later. Mr. Hubbell is now the second oldest expressman in the United States and recalls many interesting reminiscences of these early days. In 1876 he went to the Western frontier, and has suffered from sciatic rheumatism ever since. Speaking of the many efforts he had made to get relief from this painful ailment, he said that while in New Mexico he visited the Las Vegas and Hamas springs, and later he tried those at Manitou, Col., and Little Rock, Ark. Coming east he tried the White Sulphur Spring, Ohio, St. Catherines, Can., and Clifton and Avon, in New York, but without being able to get the slightest relief. As he advanced in age, his trouble became more painful. "Why," he exclaimed, pointing to the farm house of William Burleson, about six hundred feet distant, "I would yell so when those twinges caught me that they could hear me down there."

William H. Hallock, owner of Hallock's bank, in Bath, is a nephew of Mr. Hubbell, and last winter he insisted that "Uncle Billy" should try Pink Pills for Pale People for his rheumatism. Mr. Hubbell is free to say that he had no faith in the pills whatever, and only tried them because of the insistence of Mr. Hallock. He had already tried "more than a million remedies" before he came to Pink Pills and as none had rendered him the slightest benefit, he was pretty well discouraged. However, to please Mr. Hallock, he got a box of Pink Pills. Since then (some three or four months), Mr. Hubbell has not felt a single trace of rheumatism, and is now on his fourth box of the pills. He cannot explain how this marvelous relief was effected, but feels sure it was the pills which did it, and is now as enthusiastic in their endorsement as was his nephew, Mr. Hallock. Mr. Hubbell now comes into Bath almost every day, and says he could ride a bicycle if he only had some one to help him on and off.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 22d day of May, 1896.

W. P. FISH, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y.

Chickens EARN Money

IF YOU GIVE THEM HELP.

You cannot do this unless you understand them and know how to cater to their requirements; and you cannot spend years and dollars learning by experience, so you must buy the knowledge acquired by others. We offer this to you for only 25 cents.

YOU WANT THEM TO PAY THEIR OWN WAY,

even if you merely keep them as a diversion. In order to handle Fowls judiciously, you must know something about them. To meet this want we are selling a book giving the experience of a practical poultry raiser for (Only 25c. twenty-five years. It was written by a man who put all his mind, and time, and money to making a success of Chicken raising—not as a pastime, but as a business—and if you will profit by his twenty-five years' work, you can save many Chicks annually, and make your Fowls earn dollars for you. The point is, that you must be able to detect trouble in the Poultry Yard as soon as it appears, and know how to remedy it. This book will teach you.

It tells how to detect and cure disease; to feed for eggs and also for fattening; which fowls to save for breeding purposes; and everything, indeed, you should know on this subject to make it profitable. Sent postpaid for twenty-five cents in stamps.

Book Publishing House
134 LEONARD ST., N. Y. City.

SCHOOL BOOKS.
THE PEOPLE CAN BUY
From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.
W. H. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND-BOOKKEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars. COUCH & LUGENBEEL, SENOIA, GA.

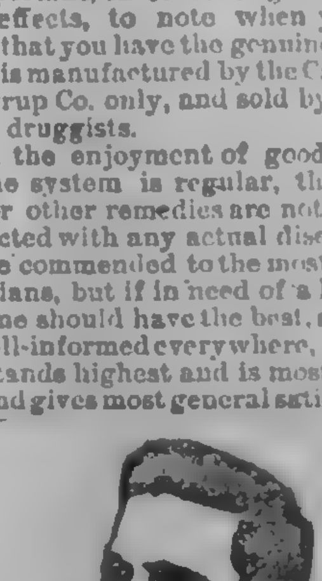
RODS and Dip Needle. for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers Cir. 2c P. & M. Agency, Box A, Palmyra, Pa

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist)
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)
Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of over twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic nervous and private diseases and his [illegible] gives him a leading [illegible] medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)
Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)
We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)
* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)
As a specialist Dr. Dozier is [illegible] living [illegible] a high [illegible] honest [illegible] for all h[illegible]

(Daily News, Birmingham.)
Dr. Dozier is a [illegible] skill and [illegible] literary [illegible] all who [illegible] ters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)
His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is [illegible]

Address
DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES FOR GINNING.

Most economical and durable. Cheapest and est in the market for cash. VARIABLE FRICTION FEED SAW MILLS AND STANDARD IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Send for catalogue.
A. B. FARQUHAR Co., Ltd.,
Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, York, Pa.

FOUNTAIN PEN FREE

And best agency position on earth. Send address and stamp to N. Y. Importing Co., P. O. Box 1 M Dep't. A, New York.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA

might well be the name of the 590-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopedias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1896. NO. 47.

The clans are gathering

The liars seem to be out in force.

No political boss should be tolerated.

The gold reserve is not reserving again.

The banks are boycotting free silver [illegible]

The great panic can be traced to [illegible]

The voice of the candidate is heard [illegible]

The battle between the masses and the classes.

The banks must go out of the government business.

Direct legislation would put the people in the saddle.

The question now is, does Wall street own this country?

The people are arraying themselves against plutocracy.

A system of government banks would do away with panics.

The man who votes for a gold standard votes for cheap products.

If the income tax is unconstitutional, let us amend the constitution.

Free silver means more money and more money is what the people need.

The man who is willing to sacrifice [illegible] is not safe to trust as a [illegible]

There is something out of "kilter" with the farmer who wants a gold standard.

The plutes ought to know that sneering at Bryan only makes him dearer to the people.

Our gold is now going abroad to some foreign dumping ground, but we don't see any foreigners objecting to it.

The people seem to have taken the bits in their teeth and are going to do a little voting on their own account.

There is no such thing as a general overproduction of the things that contribute to the life and comfort of the human family.

There is some consolation to Populists in the fact that the boltercrat wing of the Democratic party deny that [illegible] are Democrats.

The money power has been so busy making our money "good in Yurrop" that they seem to forget we have a government and a people here at home.

The government alone has the power to issue money, and it is the duty of the government to see that the people have a sufficient quantity to transact business.

The only value in money consists in what it will exchange for that will contribute something toward sustaining life and contributing to the comfort of the human family. Money can't do this of itself.

Foraker says he "would rather risk the judgment of John Sherman than Mary Ellen Lease." Some one ought to inform Foraker that this is a year in which the people seem to be risking their own judgment.

It is evident now that Col. Breckinridge of Kentucky does not intend to appeal the "judgment rendered against him in favor of Miss Madeline Pollard. He is opposed to cheap dollars. The [illegible] old rascal is in his proper place with the gold democrats.

The goldbugs tell us that the free coinage of silver will flood this country with cheap money and in the next breath they say it will cause contraction by driving gold out. It reminds one of Petroleum V. Nasby's declaration that he was troubled with the [illegible] and costiveness.

The free coinage of silver will give the "silver baron" 100 cents for 50 cents' worth of product where is the truth to the claim that free coinage will result in 50-cent dollars? If free coinage will not increase the value of silver where is the support of the claim that it will enrich the silver barons? Both of these are goldbug arguments.

Notwithstanding all the argument of the goldbugs the silver dollar, with 51 cents' worth of material, is worth as much as the gold dollar and is not redeemable in gold either. What is the cause of this? Simply that the law declares it a legal tender and the people stand ready to redeem it with any of the products of their labor. It would be the same with a government paper dollar.

It is well to observe that it is not the money in existence that fixes prices, but the money in actual circulation. When money is increasing in volume prices are constantly rising, as during the war; but when money is decreasing in volume, as since 1868, prices are continually falling. When prices are going up enterprise is stimulated to its maximum and labor and its products command good prices. When prices are stable, as they would be with a uniform volume of currency and a flexible system to supply the demand, there would be no such thing as panics and hard times.

HOW THEY LOVE THE FARMERS.

The anti-Bryan Press of the East is just now caricaturing the farmers of the West in a most disgraceful manner. The honest toiler is held up to ridicule and pictured as a wild eyed lunatic, incapable of reasoning on the questions of the day. The above sketches are taken from recent issues of gold standard papers whose publishers are no doubt being well paid for the nefarious work they are doing. The farmers of the West and South will keep these pictures in mind on election day.

THE CASE IN COURT.

TO BE DECIDED BY RIGHT, REASON AND FACT.

An Interesting Interview With the Famous Historian and Scholar, John Clark Ridpath — The Populist-Democratic Congressional Candidate.

This eminent historian has been named as Fusion candidate for congress in the Fifth district of Indiana.

He is neither a politician nor a capitalist, but he is a man of high ability, a close student and a friend of the common people. In a recent interview he used the following language, which should be pondered well by every lover of our country and its free institutions:

"According to my way of thinking our government has been steadily drifting away from the people and getting into the power of special interests. The circle of government has narrowed and narrowed, till it appears to me the height of absurdity to call it any longer a government 'of the people, for the people and by the people.' I want to see this process completely reversed. I want to see the government restored to the people. I believe precisely what Webster and Theodore Parker and Lincoln said, viz.: 'That our republic is, or ought to be, a government of the people, for the people and by them.'

"How can there be any harm in such a doctrine? In the name of common sense has it come to pass that patriotic citizens of the United States of America cannot advocate the right of the people to govern themselves? Has it come to that that we have, sure enough, a lot of self-constituted masters who shall tell us what is good for us and how we shall obtain it? Are we Americans a lot of younglings who are unable to lead ourselves, but must be led rather as with a string and fed on porridge as with a spoon?

"Among the methods as it seems to me by which the government is to be recovered by the people is, first of all, as the matter now stands, the restoration of our currency. We want our currency system put back precisely where it was under the statute and constitution for the first eighty-one years of our existence as a nation. Our statutory bimetallic system of currency was taken from us in 1873 by a process which I do not care to characterize in fitting terms. Now we propose to have it back again. The restoration of our silver money to the place it held before is the people's cause, and the people in this contest are going to triumph. They are going to triumph in the open light of day under the clear gleam of light and truth.

"The silver dollar was of old the unit of money and account in the United States. That dollar to this hour has never been altered by the fraction of a grain in the quantity of pure metal composing it. Every other coin, whether gold or silver, has been altered time and again, but the silver unit never. The silver dollar was the dollar of the law and the contract. It is to this day the dollar of the law and the contract. To the silver unit all the rest, both gold and silver, have been conformed from our first statute of 1792 to that ill-starred date when the conspiracy against our old constitutional order first declared itself. The gold eagle of the original statute, and of all subsequent statutes, was not made to be $10, but to be of the value of $10. The half-eagle was not made to be $5, but to be of the value of $5. The quarter-eagle was of the value of $2.50 and the double eagle was of the value of $20. Even the gold dollar of 1849, marvelous to relate, was not $1, but was made to be of the value of $1. The subsidiary coins were all fractions of the dollar and the silver dollar was of silver only.

"Not a single dictionary or encyclopedia in the English language before the year 1878 ever defined dollar in any terms other than of silver. In that year the administrators of the estate of Noah Webster, deceased, cut the plates of our standard lexicon and inserted a new definition that had become necessary in order to throw a penumbra of rationality around the international gold conspiracy.

"The way to obviate the further disastrous effects of this international gold conspiracy is to stop it. We want the system of bimetallism restored in this country. Bimetallism means the option of the debtor to pay in either of two statutory coins, according to his own convenience and according to the contract. This option freely granted, the commercial parity of the two money metals will be speedily reached, nor can such parity ever be seriously disturbed again as long as the unimpeded option of the debtor to pay in one metal or the other shall be conceded by law and the terms of the contract. The present commercial disparity of the two metals has been produced by the pernicious legislation which began twenty-three years ago and which has not yet satisfied itself with the monstrous results that have flamed therefrom.

"What do we propose to accomplish by free coinage? We propose to do just this thing, viz.: To break the corner on gold and reduce the exaggerated purchasing power of that metal to its normal standard. Be assured there will be no further talk of a 50-cent dollar when the commercial parity of the two money metals shall be reached. Every well-informed person must know that the present disparity of the two uncoined metals is but the index of the extent to which gold has been bulled in the markets of the world. It is not an index to the extent to which raw silver has declined in its purchasing power in the markets of the world, for raw silver has not declined in its purchasing power as compared with the average of other commodities in any civilized market place of the whole globe. No man shall say the contrary and speak the truth. This great question is hot upon us. It can be kept back no longer. It is a tremendous economic question that ought to be decided in the court of right, reason and of fact. My judgment is that the American people, in spite of all opposition, are going to reclaim the right of transacting their business, and in particular of paying their debts according to a standard unit worth 100 cents to the dollar, neither more nor less, and that they will not accept the intolerable program which declares in fact, if not in words, that they shall henceforth transact their business and in particular discharge their debts with a cornered gold dollar worth almost two for one."

It Was an Old Trick.

It is possibly a fact that Mr. Bryan did not have as cordial a reception at New York as he expected.

It is also undoubtedly true that many of his auditors left before his speech was finished.

The reasons are too plain to need explanation.

It was simply an old familiar trick that has been played from time immemorial. It is the trick of filling a hall with a speaker's opponents, giving him a chilly reception, and then deliberately walking out before the speech is over.

While Bryan's friends were crowded out, his enemies were given seats. Is it any wonder that the result was a "chilly reception" and a "tired audience"?

But the speech was a masterly production, all the same, and has been read with profit by millions of people. The audience at Madison Square was merely the peg upon which the speech was hung.—Joliet News.

Like Benedict Arnold.

Milwaukee News: The bolting goldbug democrats claim that they are trying to elect McKinley as a means of saving the democratic party. Benedict Arnold claimed that he went over to the British as a means of saving the country from the disastrous effects of a war that was certain to prove a failure.

The threat of the money power to precipitate a panic is evidence that the time has come when it should be snatched bald headed.

TELLS HOW IT'S DONE.

THE FREE COINAGE OF SILVER WILL BENEFIT LABOR.

Will Give Employment to the Idle on Full Time And at Good Wages—Cheap Money Means Dear Labor — We'll Sweep the Country.

If prices of commodities are cheap they cannot be produced with dear labor. Cheap commodities mean cheap labor. But it is said that labor in some of the manufacturing and railroad industries of the country are as high today as ever. This is not true. But suppose it were true; it would not answer the question. The trades unions have been remarkably successful in resisting reduction of wages, but they have utterly failed in keeping the people employed. There are at least three millions of willing hands which are now idle in the United States. Those who have employment are either working on short hours or short days in the week, so that the aggregate paid in the manufacturing and railroad industries to labor is certainly less than one-half the amount that would be paid to labor if prices were firm, so that enterprise could prosper. If falling prices continue it is only a question of time when wages of labor must come down to correspond with other things. This is not all. One-half at least of the labor in the United States is expended on farms, which has paid the farmers nothing in the last twenty-three years. Their farms are not worth fifty cents on the dollar what they were when silver was demonetized and they are still declining. Farm products have so declined that they are on an average below the cost of production.

The people have borrowed money to pay taxes and other necessary expenses until the farms are mortgaged and tenant farmers are increasing in a geometrical ratio, and it is only a question of a short time if prices continue to fall when independent farmers must disappear, and the peasant system of Europe must be established here. We assert without fear of contradiction that labor is not receiving one-half as much in the United States to-day as it would under free coinage. We admit that an individual who has a job that will last him for life of which he cannot be deprived by his employer or by the bankruptcy of the concern for which he works, can buy more with his dollar than he could if silver was remonetized and prices should regain their normal condition. But if he is a humane man, and contributes his money to the suffering people about him, he will find that what he receives will do him and his family less good than it would if the country was prosperous and the great mass of labor was employed. We know that the goldites appeal to laboring men who have a job and tell them they can buy more with their money than they could if prices were restored and the community generally were allowed to prosper, but they do not call attention to the millions out of employment and the growing army of tramps or the bankrupt farmers, who are being driven from their homes. In short, they fail to call attention to the fact that civilization is decaying on account of the increasing purchasing power of money. They do not suggest to the laborers that the fate which has befallen others will certainly overtake them, that want of employment will drive them into the ranks of the tramps or the unemployed. They do not appeal to labor in good faith. They attempt to appeal to the prejudices of the laboring men for the benefit of one hundred and fifty thousand millions of obligations which they hold against labor. In other words, they appeal to the laboring men to vote to increase the value of money, decrease the value of property and labor, and enslave mankind. Contraction which produces falling prices if continued will bring the same result it always has. Serfdom and slavery is the inevitable fate of the American people if they do not join the forces of reform and rebel against goldocracy.—Silver-Knight.

OUR CIVILIZATION

SOME DAILY HAPPENINGS AFFORD A TEXT FROM WHICH TO PREACH.

If Christ Should Return to Earth Would He Defend the "Natural Law of Supply and Demand" as Just and Proper—

Logansport, Ind., special: Arnold Kister brought a load of garden produce to town, and, being unable to sell it at a price which would pay for the cost of raising it, hauled it to a grove and dumped it out, where people gladly availed themselves of the opportunity.

—

Dallas, Tex., special: Mrs. James Billington was placed in jail here yesterday charged with theft and burglary. She was arrested 10 miles from the city by a party of farmers, who found her robbing the farmhouse of John Cook. In a camper's wagon near by she had deposited a crate of young Berkshire pigs, several packages and other articles of provisions. In the wagon was her husband in the last stages of consumption, with their two little children. Mrs. Cook declared that she and her children were starving, her husband dying, and she had stolen because of their starving condition. Keen sympathy has been aroused over the pitiable state of the family, and citizens of Dallas have taken steps to try to save the woman from the penitentiary.

—

Matter like that contained in the above two paragraphs is so common as to excite no comment as the world goes. And yet, short as they are, mild as they are—and they are as milk and water is to vinegar and vitriol in comparison with illustrations that might be made of daily occurrences—they contain sufficient to effectively impeach our so-called Christian civilization.

There is not a town of any size in all this mighty country which does not contain dozens of families who would not gladly avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain free of charge the products of the farm, and that, too, not because they wish to obtain something for nothing, but because they are really unable to get the things they urgently need in any other way. And this means that there is not a town of any size in this mighty country which might not, under a very slight alteration of circumstances, produce its Mrs. James Billington stealing to keep life in the bodies of her helpless children and slowly dying husband.

It is doubtful if more than two-thirds of the garden products of this country will find its way to market this year, not because its producers are a lazy, shiftless lot, who would rather sit around town and whittle the dry goods boxes and talk politics, than to take the trouble to gather it and bring it to town, nor yet because there are not people enough to consume it all if they could get it, but simply because the infernal conditions existing in these closing days of the nineteenth century are such as compel hundreds of thousands of human beings to suffer from hunger while a God-given abundance of the very same things they need is left to rot in the fields as though they were a curse instead of a blessing.

Talk about "the law of supply and demand!" Say that this "great natural law" is the regulator of human production and consumption! Bah, it's a fraud as complete as any ever generated in hell, a swindling pretense as cunning as any that ever robbed helpless humanity and heaped high the hoards of insatiable greed, a lying, incompetent god, the stupid worship of which is responsible for the condition of the thousands of farmer Kisters and Mrs. Billingtons, whom its heartlessness seems to array as natural enemies! Supply and demand! Our farmers, under God's good providence, have created a grand "supply," the citizens of our towns, under the long drawn-out rule of oppression which has steadily decreased their ability to meet their needs, have such a "demand" as they never had before; then why does this beneficent law not produce the effect which is said to be "natural" to it and at once relieve the distress of the Mrs. Billingtons and reward the industry of the farmer Kisters? Simply because the theory that "demand and supply regulate each other" is a game which the world's sharpers have thus far successfully used in arraying one class of wealth producers against another to the end that the labor of both has been made to redound to the benefit of the few cunning wealth getters.

Think of it, oh, ye astute statesmen who flatter yourselves that it is because of the scant supply of the kind of ability you profess that enables you to draw from five to fifty thousand dollars per year from the world's storehouse, so laboriously supplied by toiling millions, whose annual wage is less than three hundred dollars! Think of it, oh, ye complacent merchant princes, mighty railway magnates and Napoleons of finance, who have no wish that unlimited wealth can gratify unsupplied; and oh, ye silver-tongued orators, skillful editors and God-inspired preachers, think of the starving Billingtons and of that load of life-sustaining produce dumped in a grove by farmer Kister and realize in its full force the infernal lie you voice and pen and preach when you talk about "the law of supply and demand governing the production of man!"

Out upon you, ye glib-tongued talkers, smooth-flowing writers and mellifluous utterers of honeyed phrases, who for pretense make long prayers and devour widows' houses! Who serve the devil in the white robe of Christ, provided only that the stipend be such as thou considerest meet for thy ability! dost realize that all is vanity! and that thou art as a whited sepulchre filled with dead men's bones and all manner of uncleanliness. Go to, ye scribes and pharisees, hypocrites! If Christ should return to earth would he preach the justice of the law of supply and demand, and in the presence of the little starving Billingtons and sadly discouraged Kisters, proclaim that thou proclaimest?

The question is an insult to the grandest life ever lived, to the truest, tenderest heart that ever throbbed!

Should Christ return to earth and teach the same doctrine he taught in ancient Galilee, associating with the poor and spurning riches, gathering about him the penniless beggars, the blind and crippled paupers, scorning the silken-clad preachers of our many-hued millionaire built cathedrals, how long would it be before thou who standest in high places preaching the righteousness of the law of supply and demand, would be rolling thine eyes in the direction of the ruling power and obsequiously asking, "What manner of man is this which goeth about speaking blasphemies?" How long would it be before the cross and crown of thorns would again be called into requisition? and what part would thou, oh, high priest of the nineteenth century, play in the awful drama?

BANKS HOARDING GOLD.

Eastern Bankers Call Their Western Brethren to Time.

Philadelphia American: When Hannibal was encamped before the gates of Rome, the piece of ground occupied by his camp was put up for sale, and brought its usual price. In this way the Romans indicated their unshaken confidence in their final victory over the Carthagenians, even when they could not put an army into the field to face them. This kind of confidence seems to be very much wanting to the friends of the gold standard. They are not satisfied that they are going to win this year, and that the silver people will carry out their policy, so they are beginning to gather up and hoard the yellow metal, in the belief that it will go to a premium after November. The banks of Kansas City have actually suspended gold payments for this reason, and thus take their share in hoarding gold for future profit in selling it.

The bankers of our eastern cities have wit enough to see that this policy is pusillanimous and desperate. Besides censuring their brethren in Kansas City, they have taken steps to replenish the gold reserve of the National Treasury by paying in gold and taking greenbacks in exchange. There is nothing very heroic in this procedure. These greenbacks are demand notes which can be converted into gold at the counter of the New York Sub-Treasury at any time. They are payable, indeed, in silver as well as gold, but as the treasury pays silver only to those who ask it, they are gold certificates practically, and will be redeemed as such at any date before the next 4th of March.

On the other hand, this step is eminently politic. It will not do for the gold reserve to fall much below the limit of $100,000,000 fixed, without rhyme or reason, as that needed for the redemption of the greenbacks. If it fell to half that sum, and nothing happened, a sacred superstition of the monometallists would be shaken, if not shattered. Nor will it do for Mr. Carlisle to make another bond issue before next November. This the organs of the monometallists frankly admit, would be ruinous to their cause. They thus concede that those issues of bonds to borrow gold were most distasteful not only to the silver people, but to voters whose support they count upon. Yet, as soon as the election is over, we shall see Mr. Carlisle putting himself once more into the hands of the New York money lenders to increase the national debt for the sake of monometallism.

Very naturally our creditors abroad and their agents in New York are interested, and are going to do their share. It is said that the foreign bankers are going to furnish sterling exchange to the amount of $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, in order to check the export of gold and obviate the need for a bond issue before November. This is to be done, we are told, by the issue of sixty-day bills, in the confidence that the tide of gold will set toward us before two months have expired. That the bankers are willing to take such a risk is proof how great is the interest of the foreign money-lenders in the maintenance of the gold standard.

Honest Money for Pensioners.

In order to get the vote of the Grand Army veteran for the gold standard, a great hullabaloo is being made about "honest money for pensioners."

When these pensioners were baring their breasts to the leaden bullets of the Confederates, they were paid in greenbacks, worth their face value in national credit, but depreciated by these hoarders of gold to 40 cents on the dollar. These same gold men bought government bonds for 40-cent greenbacks, and then demanded payment at 100-cents gold. Now they come and talk to the old soldiers about "honest dollars for pensions," forgetting that these pensioners offered their lives for their country when gold owners conspired to put their pay at 40 cents on every dollar.

It is a wonder that the old soldiers don't offer to mob a scoundrel talking "honest dollar" to them in times of peace when their lives are not in danger.—X.

During the "greenback craze" the plutes told us that gold and silver was God's money. Then they went and demonetized half of it.

ANOTHER BANK FAILURE.

The Mutual National of New Orleans Closes Its Doors.

WILL PAY DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR.

The Clearing House Refused to Advance on Its Last Tender of Collaterals, and the Crash Came. The Situation Relieved by the Action of the Treasury Department.

The Mutual National bank, of New Orleans, La., closed its doors Thursday morning. The effect of this bank's suspension has been discounted, as it was well known to be in a bad way. Shortly after the American National bank failed a run was made on the Mutual, and the collapse of the bank at that time appeared inevitable. Luckily the run was started on Saturday, shortly before noon, and Saturday being a legal half holiday in New Orleans, providence was on the side of the sorely pressed institution. By Monday morning it had a chance to recuperate. The clearing house held a meeting and the other banks of the city fearing a panic came to the rescue and advanced money enough to meet all demands on that Monday. Large sums of money came from various sources and the United States subtreasury was paying out the sugar bounty as fast as possible. Before noon on that day the run ceased and all was serene. The president states that a steady drain has been maintained by depositors checking out their money.

The unexpected failure of the Union National Wednesday aroused the suspicions of depositors and another rush was made on the Mutual. The clearing house had on the first occasion advanced the Mutual $100,000, a little more than $77,000 of which had been repaid. Wednesday night the Mutual tendered the clearing house another lot of collaterals and asked for further assistance to the extent of $25,000. This the clearing house refused, and the suspension of the Mutual followed.

The president says: "The bank owes depositors $92,993.72, which we have ample assets to pay dollar for dollar."

President Baldwin, of the clearing house, says: "The officers of the bank foresaw what was coming, and as is customary in such cases, called upon other banks to come once more to their assistance. A bank in distress is expected to hypothecate securties of such a kind as will justify the other banks in lending the assistance. The security offered by the Mutual was not considered the proper quality of paper to justify the clearing house in making the loan and the assistance was refused."

GOVERNMENT AID

The treasury department came to the assistance of New Orleans banks by transferring for them, New York to New Orleans, Thursday, $900,000. The three bank failures within the past ten days have left the solvent banks short of funds and they have found it necessary to draw on their reserve deposits in New York banks.

Late Thursday evening Comptroller Eckels received a telegram from Bank Examiner Johnson, of New Orleans stating that the clearing house committee had decided to issue clearing house certificates. Mr. Johnson expressed the belief that there would be no further trouble with the banks.

ELEVEN SHOTS FIRED

And a Wronged Husband Is Killed By the Traducer.

Thursday night about 11 o'clock in Summerville, a suburb of Augusta, Ga., William Shinaul was shot and killed by Batly Buck, a boy 17 years of age. Mrs. Shinaul and Buck were suspected of improper relations, and were caught in an equivocal position by the husband. Eleven shots were exchanged. Buck is badly injured, but walked to the house of a friend half mile distant in his night clothes. He is liable to die at any moment.

CUBA AN ASH HEAP

And Insurgent Success Is Assured, Says Charles Roltaire.

Charles Roltaire, who has been serving in the insurgent army, has reached here from Cuba, says a dispatch from Jacksonville, Fla. He gives a thrilling account of raids made by insurgents on Manzanillo, Cienfuegos, Batabano and Bejucal. He says Cuba is now an ash heap, and that insurgent success is assured.

Another New Orleans Bank.

The Bank of Commerce, of New Orleans, La., closed its doors Friday, making the third bank to succumb in that city within a week. The Bank of Commerce was organized in 1887 with a capital stock of $100,000. William F. Nichols, nephew of Chief Justice Nichols, of the supreme court, is its president. There was a great crowd about the bank building shortly after the doors were closed. It is stated the doors were closed as a matter of precaution, there having been a run on the bank Thursday. Depositors, it is understood, will lose only little.

No Fusion in Mississippi.

The populist state executive committee, in session at Jackson, Miss., demanded one-third representation on the electoral ticket. The democratic committee, also in session, respectfully declined the same, having faith in their ability to give Bryan and Sewall the nine votes of the state by 40,000 majority. In the state election last fall the democrats polled over 50,000 votes and the populists about 17,000.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office of Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain.
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER.
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

Alternates—S. M. Adams of Bibb and Frank Baltzell of Montgomery.

The following district electors and alternates were chosen:

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile; alternate, J. M. Young of Choctaw.

Second district—W. S. Reese of Montgomery; alternate, J. S. Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour; alternate, J. O. Pinkard of Dale.

Fourth district—Thomas L Harvey of Calhoun; alternate, Thomas D Parsons of Talladega.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langsley of Tallapoosa; alternate, H. R. Robbins of Coosa.

Sixth district—H. B. Gaines of Walker; alternate, Jack Savage of Fayette.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall; alternate, Thos. W. Powell.

Eigth district—T. B. Bickley of Colbert; alternate, A. C. Nixon of Morgan.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb; alternate, Julius Davidson of Blount.

THE cotton market continues pretty steady at about the same figure, but we believe prices are bound to go higher.

CAPT. Goodwyn has been nominated by the Populists of the fifth district and we have no doubt will be re-elected. At present the only candidate opposed to him is the Democratic nominee, Willis Brewer. The Republicans held a convention at Wetumpka yesterday and made no nomination but appointed a committee of nine to select a candidate.

WE hope to see a good attendance at the mass meeting to be held at Clanton on Saturday when delegates to the district congressional convention will be elected. In this convention we think it advisable to say that in electing delegates the point should be made that they must attend the convention to which they are elected. It has become rather a common practrice of electing delegates who stay at home instead of fulfilling their duties. Let us elect a strong delegation and every man pledged to attend the convention next Tuesday at Calera.

THE Democrats of this district, who tried two weeks ago to agree upon their candidate for congress, made another attempt last Friday, and after casting ballot upon ballot, to the number of 1828, at 10:30 Saturday night managed to declare T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, their nominee. Mr. Plowman is president of the first national bank of Talladega, and is personally in favor of the gold standard, but as he wants to go to congress he accepts the nomination of silver (?) Democrats and promises to champion the cause of silver. We do not suppose there is any probability of Mr. Plowman representing this district, at all events in the next congress, or else it would be interesting to note how he would reconcile his gold-bug views to his silver instructions.

AT the special term of commissioners' court last week Mr. Alex G. Dake was appointed treasurer of Chilton county. Mr. Dake has made bond and taken over the books, etc., from Mr. Sampey. Mr. Dake has made his office in the store of Wilson & Bro., where he can be found at any time during business hours.

MAINE has gone Republican by an increased majorisy. Apparently Mr. Sewall's nomination has not favorably impressed the people of that State—and honestly we do not believe it has been cordially received in any State.

ON the fourth page of this issue we publish the full text of Mr. Bryan's letter of acceptance of the Democratic nomination. We hope soon to give our readers his letter of acceptance of the Populist nomination.

WE have received a circular from the headquarters of the People's Party at Washington addressed "To every American Patriot." As our readers well know a political campaign cannot be conducted without some expense and at the present time funds are urgently needed by the national committee. The circular concludes as follows and we commend it to the earnest consideration of our readers:

"This is your fight. It is our fight. Hold up our hands and we will do our duty in the terrible struggle. Don't wait for somebody else to move. What is everybody's business is nobody's business. Make this YOUR business. At once see several of your neighbors; try to get each one to contribute at least one dollar; if some cannot do this, then get each one to give as much as he can."

PAUL Vandervoort, president of the Industrial Legion has made the following statement:

"It was pledged at the St. Louis convention that if Bryan was nominated by the Populist convention Sewall would be withdrawn It was also represented that Senator Jones had Sewall's withdrawal in his possession. Weaver stated this to be true, and pledges were made to the Georgia and North Carolina delegates.

"The result was that Bryan polled more than 500 votes that he could not otherwise have received.

"In addition to that, it was understood that the Democratic organization had thoroughly reformed, and that it would give an honest ballot and a fair count in the South.

"The pretended Populists, or the office-seekers of Kansas, Nebraska and the mountain States, went home and sold Watson out in return for the indorsement of State and other nominees.

"In the South the Democrats have refused to give a single elector to the Populists of any State. In Texas, with 168,000 votes, in Georgia, with 97,000; in Alabama, with 85,000, and in Kentucky, with 20,000, they are ignored.

"We will not withdraw Watson. The infamous sell-out of the electors in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and other States will be resented.

"State conventions have been called in Illinois and Colorado to elect Watson electors.

"Kansas will be compelled to do this, and I believe as soon as the people find out that the whole ticket in Nebraska is slated for Sewall by the leaders, who simply want 'pie' there will be a revolt here."

CALL FOR MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting of the People's Party of Chilton county is hereby called to meet at Clanton on Saturday, September 19, 1896 for the purpose of electing delegates to the Fourth District Congressional convention and for the transaction of any business that may properly come before the meeting.

As the time is short it is requested that each Beat sends up good representative men to attend the meeting.

H. I. HONEYCUTT,
Chairman P. P.

CALL FOR CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The district convention of the People's Party of the Fourth congressional district is hereby called to meet at Calera on the 22nd day of September at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress from said District, and for the consideration of other matters that may properly come before the convention. The representation in said convention will be as follows:

Cleburn County,	6	Delegates.
Calhoun "	13	"
Talladega "	13	"
Shelby "	11	"
Chilton "	6	"
Dallas "	4	"

G. B. DEANS,
Chairman 4th District.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.

A conference committee of Populists and democrats in California have arranged for congressional fusion in all districts of the state. By the arrangement the following Populists are to have clear field: Clunie. Barlow and Cutler in the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh districts, respectively.

J. R. Thomas, People's party candidate for congress in the Seventh Missouri district, has proposed to his democratic opponent that the question of which candidate shall be withdrawn from the race shall be determined at a joint meeting of the democratic and People's party state committees.

The platform of the People's party of New York demands the initiative and referendum, a graduated inheritance tax by state law and a graduated income tax by national statute.

The silver republicans of Idaho, led by Senator Dubois, who bolted the national convention, having been shut out of representation on the fusion ticket selected by democrats and Populists, have nominated a straight state ticket.

M. W. Howard, author of "If Christ Came to Congress," has been renominated for congress by the People's party of the Seventh Alabama district.

Tom Watson will return to Georgia from his western tour September 25 and will speak in his own state every day until the November election.

The People's party national committee has decided that it will not recognize fusion in any state where there may not be an equitable proportionate division of presidential electors.

A letter written to Mr. Bryan by Sewall during the session of the People's party national convention has been made public by the democratic national committee: In the letter Mr. Sewall says: "My advices are that you have been nominated as candidate for president and Mr. Watson for vice-president. * * * Now I desire to say to you with the utmost frankness and good feeling that you must not allow any personal consideration for me to influence you in your action."

Fusion in Nebraska has been finally accomplished. The People's party secures four of the eight electors, all pledged to Bryan and Watson, and the entire state ticket with the exception of attorney general.

A full electoral ticket has been nominated by the People's party of Alabama.

G. B. Deans, of Shelby county, has been elected chairman of the campaign committee of the People's party of Alabama.

Chairman Butler and Secretary Edgerton, of the national executive committee, have made a strong appeal for one dollar campaign contributions, which should be sent at once to M. C. Rankin, Treasurer of the committee, Terre Haute, Indiana.

The New York World, a gold standard paper, makes the statement that the agents of Mark Hanna are at work in all the mills and factories in the country, trying to coerce the workers to support McKinley, and that gold standard arguments are attached to the pay envelopes given to employes.

A. H.

The State Alliance.

The following officers were elected last week at the annual session of the State Alliance held at Ozark.

J. O. Pinckard president, Dale county.

A. C. Whitehead vice-president, Butler county.

Jno. W. Jackson secretary-treasurer, Tallapoosa county.

J. H. Harris lecturer, Chambers county.

J. P. Oliver delegate to national Alliance.

Executive committee. R. A. Lee, chairman; W. S. Forman, J. M. Morayne.

J. W. JACKSON, Sec.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin. Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood; and a strong nerve-tonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

All kinds of furniture at lowest prices at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Lily Lyrics.

Still dry and dusty.

Miss Minnie Rasberry is visiting relatives at Stanton.

The infant of Mr. W. M. Wright died last Tuesday, being eight days old.

Messrs. Jeff Blankenchif and E. Cauley, of Coosa county, were here last week home seeking.

Several of our people attended the camp meeting at the Shelby Jones' place last week.

CLINT.

* * *

Five pounds of fine coffee for $1 at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $100 per bottle

* * *

Billingsley Bits.

Picnics are things of the past now—the long summer days are passing away.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Lula Parnell is lying very low.

The protracted meeting is going on at Big Springs church.

Miss Jennie Letcher returned home yesterday after spending several weeks with her sister. Miss Geneva Jones, Miss Mamie Letcher and Rich Letcher spent Saturday and Sunday in our town.

Mr. Frank Foshee's school closes to-morrow; we are sorry to know he is going to leave us.

Mr. J. F. Apperson spent last Sunday in West Chilton.

SUBSCRIBER.

* * *

Strasburg.

Navy blue and oil colored calicoes at 5 and 6 cents at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Mr. T. G. Williams one day last week on his farm near Strasburg came across and killed a rattlesnake which measured 3ft 6in and had ten rattles and a button.

A full line of general merchandise is carried, and we solicit your patronage, Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Teachers' Institute.

The Chilton county teachers' institute assembled at Collins' Chapel on Friday, Sept. 11th, 1896, Supt. J. W. Moore in the chair. Mr. J. D. Collins extended a cordial welcome to the teachers. After this address the teachers were all at home.

The regular program was taken up, the teachers who were present took great interest in the proceedings. Miss Ida Robinson read a very valuable paper on "Nature's Own Text Book." All who heard the paper commend the writer.

Prof. C. C. Slaton of Jemison, delivered the annual address to the teachers', a strong, earnest and faithful plea for education, long to be remembered by all who heard it.

The following resolutions were adopted, the first by a unanimous vote of both teachers and citizens.

RESOLVED by the teachers of Chilton county in Institute assembled, that our representative elect, L. H. Reynolds, be urged to advocate and use his influence for the proposed amendment to the constitution of the State, whereby a county may be authorized by law to lay a special tax for the benefit of common schools We further ask his aid for the promotion of any others measure tending to advocate the cause of education in Alabama.

WHEREAS the fourth and last county Institute has convened in regular session at Collins' Chapel, and

WHEREAS the teachers and visitors have been entertained in an exceptional manner by the citizens of this progressive community, therefore be it

RESOLVED 1 That the thanks of the teachers are due and are hereby tendered to the citizens and especially the good ladies for their kind hospitality.

2nd. That a copy of these resolutions be published in the BANNER together with the proceedings of this Instiaute.

J. ALEX MOORE, Sec.
Montevallo, Ala., Sep. 14, 1896.

Tax Assessor's Notice.
FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897:

	1896
Pletcher's mill	October 1
Kincheon	" 9
Albert Headley's store	" 3
Benson	" 5
Maplesville	" 6
Shoultz	" 7
Valley Creek church	" 8
Dixie	" 9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	" 10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm	" 10
Macedonia church	" 12
Providence church, Beat 2.	" 13
Elijah Busby's	" 14
Jemison	" 15
Mineral Springs	" 16
Strasburg	" 17
Clanton	" 19
Cane Creek	" 20
Maddox's mill	" 21
Gore's school-house	" 22
Calloway's mill	" 23
Maple Springs church	" 24
Davis & Rollins' gin	" 26
Coopers	" 27
Burwells	" 28
Mountain Creek	" 29
Verbena	" 30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Tax Collector's Notice.
FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

	1896
Shoultz	October 7
Valley Creek church	" 8
Dixie	" 9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	" 10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm	" 10
Macedonia church	" 12
Providence church	" 13
Elijah Busby's	" 14
Jemison	" 15
Mineral Springs	" 16
Srasburg	" 17
Clanton	" 19
Cane Creek	" 20
Maddox's mill	" 21
Gore school-house	" 22
Calloway's mill	" 23
Maple Springs church	" 24
Davis & Rollins' gin	" 26
Coopers	" 27
Burwells	" 28
Mountain Creek	" 29
Verbena	" 30
Kincheon	November 2
Maplesville	" 3
Benson	" 4

T. J. HUBBARD, TaxCollector.

The Montgomery weekly crop bulletin, under date September 15, makes the following report:

Cotton continues to open very rapidly and picking is being pushed, with many half grown bolls that will never mature. It is generally agreed that most of the crop will be gathered in the southern and middle counties by October 1, and it will be all out of the fields in the northerly counties by Oct. 15. There is still a general agreement on a very poor yield, falling far short of an average.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery: it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
Sept. 14, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry, No. 23,181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA } Probate
CHILTON COUNTY. } Court

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application.

You are, therefore, hereby, notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness this the 3d day of Sept., 1896.
R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBEING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

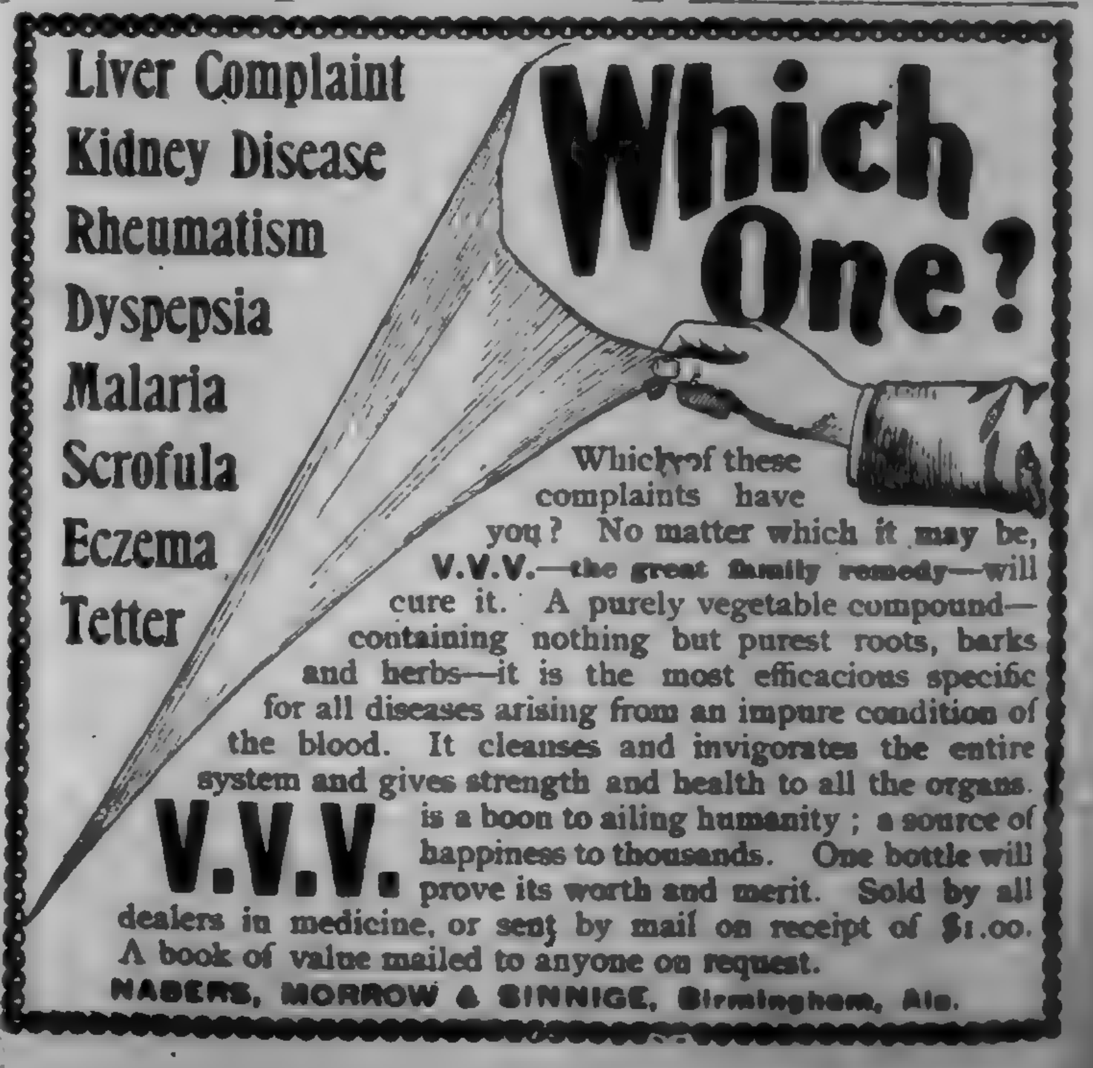
M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. LOWEST PRICES.

W. L. SAMPEY, CLANTON, ALA.



Liver Complaint
Kidney Disease
Rheumatism
Dyspepsia
Malaria
Scrofula
Eczema
Tetter

Which One?

Which of these complaints have you? No matter which it may be, V.V.V.—the great family remedy—will cure it. A purely vegetable compound—containing nothing but purest roots, barks and herbs—it is the most efficacious specific for all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood. It cleanses and invigorates the entire system and gives strength and health to all the organs. V.V.V. is a boon to ailing humanity; a source of happiness to thousands. One bottle will prove its worth and merit. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 7.55 cents.

Bales received to-date

Sampey	287
[illegible]	217
Wilson	43
	547

This Week: [illegible] doz suits over [illegible] pair shoes, 10 bolts cotton [illegible] doz suits underwear, 4 [illegible] domestic at cost at G. H. Green's store, Clanton.

[illegible]NAWARE CHEAP. Call [illegible] at the BANNER office.

[illegible] weather, or some[illegible] seems to have a pugna[illegible] effect upon some of the boys [illegible] Saturday evening there were [illegible] three scrimmages in town.

[illegible] is at home again.

Mr. W. H. Merritt has rented [illegible] residence and will move [illegible] early next week.

[illegible] about the $25 gold [illegible] to be given away at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

[illegible] of Montgomery, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. O. K. Bell, of this place.

Mr. W. L. Sampey, about October [illegible], will move into the house at present occupied by Mr. Merritt.

Mr. Evans Pinckard will set up [illegible] goods in the premises [illegible] by Mr. Sampey.

[illegible] of the workmen employed on the new court house will [illegible] their labors on Saturday [illegible]

Just received a lot of men's and [illegible] hats of the latest styles at [illegible] the times at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Mrs. Maumee Lanier, of Boice, Texas, and Miss Annie Maull, of [illegible], were the charming guests of Mrs. Dr. Stewart for a few days this week.

Mr. Bascom McMorries is [illegible] many friends in town this week.

The cheapest line of shoes in the county at Mooney & Woolley's, [illegible]

Marriage licenses have been [illegible] this week by the Probate [illegible] to the following persons: [illegible] J. H. Bradford and Mrs. [illegible] Hall; [illegible] George Lowe and Eliza [illegible]

Miss Nellie Merritt visited [illegible] city last week.

Dr. Joseph S. Johnson, Sr., accompanied by Miss Roberta Johnson and Dr. E. A. Matthews have gone to Washington to consult an eminent specialist in regard to the doctor's health.

Mr. H. A. Wilson, Republican nominee for congress, was in town Monday.

Married last Thursday at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr Lorenzo D. Popwell and Miss M. P. Stonecypher, Parson Dykes performing the ceremony. There was a good crowd of friends present and all unite with the BANNER in wishing the young couple a long and happy life.

Chancery court is in session to-day, Chancellor J. R. Dowdell presiding. There are several cases on the docket but none of any public interest. Messrs. Collier and [illegible] of Birmingham, Gunter and Rushton of Montgomery and Bow[illegible] of Talladega are the visiting attorneys.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,228.

[illegible] Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
August, 10, 1896. }

[illegible] is hereby given that the [illegible] named settler has filed notice of [illegible] intention to make final [illegible] in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before [illegible] of the Circuit Court, at C[illegible], Ala., on September 19th, 18[illegible] John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ [illegible] section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 e[illegible]

He names the following witnesses [illegible] continuous residence [illegible] cultivation of, said land, [illegible] B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dol[illegible] [illegible], Tom McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Administrator's Sale.

[illegible] by virtue of an order and [illegible] of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, [illegible] of the Probate Court of Chilton [illegible] I, Mary E. Gibbons, Administratrix of the estate of D. H. [illegible] deceased, will sell at public [illegible] to the highest bidder on the [illegible]

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896,

[illegible] noon, for cash, the following described real estate, belonging to [illegible] to wit:

[illegible] section 21 except the e1-2 of [illegible] ne1-4 and sw1-4 of se1-4 of [illegible] 21 e1-2 of sw1-4 and sw1-4 of se [illegible] and ne1-4 of sw1-4 of section 16 all in township 22 range 13.

MARY E. GIBBONS,
Administratrix of the estate of D. H. [illegible], deceased.

Ministers Should Use
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

THERE IS NO PROFESSION, whose labors so severely tax the nervous system, as that of the ministry. The derangement of the nerve centers of the brain by over work, frequently brings on attacks of heart trouble, and nervous prostration. -Rev. J. P. Kester, M. D., Pastor U. B. church, London Mills, Ills., himself a physician, writes Feb. 26, 1895: "Heart affection and nervous prostration had become so serious last fall that a little over work in the pulpit would so completely prostrate me that it seemed certain I must relinquish the work of the ministry entirely. Heart palpitation became so bad that my auditors would ask me if I did not have heart disease. Last November I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure alternately with Dr. Miles' Nervine and derived the greatest possible benefit. I have just closed revival work of 10 weeks, preaching nearly every night and twice on the Sabbath. I can speak for hours without suffering as I formerly did. Hard working ministers should keep Dr. Miles' grand remedies on hand."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE
WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18226.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
August 10, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz.: L. B. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Bearden, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18227.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
August 10, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on September 19th, 1896, viz.: Louis B. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼, section 10 tp 21 north of range 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John Ed Beardin, J. W. Worthy, Dolbey Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

United States Marshal's Sale of Valuable Real estate.

Under and by virtue of power conferred upon me by a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of the United States District Court, for the Middle District of Alabama, commanding me, that of goods and chattels, land and tenements of B. H. McCrary and B. F. Rasberry, to be made the sum of $300.00 with interest from the 28th day of May, 1896, together with all costs. I have this day levied upon the following described real estate as the property of B. H. McCrary, to-wit:

W½ of sw¼ sec 15 tp 22 r 12; sw¼ of se¼ of sw¼ sec 16 tp 22 r 12; ne1-4 of sw1-4 of sec 16 t 22 r 12; s½ of sw1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of se 1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13.

Also the following described real estate as the property of the defendant B. F. Rasberry, to-wit:

s½ of se¼ and ne1-4 of se1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13; nw1-4 of ne1-4 sec 19 t 22 r 13; s½ of se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, w½ of sw1-4 and s½ of sw1-4 of nw1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13; se1-4 of nw1-4 and w½ of ne1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13, lying and being in the County of Chilton and State of Alabama, together with appurtenances and improvements thereunto belonging and will proceed to sell the same at the Court House door in Clanton to the highest and best bidder for cash on the first Monday in October, being the 5th day, 1896.

This the 8th September, 1896.

W. H. TISDALE, United States Marshal
By J. A. DUDLEY, Deputy.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.
THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena. Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.
MADISON, INDIANA.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes, J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12. w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12. s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12. n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12. se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12. 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12. e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13. n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13. s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13. se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12. sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12. e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13. se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff

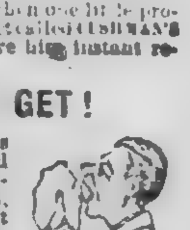
1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, a "sweat" foot bath starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old hundreds cough cure, these and over 900 other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold.

A man must be miserable indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache, unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!

He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, snuffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head and ears ache, and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Patient he must be to endure it all when for 50c. he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.



Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!

A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH

Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breathway passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.

DR. BROWNE.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

[Is not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?]

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

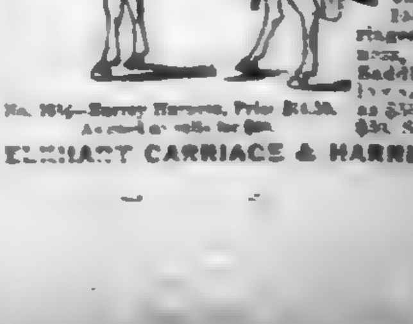
ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

Ripans Tabules: pleasant laxative.



WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 1[illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness, [illegible] styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $[illegible]. Phaetons as low as $[illegible]. Spring Wagons $[illegible] to $[illegible]. Send for large Catalogue.

No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness, Price $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

No. [illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.
CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST.
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

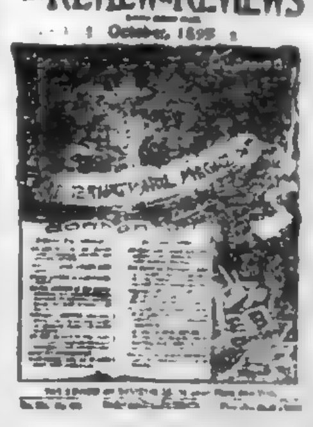
Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial.



"ALL THE MAGAZINES IN ONE."

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

FIVE MONTHS FOR $1.00.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION $2.50.

THREE RECENT SAMPLES 25 cents.

Agents find it the Most Profitable Magazine.

Sold on all News Stands. Single Copy, 25 cents.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
13 Astor Place, New York.

MEDICAL TREATMENT.

If you want the best expert and scientific treatment by the leading physicians and specialists of this country, consult only DR. HATHAWAY & CO., 70 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. All Chronic Diseases of men and women, Private, Skin, Blood and Nervous Diseases. Cases treated by mail all over the world by sending for Symptom Blank No. 1 for men, No. 2 for women, No. 3, Skin Diseases, No. 4 for catarrh. Best of professional and financial references, a legal guarantee given if necessary.

FREE 64-page Medical Reference Book for men and women who are afflicted with any form of private disease peculiar to their sex, contagious diseases, female troubles, etc. Send two 2-cent stamps to pay postage, to the leading Specialists and Physicians in this country.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO.,
Old No. 85, St. Charles St., Masonic Temple, New O[illegible]

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,

C. H. CHEATHAM.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE

FIRST-CLASS WORK

LOWEST PRICES

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Toleration is the highest virtue which civilization teaches. Not many of us are civilized. It is so easy and seems so proper when an extra wave of goodness sweeps over us to condemn some bad habit or seeming social evil. But we always condemn the other fellow's vice, not our own. The man who chews tobacco throws up his arms in holy horror when he sees his neighbor take a glass of beer. What a world this would be if only twenty of us had the power each to enact his favorite law restraining some fancied evil. How we would yank out the mote from his neighbor's eye.

Public opinion is gradually waking up to the value and utility of our forests and the necessity for their care and preservation. The mercantile value of the trees is not the only or the chief consideration, yet the destruction by incendiarism and carelessness amounts yearly to many millions of dollars in most of the Atlantic States. A writer in Scribner's Magazine declares that the yearly product of the forests of the United States is worth more than a billion of dollars, "or twice the value of the entire output of all the mines put together—gold, silver, coal, iron, copper, zinc and the rest."

Many an act of duty or self-sacrifice, at first sight supposed to be impossible, has, by continued contemplation, become so attuned to the disposition that it has been performed with ease and even with pleasure.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Company, printed near the bottom of the package. For sale by all responsible druggists.

The substitution of porcelain filling for gold or amalgam is the dream of the dental scientist.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

☞ Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your store of knowledge? You may not have $50 or $60 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopedia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopedia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts [illegible]

Never Once Failed.

"TETTERINE cured me of a very annoying case of itching piles in a few days. I have sold a good many boxes for the common [illegible] and it has never failed to cure. It is all that is claimed for it." T. L. BIRDSONG, Tallahatta Springs, Ala.

It cures all itches.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

Big teeth and square jaws are always found with low foreheads and small craniums.

Dobbins' Floating Borax Soap costs more to make than any other floating soap made, but consumers have to pay no more for it. It is guaranteed to be 100 per cent. pure and the only floating soap made of Borax. Wrappers in red ink.

Facial neuralgia is sometimes due to a dead tooth and may be cured by a dentist.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure for Consumption relieves the most obstinate coughs.—REV. D. BUCHMUELLER, Lexington, Mo., Feb. 24, '94.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

"You are a 'dead shot' on giving past and future." —R. H. Stephens, Quincy, Ills. Thousands testify the same way. Send date of birth and 10 cents for sketch of your life. A. C. THOMSON, Astrologer, Kansas City, Mo.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c a bottle.

St. Vitus' Dance. One bottle Dr. Fenner's Specific cures. Circular, Fredonia, N. Y.

Take

The best when you need medicine. For blood, appetite, nerves, stomach, liver, nothing equals

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

ENGINES FOR GINNING.

Most economical and durable. Cheapest and best in the market for cash. VARIABLE FRICTION FEED SAW MILLS AND STANDARD IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Send for catalogue.
A. B. FARQUHAR Co., Ltd.,
Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, York, Pa.

AGENTS, CLUBS Campaign supplies all descriptions; illustrated catalogue free; motto buttons for the millions; we send three samples for 10 cents; one dozen for 30 cents; 100 for $2.00; special prices for larger quantities; automatic campaign horn, "Genuine Hummer." Sample sent by mail 35 cents. General Manufacturing Company, 102 Fulton Street, New York.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs, Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of Information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

FOUNTAIN PEN FREE

And best agency position on earth. Send address and stamp to N. Y. IMPORTING Co., P. O. Box 1356, Dep't. A, New York.

$100 BICYCLE FOR $37.50

Write for Catalogue.
J. E. POORMAN, Jr.,
622 Race Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WANTED YOUNG MEN AND LADIES TO LEARN Telegraphy for positions on railroads [illegible] Dallas, Texas.

M[illegible] Paper with 500 ads and Photos many rich, free. J. W. [illegible], Toledo, O.

Am N U No 38, 1896

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

MR. BRYAN'S LETTER

Of Acceptance to the Notification Committee.

LEAN CUT, TERSE DOCUMENT

He Stands Squarely Upon Every Plank of the Chicago Platform and Discusses It Pointedly and Briefly—The Party's Position Very Clearly Put.

Lincoln, Nebraska, September 9—Mr. Bryan made public his letter of acceptance of the Democratic nomination today. Its full text is as follows:

Hon. Stephen M. White and other members of the Notification Committee of the Democratic Party.:

Gentlemen:—I accept the nomination tendered by you on behalf of the Democratic party, and in so doing desire to assure you that I fully appreciate the high honor which such a nomination confers and the grave responsibilities which accompany an election to the Presidency of the United States. So deeply am I impressed with the magnitude of the power vested by the constitution in the Chief Executive of the Nation and with the enormous influence which he can wield for the benefit or injury of the people that I wish to enter the office, if elected, free from any personal desire, except the desire to prove worthy of the confidence of my country.

Human judgment is fallible enough when unbiased by selfish consideration and in order that I may not be tempted to use the patronage of an office to advance any personal ambition, I hereby announce, with all the emphasis which words can express, my fixed determination not, under any circumstances to be a candidate for re-election in case the campaign results in my election. I have carefully considered the platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention and unqualifiedly endorse every plank thereon.

OUR INSTITUTIONS.

Our institutions rest upon the position that all men being created equal are entitled to equal consideration at the hands of the government. Because all men are created equal follows that no citizen has a right to injure another citizen. The main purpose of government being to protect all citizens in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, this purpose must lead the government, first, to avoid acts of affirmative injustice, and, second, to restrain each citizen from trespassing upon the rights of any other citizen. A Democratic form of government is conducive to highest civilization because it opens before each individual the greatest opportunities for development and stimulates to the highest endeavor by insuring to each the full enjoyment of all the rewards of toil, except such contribution as is necessary to support the government which protects him. Democracy is indifferent to pedigree—it deals with the individual rather than with his ancestors. Democracy ignores differences in wealth; neither riches nor poverty can be invoked in behalf of or against any citizen. Democracy knows no creed—recognizing the right of each individual to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, it welcomes all to a common brotherhood and guarantees equal treatment to all, no matter in what character or through what forms they commune with their Creator.

Having discussed portions of the platform at the time of its adoption, and again when its letter of notification was formally delivered, it will not be necessary at this time to touch upon all the subjects embraced in its declarations. Honest differences of opinion have ever existed and ever will exist as to the most effective means of securing domestic tranquility, but no citizen fails to recognize at all times and under all circumstances the absolute necessity for the prompt and vigorous enforcement of law and the preservation of the public peace. In a government like ours law is but the crystallization of the will of the people; without it the citizen is neither secure in the enjoyment of life and liberty, nor protected in the pursuit of happiness. Without obedience to law, government is impossible. The Democratic party is pledged to defend the constitution and enforce the laws of the United States and it is also pledged to protect and defend the dual scheme of government instituted by the founders of the Republic. The name United States was happily chosen. It combines the idea of national strength with the idea of local self-government and suggests "an indissoluble union of indestructible States."

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Our wise forefathers fearing the tendency toward centralization, as well as the dangers of disintegration, guarded against both, and national safety as well as domestic security is to be found in the careful observance of the limitations which they impose. It will be noticed that while the United States guarantees to every State a reform of government and is empowered to protect each State against invasion, it is not authorized to interfere in the domestic affairs of any State, except upon application of the Legislature of the State, or upon the application of the executive when the Legislature cannot be convened. This provision rests upon the sound theory that the people of the State, acting through their legally chosen representatives are, because of their more intimate acquaintance with local conditions, better qualified than the President to judge of the necessity for federal interfer- those who receive or disburse public money.

BONDS.

An increase in the bonded debt of the United States at this time is entirely without excuse. The issue of interest-bearing bonds within the last few years has been defended on the ground that they were necessary to secure gold with which to redeem United States notes and treasury notes; but this necessity has been imaginary rather than real. Instead of exercising the legal right vested in the United States to redeem its bonds in either gold or silver, the executive branch of the government has followed a precedent established by a former administration and surrendered the option to the holder of the obligations.

This administrative policy leaves the government at the mercy of those who find pecuniary profit in bond issues. The fact that the dealers in money and securities have been able to deplete or protect the treasury according to their changing whims shows how dangerous it is to permit them to exercise a controlling influence over the treasury department. The government of the United States when administered in the interest of all the people is able to establish and maintain its own financial policy, not only without the aid of any syndicates, but in spite of any opposition which the syndicates may exert. To assert that the government is dependent upon the assistance or good will of a portion of the people other than a constitutional majority, is to assert that we have a government in form, but without vital force.

NATIONAL BANK CURRENCY.

The position taken by the platform against the issue of paper money by national banks is supported by the highest Democratic authority, as well as demanded by the interests of the people. The present attempt of the national banks to force the retirement of United States notes and treasury notes in order to secure a basis for a larger issue of their own notes illustrates the danger which arises from permitting them to issue their paper as a circulating medium. The national bank note being redeemable in lawful money has never been better than the United States note, which stands behind it and yet the banks persistently demand that these United States notes which draw no interest shall give place to interest-bearing bonds in order that the banks may collect the interest which the people now save. To empower national banks to issue circulating notes is to grant a valuable privilege to a favored class, surrender to private corporations the control over the volume of paper money, and build up a class which will claim a vested interest in the national financial policy.

The United States notes, commonly known as greenbacks, being redeemable in either gold or silver at the option of the government, and not at the option of the holder, are safer and cheaper for the people than the national bank notes based upon interest-bearing bonds.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

A dignified but firm maintenance of the foreign policy first set forth by President Monroe and reiterated by the Presidents who have succeeded him, instead of arousing hostility abroad, is the best guarantee of amicable relations with other nations. It is better for all concerned that the United States should resist any extension of European authority in the western hemisphere rather than invite the continual irritation which would necessarily result from any attempt to increase the influence of monarchial institutions over that portion of America which has been dedicated to republican government.

PENSIONS.

No nation can afford to be unjust to its defenders. The care of those who have suffered in the military and naval service of the country is a sacred duty. A nation which, like the United States, relies upon volunteer service rather than upon a large standing army, adds to its own security when it makes generous provision for those who have risked their lives in its defense and for those who are dependent upon them.

THE PRODUCERS OF WEALTH.

Labor creates capital. Until wealth is produced by application of brain and muscle to the resources of this country, there is nothing to divide among the non-producing classes of society. Since the products of wealth create the nation's prosperity in time of peace and defend the nation's flag in time of peril their interests ought at all times to be considered by those who stand in official positions. The Democratic party has ever found its voting strength among those who are proud to be known as the common people, and it pledges itself to propose and enact such legislation as is necessary to protect the masses in the free exercise of every political right and in the enjoyment of their just share of the rewards of their labor.

ARBITRATION.

I desire to give special emphasis to the plank which recommends such legislation as is necessary to secure the arbitration of differences between employers engaged in interstate commerce and their employes. Arbitration is not a new idea—it is simply an extension of the court of justice. The laboring men of the country have expressed a desire for arbitration, and the railroads cannot reasonably object to the decisions rendered by an impartial tribunal. Society has an interest even greater than the interest of employes and has a right to protect itself by courts of arbitration against the growing inconvenience and embarrassments occasioned by disputes by those who own the great arteries of commerce on the one hand and the laborers who operate them upon the other.

IMMIGRATION.

While the Democratic party welcomes to the country those who come with love for our institutions and with determination and ability to contribute to the prosperity of our nation, it is opposed to the dumping of criminal classes upon our shores and to the importation of either pauper or contract labor to compete with American labor

INJUNCTIONS.

The recent abuses which have grown out of injunction proceedings have been so emphatically condemned by public opinion that the Senate bill providing for trial by jury in certan contempt cases will meet with general approval.

TRUSTS.

The Democratic party is opposed to trusts. It would be recreant to its duty to the people of the country if it recognized either the moral or the legal right of these great aggregations of wealth to stifle competition, bankrupt rivals and then prey upon society. Corporations are the creatures of law and they must not be permitted to pass from under the control of the power which created them; they are permitted to exist upon the theory that they advance the public weal, and they must not be allowed to use their powers for public injury.

RAILROADS.

The right of the United States Government to regulate interstate commerce cannot be questioned, and the necessity for the vigorous exercise of that right is becoming more and more imperative. The interests of the whole people require such an enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission as will enable it to prevent discrimination between persons and places, and protect patrons from unreasonable charges.

PACIFIC RAILROADS.

The government cannot not afford to discriminate between its debtors, and must, therefore, prosecute its legal claims against the Pacific railroads. Such a policy is necessary for the protection of the rights of the patrons as well as for the interests of the government.

CUBA.

The people of the United States, happy in the enjoyment of the blessings of free government, feel a generous sympathy toward all who are endeavoring to secure like blessings for themselves. This sympathy while respecting all treaty obligations is especially active and earnest when excited by the struggling of neighboring peoples, who, like the Cubans, are near enough to observe the workings of a government which derives all its authority from the consent of the governed.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

That the American people are not in favor of life tenure in the civil service is evident from the fact that they, as a rule, make frequent changes in their official representative when those representatives are chosen by ballot. A permanent office-holding class is not in harmony with our institutions. A fixed term in appointive offices, except where the Federal constitution now provides otherwise, would open the public service to a larger number of citizens without impairing its efficiency.

THE TERRITORIES.

The territorial form of government is temporary in its nature and should give way as soon as the territory is sufficiently advanced to take its place among the States. New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona are entitled to Statehood and their early admission is demanded by their material and political interests. The demand of the platform that officials appointed to administer the government of the territories, the District of Columbia and Alaska should be bona fide residents of the territories or districts is entirely in keeping with the Democratic theory of home rule. I am also heartily in sympathy with the declaration that all public lands should be reserved for the establishment of free homes for American citizens.

WATERWAYS.

The policy of improving the great waterways of the country is justified by the national character of these waterways and the enormous tonnage borne upon them. Experience has demonstrated that continuing appropriations are in the end more economical than single appropriations separated by long intervals.

THE TARIFF.

It is not necessary to discuss the tariff question at this time. Whatever may be the individual views of citizens as to the relative merits of protection and tariff reform, all must recognize that until the money question is fully and finally settled, the American people will not consent to the consideration of any other important question. Taxation presents a problem which in some form is continually present, and a postponement of definite action upon it involves no sacrifice of personal opinion or political principles; but the crisis presented by financial conditions cannot be postponed. Tremendous results will follow the action taken by the United States on the money question and delay is impossible. The people of this nation, sitting as a high court, must render judgment in the cause which greed is prosecuting against humanity. The decision will either give hope and inspiration to those who toil or "shut the doors of mercy on mankind."

In the presence of this overshadowing issue, differences of opinion upon minor questions must be laid aside in ence. Those who framed our constitution wisely determined to make an application of the principles of local self-government as circumstances would permit and we cannot dispute the correctness of the position taken by them without expressing a distrust of the people themselves.

ECONOMY.

Since governments exist for the protection of the rights of the people and not for their spoliation, no expenditure of public money can be justified unless that expenditure is necessary for the honest economical administration of the government. In determining what appropriations are necessary the interests of those who pay the taxes should be consulted rather than the wishes of order that there may be united action among those who are determined that progress toward a universal gold standard shall be stayed and the gold and silver standard of the constitution restored.

W. J. BRYAN.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

A Cartridge Substituted for a Dummy in Working a Hotchkiss Gun.

Charles B. Miller, a popular young member of the Lafayette artillery, naval reserves, was fatally shot by a comrade in the company's hall, at Charleston, S. C., about 9 o'clock Monday night. The company had assembled for a supper and while waiting for some guests the workings of the Hotchkiss cannon were being executed. A cartridge was accidentally substituted for a dummy, and Miller, who was standing near the gun, was pierced by a 44-calibre ball. Miller died in a few minutes.

WHITE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL OF ALABAMA.

A business education furnished young women free of cost, except living expenses. This school will open at Montevallo, Ala., on the 12th of October. A faculty representing the best talent in the south is now being selected. Professions taught which will make girls independent. We make teachers, artists, musicians, stenographers, typewriters, telegraphers, bookkeepers dressmakers and milliners. Other industrial branches will be added. A complete literary course furnished also. Total expenses for the entire session, $80. This includes tuition in all its branches, board, lights and fuel, laundry and medical bills and all ordinary text books used in the school. No incidentals, except a small fee for use of pianos to pupils taking instrumental music. Only $15 required to enter; balance monthly. Each county in the state is entitled to its quota of scholars between the ages 14 and 21 at the above named rates. They must be in good health and have fair primary education. Pupils in the different counties desiring the benefits of this school should make immediate application. Prospectus furnished on application.

H. C. REYNOLDS,
Acting President

EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Carefully Collated and Condensed for Our Readers.

AMBUSHED IN LAUDERDALE

T. S. Plowman Nominated by the Democrats for Congress in the Fourth District; Bullock Nominated in the Seventh—Suicide in Birmingham.

Balloted 1818 Times.

The democratic convention of the Fourth Congressional district, in session for several days at Shelby Springs, nominated T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, on the 1818th ballot, at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Bullock Nominated.

On the one hundred and fortieth ballot Hon. W. I. Bullock, of Franklin county, was nominated for congress by the Seventh district democratic convention at Gadsden Thursday morning. The contest was very close, Mr. Bullock winning by a majority of only one-eighth of a vote. Messrs. W. T. L. Cofer, of Cullman; P. H. Newman, of Winston, and L. L. Cochran, of DeKalb, were the only candidates who were placed in nomination, and Bullock came in as a dark horse. Hon. N. G. Canning, of Etowah, was made chairman of the district executive committee.

Ambushed in Lauderdale.

Ed Beheler, an ex-moonshiner, who has been acting as a spy for the revenue officers, was fatally shot this morning at Hines, in the northern part of the county, says a special from Florence of Wednesday. Beheler was shot from ambush as he rode along the road. He had incurred the enmity of the illicit distillers by aiding the officers, and his life has been often threatened. Frequent raids by the officers recently increased the feeling against the officers, and especially against Beheler, whom they regard as a traitor. For two years Beheler has been accompanying the revenue men on their raids, pointing out the haunts of moonshiners. He has often been a target for the moonshiner's rifle.

Suicide in Birmingham.

J. H. Edmunds, general agent in Alabama for the Union Casualty company, of St. Louis, Mo., was found dead in his room at 1810 Fifth avenue, Birmingham, Ala., at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday, and a gash from ear to ear made by a razor clutched in his right hand told the tale of suicide. Evidently from all surroundings, he had used much deliberation, and was bent upon making a clean job of it. He was dressed only in underclothing, which looked as if he had put it on for the occasion. Mr. Edmunds was reared in Memphis, Tenn., but came to Birmingham three years ago from St. Louis where his parents now reside, as the general agent for the Fidelity and Casualty company, with which company he remained until about one year ago, when he went with the Union Casualty company, of St. Louis. His business is said to have fallen off lately and this seemed to have given him more than a little trouble. It is supposed to have been the real cause of his suicide.

Alabama Steel.

Another test of steel making under the Hawkins process has been made at North Birmingham. The result is reported as altogether satisfactory. It will be remembered that this process of making soft steel was first tested at Hammond, Ind., several months ago.

The Messrs. Enslen, of Birmingham, became interested in the matter and induced Mr. Hawkins to come to Birmingham, saying they would organize a company and put up a fifty-ton plant. Mr. Hawkins accepted the proposition, the company was formed, the furnace built and the first attempt at steel making under the new process was made last Saturday. On account of a deficiency in the furnace the result of the first run was not satisfactory. The second run was better, and another run was made. Among those present was a representative of the Birmingham Rolling mills, who make a favorable report.

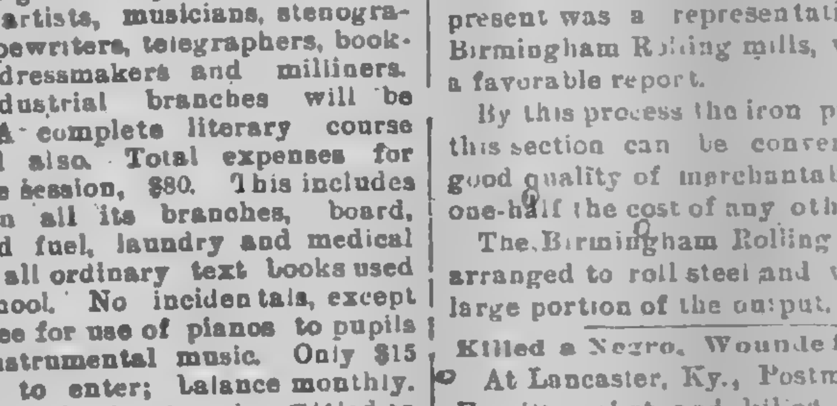
By this process the iron produced in this section can be converted into a good quality of merchantable steel at one-half the cost of any other process.

The Birmingham Rolling mills have arranged to roll steel and will take a large portion of the output.

Killed a Negro, Wounded a Judge.

At Lancaster, Ky., Postmaster J. O. Hamilton shot and killed Jim Knox, colored, and accidently wounded Judge R. A. Burnside in the court house Wednesday morning. Knox had quarreled with the postmaster about a loan and had a pistol in each hand. He snapped one and Hamilton began firing, killing Knox and wounding the judge, who was in the same line of fire.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,



KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?
(KEATING)—
KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured." 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A WOMAN HESITATES

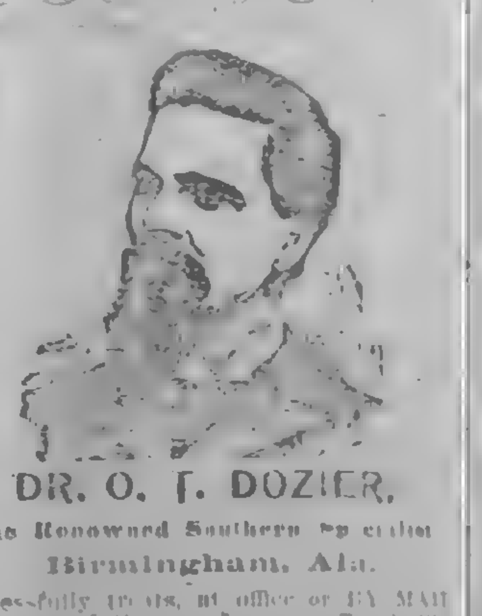
It isn't to be wondered at that there are so many sick and half-sick women. Most of them suppose their peculiar troubles can only be cured by the physician. That means local treatment and examinations. No wonder they hesitate. Any hesitation gives disease a stronger foothold.

The truth is that local treatment and examinations are nearly always unnecessary. They should not be submitted to 'till everything else fails.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

cures painful menstruation, irregularities, life-sapping drains, falling of the womb and flooding. It cures all the pains and troubles by making the feminine organs perfectly strong and healthy. [illegible] ficial to girls just [illegible] and to women [illegible] the period [illegible] "change of life." No need to [illegible] now. Cure can be had right at home.

SOLD AT $1.00 A BOTTLE BY DRUGGISTS.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

The Renowned Southern Specialist
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

[illegible]

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS

[illegible]

Address
DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

PATENT VARIABLE FRICTION FEED.
SAW MILL & ENGINE
[illegible]

$100 SALARY Per month. [illegible] work at good p[illegible]

RODS and Dip Cards [illegible]
Circ: P. & M. Agency, Box [illegible]

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

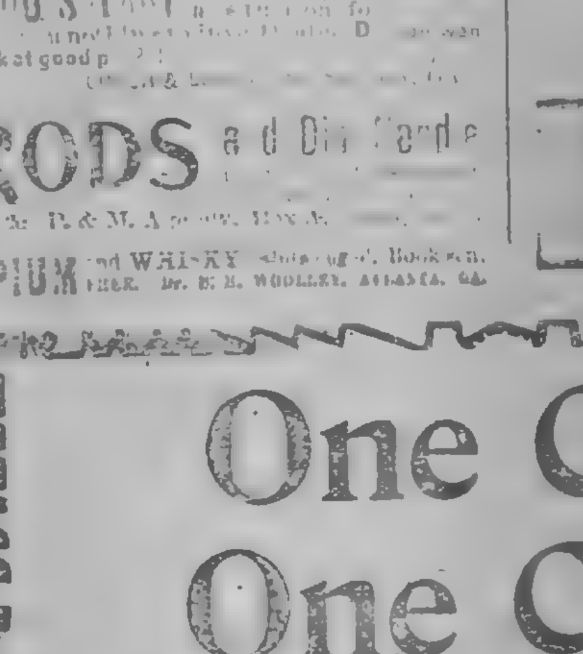
One Cup One Cent

Less than a cent in fact — and all Cocoa — pure Cocoa — no chemicals. — That describes Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Limited, - Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.



"Before and After Taking."

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA might well be the name of 520-page book sent post-paid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopedias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely Indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Croesus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1896. NO. 48.

Up and at them

Extortion is worse than repudiation.

... to principle—it is bound to ...

... has been produced by ...

... is a grand time to do effective ... work.

... not only a question of free sil... ... free men.

... was a better time to ... reform literature.

... sight of principle by run... ... the office-seekers and pie-...

... is recording a great ... against some of our states-...

... pie-eater for future refer... ... ought to be referred to the ...

... National Democratic party ... appropriately be called the ...

... so high that it has re... ... money question coming ...

... Cleveland's comptroller of the ... Mr. Eckles, supports the ... cratic ticket.

... don't somebody say something ... Grover. He is no longer men... ... even as a "spittoon."

... populist should support a politi... ... for office, no difference if a ... and conventions nominated him.

... the United States is an independ... nation why should it want to con... other nations as to its financial ...

The question as to what silver is ... is of much less moment than the ... of a larger volume of money in ...

... direct legislation in opera... ... and the people were allowed ... on it, they would soon settle ... silver question.

... patriotism that hired substitutes ... speculated off the necessities of ... Sam is not the kind of patriot... ... saved the nation.

... price of corn is lower now than ... been before for thirty-five years. ... we have the gold standard. ... the use to kick?

And now comes the report that a cel... rated New York chemist has discov... ed the process of making gold out of ... The goldbugs had better buy ... or kill the doctor.

Free coinage would give us a hun... dred-cent dollar, but we are willing to ... that the cents would not be as ... as they are at present, and it is the very thing we desire.

When the people once understand ... the banks have it in their power to precipitate panics and give the ... try "object lessons" in the way ... times, they will soon curtail ... power of the banks.

The plutocrats seem to think Bryan ... young for presidential timber ... need not lose any sleep about ... is old enough to be onto their ... and snatch them bald-headed if ... undertake to precipitate any pan... by a raid on the treasury.

Good money is money that will stay ... home and attend to its business, and ... go off to "Yurrup." The most pros... ... times this country ever knew ... the good old greenback days ... there wasn't a dollar of gold or ... in circulation among the people.

People who accumulate their for... tunes in money must do like those who ... them in property—take the ... chances of depreciation in value. It is ... risk which all have to take, and no greater consideration should be given ... money, notes and bonds, than to ... property.

The United States is the only govern... ... silly enough to undertake to fur... ... gold speculators gold for export. ... is no law to compel the secretary ... treasury to pay gold for treasury ... and if he would put out even ... per cent of silver on all such de... ... there would be no more raiding ... treasury for gold.

It is the ability to buy that makes ... demand for most things. When ... cannot obtain employment at re... ... wages they cannot get the ... money with which to buy, hence the ... demand for all commodities is less... ... and the prices fall. With plenty ... money in circulation labor is em... ... commodities are in demand, ... prices higher.

... the price of farm products is low ... we have hard times the farmer is ... that the cause of it is overproduc... ... if it happens to be a bad crop ... he is told that it is because he has ... to sell. So the farmer seems ... in pretty much the same condi... ... which the preacher ascribed to ... weather. He said it "couldn't rain ... it frosted, and couldn't frost un... it rained." If the farmer has some... ... to sell that causes hard times, ... if he hasn't got anything that's ... cause.

Don't get discouraged and above all don't give up the ship.

It is not so much of a silver craze as it is a gold craze.

Money redeemable "in coin" means bonds to buy the coin.

McKinley has accepted — almost everybody thought he would.

The truest patriotism is anchored in the homes of the common people.

Jefferson's antagonism to banks of issue lasted to the end of his life.

There is one Bill that the people will likely pass this year—Bill McKinley.

The time has come for the farmer to go into politics and go into it in earnest.

There may be lots of fun in brass band politics, but it don't pay anybody but the politicians.

The "sound money" democrats are doing all they can to elect McKinley, and as many of their own congressmen as possible.

The importance of the silver question is not nearly so important as that the people should win this fight against the usurers and corporations.

This is one of the times when the lines are fairly drawn. A "wayfaring man though a fool" can tell on which side the money power and the corporations are arrayed. Where are you, with the money power and the corporations, or with the people?

It isn't the tariff any more—free silver now is the cry. Don't be blinded by the dust kicked up by this question so that you can't see anything else. Don't allow it to accomplish the same purpose that the tariff question did. Drive the whole money question to the front.

It is not a question as to whether our debts shall be paid in so much silver or gold of a certain value, but that we shall pay them according to contract in coin dollars of equal weight and fineness as when the contract was made. There is no repudiation about that—it is in the bond.

If we would have 50-cent dollars under the free coinage of silver, then the price of silver would not be enhanced, for they are worth that now. And if the value of silver is not enhanced, how are the silver baron mine owners going to be made enormously rich, as charged by the goldbugs?

If a debt is made payable specifically in so many bushels of wheat, it requires that many bushels regardless of its value as compared with other commodities. Just so with a debt made payable in dollars of coin—that number of dollars will pay it whether of much or little value. Give Shylock his pound of flesh.

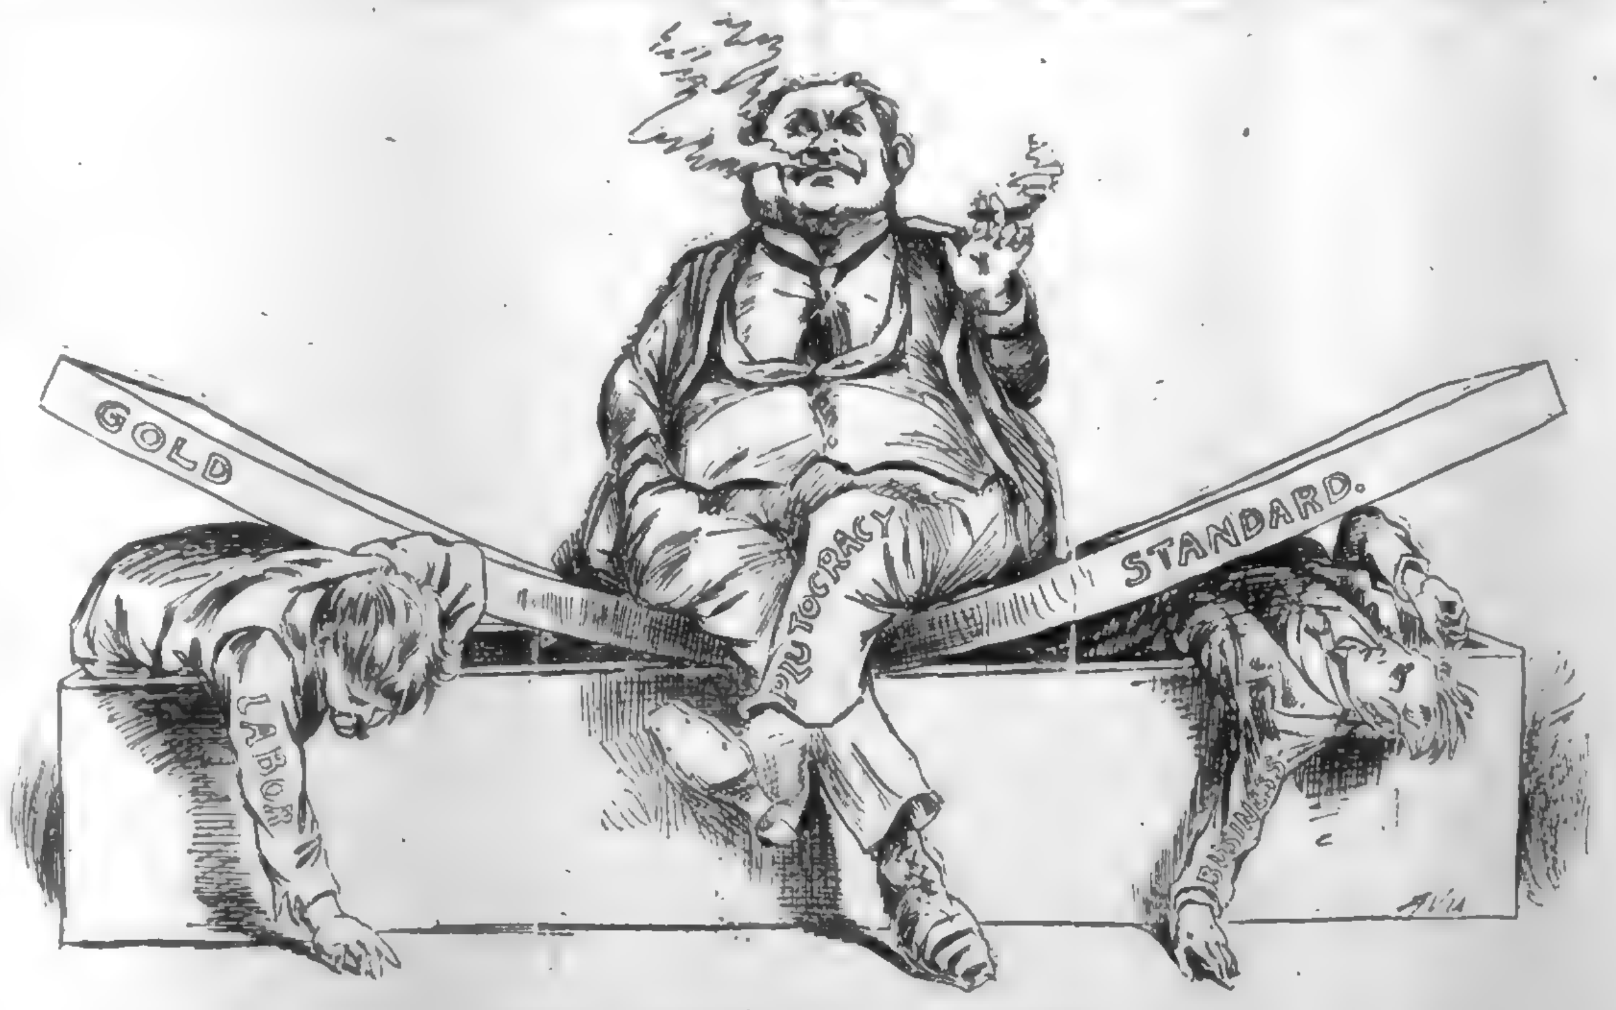
All this talk about repudiation is a sham. There is not a debt in existence, in the United States, unless specially named in the contract to be paid in gold, but what can be paid in 412½ grains standard silver dollars, and free coinage does not propose to take from that dollar a single grain of silver. Give Shylock his pound of flesh as designated in the bond.

If the people who hold life insurance policies would be swindled by having to take cheaper dollars the life insurance companies would certainly be the gainers thereby. If this is the case, why do they oppose the free coinage of silver because they say it will make cheap dollars? It looks like there was a "bug under the chip" somewhere. If the people would lose, somebody would certainly gain.

The most important phase of the money question is not how much silver the government shall stamp as money and whether it will do it free or not, but who shall control the currency of the country. Free silver will help us because it will give us more money, but all the silver that goes to the mints, or will go there in case of free coinage, would not be enough to more than supply the demand caused by increasing population and business, and should be supplemented by a government paper money.

Experience has shown that it is almost impossible to control railroads and fix rates through a board of commissioners. In hundreds of ways the companies thwart the efforts of the commissioners, frequently as a last resort appealing to the Supreme Court and having the action of the commissioners pronounced unconstitutional. The only way to control the railroads is to own them, or enough of them to compel the others to adopt reasonable rates by the competition thus afforded. Wherever the experiment of government ownership has been tried it has been a success.

With an increasing volume of money prices are constantly increasing, enterprise is stimulated, the wheels of industry are kept moving, and the wealth of the country is developed. With a decreasing volume of money, prices of commodities fall, the value of money increases and causes it to be hoarded, industry languishes, business is prostrated and bankruptcy ensues. The volume of money should be increased to keep pace with the increasing population and business of the country. As experience has shown that the banks won't do this, the government should do it.



The Crushing Effect of the Present Monetary System.

WILL COME TO US YET

THE GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

Shall the United States Attempt It—An Able Article from a Writer in the Philadelphia American—Sums Up the Situation.

Since the adjournment of the populist convention, and the adoption by that convention of a plank favoring the government ownership of railroads, there has appeared in the monopolistic press much unreasonable comment on this score. We have seen those who believe that the government should own and operate our railroad systems in the interest of the whole people, called demagogues and robbers. We have even seen those who advocate this socialistic step, believing that in no other way can unjust discrimination between persons and places in the matter of transportation rates be prevented, held up to scorn as anarchists.

Those who so loudly, but withal so ignorantly, deprecate the government ownership of railroads, would do well to fix their attention for a few minutes on the report of the committee of government ownership, control and regulation of railways, made to the national convention of railroad commissioners, held at the office of the interstate commerce commission at Washington on May 19 and 20 last. On this committee, which was appointed by authority of the convention held the year previously, served Hon. A. K. Teisberg, of Minnesota, Isaac B. Brown, of Pennsylvania, S. O. Wilson, of North Carolina, J. C. Allen, of Nebraska, and Olin Merrill, of Vermont. Two reports were submitted to the convention, a minority report by Mr. Wilson of North Carolina taking decided grounds in favor of government ownership, and the report of the majority, which was somewhat tentative, the members of the majority recognizing the evils of overcapitalization and arbitrary discriminations in the matter of rates, recognizing government ownership not only as a feasible, but perhaps the only possible remedy, and yet hesitating to advocate such ownership.

But the fact that the majority of the committee were evidently prejudiced against government ownership gives their report even more weight than it would otherwise carry. Listen, in part, what they had to say:

"That the government has the right to acquire the railroads of this country by purchase, at a fair valuation, no one will dispute.

"It is only a question of expediency and policy. In a republican form of government such as ours, it is not expedient nor good policy to invade or appropriate fields of industry for the simple gain there might be in it.

"Our government has assumed control over the waterways of the country for the benefit of all the people; large sums of public money are annually expended to maintain the usefulness of such waterways, in the interest of commerce, but the government does not build vessels to enter into competition with its citizens in the carrying trade. If railroads could be used in the same manner as are the waterways, there could be no question, perhaps, that the government would have exercised the same control over them as it has over waterways; but from the nature of railroad business this is not practicable. Hence, if the government should assume the ownership of the railroads, it would necessarily also have to own and operate the equipment; in other words, do the whole railroad business.

"While it may be true that some of our people desire government ownership of railroads for the money they believe there is in it, doubtless other and better reasons influence the majority who are in favor of this scheme.

"One of these better reasons is aptly expressed in the last annual report of one of the members of this committee —Mr. Brown of Pennsylvania—as follows:—'Our people have little to complain of from the common carriers, except on the question of discriminations on this subject, if they would be true to the interests of those they serve. Government ownership of railroads is a most questionable scheme, in a republic at least, and yet if discriminations are to continue, if favoritism of such a character as to enrich some and ruin others is to be practiced, the transition period of railways to government control is not so remote as some imagine.'

"In the opinion of this committee, the sentiment in favor of government ownership of railroads is due, not only to the practices of discriminations between persons and places, but also to the over-capitalization of railroads, and the delay under our present system of adjudicating controversies between the railroads and their patrons.

"Among the objections to government ownership of railroads are the cost of them to the government, and the consequent increase of the public debt, and also that it would create a vast field of political patronage, and consequent corruption.

"As to the first objection, the cost of the railroads, we believe this government is amply able to assume that burden. This government could borrow money cheaper than private individuals or corporations; but very little money would, perhaps, be needed; the present owners would doubtless be glad to exchange their stocks and bonds for those of the United States, whereby they would be assured of a fixed income. We fail to see in what respect the public would be saddled with any additional burden; the people of this country are expected to and are willing now to pay rates that will give a fair income on the cost of the railroads, and that is all they would have to do under government ownership.

"As to the question of political patronage and corruption, we believe that the matter could be guarded by proper civil service rules and safeguards whereby this evil could be obviated; in fact, it is generally believed that under even the present system, the railroads take quite a hand in politics and political patronage.

"We believe under government ownership labor troubles on the railroads would be less frequent, if not cease entirely, to the great advantage of the employees, the railroads and the public."

Lofty Argument.

A perusal of the calm and dispassionate gold bug papers reveals the fact that they have described the silver men at various times as follows:

Bunco steerers.
Anarchists.
Fools.
Communists.
Rogues.
Socialists.
Cranks.
Populists.
Dervishes.
Repudiationists.
Thieves.
Fagins.
Jacobins.
Pirates.
Demagogues.
Adventurers.
Loafers.
Humbugs.
Hobos.
Frauds.

There are only a few epithets left and these will soon be gone. It may be that the Eastern press regards this sort of thing as argument, but we feel some curiosity to know whom it expects to convert by it. After calling a man all the choice names in an exuberant vocabulary, how can you say to him, "Now let us sit down and reason together?"

If the Eastern press has any legitimate arguments to address to the reasoning faculties of the people, it had better bring them out of the mental locker. Abuse is only a cover for deficiency of minds. Epithets only serve to reveal a lack of argument. Here is a great economic issue to be debated before the people, an issue not necessarily involving passion, which ought to be susceptible of calm and impersonal argumentation; yet the "sound money" people of the East are bringing to its elucidation the serenity of the fish wife and the eloquence of Dennis Kearney."—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

"And to this string of epithets may be added:

Idiots.
Fanatics.
Soreheads.

Which, like tender morsels, have delighted more than one Southern gold bug editor in the virulent abuse of the "silver cranks." To be villified by the Eastern press, which has little sympathy for the South, and is limited to dollars and cents, is not strange, but the Southern "silver cranks," "idiots," and "fanatics," have expected better at the hands of publishers and editors of newspapers claiming recognition from the people upon whom they rely, somewhat, for support, but while we disapprove abuse, we would not, if we could, raise a finger to suggest a change in the tone of any Southern newspaper whose editor can villify his friends and neighbors because they do not conform to his views and opinions on political and other questions. Let the abuse proceed and become aggravated, since it gives strength to the "silver craze" and assures the success of "the idiots" and "the fanatics."

CAN'T DENY IT.

Constitution Says that the Government Alone May Issue Money.

Minneapolis Argus: In compliance with the request of a number of our readers we publish in serial form extracts from the constitution of the United States and undisputed authorities on this question, to be followed as space permits, by the coinage laws.

The following is a true copy of the constitution of the United States giving congress the power to coin money:

Article 1, section 8, says: "The congress shall have power

"To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

"To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

"To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

"To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

"TO COIN MONEY, REGULATE THE VALUE THEREOF, AND OF FOREIGN COIN, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

"To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

"To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States or any department or office thereof."

In addition to the constitution we quote authorities no one will attempt to gainsay, as follows:

Tiffany on Constitutional Law, chapter 12, section 400, page 221, says: "There is legally no such a thing as gold or silver money or paper money. Money is the sovereign authority impressed on that which is capable of taking and retaining the impression. That upon which the stamp is placed is called coin. The coin may be metal, parchment, or paper; the value is in the stamp and not in the metal or material."

Judge Martin says in his work, "The Money of Nations Historically and Legally Considered": "Money is made by law and law only. That law often demonetizes that which has been made money regardless of the material out of which it is coined."

Sir James Stewart says: "It is a scale of equal parts invented to measure the respective value of things vendable."

Attorney General Acherman says: "It is not a substance, but the impress of authority, a printed legal decree."

Kellogg says: "It is a legal existence, made a national representative of property."

Postal Savings Banks.

Nothing but the selfishness of the banking interests of this country has prevented the adoption of the postal savings bank system in connection with the postoffice department.

The Canadian government has maintained postal savings banks ever since 1866. A year or so ago Canada's 5,000,000 of people had $25,000,000 of deposits in those banks.

Six years ago the deposits of the people in England's postal savings banks amounted to more than $325,000,000. We have no later figures at hand.

The people's party is the only organization which has indorsed this plan in national convention. Postmaster General Wanamaker urged its adoption during his stay in the cabinet, but the banking influence was too strong for him.

Nevertheless, the financial welfare of the plain, common people, the working men and working women, demands that they be given an absolutely safe place of deposit for their surplus earnings.—Nevada Director.

FOR FREE COINAGE.

HOW IT WILL BENEFIT THE WORKING MAN.

Labor Not Receiving One Half as Much in the United States Today as It Would Under Free Coinage—Single Standard Means Serfdom.

If prices of commodities are cheap they cannot be produced with dear labor. But it is said that wages in some of the manufacturing and railroad industries of the country are as high to-day as ever. This is not true. But suppose it were true; it would not answer the question. The trades unions have been remarkably successful in resisting reduction of wages, but they have utterly failed in keeping the people employed. There are at least three millions of willing hands which are now idle in the United States. Those who have employment are either working on short hours or short days in the week, so that the aggregate paid in the manufacturing and railroad industries to labor is certainly less than one-half the amount that would be paid to labor if prices were firm, so that enterprise could prosper. If falling prices continue it is only a question of time when wages of labor must come down to correspond with other things.

This is not all. One-half at least of the labor in the United States is expended on farms, which has paid the farmers nothing in the last twenty-three years. Their farms are not worth 50 cents on the dollar what they were when silver was demonetized, and they are still declining. Farm products have so declined that they are on an average below the cost of production.

The people have borrowed money to pay taxes and other necessary expenses until the farms are mortgaged and tenant farmers are increasing in a geometrical ratio, and it is only a question of a short time if prices continue to fall when independent farmers must disappear, and the peasant system of Europe must be established here. We assert without fear of contradiction that labor is not receiving one half as much in the United States to-day as it would under free coinage. We admit that an individual who has a job that will last him for life, of which he cannot be deprived by his employer or by the bankruptcy of the concern for which he works, can buy more with his dollar than he could if silver was remonetized and prices should regain their normal condition. But if he is a humane man, and contributes his money to the suffering people about him, he will find that what he receives will do him and his family less good than it would if the country was prosperous and the great mass of labor was employed. We know that the goldites appeal to laboring men who have a job and tell them they can buy more with their money than they could if prices were restored and the community generally were allowed to prosper, but they do not call attention to the millions out of employment and the growing army of tramps or the bankrupt farmers, who are being driven from their homes. In short, they fail to call attention to the fact that civilization is decaying on account of the increasing purchasing power of money. They do not suggest to the laborers that the fate which has befallen others will certainly overtake them, that want of employment will drive them into the ranks of the tramps or the unemployed. They do not appeal to labor in good faith. They attempt to appeal to the prejudices of the laboring men for the benefit of one hundred and fifty thousand millions of obligations which they hold against labor. In other words, they appeal to the laboring men to vote to increase the value of money, decrease the value of property and labor, and enslave mankind. Contraction which produces falling prices if continued will bring the same result it always has. Serfdom and slavery is the inevitable fate of the American people if they do not join the forces of reform and rebel against goldocracy.—Silver Knight.

Referendum in England.

Did you ever think that England has a sort of a referendum? When the government fails to command a majority of the house of commons the prime minister and cabinet resign, parliament is dissolved, and the question or questions at issue are referred to the people in the new elections. As a consequence, England is making more progress toward government by the people, and justice toward the masses than we are. They already have government telegraph, government savings banks, etc., and we, too would have them without further delay if we had any way to get the expression of the voters on these questions. Why can't we have a way?

We have had many "boodle" congresses, "boodle" legislatures and "boodle" city councils that should have been dissolved. But no; we elect a man for a certain term; and all the legal powers in the country can't get him out until his term expires.

Here is where the imperative mandate comes in. It gives the people the power to recall any public officer at any time in the following way: Any constituent may, at any time, draw up a document demanding the removal of said officer. When this document is signed by a majority of voters in the territory which elected such officer his office shall be declared vacant. It can be filled again by appointment or by a new election. Shall we have it?—Dr. C. F. Taylor, in The Medical World.

Giving the people relief by piling on more taxes is like piecing a dog's tail to make it shorter.

CAUSED BY LIGHTNING.

Eight Thousand Bales of Cotton Burned in Massachusetts.

A cyclone from the west struck New Bedford, Mass., early Saturday morning, dealing out destruction on every hand and perhaps death in one instance.

There was an immense number of minor accidents, trees uprooted, etc., but soon after daylight a particularly severe burst caused damage of more serious import. About 6:30 o'clock a huge bolt of lightning descended from a cloud of inky blackness upon the big cotton shed of the Bennett Mills, and imperilled nearly 8,000 bales of cotton of high grade and long staple. It took the firemen three hours to get the mad blaze subdued and in all about 2,500 bales, valued at upwards of $100,000, were injured. Much of this damage will be offset by proceeds of the sale of the damage in the cotton, but it will still be a heavy loss. It is generally insured. The cotton house was destroyed and involved a loss of perhaps $6,000.

In the midst of the mill fire and cyclone burst there was a terrific wind and a torrent of rain. The crowd near the mill fire ran for shelter and about twenty of them found it in a new building at the corner of Coggeshall and North Front streets. No sooner were they entered than the wind took up the building, raised the roof high, and the whole structure fell with a crash. By a miracle all but one of the crowd in the building escaped. It was Zoel Levigney, a French Canadian, who had run in for shelter. He was pinned down by heavy timbers, his spine was injured several ribs were broken and he was internally injured. His recovery is doubtful.

RYAN AND GOBER.

A Lively Scrap on the Streets of Atlanta Between Them.

Judge George F. Gober, one of the most prominent Judges in Georgia, was assaulted in Atlanta Monday afternoon by Stephen A. Ryan, formerly the leading dry goods merchant of Atlanta.

Ryan used a riding whip, in the handle of which was a small piece of iron. Judge Gober was in the act of boarding a train for his home in Marietta. He says that he was struck from behind. Ryan says that he touched the Judge on the shoulder first, attracted his attention and struck him when he turned around. Judge Gober defended himself with an umbrella, and the two men fought for a minute in the street where the Judge was standing as the train was passing.

Ryan inflicted three severe blows on the Judge's face and head, and the Judge's umbrella raised a lump on his assailant's forehead.

Five years ago Judge Gober sent Ryan to jail for contempt of court in failing to turn over to a receiver $100,000 which the court thought he had withheld from his assets. Ryan remained in jail for thirteen months. Mr. Ryan says that the attack today was not made because of the Judge's official action, but because he was informed that the Judge had referred to him as a d—d scoundrel in a recent conversation.

:0:

WON THE LEGAL FIGHT.

After Six years of Litigation Knoxville, Tenn., Beat the Railroad.

After six years of litigation the city of Knoxville won a suit brought against the Mayor and Board of Aldermen for $225,000 by the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap & Louisville railroad. The amount was voted to the said road in bonds upon completion of the line. The city claimed that the road had not met its contracts, and refused to issue the bonds. The railroad brought suit in the Chancery Court and won.

An appeal was made to the Supreme Court, which decided in favor of the railroad company, as it had the stock ready to issue, and the Clerk and Master was directed to ascertain this fact. He reported in favor of the railroad. Since that time the Chancery Court of Appeals has been established. The case was argued before this court about a year ago. While the suit was pending the railroad offered to compromise for the principal, deducting about $50,000 and interest. The city refused the proposition and won the case by an opinion rendered by Judge J. M. Barton, of Chattanooga. It will now go to the Supreme Court for confirmation or reversal.

:0:

AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS.

Mrs. Floretta W. Walker, daughter of Ex-Governor Wells, of Virginia, has begun divorce proceedings in a court at Palmyra, N. Y., against Jas. T. Walker, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, and asking for a limited divorce. The couple were married at Washington, D. C., in 1878, and are the parents of nine children. Mrs. Walker was at the time of her marriage prominent in Washington society. Mr. Walker was a wealthy inventor at the time, but has met reverses. They occupy a large mansion near this village on what is known as the "Walker tract."

:0:

IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE.

Oliver W. Winthrop, of San Francisco, who was convicted of abducting and robbing James Campbell, the Hawaiian millionaire, was sentenced to imprisonment for life Monday morning.

:0:

FINLEY ASSUMES CHARGE.

W. W. Finley, the new second vice-president of the Southern railway, assumed charge of the traffic and transportation department of the company in Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., a Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

4th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
FOR CONGRESS
W. F. ALDRICH

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers, and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile.

Second district—Lawrence S. Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour.

Fourth district—Thomas L Harvey of Calhoun.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langsley of Tallapoosa.

Sixth district—H. P. Gaines of Walker.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall.

Eigth district—T. B. Bickley of Colbert.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb.

HEADQUARTERS of the Fourth Congressional District campaign committee is at Calera.

IF the Montgomery Journal was to let up on the Advertiser for a few minutes it would probably find time to revise its list of members of the legislature and get it correct.

REPUBLICANS in the fifth congressional district have decided to support Capt. Goodwyn for congress. This leaves the race between Capt. Goodwyn and the Democratic nominee, Willis Brewer, and in spite of probable Democratic frauds means a comparatively easy victory for Goodwyn.

THE Prohibitionists have called a meeting to be held in Montgomery October 1, for the purpose of nominating an electoral ticket on the Prohibition national platform. If this is done it probably means no less than five electoral tickets—Populists, Silver Democrats, Gold Democrats, Republican and Prohibitionists. The Lord help the voters.

CHILTON county is to be congratulated upon now possessing one of the most elegant and finest court houses in the State. This morning the architect has approved the work and the county officials will move into their new quarters next week. The bill is paid and we have no bonded indebtedness to meet in the future. The wisdom of the course pursued by the county commissioners in raising the necessary funds by a special tax instead of issuing bonds is apparent and is now appreciated by those who opposed the plan.

IT affords us much pleasure to again place the name of Hon. W. F. Aldrich before our readers as the Populist nominee for congress from this district. In the last session of congress Mr. Aldrich made a decidedly favorable impression which we have no doubt will be considerably enhanced on his re election. There is no man in this district more acceptable to Populists, and in fact a large majority of the white voters, than Mr. Aldrich, and we confidently predict his election by a largely increased majority. Vote for Aldrich is now the cry until the November election.

Minutes of the Fourth Congressional Convention.

CALERA, Ala., Sept. 22, 1896

The Convention was called to order by Chairman G. B. Deans, who named Jno. W. Pitts, of Shelby, as temporary chairman, and Frank Crichton, of Chilton, and M. D. Ivey, of Talladega, as temporary secretaries.

Major Pitts, on taking the chair, briefly addressed the convention.

On motion of J. A. Edwards, of Talladega, the chair appointed a committee of five on credentials and permanent organization.

On motion of Judge Campbell, of Shelby, the chair appointed a committee of five on order of business.

Committee on credentials and permanent organization reported, recommending the temporary organization be made the permanent organization. The report was unanimously adopted.

Committee on order of business made their report which was unanimously adopted.

On motion of M. D. Ivey the chair appointed a committee of five on platform and resolutions.

The committee made the following report:

We, the Populists of the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama, in convention assembled, declare and resolve as follows:

Resolved 1st, That we endorse the recent platform of principles adopted by the People's Party convention at St. Louis.

2nd, That the elective franchise is the priceless heritage of American citizenship. Upon its exercise and honestly counting it as cast by the people, depends the safety and perpetuity of our republican form of government. Destroy the ballot and you destroy the form of government under which we live, and any subversion of the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box is revolution pure and simple. Knowing that this has been unblushingly and daringly done in Alabama, we demand a free ballot and an honest count; and we demand the re-establishment of a republican and constitutional government in this State.

3rd, We favor a justly laid protective tariff that will build up and develope American industries, American commerce and American homes, that will protect the farmer and wage earner whether he be on the farm, in the workshop or in commercial pursuits and will produce sufficient revenue for the needs of the government economically administered. We condemn the introduction of pauper labor from foreign countries and of prison labor of our own country in competition with free American labor.

4th, We demand in doing for other nations what they do unto us, making mutual concessions for mutual benefits.

5th, We demand financial reform and the abolition of national banks as banks of issue. We believe the general government should issue sufficient, full, legal tender money for the needs of the people, upon a per capita basis, increasing with the increase of population. We demand bimetalism and condemn the single gold standard as impracticable. We condemn the sale of bonds in times of peace to maintain a system of finance the ultimate result of which is a contraction of the currency, lower wages, lower pricos for commodities, greater debts and greater taxation.

Resolved, That this convention heartily endorses the course of our Congressman, W. F. Aldrich, in congress, and especially commend him for his efforts in behalf of the Industrial School for Girls, located at Montevallo, Ala., and urge that he continue his efforts in that behalf.

Resolved, That we, the Populists of the 4th Congressional District, in convention assembled this 22nd day of Sept., 1896, heartily endorse the action of our State Executive Committee in placing a Populist electoral ticket in the field, and pledge our loyal support of same.

The report was received and unanimously adopted.

The next order of business was the nomination of a candidate for congress.

T. L. Harvey, of Calhoun, addressed the convention, and placed in nomination the name of Hon. W. F. Aldrich, of Shelby. M. D. Ivey seconded the nomination. No other nominations were made, and by a rising vote Mr. Aldrich was unanimously declared the nominee.

On motion the chair appointed a committee of five to notify Mr. Aldrich of his nomination and to escort him to the hall.

Mr. Aldrich was introduced to the convention amidst great applause and made an address of some length reviewing the political situation and accepting the nomination with pleasure.

J. A. Bingham of Talladega made a motion that a committee of one from each county be selected to form the executive committee. The following were declared to be chosen:

I. E. Watson, Calhoun, chairman; John C. Hollingsworth, Talladega; H. I. Honeycutt, Chilton; John W. Pratt, Shelby; W. J. Gilmer, Dallas; W. D. Gray, Cleburne.

A motion was made and carried that the candidate for congress and the elector for this district select a campaign committee and also headquarters and then on motion the convention adjourned sine die.

The campaign committee is as follows: G. B. Deans, Chairman; Geo. R. Mason, Dallas; Jno. W. Pitts, Shelby; L. H. Reynolds, Chilton; J. A. Bingham, and J. A. Edwards, Talladega; K. S. Woodruff, Calhoun.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.

J. R. Sovereign, master workmen of the Knights of Labor, has established a campaign labor bureau in Chicago in the interest of free silver. One hundred speakers will be placed in doubtful territory.

In the Fifth Indiana district all the friends of free silver have united in the support for congress of Dr. John C. Ridpath, the eminent historian.

September 14 William J. Bryan was formerly notified by letter of his nomination by the People's party, by Senator W. V. Allen and the notification committee. The same day a letter of notification was forwarded to Thos. E. Watson by Chairman Marion Butler, acting for the vice-presidential notification committee.

Gen. John C. Black, nominated for governor by the goldbug democrats of Illinois, has declined to make the race and is expected to announce himself for Bryan.

In the Twenty-second Illinois congressional district the People's party has agreed to support the democratic legislative tickets in return for the support by the democrats of John J. Hall, the Populist candidate for congress.

A complete Bryan and Watson ticket has been nominated by the People's party of Kentucky.

Grover Cleveland, by letter, has declared for Palmer and Buckner.

The coal companies of Indiana are printing goldbug arguments on the pay envelopes of employes.

The republican state convention of Texas gave a committee plenary powers to effect fusion with the People's party and the sentiment of the convention was in favor of giving the Populists the entire state ticket and six electors for Watson.

Bryan has formally accepted the nomination of the National Bi-metallic party.

Senator Teller will stump for Bryan in Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, and Dubois will speak in California, Oregon and Washington.

The People's party of the Fourth congressional district of Missouri has made C. F. Cochran, the democratic candidate, its nominee.

Senator Jones, chairman of the national democratic committee, has announced that Vice President Stevenson will take the stump for Bryan.

The Maine election resulted in an increase of the republican plurality to 50,000. Bath, the home city of Sewall, the vice presidential nominee, gave a republican majority, as did also Sewall's ward.

The People's party of the Third Alabama district have nominated E. C. Jackson for congress.

The republican state convention of Nevada declared for free silver.

T. V. Powderly, ex-master workman of the Knights of Labor, who has announced himself for the gold standard was jeered off the stage at a recent mass meeting of workman at Cooper's union, New York City.

A. R.

Your Cough,

like a dog's bark, is a sign that there is something foreign around which shouldn't be there. You can quiet the noise, but the danger may be there just the same. SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil is not a cough specific; it does not merely allay the symptoms but it does give such strength to the body that it is able to throw off the disease.

You know the old proverb of "the ounce of prevention?" Don't neglect your cough. A book which will tell you more on the subject sent free on request.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil. Put up in 50 cts. and $1.00 sizes.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

All kinds of furniture at lowest prices at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Pilgrim's Rest.

The health of this community is good at present.

Cotton gathering will soon be over and the bulk of it be sold.

The district meeting of the 4th district will convene at Pilgrim's Rest, Friday before the 4th Sunday in September.

Prof. F. M. Foshee's school closed on the 12th, inst., and the majority of the patrons are well pleased and will recommend him anywhere as a teacher.

M. P. CHANDLER.

* * *

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told that I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

* * *

Lily Lyrics.

We had a light shower of rain last Monday night which cooled the air very much.

Mr. Geo. Mims' arm was caught in the gin last week and was cut in several places, though not seriously hurt, as he is ginning this week.

Sheriff Cooley moved to Clanton last Wednesday.

Mr. J. S. Wright has rented his place and will move in soon.

Miss Fannie Rasberry has returned from a visit to Maplesville.

Miss Ollie Mae Garner is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. Goodwin, of Maplesville.

There will be song service at Mulberry next Sunday at 8:30 o'clock.

Prof. B. D. Wilson, of Stanton, was here last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. W. J. Fleming's new dwelling is near completion.

CLINT.

* * *

Strasburg.

Navy blue and oil colored calicoes at 5 and 6 cents at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

A full line of general merchandise is carried, and we solicit your patronage, Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

The Silver Question.

A falling market means prostration, panic, paralysis; the downward trend of prices is the path to industrial perdition; the upward slope of rising values is the plain road back to energy and life, the way out of Darkest America into the light of prosperity. This giant evil, falling prices, is caused by contraction of the currency, or by increase of business and changing conditions of production unbalanced by a due expansion of the currency. The salvation of rising prices can be secured by increasing the volume of the currency. Gold has caused or permitted a falling market, and carried the nation far on the road to — Hades.

For thirty years we have had falling prices with consequent oppression of debtor, depression of business, and industrial disaster. The train of events has been running to destruction. Free silver will reverse the lever, inaugurate a rising market, afford a just relief from overweighted debt, and stimulate commerce, manufactures and agriculture to new activity. The first silver dollar coined will buy as much as a dollar does now. Silver will rise to $1.29 an ounce; no one will sell it for less than that sum minus the expense of sending it to the mint, because he can have it coined into that at the mint. This increase in value to be gained by minting silver will bring large amounts of the white metal into circulation. The consequent growth of the currency volume will raise prices 10, 15, perhaps ultimately, 20 per cent, relieving debtors and developing business with an energy unknown in this country since the period of the war. This is the heart of the silver philosophy.—Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston University, in October Arena.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

Miss Gertrude Woolley has treated her friends to a most enjoyable entertainment.

Miss Susie McGee has been visiting Mrs. Martin of this place.

We are glad to say Mr. Adams' sick family are all convalescing.

Mr. Brown of Randolph is visiting friends here.

Mr. Walter Bowline, who has been visiting relatives here, has recently recovered from a severe attack of fever.

Mrs. N. A. Goodwin has been entertaining Misses May and Carline Goodwin, of Selma, and Miss Ollie Garner, of Lily.

SUBSCRIBER.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897:

	1896
Fletcher's mill	October 1
Kincheon	" 9
Albert Headley's store	" 3
Benson	" 5
Maplesville	" 6
Shoultz	" 7
Valley Creek church	" 8
Dixie	" 9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	" 10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm	" 10
Macedonia church	" 12
Providence church, Beat 2	" 13
Elijah Busby's	" 14
Jemison	" 15
Mineral Springs	" 16
Strasburg	" 17
Clanton	" 19
Cane Creek	" 20
Maddox's mill	" 21
Gore's school-house	" 22
Calloway's mill	" 23
Maple Springs church	" 24
Davis & Rollins' gin	" 26
Coopers	" 27
Burwells	" 28
Mountain Creek	" 29
Verbena	" 30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

	1896
Shoultz	October 7
Valley Creek church	" 8
Dixie	" 9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	" 10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm.	" 10
Macedonia church	" 12
Providence church	" 13
Elijah Busby's	" 14
Jemison	" 15
Mineral Springs	" 16
Srasburg	" 17
Clanton	" 19
Cane Creek	" 20
Maddox's mill	" 21
Gore school-house	" 22
Calloway's mill	" 23
Maple Springs church	" 24
Davis & Rollins' gin	" 26
Coopers	" 27
Burwells	" 28
Mountain Creek	" 29
Verbena	" 30
Kincheon	November 2
Maplesville	" 3
Benson	" 4

T. J. HUBBARD, TaxCollector.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cure by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00

The fusion arranged by the Populist state committee of Iowa has been endorsed by the state convention of the party.

The democrats and the People's party of Pennsylvania have fused on the electoral ticket, the Populists securing four electors.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
Sept. 14, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry, No. 23,181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA } Probate
CHILTON COUNTY. } Court

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application,

You are, therefore, hereby notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness this the 2d day of Sept., 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
—LOWEST PRICES.

[illegible] AT

W. L. SAMPEY,
CLANTON, ALA.

Don't Groan

over the aches and pains of rheumatism any longer. Drive the disease from your system with V. V. V., the wonderful blood purifier, and cure for rheumatism. V. V. V. is purely vegetable, containing nothing but the highest curative properties of roots, barks and herbs. It is so harmless that it may be given to a child, yet so efficacious that it cures diseases of many years standing.

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a sure specific for all forms of blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, malaria and dyspepsia. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00.

A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

[illegible], MORROW & [illegible], Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 7.25 cents.

Bales received to-date:

S[illegible]	446
M[illegible]	280
W[illegible]son	80
	806

CHINAWARE CHEAP. Call and see it at the BANNER office.

Miss Roberta Johnson returned home last Monday night, leaving her [illegible] in Birmingham.

Inquire about the $25 gold watch to be given away at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

The University school opened the [illegible] with a large number of students. There are several boarding pupils this session.

Squire Adams has been on a visit to his mother at Florence, Ala. He returned last Tuesday morning.

Mr. Chas. Duke, of Anniston, Ala., visited his father here this week.

[illegible] Moore moved yesterday into his new residence three-quarters of a mile south of town.

Mr. Henry Honeycutt is home again after a most pleasant trip to [illegible].

Mrs. Middleton returned home Tuesday from Springfield, Tenn., where she has been attending her bereaved daughter Mrs. F. W Denty is visiting relatives in Birmingham.

Mr W. M Martin living near [illegible] church was unfortunately [illegible] out last week.

Mr W. H. Foshee having completed his business engagement in Birmingham is at home again.

The cheapest line of shoes in the county at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Dr. Matthews has returned from his trip to Washington

Sheriff Cooley moved his family yesterday into the official residence at Clanton.

Yesterday morning about half past ten an alarm of fire was raised at McKee's gin and every man in town promptly proceeded there with buckets. Thanks to the large number of volunteers and a plentiful supply of water the fire was very quickly extinguished. It appears to have originated by a match having been carelessly dropped among some cotton igniting in the blower. Fortunately but little damage was done, Mr. McKee estimated it at less than five dollars.

A double wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Perry McGee at Stanton on Wednesday morning when Mr. Wm. T. Callen of Clanton and Miss Mary Phil McGee of Stanton were happily united and Mr. Wm. G Parker of Columbiana and Mrs. Emma A McGehee were made one, Dr. Teague of Columbiana performing the dual ceremony. We extend congratulations to the happy couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Callen arrived home Wednesday night and all Clanton cordially welcomes them.

Five pounds of fine coffee for $1 at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg

At the solemn hour of midnight last Sunday a youthful couple whose two hearts beat as one came riding into town accompanied by several friends, and disturbing the peaceful slumbers of the Probate Judge's household besought the services of Mr. Henry Honeycutt, who, ever anxious to oblige, at once came down to the office, issued the license to Mr. Marion W. Glasscock and Miss Viola Avery and then made them man and wife.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. J. H. Bradford and Mrs Mollie Hall; Mr. Marion W. Glasscock and Miss Viola Avery; Mr. Wm. G. Parker and Mrs. Emma A. McGehee; Mr. Wm. T. Callen and Miss Mary Phil McGee; Mr. W. F. Martin and Miss Alice Fox

The court house is now completed and all lovers of the decorative art should especially notice the fine work done by Mr. W. W. Moore in the painting and decorating line. This is probably the best piece of painting anywhere in Chilton county. Anyone desiring to secure the services of Mr. Moore can find him here the rest of this week and afterwards by addressing him at Anniston, Ala.

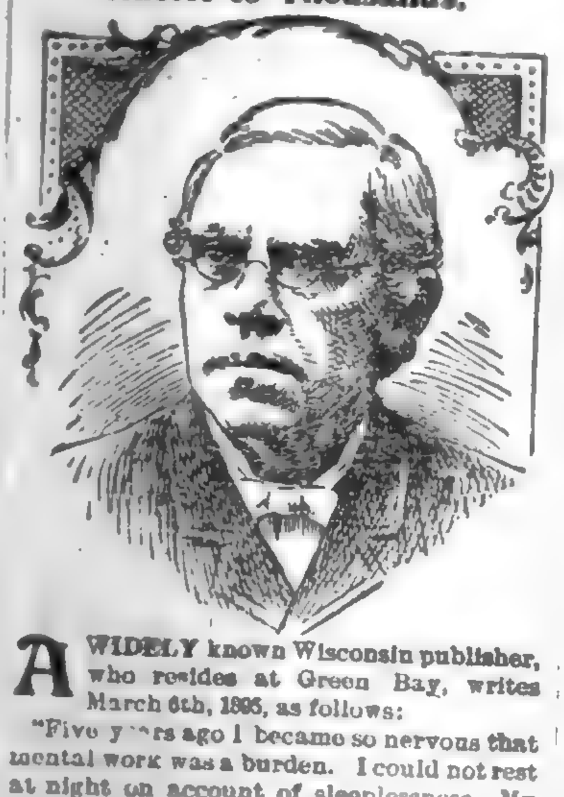
The annual meeting of the Mulberry Baptist Association is being held this week at New Salem church near Strasburg.

At the meeting last Saturday the following were elected delegates to the congressional convention at Calera: H. I. Honeycutt, Frank Crichton, L. H. Reynolds, W. H. Conway, Ben. H. Wells and J. A. Logan.

Just received a lot of men's and boys' hats of the latest styles at prices to suit the times at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."



A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1896, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Editor and proprietor of DER LANDSMAN.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 23,179, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se ¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

[illegible]RITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE:

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

United States Marshal's Sale of Valuable Real estate.

Under and by virtue of power conferred upon me by a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of the United States District Court, for the Middle District of Alabama, commanding me, that of goods and chattels, land and tenements of B. H. McCrary and B. F. Rasberry, to be made the sum of $300.00 with interest from the 28th day of May, 1896, together with all costs. I have this day levied upon the following described real estate as the property of B. H. McCrary, to-wit:

W½ of sw¼ sec 15 tp 22 r 12; sw¼ of se1-4 of sw1-4 sec 16 tp 22 r 12; ne1-4 of sw1-4 of sec 16 t 22 r 12; s½ of sw1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of se 1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13.

Also the following described real estate as the property of the defendant B. F. Rasberry, to-wit:

S½ of se1-4 and ne1-4 of se1 4 sec 18 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of ne1-4 sec 19 t 22 r 13; s½ of se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, w½ of sw1-4 and e½ of sw1 4 of nw1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13; se1-4 of nw1-4 and w½ of ne1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13, lying and being in the County of Chilton and State of Alabama together with appurtenances and improvements thereunto belonging and will proceed to sell the same at the Court House door in Clanton to the highest and best bidder for cash on the first Monday in October, being the 5th day, 1896.

This the 4th September, 1896.

W. H. TISDALE, United States Marshal
by J. A. DUDLEY, Deputy.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena.
Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years In Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness. 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.

No. 3[illegible]—Surrey Harness. Price $16.50. As good as sells for $25.

No. 1[illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12 s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1 4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,354.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, Mary E. Gibbons, Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder on the premises, on

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896,

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate, belonging to said estate, to wit:

N1-2 of section 21 except the e1 2 of e1-2 of ne1-4, ne1-4 and sw1 4 of se1-4 of section 20, s1-2 of sw1-4 and sw1-4 of se 1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 of section 16 all in township 22 range 13,

MARY E. GIBBONS,
Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

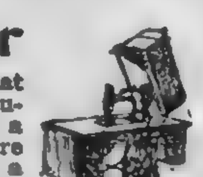
THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

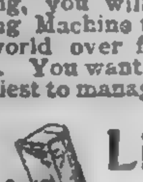
GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular



for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera, daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Sim- ons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

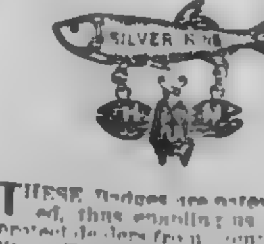
THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is that Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

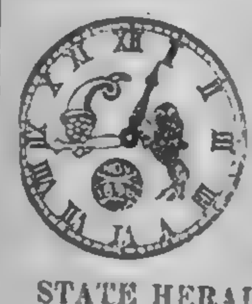
On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

[illegible] dispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, and [illegible] Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840. [illegible]—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILI- [illegible]—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.— [illegible]—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS.— [illegible] STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOW- [illegible]—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.— [illegible] SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH [illegible]—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.— [illegible]—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.— [illegible]—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.— [illegible] CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASES. [illegible]—NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.— [illegible] AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR [illegible] OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY [illegible] OF PREGNANT WOMEN.— [illegible]—YELLOW JAUNDICE.— [illegible]—BAD COLDS.— [illegible] APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN [illegible] FEEL TOO HEAVY.—CRAMP [illegible]—PALENESS.—WEAKNESS.— [illegible] OF HEAT.—GENERAL [illegible]—NERVOUS [illegible] UP OF FOOD AFTER EATING [illegible]—GNAWING [illegible]—THAT [illegible] SO COMMON WITH [illegible] MOTHERS AND FATHERS & [illegible] THE ACTION OF [illegible]

[illegible] MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS [illegible]

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!





THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. [illegible] Big profits for agents. Samples [illegible]. For [illegible] address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEP'T
Birmingham, Al.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheels. Yours truly,

C. H. CHEATHAM.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE

FIRST-CLASS WORK

LOWEST PRICES

P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.
J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.
W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.
DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.
JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.
Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

THE STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, TROY, ALA.

This college is supported by state and Peabody fund appropriations for the training of teachers and is not a mere "Preparatory School" for some other, but is of college grade in every way, as a teachers' training school should be, and grants college degrees and diplomas, and its graduates receive state certificates for two, four and six years, or for life, from the state superintendent of education of Alabama, and these are the strongest testimonials of professional worth to a teacher. Indeed, the graduates of this college are in great demand as teachers and the college authorities take great pleasure in answering requests for trained teachers sent in by school authorities from all over Alabama and adjoining states.

It will be seen from the Normal Exponent that students desiring the usual college course may get it here at very low expense, too. Board is but $8 to $10 per month and tuition and incidentals low.

Persons desiring information as to this college or wishing to secure a good teacher should write to Dr. E. R. Eldridge, president, at Troy Ala., for the Normal Exponent explaining every thing.

The crown of the Czar of Russia is very old, but it is a comparatively modern bauble compared to the tiara of Saitapharnes, which was worn about the time of Aristotle, four centuries before Christ. It is in perfect preservation, and has recently been acquired by the French government for the Louvre. The tiara was evidently made to be worn on a cap, its dimensions being too small to permit of its covering the entire head. The tiara was found in an ancient tomb in the Crimea. It bore in Greek the following inscription: "The Senate and people of Olbiopolis to the great and unconquered King Saitapharnes."

Magnets as Harbor Defenses.

A well-known scientific expert has conceived the idea of magnetizing large bodies of iron, such as worn-out cannon, by means of a powerful electric current and using them to protect seaports from belligerent battleships. A wire leading from the shore to the cannon would communicate that current when it was needed, and as soon as an enemy's ironclad attempted to cross the harbor bar the current would be turned on. As the ship steamed over the invisible magnets the two nearest cannon would rise and cling to the vessel with such force as to stop her entirely.

Who will invent an instrument that can estimate the depth of water under a ship without taking soundings? The disaster to the Drummond Castle has awakened interest in the problem, which Sir William Siemens once tackled and for which he devised an instrument called a bathometer. It was exceedingly delicate, and made very sensitive to the earth's attraction, showing a varying record as a ship passed from deep to shallow water, and vice versa. But it was never perfected. One of the difficulties Sir William Siemens encountered was the disturbing effect of continental attraction. Now, however, in this age of the impossible made possible, it would seem that our inventors could have no nobler incentive than to prevent such a catastrophe as happened to the Drummond Castle.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials free. Address

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

WRENS, GA.

J. T. SHUPTRINE.

Sir:—"Having obtained a box of your TETTERINE of Hunter & Wright, of Louisville, Ga., which I used on a case of itching piles of five years' standing. I spent $50 for different kinds of remedies and the skill of doctors, all for no good, until I got the TETTERINE. I am now well. Accept thanks." Yours,

W. R. KING.

By mail for 50c. in stamps.

A man capable of conquering habitual indolence cannot be a feeble character.—Maria Edgeworth.

If Dobbins' Electric Soap is what so many insist that it is, you can not afford to go without it. Your grocer has it, or can get it, and you can decide for yourself very soon. Don't let another Monday pass without trying it.

When any one has offended me, I try to raise my soul so high that the offence cannot reach it.—Descartes.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—MRS. M. G. BLUNT, Sprague, Wash., March 8, '94.

"You are a 'dead shot' on giving past and future."—R. H. Stephens, Gaines, Mo. Thousands testify the same way. Send date of birth and 10 cents for sketch of your life. L. C. THOMSON, Astrologer, Kansas City, Mo.

Great

Sales naturally result from the great merit which makes thousands of wonderful cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

FLORIDA LANDS—$100 will buy land enough for a farm. Lake Grove City, [illegible] One mile from [illegible] miles from Gulf of Mexico. [illegible] natural [illegible] with [illegible] necessary for [illegible] New, [illegible] farm in this, the coming section of the South Gulf Coast. Address with stamp D. W. Aritbe, Grove City, Florida.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand-book of information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

WANTED YOUNG MEN AND LADIES TO LEARN Telegraphy for positions on railroads. DALLAS TEL. GRAPH COLLEGE, Dallas, Texas.

MARRIAGE Paper with 300 ads and Photos many rich, free. J. W. Gunnels, Toledo, O.

Am. N.U. No. 39 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

OUR OWN STATE.

The Latest News of Interest From Our Neighbor Towns.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Report of the State Weather Service.—Cotton Opening Rapidly and Picking Being Pushed.—Furnace Blows in at Bessemer After a Year's Idleness.

The following is issued from the State Weather Service at Montgomery:

The weather over this section during the week ending September 14 was a continuation of the hot and droughty conditions of the previous five weeks; the day temperatures were very high, which have about exhausted the moisture from near the surface of the ground, leaving nearly all, except very lowlands as dry as a bone.

Very light and scattered showers occurred during the week, and the drought remains practically unbroken in the greater part of the State.

Creeks are drying out and water for stock is being hauled in many localities.

Cotton continues to open very rapidly and picking is being pushed, with many half grown bolls that will never mature. In reply to direct inquiry, our correspondents generally agree that most of the crop will be gathered in the southern and the middle counties by October 1, and that it will be quite, if not all, out of the fields in more northerly counties by October 15. There is still a general agreement on a very poor yield, falling far short of an average.

Corn gathering continues with no improvement in yield, which is poor and there is some complaints of weevils damaging corn in the field. Cane will also be a short crop, except in the southern tier of counties which received rains a short while ago, where the yield will be fair. Sweet potatoes and all minor crops are poor to fair, and will all be gathered from three to four weeks in advance of the average season. Turnips are dying after they come up, and no fall planting can be accomplished until we have a general rain.

STRIKE AT AMERICA.

The strike of the miners at America is still on. Dissatisfaction with the doctor is said to be one of the causes, though it is said that the agitation for "no commissaries and a pay day every fortnight" will be added.

FURNACE BLOWN IN.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railway Company has blown in its No. 2 furnace at Bessemer, after nearly a year's idleness, during which time the furnace has been thoroughly repaired and overhauled. The Tennessee Company now has four large furnaces in blast at Bessemer, producing 700 tons of pig iron daily.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Samuel Pledger was arrested last Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Cole and Jones, and brought to the county jail of Jefferson county, where he was incarcerated to await trial on the charge of the murder of Samuel McDaniel, whom he is said to have killed on the Cahaba river some months ago. It appears that the arrest was made as the result of an investigation by the grand jury.

AT THE POINT OF DEATH.

Maj. Bolling Hall is reported to be at the point of death at his country home at Robinson Springs, in Elmore county. He has for many years been prominent in the business, political and social affairs of the State. Major Hall is the only surviving member of the delegation from Alabama to the Democratic National Convention of 1856, which nominated Buchanan.

ARSENIC BY MISTAKE.

Mrs. David Levy, wife of a prominent merchant of Selma, Ala., took arsenic by mistake Wednesday evening and had a narrow escape from death. She was taking two prescriptions of arsenic of four drops and the other a desert spoonful. She took a spoonful of the former, and noticing an odd feeling soon thereafter, discovered her mistake. A doctor was telephoned for, and by vigorous work and the use of a stomach pump saved her life.

THEY BEAT A CONDUCTOR.

William Lowry, white, and Neal Fennelly and John Cocoa, black, of whom the oldest is but 23, while the youngest, Lowry, is but 19, were attempting to beat their way east over the Georgia Pacific division of the Southern at a late hour Wednesday afternoon. The conductor found them when near Weems Station, Ala., and ordered them off the train, whereupon they jumped upon him and beat him severely, injuring him, it is thought, fatally. His calls for assistance soon brought others of the train crew and the men were put off.

DEMOLISHING TOLL GATES.

The free turnpike mob destroyed five toll gates Saturday night and three last night, says Monday's dispatch from Springfield, Ky. These two raids only leave five gates standing in Washington county, the raiders having destroyed forty-three in all. Saturday night the mob rode up to the Tick creek pike gate while it was guarded by twelve men. The leader of the mob was ordered to take his men away or go to jail. The mob then leveled shotguns at the guards and forced them to surrender. The mob forced the guards to cut the gate down, and drove them back into town. Two of the raiders, Joes Settles and Charles Milner, were in court today on the charge of destroying toll gates, but nothing could be proven against them and they were discharged.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

The Wyman will case, in the Boston courts for some time, has been settled out of court, and there will be no contest over the bequests of about $1,000,000 to public charities.

THE NEWS POLITICAL.

Interesting Dispatches About Politics and Politicians.

BRYAN AT BALTIMORE.

A Big Demonstration in the Monumental City.—Opening of the Palmer-Buckner Campaign at Lexington.—McKinley Receives 10,000 Callers in One Day.—Fusion in Kentucky.

William J. Bryan presented his views on the financial and other questions of the campaign to the people of Maryland, in Baltimore, Saturday night. The welcome he received was a demonstration of such magnitude as Baltimore never before witnessed, says the Associated Press dispatches from that city. How many thousands heard and saw the "boy orator" cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy, but there was no mistaking the feeling of harmony that existed between speaker and listener nor the partisan zeal which gave excessive evidence of unbounded loyalty to the cause of silver . . .

Notwithstanding Mr. Bryan arrived in the city in a downpour of rain, he was greeted by a big crowd at the station, and when he reached the little stand erected in the center of the tion and when he reached the little plaza fronting the Mount Royal avenue entrance to Music Hall, he looked into the faces of at least 20,000 persons, who stood in the rain cheering his appearance.

For forty minutes Mr Bryan was attentively listened to by the great crowd and frequently cheered. Then he went into Music Hall and addressed another audience numbering more than 5,000 which had meantime been entertained by Representative McMillan, of Tennessee.

The two speeches were made necessary by the fact that it early became apparent that there was no hall in Baltimore large enough to accommodate all of those who were anxious to hear the Chicago nominee, and it was therefore arranged to have an outdoor to precede the indoor exercises.

The outdoor meeting was a free-for-all affair. Everybody without regard to race, distinction or previous condition, was entitled to see and hear Mr. Bryan, provided he or she started early enough. The climatic conditions were unfavorable enough to have caused an abandonment of the open air exercises, but the few who gathered about the stand at 6 o'clock grew apace until at 8 o'clock their numbers had increased to thousands, who were wild shouting "Bryan."

The prediction that 50,000 persons would be grouped around the stand was not fulfilled, but the crowd was large enough to fill the large plaza around the intersection of Mount Royal avenue and Cathedral street, and surprisingly large, considering the bad weather. Thousands had come from a distance, however, to see and hear Mr. Bryan, and they were willing to take a drenching rather than lose the opportunity of satisfying their curiosity.

Mr. Bryan left Washington at 6:40 on the Pennsylvania road, being accompanied to this city by a committee of citizens, prominent among whom were Senators Gorman and Gibson, Chairman of the State Committee Talbott, Congressman Rusk, A. L. Knott, and others. Among those who came from Washington, were James L. Norris, Assistant Treasurer of the National Committee; Gen. Duncan S. Walker, Representative McMillan, of Tennessee, and Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina.

COLONEL HOOKER GOES EAST.

Hon. Charles E. Hooker, of Mississippi has been invited to make Democratic speeches in the East under the auspices of the National Democratic Committee, and will doubtless do so after the Congressional primaries in his District, September 26. Until then Colonel Hooker will have his hands full. He is by long odds the oldest man in the race, but his friends recognize the fact that with he Sate administration backing one of his opponents, Major Henry, the Colonel has no walk-over. He is making an active, vigorous and aggressive canvass of the district, and the chances are he will succeed Mr. Spencer in Congress, though the Henry men are equally confident of his defeat.

WAS HE MURDERED.

A special dispatch from Hong Kong says it is reported there upon the strength of advices from Manila that General Blanco, a Spanish Governor of the Phillipine Islands, has disappeared, and it is supposed that he has been murdered.

FATAL FIGHT

Between Police and Italians in Philadelphia.

A pitched battle occurred Sunday morning in the section of Philadelphia known as "Little Italy," between a squad of policemen and the inmates of a speak easy, who were resisting arrest. Although the encounter lasted but fifteen minutes, one man was shot and instantly killed and five others were more or less seriously wounded.

The proprietor of the speak easy was finally arrested, together with seven of the combatants, and at a hearing before Magistrate Germon the participants were held without bail on a charge of murder. The victims Michael Pizza, shot in the head and left lung, instantly killed; Policeman Elbert, struck on the head with a brick; Policeman Thayer, hand crushed with a brick; Joseph Miller, a spectator, shot in the hand; Policeman Mitchell, struck on the head with a brick.

Robert Donahue, a citizen who took part in the fray, struck on the head with a brick and stabbed in the breast.

The scene of the affray was a dingy three-story brick house, No. 612 Baker street, which is in the heart of the Italian district.

About midnight Special Officers Hamm and Baker, together with Policemen Sibert, Mitchell, Thayer, Wagner, Phillips and Roney, all attired in citizens' clothes, arrived at the Baker street house with a warrant for the arrest of Michael Wolfa, charging him with selling liquor without a license and on Sunday.

The raiders, with a concerted rush, forced the front door from its hinges. Inside were a dozen men armed with hatchets, knives, coupling pins, revolvers and all sorts of weapons.

Just when the firing began, or how, nobody seems to know, but there were about twenty or twenty-five shots exchanged in all. Those of the policemen who were in a side alley were themselves hemmed in at either outlet by crowds of threatening foreigners.

A portion of the inmates had by this time reached the roof and they began to shoot at th officers in the alley. Bricks were torn from the chimneys and hurled at them. Bullets and bricks flew in all directions, and finally when the combatants were subdued, Michael Pizza was found dead on the roof. He lay on his back with the blood gushing from two bullet holes. It is not known whether he was shot by policemen or by his comrades in mistake.

ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT

In the Union Bank Scandal at New Orleans.—An Outsider Jailed.

Louis Gallot, a clerk in a cotton house in this city, says a New Orleans, La., dispatch of Saturday, was aiding and abetting Louis Colombe, the dead bookkeeper of the suspended Union National Bank, in the theft of $203,479.02 and of abstracting this money from the Union National Bank. Colombe is charged with having credited Gallot falsely and of having failed to charge Gallot with money which he drew from the bank. Gallot was taken before a United States Commissioner, who fixed his bond at $20,000. This he was unable to give and will go to the parish prison. As heretofore, much mystery is observed in the case, and no information can be had. Gallot lavished the money he got out of the Union National on a woman named Mrs. Bouscaren, who was formerly Miss Long, of Louisville, Ky., with whom he was infatuated, and who in turn was infatuated with a desire to shine in society. Many stories are afloat, but the consensus agrees that Gallot spent money like water in a vain effort to enable the object of his adulation to gratify her social aspirations. The woman in the case is now said to be living in splendor in Washington, D. C.

KILLED, THEN BURNED.

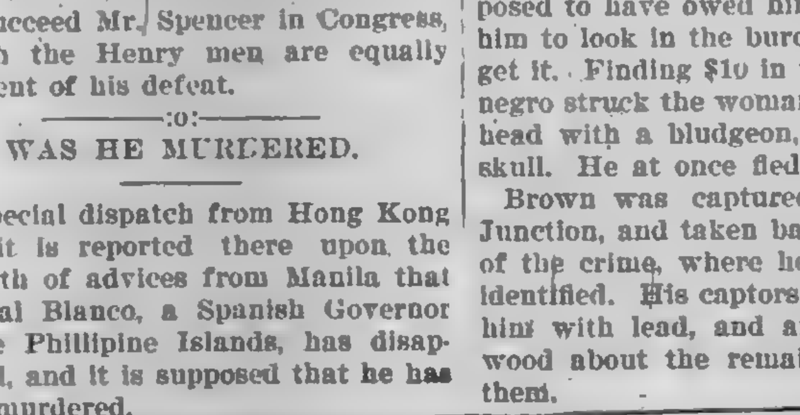
The Fate of a Young Mississippi Negro.

At Slayden's Crossing, a hamlet between Lamar, Miss., and Grand Junction, Tenn., in the former State, Walter Brown, a young negro, was shot to death and then burned. His alleged crime was a murderous assault upon Mrs. Slayden, postmistress, aged 73 years, late Friday night.

Brown applied to Mrs. Slayden for a small sum of money, which she is supposed to have owed him, and she told him to look in the bureau drawer and get it. Finding $10 in the drawer, the negro struck the woman a blow on the head with a bludgeon, fracturing her skull. He at once fled.

Brown was captured near Grand Junction, and taken back to the scene of the crime, where he was promptly identified. His captors at once riddled him with lead, and afterwards piled wood about the remains and burned them.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,



BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

RIOTING AT LEADVILLE.

Fierce Battle in and Around Colorado Mines.

SEVERAL MEN KILLED.

Fighting With Fire and Dynamite.—Driven to Desperation, Locked-out Miners Create a Reign of Terror.—Local Military Forces Placed on Guard.

The lock-out of the miners at Leadville, Col., resulted in rioting the early part of the week. The story is told by the press dispatches from that city in the following language:

Leadville is a battle ground today and the Coronade Mine is the scene of a desperate engagement between strikers and the twenty men who were working in and living at the mine. The bloody hand of lawlessness and anarchy by the use of dynamite bombs burned the Coronade shaft house and made a forced attack on the miners, but the attacking parties were driven from their ground with three of their members mortally wounded and two seriously injured.

The most atrocious crime committed during this lawless attack was the shooting and mortally wounding of Jerry O'Keefe, who was doing his duty as a fireman in trying to extinguish the blaze that, despite the efforts of the fire department, consumed four dwelling houses as well as the Coronade shaft house and out-buildings.

But the bloody work of the strikers was not confined alone to the Coronade Mine. A lawless mob gathered around the Emmett a little after the attack on the Coronade, but the men at the Emmett were ready for the attack, and when the crowd appared they fired such a volley of bullets into them that they found it unsafe to go further in their nefarious work. Not one of their number was killed, but Jerry Mahoney, a miner, living near the Resurrection, who happened to be coming along the road at the time, walking between the strikers and the men on the inside and with the first volley, was shot probably fatally.

At the El Paso also the men were attacked by strikers, but they left that shaft house and sought cover under bushes close by. Here they were awaiting the attack of the strikers, but the latter did not come near the property, contenting themselves with firing about a hundred shots into the shaft house.

Armed men also prowled around the Ram Mine at about the same time and fired several shots into the shaft house, but did not come close enough to throw dynamite bombs and fire the buildings. A great quantity of giant powder was burned outside the fence of the Emmett Mine, but no harm was done by it. This powder was brought to blow up the Emmett shaft house, but the resistance made to the attack by the men on the inside foiled the strikers' plans, and fearing being caught with the powder in their possession, they burned it.

The men who were killed at the Coronade are:

Berry Wier.
James Benson, union striker.
Jerry O'Keefe, a fireman, mortally wounded.
Will Higgins.

No one is able to identify either Benson or Wier, their names being known by letters in their pockets.

William Higgins, who was mortally wounded in the affair, has four bullet wounds in his right arm and one, which is pronounced dangerous, in his abdomen. This, Dr. Jeanotte says, will prevent his recovery. Higgins is not more than 20 years of age.

John Mahoney is not dead, but the doctors say he cannot live and will probably die tonight. Mahoney is not a striker, although he is a union miner. He was working a lease with two others, and they were with him when he was shot, but none of the men knew they had walked into a death trap until Mahoney was pierced by a ball and fell from his horse.

O'Keefe and Mahoney are single men, and it is believed that Benson and Weir are also single.

Under orders of the Governor several companies of State militia are on the way to Leadville from Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo, to strengthen the local military force of three companies.

The miners were organized recently by the Western Federation of Miners, and almost every mine worker was in the union when their demands were made. The miners ask $3 a day for all classes of workmen, including surface and under-ground men. The employers declared at the beginning of the trouble that they were willing to continue paying the wages which had prevailed in Leadville to that time. Under that scale surface workers were paid only $2.50, and practically the only change the union proposes is the advance of the wages of this class of men to $3.

The mine owners have refused to listen to any proposition from the employes. They insist that the Governor, the courts and the newspapers are with the miners, and it would be impossible for them to manage their own property if they made any concessions. The courts say they are powerless unless the Sheriff brings offenders within their jurisdiction. The mine owners explain that the Sheriff holds the key to the situation, and is in league with the strikers.

SNOW IN MICHIGAN.

Terrific storms are reported to have raged on Lake Superior Saturday night, accompanied by snow and hail. The gale was from the northwest, and as there was little warning of its approach, considerable anxiety was felt for the safety of much shipping caught out on the lake. A heavy snow fell at Wetmore, Mich. Republic, Mich., reports snow and a heavy fall in temperature.

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS.

Official returns from last Monday's election in Arkansas have been received from all the counties in the State except Scott and Logan, showing the majority for Col. Daniel W. Jones and the remainder of the Democratic State ticket is but 38,640. The increase for the Republican ticket over 1894 is in the neighborhood of 20,000.

A Lawyer's Testimony,

From the Herald, Potsdam, N. Y.

George Boardman Stacey, of Nicholville, St. Lawrence County, New York, has for many years ranked as one of the brightest lawyers in Northern New York and for the past twenty years has been the acknowledged leader of politics in the east end of this great county. Mr. Stacey was admitted to the bar in 1865, and up to October, 1895, continued to practice his profession. All this time, however, the strain of active political work had been undermining his once iron constitution; and during this month of October he suffered a stroke of paralysis which left him practically helpless. For weeks he was in a terrible condition, the efforts of the doctors proving of no avail. All at once he began to recover, however, and was soon seen about town again, frequenting his former haunts and shaking hands with his old friends and acquaintances. His rapid recovery was the talk of the town, and a reporter hearing of the wonderful cure decided to visit Mr. Stacey and ascertain if possible its cause.

Mr. Stacey was inclined to be communicative, and the following is his story of his illness and cure:

"I was presiding over a political meeting and had just arisen to give a friend who was to address the meeting a rousing sendoff, when to my astonishment I discovered I could not talk. My tongue seemed paralyzed. I managed to say a few words, however, and took my seat where by shear will power I managed to sit until the meeting was finished. On arising to go home, however, I found I could not walk and seemed to have lost control of my limbs. I was assisted home, but on feeling better in the morning I went down to my office. Here I suffered another shock which left me flat on my back. I finally recovered sufficiently to get up, but was left a complete physical wreck. I could not half talk or guide myself at all. I could not write or even hold a pen, and was unable to transact any business. I was like a drunken man and went staggering about.

"The doctors did all they could for me but still I failed to improve. I had always been greatly opposed to patent medicines in any form, but on the recommendation of my druggist, Ira H. Smith, I finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People a trial and see if they would do me any good. To my great surprise I began to notice an improvement before I had taken half a box, and by the time I had taken three boxes I felt like a new man. As nothing else seemed to help me I lay my recovery to the Pink Pills for Pale People. On going to Newark, New Jersey, in April, I gave up taking the pills, and have not since returned to using them, although I am confident they are a splendid thing, and I will probably use them again."

Mr. Stacey's remarkable case is but one of a thousand others which have been cured by these magic pills where all else had failed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Here It Is!

Want to learn all about a Horse? How to Pick Out a Good One? Know Imperfections and so Guard against Fraud? Detect Disease and Effect a Cure when same is possible? Tell the Age by the Teeth? What to call the Different Parts of the Animal? How to Shoe a Horse Properly? All this and other Valuable Information can be obtained by reading our 100-PAGE ILLUSTRATED HORSE BOOK, which we will forward, postpaid, on receipt of only 25 cents in stamps.

BOOK PUB. HOUSE,
134 Leonard St., N.Y. City.

SCHOOL BOOKS.
THE PEOPLE CAN BUY
From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.
W. H. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
1886 SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING &c
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE.
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE

HAIR WIGS for Ladies and Gents. Perfect fit. SWITCHES, any color and size, $1 and upwards. WAVES for elderly ladies $1.50 and upwards. Curly Bangs, Frizzes and latest style Frontpieces. Toilet Goods. Hair Ornaments, etc. Catalogue free. B. C. STREHL & CO., 91 Wabash Ave, Chicago.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. H. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office. DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

FOUNTAIN PEN FREE
And best agency position on earth. Send address and stamp to N. Y. IMPORTING CO., P. O. Box 1556 Dept. A, New York.

LET US do your printing 100 Cards or Envelopes 40 cts. Address Free Press, Sandoval, Ill.

WE TELL HOW to make & sell spring beds. Pays agents 200 per cent profit. We supply material and tools. Ordway & Co., 223 Gay St., Peoria, Ill.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M.D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain everyday English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

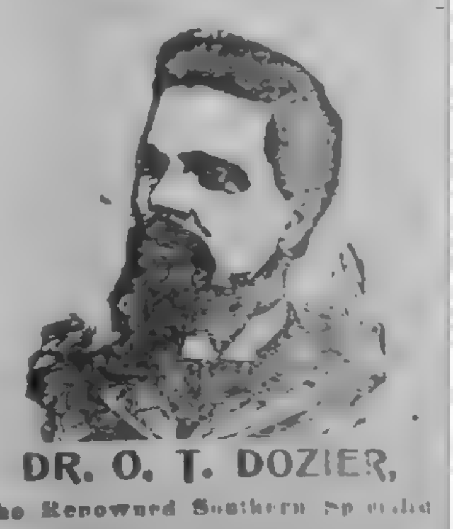
POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA might well be the name [illegible] 530-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopædias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely Indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such information at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the [illegible] was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist)
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or by Mail, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lung, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, [illegible] cured by mild and safe [illegible] ments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. [illegible] tee satisfaction in every case I treat. [illegible] valuable "Book for Men Only," also Symptom Blanks for men and women, free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern [illegible] [illegible]

Dr. [illegible] the most successful [illegible] over the south

(The Southern Odd Fellow

We cannot add anything to the [illegible] O. T. Dozier has already done [illegible] profession, but we know him [illegible] Fellow that can be relied on [illegible] promise he makes [illegible]

(Age Herald)

• • • Dr. Dozier has resided for many [illegible] Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to [illegible] in which he is held by our best [illegible] record and approved abilities entitle [illegible] proud distinction of standing at "the [illegible] profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is the [illegible] living physician • • • He is a [illegible] a high toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, honest in all his dealings and true [illegible] for all his contracts.

[illegible] News [illegible]

Dr. Dozier is a [illegible] skill and experience [illegible] literary attainments [illegible] all who know him. He can be relied on [illegible] ters pertaining to his profession

(Alabama Christian Advocate

His (Dr Dozier's) professional [illegible] reachable and his character as a [illegible] citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER.
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars. COUCH & LUGENBEEL, Senoia, [illegible]

RODS and Dip Needles for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers. Cir. 2c. P. & M. Agency, Box A, Palmyra, [illegible]

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, [illegible]

VOI

Educate and

This seems

The best pl
lot box.

Broken pol
good party h

Direct leg toward pure

If gold w bushel would

Free coina
step in the form.

The yellow not making tional ticket.

Grover ind ticket nomina
c-o-n-r-s-e. S

If a gold b
why don't w
the "existing

If gold sho limited quant of the existi

The threat precipitate a people di-wi

Free silver around which trol of the

The issue no amount of the minds of issue.

We may wrong-heade charge—but not prove it

Populists be able in corn all other pro
gold and silv

The query democrats vote, for McK
low-hammer

Primary money, redem to redeem wi with means cause it.

After the Knights of broadside on national co
own him.

The questio what kind of will be paid have the opti of a dollar or

If the bank in 50-cent d coinage of sil any sleep over
Banks are no

By and by east will fo form a "pro ter nonsense truth of any tained.

It would about the lit
shippers of cently nomin
ner. They nified and qu

A correspon to write an sins of John replies that like compiling to be a plea

And now east are comp of remote ba termined to dark ages of fly to their sons.

Teddy R eye-glass, force of N men "shiftles norant and that eloque cute for any

Pawnbrok people are money. That ers want m
the people ar
loaners are their turtle s

Cold-blood
sessed by a b
The fact that college profe bugs is no in the condition troubles of th ply mathema automatons,
dollar in the

Are you sti wages will fal of unemploym kinds of prod
the free coina
price of wha bugs say, w production doubling pric you'd stand getting a job

THE BANNER.

Circuit Clerk

"Let the people rule"

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1896. NO. 49.

Educate and organize.

This seems to be an age of steal.

[illegible] place to kick is at the ballot [illegible]

[illegible] political promises don't make [illegible]

[illegible] legislation is a rapid transit [illegible] government.

If [illegible] was worth but 15 cents a [illegible] would it be fit for money?

[illegible] coinage of silver is only one [illegible] the direction of currency re-[illegible]

[illegible] yellow-hammer democrats are [illegible] much noise over their na-[illegible]

[illegible] Indorses the yellow-hammer [illegible] nominated at Indianapolis. Of [illegible] So does Carlisle.

[illegible] gold basis will give us good times [illegible] we have them now, under [illegible] gold standard"?

[illegible] gold should be discovered in un-[illegible] quantities what would become [illegible] existing gold standard?

[illegible] which the banks made to [illegible] a panic has resulted in [illegible] drawing out their money.

[illegible] silver is the strategic point [illegible] which the battle for the con-[illegible] the currency is being fought.

[illegible] issue is money against men, and [illegible] amount of tariff oratory can divert [illegible] of the people from the real [illegible]

[illegible] be "ignorant, vicious and [illegible]-headed," as the gold-bugs [illegible] but merely calling us so does [illegible]

Populists believe in a money redeemable in corn, wheat, cotton, hogs, and all other products of labor, as well as gold and silver.

The query now with sound money [illegible] is, which ticket they will [illegible] for McKinley or the other yellow-hammer ticket.

[illegible] money means redemption [illegible] redemption money means coin [illegible] them with, and coin to redeem [illegible] means bonds with which to pur-[illegible]

After the national organ of the [illegible] of Labor turned loose a [illegible] on Powderly, the republican [illegible] committee hastened to dis-[illegible] him.

[illegible] question is not so much as to what kind of a dollar the workingman [illegible] paid in, as it is whether he will [illegible] opportunity to earn any kind [illegible] or not.

[illegible] the banks can pay their depositors [illegible] dollars in the event of free [illegible] of silver, why should they lose [illegible] over the privilege of doing it? [illegible] are not built that way.

[illegible] by the hired writers of the [illegible] will learn that calling our platform a "preposterous farrago of sinister nonsense" doesn't disprove the [illegible] of any principle therein con-[illegible]

[illegible] would be cruel to say anything [illegible] the little band of faithful worshipers of the golden calf who re-[illegible] nominated Palmer and Buckner. They went off alone to be dig-[illegible] and quiet.

A correspondent asks a Texas editor [illegible] an article on the political [illegible] of John Sherman. The editor [illegible] that this would be too much [illegible] compiling a biography of the devil [illegible] a pleasant midsummer task.

[illegible] now the learned essayists of the [illegible] comparing us with the savages [illegible] barbarian ages. They are de-[illegible] to continue groping in the [illegible] ages of the world—and naturally [illegible] their beloved idols for compari-[illegible]

[illegible] Roosevelt, the fellow with an [illegible] who "reformed" the police [illegible] New York, calls the silver [illegible] shiftless, vicious, hopelessly ig-[illegible] thick-headed." Now isn't [illegible] eloquent, logical, and just too [illegible] anything?

[illegible] pawnbrokers thrive best when the [illegible] are "broke" and have to borrow [illegible] That is why the money-loan-[illegible] want money to be scarce. When [illegible] people are out of debt, the money-[illegible] are compelled to economize on [illegible] turtle soup and champagne.

Cold-blooded intellect may be possessed by a burglar or a highwayman. [illegible] that nearly all the old fossil [illegible] professors of the eastern gold-[illegible] indication that they know [illegible] or sympathize with the [illegible] of the people. They are sim-[illegible] mathematical and grammatical [illegible] operated by dropping a [illegible] in the slot.

[illegible] you silly enough to think that [illegible] will fall and men be thrown out [illegible] employment when prices of all [illegible] products are going up? If [illegible] coinage of silver "doubles the [illegible] of what you buy," as the gold-[illegible] say, what greater stimulus to [illegible] can be conceived of than doubling prices of products? Guess you'd stand a pretty good show of getting a job.

HIS CRIMES ARE TOO MUCH IN EVIDENCE.

UNCLE SAM—"Not Another Step—By the Eternal!

M'KINLEY'S LETTER.

EVIDENTLY IN AN UNCOMFORTABLE POSITION MENTALLY.

His Quotation from Cleveland's Message Is Undiplomatic—A Part of His Letter Might Have Been Written by Altgeld or Debs.

McKinley's long-looked-for letter of acceptance is a disappointment to the people. It is a labored affair, and plainly bears the marks of strained mental effort. The Major evidently could have accepted some other style of platform with much better grace and with far less sacrifice of mental ease. It is impossible to account for some portions of his letter, in a manner consistent with his acknowledged ability and honesty, upon any other theory than that his mental stress was so severe as to cause him to lose sight of the just and worthy course which otherwise he would certainly have adopted.

When he says: "Free silver would not mean that the silver dollars were to be freely had without cost or labor," and "It would not make labor easier"—"It would not make farming less laborious"—he is thoughtlessly guilty of the insulting assumption that the scale of intelligence among our laborers and farmers is so low that many of them need to be disabused of the idea that silver is to be freely given them under free coinage.

Under different mental conditions Mr. McKinley would not have lost sight of the notorious and indisputable fact that it was the organized farmers and laborers of this country who have forced this question beyond the control of partisan demagogues into worldwide prominence, and if he had not lost sight of this fact he would certainly have understood that the force capable of bringing about such results could not have emanated from a class of citizens whose understanding was of the puerile order in which his assumption places it. It is charitable to believe that Mr. McKinley was not properly at himself when he made this insinuation, and it might be let go at that if this mistake of his, in the mere contemplation of the policy forced upon him by his party, did not compel graver doubts as to what might happen in the event of his being placed in position to make that policy the rule of the land. The laborers and farmers comprise at least three-fourths of our population, and if Mr. McKinley really believes that this large class of voters are influenced to such an extent by the childish belief which his argument implies as to make it incumbent upon him to set them right in that particular, then it follows perfectly naturally that if chosen to the presidency he would not stultify himself nor lower the dignity of his administration by considering even for a moment any suggestion which might come up from them. And this, in turn, means plainly that the same old crowd, whose idea of wit is embodied in scurrilous jests at the expense of the "hayseed" farmer and "mudsill" laborer, and whose only conception of wisdom is that it can alone be found in all its purity beneath the silk hats of men whose "business ability" renders them able to live without soiling their delicate hands, will control his administration.

In his argument for the maintenance of the existing gold standard he says: "It is the recognized and sole standard of the great commercial nations of the world with which we trade more largely than any other. Eighty-four per cent of our foreign trade for the fiscal year 1895 was with gold-standard countries, and our trade with other countries was settled on a gold basis."

In this he seems to imply that our "foreign trade" is a good thing and ought to be catered to to the extent of making our standard of payment acceptable to those with whom we deal. How he can make this argument consistent with the other in which he declares that protection is of "supreme importance" is for a gold-standard protectionist to explain. To an outsider it would seem that if protective tariffs are of "supreme" importance because of their tendency to discourage free trade, the free coinage of silver, since it opposes the standard of payment adopted by all of the "great commercial nations of the world with which we trade," ought, at least, to be of some importance in bringing about the desired object.

He declares that "protection has lost none of its virtue and importance. The first duty of the republican party, if restored to power in the country, will be the enactment of a tariff law which will raise all the money necessary to conduct the government, economically and honestly administered, and so adjusted as to give preference to home manufacturers and adequate protection to home labor and the home market."

"Economically and honestly administered" somehow sounds democratic, and was perhaps injected to catch the ear of the gold democrats, who were shortly to be assembled in national convention at Indianapolis. But did Mr. McKinley really mean to say "all the money"? If so, then the internal revenue tax on whisky, tobacco, etc., will have to be repealed. If he did not mean "all," then why did he say it? Was it because of the "mental strain" already suggested as accounting for some of his peculiar assumptions?

Mr. McKinley deliberately says all that about "the first duty of the republican party" in face of the fact that even if his party is fully and wholly as successful as its most sanguine member believes it possible to be in this campaign it will nevertheless be utterly impotent to enact a tariff law different from that now on the statute books because the silver senators from the west have flatly laid down the ultimatum "No silver, no tariff," and the time of none of them expires under two years.

In view of the help which he desires from the goldbug democrats, was it not a little undiplomatic, not to say cruel, to resurrect and quote Mr. Cleveland's message written for the express purpose of influencing the extra session of congress to repeal the Sherman silver law? A part of Cleveland's message quoted by McKinley is as follows: "With plenteous crops, with abundant promise of remunerative production and manufacture, with unusual invitation to safe investment, and with satisfactory assurances to business enterprises, suddenly financial distrust and fear have sprung up on every side."

Now, since Mr. Cleveland's object in writing thus was to prompt congress to destroy the last vestige of silver as money and thus bring about the gold standard in all its purity, which the republican party says "must be maintained," and since Mr. Cleveland, by the help of John Sherman, Tom Reed, and the republican party generally, accomplished his purpose, it does seem a little unkind in McKinley to quote that very message to show how terribly the "threat of democratic free trade" was already beginning to affect the country. But he does quote it, and with that very object in view, and then further on in his letter he himself declares: "It is not an increase in the volume of money which is the need of the time, but an increase in the volume of business. Not an increase of coin, but an increase of confidence."

Thus it will be seen that these two great statesmen, Cleveland and McKinley, agree upon what is lacking. It was a want of "confidence" shown by "financial distrust and fear" which kept the people from enjoying the rich harvests of investments, etc., in Cleveland's time, and it is only a lack of the same ingredient in McKinley's estimation that still holds us plunged in the depths of despair. One more quotation from this surprising letter:

"We avoid no issue. We meet the sudden, dangerous, and revolutionary assault upon law and order, and upon those to whom is confided by the constitution and laws the authority to uphold and maintain them, which our opponents have made, with the same courage that we have faced every emergency since our organization as a party more than forty years ago. Government by law must first be assured; everything else can wait. The spirit of lawlessness must be extinguished by the fires of an unselfish and lofty patriotism.

"Every attack upon the public faith and every suggestion of the repudiation of debts, public or private, must be rebuked by all men who believe that honesty is the best policy, or who love their country and would preserve unsullied its national honor."

These are consecutive paragraphs taken from near the close of the letter. The only comment they call for is that the first might have been, with a few immaterial changes, uttered by John P. Altgeld or Eugene V. Debs in opposition to "government by injunction" or the lawless invasion of a sovereign state by the federal military, while the last could easily have come from Bourke Cockran, Tom Reed, or John Sherman. Altogether the letter is weak and may well prove discouraging to republicans.

THE TWO PLATFORMS.

For the benefit of those who imagine that the democratic and populist national platforms have nothing in common, except free silver coinage, we publish the following, showing the various points of similarity to be found in the two documents:

The democratic national platform adopted at Chicago and the populist platform adopted at St. Louis both declare for free and unlimited coinage of silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1.

The Chicago platform denounces the issuance of notes by national banks; the St. Louis platform calls for a national currency "without the use of banking corporations."

The Chicago platform (taking the official copy) demands that paper currency which is made a full legal tender, or is made receivable for government dues, shall be issued by the government, and be made redeemable in coin. The St. Louis platform, like the Omaha platform, is silent on the question of coin redemption, but calls for a safe and sound national currency, a full legal tender for all debts public and private.

The Chicago platform virtually declares for a re-enactment of the income tax law; the St. Louis platform demands a graduated income tax.

The Chicago platform demands a stricter federal control of railroads, and an enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission. The St. Louis platform calls for government ownership and operation of the railroads, "to be accomplished gradually, in a manner consistent with sound public policy."

The Chicago platform declares that all public lands should be appropriated to the establishment of free homes for American citizens. The St. Louis platform demands that bona fide settlers on all public lands be granted free homes—and declares against land monopoly for speculative purposes.

Both platforms denounce judiciary abuse of power, government by injunction, and arbitrary imprisonment for indirect contempt.

Both platforms declare against the demonetization of lawful money by private contract.

Both platforms declare against issuing government bonds in time of peace.

Both platforms demand that the government shall not surrender to the holders of obligations the option as to what kind of money payment thereof shall be made.—Nevada Director.

The Location of Hell.

Hon. Francis A. Walker, in his address at the annual meeting of the bimetallic league held in London, July 13, 1896, said:

"Were the city of London to give its consent, bimetallism might at once be established on a broad and enduring basis. Of all the vast expanse of the globe, one square mile alone blocks the way to the adoption of a world's money as wide as the world's trade. The veto of this city rests upon a monetary policy which has approved itself by long and beneficent operation; a monetary policy, the economic validity and practical efficiency of which have been admitted with absolute unanimity by the most distinguished commission which since the great inquests on the bank charter, fifty and sixty years ago, has been assembled in this country—a monetary policy which the nations of the earth never needed so greatly as today."

Behold the nations of the globe bowing in humble submission to the decree of a den of thieves one mile square. How long, oh, Lord, how long will great nations cling to their nursing bottles?

The republican party is the party that wants to ask England.

THE GOLD STANDARD.

SOME ARGUMENTS USED TO UPHOLD IT EXPOSED.

Free Coinage of Silver Would Benefit Others Than Mine Owners, and Instead of Contracting the Money Volume, Will Expand It.

Some of the stock arguments against free coinage of silver are that:

"Such a course would benefit nobody but the millionaire silver mine owner."

And:

"Under free coinage the gold money of the country, amounting to about $600,000,000, would be supplanted by 'cheap silver money' and thus the currency would be contracted to that extent."

Let it be assumed that Senator Stewart is one of the "millionaire mine owners." Under existing conditions the output of his mine is sent to the market just as that much lead, iron, copper or other commodity would be under free coinage; his output would be elevated from the position of a commodity to that of a measure of the value of all commodities. Now instead of being a competitor with other commodity sellers Mr. Stewart becomes a competitor with other commodity buyers.

Suppose the product of one of his mines is sufficient in one year to coin one hundred thousand silver dollars and he carries the output to the mint and receives for it that amount of money. Is he the only man benefited by the transaction? If so, how is he benefited? What good are the hundred thousand dollars to him?

Under the economic conditions which exist the world over and which specifically apply to money, the hundred thousand dollars which the mint director would hand to Mr. Stewart would be, just as that many gold dollars would, utterly valueless intrinsically and could afford him no pleasure or enjoyment until after they had left his hands. Metal may be intrinsically valuable but money cannot be. Money is a creature of law. Metal is a product of nature. Law may transfer but it cannot create value and the thing that happened when Mr. Stewart had his bullion coined was the transfer of the value of the silver as metal for its value as money. Now having his hundred thousand dollars instead of his former silver ore what will he do with them? Until he meets somebody in possession of a "demand" for dollars his money will do him no earthly good but will remain in his hands simply as so much dead matter. The minute that he comes across such a person that minute he finds one whose wants he can supply and who can reciprocally benefit him by employing his money to advantage.

Is it not plain then that instead of free coinage benefiting no one but the millionaire mine owner, it not only benefits others but it can not benefit the mine owner until it does benefit others. The common mistake of those who argue differently is in the fact that they consider money an end instead of a means to an end. It is not money that people want, it is what money, under the law, will buy that everybody wants. If Mr. Stewart didn't know this he would not have his bullion coined into money, because as money it would be without value, otherwise, while as bullion it would be of value in the arts and sciences. Mr. Stewart's hundred thousand dollars would be worthless to him until he put them into circulation, and then they would benefit others as much as that amount of gold dollars, or diamond dollars, if there was such a thing would, and the chance of others getting dollars in exchange for their products would be increased to the extent to which they increased the amount of money in circulation.

Now consider the other point, that about free coinage contracting the currency through the displacement of gold by silver money.

Let it be granted that the metal in the gold money will be so much more valuable than the money in the silver metal that gold money will not circulate alongside of the silver money, the question is what will become of it? Over what route will it "disappear?" These are plain, practical questions and they deserve a plain, practical answer.

Suppose John Smith is a banker in one of our interior towns, or sea-coast towns for that matter, who happens to have among his assets gold money to the value of $10,000. Mr. Smith, being a banker, knows what money is and how to employ it to get other money. He likewise knows the difference between money and commodities and is well posted, as a rule, in the value of commodities, especially such as he comes in contact with in his line of business—bonds, mortgages, etc.

Now suppose free coinage is adopted and the value of his gold money increased thereby from its $10,000 money value to $15,000 bullion value, what will he do about it? If he is like most bankers, which of course he is, he will not particularly and earnestly object to this increase of his capital stock. He may publicly grit his teeth in well-feigned anger and talk glibly about the horrors that is to follow upon this adoption of "cheap money" and the contraction of the currency that will certainly follow in the taking of gold money out of the channels of trade. He may do all this and much more, publicly—bankers are such cute fellows, you know—but secretly he will certainly do something indicating a radically different belief from that which he chooses to express in public. Bankers, more than any other class of business men, have a holy horror of "dead capital," and that is exactly what Mr. Smith's $15,000 worth of gold bullion would be. More than that he would know at once that the "premium" on his gold would never be higher than it was when the silver policy of the government was first adopted, but, on the contrary, must steadily and rapidly fall as the people realized that it was not needed in their business. What would follow? As naturally as day follows night and harvest follows seed-time it follows that Mr. Smith, even while publicly gritting his teeth and bewailing "cheap money," would secretly be looking for the best market in which to dispose of his "dead capital." And when he had disposed of it, at the premium supposed above, instead of having 10,000 gold dollars or $15,000 worth of gold bullion he would have $15,000 in live capital to use in his business, and his currency, instead of being contracted, would be expanded to the extent of $5,000.

But perhaps some reader may not understand how this "valuable" gold money could ever become "dead capital" and would like to have that point further explained. "Dead capital" is the term usually applied to property which pays no income. Mr. Smith's $10,000 in gold would pay no income because he couldn't afford to lend it to Tom, Dick and Harry at the usual banking rate of interest and Tom, Dick and Harry could not afford to pay any higher rate of interest for the gold money than for silver money because they could not use it in their business so as to recoup themselves for the excess. One of Mr. Smith's $10 gold pieces wouldn't buy an ounce more of sugar, coffee, or tea or a yard more of calico, muslin or denims, or pay a cent more of debt than ten silver dollars would. Hence it follows that Mr. Smith's $10,000 in gold would be "dead" from sheer excess of "fat," as it were. "Their blood would be too rich" to mingle with that of proletariat silver, and however aristocratic and exclusive the banker himself may be you can rest assured that the "dollar" he is after is the one that is not too aristocratic to circulate among the plebian producers. For this reason Mr. Smith would convert his dead bullion into live money as speedily as possible.

If the $600,000,000 worth of gold said to be in circulation in this country could be disposed of on the same terms, instead of its disappearance contracting our volume of money it would be increased to $900,000,000.

ABOUT "PROTECTION."

McKinley Pleads for It—Sherman Says It Can't Be Accomplished.

"I am glad especially to meet the farmers of Knox county, for the farmers of the United States form the most conservative forces of our citizenship and in our civilization (applause), a force that always has stood for good government, for country, for liberty and for honesty. (Great applause.) Whatever the farmer is suffering today is because his competitors have increased in numbers, and because his best customers are out of work. (Applause and cries of 'You are right.') I do not know that we can decrease the number of your competitors, but with a true protective policy we can set your best customers to work. (Tremendous cheering.)"—McKinley's Speech to the Knox County (O.) Farmers.

New York, Aug. 25.—Senator Sherman said recently:

"The only way in which a republican administration can control the evils of the past is by increasing the revenues by a new tariff law, and this, I fear, is not practicable."

Senator Sherman was asked by telegraph if he made this statement, and to explain more fully his meaning. He sent the following dispatch to the Advertiser in reply:

"Mansfield, O., Aug. 25.—I am, I believe, quoted correctly. I regard deficiency of revenue and consequent impairment of resumption fund the chief cause of present stringency. What I said had no reference to the election this fall, when I have no doubt of McKinley's election, but only to the refusal, as shown last session, of silver senators to allow any tariff bill to pass unless free coinage was provided.

"JOHN SHERMAN."

Since McKinley and Sherman agree upon the necessity of maintaining the reserve fund, as well as "the existing gold standard," and that it (the reserve fund) can only be maintained through a new tariff law, and since everybody knows that Sherman's "fear" that a new law "is not practicable" is so well founded that it is as certain to materialize as that congress meets again, it would be interesting to know the opinion of these eminent statesmen as to about how much our public debt will be increased during the next four years in the event of McKinley's election, in the purchase of gold to maintain the "reserve." And it would, no doubt, be especially interesting to the Knox county farmers and to farmers everywhere to know Mr. McKinley's opinion, in the present interesting situation of things, as to how long they will have to wait for that "true protective policy" which is to set their "best customers to work."

Western men know more about the east than eastern men know about the west. The western man is cosmopolitan, the eastern man provincial. Most of the western men came originally from the east, they have developed a new empire and grown themselves intellectually—while the man planted in an eastern pot has been dwarfed and deprived of sunshine and rain—yet the east is shocked at the "ignorance" of the west.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

The New Industries Reported in the South in a Week.

The Chattanooga Tradesman's Southern correspondents report increased confidence in commercial and industrial circles and a healthy increase in trade. At all the important Southern cities, business is more active and collections are considerably better.

The iron and steel market shows decided improvement. Inquiries are more frequent and consumers are buying more freely than for several months. Prices are stiffer and a more confident tone characterizes the market. Many of the sales being made are small, but some large buyers are feeling the market and the prospects are very encouraging to sellers. Southern iron is up 50 cents on most grades, and Southern No. 2 is quoted at 65 cents. Sellers are refusing to take orders for delivery after January 1, at present prices, and some companies are even withdrawing, temporarily, from the market. The starting up of iron mills and furnaces is conspicuous, but makers seem, in some instances, to be anticipating the demand.

Alabama iron continues in active demand. The Sloss Iron & Steel Company, of Birmingham, will put its No. 2 furnace in blast at an early date and the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railway Company will blow in another furnace at Bessemer.

Lumber manufacturers and dealers report a better feeling and operators believe that the worst is over. The movement in lumber is fairly good, but the tendency to await the result of the election before venturing on anything in the way of enlarged enterprise continues to prevail. Southern mill men are pushing sales with less vigor than they would if prices were better. The question of prices still causes more complaint than the demand. Increased activity characterizes the export trade and vessels are being chartered ahead, that operators may be sure of tonnage when it is needed.

The textile industry is fairly active. Some new concerns are reported and most of the idle plants have been put in operation.

In the coal mining districts of the South increased activity is noted. New mines are being opened and a large number of coke ovens are being built at different points. An important feature of the week to Alabama coal operators was the organization at Mobile of the Mobile & Tuskaloosa Coal & Transportation Company, capital $50,000, to establish a barge line to carry coal from Tuskaloosa to Mobile and New Orleans.

Among the new industries for the week The Tradesman reports electric power plants at De Land, Fla., and New Orleans, La.; a 100-barrel flouring mill at Charleston, W. Va.; a large ice and cold storage plant at Madisonville, Ky.; extensive machinery works at Greensboro, N. C.; the Cassator Mining & Reducing Company, capital $200,000 chartered at Siloam Springs, Ark., and a $35,000 lumber mill to be erected at Ogemaw, Ark.

The new buildings include a $15,000 business house at Knoxville, Tenn.; a $30,000 church at Owensboro, Ky.; a $25,000 college at Jennings, La., and a jail at Atlanta, Ga., to be erected at a cost of $175,000.

:o:

TREMENDOUS CLOUDBURST

Deluges a Texas Town.—Considerable Damage Done.

A tremendous cloudburst struck the city of San Marcos, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and washed away a large portion of the town.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas and International & Great Northern railways tracks were washed away for three-fourths of a mile, and the joint depot badly wrecked. The damage to these two roads will reach $20,000.

The cloudburst struck the lower portion of the city and swept everything before it. All the bridges over the San Marcos river, which runs through the town, were washed away and a large number of residences are in ruins. Several people are missing and it is thought at least five have been drowned, but such was the force of the deluge that none of the bodies have yet been recovered and no definite information is obtainable.

:o:

RELIEVED FROM DUTY.

Tax Receiver of Newark, N. J., Suspended, Pending an Investigation.

Tax Receiver Julius B. Finger was suspended by Mayor Seymour this morning, says a Newark, N. J., dispatch of Tuesday. Finger had neglected to turn over the receipts daily as required by ordinance to the Comptroller. When asked for yesterday's returns this morning, he tendered a check for $1,800. There was no money to Finger's order in the bank, and the Mayor at once relieved the official from duty and appointed Ex-Receiver A. J. Clark, temporarily, to fill the position. A special meeting of the common council has been called for to-night to take action in the case. Finger is under bonds for $50,000. Rumors are rife that there may be large irregularities in the tax department.

:o:

THE TROOPS ARE HUNGRY.

The military commander of Erzingain has wired the war office of Turkey, urgently requesting the minister of war to send money with which to provide the troops with rations. Unless the necessary supplies of food are immediately provided, the commander says, he will not undertake to answer for the conduct of the troops in his district. It is reported that disturbances have taken place at Kemanat, in the district of Erzingjan.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday
Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., a Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRIGHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain;
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Subscribers who receive their number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will please understand that [illegible] their last paper. We can send them [illegible]

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] the heat we should be having [illegible] the next four weeks [illegible] heard that any of [illegible] yet made any appointments in Chilton. Possibly each one of the four considers he is [illegible] majority in Chilton but [illegible] information we have is it is [illegible] ground and not a walk [illegible]

THE Prohibitionists met in Montgomery to-day and put out a full electoral ticket. This makes five tickets in the field and sixty names of electors on the official ballot. There is one consolation, there cannot be any more tickets as the election law requires thirty days notice to be given.

SEVERAL subscribers have requested us to publish our opinion on the probable outlook for cotton the balance of this season. Mark Twain's advice was "never prophecy unless you know." We don't know, and it is pretty hard to calculate the possible vagaries of the cotton market manipulators. But to the best of our knowledge and belief the case stands about thus: At the beginning of this season stocks were pretty low, and the present crop is undoubtedly considerably short, but being unusually early the market is crowded, which causes mill owners and cotton men generally to discredit, to some extent, the actual shortness of the crop. When it is discovered that the bulk of the crop is on the market we believe that those who are now holding their cotton back will reap the benefit of advanced prices. We have obtained the following expressions of opinion from the leading cotton buyers in Clanton:

Mr. W. L. Sampey believes the present figure is about as good as it is likely to be and it is useless to expect any advance.

Mr. W. I. Mullins is of the opinion that in about six weeks we may reasonably expect a slight advance in the price.

Mr. P. D. Wilson thinks prices will not go up until after the election but then we may look for somewhat better figures.

[illegible] is the fashionable [illegible] this year. There have been all sorts of bolts and bolters. Democrats and Republicans have bolted world without end until they cannot themselves tell where they are at. The People's Party is the only party that up to the present has escaped, but now, alas! the contagion has entered its ranks, and [illegible] all the people in Alabama it is the original bolter from the Democratic party—the genial Reuben, the gallant Captain R. F. Kolb, the twice elected governor of Alabama—who has led the bolt from the Populist fold and returned to the bosom of the Democratic party. Capt. Kolb and his paper, the People's Tribune, have thrown over Bryan and Watson and espoused the cause of Bryan and Sewall and once started they have gone the whole hog, thrown over the Populist nominee for congress in the ninth district, Dr. G. B. Crowe and taken up the Democratic nominee, O. W. Underwood. But the People's Party still survives.

Senator Teller and innumerable other lifelong Republicans who believe in the free coinage of silver left the Republican party because they could not support the gold bug nominee, Wm. McKinley [illegible] [illegible] free [illegible] for McKinley [illegible] There are some free silver [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] the names [illegible] the Democratic [illegible]

[illegible] W. [illegible] First District—E. L. [illegible] of Mobile. Second District—[illegible] Third District—T. M. [illegible] Fourth District—W. B. [illegible] Fifth District—[illegible] Burgess of Talladega. Sixth District—T. M. Manning of Tuscaloosa. Seventh District—[illegible] Eighth District—E. B. Almon of Colbert. Ninth District—C. B. Powell of Jefferson.

Literary Notes.

"The Three Strategic Chiefs of the Presidential Campaign," i.e., the chairman of the National committees of the three leading parties are the subjects of character sketches in the October Review of Reviews. Murat Halstead writes about Mr. Hanna; Willis J. Abbot describes Senator Jones, of Arkansas, the hope of the "Popocrats", and Marion Butler, the energetic and able young leader of the Populist forces, is portrayed by Carl Snyder. These sketches are terse and vigorous, the writer in each case being in full touch with his subject.

The Advantage of Free Silver.

The great advantage of free silver lies in the fact that it will introduce an era of expanding currency and rising prices in place of the falling market that has so long depressed us. Althoug the immediate effect of free silver may be to lessen the volume of the currency by driving our gold way, yet very soon the influx of silver will more than make good the loss of the gold and the volume will rapidly expand. The consequence will be that prices will rise, commerce and manufactures will be encouraged, labor will be in demand, many who are unemployed will get work, competition for employment will become less severe, wages will rise, and, in the end, workingmen will be benefited as well as merchants and manufacturers.

Debtors who have been wronged by the shrinkage of prices will secure at least a partial justice and be able to pay off their notes and mortgages with something like a fair equivalent for what they got when they borrowed.—Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston University, in October Arena.

Girls Industrial School.

Montevallo, Ala., Sept. 26, 1896.

Editor BANNER: The Girls' Industrial School of Alabama opens its first session at Montevallo on October 12th. Under the act creating this school your county is entitled to its quota of scholarships. The expenses to those holding these scholarships will be only $80 for the entire session. This covers board, laundry, medical attention, the use of text books and tuition in all branches, except an incidental fee for the use of pianos and type writers. Parties can obtain these scholarships by writing direct to me. Those wishing to take advantage of this liberal offer on the part of the state should write or wire me at once and I will hold the places for them, otherwise, I will be compelled to give it to those applying from other counties.

H. C. REYNOLDS, Pres.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.

The American Bankers' Association in session at St. Louis last week proved to be nothing more or less than a republican "Sound Money" club. The venerable president of the Association, in closing his address used these words: "From the folly of free Silverites, from dishonesty and repudiation, from anarchy and ruin, O, Lord, deliver us."

Hon. Thos. Watson, of Georgia, the Populist candidate for vice-president, was met at St. Louis, last week, enroute home from his Western speaking tour, by several members of the National Executive committee and a conference was held at the Southern hotel, for the purpose of devising a way whereby Mr. Watson could secure the full proportion of electoral votes, to which he is entitled.

Mr. H. K. Thurber, the great New York grocer, has felt a touch of hard times and is a recent convert from a gold standard to free silver. He is in a public letter warmly supporting Bryan.

The McCormick Harvester Company appears to be taking quite a hand in trying to coerce voters into supporting McKinley and the gold standard. It might be well for Populists especially to remember the [illegible] concerns in the future.

The gallant Tom Watson, People's party candidate for vice president, met with a hearty reception on his recent western trip, notwithstanding the evident attempt of a few Populists to prevent it. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

A [illegible] scandal seems to be brewing in the Indiana State Capitol, where it is alleged, the republicans are offering to put up large sums of money to prevent a fusion between the Populists and democrats in that state. There are several other states, possibly, in the same category.

The democrats in Oregon have agreed to support the entire Populist electoral and state ticket.

T. V. Powderly, for many years Master Workman of the Knights of Labor and a champion of the free coinage of silver, is now in the employ of the goldbugs. Comment is unnecessary. The honest voters of the country can draw their own conclusions.

Gen. J. S. Coxey's nomination for Congress in the Eighteenth Ohio district is being protested by many of the Populist of that district and he has taken legal steps to have his name placed on the ticket.

The fusion deal between the Populists and republicans in Alabama has been declared off. The proposed allegiance was an unnatural one at best.

Mr. Bryan met with perfect ovations on his southern and eastern campaign. The people everywhere seem to be for him and unless his opponents resort to wholesale coercion and bribery, Mr. Bryan's election is assured.

All authentic reports from Indiana agree that the state will be very close and that the Populists have it within their power to defeat or elect Mr. McKinley. The democrats in that state are offering reasonable concessions to the Populists, which will probably be accepted.

Fusion on electors between the Populists and democrats has been accomplished in Kentucky. The Populists receive two of the electors.

Capt. Goodwyn has been renominated for congress by the Populists of the Fifth Alabama district and his election is practically assured.

A. R.

Growing Children

One-third of all the children die before they are five years old. Most of them die of some wasting disease. They grow very slowly; keep thin in flesh; are fretful; food does not do them much good. You can't say they have any disease, yet they never prosper. A slight cold, or some stomach and bowel trouble takes them away easily.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is just the remedy for growing children. It makes hard flesh; sound flesh; not soft, flabby fat. It makes strong bones, healthy nerves. It changes poor children to children rich in prosperity.

Book about it free for the asking.

☞ No substitute for Scott's Emulsion will do for the children what we know Scott's Emulsion will do. Get the genuine.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

All kinds of furniture at lowest prices at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 29, 1896.

Editor BANNER: Can we not bring to bear upon the minds of those merchants of Clanton who are selling poison cider, some logical, convincing arguments that they are destroying the peace and quietude of our beautiful little town, injuring our schools, tearing down churches, creating crime and bringing tears from some good mothers' eyes? These ciders are poison and will lead to the destruction of life, even among the youth of our country. The young man who drinks too much cider wants to fight at once. Of course he carries a pistol with him concealed and is ready to draw it and shoot when the cider begins to act freely upon the brain. We hope for the sake of everything that is sacred and dear to us that there will be no more cider, especially intoxicating cider, shipped to Clanton. Think [illegible] mothers and fathers, and let us put our shoulders to the wheel and endeavor to stop it.

CITIZEN.

* * *

Did You Ever

[illegible]

* * *

Strasburg.

[illegible] tees at [illegible] and 6 cents at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

A [illegible] line of general merchandise is carried, and we solicit your patronage. Mooney & Woolley, Strasburg.

* * *

Rockym unt Ripples.

The health of this community is very good at present. The prayer-meetings and singings are progressing nicely. Prayer-meeting every Wednesday and Saturday nights. Singing every 2nd and 4th Sunday evenings. Crops are short in this locality owing to the incessant dry weather. Cotton is done and harvested and on the market. The farmers of this community are for Bryan and free silver. Our annual camp meeting will embrace the 3rd Sunday commencing Friday night before.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

* * *

Lily Lyrics.

Rev. F. M. Woods filled his appointment at Mulberry last Sunday. The writer had the pleasure of conducting a singing at Mulberry last Sunday, with Miss Ella Ruddick for organist. Mr. and Mrs. Deshazo are on the sick list this week. Miss Ollie Garner has returned from Maplesville.

Mr. Crit Jones is again at home.

Quite a number of the Mulberrians will attend the association.

Miss Mamie Smitherman, who has been spending some time here has returned to her home at Saginaw.

UNO.

* * *

OBITUARY.

The hand of death has spread a shadow of gloom and sadness over the village of Lomax. On Saturday Sept. 12, the announcement of the death of Mr. W. P. Jones came like a thunder-clap from a cloudless sky. He had been in bad health for sometime, but no one except himself perhaps, realized that the end was so near or might come so suddenly. He was a noble, upright man and universally beloved. He was born in Dallas county, Aug 2, 1822, and leaves 4 sons and 2 daughters to mourn his loss. It consoles the writer to repeat his last words: "I am going home, children follow me." He laid down the cares and sufferings of earth to enter into eternal joy and rest.

"Beyond the light of setting suns,
Beyond the clouded sky,
Beyond where starlight fades in night
He has a home on high.

M. J. M.

The Colorado republican state convention declared for Bryan and Sewall and free silver.

The state executive commitee of the People's party of Texas has issued two manifestos, one recognizing Bryan and Watson as the national ticket of the party and the other denying the charges that fusion with the republicans has been effected. C. M. Cureton has been elected secretary of the committee for two years.

In North Carolina the People's party and the republicans have effected fusion on the state ticket and in all congressional districts, the Populists receiving five out of nine electors.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a general election will be held at the various voting places in Chilton county, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1896,

for the election of Electors for President and vice-President of the United States, and for the election of a Representative in the Congress of the United States for the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

This 1st day of October, 1896.

J. T. COGLEY, Sheriff.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897 1896

Fletcher's mill	October	1
Kincheon		[illegible]
Albert Headley's store		[illegible]
Benson		[illegible]
Maplesville		[illegible]
Stoutz		7
Valley Creek cotton		[illegible]
Dixie		[illegible]
Stanton 8 a m [illegible]		[illegible]
Clanton [illegible] 1 p m to 2 p m		[illegible]
Macedonia church		12
Providence church [illegible]		[illegible]
Lojan Bassetts		14
Jemison		[illegible]
Mineral Springs		[illegible]
Strasburg		17
Clanton		[illegible]
Cane Creek		20
Maddox's mill		[illegible]
[illegible] school-house		22
Calloway's mill		[illegible]
Maple Springs church		[illegible]
Davis & Rollins' gin		[illegible]
Coopers		[illegible]
Burwells		[illegible]
Mountain Creek		[illegible]
Verbena		[illegible]

[illegible], Tax Assessor.

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I [illegible]

[illegible]		[illegible]
Stanton 8 a m [illegible]		[illegible]
Clanton [illegible]		[illegible]
[illegible] church		[illegible]
Providence church		[illegible]
Lojan Bassetts		[illegible]
Jemison		[illegible]
Mineral Springs		[illegible]
Strasburg		[illegible]
Clanton		[illegible]
Cane Creek		[illegible]
Maddox's mill		[illegible]
[illegible] school-house		22
Calloway's mill		23
Maple Springs church		24
Davis & Rollins' gin		26
Coopers		27
Burwells		28
Mountain Creek		29
Verbena		30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville		3
Benson		4

T. J. [illegible], Tax Collector.

Lomax.

The lumber mill will start up again soon and we shall all be busy.

Many are the expressions of admiration evoked by the neat appearance of the section houses. LOM.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
Sept. 14, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry No. 23,181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Notice to Non-resident Heirs, etc., on Application to Sell Land.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA } Probate
CHILTON COUNTY. } Court

To Willie Morgan, wife of Andrew Morgan.

Whereas A. C. Smith, administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, has filed his application in said court for a sale of the lands described therein, belonging to the estate of said decedent, for the purpose of paying debts, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts thereof, upon the ground that said land cannot be equitably divided, and the 28th day of September 1896 has been appointed for the hearing of said application,

You are, therefore, hereby notified to appear before said court on said 28th day of September 1896 to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness this the 2d day of Sept., 1896

R. M. HONEYCUTT, Judge of Probate

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	[illegible]
New York World (3 papers every week)	[illegible]
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	[illegible]
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	[illegible]
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	[illegible]
Silver Knight National Watchman	[illegible]

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial Appeal	[illegible]
Birmingham State Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON ALABAMA

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER.

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT ...Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They Guarantee to Fit and Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT.
—LOWEST PRICES.

[illegible] SAMPLES AT

W. L. SAMPEY, CLANTON, ALA.

Danger Ahead!

Don't neglect slight symptoms of ill health. Headaches—biliousness—constipation—these are warnings that there's danger ahead. Don't wait 'till you have a severe attack of sickness but take V.V.V. now and avoid liver complaint, bilious fever and like diseases. V.V.V. the great family remedy is a sure specific for all forms of liver complaint. It drives all impurities from the blood and system, toning and invigorating the whole body. V.V.V. is composed solely of roots, barks and herbs, having powerful healing properties, yet so harmless that no one can receive any but good effect from their use. V.V.V. cures every form of blood and skin disease, including the worst cases of scrofula, kidney diseases, rheumatism, catarrh, malaria, etc.

Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00.
A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in [illegible], second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day [illegible] cents.

Bales received to date
Sampey	619
Mo[illegible]	367
Wi[illegible]	107
	1093

C[illegible] CHEAP. Call and [illegible] the BANNER office.

Mr. A. C. S[illegible] has a half dollar [illegible] and says he will give [illegible] a 50 cent piece [illegible] that date.

Mr. [illegible], of Montgomery, [illegible] Monday.

[illegible] FOR SALE. I have [illegible] at a low price, on [illegible] one and a half [illegible] north of Clanton. Will exchange [illegible] cotton. See [illegible] at [illegible].

F. R. WOODWARD.

Miss Mattie Sue Chandler is enjoying a delightful visit to friends in Birmingham the last week.

We are glad to say that we will have Mr. Bascom McMorries with us. [illegible] He has accepted a position with Mr. W. F. Culp.

Mr. J. A. Culp went to Montgomery yesterday.

Miss [illegible] and Mr. William [illegible] went to Birmingham last Monday, where Mr. William will enter Howard College.

[illegible] Stanfield went to Birmingham [illegible].

[illegible] Ray, assistant depot agent, went yesterday to Birmingham.

[illegible] the $2, gold [illegible] given away at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Mrs. A. O. Davis, of Bibb, Texas, is paying a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Smith.

[illegible] J. E. White, of Energy, [illegible] W. Jones, of Lily, were [illegible] welcome visitors Saturday.

[illegible] Rosa Thornton will open [illegible] school next Monday, [illegible] at the Stanfield school.

[illegible] town is going ahead. Mr. [illegible] Chesnutt has commenced [illegible] a new store house he is [illegible] next to Mr. Wright's.

Miss Myrtle Moore, of Montgomery county, is visiting the family of Capt. Middleton.

[illegible] Cotter is in town to day.

[illegible] Stewart went on a business trip to Birmingham yesterday.

The Baptists of Clanton have called Rev. F. M. Woods, of Jemison, who will serve them the next associational year. Services will be held every third Sunday as here[illegible].

Rev. J. G. Lowrey has accepted a call from the Baptist church, Wanor, Ala., and will shortly remove his family there.

[illegible] A. J. Gullahorn, of Texas, [illegible] a visit to relatives this week.

Miss Mattie Palmer left last week for Anniston, Ala., to attend school.

The cheapest line of shoes in [illegible] at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

[illegible] pounds of fine coffee for $1 [illegible] Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons: Mr. Isaac Powell and Miss Laura Ann Savilla Robinson; Mr. P. E. West and Miss Viola I. Logan.

[illegible] received a lot of men's and [illegible] hats of the latest styles at [illegible] to suit the times at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

There will be public speaking at [illegible] Springs, Saturday, Oct. [illegible]. Full attendance expected.

There will be public speaking at [illegible] loma, beat 3, Saturday, Oct [illegible] m., after which there will [illegible] important business to attend. Every body expected to [illegible].

There will be singing at Harmony [illegible]-house, Sunday, Oct. 11, [illegible] a.m. and preaching by [illegible] John Hewett, at 11. Everyone [illegible] and bring class choir.

J. B. MARLAR.

Condensed Testimony.

[illegible] B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years [illegible] caused by La Grippe, by [illegible] King's New Discovery. B. F. [illegible], Baldwinsville, Mass., says [illegible] has used and recommended [illegible] never knew it to fail and [illegible] rather have it than any doctor, [illegible] always cures. Mrs. [illegible] 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, [illegible] always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. S. [illegible] Drug Store.

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Winelager, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes: "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects. I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits, or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E. Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Clanton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

United States Marshal's Sale of Valuable Real estate.

Under and by virtue of power conferred upon me by a writ of Fieri Facias, issued out of the United States District Court, for the Middle District of Alabama, commanding me, that of goods and chattels, land and tenements of B. H. McCrary and B. F. Rasberry, to be made the sum of $360.00 with interest from the 28th day of May, 1896, together with all costs. I have this day levied upon the following described real estate as the property of B. H. McCrary, to-wit:

W½ of sw¼ sec 15 tp 22 r 12; sw¼ of se1-4 of sw1-4 sec 16 tp 22 r 12; ne1-4 of sw1-4 of sec 16 t 22 r 12; s½ of sw1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of se 1-4 sec 9 t 22 r 13.

Also the following described real estate as the property of the defendant B. F. Rasberry, to-wit:

S½ of se1-4 and ne1-4 of se1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13; sw1-4 of se1-4 sec 19 t 22 r 13; [illegible] of se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, w½ [illegible] sw1-4 and s½ of sw1-4 of nw1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13; se1-4 of nw1-4 and w½ of ne1-4 of sw1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 13, lying and being in the County of Chilton and State of Alabama, together with appurtenances and improvements thereunto belonging and will proceed to sell the same at the Court House door in Clanton to the highest and best bidder for cash on the first Monday in October, being the 5th day, 1896.

This the 4th September, 1896.

W. H. TISDALE, United States Marshal
By J. A. DUDLEY, Deputy.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena.

Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

No. 3[illegible]—Surrey Harness, Price $1[illegible] As good as sells for $[illegible]

but have sold direct to the consumer for 22 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 1[illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness, [illegible] styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $3[illegible]. Phaetons as low as $[illegible] Spring Wagons $31 to $[illegible]. Send for large Catalogue.

No. 7[illegible]—Price with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible].00. As good as sells for $[illegible]

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12 w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12 s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896.

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18351.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, Mary E. Gibbons, Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder on the premises, on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896.

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate, belonging to said estate, to wit:

N1-2 of section 21 except the e1 2 of e1-2 of ne1-4, ne1-4 and sw1-4 of se1-4 of section 20, s1-2 of sw1 4 and sw1-4 of se 1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 of section 16 all in township 22 range 13.

MARY E. GIBBONS,
Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

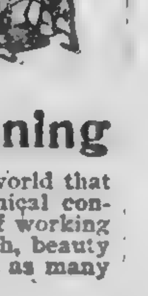
THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular



for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans,

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

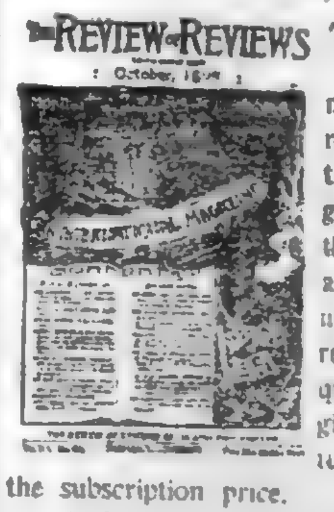
Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

"ALL THE MAGAZINES IN ONE."

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.



THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

FIVE MONTHS FOR $1.00.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION $2.50.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

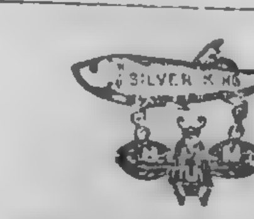
THREE RECENT SAMPLES 25 cents.

Sold on all News Stands. Single Copy, 25 cents.

Agents find it the Most Profitable Magazine.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
13 Astor Place, New York.

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!



THESE Badges are a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] profits for agents. [illegible] For terms address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEPT
[illegible]

We Employ Young Men to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,

C. H. CHEATHAM.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE

FIRST-CLASS WORK

LOWEST PRICES

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
Lippman's Great Remedy
Brings Help To All!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influenee.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

There has been an awkward pause in the revelation of newly discovered heirs to large estates, but it is broken by a report from Texas that amply compensates for the intermission. Thomas B. Watts, a youth of 20, is the beneficiary. He is at present in the hay business at Arcadia, and he has been informed that "property worth $18,000,000 in the heart of New York City" has been waiting for him for six years. If this fortune proves as fickle as others of the kind Mr. Watts can soon be congratulated on a marked addition to his stock of experience, even if he is forced to sacrifice some of his stock of hay to acquire it.

People who are in the habit of picturing all thieves and robbers as low-browed villians of vulgar manners will receive a rude shock when they learn of the conduct of a young man who despoiled Mrs. C. J. Newstrom, of Chicago, of her pocket-book. This young man approached his victim with the utmost politeness, said "Please throw up your hands," and when she did so and her pocket-book fell to the sidewalk, he removed his hat with a polite apology before stooping to secure it. The age of chivalry is upon us.

A New York multimillionaire writes a column article to prove that any man with a capital of $47 to start with can speedily pile up a million dollars. Will somebody kindly loan us $46.00?

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Company, printed near the bottom of the package. For sale by all responsible druggists.

Any man can make at least one woman happy for life. All he has to do is to remain a bachelor.—Atchison Globe.

Among the Noted.

Among the most noted and successful specialists in this country are Dr. Dozier & Co. They have extended their business from year to year and the patronage given to them in the several surrounding States is most gratifying. Dr. Dozier is a high-toned, polished, Christian gentleman and has many warm personal friends in Anniston who knew him years ago when practicing in Rome, Ga.—Anniston (Ala.) Hot Blast.

$100 Reward. $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,
Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have 50 or $60 you can afford for a 10-volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopedia will be sent [illegible] stamps by the Book [illegible] St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopedia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts [illegible].

Tell a Friend Good News.

Providence, R. I.

"Please forward six boxes of Tetterine, C. O. D. I think it strange that it is not sold here in New England, as it is the best cure for eczema, ringworm and all eruptions of the skin I ever saw. I got a box from a Cincinnati drummer, and gave part of it to a young lady who had tried almost everything to remove pimples and an eruption from her face. Two applications of Tetterine completely cured her. I know also a gentleman whose body had been covered with eczema. Two boxes of Tetterine cured him completely, and now his skin is as smooth as a baby's."

P. O. Hanlon,
With Silver Springs Bleaching Co.

1 box for 50c. [illegible]
J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

It is a very certain indication of an approaching rain-storm when some one steals your umbrella.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap being 100 per cent. pure, is, therefore, absolutely all soap, and has nothing in it to turn yellow. Dobbins' Soap Mfg Co., Phila., guarantee its purity. Every one knows the value of borax. Try it once, please.

A man with seven marriageable daughters says that his house is a regular court house.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

After six years' suffering, I was cured by Piso's Cure.—Mary Thomson, 29 1-2 Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 19, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

"You are a 'dead shot' on giving past and future. R. H. Stephens, Gaines, Mo. Thousands testify the same way. Send date of birth and 10 cents for sketch of your life. L. C. [illegible], Astrologer, Kansas City, Mo.

Fall Medicine

Is fully as important and beneficial as spring medicine, for at this season there is great danger to health in the varying temperature, cold storms, malarial germs and prevalence of fevers and other diseases. Danger may be avoided by taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills assist Digestion and cure Constipation. 25 cents.

GEARHART'S FAMILY KNITTER.

Knits a stocking heel and toe in ten minutes. Knits everything required in the household from homespun or factory, wool or cotton yarns. Most practical knitter on the market. A child can operate it. Strong, Durable, Simple, Rapid. Satisfaction guaranteed. Agents wanted. For particulars and sample work, address

PRICE $8.00

J. E. GEARHART, Box 100, Clearfield, Pa.

LET US do your printing 100 Cards or Envelopes, 40 cts. Address Free Press, Sandoval, Ill

$8 PAID Per 100 for Distributing Samples of Washing Fluid, 4c stamps. A. W. Scott, Cohoes, N. Y

MARRIAGE Paper with 500 ads and Photos, many rich, free. J. W. Gunnels, Toledo, O.

Am. N. U. No. 40.. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

AMONG POLITICIANS.

The Most Interesting Political News of the Week.

THE FUSION RECORD.

Twenty States Fixed and Arrangements in Other States.—John Boyd Thacher, of New York, Declines to Continue the Race For Governor of That State.

Secretary Edgerton, of the People's party, has given out the official record of the fusion up to date and the prospects of fusion by the Populites in several State where such action has been proposed by Democrats, Populites and free silver Republicans.

In Alabama and Arkansas there has been no fusion.

In California the fusion is arranged so that the Democrats get five and the Populists four electors and a Congressman.

In Colorado the Populists are to get one of the four electors and a Congressman.

In Connecticut, one Populist elector and one Congressman.

In Delaware the Populists will have no ticket.

In Florida no arrangements have yet been made with the Democrats and none will be made with the Republicans.

In Georgia there will be no fusion.

In Idaho the present arrangement is one Populist, one Democrat and one free silver Republican elector.

In Illinois the fusion is settled, the Populists getting four out of the twenty-four electors and one State officer.

The negotiations in Indiana are not settled.

In Iowa the Populists get three electors and three Congressmen and the Democrats one elector.

In Kansas the Populists get all the State officers and Congressmen.

In Kentucky the Populists have agreed on taking two electors and the Democrats eleven. The Populists are claiming two Congressmen, but the Democrats have not conceded to the latter arrangements.

In Maine, no fusion.

In Michigan the fusion is recognized as the Union silver party, the Democrats, free silver Republicans and Populists, the latter getting four out of the fourteen electors.

In Minnesota the Populists are to have four of the nine electors.

No fusion in Mississippi.

The arrangement in Missouri is not yet completed, the Populists proposing a concession of Congressmen. The Missouri State ticket to be separate.

In Montana the Populists get one elector.

In Nebraska fusion is complete—three Democratic and four Populist electors and one elector and one Congressman to the free silver Republicans.

Nevada and New Hampshire, no fusion.

New Jersey, one Populist and nine Democratic electors and one Populist Congressman.

In New York the Populists are strong, but no negotiations for fusion were deemed necessary up to the Thacher letter. If Thacher remains the Democratic nominee for Governor, the Populists will put a separate ticket in the field or fuse with the silver Democrats, should they bolt.

In South Carolina the fusion is arranged. Five Democratic and five Populite electors and one silver Republican elector.

In Ohio the Populites get five out of the twenty-three electors, and in Oregon they get four.

In Pennsylvania the Populites get four and the Democrats twenty-eight electors, the Populists indorsing Joe Sibley, who by their strength will be returned to Congress.

No fusion in Rhode Island and South Carolina.

South Dakota give Populites two and Democrats two electors.

In Tennessee, where two tickets are in the field, there are no prospects for fusion.

In Texas, although rumor has reached Senator Butler, of a fusion between the Populites and the Republicans, no official reports of such fusion have been received. Should such an alliance be officially reported, it will be promptly repudiated by the Populist party.

In Utah the Populites secure one of three electors.

In Virginia the fusion has not been completed, but is very probable.

In Washington there is a joint ticket—one Democrat, one Republican and two Populist electors.

In West Virginia the fusion is still incomplete. The Populists claim and the Democrats have promised two of the six electors.

In Wisconsin the fusion is complete and satisfactory, the Democrats conceding to the Populists three of the nine electors.

In Wyoming the fusion is also complete, Populists taking one of the three electors.

With these arrangements already perfected, Chairman Butler and Secretary Edgerton base their claims on the election of William Jennings Bryan by the biggest popular majority ever given to a Presidential candidate.

DECLINES TO RUN.

John Boyd Thacher, of New York, Is Out of the Race For Governor.

John Boyd Thacher has declined to accept the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York. Mr. Thacher was nominated at Buffalo by the Democratic convention on September 17. The platform adopted by that convention in so far as it unequivocally endorsed the Chicago platform, cannot be subscribed to by Mr. Thacher any more than he could have given his approval to the Chicago platform itself in many of its essential features. The result of this is his declination to stand as a candidate. He had been led to believe that the Democratic State platform would be entirely acceptable to him, and would not do violence to the stand taken by him at Saratoga on June 24, in favor of an international bimetallism currency. Therefore he had agreed to stand as a Democratic candidate for Governor for the sole purpose, as he says, of striving to keep the party in that State together for the future as well as for the present. His idea was that the fight in the State should be confined to State issues. The silver wing of the party declines to accept his analysis of the political situation, and has demanded that an out and out silver man be placed on the ticket for Governor, and that the fight shall be made upon the National issues, and more particularly upon the Democratic proposition of free coinage at the 16 to 1 ratio.

Mr. Thacher thinks that his declination will result in Wilber F. Porter, of Watertown, his companion on the present ticket as candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, being named by the State Committee at its meeting on Monday night as the candidate for Governor.

:o:

IN BURNING OIL.

Ill-Fated Seamen on the British Steamship Cyrus Enwrapt.

Three of the crew and a stowaway of the iron steamship Cyrus (British), Captain Simmons, from Philadelphia for Norfolk, met a horrible death Monday night while the steamer was lying off the quarantine station at Marcus Hook in the Delaware river. The killed are: Alfred T. Becks, first mate; Hans Jaggers, fireman; Fred Hilner, a sailor; an unknown man, a stowaway.

The men, in lowering a barrel of oil into the hold of the vessel, accidentally burst it, and, to save the oil, procured another barrel. One of the men struck a match and ignited the fluid. The hold of the vessel was soon filled with the flame and smoke. The four men were suffocated before they could be rescued by the Captain and remainder of the crew.

The Cyrus has a registered tonnage of 2,175 tons and was in ballast going to Norfolk, Va. Her Captain and crew are mostly Englishmen. She cleared from Philadelphia today.

:o:

A POLITICAL RIOT.

Twenty Men Injured, Some Fatally, Maybe.—Politics the Cause.

A free silver meeting at Orestes, Ind., Friday afternoon broke up in a riot, in which twenty people were more or less injured—three, it is feared, fatally. A parade was one of the features, and the line of march was past the Republican Workers' Club house. Fifteen or twenty members were seated on the porch when the parade passed. Some of the marchers made allusions to McKinley pictures in the windows. This brought a retort from those on the porch, and a company of mounted men, followed by a mob of men on foot, left the ranks and attacked the little party. A perfect shower of boulders and bricks fell on the porch, hitting the men and crashing through the weather boarding and windows. The fusilade was kept up for some time, and when the riot was finally quelled and the 300 or 400 men dispersed it was found that about twenty men had been injured, and three—John McKinney, D. K. Miller and Carl Lightfoot—were in a dangerous condition. It is feared that their injuries will prove fatal. The club house is a wreck. A number of arrests were made.

:o:

NEARLY FIFTY THOUSAND

Is the Loss of a Savannah, Ga., Firm by Fire.

A. B. Hull & Co.'s wholesale grocery was burned Wednesday morning. The stock was valued at $35,000, upon which there was an insurance of $31,000, distributed among ten companies. It was totally destroyed. Nothing but the walls of the building are left. The building cost $10,000, and is fully insured.

Fireman Frank McStay is dead, the result of a fall through an open grating forty feet, and Charles McNally, a former employe of the firm, is under arrest, charged with firing the building.

This is the third time during the year that Hull & Co. have been burned out. Each fire has had the appearance of incendiarism, but the firm has been unable to secure sufficient evidence to warrant any arrest.

:o:

DR. RYDER CONVICTED.

Dr. W. L. Ryder, who assassinated Miss Sallie Emma Owen in Talbotton, Ga., on the night of April 5, was convicted Saturday of the crime and sentenced to be hanged January 15, 1897.

Dr. Ryder was madly in love with Miss Owen, who did not reciprocate his affection. Enraged by disappointment and madly jealous of her other suitors, he armed himself with a shotgun, crept up to the parlor where she was conversing with a friend and discharged one barrel of his gun, the load tearing off the side of her face, death resulting instantly. The murderer then shot at her visitor, inflicting a slight wound.

:o:

A MURDERER CAUGHT.

Johnnie Johnson, who murdered four of the Cotton family, it is reported, has been captured and is safely in jail at Greensburg, La.

HORRIBLE ASSASSINATION

A Georgian, Prominent in Military Circles, the Victim.

Capt. George H. Berry, of the Effingham Hussars, a company of the First Regiment, Georgia Cavalry, was assassinated Saturday while on his way from Savannah to his home in Effingham county, about thirty miles west of Savannah. His body was found lying in the road. His head had been blown nearly off by a load of buckshot. The body was found by a party of men which had stopped Berry's horse and buggy several miles from where the tragedy occurred. The Coroner, Chief of Police and county officers were notified and went out and took charge of the body. Officers are on the track of the assassins, and it is believed they will be arrested in a short time. The motive for the killing is supposed to have been robbery. The murdered man's pistol was taken and what money he had on his person. Berry is a small farmer and seldom carried any large amount of money, so that the robbers must have been mistaken in their victim.

:o:

WITH A WINCHESTER.

Farmer Brentley, of Dallas County, Shoots Farmer Wheeler.

A fatal shooting affray took place between J. C. Wheeler and A. J. Brentley, two planters, twelve miles south of Selma, Ala., Thursday night. They were traveling along the road, together with other planters, each in their own wagons, and stopped by the side of the road to rest. Wheeler, who was in liquor, was eating, and Brentley's dog came to where he was. Drawing his pistol, he shot the dog. Brentley said: "You might as well shoot me as to shoot my dog," whereupon Wheeler opened fire on him. Brentley rushed to his wagon, grabbed up a Winchester and shot Wheeler through the heart. He fell dead without a groan. Brentley surrendered.

:o:

TERRIFIC STORM.

English and Bristol Channels Get a Blow. Vessels Delayed.

A terrific northeast gale prevailed throughout Thursday night in the English Channel, the Bristol Channel, off Cornwall and elsewhere along the coasts, doing a great deal of damage.

Several sailing vessels were driven ashore in the Bristol Channel and off Cornwall and the steamer Teutonic, from Liverpool, September 24, for New York, was delayed at Queenstown four hours, after which the storm abated somewhat, and she proceeded on her voyage. The barks Adger and Baron Hoberg were wrecked off Folkstone during the night, the crews of both vessels being saved.

:o:

STRIKE WILL CONTINUE.

The situation at Leadville, Col., is practically unchanged. There was some firing last night and early this morning, says a late dispatch from there, but it was merely the firing of the guards demanding the halting of strangers. It is now understood that the conference of the miners' committee of five resulted in a decision to continue the strike. The vote is said to have been three for continue and two for an effort looking to a compromise.

:o:

VICTORIA CONGRATULATED.

The Mayors of London and other English cities wired messages to the Queen at Balmoral Wednesday morning, congratulating Her Majesty upon having occupied the throne longer than any other British Sovereign. Church bells throughout London and in other cities were rung this morning in honor of the event, and the National anthem will be played in the theaters this evening, but in accordance with the desire of the Queen the occasion will not be celebrated officially until 1897, when Her Majesty will have completed the sixtieth year of her reign.

:o:

A KNOXVILLE FAILURE.

A Big Clothing and Furnishing House Goes Up.

McTeer Bros., one of the leading retail clothing and furnishing goods houses in Knoxville, have assigned. Charles T. Cates, Jr., was named as assignee. The liabilities are $38,000; assets not given. Preferred claims of $9,000 of the indebtedness of $20,000 falls on Knoxville and $18,000 on Eastern merchants.

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.

A dangerous counterfeit made its appearance at Toledo, O., Wednesday. It is a $2 Windom silver certificate raised to $10. Toledo has evidently been worked thoroughly, as no less than six of the raised notes made their appearance at the various banks. Judging from the persons who endeavored to deposit the notes the bill-raisers are disposing of them in small stores, bakeries, etc. The raised work is excellently done.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—19 lbs

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

OUR OWN STATE.

The Latest News of Interest From Our Neighbor Towns.

BIG FAMILY REUNION.

Alabama Iron is Greatly in Demand and Readily Sold.—Girls Industrial School at Montevallo Will Open on the 12th.—Demands Retrenchment. —Other Items.

Mr. F. B. Johnson, of Pike county, had a reunion of his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren at his home on last Wednesday. Mr. Johnson had the pleasure of having fifty-two of his descendants present, and had it not been for sickness twenty more would have swelled the number. Uncle Felder, as he is known, is one of the best preserved men of his age, being 73 years old. It is rather peculiar that had none of them been kept away Uncle Felder would have had seventy-three on his 73d birthday. It is needless to say that a bountiful feast was spread, and that all who had the pleasure of attending will always remember the occasion as one of the most pleasant they ever attended. Uncle Felder has been a member of the Baptist church for over half a century, and has been a deacon for nearly a quarter of a century. Springfield Church, of which he is a member, is to be congratulated on having such a member.

CAPTAIN FREEMAN DEAD.

Captain Hiram S. Freeman, Ex-Mayor of Decatur and a director of the First National Bank, died in that city Tuesday. He was a native of Saratoga, N. Y. He owned large property, and was noted for his generosity. He was a benefactor to the poor.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

The ginhouse of W. W. Berry, in Lexington precinct, Dallas county, was burned Friday night, together with forty bales of cotton and several tons of seed. The fire was caused by the accidental overturning of a lamp in the packing room. Loss, $4,000; no insurance.

ARRESTED IN TEXAS.

Bob and Ira Holloway, two men wanted for whitecapping a homestead settler in Lawrence county, Alabama, have been arrested in Texas, near Dallas. The whitecapping was some three years ago, and the Government has been anxious to get the men charged with the offense. While no reward was offered for the capture of the men, the fees in the case were by no means small, and worth the while for the officers to make the capture at some little expense.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSAULT.

In the case against George Austell, on trial at Scottsboro, charged with robbing R. W. Christian, the jury, after being out all night, returned a verdict of guilty and fixing the penalty at fifteen years in the penitentiary. Thomas Clipper, the second man to be tried on the same charge, when arraigned in court, promptly entered a plea of guilty and by consent of the Solicitor, was given six years in the penitentiary. Charley Hall, the last of the three who have been brought to justice, also entered a plea of guilty and asked the clemency of the court.

MOONSHINER JUSTICE.

Andrew and Anderson Hogue, of Jackson county, were placed under $300 bond each Tuesday, charged with illicit distilling and selling whisky. The hearing was before United States Commissioner Parks, at Scottsboro. From the testimony, which is conclusive, it seems that A. J. Hogue, who is County Commissioner from the First District, a Justice of the Peace and postmaster at Kosh, with three sons, have been operating two stills for several years. The father was arrested some time ago and is now under bond for illicit distilling. The three boys escaped, but the two named above were caught a few days since. The third is still at large.

ALABAMA IRON.

An official of one of the large iron companies of Birmingham, states that the output of his company's furnaces has been sold for four months to come. This large order shows that the demand is increasing, and it also indicates that there is profit in making iron even at the prevailing low prices.

An expert has demonstrated that it costs $4.85 per ton to make iron in the Birmingham district. This low cost of production makes the Birmingham iron masters independent of the tariff and of eastern competition. It is the cost of production that determines the profit of iron making. There will always be a demand for as much iron as the Birmingham district can make.

GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

There is a buzz and stir in Montevallo, such as was never seen before, says a recent special from that place. Everybody and everything seems to realize the Industrial School of Alabama will open its doors on the 12th day of October to the fair girls of our State.

President Reynolds is a hard worked man, but with his wonderful skill as an organizer and his extreme energy, everything will move off like clock work at the appointed time. A car load of the most beautiful furniture, for the school, has just arrived, and six pianos and several organs are on the road. The enrollment of pupils is rapidly being filled up, and if the distant counties are not heard from their places will be given to those applying for admission from other counties.

:o:

A YOUNG DEFAULTER.

The 18-year-old assistant cashier of the Bank of Lancaster, S. C., Ernest Hasseltine, has defaulted to the amount of $3,500 and skipped out. He dealt in futures.

:o:

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

Elkins Bros.' grist mill and elevator with 10,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed by fire at Chicago Junction, O., Sunday, causing a loss of $100,000.

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." . . . Stop! There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.

Any doubt left? Get the "Curebook."
It kills doubts but cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

GOLD! M'KINLEY AND HOBART
OR
SILVER! BRYAN AND SEWALL
Bannerette,
6x8 INCHES,
Lithographed in Five Colors on Net Work.
A Novelty for Every Home.
A Necessity for Every Office.
10 Cents by Mail.
AGENTS WANTED. -:- LIBERAL TERMS.
TOM EVANS, 34 Park Row, New York.

FLORIDA LANDS—$100 will buy land enough for a farm. I have 300 acres of best fruit and vegetable lands near the town of Grove City, subdivided into ten acre tracts at $10 per acre. One mile from Lemon bay, two miles from Gulf of Mexico. Practically below frost. The land has natural drainage, with all the timber necessary for building and fencing purposes. Saw mill near by. Now, while lands are cheap, is the time to secure a farm in this, the coming section of the South Gulf Coast. Address with stamp D. W. Arline, Grove City, Florida.

Why Let Your Chickens,
Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?
Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING &
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars.
COUCH & LUGENBEEL, Senoia, Ga.

RODS and Dip Needle. for prospectors, miners and treasure seekers
Cir. 2c P. & M. Agency. Box A, Palmyra, Pa

WANTED YOUNG MEN AND LADIES TO LEARN Telegraphy for positions on railroads. DALLAS TELEGRAPH COLLEGE, Dallas, Texas.

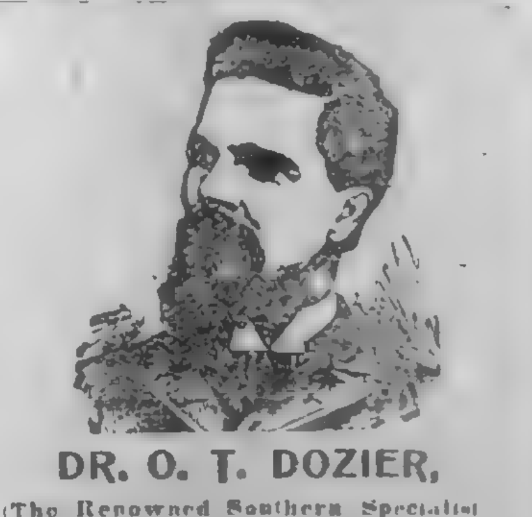
PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) Deane & Weaver, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

FOUNTAIN PEN FREE
And best agency position on earth. Send address and stamp to N. Y. Importing Co., P. O. Box 136 Dep't. A, New York.

WE TELL HOW to make & sell spring beds. Pays agents 200 per cent profit. We supply material and tools. Ordway & Co., 233 Gay St., Peoria, Ill.

YOU CAN MAKE MONEY selling the Ladies' Favorite Carpet Sweeper. Send stamp for particulars. Exchange Agency, Box 770 Hillsboro, Ohio.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my special practice. Diseases peculiar to women and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, [illegible] quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)
Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)
Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)
We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)
* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)
As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician * * * He is a Georgian by birth, a high-toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)
Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments and a gentleman respected by all who know him. He can be relied on in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)
His (Dr Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

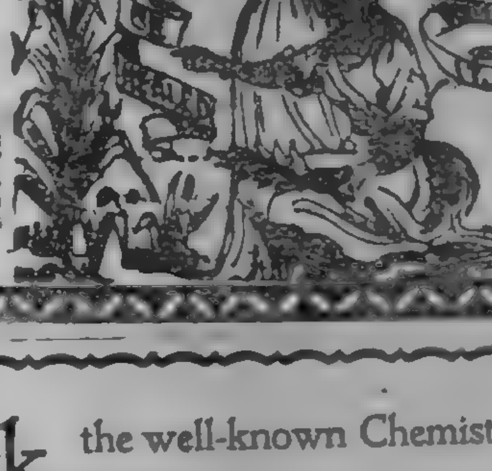
Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, Birmingham, Ala.

WINE OF CARDUI TREATMENT OF FEMALE DISEASES

Thousands of women are nervous, tired, have headache, sick stomach, fainting spells, dizziness, scanty or profuse menses, weak back, constipation; their sides, shoulders and limbs ache constantly—in fact, they suffer from general debility of the whole system. The superior tonic qualities of McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI make it the leading remedy for this class of troubles.

L. D. Pangburn, New Virginia, Iowa, says: "My wife has suffered for years from general weakness, pain in top of head, back and neck—at times could not do her work. One bottle of McElree's Wine of Cardui has given her instant relief. The effect is wonderful."



Prof. Babcock, the well-known Chemist, says:—

"I find that Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa is absolutely pure. It contains no trace of any substance foreign to the pure roasted cocoa-bean. The color is that of pure cocoa; the flavor is natural, and not artificial; and the product is in every particular such as must have been produced from the pure cocoa-bean without the addition of any chemical, alkali, acid, or artificial flavoring substance, which are to be detected in cocoas prepared by the so-called 'Dutch process.'"

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Probate Judge

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1896 NO. 50.

"Free trains to Canton."

All oppressors of labor are for McKinley.

"All the enemies of labor are for McKinley."

"Down with the labor unions."—Mark Hanna.

"Fire every democrat in the shop." —Republican Boss.

Every dollar is redeemable in debts, taxes and commodities.

"Men Wanted: Must be for McKinley."—Joliet Steel Works.

Dear dollars means scarce dollars and hard times for the producers.

"Crush silver."—H. C. Payne, Republican National Campaign Committee.

Now is the accepted time to lead your erring brother into the political light.

"I discharge all men who won't vote for McKinley."—Corporation President.

"Suppress all talk in favor of silver in our workshops."—Hanna to his Foreman.

The government must own the railroads or the railroads will control the government.

What man so silly as to sell silver at 60 cents an ounce when he could have it coined into dollars.

Both parties have presented their Bills to the people. The jury will decide on November 3d which is the genuine.

There is a good deal of socialism and paternalism in the postal system, but no one is willing to abolish it even on that account.

Foreign news is not attracting much attention just now. The American people have decided to attend to their own business awhile.

We are constantly assured that the silver tide is turning, but it is not stated which particular section it is going to overflow next.

The man who robbed the Chicago alderman either made a mistake or has little respect for the adage that "there is honor among thieves."

Wheat, corn, cotton, hogs and cattle may double in price under free coinage of silver, even as the gold bugs say they will. But that won't hurt the farmer.

Even the British goldbugs are helping to boost the "existing gold standard" campaign by shipping gold over here and temporarily propping up the gold reserve.

The system that requires two bushels or pounds where one was promised seems to suit the plutocrat very well, but when it comes to reversing the operation the cry of national dishonor is raised.

We now rise to insist that the advance in the price of coal should not be tampered with. The coal combines have "studied the question" and know more about it than the ignorant common people.

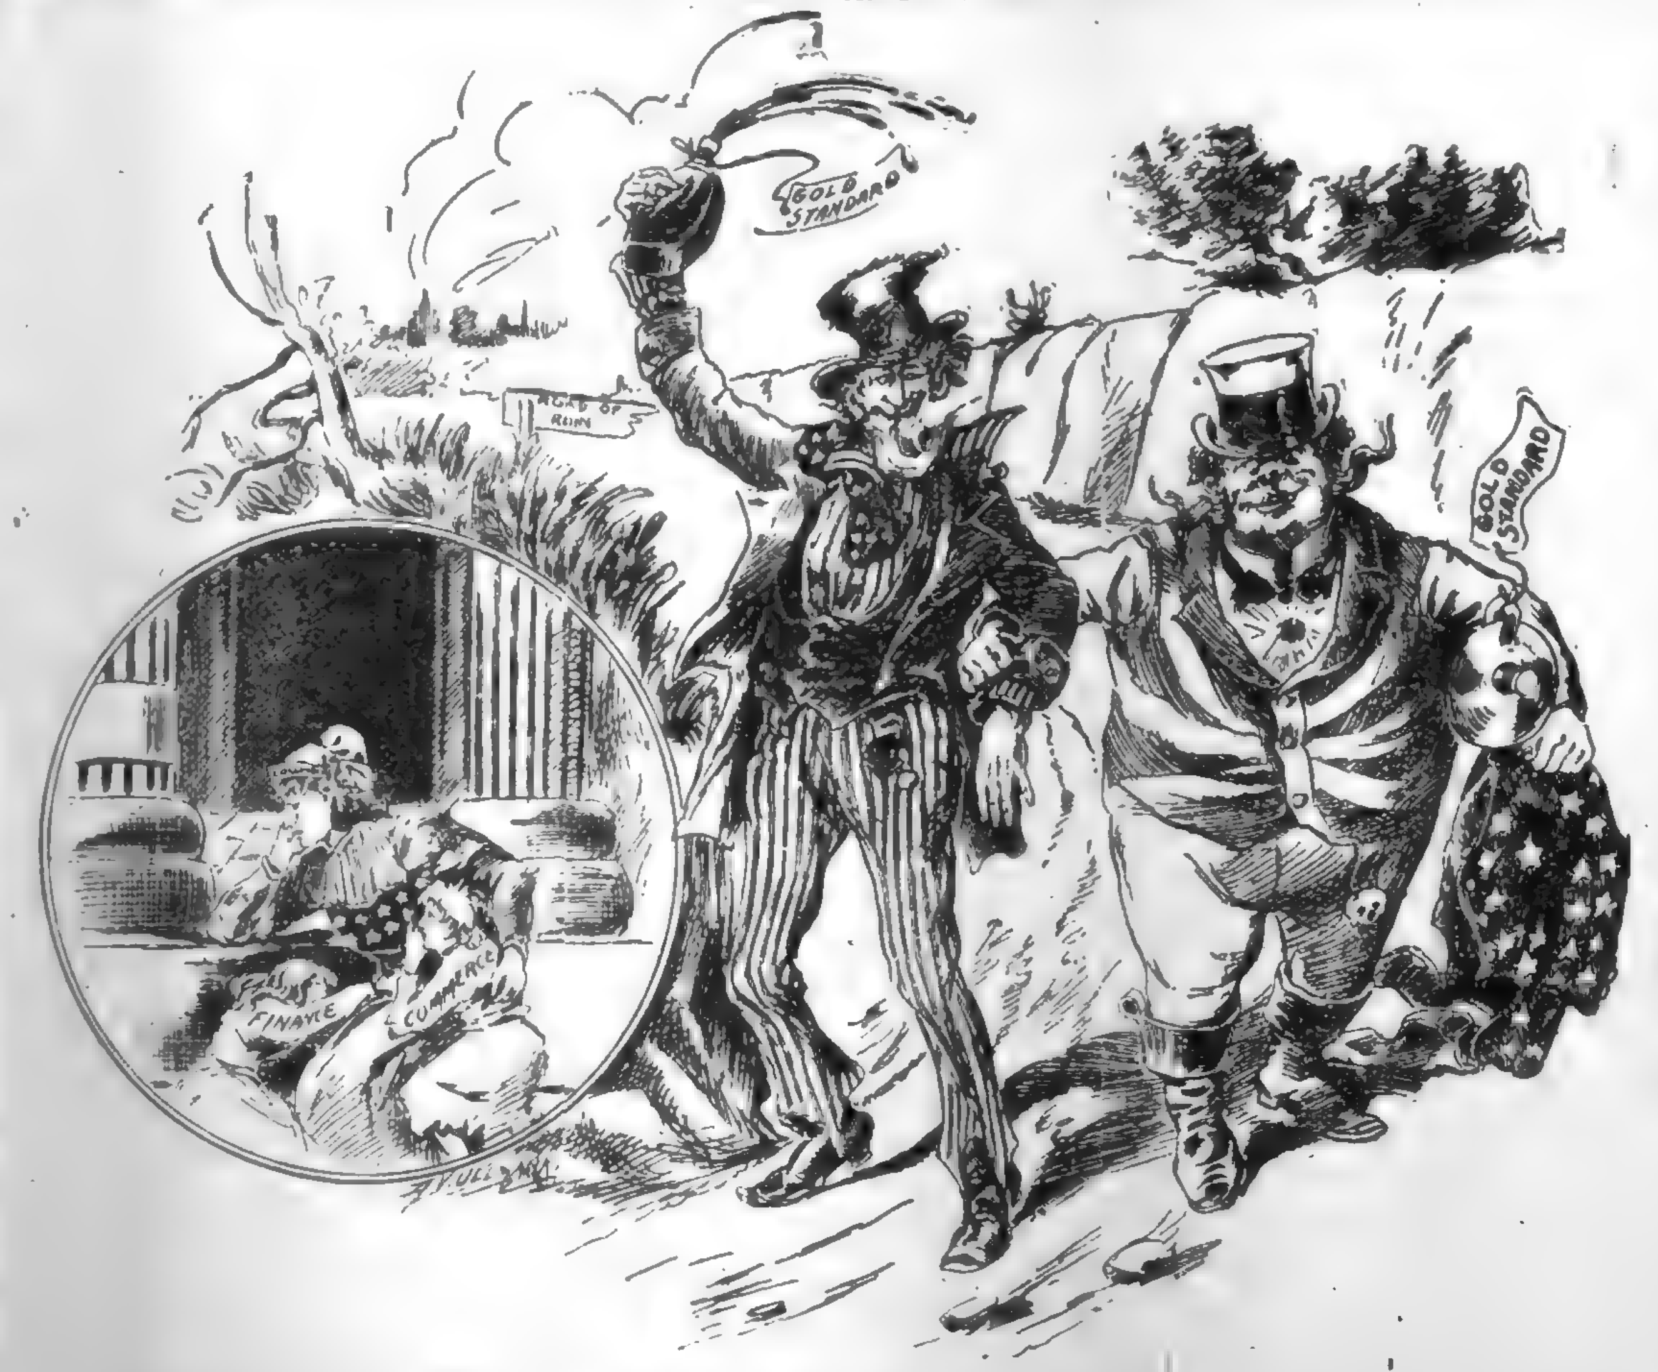
Some of the plutocratic papers are almost going into fits because the Supreme Court is being criticised. They seem to forget that there was a time when the Dred Scott decision of the court aroused the whole country and it was finally shot to death.

The principal argument the gold bugs make against free silver coinage is that it is cheap—too cheap. If it is true that it is cheap it is the result of adverse legislation. If adverse legislation will destroy its parity it is but reasonable to suppose that friendly legislation will restore it.

That speech in the senate last spring in which Senator David B. Hill promised to support the Chicago ticket and platform, and announced that Tillman should be kept out of the convention if he did not promise to do so, is one of the things which no doubt bears heavily on the New York senator's mind.

Senator Hill's silence reminds us of the story of the young man who was flirting with a girl. While in one of his moods of assumed passion he proposed marriage and she promptly accepted him. Astonished at the unexpected turn affairs had taken he leaned back in his chair and was silent for several minutes. The girl thinking the occasion demanded something more than silence said: "Jim, why don't you say something?" "I think there has enough been said," replied the crestfallen Jim. Hill evidently thinks enough has been said.

Phil Armour, Lyman Gage, Marshall Field and other prominent business men are annoyed at the impression given out by Harvey's book that they attended his "Financial School" in Chicago, and the metropolitan papers are again denying that Harvey ever held any Financial School in Chicago. These people should rest easily. Few people have any idea that they would for a moment attend any kind of a financial school not held by bankers, but there are several million people in this country who are investigating the financial question and that is what bothers the above named gentlemen.



JOHN BULL:—Hi got the Blooming Hidiot drunk. Now, hif Hi can keep 'im drunk until the Mortgage his closed, hold Hengland will be Mistress of the world for a thousand years to come.

THAT CONFERENCE.

WATSON, WASHBURN, REED AND RANKIN MEET.

Declare Their Purpose to Stand by the Action of the Party—National Convention—Bryan to Receive Full and Ardent Support of All Populists.

Recently Mr. Watson held a conference at St. Louis, with three members of the National Executive Committee. The result of that conference has been published to the country. It is proper to say that the conference was timely and the result was satisfactory to Mr. Watson and should be accepted by his friends. The time has arrived when the people demanded some action by the men whom they had made managers of the campaign. Discontent in the ranks was growing and revolt was rife in several states. The cause of most of this dissension grew out of the double-tailed presidential ticket. While there was much opposition manifested at St. Louis to the nomination of Mr. Bryan, all or nearly all were willing to accept the result provided the Democrats would do so in good faith. This was the feeling when the delegates left St. Louis. Having accepted the action of the national convention, it was not expected that the Democrats would reject the overtures there made and demand a further division of electors on the vice-presidential ticket, or that any state would bolt or reject the action of the national convention. Mr. Sewall's name was fairly put before the convention and rejected by an overwhelming majority. Then the different states began to hold the conventions and demands were made for further concessions. In Kansas and Colorado the whole of the electorial ticket was given to Bryan and Sewall. The Populists in those states had no opportunity to vote for Mr. Watson, the candidate of their own national convention. This action, of course, gave rise to much dissatisfaction which terminated in open revolt in those two states. This revolt was also spreading in other states where fusion on Sewall electors was in progress or had been made. Hence the conference between three of the national executive committee came in the nick of time.

The committee declares its purpose to remain loyal to Mr. Bryan. It also announces its purpose to "keep right in line with the action of our national convention." As to Mr. Sewall's withdrawal the report given out by the committee says: "We have formally made our request for that. The Democrats do not see their way clear to grant it. The responsibility of the result rests with them. Had Mr. Watson been substituted for Mr. Sewall and the silver forces thus united upon one set of candidates, representing both sides, fusion in every state would have been needless and we could have concentrated our efforts upon electing the union ticket. This would have brought out the entire silver vote and would have made Bryan's election sure." As to the situation in Kansas and Colorado the committee says: "The situation in those two states is unsatisfactory to our people. A proper division of electors must be made in them or our full party vote cannot be secured for Bryan. Our committee cannot recognize the action of the Populist state authorities in any state where the national convention has been bolted and a national nominee has been ignored."

This is a very plain declaration, yet it is in line with the action of the convention. It is a source of regret that the committee did not take this stand sooner. It is somewhat doubtful now if the matter can be patched up in time for the Populists to unite their vote in such manner as to carry the states named for Bryan. The action of those states has provoked much criticism outside and helped no little to complicate matters. It is questioned by many middle-of-the-road Populists whether any kind of fusion is in line with the action of the national convention. It is true that no speech made in the convention by those who favored Mr. Bryan's nomination contained any hint or allusion that further fusion than that agreed upon by the national conventiton was contemplated. It is pososible that Messrs. Washburne, Reed and Rankin have taken more advanced grounds on the situation than Chairman Butler occupies, but it is certain that a majority of the executive committee will sustain this action and it will meet with the hearty indorsement of the south and a large majority of the populists in the west and northwest. It is unfortunate, as the committee says, that the Democrats could not see their way clear to accomplish the withdrawal of Sewall and substitute Watson. As it is the committee has perhaps pointed the only way out of the difficulty and their action will doubtless be supported and adopted by all loyal Populists.

W. L. MORGAN.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Flashes of Thought Inspired by Passing Events.

The preamble to the People's party platform declares that "The influence of European money changers has been more potent in shaping legislation than the voice of the American people." While this charge is very bold, its truth cannot be denied. Thousands of millions of dollars in railroad stocks and bonds, and other corporations in this country are held by British capitalists, and in Congress and state legislatures paid lobbyists are kept to influence (?) friendly, and defeat adverse legislation.

* * *

No intelligent person will deny that millions of dollars are spent annually to corrupt our law makers, our executives and the courts of this country. Political parties are usually divided upon matters of public policy. As a result a small minority holds the balance of power. This is the leverage upon which the lobby works. The two parties divided upon a question a small fraction of one party assisting the other is able to enact such legislation as the lobbyists demand. Then comes the power of the corporations, trusts and other combines that assist each other in securing special legislation. Both the tariff and silver questions are recent examples of how the will o. the people is thwarted.

* * *

There are two remedies for this evil. One is an aggregation of independent voters—the larger the better—to counteract the influence of the regular party minority vote; and the other is direct legislation. If this independent vote, representing a protest from the people against evil and corrupt legislation is large enough to check the influence of the lobby it is usually effective. But the better plan would be by direct legislation—a system which the People's party demands. By this means men vote upon issues without regard to party. No party success is involved in their vote and hence they are more disposed to study political questions from an independent standpoint and vote their honest convictions.

* * *

One of the recent cartoons of the plutocratic press represents Uncle Sam with a silver dollar in one hand and a magic wand in the other, saying to the people: "See, children, I touch this money (worth 53 cents) with this wand—and, presto! Its value becomes 100 cents!" The cartoon is wholly unfair, inapplicable to the subject and calculated to deceive. Every student of the money question will make a distinction between the commercial value of a dollar and its legal value. The magic wand represents the law and invests the piece of silver with the legal value of 100 cents, and authorizes it as a medium of exchange and a legal tender in the payment of debts. Its commercial value is only affected to the extent of the increased demand for its use. The value of money is not inherent in itself, necessarily, but as an agent to facilitate commerce. The man who finds a counterfeit ten dollar bill may pay it to A, whom he owes that amount; A may pay it to B, and B to C, and C to D, and D to the man who found it before it is detected to be a counterfeit; yet it has gone the rounds paid all these debts and no one is the loser thereby.

Then the question might arise why not have counterfeit money? The reason is simple. To preserve stability of prices it is necessary to have a uniform volume of currency. On this point all writers on political economy agree. And here comes an important issue raised by the People's party. The government (the people) alone can be trusted to preserve this uniformity of volume. Congress alone is invested with that power. It was denied to the states and why should it not be withheld from corporations who have every incentive to abuse it. Why even should it be confined to the uncertainties of the varying production of one, or even two, metals? The power over the currency carries with it the power over prices and the business of the country. If the government confines itself to gold and silver it is to a greater or less extent subject to the control of men who own and control these two commodities. This is a fact that is beyond dispute. The plenary power of the government over the currency question is not confined to the one duty of promoting barter by a system where all other commodities are made exchangeable into the two of gold and silver, but to promote the exchange of all commodities with each other. A paper money does this as well as a metallic currency.

* * *

One of the amusing phases of the campaign is that everything that happens, or is going to happen, in the line of the dreadful, is charged to the so-called free silver craze. Recently two men in the city of Chicago committed suicide. One was a millionaire banker and sound money advocate, and the other a poor man and a friend of the white metal. The millionaire drowned himself in Lake Michigan, and the poor man shot himself in Lincoln park. The rich man's suicide was caused by dyspepsia, inducing insomnia and aberration of the mind; the other by a fit of despondency. Notwithstanding the verdict of the coroner's jury to the contrary, the plutocratic papers announce that the real cause of both deaths was the agitation of the silver question. The banker, according to the theories of the plutocrats, went crazy because he was likely to have to pay his debts in 53 cent dollars, and the poor man took his own life because he had not even the 53 cent dollars.

Free Silver Not a Cure.

Daily News, Marceline, Mo., Dr. J. H Perrin Editor.

Those financial doctors who think that the free coinage of silver will be a panacea for all our national ills are very superficial in their observation of the economic problems that are pressing forward for solution at the present time. Are the people who produce the wealth of this country getting a just share of what they produce? Is it not a fact that the forces of nature have been monopolized to such an extent that the laboring man can only use them by the grace of some trust or combine? Then he is only permitted to have enough of the products of his own labor to keep him in a condition to continue his work, which is a battle for life. On the other hand the syndicate, trusts and combines, or any other name they may assume, grow immensely wealthy, and year by year the distance between the two classes is lengthening. What will be the result if this process is allowed to continue? It requires no philosopher to tell that a change will have to be made. We hope and believe that it yet can be made peaceably by the ballot but the time may come when it can't.

Heretofore when a workingman voted he simply expressed his choice as to the peculiar political brand the fellow should wear who skinned him. Now he is awaking to the importance of voting as to whether he should be skinned at all or not, and if he votes against any skinning process he is called an anarchist.

THE COINAGE LAWS.

HOW, WHEN AND WHERE THE "DOLLAR" WAS MADE "UNIT."

Is There a "Unit of Value?" If So of What Is It Composed Since the Law Prohibits the Coinage of the Gold Dollar?

The first law enacted by congress with reference to the creation of money was the law of 1792. That part of this law which fixes the different denominations and values of money is as follows:

"Sec. 9. And be it further enacted that there shall be from time to time struck and coined at the said mint, coins of gold, silver and copper of the following denominations, values and descriptions, viz: Eagles—each to be of the value of ten dollars or units and to contain two hundred and forty-seven grains and four-eighths of a grain of pure, or two hundred and seventy grains of standard gold. Half-eagles—each to be of the value of five dollars and to contain one hundred and twenty-three grains and six-eighths of a grain of pure, or one hundred and thirty-five grains of standard gold. Quarter eagles—each to be of the value of two dollars and a half-dollar and to contain sixty-one grains and seven-eighths of a grain of pure, or sixty-seven grains and four-eighths of a grain of standard gold. Dollars or units—each to be of the value of a Spanish milled dollar as the three hundred and seventy-one and four-sixteenth parts of a grain of pure, or four hundred and sixteen grains of standard silver. Half-dollars—each to be of half the value of the dollar or unit and to contain one hundred and eighty-five grains and ten-sixteenth parts of a grain of pure, or two hundred and eight grains of standard silver. Quarter-dollars—each to be of one-fourth the value of the dollar or unit and to contain ninety-two grains and thirteen-sixteenth parts of a grain of pure, or one-hundred and four grains of standard silver. Dimes—each to be of the value of one-tenth of a dollar or unit and to contain thirty-seven grains and two-sixteenth parts of a grain of pure, or forty-one grains and three-fifth parts of a grain of standard silver. Half-dimes—each to be of the value of one-twentieth of a dollar and to contain eighteen grains and nine-sixteenth parts of a grain of pure, or twenty grains and four-fifth parts of a grain of standard silver. Cents—each to be of the value of the one-hundredth part of a dollar and to contain eleven pennyweights of copper. Half-cents—each to be of the value of half a cent and to contain five pennyweights and a half a pennyweight of copper."

The noticeable feature of this law is the manner in which it repeats the words "of the value of" when speaking about gold eagles, half and quarter eagles in connection with the "dollar," and the fact that the number of grains and parts of grains of silver used to make the dollar at that time are the the same as now.

The section of the law of 1832, which changed the ratio between the two metals reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled: That the gold coins of the United States shall contain the following quantities of metals, that is to say—each eagle shall contain two hundred and thirty-two grains of pure gold, and two hundred and fifty-eight grains of standard gold; each half-eagle one hundred and sixteen grains of pure gold, and one hundred and twenty-nine grains of standard gold; each quarter-eagle shall contain fifty-eight grains of pure gold, and sixty-four and a half grains of standard gold; every such eagle shall be of the value of ten dollars; every such half-eagle shall be of the value of five dollars; and every such quarter-eagle shall be of the value of two dollars and fifty cents; and the said gold coins shall be received in all payments, when of full weight, according to their respective values; and when of less than full weight at less values proportioned to their respective actual weights."

This section changed the ratio from 15 to 1 to 16 to 1 by reducing the amount of gold in the eagles, half-eagles and quarter-eagles to the proper proportion to accomplish that purpose.

The first law providing for the coinage of double-eagles and gold dollars was enacted March 3, 1849. The two first sections of that law are as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled: That there shall be from time to time struck and coined at the Mint of the United States and the branches thereof, conformably in all respects to the law (except that on the reverse of the gold dollar the figure of the eagle shall be omitted), and conformably in all respects to the standard for gold coins now established by law, coins of gold of the following denominations and values, viz: Double-eagles—each to be of the value of twenty dollars, or units, and gold dollars—each to of the value of one dollar, or unit.

"Sec. 2. And be it further enacted: That for all sums whatever the double-eagle shall be a legal tender for twenty dollars and the gold dollar shall be a legal tender for one dollar."

This was the first law enacted for the coining of gold "dollars," and it will be noticed from the manner in which they were bolstered up by the law specially declaring them "to be legal tender" and "of the value of one dollar" that the confidence in them was not of the spontaneous kind accorded to the silver dollar. It will also be noticed that in this law, enacted in 1849, the silver dollar was acknowledged to be the "dollar, or unit."

The next law affecting the "dollar," or "unit" was the famous law of Feb. 12, 1873, the two important sections of which are as follows:

"Sec. 14. That the gold coins of the United States shall be a one-dollar piece; which at the standard weight of twenty-five and eight-tenth grains, shall be the unit of value; a quarter-eagle, or two-and-a-half dollar piece; a three dollar piece; a half-eagle, or five dollar piece; an eagle, or ten dollar piece; and a double eagle, or twenty dollar piece. And the standard weight of the gold dollar shall be twenty-five and eight-tenths grains; of the quarter-eagle, or two-and-a-half-a-dollar piece, sixty-four and a half grains; of the three dollar piece seventy-seven and four-tenths grains; of the half eagle, or five dollar piece, one hundred and twenty-nine grains; of the eagle, or ten dollar piece; two hundred and fifty-eight grains; of the double-eagle, or twenty dollar piece, five hundred and sixteen grains; which coins shall be a legal tender in all payments at the nominal value, when not below the standard weight and limit of tolerance provided in this act for the single piece, and when reduced in weight below said standard and tolerance, shall be a legal tender at valuation in proportion to their actual weight; and any gold coin of the United States, if reduced in weight, by natural abrasion and not more than one-half of one per centum below the standard weight prescribed by law, after a circulation of twenty years, as shown by its date of coinage, and at a ratable proportion for any period less than twenty years, shall be received at their nominal value by the United States Treasury and its offices, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe for the protection of the Government against fraudulent abrasion or other practices; and any gold coins in the Treasury of the United States reduced in weight below this limit of abrasion shall be recoined.

"Sec. 15. That the silver coins of the United States shall be a trade-dollar, a half-dollar or fifty-cent piece, a quarter-dollar or twenty-five-cent piece, a dime or ten-cent piece; and the weight of the trade-dollar shall be four hundred and twenty grains, troy; the weight of the half-dollar shall be twelve grams (grammes) and one-half of a gram (gramme); the quarter-dollar and the dime shall be respectively, one-half and one-fifth of the weight of said half dollar; and said coins shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for any amount not exceeding five dollars in any one payment."

It will be noticed that by the previous coinage laws in which silver was the recognized "unit of value" all gold coins were, by permission, unlimited legal tender. In this law of '73, in which the "unit of value" was changed from the silver dollar to the gold one-dollar piece, silver was not permitted the unlimited legal tender quality formerly accorded to gold.

The limited legal tender conferred upon the trade-dollar by this act of '73 was taken away from it by a joint resolution adopted by the house and senate and approved July, 22, 1876, which declares:

"Sec. 2. That the trade-dollar shall not hereafter be a legal tender, and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to limit from time to time the coinage thereof to such an amount as he may deem sufficient to meet the export demand for the same."

The full legal tender power was restored to the standard silver dollar by the first section of the Bland-Allison act, adopted Feb. 28, 1878, and which reads in part as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled: That there shall be coined at the several mints of the United States silver dollars of the weight of four hundred and twelve and a half grains, troy, of standard silver, as provided in the act of January eighteenth, eighteen hundred and thirty-seven, on" which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act, which coins together with all silver dollars heretofore coined by the United States of like weight and fineness shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract." (The remainder of the section limits the coinage to not less than two nor more than four millions of dollars per month at discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The legal tender portion of this law, never having been repealed, the silver dollar is today an unlimited legal tender.

The law of Sept. 26, 1890, declares:

"That from and after the passage of this act the coinage of the three-dollar gold piece, the one-dollar gold piece, and the three-cent nickel piece be, and the same is hereby, prohibited, and the pieces named shall not be struck or issued by the Mint of the United States."

Since the law of '73 expressly fixes the gold "one-dollar piece" as the "unit of value," the question suggests itself: Since the prohibition of the coinage of the gold one-dollar piece, have we a "unit of value"? If so, of what is it composed?

The law does not say that twenty-five and eight-tenth grains of standard gold shall constitute the "unit of value," but that the gold "one-dollar piece, which," at the standard weight of twenty-five and eight-tenths grains, shall be the unit of value." It seems plain from this that the country really has no "unit of value."

It is clearly evident that the politicians are doing a great deal of lying about Mexico.

All parties seem to favor the free coinage of talk.

ALABAMA CHRONICLES.

The News From Other Sections of Our Home State.

COLE GETS THE REWARD.

Thirteen Furnaces in Operation in the Birmingham District.—New Lumber Mill For Newtonville.—Forty New Machines For the Sylacauga Knitting Mills.—Come to Grief.

Henry C. Cole, the Ex-Deputy Sheriff of Jefferson county, who, with Deputy Sheriff James Ball, shot and killed Bart Thrasher, the noted Bibb County desperado outlaw and penitentiary escape, and also a pal, Lester Painter, has received $600 from Governor Oates. This was the amount of the reward offered for the capture of Thrasher, dead or alive, and his pal. Four hundred dollars was the amount offered for the capture of Thrasher, and the other $200 was for Painter.

The State offered the reward shortly after Thrasher's escape from Pratt Mines penitentiary When Thrasher killed Bass at Blocton the Governor made the reward state "dead or alive." Cole will divide the reward with Deputy Sheriff Ball and a man named Tanner who arranged the plan of capture.

FORTY NEW MACHINES.

T. J. Mathews, of Sylacauga, has returned from Philadelphia, where he purchased forty new machines for his knitting mill. The mill was started last spring, and since the day it was put in operation it has been run at a profit. It turns out a superior quantity of hosiery.

SHOWS COME TO GRIEF.

The great European and Public Shows came to grief in Sheffield Saturday. Half of the performers are in Florence giving a street exhibition, says a special from that place, with contribution attachment to get out of town. The show travels by river and floated down from Decatur Thursday.

HOWARD'S ENROLLMENT.

The first two weeks' work of Howard College at East Lake, for the session of '96, has closed with an enrollment of 145, and is expected to go much higher during the next two weeks. Never since the college has been at East Lake have the students gone to work more earnestly and quietly, and it bids fair to be a year of good work among the students under the efficient management of President A. D. Smith.

NEW LUMBER MILL.

A special to the Birmingham News from Fayette says: Mr. I. M. Whitney, of Newtonville, is in town this week. He is looking after the timber for Hancock Bros., of Tennessee, who contemplate putting up a large saw mill in Fayette. Mr. Whitney says that the mill is a go provided the necessary timber can be procured, and he informs us that he has yet to find a man who refuses to sell his timber. They expect to build a tram road from here to Newtonville and want to get all the timber in reach of the road. The road will cost about $50 per mile to build it, but these parties have the money to build the road and also cash to pay for timber as they get it.

THIRTEEN FURNACES.

There are thirteen furnaces in the district in blast, eight of them being those of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railway Company, and five those of the Sloss Iron & Steel Company, the Woodward Iron Company and others, says the Birmingham News. The only trouble is at the Dolomite ore mine of the Woodward Company, which is closed down, it is understood, on account of the refusal of the operatives to accept a reduction asked by the company until the market improves. It is stated that the Woodward Company meanwhile is getting ore from Ishkooda. A good round sale of pig iron was made recently by the Tennessee Company to a speculator. The company, for the first time in many months, sold more than its output. The boot has heretofore been on the other foot.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

John Billow, an Aged White Man, Killed at Birmingham.

John Billow, an old man aged about 50 years, attempted to jump on the caboose of freight train No. 20, on the Louisville and Nashville road, as it was entering the city of Birmingham, Ala., in the lower part of the yards Sunday night about 6 o'clock, and met with injuries which proved fatal. The man stated that his home was in St. Louis, and thither a telegram was sent to ascertain what disposition should be made as to the remains.

LOSS WILL BE HEAVY.

The Old Detroit Free Press Building at Detroit Burned.

The old Free Press building, on the corner of Larned and Shelby Streets, is in flames, says a late dispatch from Detroit, and will probably be totally destroyed. It is a five-story brick structure, occupied by the job department of the Free Press Company, the Habben Electrotype and Engraving Company, Otley & Son, engravers, and Cliff & Higgins, bookbinders. The loss will be heavy.

POET MORRIS DEAD.

William Morris, the celebrated English poet, died at 11 o'clock Saturday forenoon in London, England He was 62 years of age.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER.
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

4th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
FOR CONGRESS
W. F. ALDRICH

Electors at large—Joseph H Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

First district -A. B. Gaston of Mobile.

Second district—Lawrence S Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour.

Fourth district—Thomas L Harvey of Calhoun.

Fifth district Edmund B. Langley of Tallapoosa.

Sixth district—H. P. Gaines of Walker.

Seventh district W. M. Coleman of Marshall.

Eigth district T B Buckley of Colbert

Ninth district Nelson Fuller of Bibb

Georgia has gone Democratic by an increased majority!

The Populists of the 4th congressional district, in the congressional district convention which convened at Calera on the 22d ult, acted wisely and in full accord with the voice of the party when they unanimously and by a rising vote nominated the Hon. W. F. Aldrich for congress. Mr. Aldrich, although a Republican, was elected two years ago to congress by the Populists. The certificate of election, however, was given to Gaston A. Robbins, of Dallas county, because of the fraudulent count of votes in Dallas county never cast, by the then united Democracy, every faction of which acquiesced in and endorsed the frauds perpetrated in that county. Mr. Aldrich from a sense of justice and right, and to the great satisfaction and wishes of the Populists of the district entered into a vigorous and manly contest, spending freely his time and money, in securing to the people a full and complete vindication of the right of suffrage, and an honest declaration and count of their votes.

Thus securing to the people of Alabama the rights of freemen, a luxury they have not enjoyed since 1800, when Tommie Jones, by chicanery and suppression of the majority, through ring combinations, duped and deceived a trusting people and secured a nomination to which he was not entitled, thereby received the reluctant vote of a majority of the people. Mr. Aldrich was successful in his contest and Robbins was unseated: honesty won and the voice of the majority prevailed; and he has made us an able and faithful representative, attentive to his duties, and from native ability and adaptation to the special duties required was appointed and is a member of the committee on banking and currency, one of the most important, if not the most important, committees in congress. He introduced many usefull bills in congress, and always voted to give full and honest effect to the voice of the majority as expressed at the ballot box. He is our representative and deserves our earnest and unstinted support because of the fact if nothing else, he is and has been instremental in securing to us, the Populists, a free ballot and an honest count,

APPOINTMENTS.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. A. P. Longshore will speak on Monday, Oct. 19, at Columbiana, at 1:30 p.m. and at Shelby at 7:30 p m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. T. D. Parsons will speak on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at Sycamore at 12 m and at Sylacauga at 4 p.m ; Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Childersburg at 10 a.m.; Thursday 22 at Vincent at 2:30 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 23 at Vandiver at 11 a.m.; Saturday Oct. 24 at Talladega at 11 a.m. and at ironaton at 5 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will speak on Monday, Oct. 26 at Stanton; Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Verbena; Wednesday, Oct. 28 at Clanton and Coopers; Thursday, Oct. 29 at Jemison and Union; Friday, Oct. 30 at Saginaw Saturday, Oct. 31 at Aldrich. Monday, Nov. 2 at Calera.

Legal Notice.

By order of the Court of County Commissioners.

Notice is hereby given that the building which has formerly been used as a court house in Clanton, will be offered for sale for cash to the highest bidder on Monday, the 2nd day of November, 1896. The building will be sold in two parts, one known as the main court house and the other as jury rooms. The purchaser will be required to remove the building and clean the lot of all trash by November 21st, 1896. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any bid if the bidder does not immediately pay amount of bid.

This Oct. 9, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

As it is a duty we owe to always give due reverence and proper recognition to the Divine Ruler on every occasion, and under every condition, and as the new court house which has been recently erected for Chilton county is now nearing completion and ready for occupancy and use, and it has been decided by the Commissioners and those having the matter in charge that the first use of the building should be for a religious purpose and to this end Rev. F. M. Woodof Jemison has consented to preach in the building at eleven o'clock on Thursday, Oct. 22nd. Several other prominent preachers will be invited to assist, and it is sincerely hoped that the service will be such as will inspire the people of Chilton county with a determination never to allow their house to be used for any purpose other than that of right and justice, and which will be approved by the Giver of all Laws. Everybody is invited to attend, and a useful and pleasant service is expected.

R. M. HONEYCUTT

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J S Johnson Jr

Strasburg.

Navy blue and oil colored calicoes at 5 and 6 cents at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

A full line of general merchandise is carried, and we solicit your patronage, Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Salem Singings.

People are about through gathering here. We have just closed a few days meeting at this place. Bro. Ellison did some elegant preaching. We had provisions on the ground each day and all seemed to enjoy themselves. Miss Becca Mandlin of Plantersville paid us a flying visit on Saturday and spent the night with Misses Nettie and Lela Motley and all came out to church Sunday.

L. S. M.

* * *

Lily Lyrics.

Prof. J. M. Cordery has secured an "Arithmetic school" at Macedonia, and will begin teaching the 1st Monday in October.

Dame rumor hath it that we will soon hear the marriage bell peal forth—let the good work go on.

The cotton crop in this section, will soon all be gathered, and if it continues to rush on the market like it has for the last week, it will soon all be sold, at, from 7 to 7½ cents.

Miss Celeste Jones has returned from a visit to relatives and friends at Lomax.

Misses Lillie Savage, Della and Elma Blalack, of Maplesville, were the guests of Mrs. Mollie Rasberry. recently.

Miss Ollie Garner, after spending sometime at Maplesville, is again at home.

Opossums are about ripe, and are being gathered, and now, if potatoes were not so sorry, we would be able to have that good dish, "possum and tater."

CLINT.

Farmer's Mutual Insurance Ass'tion.

The quarterly meeting of this Association will be held next Tuesday, 13th inst., at Clanton. It is particularly requested that all the members attend as there is business of importance to be attended to.

J. A. LOGAN, Pres.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.

There is abundant evidence that republican money is being used in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and several other close states, to prevent a fusion on electors between the Populists and democrats. It is very probable that some sensational developments will soon be made in all these states and the most gigantic plot disclose to divide the silver forces and perpetuate the infamous reign of the gold power.

Whatever fusions are consummated this year between the democrats and Populists must be arranged very soon. In Missouri the union on electors has been accomplished and the State will give Bryan 75,000 majority.

Hon. Thomas Watson gave out a statement to the press last week in which he bitterly arraigned the democratic party for retaining Sewall on the presidential ticket. Mr. Watson's rather extreme position is being criticised by Chairman Butler, of the National Populist Committee, and many influential members of the party.

The recent declaration of Prince Bismarck, of Germany, in favor of Bimetalism is doing much to convert the German American voters in favor of the white metal.

L. J. Maddux, democratic candidate for congress in the Seventh California district has withdrawn in favor of Dr. C. H. Castle, the Populist nominee.

The Populists and democrats of Salt Lake county, Utah, have united on a county ticket. The Populists take four of the candidates and the democrats get the rest. The Populists in that section have heretofore been among the strongest middle of the-roaders in the country. The logic of events is doing more to unite reformers than everything else.

The Populists of Texas are strongly advocating a uniform system of school text books in their platform and on the stump.

It is announced from Washington that the United States Treasury department will soon issue a circular giving information respecting National, State and Savings Banks, loan and trust companies and private banks of the United States, compiled from reports of the comptroller of the currency, showing the aggregate resources and liabilities of such institutions, together with other important information relation to finance. A copy of the circular will be furnished free to any applying.

The Populists and democrats in Kansas estimate that they will carry that state by at least 25,000 majority.

The Massachusetts democratic convention endorsed free silver and nominated George Fred Williams for governor and the gold men withdrew.

The Veteran Soldiers' Bryan club of Nebraska has adopted resolutions denouncing Generals Siegel, Sickel, Alger et al for their trans-continental tour in the interest of McKinley.

A. L. Mims, People's party candidate for governor in Tennessee, is making a warm campaign, speaking every day.

The Rev. Park A Bradford has been forced to resign his pulpit at Tyngsboro, Mass., because of his free silver views.

The People's party state committee is claiming Texas by a plurality of 75,000 for Kearby for governor.

Reuben F. Kolb and P. G. Bowman, of Alabama, the former candidate for governor on the People's party ticket in 1894, the latter former state chairman, have taken the stump for Bryan and Sewall.

Prof. E. A. Ross, of the Stanford University, charges that professors in all of the leading colleges of the country are being coerced into supporting McKinley and opposing free silver on pain of losing their positions.

The bitter, implacable hatred which actuates the Kansas goldbugs was demonstrated at Topeka last week when a crowd of G. A. R. men in attendance at the Trades celebration howled down Hon. John S. Crosby who had been invited to address the meeting.

Nourish Him.

That's the whole secret in a word. We can cure no disease unless we can keep up the patient's strength. And there's only one way to do that—feed him. But if the system refuses food? Then use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes STRAIGHT TO THE BLOOD, stops the wasting, rekindles the vital fire, makes new flesh and so renders a hopeful fight possible against ANY disease.

Especially is this so in bronchial and lung troubles, in the relief and cure of which Scott's Emulsion has won its reputation. Book about it free.

Scott's Emulsion is no mysterious mixture. It is palatable, non-nauseating and infinitely preferable to the plain oil. The genuine has our trade-mark on salmon-colored wrapper. Get the genuine.

For sale at 50 cts. and $1.00 by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

All kinds of furniture at lowest prices at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 7, 1896.

Editor BANNER: Having been called upon by some of the citizens our town to know why I don't put a stop to the sale of intoxicating ciders in Clanton I beg to say that I am powerless in this matter without assistance. I am ever ready to prosecute violators of the law, irrespective of person or persons, but before I can take any action in the prosecution of offenders, with few exceptions, there must be a charge preferred by some one other than myself. I am as opposed to the liquor traffic and street drunkenness as any citizen in town. Now in order to see who and how many of our citizens will join me in an effort to eliminate this, the great curse of our little town I respectfully solicit one and all to assemble at the court house on next Monday night, the 12th inst. Very respectfully,

A. C. SMITH

* * *

Enquire about the $25 gold watch to be given away at Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

* * *

West Chilton Warblings

To let the readers of the BANNER know I am still on the land among the living.

Health extremely good. Corn gathering is in full headway and is turning out good, there will be plenty housed to do the people, and some to sell. The cotton crop of this portion was all picked out in September and is ginned, packed and the bulk of it sold; cotton will average about a bale to every 4 acres; the long continued drouth and extreme heat, ruined the cotton in Alabama. The sugarcane crop is cut off over half.

Mr. Will Martin of Clanton and Mr. J. T. Martin of Jemison visited friends in West Chilton on the 1st, we were very glad to see them and hope they will come again.

Wylia McGee, a negro brakeman on the Jackson Lumber Co., dinky, fell between the cars and was cut in two a few days ago.

Capt. M. A. Barnes and C. G. Barnes will return in a few days to Palmetto, Fla. I hope our new representative may get up a new road law in our county, when I traveled through Dallas county and got back into Chilton I became ashamed of our roads.

OLD MIKE.

* * *

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy wont live a month." He tried Dr King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

* * *

Senator J. K. Jones, the chairman of the "new Democracy," it is fair and just to say has proved his modesty, his sincerity, and his shrewdness. Perhaps no political manager was ever confronted by so perplexing a problem as is now offered him. No chairman in a national campaign had ever so slender a campaign fund. No man in like position had ever so eager, so earnest, so clamorous a constituency. Senator Jones is probably not unaware of the candition which confronts him, but he has that placid, even, stolid temperament which makes the many think that he is blind to the resposibilities of his position.

Marion Butler is a tall, broad shouldered, rather angular man, who swings down the streets with that long stride that seems typical of his political career. He is a strider all over. He has a rather heavy head of hair and a full beard, which keeps you guessing as to wheather his face is a strong one. As he talks his deep set eyes shut narrowly as though they were looking out of the smallest posible space, after the manner of a man whose nature is essentially feline. If I emphasize the impression of craftiness and shrewdness which Butler gives, it is fair to add that, save in a single instance, I believe he has never been charged with bad faith. The instance I speak of is when he announced his opposition to the re-election of his colleague, Pritchard. The latter, however, is less a friend of free silver than of McKinley, and Butler in all his manipulations of parties and tickets has still never shown a disposition to sacrifise a principal for a gain. The explination of his antagonism to Pritchard therefore set ms acceptable.—From "The Three Strategic Chiefs of the Presidential Campaign, By CARL SNIDER, in October.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a general election will be held at the various voting places in Chilton county, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1896,

for the election of Electors for President and vice-President of the United States, and for the election of a Representative in the Congress of the United States for the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

This 1st day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897:

		1896
Pletcher's mill	October	1
Kincheon	"	2
Albert Headley's store	"	3
Benson	"	5
Maplesville	"	6
Shoultz	"	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church, Beat 2	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Strasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore's school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

		1896
Shoultz	October	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Strasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore's school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville	"	3
Benson	"	4

T. J. HUTRAGE, Tax Collector

ELECTION MANAGERS

THE STATE OF ALABAMA }
CHILTON COUNTY. }

This is to certify that the following named persons have been appointed Inspectors and Returning Officers, as required by law, for an election to be held in said County on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1896. To-wit:

Beat No. 1—T J Dorminy, J. W. Sorrell, Marshal Robinson Inspectors; J M Robinson, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 1 Providence)—I B Martin, Hugh Henry, Charles Johnson, Inspectors; J A Lowery, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 2 Jemison)—B M Gentry Ira Campbell, J P Givhan, Inspectors; G W Shaw, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 1 Benson)—H W Varden John Wright, Andy Jones, Inspectors; John Middlebrooks, Returning officer

Beat 3 (Box 2 Macedonia)—Y O Freeman, A J Ware, Green Hayes, Inspectors; William Nix, Returning officer.

Beat 4—A A Ayres, John Graef, Alfred Popwell, Inspectors; A. C. Oates, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 1 Coopers)—J W G Kicker, B H Wells Hardy Jones, Inspectors; H A J Harris, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 2 Verbena)—W H Strock J J L Stewart, A H Courtney, Inspectors; — Thompson, Returning officer.

Beat 6—J R Vinson, Madison Popwell T J. Dickerson, Inspectors; Fayette Popwell, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 1 Maplesville)—W Y Six G W Fox, W F Foshee, Inspectors; Geo Foshee, Returning officer

Beat 7 (Box 2 S eu tz) W A Green, J D Holsombeck L O Barnett, Inspectors; J N Gentry, Returning officer.

Beat 8—W A Weaver, D C Gaddy Alex Landers, Inspectors; Wiley Letcher, Returning officer.

Beat 8—D N Riggins W A Mims, James Collins, Inspectors; Wash Pesnce Returning officer.

Given under our hands, this the 2 day of October, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.
J. P VANDIVEER.
Clerk of Circuit Court.
J. T. COOLEY
Sheriff.

State of Alabama }
Chilton County }

I, J. T. Cooley, Sheriff of said County, hereby appoint the Returning Officers, above named at their respective voting places, to act as Special Deputy Sheriffs to attend upon the above named election.

This the 2d day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Fusion has been effected in Indiana, the Populists receiving five out of fifteen electors.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	[illegible]
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	[illegible]
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1 50
Silver Knight National Watchman	[illegible]

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	[illegible]
Birmingham State-Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

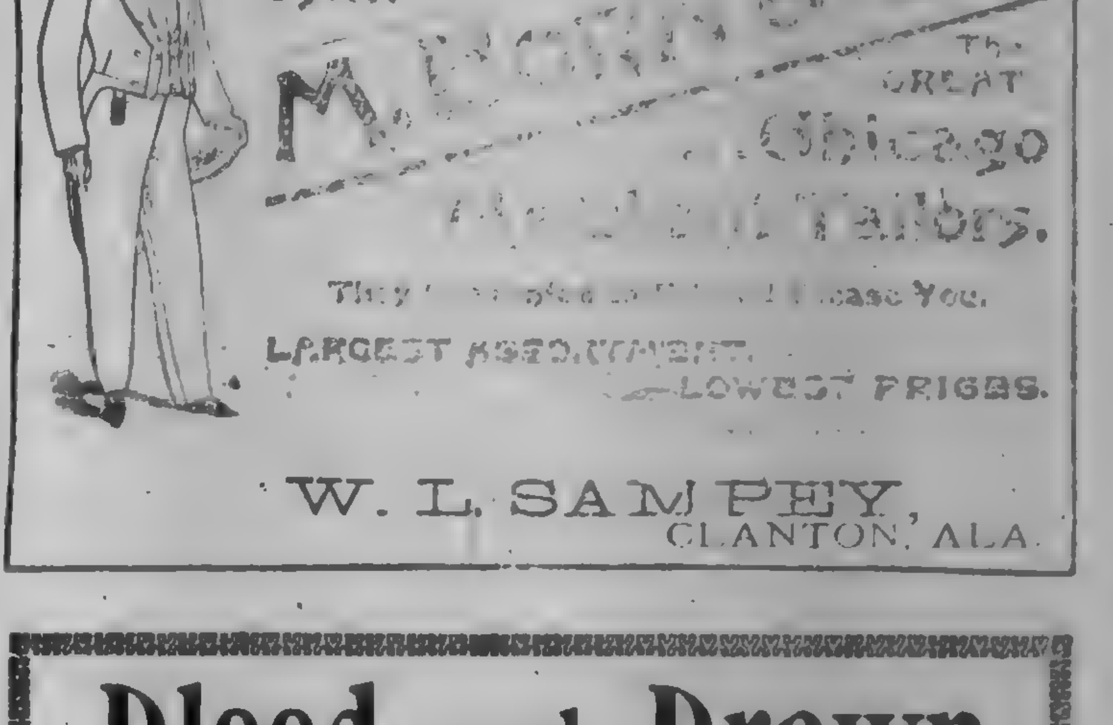
GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.



Have Your CLOTHES made to Order by....

M. BORN & CO.

The GREAT Chicago Merchant Tailors.

They [illegible] Please You.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT. —LOWEST PRICES.

W. L. SAMPEY, CLANTON, ALA.

Blood and Brawn

Impoverished blood means loss of strength. Probably seventy-five per cent. of the diseases with which mankind is afflicted are caused by impure blood. Very many diseases—such as tetter, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas, etc., could not exist if the blood were perfectly pure. V. V. V. makes pure blood. It is composed of natural vegetable remedial agents skillfully compounded in the exact proportions to secure right results.

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

thoroughly cleanses the blood, tones up the whole system and brings back health, strength and happiness.

A purely vegetable compound and a wonderful specific, not only for all blood and skin diseases, but for rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, malaria, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

[illegible] Court meets second Monday [illegible] February, first Monday in April [illegible] Monday in May, second Monday [illegible] second Monday in August, [illegible] Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

[illegible] cents.
Bales [illegible] to date
[illegible]	812
[illegible]	440
W[illegible]	150
	1408

[illegible] CHEAP. Call [illegible] the B[illegible] Office.

[illegible] FOR SALE. I have [illegible] at a low price. [illegible] one and a half [illegible] Clanton. Will ex[illegible] seed at [illegible]

F. W[illegible]

M[illegible] his [illegible] last week.

[illegible] occupied by M[illegible] now vacant [illegible] will take the [illegible] to thoroughly repair [illegible]

M[illegible] has moved [illegible] house.

[illegible] is moving [illegible] vacated by Mr. [illegible]

[illegible] is moving [illegible]

[illegible] Garner will next week [illegible] family into his town [illegible]

Mr. [illegible] Middleton, of Haynev[illegible] spending this week with [illegible]

[illegible] SPEAKING!

[illegible] W. H. Skaggs will address [illegible] Clanton on Mon[illegible] 12, at 10 a.m., on the [illegible] of the day. Every [illegible]

Mr. Henry Honeycutt went to [illegible] Tuesday.

[illegible] Moore, after a [illegible] to relatives here re[illegible] home last Saturday.

[illegible] Foshee returned [illegible] week after a visit [illegible]

[illegible] Sue Chandler has [illegible] a pleasant visit to [illegible]

[illegible] Gallahorn is out on a [illegible]

[illegible] Johnson went to Bir[illegible] this morning.

[illegible] cheapest line of shoes in [illegible] at Mooney & Woolley's. [illegible]

[illegible] pounds of fine coffee for $1 [illegible] Mooney & Woolley's, Strasburg.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate [illegible] to the following persons: [illegible] Tom Williams and [illegible] Nelson.

[illegible] of our town people [illegible] to Providence this week [illegible] the annual meeting of the [illegible] Baptist Association.

[illegible] received a lot of men's and [illegible] of the latest styles at [illegible] suit the times at Mooney [illegible]'s, Strasburg.

Energy.

Mr. E. H. Smith met with the [illegible] misfortune last Thursday [illegible] being burned out. The [illegible] house and nearly all the [illegible] was lost as well as the [illegible] and kitchen. The [illegible] first discovered at the back [illegible] kitchen but how it orig[illegible] not known. There had [illegible] in the kitchen since [illegible] that morning. Mr [illegible] believes it was maliciously [illegible]

Free Pills

[illegible] your address to H. E. Buck[illegible] Chicago, and get a free [illegible] box of Dr. King's New Life [illegible] A trial will convince you of [illegible] These pills are easy in [illegible] are particularly effective in the cure of Consumption and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guarteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. [illegible] do not weaken by their [illegible] by giving tone to stom[illegible] bowels greatly invigorate [illegible] Regular size 2c. per [illegible] Sold by J. S. Johnson, Drug[illegible]

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
Sept. 14, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: A[illegible] Logan, Homestead entry, No. 2[illegible], for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. Purcell, Register.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Simonton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,179, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. Purcell, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 25,170, for the e½ of se¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E. Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. Purcell, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his period[illegible] visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Mad[illegible]	"	22
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Men[illegible] church	"	26
Cane creek church	"	27
[illegible]	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	1
Coopers	"	5
Verb[illegible]	"	7&8
Wayss[illegible]	"	9
Kinchen[illegible]	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

[illegible] Moss, Assessor.
[illegible], Collector.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25 00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena.
Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

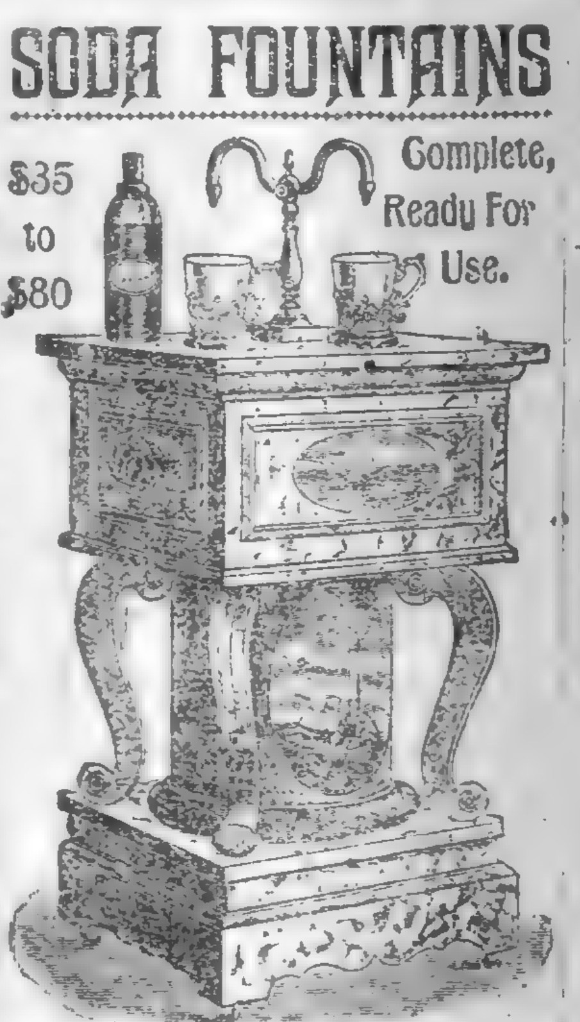
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.



30 Years in Use all Over the World

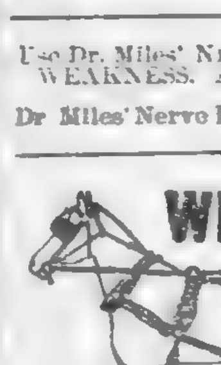
No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.



WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before [illegible]

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes, J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 21 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.
P. M. Moore, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.
P. M. Moore, Sheriff.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,351.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. Purcell, Register

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, Mary E. Gibbons, Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder on the premises, on

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896,

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate, belonging to said estate, to wit:

N1-2 of section 21 except the e1-2 of e1-2 of ne1-4, ne1-4 and sw1 4 of se1-4 of section 20, s1-2 of sw1 4 and sw1-4 of se 1-4 and ne1-4 of sw1-4 of section 16 all in township 22 range 13.

MARY E. GIBBONS,
Administratrix of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U.S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST.
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

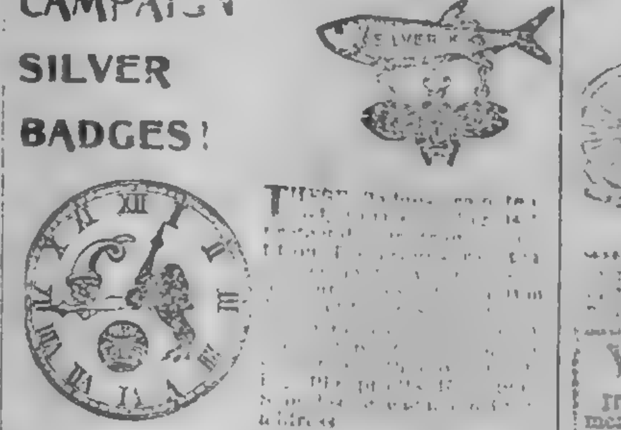
SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and [illegible] action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Z[illegible] Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co.; [illegible] sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net; and should retail at [illegible] 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original [illegible] than [illegible] cents per package, as we have too much re[illegible] cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason [illegible] and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined [illegible] the public by using the words constituting our trade name; there[illegible] (knowing you are posted) don't [illegible] some [illegible] per cent., instead of our [illegible] Dr. M. A. [illegible] Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, [illegible] is nothing [illegible]

[illegible] enclosing photograph, we will mail you free [illegible] on receipt of letter without photograph [illegible]

[illegible]

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!



[illegible]

STATE HERALD BADGE DEPT

We Employ Young Men to distribute our advertisements [illegible] for a high grade Acme [illegible] on approval. No [illegible] arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.
ACME CYCLE Co., Elkhart, Ind,

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE
FIRST-CLASS WORK
LOWEST PRICES

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.
J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.
W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.
Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.
JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.
Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

A monument to Stephen Girard is to be erected in Philadelphia. It is only sixty years since the college founder died, and Philadelphia is to be congratulated for her unusual promptitude in beginning to think of a monument.

It is noble to bear like a hero the calamities of life, but it is ignoble to continue to suffer under them when the time has arrived to triumph over them; and only an intelligent view of each case can reveal when that time has arrived.

An Albany paper inquires: "What is fame?" Well, we don't know; but we don't believe any man can be truly famous nowadays until he has been cured of some patent medicine disease and got his picture into the papers as miraculously saved.

A Connecticut man has asked his friends to buy tickets at $5 each for admission to his suicide. He proposes to enter a cage containing a lion and allow himself to be eaten by the beast in full view of the audience. But how about a rebate if the lion has a fit of indigestion or isn't hungry?

A new telescope has been constructed in Paris that will bring the moon into handshaking proximity to this terrestrial sphere. It is to be hoped that nobody will attempt to "touch" the man in the moon.

Oom Paul says that in all his Transvaal disturbances the Bible was his constant guide. It has enabled him to swap a chance to board and clothe five fellows fifteen years for $500,000 in cold cash—pretty good bargain.

If any one finds a stray church organ held under suspicious circumstances it is probably the property of the congregation of the Pleasant Valley Church, Barton County, Kan. That is believed to be the only church in the United States to-day that has lost its organ by theft. The crime is somewhat unusual, as ordinarily church organs would be regarded as too bulky to be successfully concealed by robbers. It is particularly heinous in this instance, as the instrument represents the results of numerous socials and church festivals. There is no suspicion that the music emitted by the organ has had anything to do with its abrupt taking off or that the singing inspired by the organ has aroused any latent predatory instincts in any of the congregation. The sole theory entertained is that some aggregation of persons simply stole the organ either because they wanted an organ or needed the money it would sell for, and that is the kind of a person chiefs of police have been notified to look out for.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

MR. J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.:

Dear Sir:—"Please send half-a-dozen boxes of your TETTERINE, C. O. D. This makes one and one half dozen I have ordered from you. Some I have used myself, the remainder I distributed among friends requiring it. It has effected a cure in every case where tried. Some of them have been doctoring with our best physicians, both here and in Boston, for years without any benefit. Some said it could not be cured, as it was inherited, but one box of TETTERINE effected a complete cure. I shall always keep a supply on hand, as I know myself what it is worth. Gratefully yours,"

P. O. HANLON,

Silver Springs Bleaching Co.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know, Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have 50 or $60 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopædia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopædia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopædia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts collated in this book.

The greatest warrior is he who can truthfully say: "I am the Napoleon of myself."

Ever since 1865 there have been women (more each year) who claim that there is no soap half as good, or as economical as Dobbins' Electric. There must be some truth in their claim. Try it, see how much. Your grocer has it.

The singing of a nightingale is as certain as is the howling of a dog to foretell a death.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

We have not been without Piso's Cure for Consumption for 30 years.—LIZZIE FERREL, Camp St., Harrisburg, Pa., May 4, '94.

"You are a 'dead shot' on giving past and future. —S. H Stephens, Gaines, Mo. Thousands testify the same way. Send date of birth and 10 cents for sketch of your life. L. C. Thomson, Astrologer, Kansas City, Mo.

Look

Sharply to the condition of your blood. At this season peculiar perils assail the system. There are sudden changes in temperature; fogs and dampness, chilly nights, lowering clouds, drenching rains. These sudden changes bring on colds, fevers, pneumonia, bronchitis and other ailments. Keep the blood pure, rich and full of vitality and you will be well. Remember,

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

LET US do your printing. [illegible] Address Free Press, [illegible]

MARRIAGE Paper with 800 ads and [illegible] many rich, free. J. W. Gunnels, Toledo O.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent free. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N. U. No. 41. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

A Few of the Latest and Most Interesting Political Events.

THE POPULIST NOMINATION

Accepted by Bryan in a Pithy, Pointed and Short Letter.—Silver Vote Must be Concentrated.—Hanna Says the Battle Royal Will Occur During Closing Days of October

William J. Bryan has given out his letter accepting the Populist nomination. It reads as follows: Gentlemen: The nomination of the People's party for the Presidency of the United States has been tendered me in such a generous spirit and upon such honorable terms that I am able to accept the same without departing from the platform adopted by the National convention at Chicago.

I fully appreciate the breadth of the patriotism which has actuated the members of the People's party, who, in order to consolidate the sentiment in favor of bimetallism, have been willing to go outside of party lines and support as their candidate one already named by the Democratic party, and also by the silver party.

I also appreciate the fact that while during all the years since 1873 a large majority of the Democratic party and a considerable minority of the Republican party have been consistent advocates of the free coinage of silver at the present ratio, yet since the organization of the People's party its members have unanimously supported such coinage as the only means of restoring bimetallism. By persistently pointing out the disastrous effects of a gold standard and protesting against each successive step towards financial bondage, the People's party have exerted an important influence in awakening the public to a realization of the Nation's political peril.

In a time like this, when a great political party is attempting to surrender the right to legislate for ourselves upon the financial question and is seeking to bind the American people to a foreign monetary system, it behooves us as lovers of our country and friends of American institutions to lay aside for the present such differences as may exist among us on minor questions, in order that our strength may be united in a supreme effort to wrest the Government from the hands of those who imagine that the Nation's finances are only secured when controlled by a few financiers and that National honor can only be maintained by serving acquiescence in any policy, however destructive, to the interests of the people of the United States, which foreign creditors, present or prospective, may desire to force upon us.

It is a cause of congratulation that we have in this campaign not only the support of Democrats, Populists and Republicans who have all along believed in independent bimetallism, but also the active co-operation of those Democrats and Republicans who have heretofore waited for international bimetallism, but now join with us rather than trust the destinies of the Nation in the hands of those who are holding out the delusive hope of foreign aid while they labor secretly for the permanent establishment of the single gold standard.

While difficulties have always arisen in the settlement of details of any plan of co-operation between distinct political organizations I am sure that the advocates of bimetallism are so intensely in earnest that they will be able to devise some means by which the free silver vote may be concentrated upon one electoral ticket in each State. To secure this result, charity towards the opinion of others and liberality on the part of all is necessary, but honest and sincere friends who are working towards a common result always find it possible to agree upon just and equitable terms.

The American people have proved equal to every emergency which has arisen in the past and I am confident that in the present emergency there will be no antagonism between the various regiments of the one great army which is marching to repel an invasion more dangerous to our welfare than an army with banners.

Acknowledging with gratitude your expressions of confidence and good will, I am, yours very truly,

W. J. BRYAN.

THE BATTLE ROYAL.

Regarding the future campaign work, Chairman Hanna, of the Republican National Committee, in an interview in New York Saturday, said: "I will leave New York Tuesday next, and stop at Cleveland on my way to Chicago. The battle royal during the remaining days of October is to be in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa and possibly Missouri. I cannot in any way divulge the plan of battle to be put in those States by the Republican National Committee. Naturally, I am very confident of Mr. Bryan's defeat, but it must not be any half way defeat; it must be sweeping in every detail and we must elect the soundest kind of 'sound money' Congress. A great deal of hard work remains to be put in. We have, however, thousands of willing hands and sound money Democrats are doing work of the greatest value, but as I have already said, a great fight is to be made in the States I have mentioned and those who wish to see the fur fly ought to be in Chicago during the last two weeks in October."

FOURTEEN SPEECHES.

Fifteen thousand men who came from the mills, furnaces, farms, colleges, work shops, mines and counting rooms of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, marched up Main street hill in Canton today, says a Saturday special from McKinley's home, to greet and to hear Major McKinley, and then marched down again with the flush of enthusiasm in their faces and the promise of victory in their ringing cheers. Major McKinley has surpassed himself today. He was engaged in the pleasant work of meeting delegations from breakfast time until after sunset, and the lamps had been lighted an hour before the last delegation marched away. He has spoken to a greater number of large bodies of voters representing a vast variety of interests and industries than he had before addressed in a single day. He made fourteen formal speeches and several informal ones, and talked to thirty delegations. The day was superb, the air bracing and the sunshine genial.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

The New Industries Reported in the South in a Week.

The Chattanooga Tradesman is in close touch with all legitimate industrial interests of the South and special reports received indicate a much better feeling among manufacturers which is practically demonstrated by the increase in machinery wants published by the Tradesman this week. The movement in cotton and wheat continues active.

Confidence in the iron and steel market continues strong. The demand for pig iron increases and at some points, where investments in Southern pig have been so extensive, a speculative feeling is visible. Advices in Southern pig are being firmly maintained. The final test of the Hawkins process of steel-making from Alabama iron has been made at the plant of the Jefferson Steel Manufacturing Company, at North Birmingham, and was entirely satisfactory. The result will be the changing of the Jefferson Company's plant into a steel mill at no distant date. Thirteen furnaces are in blast in the Birmingham district, and large sales of iron are reported, the demand fully equalling the output. Iron men believe the upward movement in the market has come to stay.

The lumber market shows very little change. At some points business is increasing, while at others it is reported only fair for the season. White pine concerns reports considerable improvement in orders, but prices have not been affected. Yellow pine shows a moderate movement, but trade is not satisfactory and prices are still low. The hardwood industries are in active operation with plenty of orders and the calls for cypress are more frequent. The export trade is all that could be desired, the mills having all the work they can do.

The textile industries are characterized by increasing activity and but few idle spindles are reported in the South. The Northern mills that shut down during the dull period are also resuming and a healthy improvement is noted in the demand for finished goods. Work is progressing favorably on mills in course of construction and several large plants will be ready to begin business before the first of the year.

Among the most important new industries for the week the Tradesman reports the following: A $50,000 distillery, at Louisville, Ky.; a $15,000 rice factory, Fayetteville, Ark.; the City Ice Company, capital, $50,000, organized at Hot Springs, Ark.; a $200,000 cotton mill, at Douglassville, Ga.; the Monroe Cigar Company, capital $25,000, chartered at Tampa, Fla.; the Snyder Pump & Well Company, capital $15,000, at Richmond, Va.; and the Bryan Water, Ice, Light & power company, capital $20,000, at Bryan, Tex.

ONE THOUSAND SPANIARDS

Mowed Down by Dynamite Guns in the Hands of Insurgents.

A Key West, Fla., dispatch, dated Saturday, says:

The steamer Mascotte arrived here from Havana yesterday, having on board twenty-eight passengers, and among them was Samuel T. Tolan, who was arrested from an American steamer in Havana, and whose arrest caused a quarrel between Generals Lee and Weyler. He is on his way to Washington, where he will lay his case before the State Department. He states that he will make a claim for $10,000 damages.

Passengers report rumors in Havana that Maceo, in his attack on the trocha last Friday, used dynamite guns with terrible effect. The Spanish loss is placed at 1,000. That part of the trocha attacked was completely demolished. Many small skirmishes are reported. Maceo's victory has completely upset Weyler. Nothing more is heard of him taking the field in person. The troops are complaining bitterly of the food furnished them.

THIRTEEN KILLED.

Awful Result of a Boiler Explosion at Peterson, Kan.

The boiler of an engine drawing a southbound train on the Santa Fe road exploded while passing through Peterson, Kan., Sunday night. It is reported that thirteen people were killed and a number injured. One passenger from California for Chicago, named W. A. Beckler, after viewing the dead bodies, returned to his berth and shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—19 lbs

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

WASHINGTON CHAT.

A Few Items of Interest From the Capital City.

BISHOP KEANE STEPS DOWN.

No Longr Rector of the Catholic University.—Supreme Court.—Docket For the Term, Which Begins October 12, Contains 615 Cases.—Return of Secretary Herbert.—Labor.

Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University of America, who recently withdrew from the head of that institution, makes the following statement concerning his withdrawal:

"Since my withdrawal from the rectorship of the Catholic University of America will probably be regarded by a considerable portion of the American public as a matter of some interest to them, and since unauthorized statements are apt to be misleading, I deem it my duty to state briefly and clearly the facts of the case."

Bishop Keane then states that on September 28 he received a letter from the Pope stating that custom forbade officials presiding over Catholic Universities in perpetuity. The Pope then invites Bishop Keane to choose as to whether he shall leave the United States, go to Rome and receive appointment to some archepiscopal see, or that he remain in the United States. The Pope also states that he is to be elevated to the rank of Archbishop, and closes:

"Confidently trusting, venerable brother, that you will accept this, our administrative act, with hearty good will, we most lovingly bestow upon you the apostolic benediction, as a pledge of our paternal affection." In reply to the Pope's letter Bishop Keane replied: "Without a moment of hesitation I accept the will of your holiness in the matter as manifestation of the providence of God, and from this instant I resign into the hands of his eminence, the Chancellor, the office of rector with all rights thereunto attached. Thanking your holiness for the freedom of choice granted me, I choose to remain in my own country, and moreover, without any official position whatsoever, in tranquility and peace."

Archbishop Keane, supplementing the letter, says: "I welcome my release from the office of rector of the university with profound gratitude. While I always regarded its duties as a labor of love, they had grown to be far beyond my strength and abilities, and the deliverance from the burden is a response to many prayers."

A NEW LABOR ORGANIZATION.

The official journal of the Knights of Labor, of this city, announces that a new organization of workingmen, to be known as "The Minute Men of '96," is being formed. The purpose of the organization as announced is to offset "the intimidation and coercion" claimed to be practiced at the ballot box in every State. M. J. Bishop, Grand Worthy Foreman of the Knights of Labor, signs the call to organize.

NAVY DEPARTMENT NOTES.

Secretary Herbert returned to his desk Monday morning, after nearly two months' absence and at once took under consideration the complication arising out of the torpedo boat competition. Late in the afternoon the Secretary settled the controversy by awarding two torpedo boats of the 30-knot class to the Bath Iron Works, Maine, and one 30-knot torpedo boat of the larger class to the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco.

The little cruiser Bancroft, on her way to duty as American guardship at Constantinople, reached Gibraltar yesterday and relieved all doubts as to her ability to cross the Atlantic.

In the cablegram from Captain Johnson, of the Cincinnati, received at the Navy Department today, he said the little ship had been delayed by heavy winds, but that all were well on board.

PICKED UP AT SEA.

Pilot boat Glance came in Key West, Fla., port Monday afternoon, having on board ten shipwrecked sailors from the Norwegian bark Saturn, which capsized last Monday during the hurricane on this coast. She was bound from Belize, Honduras, to Scotland, loaded with log wood. The men left the bark in a yawl boat and were picked up by the German bark Hedvig and transferred them to the pilot boat. The men were taken charge of by Consul Taylor.

HE WAS DECAPITATED.

W. K. Cameron, of the Cameron Furniture Company, Troy, Ala., had his head cut off by being run over by a Central railroad train in the yard at 7 o'clock Monday. He leaves a wife and four children. He lost his eldest daughter six weeks ago.

FRIGHTFUL CONDITION,

The Cyclone Stricken District of Florida—Death List Growing.

STARVATION STARES THEM.

Baker County One of the Heaviest Sufferers.—The Governor Asked to Issue an Appeal For Aid or to Call an Extra Session of the Legislature.—Distressing Stories.

Every report in regard to the recent storm increases the death list and the estimate of the property lost. The condition of the people in the storm district is appalling, and there is urgent need of aid to prevent starvation.

Advices from Baker county say: While the suffering in Baker county is great from the effects of the storm, the damage is also very great. It is estimated that the total loss aggregates some $250,000.

Sanderson's loss will reach fully $30,000, of which George P. Canova, one of the leading merchants, is damaged fully $15,000, and Mrs. McPons $5,000 to $10,000.

Aluste's loss is about $50,000, of which the Eppinger-Russell Company lose about $15,000.

John Villa's loss is about $60,000, of which the turpentine men lose in the neighborhood of $25,000.

McClenny's loss is about $20,000.

The balance is distributed among the farmers.

The above does not include the loss of cattle, which cannot be estimated until spring, Baker county being a large cattle raising section. In consequence of the above losses the County Commissioners have issued the following appeal, which explains itself:

To His Excellency, Hon. Henry L. Mitchell, Governor of the State of Florida:

The Board of County Commissioners, in regular session, do respectfully petition your excellency in his good judgment to devise some means to assist the suffering people of this (Baker) county in their sad affliction caused by the storm of last Tuesday. The people are in destitute circumstances, without shelter to cover their heads, without food to appease their hunger, and a great many are without a change of clothing. We would suggest to your excellency that an earnest call to uninjured counties to come to our aid, or if necessary, a call for an extra session of the Legislature would be of great moment. But one gin house stands in the county; every church and schoolhouse is destroyed, and the merchants, who are heavy losers, are unable to contribute to the distressed. Most all the farmers in the county have lost their cotton crops, just housed and ready for market, and as a consequence are unable to pay the merchants for advances and fertilizers furnished and even to purchase food for their suffering ones. We suggest that contributions be sent to the clerk of the Board of County Commissioners.

George Canova,
D. L. Roberts,
J. S. Dowling,
J. R. Barnes,
T. O. Phillips.

Advices from remote points are now arriving and tell the same story of death and destruction. A special from Old Town, LaFayette county, says: The storm last Tuesday was the worst ever seen in this section. It raged from 7 o'clock to 9 a. m. Nearly every dwelling house in the neighborhood was blown down, also barns, stables and all the fencing around the fields. Those whose dwellings are completely wrecked are: Mrs. McCarty, J. E. Chavious, P. B. Chavious, O. Y. and G. W. Felton and T. P. Chaires, Jr.

Young Chaires was caught under his house when falling and came very near being crushed to death. One horse was killed on his place, also one at O. Y. Felton's.

The crew of the steamer C. D. Owens are to leave tonight on their way home to Branford. They report the steamer wrecked in the lower part of the river and that the steamer Belle of Suwannee is also wrecked near the mouth. The Belle was used for towing log rafts into Cedar Keys from the Suwannee. The wreck of these two steamers will be a great misfortune to the people on the river, as they were the only boats on the river, hence it leaves this entire section without any transportation whatever.

SCORCHER FROM WATSON.

His Paper Scores Chairman Butler. Protested Against Fusion.

The publication in last week's issue of Thomas E. Watson's paper of an editorial attack on Chairman Marion Butler, of the Populist National Committee, has excited comment in politics, and is considered significant in view of the rumors afloat that Mr. Watson may retire from the ticket. The editorial in question is as follows:

"Attempts have been made to show that Mr. Watson favored fusion in the State of Indiana. That is not correct. Mr. Watson took the position at the beginning of the campaign that no Populist could consistently vote for a single Sewall elector any more than he could vote for a Hobart elector. He filed with Chairman Butler a written protest against Mr. Butler's fusion policy. Mr. Butler has ignored Mr. Watson's protest, and gone steadily forward on his own line. Mr. Watson's position is now what it was when the Georgia State Convention met. He is for a straight 'middle-of-the-road' ticket. In no other way can the Democratic managers be forced to bide by the St. Louis contract. Mr. Watson's position has been humiliating and embarrassing, and he has been compelled to submit to policies he did not approve."

CARLISLE IN KENTUCKY.

Chairman Davie, of the "National" Democratic State Central Committee of Kentucky, has received a letter from Secretary Carlisle stating that he could not leave Washington until October 25th, and that between that date and November 1st he would make five speeches in Kentucky.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

THE RESTORATION TO HEALTH OF A PROMINENT MAN.

Worn Out by Exposure and Broken Down in Health He Was in Misery for Months—Is Now a Well and Happy Man—Read the Story.

From the News, Clarksburg, W. Va.

In the interest of common humanity, your reporter has the honor to send you an interesting and profitable interview had with one of Harrison County's most highly esteemed citizens, concerning his narrow and miraculous escape from death. The person referred to is Mr. Floyd E. Barnett, of Jarvisville, West Virginia, who is well known throughout Harrison County and other sections of the State.

Mr. Barnett's narrative is as follows: "I live at Jarvisville, West Virginia, was born and raised there, and am thirty-nine years of age. I am a farmer by occupation, and the exposure and hardships incident to this life finally overcame a strong constitution, and in the month of May, 1894, I was seized with what the medical fraternity pronounced sciatic rheumatism.

"The disease was first felt in the hip and soon became severely painful. Within a short time the whole lower extremity was affected and became terribly swollen, and at times the pain which was almost unbearable extended up into the shoulder. I consulted the best physicians and specialists in the country, some of whom treated me sometime, but to no successful purpose. I used various patent medicines and liniments of wide recommendation, but none of them gave relief. I worried along this way for some months, being unable to work and at times unable to move. I became restless at night and could not sleep. The disease seemed to affect my heart and it was utterly impossible to lie on my left side on account of the seriousness of the pain at the heart.

"My condition seemed a hopeless one and I was much discouraged, when by chance I happened to read an account in the Wheeling Independent of the wonderful cure of a person afflicted like myself, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had effected. This was some time in the month of December. I immediately procured a box and began to use them. A change commenced at once.

"I continued to take the pills until I felt entirely cured. To-day I am a well and sound man. The pills not only cured my rheumatism, but drove that troublesome pain from my heart as well. For more than a year now I have not been troubled in the slightest with either malady, or any other for that matter. I am a strong man and perform as much manual labor as any farmer."

Mr. Barnett is a man highly respected for veracity. His statements are corroborated by his neighbors and his recovery is ascribed to the use of Dr. Williams' Pills. As he talked to your reporter, he showed every sign of being a man in excellent health and only too glad to tell the simple story of how his life was saved by the use of the pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SCHOOL BOOKS.
THE PEOPLE CAN BUY
From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.
W. H. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

FLORIDA LANDS—$100 will buy land enough for a farm. I have 200 acres of best fruit and vegetable lands near the town of Grove City, subdivided into ten acre tracts at $10 per acre. One mile from Lemon bay, two miles from Gulf of Mexico. Practically below frost. The land has natural drainage, with all the timber necessary for building and fencing purposes. Saw mill near by. Now, while lands are cheap, is the time to secure a farm in this, the coming section of the South Gulf Coast. Address with stamp D. W. Arline, Grove City, Florida.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs, Cattle and Horses Die?
Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand-book of information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE

$100 SALARY Per month. We procure a situation for you. It costs you nothing to investigate. Do you want work at good pay? If so write us for particulars. COUCH & LUGENBEEL, SENOIA, GA.

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors, Miners and Treasure Seekers. Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. AGENCY, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

HANDSOME Large Blue Barred Plymouth Rock and Light Brahma Cockerels, from prize stock. Only $1 each. Mrs. Gomperts, Lady Lake, Florida.

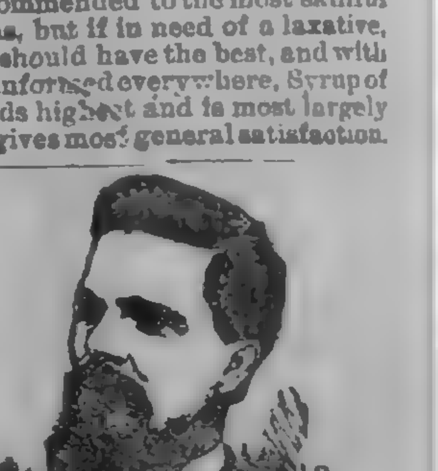
WANTED YOUNG MEN AND LADIES TO LEARN Telegraphy for positions on railroads. DALLAS TELEGRAPH COLLEGE, Dallas, Texas.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist)
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat disease in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)

• • • Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician • • • He is a Georgian by birth, a high toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments, and is [illegible] by all who know him. [illegible] ters pertaining to his profession.

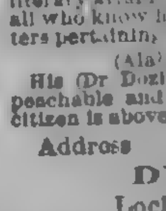
(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

GEARHART'S FAMILY KNITTER.



Knits a stocking heel and toe in ten minutes. Knits every thing required in the household from homespun or factory wool or cotton yarns. Most practical knitter on the market. A child can operate it. Strong, Durable, Simple, Rapid. Satisfaction guaranteed. Agents wanted. For particulars and sample work, address

PRICE $8.00

J. E. GEARHART, Box 150, Clearfield, Pa.

WE TELL HOW to make & sell spring beds [illegible] profit. We supply material and tools. Ordway & Co., 222 Gay St., Peoria, Ill.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA might well be the name of the 590-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopædias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1120 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and [illegible] YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1896. NO. 51.

THE CRIME OF 1873.

HOW ACT DEMONETIZING SILVER WAS PASSED.

It Was Rushed Through Congress Without Being Read and Debate Was Shut Off by the Previous Question—People Never Heard of It.

Arkansas Gazette: It has been often said, so often indeed that one would think every citizen of the country was familiar with the facts, but they are not, or if they read about it they have forgotten the facts.

The act demonetizing silver was [illegible] through congress. Less than a dozen members knew of it. President Grant, who signed the bill, was totally ignorant of it. Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures at the time, when charged with having advocated the demonetization of silver, said in a speech in the house: "In connection with the charge that I advocated the bill which demonetized the standard silver dollar, I say that though chairman of the committee on coinage, I was as ignorant of the fact that it would demonetize the silver dollar, or of its dropping the silver dollar from our system as were those distinguished gentlemen, Messrs. Blaine and Voorhees, who were then members of the house, and each of whom, a few days since, interrogated the other: 'Did you know it was dropped when the bill passed?' 'No,' said Mr. Blaine, 'did you?' 'No,' said Mr. Voorhees. 'I do not think there were three members in the house that knew it. I doubt whether Mr. Hooper, who, in my absence from the committee on coinage and attendance on the committee on ways and means, managed the bill, knew it. I say this in justice to him.'" This statement was made in the Forty-fifth congress.

In the Forty-sixth congress the matter was again brought to the attention of the house by Judge Kelly, who said: "All that I can say is that the committee on coinage, weights and measures, who reported the original bill, were faithful and able, and scanned its provisions closely; that as their organ I reported it: THAT IT CONTAINED PROVISIONS FOR BOTH THE STANDARD SILVER DOLLAR AND THE TRADE DOLLAR. Never having heard until a long time after its enactment into law of the substitution in the senate of the section which dropped the standard silver dollar, I profess to know nothing of its history, but I am prepared to say that in the legislation of this country there is no mystery equal to the demonetization of the silver dollar of the United States. I have never met a man who could tell just how it came about or why. The bill passed without any allusion in debate to the question of the retention or abandonment of the standard silver dollar."

Evidently the crime was committed after it had left the hands of the committee, and before it was voted on in the house. How it passed that body is as described by Congressman Bright of Tennessee: "It passed by fraud in the house, never having been printed in advance, being a substitute for the printed bill; never having been read at the clerk's desk, the reading having been dispensed with by an impression that the bill made no alteration in the coinage laws; it was passed without discussion, debate being cut off by operation of the previous question. It was passed, to my certain information, under such circumstances that the fraud escaped the attention of some of the most watchful, as well as the ablest statesmen in congress at the [illegible]

Senator Allison said in reference to the subject: "When the secret history of the bill of 1873 comes to be told, it will disclose the fact that the house of representatives intended to coin both gold and silver, and intended to place both metals upon the French relation instead of on our own, which was the scientific position with reference to the subject in 1873, but that the bill afterward was doctored."

Senator Beck said: "The bill never was understood by either house of congress." Senator Thurman said: "There was not a single man in the senate, unless a member of the committee from which the bill came, who had the slightest idea that it was even a squint toward demonetization."

Mr Holman, in the house, said "the measure and the methods of its passage was a colossal swindle. It does not possess the moral force of law."

Representative Cannon, of Illinois, says the bill was not discussed and other members of congress nor the people understood the scope of the [illegible].

Senator Hereford, of West Virginia, in a speech in the senate, said "the bill never was read, never was discussed, and the chairman of the committee said to Mr. Holman, when asked the question, that it did not affect the coinage in any way whatever."

Who was benefited by this crime? The foreign and New York bondholders. Who paid for it? Let the following affidavit explain. It was made by Frederick A. Luckenbach, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange, but a resident of Denver for several years. The present editor of the Gazette met Mr. Luckenbach in Denver and heard him rehearse the matter, substantially as given in this statement:

In 1865 I visited London, England, for the purpose of placing there Pennsylvania oil properties in which I was interested. I took with me letters of introduction to many gentlemen in London, among them one Mr. Ernest Seyd, from Robert M. Faust, ex-treasurer of Philadelphia. I became well acquainted with Mr. Seyd and with his brother, Richard Seyd, who, I understand, is yet living. I visited London thereafter every year, and with each visit renewed my acquaintance with Mr. Seyd. In February, 1874, while on one of these visits, and while his guest at dinner, I, among other things, alluded to rumors afloat of parliamentary corruption, and expressed astonishment that such corruption should exist. In reply to this he told me he could relate facts about the corruption of the American congress that would place it far ahead of the English parliament in that line. After dinner he invited me into another room, where he resumed the conversation about legislative corruption. He said: "If you will pledge me your honor as a gentleman not to divulge what I am about to tell you while I live, I will convince you that what I said about the corruption of the American congress is true." I gave him my promise, and he then continued: "I went to America in 1872-73, authorized to secure, if I could, the passage of a bill demonetizing silver. It was to the interest of those whom I represented—the governors of the Bank of England—to have it done. I took with me $500,000, with instructions if that was not sufficient to accomplish the object, to draw for another $500,000, or as much more as was necessary. I saw the committees of the house and senate and paid the money and stayed in America until I knew the measure was safe. Your people will not now comprehend the far-reaching extent of that measure, but they will in after years. Whatever you may think of corruption in the English parliament, I assure you I would not have dared to make such an attempt here as I did in your country."

Such, in brief, is the crime of 1873, the crime which the people of the United States are clamoring to have undone; a crime which, in the language of Mr. Carlisle, "would ultimately entail more misery upon the human race than all the wars, pestilences and famines that ever occurred in the history of the world."

THE POSITION OF THE AMERICAN LABORER WHO ACCEPTS REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

He Accepts the Sop From the Plutocracy but Still Remains in the Stocks.

A Lumbering Lie Nailed.

The New Berne (N. C.) Chronicle in its first issue denies that American lumber has been affected by tariff change, and says:

"Since the tariff was removed less lumber has been shipped from Canada than for any like period when lumber was protected. * * * The demand is too slight, the supply too great—consequence, slump in the lumber industries. * * * Lumber, like all other things manufactured in the United States, has fallen in price because of underconsumption. Give the consumers their just deserts—an honest currency—and not only the sawmills but all the mills and factories will resume work, for the consumers will have the means with which to buy homes. Under our present gold standard—having at least one-half less than money enough with which to do the business of the nation—we may expect a continuation of hard times and closing factories; and just at this time, when the powers of Wall street are strenuously exerting themselves to frighten the American people into selling their birthright for a mess of Hannaism, we may expect fairly a pyrotechnic display of 'object lesson.'"

Political Pointers.

West Virginia is full of woods and the woods are full of democrats.—Register, Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Will Brother Hanna kindly arise and lead the Republican Glee club in singing, "Ark, from the Tombs a Doleful Sound," etc?

"The cold refrigerated fact remains that here in silver-cursed Mexico we have the money to pay our bills."—Mexican Herald.

If free silver is going to make gold worth so much more than now, what is the gold owner kicking about?—Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot.

Wall and Lombard streets are bitterly opposed to Bryan—all the more reason why those who earn their own living should support him.—Biddeford, Me., Times.

A silver dollar in the hands of the people is worth to them considerable more than two gold dollars in the pockets of a Wall street capitalist.—Gazette, Asheville, N. C.

We do not know where Miss Pollard is but it will be news to her to learn that Col. W. C. P. B. has discovered and recovered his conscience.—Wilmington, (N. C.) Star.

The goldbug argument is becoming reduced to the statement that "the silver craze is dying out." It is almighty lively to be on its deathbed.—Gazette, Phoenix, Ariz.

HUNTINGTON'S SCHEME.

Wants the Government to Wait 100 Years Longer.

The case of the Central Pacific railroad is one that justifies the government control of railroads. The relation of the Central Pacific and the government is thus stated by the Twentieth Century:

"The Central Pacific railroad company is bankrupt. Its immense indebtedness includes a round $80,000,000 to the United States government. This sum represents principal and interest of 6 per cent bonds, payable in thirty years from date, issued by the government to the builders of the Central Pacific road at different times between 1865 and 1872. The original sum total of them all aggregated about $28,000,000. The first of these bonds became payable in January, 1895, and the interest during all those years, not compounded, came to 180 per cent of the face value of the bonds. The remaining bonds fall due at intervals until 1902. Now, the sole survivor of the four men who built the road is C. P. Huntington, and he is responsible for the bills that turn up so persistently in congress.

Mr. Huntington wishes congress to decree that the railroad be granted 100 years longer in which to pay this debt. Interest he says should be 2 per cent, and the United States government should become responsible for both principal and interest of these new 100 year bonds. The bonds now existing are to be cancelled when the new bonds make their appearance, and the railroad itself shall be freed from its present indebtedness altogether. The railroad proposes to pay principal and interest of the new bonds in installments, the last one falling due in 1997.

That is a very interesting scheme. If it succeeds Mr. Huntington will be the most famous money maker that ever lived. For these reasons:

The Central Pacific railroad exists under California laws. It is not incorporated under the national government. Its charter expires in 1911. Its affairs must be wound up then. Should it pay its debts it may reincorporate. If not, it goes into a receiver's hands. Under the laws of California the four estates of Messrs. Huntington, Stanford, Crocker and Hopkins (the men who pushed the road through) are liable for the indebtedness. But when the government sued the Stanford estate, Mr. Cleveland's attorney general failed to carry the case to the courts on its merits, and lost before the supreme court of the United States. No justice changed his mind on this occasion. The corporation disappears in 1911. Suppose the government took possession of the road. It would get "two streaks of rust and a right of way." Huntington's scheme, defeated in the last democratic congress, and revived in the last republican one, grants him immunity from all liability. Uncle Sam hands over his security to Huntington, who gives him back a valise. Uncle Sam's security represents $65,000,000, plus $75,000,000 principal and interest respectively on the entire Pacific debt, plus $20,000,000 of sinking fund, plus millions more for costs and interest. Huntington's valise represents a corporation that disappears in 1911, and two streaks of rust and a right of way.

Huntington pursues this game of his by means of bills introduced into congress from time to time. The entire business of the house of representatives has been blocked by these measures."

Foraker's Blunder.

(St. Louis Republic, Silver Democrat.)

When Senator Foraker blundered into the statement that the reason silver dollars were maintained at a par with gold is because silver dollars and every other form of United States money are redeemable in gold he did a high service for the Democratic campaign. The letter of Assistant Secretary of the Treasurer Curtis to Congressman McRae, stating that the government does not redeem either silver dollars or silver certificates in gold, disposes of this campaign fraud. Neither the ignorant nor the lying orator can now dupe the voters into believing that the present silver dollars and certificates are good because they are redeemable in gold.

Palmer Isn't.

It is said that Palmer was a Democrat before Bryan was born. But Bryan is still a Democrat.—San Francisco Examiner.

Talk about "strong men"—there's Bryan carrying the country!

WHAT IS MONEY?

THE POWER TO CREATE VESTED IN CONGRESS ALONE.

The Value of Money Is Legal and Not Material—Iron and Steel Intrinsically Worth More Than Silver or Gold—Some Sound Reasoning.

While everybody—and most particularly those who have the least of it—are talking about money and discussing the money question, especially gold and silver money, it might be well for them, in order to better inform themselves, to stop and ask themselves the sober question in the above caption—"What Is Money?" The child will tell you that it is what you buy candy with. Some men, who pass for great statesmen, will tell you that it is gold and silver and bank paper based on gold and silver, with nickel and copper for currency. This is true. But these metals have not always been money, neither are they necessarily the only substance out of which money may be made. Money is a creation of law. The constitution of the United States says that "Congress shall have power to coin money and regulate the value thereof"; and it does not specify any particular substance out of which such money shall be coined. At different periods in the world's history nearly everything has been used as money. Probably the earliest money in general use to any great extent were sheep and cattle. In ancient Britain slaves were used as money and were called "living money." In Sparta, during the reign of Lycurgus, iron was the medium of exchange. Rome first used gold for money about two centuries before the Christian era. Carthage used leather bearing the stamp of government. Cathay used as money the inner bark of a certain tree, cut into circle and bearing the imprint of the king. It was a full legal tender, and to counterfeit it or depreciate it or attempt to depreciate it by refusing to accept it in payment for debts was death. Glass coin was at one time the currency of Arabia, and codfish was used as money in Newfoundland. At one time in Massachusetts musket balls were used as money. In 1732 tobacco was legal tender in Maryland, and nails were used for small change in Scotland as late as 1776. George W. Childs stated in his paper, the Ledger, that turnips circulated in Philadelphia in the place of copper cents as late as 1865. A hundred other instances could be mentioned. Money is a representative of value; simply a medium of exchange, and a creature of law. We will quote a little from high authority:

"Money is a value created by law. Its value is legal and not material. It is, perhaps, not easy to convince one that the value of metallic money is created by law. It is, however, a fact."—Henri Cernunchi.

"To coin money and regulate its value as an act of sovereignty involves the right to determine what shall be taken and received as money; at what measure or price it shall be taken; and what shall be its effect when passed or tendered in payment or satisfaction of legal obligations. Government can give to its stamp upon leather the same money value as if put upon gold or silver, or any other material."—Judge Tiffany, in "Constitution Law," page 221.

"Metallic money, while acting as coin, is identical with paper money in respect to its being destitute of intrinsic value."—North British Review.

"Money is a medium of exchange. Whatever performs this function, does the work, is money, no matter what it is made of."—Walker's Political Economy.

"Gold and silver are not intrinsically of the equal value of iron. No methods have been hitherto formed to establish a medium of trade equal in all advantages to its bills of credit made legal tender."—Benjamin Franklin.

The first legal tender established by Massachusetts was the beads of the Indians, and though insufficient in quantity, it answered the purpose of money quite as well as English gold or Spanish silver. Later the infant colony issued paper to pay soldiers sent on an expedition against Canada. The issue was for five thousand pounds in notes from five shillings to five pounds, and was redeemable in taxes. This money was not made a legal tender. It was not stamped as money by which private debts could be paid; but in 1692 it was ordered that they should be received at the treasury at five per cent over metal money. This "fiat" brought them at once to par with gold, and they stayed at par with that metal for twenty years, until taken up in the revenues of the colony.

In 1775 Virginia put out her notes to sustain the war of that period, and guaranteed their redemption in a specific tax. To make their success doubly sure, these notes bore interest at six per cent. Thomas Jefferson afterward wrote in his history of the colonial money: "Not a bill of this emission was found in circulation. It was locked up in the chests of executors, guardians, widows, farmers." Why? Because it was good money. It would not have been hoarded if it was not. Jefferson further says: "We then issued bills bottomed on a redeeming tax, but bearing no interest. These were received, and never depreciated a single farthing."

This is populist money. The money that the men who are ridiculed and abused and called cranks advocate. Money bottomed on taxes—backed by that which is now back of the gold interest-bearing bonds of the United States; the wealth of the entire country; the credit and the honor of the government. While studying the "silver question," don't forget the money question.

Cleveland and Carlisle.

The telegram of Mr. Cleveland to the bondocrats of Louisville on the occasion of the notification of the bolters that they had been nominated, was most natural. Mr. Cleveland during his last administration has been so busy in bond deals that it is natural he should mistake bondocrats for democrats. But it is a little odd that Mr. Carlisle in his communication should call the goldbug bondocrats "the old-fashioned democrats," when he declared in 1878 that this bondocratic "conspiracy which seems to have been formed here and in Europe to destroy by legislation and otherwise from three-sevenths to one-half of the metallic money of the world is the most gigantic crime of this or any other age." Will Carlisle have the same faith in Cleveland after the 4th of March as he now has if he does not get a fat place in New York for his services as secretary? It is to be hoped that the Morgans and the Belmonts will retain both Cleveland and Carlisle as long as they live for their faithful service to them.

Why Manufacturers Intimidate.

The editor of this paper has been canvassing in Maryland, New York, and New England for the past two weeks, and asserts without fear of contradiction that if the people could cast their ballots without fraud and corruption on the part of the goldbugs and without intimidation on the part of employers of labor, Bryan would carry every section which the editor visited by a majority of more than two to one. The people appear to be all one way, the banks and the employers of labor all the other way. It seems that the London banks direct the policy of the New York banks, the New York banks control the country banks, and the country banks have got manufacturers and all other business men by the throat, and they dare not either think or act for themselves. And that explains why the employers of labor are issuing circulars and making threats against their employes if they do not vote for the perpetuation of the gold standard.

Porfirio Diaz on Mexico.

Much has been said about the disastrous effects of the free coinage in Mexico. Porfirio Diaz, the president of Mexico, tells us just what the effect of the use of silver is in his country, and how the difference of exchange benefits Mexico. His statement is published elsewhere in this issue.

Notwithstanding the undisputed evidence that the silver standard countries have a tariff against the United States in the difference of exchange which is a bounty on exports and a tax on imports, the republican party, claiming to be the party of protection for the United States, insists that China and Japan shall be first protected. That protection against the United States is just as much a cardinal doctrine of the republican party in this campaign as protection for the United States has ever been, is now well established.

Cuba.

The people of the United States, happy in the enjoyment of the blessings of free government, feel a generous sympathy toward all who are endeavoring to secure like blessings for themselves. This sympathy, while respecting all treaty obligations, is especially active and earnest when excited by the struggles of neighboring peoples, who, like the Cubans, are near enough to observe the workings of a government which derives all its authority from the consent of the governed.—W. J. Bryan.

Railroads.

The right of the United States government to regulate interstate commerce cannot be questioned and the necessity for the vigorous exercise of that right is becoming more and more imperative. The interests of the whole people require such an enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission as will enable it to prevent discrimination between persons and places and protect patrons from unreasonable charges.—W. J. Bryan.

Pacific Railroads.

The government cannot afford to discriminate between its debtors, and must therefore prosecute its legal claims against the Pacific railroads. Such a policy is necessary for the protection of the rights of patrons as well as for the interests of the government.—W. J. Bryan.

Mr. Stevenson Will Preside.

Vice-President Stevenson has informed Secretary Gardner of the Association of Bryan Clubs that he will accept the association's invitation to preside at the club convention at St. Louis on Oct. 3. The club officials now count upon an attendance of 10,000 delegates.

Nothing But Money.

Mr. Hanna is now using money and oratory in the west and oratory and money in the east—and principally money.—Nashville Sun.

Bragg Objects.

Detroit Tribune: That is to say, Gen. Bragg declines to be left alone with that other private in the ranks.

Gold democrats have talked a good deal about "Preserving the Ark of the covenant." Did they hear from it Monday?

NOT AN EXPERIMENT.

Free Silver Coinage Would Be Only a Return to First Principles.

(From Denver Times, Silver Republican.)

One of the arguments advanced by the gold standard advocates is that any change in our monetary system would create, in our own country, a dangerous disturbance of values and would completely upset our business relations with all foreign countries.

It might be supposed from their attitude on this question that we are enjoying a high degree of prosperity, and that this desirable state of existence might be endangered by the proposed change in the monetary system. In view of the bankruptcy, poverty, and distress of the people of the United States to-day, are we not called upon to try something, although the remedy we try may not be perfect? We have tried the single gold standard for over twenty years, and after so long a trial we have reached business paralysis, labor is unemployed and poverty and want is upon every side, and we have yet to hear of a prospect of improvement under a continuation of the gold standard.

Bimetallism, however, is no experiment. History tells us that under this system alone the world has been prosperous. To return to the bimetallic standard is no new order of things, and to wait for an international agreement is to never return to bimetallism. It is probable that an international agreement for the establishment of a ratio between gold and silver will never be made, even though all nations should suddenly become bimetallists. The reason for this is that each nation makes its own laws concerning legal tender money and banking.

An international agreement would be a treaty between nations, and treaties are of no other binding effect than the willingness of the parties to them to maintain them. It is the law of nations that any nation may withdraw from any treaty to which it is a party, whenever that treaty operates perniciously upon its interests.

A change in our financial system, however radical it might be, would not prevent other countries from trading with us. The United States could not build a wall high enough to prevent John Bull from climbing over it to sell us his goods, under whatever financial system we choose to adopt. If any foreign nation felt disposed to stop trading with us because her people disliked our financial system, we would try and get along without buying from them.

Commerce and trade do not depend upon the uniformity of money in the different countries. Gold itself is no international money. A little experimenting by the United States would not be out of place at the present time. Under the gold standard we have been steadily going from bad to worse, and yet from year to year the gold monometallists have insisted that trade would soon be better and times would improve—just hold on a little longer and all would be well.

The American people have had enough of the "prosperity" of the gold standard system, and propose to return to the financial system of prosperous times, and in doing so the country will be able to withstand the shock of the alleged experiment.

P. S.—The single gold standard is an experiment and the empty pocketbooks of the people tell how costly it has proved.

What Bryan Said in 1893.

"You may think you have buried the cause of bimetallism; you may congratulate yourselves that you have laid the free coinage of silver away in a sepulcher, newly-made since the election, and before the door rolled the veto stone. But, sirs, if our cause is just, as I believe it is, your labor has been in vain; no tomb was ever made so strong that it could imprison a righteous cause. Silver will lay aside its grave clothes and its shroud. It will yet rise, and its rising and reign will bless mankind."

Injunctions.

The recent abuses which have grown out of injunction proceedings have been so emphatically condemned by public opinion that the Senate bill providing for trial by jury in certain contest cases will meet with general approval.—W. J. Bryan.

A New Job.

Visitor—Where is your living skeleton nowadays?

Museum Manager—Out working for McKinley. He sits on the platform at Republican speakings as a Mexican laborer.

They All Love Sheehan Now.

The republican newspapers have been quick to perceive that all the political sins they used to attribute to Hon. William F. Sheehan have been laundered out of existence.

Ye Gods! Hear This.

With Hetty Green contributing to the campaign fund of the Texas republicans and Russell Sage worrying over the laboring man, it would seem that the country is safe.—Ex.

Needed Repairs.

Washington Post: Suppose Senator Thurston did change his mind on the financial question. Could the man be expected to stick to his old mind when it was out of repair?

Michigan Rainbow Chaser.

Don M. Dickinson predicts 50,000 majority for McKinley in Michigan. Mr. Dickinson gained considerable notoriety as the chief of the rainbow chasers in 1888.

THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

JESTS AND YARNS BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Unremitting—A Kiss Ratio—Why She Took Him—Her Claim to His Whiskers—A Much-Sought Way—Three Balls—A Rural Definition.

WHERE THE OUT CAME IN.

Doctor—The matter with you is that you want to be out more.

Patient—I'll be out enough when I get your bill, doctor.

ADVICE.

"Oh, dear, how the hours do drag! I wish I knew how to hurry them on."

"Why don't you apply the spur of the moment?"

AN APPARENT NECESSITY.

Chumley—I'd like to put an advertisement in the Bugle for a nurse.

Editor—That's right young man. The most sensible thing you could do.

INCAPACITATED.

Judge—You say your husband gave you that black eye. Then why isn't he in court to answer to the charge?

The Plaintiff—Sure, Your Honor, he can't see or walk.

SMALL CHANCE FOR HIM.

"Brown'll never go to glory in a chariot of fire."

"No; he'll hardly get to a roof garden in an elevator."

CARELESS FELLOW.

Pretty Wife—"What fools sheep are," the remark being suggested by something she was reading.

Abstracted Husband—"Yes, lamb," and he wondered why she rushed out slamming the door as she went.

SOCIOLOGICAL.

"And you really tell me that you have no paupers here?" said the astonished traveler.

"Not one," said the native. "How could we when the country is too poor to support 'em?"

OR AT LEAST A PIECE OF HIM.

"Isn't it terrible!" said the trembling Algerian. "Our ruler has been bitten by one of the royal mastiffs."

"It was to be expected," replied his philosophical comrade. "Every dog has his Dey, you know."

A DOUBT.

"The Amazons," exclaimed the courier, hurriedly, "are anxious to advance and throw themselves into the breach."

The King of Dahomey knit his brows.

"Do you think it would be safe?" he mused. "You know how it is about women throwing."

TAKEN LITERALLY.

Horton—What would you do if I should ask you to lend me ten dollars?

Bixby (who thinks it is a conundrum)—Give it up.

Horton—Thanks, old man. That's very good of you. I'll pay you back at the first possible moment 'pon honor.

KEEPING IT TO HIMSELF.

Diggs—What makes you wear your coat buttoned up to the chin in that way, old man? It isn't cold to-day.

Griggs—I know it, but my wife made me a present yesterday of a new necktie that she had bought herself.

UNREMITTING.

"I must say," remarked the merchant, "that Mr. Fucash devotes the most unremitting care to his business."

"He doesn't pay his bills, though," replied the bookkeeper.

"That's what I have reference to. Whenever we ask him to please remit, he doesn't pay any attention to it."

A KISS RATIO.

"Charley is a 16 to 1 man," said Ethel to Mabel, speaking of her fiance.

"I don't take any interest in politics," replied Mabel.

"Oh, this isn't politics."

"What is it?"

"He's willing to give me sixteen kisses for every one I give him."

WHY SHE TOOK HIM

"I understand that she can't resist a bargain."

"That's right. She'll buy the most useless things if they seem to be bargains. Why, her titled husband was a bargain."

"Really?"

"Yes indeed. If I'm not mistaken he was sold under the hammer for his debts and she bid him in."

A RURAL DEFINITION.

"What is the meaning of the word 'original?'" asked the rural teacher of the class of small boys.

"Liar, sir," shouted a little fellow at the foot of the class.

"No, sir!" thundered the teacher.

"Well, hit's mighty close ter it," said the boy, "fer dad says you're the most original liar he ever seen!"

A MUCH SOUGHT WAY.

Carruthers—"Yes: I wouldn't mind a situation that was quite laborious, in a way."

Waite—"In what way?"

Carruthers—"Why, where I'd have to work hard to convince myself that I was doing anything."

THREE BALLS.

"I see they are applying ball bearings to a great many things now."

"Yes, they have a ball-bearing sign down where I keep my watch."

A GENTLE HINT.

Mr. Spriggins (gently)—My dear, a Boston man was shot at by a burglar, and his life was saved by a button which the bullet struck.

Mrs. Spriggins—Well, what of it?

Mr. Spriggins (meekly)—Nothing, only the buttons must have been on.

The death of Harriet Beecher Stowe removes one who wrought a great service for the cause of liberty. Her famous story, though most emphatically a "novel with a purpose," deserves to rank high even from a literary standpoint; but as a factor in the abolition of slavery it will live in history. When the conditions described in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were actually known to exist, and brought home to the hearts of the people, slavery was doomed.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SUBSCRIBERS who receive this number of THE BANNER marked with two cross marks (XX) in blue pencil will kindly understand this is the last paper we can send them until their subscriptions are paid up.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

4th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
FOR CONGRESS
W. F. ALDRICH

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile

Second district—Lawrence S Knight of Crenshaw

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour.

Fourth district—Thomas L. Harvey of Calhoun.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langley of Tallapoosa.

Sixth district—H. F. Gaines of Walker.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall.

Eigth district—F. B. Bickley of Colbert.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb.

WITH much pleasure we note the meeting of our citizens to discuss the question of the improvement of Clanton. That there is plenty of room for improvement no one will deny, and therefore it is merely a question of the best way of arriving at the desired end. No town can prosper unless some sort of system is adopted which will conduce to the common good. Where there is a population of one thousand persons within a limited area it is absolutely essential to their moral and material welfare that some organized authority should be recognized. It should not be so much a question of cost—though in the case of Clanton the taxation need be but very little—as a question of improving the social, religious and business status of our people. The committee appointed at Monday night's meeting we have no doubt will diligently devote themselves this week to the duty allotted them and we hope when they make their report at the meeting to be held next Monday night that every man in town will be in attendance.

HON. W. H. SKAGGS last Monday morning addressed the citizens of Clanton on the political issues of the day. Mr. J. A. Logan introduced him to the meeting. Mr. Skaggs spoke for two hours and was listened to with marked attention. He reviewed most of the leading features of the campaign, and briefly touched upon the good work already done by Hon. W. F. Aldrich, our candidate for congress, and the reasons why we should again elect him as our representative. Mr. Skaggs is an accomplished gentleman and an eloquent speaker and we have no doubt favorably impressed his audience.

WILL our readers bear in mind that Thursday next, the 22d inst., dedication services are to be held in the new court house. Rev. F. M. Woods of Jemison will preach at 11 o'clock and other prominent preachers are expected to attend. We hope that on this occasion, the first public use of our elegant palace of justice, that all will show their appreciation of this monument of Chilton's advancement, and fill the house to overflowing.

HON. H. A. WILSON has withdrawn from the Congressional contest in this district. It seems to us Mr. Wilson has acted wisely, he never had the slightest prospect of success and discreetly retire. Now the fight is between Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Capt. Plowman, for really it is not worth while to consider in the race the goldbug nominee, Mr. Dryer. But the withdrawal of Mr. Wilson considerably strengthens the position of our candidate, and whatever Republican following he had naturally reverts to Mr. Aldrich and increases his majority. But this should not cause Chilton county to cease its effort to do all in its power to make that majority as large as possible. We have only to remember two years ago how the Democratic nominee was declared elected and Mr. Aldrich had to contest the seat. We have no guarantee that the same tactics will not be adopted this time and Mr. Aldrich again have to contest and with this prospect in mind we must turn out in full force and elect Mr. Aldrich by a handsome majority.

We publish below resolutions adopted by the Executive committee of the People's Party of Conecuh county. These resolutions assert true Populist doctrine, and should be accepted and followed as the guiding star of Populists in Alabama. We are rid of two arch traitors, as well as stumbling blocks in the way, therefore, of success to Populist principles in our State. These resolutions mark out and blaze the way for all Populist to follow in Alabama. Any other course is the condonation and ratification of the election frauds in Alabama so often condemned by the people. Read the resolution and act accordingly.

Evergreen, Ala., Oct. 12, 1896.

At a meeting of the Executive committee of the People's party of Conecuh county held at Evergreen on Oct. 12, 1896, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted, and a copy ordered to be sent to the chairman of the State Executive committee.

WHEREAS, The People's Tribune, the recognized official organ of the People's party of Alabama, has seen proper to espouse the cause of the organized democracy, in opposition to the nominees of the People's party, and

WHEREAS, We believe the best means of preserving the organization consists in a loyal and consistent support of its nominees and its platform, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That this committee hereby ratifies and endorses the campaign committee at its meeting held at Calera on Oct. 5, inst., and pledges its undivided support to said committee in its efforts to preserve the honor and integrity of our party and to rid the party of all impostors and traitors.

P. M. BRUNER, Ch'n.
JNO. W. BROWN, Sec'y.

THE following correspondence explains itself, and we merely wish to remark that we heartily endorse the position taken by Judge Honeycutt. We agree with Mr. Crumpton that the white people of our county should be united, and cordially invite him and his friends to join us in electing Mr. Aldrich by the biggest majority Chilton has ever known. We think Mr. Crumpton is misinformed concerning Populists in his beat as we cannot for one moment see how any self-respecting Populist can vote any other way than the straight party ticket.

Maplesville, Ala., Oct. 13, 1896
Judge R. M. Honeycutt, Clanton

Dear Judge and Brother—The leading men of your party in this beat have declared their intention of supporting the Bryan and Sewal electors, as a vote for the Bryan and Watson electors would defeat, in all probability, the cause of the Populite party, to wit, Free Silver. They also say they will support our nominee for congress, Tom Plowman, as he has declared for free silver, although a national bank president, and that he also endorses the reformation of the national bank law.

Now, Judge, the time has come when there is a chance of once again uniting the white race of our beloved State. I ask you, as a patriot and a Christian, to use your efforts in that direction. Even if we fail to win this fight we will be organized to try it again in 1900. Use your influence with THE BANNER man and try to pull everything for Bryan and Sewall and Plowman. If in your good judgment you see this thing as I do, write and let me know your views.

Faithfully yours,
T. U. CRUMPTON,
Mem. Dem. Cong. Com. 4th Dis.

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 14, 1896.
Mr. T. U Crumpton, Maplesville,

My Dear Sir: I am in receipt of

(continued on 6th column next page)

HON. W. F. ALDRICH

OUR CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Hon. W. F. Aldrich after his successful contest, had only a short time to serve in congress before the end of the first session, but in that short time he was active and prompt in his duties, industrious and attentive to the interest of all the people of his district, state and country, and a short and succinct statement of his works in congress will fully demonstrate to the people the care and watchfulness he exerted in their behalf. His contest was not decided until the 13th day of March, 1896, when he was immediately sworn in and entered actively in the business of congress, and on the 16th day of March, 1896, introduced a Financial Bill, with the provisions of which Bill our readers are familiar, as the same has been extensively published and received favorable commendation from the press of all parties, a bill which will attract much attention and earnest consideration of the gold bugs and silverites at the approaching session of congress. On the 18th of March he introduced a bill for Public Buildings at Talladega, which will receive his close attention and earnest support, and no doubt will be passed before the end of his term; he voted for the resolution censuring Mr. Bayard for his unpatriotic speeches and references to his country in England. He voted to condemn partisanship in our foreign representatives: he voted against Boatner and in favor of no election in Boatner's district in Louisiana, where fraud permeated the whole election, and referred the whole matter back to the people for another election. On the 20th of March, 1896, as an expression of his humanitarianism, he voted to reduce cases in which the death penalty may be inflicted under the laws of the United States: on April 6th he voted for the resolution granting to Cuba belligerent rights: he voted that the District of Columbia should pay the expenses of its own public library, because that any citizen can use the National Library under necessary restriction: he voted in favor of the Filled Cheese Bill, in the interest of pure food. on the 16 h of April he was appointed a member of the committee on banking and currency, one of the most important committees in congress: he voted to seat Hon. A. T. Goodwyn in his contest with Judge Cobb in the Fifth District: he called up and endeavored to have passed the Senate a bill granting lands to the Girl's Industrial School of Alabama: he voted to concur in Senate Amendent to cut down number of battleships: he voted against Gen. Wheeler using the congressional Record for publishing matters not said or read in debate: he voted in favor of the River & Harbor Bill, including the survey of Warrior River, which the People's Party convention at Montgomery urged him to advocate. This he did, and secured an order for the survey. He voted in favor of Departments giving certain information concerning removals which were believed to be of a partisan character.

The foregoing is only a small part of the many services rendered by Mr. Aldrich during his brief time he was in congress, and is sufficient to show his unselfish devotion to the interests of all the people in this district.

While reflecting upon Kolb and Bowman's traitorous course and desertion of honest elections and a fair count in Alabama, it is gratifying to the honest and faithful Populists to note and compare the fidelity and honesty of Hon. W. F. Aldrich in supporting at all times those principles of fair and honest elections for which Populists have always contended. By Mr. Aldrich's efforts our votes have been counted against the protests of the organized Democracy. The following extracts from the congressional Records of the first session of the 54th congress will give you an idea of the frauds perpetrated upon us in this district in the Robbins and Aldrich election in 1894. Mr. Moody, M. C., says:

"MR. SPEAKER: It is my purpose, Mr. Speaker, to devote that portion of the time which is allotted to me to a plain statement of the outline of this case, leaving to my colleagues upon the committee the more important duty of it in detail. This contest arises in the Fourth Congressional district of Alabama. In that district, in the election of 1894, Mr. Gaston A. Robbins received the nomination and support of the Democratic party, and Mr. William F. Aldrich received the nomination of the Republican party and the indorsement and support of the Populists party and that wing of the Democratic party in Alabama that is called by the name of Jeffersonian Democrats. On the face of the returns Mr. Robbins received a majority of 3,736. That majority was attacked before the committee on the ground that it was fraudulent: and the committee have presented the contest to this House in three reports, two reports from the Republican members of the committee and one report from the Democratic members of the committee.

"The Democratic members of the committee agree that the returned plurality of 3,746 votes should be reduced, on the ground of fraud in the conduct of the election, to 559. The Republican members of the committee go further, and report—one wing of them—that not only the majority awarded to Mr. Robbins should be reduced, but that it should be extinguished altogether, and that the true majority was 601 for Mr. Aldrich, the Republican.

"Now, Mr. Speaker, it becomes an important thing for us to consider the nature of the district in which this contest arises. The Fourth Alabama district is composed of six counties. Five of them are known as white counties—that is, counties where the white population and the white voters largely predominate—and one of them is a black county, a county in which the colored voters and the colored population largely predominate. In the counties in which the white voters predominate, on the face of the returns the Republican candidate, Mr. Aldrich, received a majority of 1,654 votes. He therefore reached the black county with that majority in his favor, but by the returned vote in the county of Dallas, which is the black county, not only that plurality was met and extinguished, but a plurality was counted for the sitting member (Mr. Robbins). The county of Dallas showed upon the face of the returns 5,462 votes to the Democrat and 72 votes to the Republican.

"The Republican party authority in Alabama issued an order or a request to the Republican voters in the county of Dallas, not to register in the spring and not to vote in the fall. The evidence in this record proves and proves conclusively that to a very great extent the Republicans in Dallas county complied with that request made by their leaders."

Thus you see what Aldrich has accomplished and developed in securing the count of your votes, while Kolb and Bowman traitorously desert us.

Only One Standard

You and we may differ as to money standards and out of our very differences good may come. But we won't differ as to the merits of one standard emulsion of cod liver oil.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has won and held its way for nearly 25 years in the world of medicine until to-day it is almost as much the standard in all cases of lung trouble, and every condition of wasting whether in child or adult as quinine is in malarial fevers.

Differ on the money question if you will, but when it comes to a question of health, perhaps of life and death, get the standard.

Your druggist sells Scott's Emulsion. Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a general election will be held at the various voting places in Chilton county, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1896,

for the election of Electors for President and vice-President of the United States, and for the election of a Representative in the Congress of the United States for the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

This 1st day of October, 1896.
J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

ELECTION MANAGERS.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA }
CHILTON COUNTY. }

This is to certify that the following named persons have been appointed Inspectors and Returning Officers, as required by law, for an election to be held in said County on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1896. To-wit:

Beat No. 1—T J Dorminy, J W Sorrell, Mardical Robinson, Inspectors; J M Robinson, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 1 Providence)—I B Martin, Hugh Henry, Charles Johnson, Inspectors; J A Lowery, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 2 Jemison)—B M Gentry Ira Campbell, J P Givhan, Inspectors; G W Shaw, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 1 Benson)—H W Varden, John Wright, Andy Jones, Inspectors; John Middlebrooks, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 2 Macedonia)—Y O Freeman, A J Ware, Green Hayes, Inspectors; William Nix, Returning officer.

Beat 4—A A Ayres, John Grant, Alfred Popwell, Inspectors; A. C. Oates, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 1 Coopers)—J W G Kicker, B H Wells Hardy Jones, Inspectors; H A J Harris, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 2 Verbena)—W H Strock J J L Stewart, A H Courtney, Inspectors; — Thompson, Returning officer.

Beat 6—J R Vinson, Madison Popwell T L Dickerson, Inspectors; Fayette Popwell, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 1 Maplesville)—W Y Nix G W Fox, W F Foshee, Inspectors; Geo Foshee, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 2 Stoutz) W A Green, J D Holsomback L O Burnett, Inspectors: J N Gentry, Returning officer.

Beat 8—W A Weaver, D C Gaddy, Jack Landers, Inspectors; Wiley Letcher, Returning officer.

Beat 8—D N Riggins, W A Mims, James Collins, Inspectors; Wash Foshee Returning officer.

Given under our hands, this the 2 day of October, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.
J. P VANDERVEER,
Clerk of Circuit Court.
J. T. COOLEY
Sheriff.

State of Alabama }
Chilton County }

I, J. T. Cooley, Sheriff of said County, hereby appoint the Returning Officers, above named at their respective voting places, to act as Special Deputy Sheriffs to attend upon the above named election.

This the 2d day of October, 1896
J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

		1896
Shoultz	October	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm.	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Srasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rolins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville	"	3
Benson	"	4

T. J. HUBBARD, Tax Collector.

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!

THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. The designs are catchy and each vividly portrays the present financial situation. They will be treasured in after years as souvenirs of the greatest political revolution since the birth of our republic. Big profits for agents. Samples 10c. each. For terms address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEPT.
Birmingham, Ala.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J. S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices—Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many pears with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

The great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

County Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in [illegible] Monday in May, second [illegible] second Monday in August, [illegible] Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

[illegible]

[illegible]	9?1
[illegible]	188
[illegible]	184
	1571

CHEAP! CHEAP! Call [illegible] the BANNER office.

[illegible] FOR SALE.—I have [illegible] at a low price, [illegible] and a half [illegible] Clanton. Will exchange [illegible] cotton seed at market price.

F. R. WOODWARD.

Mrs. W. [illegible] Clanton spent several days at her old home at Stanton.

Mrs. B. H. Sory, of Springfield, Tenn., stopped over with relatives on her way to South Alabama, last Saturday.

Mr. B. M. Foshee spent Sunday among friends in Clanton.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Springfield, Tenn., is visiting the family of Capt. Middleton this week. Miss Anderson is on her way to Florida where she will spend the winter.

Dr. W. F. Stewart visited Montgomery last Saturday.

Mr. Frank Harris, of Plantersville, was a welcome visitor to our town last Monday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J. [illegible] John [illegible]

[illegible] granted [illegible] Probate [illegible]

Mr. W. [illegible] be [illegible]

[illegible] of the court house [illegible] the [illegible] of our town. [illegible] Mr. John Garner [illegible] chair and Mr. W. [illegible] elected secretary. [illegible] complaints [illegible] persons being on the [illegible] that a majority of [illegible] be incorporated [illegible] and the [illegible] have been [illegible] quit. In [illegible] state mention [illegible] the bad state of repair [illegible] of our streets are [illegible] necessity of organized effort to keep them in better condition [illegible] one gentlemen after another [illegible] ed his views it became evident that the concensus of opinion was in favor of incorporation and on motion of Dr. Stewart the chair appointed a committee of two property holders, two business men and two attorneys—to draft a charter of incorporation and ascertain what would be the probable cost of putting our streets in good condition. The chair appointed J. P. VanDerveer, W. I. Mullins, Dr. Matthews, W. M. Wilson, I. A. Curry and W. J. Martin, and the meeting adjourned until Monday night next when the committee will make its report.

Slight frost was reported Tuesday morning.

Lily Lyrics.

Prof. Sartain has about secured the school at Mulberry academy and will begin teaching the 19th inst.

Miss Geneva Jones, who has been teaching at Valley Creek is now at home again.

Rev. P. M. Guthrie will begin a series of meetings at Isabella the third Sunday in this month. Our people met last Saturday and cleaned off the Isabella cemetery.

Miss Emma Deshazo, who has been spending sometime in Birmingham, was here on a visit to her parents last week.

Messrs. Moodie Rasberry and Henry Veazey took a trip to Jasper last week. Henry returned last Saturday and Moodie stopped in Birmingham for work.

Mr. John Wright has moved to Sheriff Cooley's place.

CLINT.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Price 50 cents and $1.00.

Full Details Gladly Given.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 18 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS, P. O. Box 65, David City, Nebraska.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E. Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to [illegible] adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
Shoults	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	23
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Mountain church	"	26
Cane Creek church	"	27
Ehrman's mill	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church	"	9
Kincheon	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
J. J. HEMPHILL, Collector.

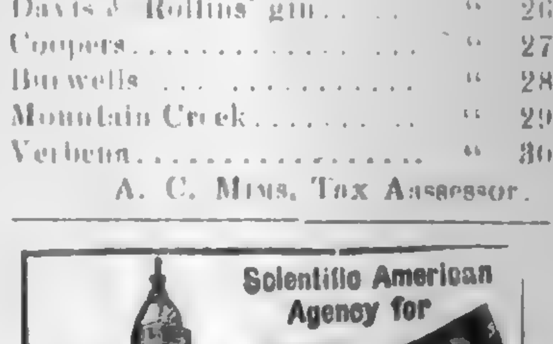
Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897.

		1896
Fletcher's mill	October	1
Kincheon	"	2
Albert Headley's store	"	3
Benson	"	5
Maplesville	"	6
Shoultz	"	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clintonford 1 pm to 2 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church, B at 2	"	13
Caleb Jordan's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Strasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Lore's school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor.



CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

→PORTABLE←

SODA FOUNTAINS

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes, I. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W. G. Hayes, J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 12 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 21 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of sw 1-4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 12, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 20 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 20 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr's c 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 12, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 12, se qr of se qr and w half of se qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 12, as the property of W. G. Hayes, J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W. G. Hayes, J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale at the court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July [illegible] 1896.

F. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday the 12th day of October 1896.

F. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the [illegible] day of October 1896.

J. T. [illegible], Sheriff.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18351.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,730, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
Sept. 14, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry, No. 23 181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

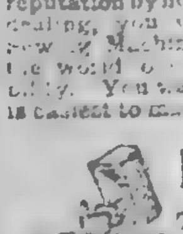
THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, [illegible] Riding [illegible] Spring Wagons [illegible] Send for large catalogue.

No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness. Price $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

No. 77—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. PRATT, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

APPOINTMENTS.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. A. P. Longshore will speak on Monday, Oct. 19, at Columbiana, at 1:30 p.m. and at Shelby at 7:30 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. T. D. Parsons will speak on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at Sycamore at 12 m and at Sylacauga at 4 p.m.; Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Childersburg at 10 a.m.; Thursday 22 at Vincent at 2:30 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 23 at Vandiver at 11 a.m.; Saturday Oct. 24 at Talladega at 11 a.m. and at Ironaton at 5 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will speak on Monday, Oct. 26 at Stanton; Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Verbena; Wednesday, Oct. 28 at Clanton and Coopers; Thursday, Oct. 29 at Jemison and Union; Friday, Oct. 30 at Saginaw; Saturday, Oct. 31 at Aldrich; Monday, Nov. 2 at Calera.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will address the people at Coopers on Wednesday Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. and at Clanton the same day at 3 p.m.

Legal Notice.

By order of the Court of County Commissioners.

Notice is hereby given that the building which has formerly been used as a court house in Clanton, will be offered for sale for cash to the highest bidder on Monday, the 2nd day of November, 1896. The building will be sold in two parts, one known as the [illegible] court house and the other as [illegible] The purchaser will be required to remove the building and clean the lot of all trash by November 21st, 1896. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any bid if the bidder does not immediately pay amount of bid.

This Oct. [illegible] 1896.

R. M. HOLLEYMAN,
Judge of Probate.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

We have been having a few light showers, but not sufficient for fall planting.

Mrs. J. B. Paisley has moved to Selma to the regret of her many friends here.

We do not claim a boom, but expect like the turtle to win the race. Our very public spirited citizen, R. D. Martin, of whom we are justly proud, has presented our town with a lot and a schoolhouse will soon be erected on it by our liberal citizens.

Our very competent teacher, Miss Cora Smith, has a full school.

Mrs. Savage and her daughter, Miss Bessie, have been on a visit to Anniston.

Squire Adams, of Clanton, been a guest of B. O. Glover.

Miss Eva Bearden has returned from a visit to Bessemer.

Mrs. Mary Dubose has returned from a visit to Selma.

Mrs. Rebecca and Miss Mary Goodwyn, of Selma, are visiting relatives here.

Our faithful young minister kept his appointment with a most excellent sermon to-day, Rev. Mr. Roy.

The bycicle agent did a thriving business here and our streets are sometimes quite lively with them.

SUBSCRIBER.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

(Continued from 3d col. 2d page)

yours of yesterday calling my attention to the political situation at present, and asking me to alter my views and support Mr. Plowman for congress and Mr. Sewall for Vice-President. While I do not agree with you in this matter and cannot consistently see it as you do, still I appreciate your position, and the spirit in which your letter was written, and think that is the only way the difference of opinion among friends may be adjusted is by a candid expression of opinions between each other, in a kind and brotherly spirit.

I am not now, and never have taken an active part in politics, and am no party man in the least, as my past record will show that I have always been independent, so far as parties are concerned, and I expect to remain so. I have always supported the man nearest in accord with my views on the more important questions of the day, regardless of their party affiliations.

In regard to the support of Mr. Bryan for President, I expect to vote an electoral ticket which if elected will vote for Mr. Bryan. I will confess that I have not got the usual confidence in the sincerity of Mr. Bryan, and think his nomination at Chicago was for the purpose of side-tracking the People's party, as it was a foregone conclusion that the Populists would nominate him when their convention met at St. Louis. In order to head off any such movement the Democrats went outside their own party and nominated a man who had always identified himself with the people, to keep the Populists from nominating him as their candidate, and thus he [illegible] the [illegible] movement in politics in the United States. A man who would accept the nomination under such conditions is of course looked upon with more or less suspicion by me.

As to Mr. Sewall, the candidate for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket, will say that I know a little about him. I knew [illegible] of him until his nomination at Chicago. I am informed that he favors the free coinage of silver and in this I agree with him, but I do not think the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 is the relief of all these troubles which some people try to make us believe. In fact, I think that has very little to do with it, for so long as the money of the Government is issued and controlled by individuals and corporations our conditions will remain the same, whether the money is made of silver or gold. Mr. Sewall is largely identified with wealth corporations, the president of railroads and banking corporations, the leader and controling spirit in several trusts and combines, and in many ways is in direct antagonism to my views on many important national issues. The platform upon which Mr. Sewall is making the race declares strongly against all combinations, trusts and unlawful concentration and use of wealth, and Mr. Sewall is the embodiment of all that his platform opposes. The inconsistency of his position, I think is ridiculous. I am like many other Southern men in this that when a wealthy man from the state of Maine, the center of all the corruption and iniquity in American politics, is running against a true Southern man, a man who is in every way qualified for the position, a man whose interest is identical with my own, and a man who has honesty of purpose and the courage to speak his convictions, I shall most assuredly choose the latter. How can you conscienciously do otherwise?

And now, as regards the choice between the present candidates for congress from this district, will say that of the three now before the people, I shall support Mr. Aldrich. I think it unnecessary to speak of Mr. Dyer, as no one supposes for an instant that I would vote for him under present conditions.

I am personally acquainted with Mr. Aldrich and know him to be an upright, honest gentleman. He is a man of some wealth, all of which was accumulated by an industrious effort of his, developing and working the coal fields and other manufacturing industries here immediately in our district. He has always shown himself to be the laboring man's friend, and I know from the experience of many of my best friends that this position was not assumed for the purpose of making political friends, for he did it because he thought it was right, and long before he was spoken of or known in Alabama politics. A man who proves himself to be the friend of the poor laboring man, can always depend on my friendship and support, as against any man whose record shows to the contrary.

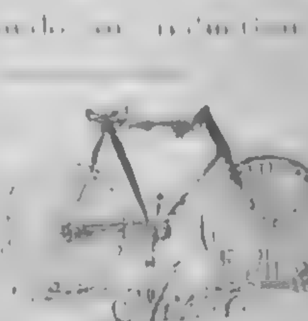
As I fear you will think me tedious, I will only speak of one thing concerning your man, Mr. Plowman. You, of course, remember the circumstances under which he received the nomination for congress in 1894, when the Democratic State committee had to convene to call him down. Your own paper, said he did not receive the nomination fairly; they spoke of it as "Plowman's shame," the "Party's disgrace," etc., and accused him (truthfully in my opinion) of stealing the nomination and then trying to hold on to it when he knew it was not his. I think that when a man who takes or attempts to take and convert to his own use a thing of value which he knows belongs to another, that in the sight of God and all honest people he has committed a great wrong, and any man who will do that thing is not worthy of an honest man's support, and is certainly not going to get mine.

I, like you, believe in the unity of the white people of the South, provided we can unite on something that's right and just, but I trust that I will never lose my love for honesty and justice enough to let party ties or anything else lead me to the support and endorsement of any man who is the exponent of the fraud and debauchery of the ballot-box, which has existed in our fair State for the last few years. I think the question of a free suffrage is more, or at least as much, important to us in this district as free silver. Give the white people of Alabama a free ballot and a fair count and they will see that free silver representatives are elected to congress.

Hoping that you will study this matter as a conscientious Christian man, and when you have studied the moral as well as the political side of it I think you will see the justice of my position.

I am yours very respectfully,
R. M. [illegible]

Until November 1 we will accept [illegible] cents for a twelve months subscription to THE BANNER. After that date we positively [illegible] make no reduction.



We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertise[illegible] [illegible] Acme [illegible]

Young Ladies [illegible]

[illegible]

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

[illegible] Acme Cycle Co., Elkhart, Ind. [illegible] the Acme Light Road [illegible] I am very well pleased with the [illegible] Yours truly, [illegible]

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena. Secure your territory at once, address ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, Mass.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

[illegible] ITEMS

[illegible] Court meets second [illegible] first Monday in [illegible] Monday in May, second [illegible] Monday in August [illegible] Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

[illegible]	9?1
[illegible]	488
[illegible]	182
	1571

CH[illegible] WARE CHEAP. Call and [illegible] the BANNER office.

B[illegible] FOR SALE. I have [illegible] at a low price, with [illegible] one and a half miles [illegible] Clanton. Will exchange [illegible] cotton seed at market price.

F. R. WOODYARD.

Mrs. W. T. Callen spent several days at her old home at Stanton.

Mrs. B. H. Sory, of Springfield, Tenn., stopped over with relatives on her way to South Alabama, last Saturday.

Mr. D. M. Foshee spent Sunday among friends in Clanton.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Springfield, Tenn., is visiting the family of Capt. Middleton this week. Miss Anderson is on her way to Florida where she will spend the winter.

Dr. W. E. Stewart visited Montgomery last Saturday.

Mr. Frank Harris, of Plantersville, was a welcome visitor to our town last Monday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J. S. Johnson Jr.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. W. H. Lucas and Miss Sallie Arledge.

On M[illegible] night, in [illegible] of [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Smith, [illegible] of the citizens of [illegible] the court house for [illegible] the best [illegible] to improve [illegible] of our town. [illegible] Mr. John Garner Mr. [illegible] chair and Mr. W. [illegible] secretary. [illegible] companies [illegible] persons being on the [illegible] discussion soon [illegible] that a majority of [illegible] who [illegible] geo[illegible] brought [illegible] order, and the [illegible] have been [illegible] announced their [illegible] to quit. In the [illegible] debate mention was made of the bad state of repair in which most of our streets are and the necessity of organized effort to keep them in better condition. [illegible] one gentlemen after another [illegible] his views it became evident that the concensus of opinion was in favor of incorporation and on motion of Dr. Stewart the chair appointed a committee of six—two property holders, two business men and two attorneys—to draft a charter of incorporation and ascertain what would be the probable cost of putting our streets in good condition. The chair appointed J. P. VanDerveer, W. I. Mullins, Dr. Matthews, W. M. Wilson, T. A. Curry and W. J. Martin, and the meeting adjourned until Monday night next when the committee will make its report.

Slight frost was reported Tuesday morning.

Lily Lyrics.

Prof. Sartain has about secured the school at Mulberry academy and will begin teaching the 19th inst.

Miss Geneva Jones, who has been teaching at Valley Creek is now at home again.

Rev. P. M. Guthrie will begin a series of meetings at Isabella the third Sunday in this month. Our people met last Saturday and cleaned off the Isabella cemetery.

Miss Emma Deshazo, who has been spending sometime in Birmingham, was here on a visit to her parents last week.

Messrs. Moodie Rasberry and Henry Veazey took a trip to Jasper last week. Henry returned last Saturday and Moodie stopped in Birmingham for work.

Mr. John Wright has moved to Sheriff Cooley's place.

CLINT.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions, Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Full Details Gladly Given.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health......

P. O. Box 65, David City, Nebraska.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E. Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his period[illegible] visits to [illegible] counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville..........	November	9
Shoultz..............	"	10
Valley Creek church..	"	11
Welch's mill.........	"	12
Dixie................	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson...............	"	16
Macedonia church.....	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill...........	"	19
Jemison..............	"	20
Strasburg............	"	21
Maddox's mill........	"	22
Lomax................	"	24
Mineral Springs......	"	25
Mountzion church.....	"	26
Cane Creek church....	"	27
Ehrman's mill........	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers..............	"	5
Verbena..............	"	7&8
Wayside church.......	"	9
Kincheon.............	"	10
Clanton..............	"	11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897.

		1896
Pletcher's mill.........	October	1
Kincheon................	"	2
Albert Headley's store....	"	3
Benson..................	"	5
Maplesville.............	"	6
Shoultz.................	"	7
Valley Creek church.....	"	8
Dixie...................	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am...	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm..	"	10
Macedonia church........	"	12
Providence church, Beat 2.	"	13
Elijah Busby's..........	"	14
Jemison.................	"	15
Mineral Springs.........	"	16
Strasburg...............	"	17
Clanton.................	"	19
Cane Creek..............	"	20
Maddox's mill...........	"	21
Gore's school-house.....	"	22
Calloway's mill.........	"	23
Maple Springs church....	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin....	"	26
Coopers.................	"	27
Burwells................	"	28
Mountain Creek..........	"	29
Verbena.................	"	30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J. P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 11 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1 4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1 4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of nw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 19th day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18351.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
September 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. }
Sept. 14, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry, No. 23 181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

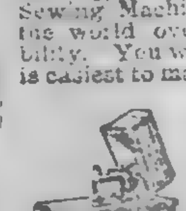
THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

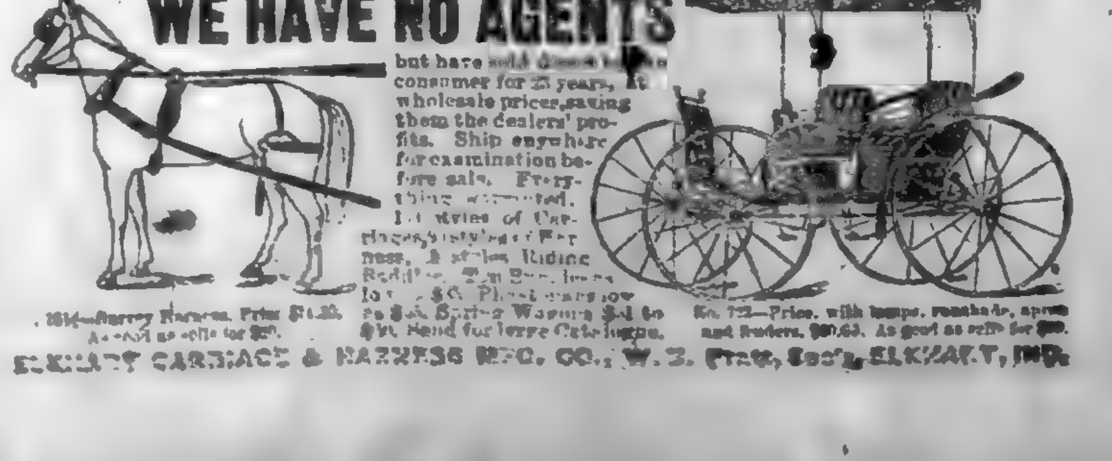
WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMEY,
Clanton, Ala.



WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. [illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness, [illegible] styles Riding Saddles. [illegible] [illegible] Spring Wagons [illegible] Send for large Catalogue.

No. 1—Surrey Harness. Price $15.50. As good as sells for $20.
No. 77—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. PRATT, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

APPOINTMENTS.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. A. P. Longshore will speak on Monday, Oct. 19, at Columbiana, at 1:30 p.m. and at Shelby at 7:30 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. T. D. Parsons will speak on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at Sycamore at 12 m and at Sylacauga at 4 p.m ; Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Childersburg at 10 a.m.; Thursday 22 at Vincent at 2:30 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 23 at Vandiver at 11 a.m.; Saturday Oct. 24 at Talladega at 11 a.m. and at Ironaton at 5 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon L. H. Reynolds will speak on Monday, Oct. 26 at Stanton; Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Verbena; Wednesday, Oct. 28 at Clanton and Coopers; Thursday, Oct. 29 at Jemison and Union; Friday, Oct. 30 at Saginaw Saturday, Oct. 31 at Aldrich; Monday, Nov. 2 at Calera.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will address the people at Coopers on Wednesday Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. and at Clanton the same day at 3 p.m.

Legal Notice.

By order of the Court of County Commissioners.

Notice is hereby given that the building which has formerly been used as a court house in Clanton, will be offered for sale for cash to the highest bidder on Monday, the 2nd day of November, 1896. The building will be sold in two parts, one known as the main court house and the other as jury rooms. The purchaser will be required to remove the building and clean the lot of all trash by November 21st, 1895. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any bid if the bidder does not immediately pay amount of bid.

This Oct. 9, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

We have been having a few light showers, but not sufficient for fall planting.

Mrs. J. B. Paisley has moved to Selma to the regret of her many friends here.

We do not claim a boom, but expect like the turtle to win the race. Our very public spirited citizen, R. D. Martin, of whom we are justly proud, has presented our town with a lot and a schoolhouse will soon be erected on it by our liberal citizens.

Our very competent teacher, Miss Cora Smith, has a full school.

Mrs. Savage and her daughter, Miss Bessie, have been on a visit to Anniston.

Squire Adams, of Clanton, been a guest of B. O. Glover.

Miss Eva Bearden has returned from a visit to Bessemer.

Mrs. Mary DuBose has returned from a visit to Selma.

Mrs. Rebecca and Miss Mary Goodwyn, of Selma, are visiting relatives here.

Our faithful young minister kept his appointment with a most excellent sermon to-day, Rev. Mr. Roy.

The bicycle agent did a thriving business here, and our streets are sometimes quite lively with them.

SUBSCRIBER.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

(Continued from 2d col. 1st page)

yours of yesterday calling my attention to the political situation at present, and asking me to alter my views and support Mr. Plowman for congress and Mr. Sewall for Vice-President. While I do not agree with you in this matter and cannot consistently see it as you do, still I appreciate your position, and the spirit in which your letter was written, and think that is the only way the difference of opinion among friends may be adjusted is by a candid expression of opinions between each other, in a kind and brotherly spirit.

I am not now, and never have taken an active part in politics, and am no party man in the least, as my past record will show that I have always been independent, so far as parties are concerned, and I expect to remain so. I have always supported the man nearest in accord with my views on the more important questions of the day, regardless of their party affiliations.

In regard to the support of Mr. Bryan for President, I expect to vote an electoral ticket which if elected will vote for Mr. Bryan. I will confess that I have not got the utmost confidence in the sincerity of Mr. Bryan, and think his nomination at Chicago was for the purpose of side-tracking the People party, as it was a foregone conclusion that the Populists would nominate him when their convention met at St. Louis. In order to head off any such movement the Democrats went outside their own party and nominated a man who had always identified himself with the people, to keep the Populists from nominating him as their candidate, and thus overthrow the reform movement in politics in the United States. A man who would accept the nomination under such condition is of course looked upon with more or less suspicion by me.

As to Mr. Sewall, the candidate for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket, will say that I know very little about him. I had never heard of him until his nomination at Chicago. I am informed that he favors the free coinage of silver, and in this I agree with him; but I do not think the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 is the relief of all these troubles which some people try to make us believe. In fact, I think that has very little to do with it, for so long as the money of the Government is issued and controlled by individuals and corporations, our conditions will remain the same, whether the money is made of silver or gold. Mr. Sewall is largely identified with wealthy corporations, the president of railroads and banking corporations, the leader and controling spirit in several trusts and combines, and in many ways is in direct antagonism to my views on many important national issues. The platform upon which Mr. Sewall is making the race declares strongly against all combinations, trusts and unlawful concentration and use of wealth, and Mr. Sewall is the embodiment of all that his platform opposes. The inconsistency of his position, I think is ridiculous. I am like many other Southern men in this that when a wealthy man from the state of Maine; the center of all the corruption and iniquity in American politics, is running against a true Southern man, a man who is in every way qualified for the position, a man whose interest is identical with my own, and a man who has honesty of purpose and the courage to speak his convictions. I shall most assuredly choose the latter How can you conscienciously do otherwise?

And now, as regards the choice between the present candidates for congress from this district, will say that of the three now before the before the people, I shall support Mr. Aldrich. I think it unnecessary to speak of Mr. Dyer, as no one supposes for an instant that I would vote for him under present conditions.

I am personally acquainted with Mr. Aldrich and know him to be an upright, honest gentleman. He is a man of some wealth, all of which was accumulated by an industrious effort of his, developing and working the coal fields and other manufacturing industries here immediately in our district. He has always shown himself to be the laboring man's friend, and I know from the experience of many of my best friends that this position was not assumed for the purpose of making political friends, for he did it because he thought it was right, and long before he was spoken of or known in Alabama politics. A man who proves himself to be the friend of the poor laboring man, can always depend on my friendship and support, as against any man whose record shows to the cantrary

As I fear you will think me tedious, I will only speak of one thing concerning your man, Mr. Plowman. You, of course, remember the circumstances under which he received the nomination for congress in 1894, when the Democratic State committee had to convene to call him down. Your own paper said he did not receive the nomination fairly; they spoke of it as "Plowman's shame," the "Party's disgrace," etc., and accused him (truthfully in my opinion) of stealing the nomination and then trying to hold on to it when he knew it was not his. I think that when a man who takes or attempts to take and convert to own use a thing of value which knows belongs to another, that in the sight of God and all honest people he has committed a great wrong, and any man who will co that thing is not worthy of an honest man's support, and is certainly not going to get mine.

I, like you, believe in the unity of the white people of the South, provided we can unite on something that is right and just, but I trust that I will never lose my love for honesty and justice enough to let party ties or anything else lead me to the support and endorsement of any man who is the exponent of the fraud and debauchery of the ballot-box, which has existed in our fair State for the last few years I think the question of a free suffrage is more, or at least as much, important to us in this district as free silver. Give the white people of Alabama a free ballot and a fair count and they will see that free silver representatives are elected to congress.

Hoping that you will study this matter as a conscientious Christian man, and when you have studied the moral as well as the political side of it I think you will see the justice of my position.

I am yours very respectfully,
R. M. HONEYCUTT.

UNTIL November 1 we will accept 75 cents for a twelvemonths subscription to THE BANNER. After that date we positively cannot make any reduction.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme [illegible] on approval. No [illegible] the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

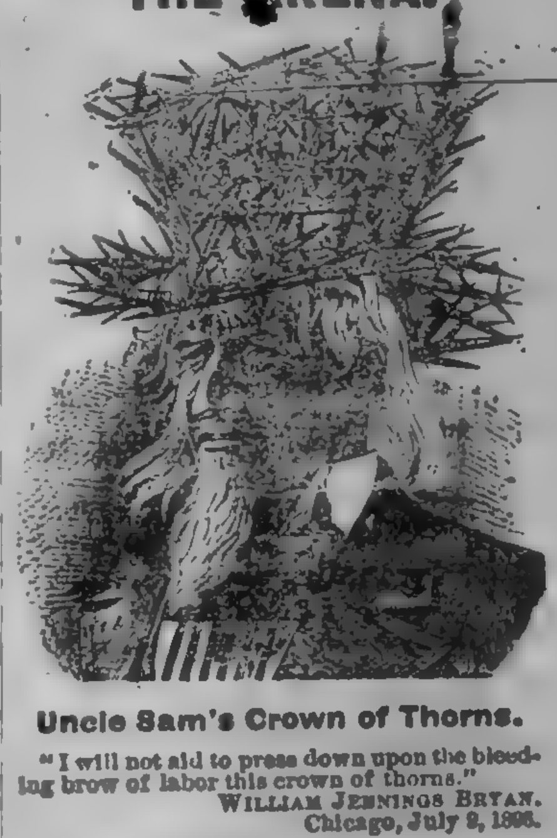
ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.
ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.,
DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself but everyone that has seen it pronounced it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.



Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena. Secure your territory at once, address
ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

Bad Blood

Fudley—Why is more poetry written in spring than at any other time of the year?

Scudley—I suppose it is because nearly everybody feels sort of good-for-nothing then.—Washington Times.

As Advertised.

New Yorker—But you advertised that you had running water on both floors.

Jayhawker—So we did, stranger; an' 'twas a foot deep in the cellar, but we hain't had no rain now goin' on a wee' to-morrow.—Exchange.

Mrs. Gray—I hear that Miss Brown is married. Her husband is a foreigner, is he not? Mrs. Green—He was not so considered at his home in France.—Boston Transcript.

Enjoying It.

And the soul of the wicked one was next condemned to fall through space at the rate of a mile a minute for 100,000 years.

"Say!" he shouted, as he passed the 10,000th ghostly milepost, "this beats any coasting I ever tried."—Indianapolis Journal.

That Joyful Feeling

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

Street-car drivers in Spain receive $3 per week; in New South Wales they receive $12.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

Dr. O. T. Dozier, of Birmingham, Ala., whose card appears in another column of this paper, has, by his matchless success and wonderful skill in the treatment of chronic, nervous, blood, skin and private diseases, made for himself a name and fame unexcelled by any specialist of his day and generation. Read his card and write to him if you are not well.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your store of knowledge? You may not have $10 or $20 you can spare for a 10 volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Book will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. [illegible] with the valuable facts [illegible].

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

A silk spinner in Aleppo, by working from sunrise to sunset, can earn seventy-five cents a day.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is the only floating soap that contains Borax. [illegible] laundry use it is incomparable. A perfect soap for all uses. Try it once. You'll use it always. Order of your grocer. Red wrapper.

Mail matter is sent from Paris to Berlin in thirty-five minutes by pneumatic tube.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, 25c. a bottle.

I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from Asthma.—E. D. Towns, Fort Howard, Wis., May 4, '94.

You are a "dead shot" on giving past and future. [illegible] Thousands testify the same way. Send date of birth and [illegible] sketch of your life. [illegible], Astrologer, Kansas City, Mo.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c per bottle.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

St. Vitus' Dance. One bottle Dr. Fenner's specific cures. Circular, Fredonia, N. Y.

Take

Care of your health at this season. See that your blood is pure, appetite good and all the organs in a healthy condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great building-up and blood purifying medicine and therefore it is the best medicine to take in the fall, when the atmosphere is laden with disease germs from decaying vegetation. Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents colds, pneumonia, bronchitis, fevers.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

AGENT to sell Lettuce Cream and Lettuce Cream Soap to consumer. Quick seller. Liberal commission. Send 2c in stamps for samples. Lettuce Cream Co., 114 5th Ave., N.Y.

LET US do your printing. 100 Cards or Envelopes 40 cts. Address Free Press, Sandoval, Ill.

We Want you to sell a household necessity. Sells at every house. Send stamp for particulars. Exchange Agency, Box 770, Hillsboro, Ohio.

YOU CAN MAKE MONEY selling the Ladies' Favorite Carpet Sweeper. Send stamp for particulars. Exchange Agency, Box 770 Hillsboro, Ohio.

$8 PAID Per 100 for Distributing Samples of Washing Fluid. Send 6c stps. A. W. SCOTT, Cohoes, N.Y.

Am. N. U. No. 42. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

CONSUMPTION

CHRONICLES OF ALABAMA.

The Cream of Specials From Our Neighbor Towns.

EXCITEMENT IN ST. STEPHENS.

Improvements Contemplated in Demopolis.—State University Notes.—The Institution Opens With Flattering Prospects.—A Killing in Russell County.

Quite a little excitement was created in the Circuit Court room at St. Stephens by reason of the bondsmen of seven of the men charged with lynching Chris Chambliss coming into open court and surrendering their men to the Sheriff. The names of the men are Buck Hare, Lewis Becton, Will Wood, Jonh Hambrick, Tom Britton, Daniel McRae and Samp Williams. It is rumored that one other member of this alleged lynching party has turned State's evidence, as two of the number were not surrendered by their bondsmen. The unfortunate men could not give bond last night, and were put in jail.

POSTMASTER LODGED IN JAIL.

John A. Green, editor of the Gulf Breeze, and postmaster at Daphne, county seat of Baldwin county, was lodged in jail at Mobile Saturday night charged with embezzlement of $250 of postoffice funds.

COTTON GOING DOWN RIVER.

The steamer Tinsie Moore arrived at Mobile Saturday from up the Alabama river, bringing 1,003 bales of cotton, besides other freight. The Tinsie reports that there is considerable cotton at the landings along the river awaiting transportation, which has been delayed by the protracted dry spell.

KILLING IN RUSSELL.

Russell county is the scene of another killing. One day last week Jack Young, colored, killed his sister, Louisa Young, by knocking her in the head with an ax. The killing occurred on the Howard place, near Seale. It is reported that he committed a nameless offense upon the person of the woman before killing her.

BIG WHEAT EXPORTS.

One hundred and seventy-two car loads of wheat have been exported from Mobile to Mexico within the past week. The lot filled four big steamboats. This is the first lot of wheat ever brought to Mobile for export, but it is expected that more will follow. The failure of the Mexican grain crop started the ball rolling this way.

FUNDS NEEDED

In consideration of the fact that there is an insufficiency of funds in the treasury to meet accruing expenses, a resolution was passed authorizing the Court of County Commissioners of Tuskaloosa to borrow of the Merchants' National Bank for ninety days the sum of $3,000 at 8 per cent interest, and the Judge was authorized to draw a warrant on the county treasurer for the sum of $80 to cover the same.

STATE UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The University of Alabama opened with nearly as good attendance as last year. There are eighty boarding students who live in the barracks, thirty in the law class and twenty-five seniors, who are excused from all military duties. All of the senior class are compelled to reside outside of the barracks, and they are strictly forbidden to visit any room in the barracks, except on Saturday, when they are allowed to attend fraternity meetings.

DEMOPOLIS IMPROVEMENTS.

The demurrage order of the Southern railway, whereby parties are required to pay $1 per day on cars after forty-eight hours, is causing the merchants of Demopolis to grumble a good deal, but at the same time it makes them hustle out their goods. Demopolis has more stone pavements than any place its size in the State, and nothing adds more to its appearance than this. Just as soon as possible the city is going to have the pavement put down all through and around the park, which will make it a perfect beauty.

TO REVISE THE MILITARY LAWS.

The Board of Revision of the State Military Laws, composed of Major E. L. Higdon, Captain C. A. Jones, Captain J. K. Warren, Lieutenant J. B. Morrison and Lieutenant Underwood, has been busily engaged of late considering the State laws governing the military and some proposed amendments that have been suggested. It is understood that this committee is preparing a full set of laws relating to the military, which it will present to the Legislature next month. It promises some changes which will be of interest to the soldiers, the taxpayers and the people of the State in general.

THREE HUNDRED BANKRUPTS.

The Financial Condition in Brazil Is Most Critical.

The London Times publishes a dispatch from Rio Janeiro saying that the commercial and financial situation there is most critical. There have been 300 applications in bankruptcy, and many important firms are embarrassed.

The banks are restricting their operations. A bill granting six months' moratorium, and also a bill to increase taxation has been presented to Congress, despite the protests of the business interests.

The Government is helpless, and the Congress is incompetent to deal with the emergency.

SWEDISH COLONY AT BRISTOL.

Caldwell & Dulaney, brokers, of Bristol, Tenn., have just closed a deal for the establishment of a Swedish colony of 1,500 inhabitants in the suburbs of that place.

An agent of the Swedish Government has purchased 5,000 acres of land, to be laid out in tracts of twenty acres each. Each tract is to be occupied by a family of Swedes. These people will have their own schools, churches and mercantile enterprises.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

No Loss of Cash Despite the Interior Drain.—Excess Reserve Larger.

The New York Financier last week says: The statement of the clearing house banks of New York City for the week ending October 10 reflects the operations of an active week. Despite the fact that the shipments of currency to the interior for the past seven days exceeded $4,000,000, the banks report no loss of cash; in fact there was an actual gain of $11,100, the increase in specie counteracting the loss of $2,638,200 in legal tenders. As the imports of gold during the period covered were about equal to interior shipments, the small change in cash reserve does not appear at all illogical.

Loans showed an unusual expansion of $3,227,300, which is a favorable indication, although the increase is probably due to further preparations now pending for increased gold imports. Aside from this, however, there have been a number of local causes for loan expansion. The favorable feature of the statement is an increase of $3,751,700 in deposits, the total now reaching $458,484,800, or nearly $2,000,000 in excess of loans.

The increased deposits called for an additional reserve liability and the banks report $926,825 less surplus cash than at the close of the previous week. The excess reserve is still $15,599,200, which is larger than for the corresponding week last year by over $1,000,000. The operations of the week, including as they did a temporary rise in the local money market, due as much as anything else to the demand for cash from the West and South, together with the rapid fall in sterling exchange, which is an incident closely connected with the demand, presage a continuance of gold imports from Europe. The trade balances are largely in our favor, and must continue so for some time to come. It is only natural, under these conditions, that the funds drawn from New York should be replaced by remittances from abroad, and conservative bankers would not be surprised if this second movement exceeded expectations. The week's engagements of gold are in excess of $6,000,000, and unless unforeseen circumstances prevent the total will probably be doubled soon. This is exclusive of prospective results depending on the outcome of the election next month.

Of course an advance in foreign money centers might check a continuance of these imports.

THE PEOPLE EXCITED.

Carroll County, Miss., Stirred Up by What Proves to Be a Hoax.

The whole people of Carroll County, Miss., are terribly excited over the discovery of a negro plot to inaugurate a war of extermination, says a Saturday special from Grenada. Word from Carrollton is that a letter was found in the road addressed to a negro which exposed the diabolical plot. A secret society of negroes had negotiated with the Winchester Arms Company for a large number of rifles, and with these they proposed to slaughter white men, women and children. Several leaders have been arrested, and the excitement is very intense. Further particulars are anxiously awaited. Carrollton is the home of Senator Money. A number of negroes were killed in a riot there a few years ago, and bad blood still exists. There is no doubt that the situation is now critical.

A later dispatch from Carrollton, the "seat of war," says:

About five hundred white men assembled at Pisgah Church, in Beat 2, about eleven miles from here to-day, to discuss the situation in the pending riot, many hack loads going from here. The meeting organized by electing Judge W. T. Stevens as chairman and proceeded in an orderly way to investigate all facts. Witnesses were called on to make statements. After all the evidence against the fifteen negroes in jail and others not captured was heard able and eloquent speeches were made by District Attorney Hill, Hon. M. Southworth and others, and a vote was taken. The meeting decided by a practically unanimous vote to release the negroes in custody, and that there was no foundation for the charges against them. The vile and threatening letters are believed to have been written by designing men in Webster County to get up race trouble and get rid of the negro, Perry Williams. The white people of this section are to be congratulated that hasty action was not taken and innocent lives sacrificed, and Deputy Sheriffs Claude Brewer and Edgar Mullins and Sheriff James Somerville deserve and will receive the gratitude of all good citizens for their prompt and vigorous action yesterday and the day before in extending protection to the captured negroes. All is now quiet.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

A Few of the Interesting Happenings in the Political World.

NORTH CAROLINA POPULISTS.

Complete Fusion From Constable to Senator is Wanted by the Tar-Heelers.—West Virginia Has Fusion Between Populists and Democrats.—Pilgrims at Canton.

Populist leaders of North Carolina are ridiculing the Democratic Committee's proposition for Congressional fusion. They say the only proposition which ought to be made is one for complete fusion from constable to United States Senator.

The Republicans are making all sorts of efforts to retain Populist aid. They say regarding the matter of their voting for Guthrie, the Populist nominee for Governor, that since his hot abuse of their party they do not think their people could be induced to support him. Populist Chairman Ayer says everything the Democrats have done amounts to absolutely nothing.

NO EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO WORD.

The Secretary of State has overruled the protest of the regular Democratic State Committee to the admission of the sound money Democratic ticket to the Australian ballot, under the name of "National Democratic party." The protestors claim an exclusive right to the word "Democratic," but in this they were not upheld by the State Supervisor of Elections.

PILGRIMS AT CANTON.

The campaign at Canton reached its highest pitch of excitement today, says a Saturday dispatch from McKinley's home.

Delegations marched through the streets all day, and it was after midnight when the last enthusiastic pilgrims left town. Major McKinley made twenty speeches, a greater number than he had ever delivered in a single day.

FUSION PROBABLE IN INDIANA

The Democratic Executive Committee of Indiana which met at Indianapolis Saturday afternoon developed the first decisive steps toward fusion with the Populists in Indiana. The latter were given two of the five nominations for the Legislature, but the men suggested by the Populists were not accepted, Allen Heitshue and Charles Shifield, straight fusion Populists, being nominated.

STUMP FOR BRYAN AND SEWALL.

It will be recalled that some months ago a press dispatch was published to the effect that Henry C. Smith, the well known colored lawyer, formerly of Birmingham, had been displaced by the President from the Consulship at Santos, Brazil, for alleged dereliction of duty. The St. Louis Republic, in a dispatch from Washington, publishes a letter written by Smith to the President in which it appears that he has resigned and will take the stump for Bryan and Sewall.

WEST VIRGINIA HAS FUSION.

U. A. Olday, Secretary of the Democratic State Committee of West Virginia, is authority for the statement that the negotiations between the Populists and Democrats have been entirely satisfactory from his standpoint, and that the Populist State ticket will be withdrawn and the Democratic ticket substituted. The Populist State Committee has in its hands the resignation of almost every candidate on their State ticket, which will be used when the proper moment arrives.

TRIED TO DIE TOGETHER.

Otto Anderson, cashier of the savings department of the Bank of Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Cora Houdlette, were found unconscious on the porch of the public school building Wednesday morning. The young lady was immediately taken home and was revived by doctors. The young man was taken to the city hall, where physicians attended him. He will very likely die. A note was found in Anderson's pocket, but his father refuses to disclose its contents. It is believed to be a case of parental objections to marriage.

TO CHARGE FOR CYCLES.

At a conference of the officials of the Southern, Cincinnati Southern, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, Western & Atlantic and the Memphis & Charleston railroads, it has been decided to charge 25 cents for transporting bicycles. It was also recommended that the Southern Association adopt a similar rate for baby carriages.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

WILL INCREASE WAGES.

Notice Posted Promising Increase if Mr. Bryan Is Elected.

It has been many days since a factory notice promising increased wages has been seen in this vicinity says a late special from Newark, O., to the Atlanta Constitution, but the employes of the Central City Stove Works here were treated to this novel sight. A peculiar provision accompanies the promise, namely, that in case of William J. Bryan's election an increase of 10 per cent in the wages of every employe in this union foundry will be given.

A remarkable feature in connection with the case is that the company's president, C. W. Cunningham, has been a life long Republican, while the heaviest stockholder, W. N. Fulton, is an enthusiastic silverite, though he is a leading banker. Nearly all the employes are Republicans, but all are Bryan suporters.

President Cunningham said today the reason the promise of better wages was made is that the company feels confident free coinage will so stimulate business, especially in the west, where the trade largely lies, that an increase will be jutifiable. He recited the fact that molders' wages before silver's demonetization were higher than they are today and pointed out how a manufacturer of stoves voluntarily increased wages in 1879, after the Bland act's passage, which revived the west. He believes business under free coinage will justify even further wage advances.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE OPENING.

The State Normal at Troy, Ala., has the largest opening in its entire history, there being now 273 on its "Attendance" course, and 277 on its Extension, making a total of 550 in all. The management expect to run a total this session of above 800.

A Senatorial and a Representative scholarship provision is extending the college advantages to all sections of the State. These are great advantages to teachers of limited means, and are proving popular. Teachers should see their Senator or Representative as to this, or the County Superintendent of Education.

Many scores of "Trained Teachers" have been called for by school officers, and every graduate or undergraduate of this college desiring a position, has been located. It thus pays to get Professional Training. Dr. Eldridge, the President of the College, put in a busy summer locating teachers and answering questions about the State Normal College at Troy, and has the very large attendance to show for it. Normal Schools are a great benefit to our educational system.

New buildings are to begin soon, and ten young carpenters are wanted for one-half day work and school attendance, too.

INSURGENTS DISLODGED

After a Severely Fought Battle—Over 100 Killed.

News of a heavy fight between insurgents and Spaniards came over the wires from Havana Tuesday. One dispatch says:

Lieutenant Colonel Granados left Pinar del Rio City yesterday he found at Guamaya and Cantabria a Spanish column surrounded by 3,000 rebels who had been sent by Maceo to attack the Spaniards. Lieutenant Colonel Granados made a vigorous attack upon the enemy, who fired twelve cannon shots at close range. A prompt retreat to Cantabria saved Granados' command, as well as the Spanish troops, which had been surrounded.

The Spanish forces were united at Cantabria and in the meantime the rebels had taken positions at Loma Blanca. The united Spanish forces made an attack upon the rebels, who were dislodged from their positions after a fight lasting five hours. The rebels lost eighty killed and a large number wounded. The Spaniards had twelve killed and ninety-two wounded, including four officers. Lieutenant Colonel Granados had started to march back to Pinar del Rio, when, at 3 p. m., he heard cannonading on the other side of the hills.

Yesterday a fierce engagement occurred at Teja del Negro between a force of 700 Spanish troops under General Bernal and the forces of Maceo. The rebels occupied good positions. The battle began at 9 o'clock in the morning. The enemy made a stubborn defense, but were finally dislodged, with a loss of 100 killed. It is said that when they retired they carried away 200 wounded. The Spanish losses were: Lieutenant Colonel Romero and General Bernal's adjutant, killed; Lieutenant Colonel Chascal and eight other officers, wounded; eighteen privates killed and sixty-five wounded.

TORPEDO BOAT CONTRACTS.

Contracts for the three torpedo boats which were awarded by Secretary Herbert Monday were promptly executed the next morning by President Scott of the Union Iron works, San Francisco, and General Hyde of the Bath Iron Works, Maine. The Pacific coast boat is a slight modification of the English boat Desperate, built by Thornycraft. Its displacement is 240 tons and its cost $227,500. The two Atlantic coast boats are duplicates of the French boat Normand of Havre, being a development of the speedy Forban type. They are of 143 tons displacement and will cost $192,000 each. These awards are in exact accord with the original recommendations made by Commodores Hickborn and Melville, which were opposed by Commodore Sampson, chief of ordnance, who contended that Herreshoff should get the contracts.

THE LAST AWARDS.

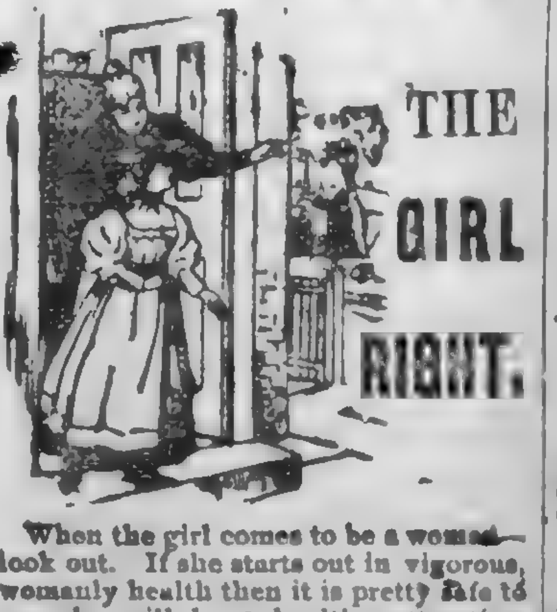
The awards for the torpedo boats authorised by congress to be constructed at a cost of $1,300,000, were completed Tuesday by Secretary Herbert, who gave one of the 22½ knot boats and two of the 20 knot boats to the Herreshoffs, all of these to be built according to the Herreshoffs own plans. Wolff & Zwicker, of Portland, Ore., get two of the 22½ knot boats, the Columbian Iron Works of Baltimore one of the 20 knot boats and Hillman & Co., of Philadelphia, one 20 knot boat. These awards, with the three already announced, made ten in all, and exhaust the appropriation.

The Pill that Will.

"The pill that will," implies the pills that won't. Their name is legion. The name of "the pill that will" is Ayer's Cathartic Pill. It is a pill to rely on. Properly used it will cure constipation, biliousness, sick headache; and the other ills that result from torpid liver. Ayer's pills are not designed to spur the liver into a momentary activity, leaving it in yet more incapable condition after the immediate effect is past. They are compounded with the purpose of toning up the entire system, removing the obstructing conditions, and putting the liver into proper relations with the rest of the organs for natural co-operation. The record of Ayer's Pills during the half century they have been in public use establishes their great and permanent value in all liver affections.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

START



THE GIRL RIGHT.

When the girl comes to be a woman—look out. If she starts out in vigorous, womanly health then it is pretty safe to say she will be a healthy, attractive, beautiful woman.

The beginning of womanhood is the real crisis in a woman's life. Nearly always something is wrong then in the distinctly feminine organs. Maybe it isn't very serious—no matter—the time to stop disease is when it starts.

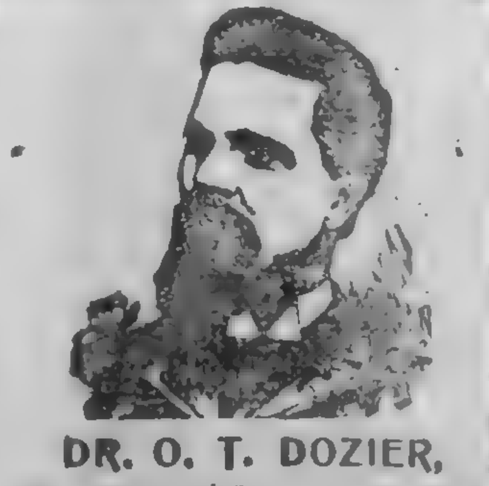
McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

will bring girls safely through the crisis. Taken at the first indication of weakness, it never fails. It regulates the monthly periods with perfect precision. Its action is direct upon the feminine organs that above all others, ought to be strong and well.

Start the girl right. Don't expose her to the dangers and tortures of dragging weakness, bearing down pains, nervous prostration and the debilitating drains so common to women.

McElree's Wine of Cardui, is a home treatment. It does away entirely with abhorrent "local examinations."

Sold at $1.00 a Bottle by Dealers in Medicine.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

(The Renowned Southern Specialist)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex [illegible] cured by mild and safe remedies. [illegible] ments to marriage, as Stricture, [illegible] cele, Impotence, Emissions and all [illegible] sults of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a [illegible] fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes [illegible].

(Age Herald.)

* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and such success as he has enjoyed in his reputation [illegible] profound distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician. * * * He is a thorough [illegible] [illegible] for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of [illegible] skill and experience, a man of culture and [illegible] literary attainments, a [illegible] gentleman [illegible] all who know him. He can be relied on to [illegible] [illegible] pertaining to his profession.

([illegible])

His [illegible] Dozier's professional standing is undoubted, and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 113, Birmingham, Ala.

DEAFNESS

And Head Noises relieved by using Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums. [illegible] Write for pamphlet. Free.

THE DEAF HEAR

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.
140 Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

IF.... your Druggist don't keep TETTERINE,
send 50 cents in cash or stamps for a box
to
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

It Cures all Skin Diseases.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs, Cattle and Horses Die?

[illegible] Medicines are guaranteed to cure or [illegible] money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of [illegible] [illegible] Medicine Co., Nashville, [illegible]

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING
[illegible]
SHORTHAND BY MAIL [illegible]

GEARHART'S FAMILY KNITTER.

Knits a stocking heel and toe in ten minutes. [illegible] Durable, Simple, Rapid. Satisfaction [illegible] wanted. For [illegible] sample work address

PRICE $8.00

J. E. GEARHART, Box 100, Clearfield, Pa.

FLORIDA LANDS. $100 will buy 40 acres, enough for a farm. [illegible] W. Avil [illegible] Florida.

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors, Miners and Treasure Seekers. Circular, 2 cents. C. & M. [illegible], Palmyra, Penn. [illegible] Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

WE TELL NOW [illegible]

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. [illegible] Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent Office. [illegible] Weaver, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

FOR one hundred and fifteen years Walter Baker & Co. have made Cocoa and Chocolate, and the demand for it increases every year. Try it and you will see why.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. IV. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1896. NO. 52.

The band plays for sound money.

And now for the grand round up.

The campaign of education goes on.

The banks are the power behind the throne.

The [illegible] marched through [illegible]

[illegible] money is better than no [illegible]

[illegible] would soon settle the [illegible]

It is muscle and brains against [illegible]

[illegible] is that which gives the greatest [illegible]

This election settles nothing unless [illegible] right.

It is the big dollar of debt that is [illegible] the producer down.

Free silver does not mean free men, but it is a step in that direction.

The principles of populism are the [illegible] of the kingdom of heaven on earth.

So long as the banks control the volume of money there will be danger of [illegible]

[illegible] is danger in sleeping on guard even though a vast army is behind [illegible]

The people's party is the backbone of the silver movement, as well as other great reforms.

When Grover looks out upon the present political situation he no doubt has a "tired feeling."

The [illegible] man who votes for a single gold standard does so through ignorance, prejudice or coercion.

If we have been under a gold standard for twenty years and a gold standard is a good thing, where is the good thing, please?

The workingman only asks the right to earn his living. The speculator wants a license to steal what somebody else earns. Which is the more worthy of consideration?

The present national banking system is a greater curse than the single gold standard, in that it has the power to expand and contract the currency regardless of what is the standard.

The railroads are owned by corporations and the postoffices are owned by [illegible] in [illegible] the postmasters. Thus falls one objection to government ownership.

The gold bugs not only call the silver men idiots—but from the kind of arguments they present they appear to actually believe that the people are [illegible] enough to accept any kind of proposition they make.

Populist papers must be true leaders of the people, and have courage enough to stand up for principle instead of pottering along behind the commissary wagon waiting for something to tumble off to eat.

The real aristocracy of America is composed of those men who consider it greater to be an independent American citizen, than to wear a crown of blood-bought gold gorgeous with baubles of oyster-shell and carbon.

When our forefathers wrote the declaration of independence they forever declared that America was able to take care of herself without asking the consent of Europe. Shall we disgrace the memory of our fathers?

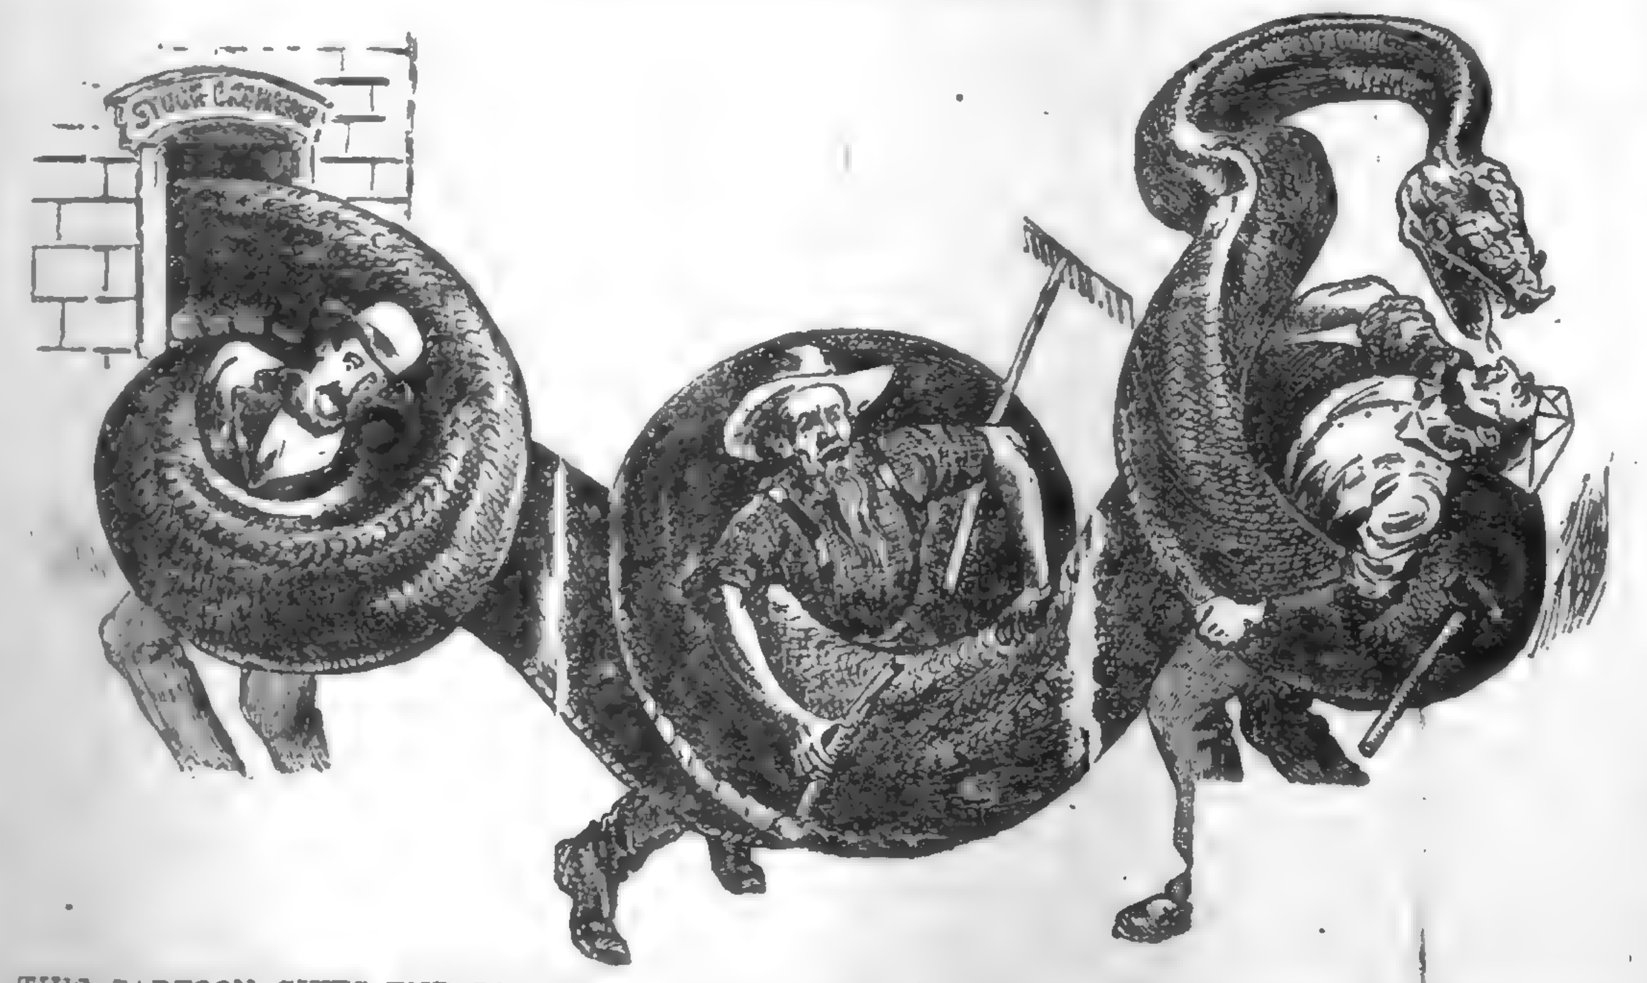
So tender-hearted are the editors who shed scalding tears over the prospect of the workingman being paid in cheap dollars that should the fiction department of the "Heavenly Messenger" be placed in their charge heaven would probably be flooded with angels' tears.

There is an old English recipe for cooking a hare, which begins with, "first catch the hare." Bryan doesn't propose to make any patronage pie until he is duly presented with the cap and apron of chief cook, and investigates the condition of the canned fruit and other things in the cellar.

Regulation a Failure.

[illegible] regulation of private enterprise is a disappointment and a failure. The United States today with all the reverence it has for a constitution which empowers congress to "regulate commerce," stands convicted before the whole world with failing to do it. This government has tried to "regulate commerce" by granting special privileges to corporations and then allowing itself to be swindled by its proteges. It has given millions of public money and loaned other millions to private railroad schemes to "regulate commerce," and then looked on while the railroad properties have been wrecked and the wreckers have become millionaires. It has tried to "regulate commerce" with every agency of commerce monopolized —private telephone, private railroads, private telegraph, private express, private coal mines, private shipping, private patents—with this result, that instead of government regulating commerce, commerce regulates government and the most skillful robbers have the greatest influence and are the noblest patriots.—Coming Nation.

TOM WATSON'S WALL STREET SNAKE.



THIS CARTOON GIVES THE POPULIST CANDIDATE'S OWN PICTURE OF THE MONEY POWER AND ITS DOINGS.—From New York World.

CANDIDATE BRYAN.

TELLS MARTINSBURG FARMERS THAT "MONEY IS A CREATURE OF LAW."

A Truthful Declaration Boldly and Unequivocally Made, the Significance of Which Is Comprehended by Thoughtful Reformers.

Mr. Bryan voiced good common sense and the straightest of populist doctrine on the money question when he talked as follows to the farmers of Martinsburg, W. Va., on the 30th of last month:

"My friends, our opponents assume that money is a thing creatd by commerce and that law has nothing to do with it. I want to say to you that money is a creature of law. You can have as much or as little money as the law permits. If the laws are made by those who want money to be high priced they make money scarce in order that money may be high priced. If you want money sufficiently plentiful to keep pace with population and industry, the laws have got to be made by those who believe in having enough money to keep pace with population. (Applause.)

Certainly "money is a creature of law." All populists worthy of the name know that and have known it for some time. Whether the law declares that the "creature" shall be made of gold, silver, copper, zinc, tin, paper, leather or any other substance, it is absolutely certain that it could have no existence but for the "fiat" of law calling it into being and establishing the quantity, character, shape, size, etc., of the material of which it is composed. Mr. Bryan evidently realizes this fact now whether he ever did before or not, and realizing this fact the people may safely confide in his ability to shortly discern the folly of the theory of redemption money.

The idea that one "creature of the law" must be redeemed by another creature of the same law in order to make the "redeemed" as good as the "redeemer" when it is all alike created for the same purpose, is so supremely ridiculous and inconsistent with good sense that no man of spirit and judgment will harbor it for a moment. The people can have money enough to transact their business properly on the very same terms and in the same way that they have postage stamps sufficient to answer their mail requirements. If the government should farm out its postoffices privileges and prerogatives upon the same terms it does its money furnishing functions to a few corporations, the people would have no right to expect that they would be permitted their present cheap postal facilities. Under present conditions the government will transport one hundred pounds or one hundred thousand pounds, of second class mail matter from New York to San Francisco at the uniform rate of one cent per pound, and it would charge the same rate if the matter was to be carried one or one thousand miles.

If this same work was done by a private corporation for private profit, the public, the great unthinking, burden-bearing public, would readily perceive the injustice (?) to the corporation, in the demand that it should carry the poor man's pound as cheaply as it carried the rich man's ton or hundred tons, and to bother itself about carrying it one mile at as low a rate per mile as it would the enormous products of the rich a thousand miles would be deemed by everybody as exquisitely absurd. It is plain enough that if this business was left to the mercy of private corporations, as so much of the people's business is, including the furnishing of the paper money necessary to carry on their trading, postage stamps and postage facilities would cost anywhere from five to ten times as much as at present, and the service would not be anything like as satisfactory.

The redemption theory of money is nothing more nor less than a clumsy attempt to call in the assistance of nature in limiting the supply of money. It is "clumsy," because the gold, or gold and silver, of which the theory holds the redemption money must be made, while produced in certain limited quantities, may, nevertheless, be, by the law creating money, divided into such infinitesimal money units as to create an absolutely unlimited supply of gold and silver money, to say nothing about the volume of paper money which might be based upon, and redeemable in, these depreciated money units. The law which declares that twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of standard gold shall constitute a dollar, might as easily declare for any other number less than that and it would be just as effective if it declared for the hundredth part of a grain as it is now. Then is it not correct to say that the redemption theory is a "clumsy" one? And does it not depend entirely upon the well-known abhorrence of the people, or their lazy disinclination, for the investigation of economic questions for its continuance?

But can anybody give a good reason why the accidents of nature, or any other power, should be invoked to limit the supply of money in any other way than that in which the supply of postage stamps is? Postage stamps are "creatures" of the government and are provided in amounts limited only by the demand by the government direct to the people for their express benefit. Money is a creature of the government that is as essential to the welfare of the people as postage stamps are, but instead of the government providing money direct to the people it only provides it to those who are fortunate enough to be the possessors of a certain kind of metal, or to bankers who can put up evidences of its own indebtedness, and the consequence is that 70,000,000 people are absolutely dependent upon a few metal and bond owners for their supply of money.

This condition is not only wrong, but it is largely responsible for the "hard times" universally complained of. The same money ideas obtain in this nation as prevail all over the world and while a change in the plan of providing this nation with money will not, of itself, bring entire relief, it is safe to assume, since other nations provided as this one is are even in a worse condition than it is that a change is necessary. The fact that W. J. Bryan has publicly proclaimed the doctrine that "money is a creature of law" inspires all intelligent, thoughtful reformers with renewed confidence in his ability, courage and honesty.

THOUGHTS ABOUT MONEY

By "Cranks and Anarchists."

The poor man who takes property by force is called a thief, but the creditor who can by legislation make a debtor pay a dollar twice as large as he borrowed is lauded as a friend of sound currency.—William J. Bryan.

Banks are more dangerous to the liberties of the people than standing armies.—Jefferson.

If the Americans adopt our banking and funding system, their liberties are gone.—Sir Wm. Pitt.

By the eternal, we will see which is to rule—the money power or the people!—Andrew Jackson.

Gold is the most useless metal in the world. Fit only for plugging teeth and ornamenting fools.—Dr. Franklin.

I have met and conquered all the allied armies of Europe, but England's paper money sent me to St. Helena.—Napoleon I.

The theory of intrinsic value of money has been abandoned by the best writers and speakers.—Encyclopedia Britannica.

Whoever controls the volume of money of any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce.—James A. Garfield.

Avarice says: "I will oppress the weak and devour the fruits of his labors and I will say it is fate that has so ordained."—Volney.

Bank paper must be suppressed, and the circulating medium must be restored to the nation, to whom it belongs.—Thomas Jefferson.

The bank is the union of the government and the money power—a union far more dangerous than church and state.—John C. Calhoun.

The present system of finance robs labor, gorges capital, makes the rich richer and the poor poorer, and turns a republic into an aristocracy of capital.—Wendell Phillips in 1870.

Anything upon which the government places its stamp and declares it a legal tender in payment of all debts and taxes is money, no matter what the material may be.—Henry Clay.

I believe the struggle now going on in this country and in other countries for a single gold standard will if successful produce widespread disaster in the end throughout the world.—James G. Blaine.

If a government contract a debt with a certain amount of money in circulation, and then contracts the money volume before the debt is paid, it is the most heinous crime that a government can commit against the people.—Abraham Lincoln.

Man is the only animal on earth that will quietly suffer for food among plenty. He is the only one whose brain is so small that he will see his tender offspring suffer with cold where there is plenty of material to keep him warm.—Inter Mountain Advocate.

My friends, unless our children have more patience and courage than saved this country from slavery, republican institutions will go down before moneyed corporations. Rich men die, but corporations are immortal. They are never afflicted with disease. In the long run they are bound to win with legislatures.—Wendell Phillips.

Place the money power in the hands of a combination of a few individuals and they, by expanding or contracting the currency, may raise or sink prices at pleasure, and by purchasing when at the greatest depression, and selling when at the greatest elevation, may command the whole property and industry of the community. The banking system concentrates and places this power in the hands of those who control it. Never was an engine invented better calculated to place the destinies of the many in the hands of the few.—John C. Calhoun.

"Yes, we may all congratulate ourselves that this cruel war is nearing a close. It has cost a vast amount of treasure and blood. The best blood of the flower of American youth has been freely offered upon our country's altar that the nation might live. It has been, indeed, a trying hour for the republic, but I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of the war. God grant that my suspicions may prove groundless."—Abraham Lincoln.

The God of "Sound Money."

Gold is the king of kings, the monarch of money, the emperor of speculation, the unmoved spectator of Turkish atrocities, the General Gomez of revolution, the W. C. P. Breckinridge of morals, the managing editor of the daily press, the fashion-plate of society, the god of greed, the mascot of superstition, the great-grandfather of aristocracy, the chief slave-driver of human servitude, and sole manager of the millionaire's campaign for "sound money."

More blood has been shed to gratify the greed for gold than for all other causes on earth combined.

Kings are but mud without the power of gold to back them.

Speculation is but a boy's game of mumble-peg without the expanding and contracting properties of gold.

Turkish atrocities are only "dangerous" as they threaten the stability of English gold investments.

Morals are but dross compared with the gorgeous raiment that adorns the front pews of the great churches that are dedicated to oratory and hired music.

The daily press is but a jumping-jack on two twisted strings between the thumbs of gold-owners.

Society is but a butterfly dance over a field of new-mown clover, when gold ceases to be king.

Greed becomes a hog trying to swallow a barrel of slop, when the shining treasure it hoards and gloats upon becomes worthless.

Superstition becomes a fairy story of ancient dark ages, when people behold that the golden god they have worshipped is deaf, dumb, blind and powerless in the light of wisdom.

Aristocracy puls off its coat and goes to work when it can no longer juggle with gold.

As Garfield said, the men who control the money of a country control its government and trade. England controls the gold of the world, hence she can control the government and trade of every country on the globe that has a single-gold standard financial system.

OFF OF THEIR BASE.

SOME SELF-ALLEGED CHRISTIANS AND THEIR DEEDS.

The Hypocrites and Black Sheep within the Fold are Generally against Bryan—Usury in the Church—Legalizing Crime.

From The Coming Nation: War is generally carried on in the name of God and liberty; Christian people have taught themselves that they have a God-given right to kill and plunder all the little nations of helpless heathen in order to convert them—into slaves.

They call it fighting the devil. They call themselves Christian warriors, just as though a man could be a Christian and a legal murderer.

Imagine Christ and his disciples standing ready to cut each other's throat, and you have a fair picture of the Christian nations of today preparing to blow each other into eternity.

The man who discovers or invents some great life destroyer is considered a benefactor to his country, and the churches are the loudest in their applause. Can we hope for anything good to come out of such a Christian spirit of plunder and conquest?

The churches of Christ! Great God what misnomers! Accepting peace offerings from the greedy and heartless rich, peace-offerings in the shape of money squeezed from the toiling poor. How they mislead and corrupt the minds of the young, making them believe that the modern church is doing the work of Christ.

A wealthy Chicago woman lately donated $75,000 to Prof Swing's church and the committee has decided to invest the cash in mortgages, the income to be used in "broadening the work of the church," to use the language of the committee.

Think of it! A church that pretends to do the work of Christ, and living on the money squeezed from the mortgaged slave! Did Christ teach usury?

Christians get around this point by contending that any "legal amount of interest" is not usury.

In Colorado there is no legal rate of interest. The law allows you to demand whatever rate you can get, and to collect it, even if the poor mortgaged slave is turned out to starve in midwinter.

Why, brother toilers, there is not a single law that we have today in this greed-cursed country that conforms to the teachings of Christ. "Sell that thou hast and give to the poor," if carried out to the letter, and in the spirit of true Christianity, would wipe out every single law that protects property and makes debt a crime.

And yet the modern church conforms only to our man-made laws, construing Christ's law to suit the occasion.

Can we hope for any assistance from these corrupted people, while even the cause of Christ (?) is bolstered up by the accursed mortgage?

These are the Christian warriors who are fighting the devil—for revenue only; that go out to conquer heathen nations in the name of God—for plunder; who sing liberty songs, while they live on the usury squeezed from the poor mortgaged slaves, and offer the workingman miserable charity, instead of justice.

The average Christian of today is as much afraid of justice as the devil is supposed to be afraid of "holy water" and never grants it to anybody willingly. He seems to think it a dangerous habit to establish.

He is like the Irishman who was arrested for wife murder, and who was promised justice by his attorney. "Justice!" he exclaimed, "bedad Oi'm in a position to make use of anny other branch ov the legal profession, but justice is the wan thing I want to escape, begorrah!"

I have always been in favor of woman suffrage, and am yet, providing women are educated in something higher than modern churchism. But I used to think that women, being the chief support of the churches, would purify politics.

Alas, how sadly I have been mistaken. In Colorado the women have been voting for two years, and the state is more corrupt than ever. The saloon still flourishes and is legalized by high license; gambling goes on as usual. Only a few months ago in my own town a man who was openly accused of running a gambling hell was elected by a large majority to fill an important office.

The church people have been running little gambling schemes so long for the glory of God that they have grown to like it, and the professional gambler simply makes a background to their own picture of Christianity.

When the women of Colorado helped to "redeem the state," as the hypocritical politicians taught the Christians to yawp, I expected to see reform on every hand. Rev. Myron Reed and F. F. Passmore were called all sorts of vile names because they did not join the "redeemers;" but, just as these two heroes predicted, crime has been encouraged since that grand old man, Davis H. Waite, was defeated by the "redeemers."

Our Christian women helped to do it, and still the saloon is legalized; the poor miserable prostitutes are rounded up periodically, like so many cattle, and are fined to fatten the purse of public officers, while a small per cent goes to lighting and paving the streets where the pious redeemers tread.

And the mortgage laws are running in the same stage of hellish glory. Usury on every hand. But the church has grown used to it—grown and fattened on this child of hades; and never a word is heard against it from the pulpits.

They spend their time searching the Bible for the tracks of the devil, whom they claim to be fighting, while right in their own door-yard the devil's tracks are yet so plain and warm that a blind Christian could easily follow them, if he felt like doing so.

Ah, these Christian warriors seldom fight any national wrongs. Almost anything is right in their eyes, so long as it pays a revenue. They can see no harm in cornering wheat, or pork, or oil, or land, or money, even though thousands of the miserable poor suffer and die of want, and all around the church door reigns a hell of hopeless hunger. These Christian warriors can see no harm in it, so long as the church gets a rake-off.

These Christian warriors can see no sin or crime among those whom God(?) has blessed with wealth. Among those whose hearts are as hard as the granite walls of an orthodox hell, and who live to accumulate dollars squeezed from the hands of the toiling poor.

They do all their searching for sin among those whom the rich have robbed. Those whom God has blessed with poverty and want (God does it all). The crimes and sins of the miserable poor are searched out and laid bare before the world. The Christian newspapers are full of their sins every day, and the police go down among them to club them about for the glory of God and the eternal salvation of their souls.

At times some good souls go down among them to distribute tracts, in which the story of God's love is told them, for the purpose of making them feel still more miserable, and to look up to the rich as the people who have a divine right to build slums where the robbed and outraged poor can be hidden from the sight of God's elect, and hope can never, never come. Ah, the dear, Christian nations! Standing ready to rush their miserable poor into a bloody conflict in order that the victorious rich may glut themselves with plunder.

England has a Christian army whose business is to butcher the heathen and take possession of their land, and even butcher some other Christian army if they interfere.

Russia has a Christian army to rule over the government hell at home, and to gobble a little plunder from the heathens when a chance offers.

The whole of Europe is but a living hell for the toiling poor, walled in by the so-called Christian armies, who force the poor to throw up their hands while the rotten royalty rob them of all but a bare existence.

And is it any better in our own country? Oh, God, these pinched and furrowed faces of the wandering poor who knock at my door and ask for a crust of bread! What is the church and the Christian warriors doing for them? Nothing! And the echo of this cry goes up to God and rattles against the frame of high heaven, and the day of wrath draws nearer at every rising of the sun.

Ah, you Christian warriors, you are but camp-followers, and plunderers of the miserable poor; you never fight on the side of the weak and lowly, but are led by the political butchers who live but to plunder and fatten on the blood of the toiling poor.

Buying the Railroads.

The power of congress to regulate railroads was a live question in the seventies, made so by the Grange, then in its zenith.

In 1874 the United States senate appointed a special committee on transportation routes to the seaboard, consisting of Senators Windom (rep.) of Minnesota, John Sherman (rep.) of Ohio; Roscoe Conkling (rep.) of New York, H. G. Davis (dem.) of West Virginia, T. M. Norwood (dem.) of Georgia, J. W. Johnson (dem.) of Virginia, John H. Mitchell (rep.) of Oregon and S. B. Conover (rep.) of Florida. This committee devoted several months to an examination of the subject, and in their report may be found the following regarding the power of congress to regulate:

First. That the powers of congress, whatever it may be, are derived directly from the people of the several states and not from the states themselves.

Second. That every important word in the clauses which confer the "power to regulate commerce among the several states" and "to make all the laws valid necessary for carrying it into execution, has received legislative, executive and judicial construction, and under such construction the power of congress to regulate interstate transportation by railroads, and to aid and facilitate commerce, is easily established.

Third. That in the exercise of this power congress is authorized under the grant of auxiliary power, to employ such means as are appropriate and plainly adapted to their execution.

Fourth. That in the selection of means by which interstate commerce shall be regulated, congress may—

1. Prescribe the rule by which instruments, vehicles and agents engaged in transporting commodities from one state into or through another shall be governed; whether said transportation is by land or water.

2. That it may appropriate money for the construction of railways or canals, when the same shall be necessary for regulation of commerce.

3. That it may incorporate a company with authority to construct them.

4. That it may exercise the right of eminent domain within a state in order to provide for the construction of such railways or canals, or

5. It may in the exercise of the right of eminent domain, take for the public use, paying just compensation therefor, any existing railway or canal owned by private persons or corporations.

AMONG POLITICIANS.

The News of a Week in the Political Arena.

CLATON CALLED DOWN.

Could Not Hold the Office of District Attorney and Run for Congress Too.—The Negro and the Boodle Dispensers. — The Fanuiel Hall Crowd Wins in Massachusetts.

Henry D. Clayton, United States District Attorney for the middle district of Alabama, was last Saturday summarily removed from office by the President. Mr. Clayton was a delegate to the Chicago convention, is now a candidate for Congress from the Third District of Alabama and is a near relative of Senator Pugh of that State. Assistant District Attorney G. F. Moore has been placed in charge of the place. Some interesting correspondence led up to this action by the President. Early in October Attorney-General Harmon wrote Mr. Clayton a letter, stating that newspaper clippings and leters showed that he was a candidate for Congress, and his duties as District Attorney made the two positions inconsistent with each other. To this letter no reply was received. On October 8, Attorney-General Harmon wrote Mr. Clayton another letter, in which he assumed that his first letter had not been received by Mr. Clayton. He repeated much of his first letter in substance, and concluded "Please advise me upon receipt of this what you propose to do in view of the rule which makes your candidacy for another office inconsistent with the holding of your present position."

Mr. Clayton, on October 14, replied from Montgomery, Ala., to this last letter of Attorney-General Harmon. He stated that he was the regular nominee of the Democratic party from the Third District for Congress, and was engaged in the discharge of his duties as District Attorney; that he had heard of no complaints as to his neglecting his work, but that he was making speeches in behalf of his candidacy. He concluded as follows:

"I am not aware that any of the duties of my office have been neglected. I have thought that a man, though an office-holder, had the right of speech and the right to aspire to represent his people. I do not believe that my retention of the office of District Attorney should preclude me from those rights of citizenship which are enjoyed by my fellow citizens. I therefore decline to admit that my candidacy for Congress is inconsistent or incompatible with my present position."

Atorney-General Harmon laid the correspondence before the President, and at 2 o'clock Friday this telegram was sent:

"Department of Justice,
"Washington, Oct. 16, 1896.

"Henry D. Clayton, Office United States District Attorney, Montgomery, Ala:—

"For reasons appearing in our correspondence, the President has today removed you from the office of United States Attorney, which you now hold. You will govern yourself accordingly. Answer to your letter mailed today.

"JUDSON HARMON,
"Attorney-General."

THE NEGRO IS LEFT OUT.

It is reported that some of the leading negro politicians of Alabama are to make it uncomfortable for some of the white Republicans and Republican sympathizers by demanding to know what has become of all the campaign money this year. Heretofore the negroes have come in for a share of the campaign boodle of the Republicans in National election years, but this time the "Nationals" are said to have come in and cut them out of their share, and there is sore disappointments existing. This election fund has been heretofore a good, substantial source of revenue to the negroes, and it is stated that he is beginning to make things uncomfortable for his old political bosses by calling long and loud for his share of the plunder.

FANEUIL HALL CROWD WINS.

The ballot law Commissioners of Massachusetts have rendered their decision in the matter of the rival Democratic State conventions—that held in Faneuil Hall under the direction of the Democratic State Committee and the one held in Music Hall by the followers of George Fred Williams. The Commissioners decided in favor of the Faneuil Hall convention. Both conventions nominated Williams for Governor, but he declined to accept the Faneuil Hall nomination. This decision throws out the Music Hall proceedings, but as nomination papers have been filed, the ticket nominated at that gathering stands, as well as the Faneuil Hall ticket, which differs only in the choice of one elector BAYS RESPECTFULLY DECLINES.

A. H. Bays, of Eupora, Miss., writes an open letter to H. M. Street, Chairman of the late "National" Democratic convention held at Jackson, declining to serve as Palmer and Buckner elector, and declaring that he is an old-fashioned Democrat and therefore not in sympathy with the independent movement.

A PREMATURE BLAST.

Four men were killed and several seriously hurt by an explosion of dynamite at Kennedy's camp, on the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf road, near Van Buren, Ark., early Friday morning. The accident occurred while workmen were blasting, the charge going off prematurely.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama.

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

4th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
FOR CONGRESS
W. F. ALDRICH

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile.

Second district—Lawrence S. Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour.

Fourth district—Thomas L. Harvey of Calhoun.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langley of Tallapoosa.

Sixth district—H. P. Gaines of Walker.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall.

Eigth district—T. B. Bickley of Colbert.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb.

UNTIL November 1 we will accept 75 cents for a twelvemonths subscription to THE BANNER. After that date we positively cannot make any reduction.

VOTE for Bryan and Watson electors and for W. F. Aldrich.

IT has been figured out that the combined tickets for Bryan and Watson and Bryan and Sewall will give Bryan 232 votes in the electoral college, but that neither Watson or Sewall, or Hobart or Buckner will have anything like enough votes to elect either of them, consequently the vice presidency will be thrown into the senate and the Populists hold the balance of power and will see that Tom Watson gets justice.

FEW men are better known and so highly respected in Chilton county than Hon. S. M. Adams late of Bibb, and we are certain the information that he has purchased a place near Jemison will be highly appreciated by our people. Mr. Adams removed his family into their new home last week. He will continue to serve his three churches in Bibb county, but otherwise has no other engagements for this next year. We cordially welcome this addition to Chilton's population.

THE great and only Capt. Reuben F. Kolb made some sort of an apology to the people of Chilton county last Monday at Clanton in regard to his recent return to the Democratic party. The genial Reuben always keeps his weather eye open, and knowing last Monday was the tax assessor's and tax collector's day here made sure of having a fairly good attendance. Well, he had a pretty good audience who went away using rather strong language. Mr. Kolb can no more deliver the Populists of Chilton county over to the Democratic party than he can himself which party he will belong to after Noverber 3, 1896.

REFERRING to Mr. Crumpton's letter in last week's BANNER we must call our readers attention to one sentence which most truly explains the Democratic demand for unity. Mr. Crumpton says "Even if we fail to win this fight we will be organized to try it again in 1900." There you have it straight, Mr. Populite. If you vote now for Bryan and Sewall and Plowman how will you be organized in 1900? Why in the Democratic party of course. In other words, all that the Democratic party requires of you now is to vote their ticket and in two years time you will be exactly where they have been trying to get you the last four years, that is back in the Democratic ranks. Can you afford to do it? We say No!

Address of Hon. S. M. Adams to the Populists of Alabama

To the Populist Party of Alabama:

Dear Friends—Having been written to, and requested by many of my friends—middle-of-the-road Populists—in the State of Alabama, to give my views on the present political situation in the State, I feel it my duty, first, to remind you of the fact that Bryan and Watson are the nominees of the People's Party for President and Vice-president, and for that reason all true and loyal Populists should give their support to them. What else can we do? Should we fail to do this we say to this country and to the world that we are not to be relied upon as a party and hence weaken the faith of all good and true men in our political honesty.

Is it right or reasonable for the Democratic party, or any other political party, to call upon us to abandon our nominee, sacrificing both him and our principles, for no other purpose than to elevate to office and to power a man whose personal interest necessarily must be opposed to every plank in our platform and to the platform upon which he is running for vice-president of the United States. The Democrats advise the Populists to sacrifice Watson and support Sewall, and use as an argument that a vote for Watson means half a vote for McKinley. Now, let us see. In Oregon and other Western States, the Democrats have united with the Populists on a straight Bryan and Watson ticket. If Watson was to come down, under the law there is not time to put out another ticket, and even should there be time it would be favorable to McKinley rather than to Bryan. The Democrats of this State should remember that a majority of the People's Party in the Western States came out of the Republican party, and in the event of the abandonment of the Populist nominee they would naturally revert to the Republican nominee, just in the same way that our Democratic friends in this State expect the Populists of Alabama and of the South to support the Democratic nominee.

I deny the charge that Watson's candidacy is an advantage to McKinley, but on the other hand, owing to the present condition in the West, there can be no hope of Bryan's success without Watson.

I would earnestly appeal to every Populist in Alabama to stand firmly by the Bryan and Watson electoral ticket. I make the appeal in the interests of Bryan as well as Watson, and above all in the interests of our party and the common good of our country. Good government, business prosperity, better prices for farm products, better wages for the workingmen, better educational facilities, a betterment of our moral, social and religious condition—all depend upon the Populists standing firm by a God-given principle which all parties in the last year have been to some extent forced to recognize. We have no gold-bugs in our party, no railroad kings, no bankers, none of the elements that go to make up the great organized power that today is opposed to the original idea of a free and independent government. This is a government of the people, by the people, and should be for the people, and not for the monied corporations. These principles are the principles for which our party was born. It came into existence pregnant with Jefferson and Jackson's ideas of government and for the reason that both the old political parties had proved recreant, to say the least of it, to government in the interest of the people. Both the old parties had co-operated in the destruction of silver and hence the new departure of the Democratic party in the present advocacy of the restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver must necessarily require careful watching and no better guardian can be employed than the true and tried Populist party, and let us place as its special watchmen Wm. J. Bryan and Thomas E. Watson.

Praying that an all wise Providence may direct you and keep you in the path of duty and save our country until it shall be indeed "The land of the free and the home of the brave."

I am yours respectfully,
S. M. ADAMS.

Jemison, Ala., Oct. 22, 1896.

The Populist party of Alabama, at the present time being without a State organ, I make this communication through the Clanton BANNER and request all Populist papers to copy. S. M. A.

No man in the United States has done so much for the building up of the Peoples' Party than Tom Watson. The national convention recognised that fact and nominated him for Vice President. Is there a single Populist in Alabama who will dare to deny this truth? Is there a single Populist in Alabama who will be so craven as to desert his own standard bearer? There is not a Populis worthy of the name who will not vote the straight ticket.

READ, mark, learn the names of the Bryan and Watson electors to be found on the ticket, printed in another column.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.

The opposition papers are devoting much space to inharmonious conditions in regard to the Vice Presidency. Rumors of withdrawals and acrimonious telegrams and interviews are abundant. However, Tom Watson seems to be busier doing good work in his State campaign than he is in getting off the ticket.

It is announced that Mr. Sewall of Maine has contributed twenty thousand dollars to the Democratic campaign fund.

Recent reports from every section of the country indicate the steady growth of the free silver sentiment and the probable election of Bryan. It is evident at this time that the working men hold the balance of power, and their votes will determine the contest. They have the welfare of the republic in their hands. They have the power to free themselves and their countrymen from slavery to the money kings. How will they use their power? If patriotism is not dead, truth and justice will triumph against bribery and coercion.

There are already more than seventy populist presidential electors in the field in the various states—enough to hold the balance of power in the electorial college and control the election of Vice President.

Wm. J. Bryan issued a formal letter of acceptance of the populist nomination for the presidency, last week, in reply to Chairman Allen's letter of notification. While not openly endorsing all of the populist platform, he expressed himself as being in full accord with the principles of the party. The letter will, no doubt, satisfy most resonable reformers.

The enemy are complimenting Jerry Simpson by sending much money and some of their biggist guns to fight him. That combination of spell-binders known as "the Generals," headed by Gen. Sickles, has been in his district recently. Still, Jerry has taken care of himself at home and found time besides to write W. M. Deisher, of the People's Party National Committee, a letter calling attention to Gen. Palmer's broken promise in regard to free silver at the time of his election to the Senate.

Members of the People's Party receive abundant and courteous recognition in the October periodicals. Carl Snider writes of Chairman Marion Butler in the Review of Reviews. Gen. Weaver contributes to the Chautauquan, a characteristically well written article on the "Battle of the Standards." Leslie's Weekly tells all it could learn of Seaborn Wright, of Georgia.

It is a good thing for the American people that the financial question is now clearly defined, and that they have forsaken all other controversy in order to give it their individual attention. As a nation we are patient and long suffering. We have for many moons heard the tinkle of the gold bug in the land, and we are at last alive to its meaning. We have seen high and low tariff tried. We have heard of the wonders that were to be accomplished by the repeal of the Sherman law. Then came bond issues, about which the less said the better, and a lingering panic which has reduced a large section of the people to a condition verging on despair. We have seen caressing clauses in the platforms of the political parties promising the rehabilitation of silver, and many other promises that have been cast aside and entirely forgotten after victory was attained.

Now the people know that neither protection nor free trade, no matter which in itself may be the better, can be of any real utility to the country, until the money question is settled and settled rightly. This is important, because only one great question can be attended to at a time. The issue once properly disposed of, others may be advantageously taken up. This one is the essential preparation for others.—U. S. Senator, J. P. Jones, in October Arena.

The Gun Goes Off

instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called diseases. Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood.

Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness?" Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of.

A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Editor BANNER: We notice in the last issue of the BANNER, what Rev. R. M. Honeycutt had to say in regard to religious service in the new court house. That suggestion will certainly be approved by all who accept Jehovah as Creator, Ruler, Preserver and Law Giver. We think that move to be admirable. May God be in that meeting and thus let all feel the inspiration so much needed in the walks of life. Another thought presents itself to our mind, while our beloved county is being thrown into the greatest political upheaval known to our generation. We see father against son, brother against brother, &c. There is something wrong. The preachers and churches are not looking earnestly enough heavenward for guidance in this struggle.

Please at your meeting on 22, make it a part of special prayer for relief in our national trouble. May our leaders keep principle and honesty of purpose nestled in the warmest part of their hearts so that a righteous enthusiasm may strengthen their efforts in behalf of a nation's redemption from present satanic influence. Ministers and people wake up, wake up! God alone can stay the ruthless hand of oppression.

MRS. IRA CAMPBELL.

HOW TO VOTE.

BELOW we show you how to vote next Tuesday week. The election law says the names of all candidates must be arranged alphabetically, consequently the name of Wm. F. Aldrich, whom you wish to vote for, and against which we have placed a cross-mark, X, just as you will do on November 3, is the first name on the ticket. Then take the names of the electors and make a X mark against those we have made a X mark on the ticket below, and you will vote for Bryan and Watson electors.

For Representative in the Fifty-fifth Congress of the United States from the Fourth District of the State of Alabama:
Vote for One.

X | Wm. F. Aldrich
| E. H. Dryer
| Thos. S. Plowman

For Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States:
Vote for Eleven.

| Nathan H. Alexander
| E. B. Almon
| John Andrews
| J. P. Appleton
| F. B. Baldwin
| J. M. Barnes
X | T. B. Bickley
| Wm. B. Browne
| Charles W. Buckley
| Thos. L. Bulger
| Joseph W. Burke
| W. P. Burks
| John D. Burnett
X | William M. Coleman
| C. E. Crenshaw
| O. E. Comstock
| J. B. Cumming
| Anthony R. Davison
| L. O Dawson
| Charles E. Dunn
| Thos. M. Espey
| Fred S. Ferguson
X | Nelson Fuller
X | H. P. Gaines
X | A. B. Gaston
X | Jos. H. Harris
X | Thos. L. Harvey
X | S. A. Hobson
| Daniel E. Huger
| Sam Will John
| A. B. Jones
X | Lawrence S. Knight
X | Edmund B. Langley
| Lawrence H. Lee
| J. C. Lester
| J. J. Mayfield
| J. P. Mudd
| William O. Mulkey
| Chas. B. Powell
| Charles Rattray
| R. Barnwell Rhett
| E. L. Russell
| J. W. A. Sanford
| R. L. Seale
X | John G. Searcy
| John B. Shields
| M. D. Sibert
| John A. Steele
| J. W. Stewart
| A. S. Stockdale
| J. J. Taylor
| Nicholas M. Ware
| Andrew J. Warner
| Morris D. Wickersham

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a general election will be held at the various voting places in Chilton county, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1896,

for the election of Electors for President and vice-President of the United States, and for the election of a Representative in the Congress of the United States for the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

This 1st day of October, 1896.
J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

ELECTION MANAGERS.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA }
CHILTON COUNTY. }

This is to certify that the following named persons have been appointed Inspectors and Returning Officers, as required by law, for an election to be held in said County on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1896. To-wit:

Beat No. 1—T J Dorminy, J W Sorrell, Mardical Robinson, Inspectors; J M Robinson, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 1 Providence)—I B Martin, Hugh Henry, Charles Johnson, Inspectors; J A Lowery, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 2 Jemison)—B M Gentry Ira Campbell, J P Givhan, Inspectors; G W Shaw, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 1 Benson)—H W Varden, John Wright, Andy Jones, Inspectors; John Middlebrooks, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 2 Macedonia)—Y O Freeman, A J Ware, Green Hayes, Inspectors; William Nix, Returning officer.

Beat 4—A A Ayres, John Grant, Alfred Popwell, Inspectors; A. C. Oates, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 1 Coopers)—J W G Kicker, B H Wells Hardy Jones, Inspectors; H A J Harris, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 2 Verbena)—W H Strock J J L Stewart, A H Courtney, Inspectors; — Thompson, Returning officer.

Beat 6—J R Vinson, Madison Popwell T L Dickerson, Inspectors; Fayette Popwell, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 1 Maplesville)—W Y Nix G W Fox, W F Foshee, Inspectors; Geo Foshee, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 2 Shoultz) W A Green, J D Holsomback, L O Burnett, Inspectors; J N Gentry, Returning officer.

Beat 8—W A Weaver, D C Gandy, Jack Landers, Inspectors; Wiley Letcher, Returning officer.

Beat 8—D N Riggins, W A Mims, James Collins, Inspectors; Wash Foshee Returning officer.

Given under our hands, this the 2 day of October, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.
J. P VANDERVEER,
Clerk of Circuit Court.
J. T. COOLEY
Sheriff.

State of Alabama }
Chilton County }

I, J. T. Cooley, Sheriff of said County, hereby appoint the Returning Officers, above named at their respective voting places, to act as Special Deputy Sheriffs to attend upon the above named election.

This the 2d day of October, 1896.
J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alderman Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, in the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

So far as Chilton county is concerned Populists will vote for Bryan and Watson and Aldrich. Farewell, Capt. Kolb.

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

		1896
Shoultz	October	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Srasburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville	"	3
Benson	"	4

T. J. HUBBARD, Tax Collector.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Robert Wilson, Deceased } Probate Court Chilton County.

Letters of Administration upon the estate of Robert Wilson, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of August, 1896, by Hon. R M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court for Chilton county. Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or that the same will be barred.

W. M. WILSON,
Adm. Est. of Robert Wilson, Dec'd.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK.

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN
DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

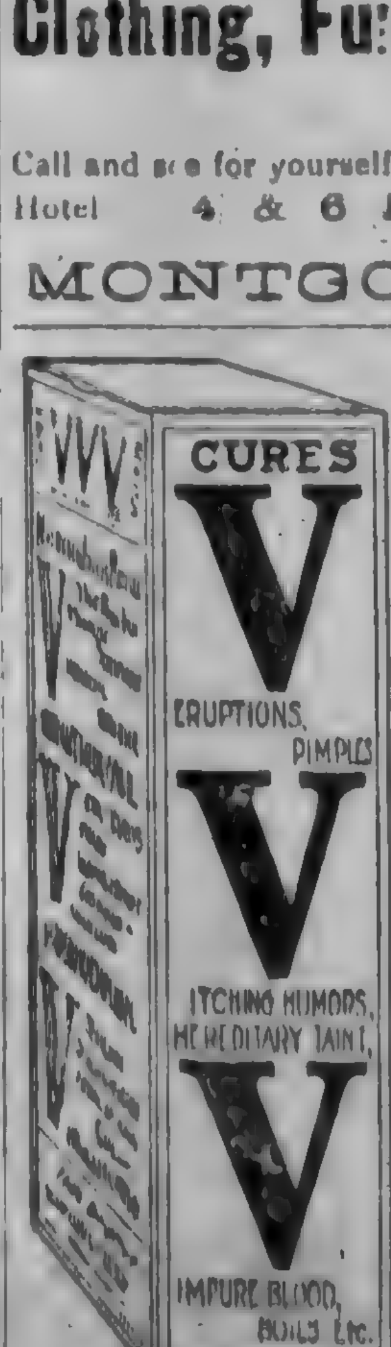
Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA



Every disease arising from an impure condition of the blood is quickly, surely and permanently cured by the great vegetable blood purifier and family remedy—V. V. V. No one living in or near a malarial district should be without this wonderful specific. A single bottle of V.V.V. will suffice to convince anyone that it positively as well as liver complaint, rheumatism, kidney diseases, catarrh, etc. V. V. V. will thoroughly cleanse the blood of all impurities, driving from the system scrofula, tetter, eczema and all other humors. It strengthens and invigorates the whole body.

Cures Malaria

BARBER, MORROW & [illegible], Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second [illegible] in February, first Monday in [illegible] second Monday in May, second [illegible] July, second Monday in Au[illegible] first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6⅝ cents.
[illegible] received to-date:

[illegible]	985
[illegible]	527
[illegible]	220
	1732

BRICK FOR SALE. I have [illegible] for sale at a low price, [illegible] Lomax Road one and a half [illegible] north of Clanton. Will exchange [illegible] or cotton seed at [illegible] price.

F. R. WOODYARD.

[illegible] adjourned meeting of the [illegible] of Clanton was held last [illegible] the court house [illegible] attended. Mr. W. J. [illegible] was elected chairman and [illegible] Honeycutt secretary. [illegible] of the committee was [illegible] recommending the town [illegible], and the same [illegible] Mr. John Garner [illegible] member, was reap[illegible] prepare a charter of in[illegible]

[illegible] new court house was formally opened this morning. The dedication services were well attended, [illegible] M. Woods preaching a [illegible] sermon.

[illegible] had the pleasure of hearing [illegible] minutes last Thursday [illegible] gold bug nominees [illegible] and Buckner, who [illegible] their way to [illegible] They made no [illegible]

Miss [illegible] Phillips has returned [illegible] visit to her sister Mrs. Dunkin at Pratville.

Mr. N. W. Wilson visited Birmingham last week.

Mr. J. W. Johnson and wife left [illegible] Saturday for New Orleans where Mr. Johnson will study [illegible]

[illegible] H. Foshee visited Birmingham [illegible] day.

Mr. William Johnson, who has [illegible] attending school at East [illegible] left a few days ago for [illegible] where he will make his [illegible]

Mr Henry Honeycutt went to Birmingham Wednesday to hear Tom Watson.

Mr. W. H. Merritt went to Birmingham Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Evans went to Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs B. T. Rasberry, of Mulberry was in town to-day.

Mr. Gaston A. Robbins, of Selma, was in town to-day to make a [illegible] to the Democrats of this place, but finding the dedication services at the new court house was engrossing the attention of every[illegible] gave up the idea, and attended [illegible] services instead.

[illegible] Honeycutt had a busy [illegible] this morning, commencing [illegible] day's work by uniting Mr. B. [illegible] Johnson and Miss Malone Bice, and Mr. Hubbard Glasscock and Miss M. A. Arledge. We wish [illegible] the newly married couples all happiness.

Mr. Tom Vines, of Miss., formerly a citizen of this county, is [illegible] on a visit to friends and relatives this week.

[illegible] for Aldrich.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is [illegible] teed to give perfect satisfac[illegible] money refunded. Price 25 [illegible] box. For sale by J S John[illegible]

Marriage licenses have been [illegible] this week by the Probate [illegible] to the following persons:

Mr. J. S. Rasberry and Miss Loretta Rasberry, Mr. James Fray and Miss Pascilla Cooper: Mr. J. W. [illegible] and Miss C. A. North[illegible] Mr. John Collum and Miss [illegible] Aycock: Mr. B. G. John[illegible] and Miss Malone Bice; Mr. [illegible] Glasscock and Miss M. A. [illegible]

[illegible] Robt. Doster and Fan[illegible]

Notice

[illegible] meeting of the Farm[illegible] Association [illegible] is hereby called [illegible] Clanton on Monday [illegible] All members [illegible] to come as business [illegible] has to be attended to

J. A. Logan, President.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have [illegible] prescription in Electric Bitters, [illegible] I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system [illegible] has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., [illegible] was all run down, could not eat [illegible] digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Will Not Perform Miracles But It Will Cure.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases require prolonged treatment as shown by that of Mrs. M. B. Reed, of Delta, Iowa, who writes: "As the result of a lightning stroke, the physicians said I had a light stroke of paralysis, my limbs would all draw up. I would have throbbings in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for sleep, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 40 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Book on heart and nerves free. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN,

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se ¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of.

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's

LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896: 1896

Maplesville	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	22
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Mountzion church	"	26
Cane Creek church	"	27
Ehrman's mill	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church	"	9
Kincheon	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Tax Assessor's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of assessing the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1897: 1896

Pletcher's mill	October	1
Kincheon	"	2
Atbert Headley's store	"	3
Benson	"	5
Maplesville	"	6
Shoultz	"	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 2 pm	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church, Beat 2	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	17
Strasburg	"	16
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore's school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30

A. C. MIMS, Tax Assessor

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,354.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of several executions issued out of the circuit court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against W. G. Hayes J. P. Nix and B. F. Rasberry, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, I have levied on the following property, to-wit:

N ½ fractional sec 13 tp 22 r 12, w ½ sec 12 t 22 r 12, s 1-2 of n 1-2 sec 12 t 22 r 12, n 1-2 of ne ¼ sec 14 t 22 r 12, se ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, 30 acres of ne ¼ of se ¼ sec 11 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 17 t 22 r 12, nw 1-4 sec 18 t 22 r 13, n 1-2 of se 1-4 sec 31 t 23 r 13, s 1-2 of sw 1 4 of sw 1-4 sec 7 t 22 r 13, se 1-4 of sw qr and sw 1-4 of ne 1-4 sec 23 t 22 r 12, sw 1-2 of nw qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, e 1-2 of se qr of se qr sec 22 t 22 r 12, nw qr of ne qr sec 26 t 22 r 12, n half of se qr and n half of s half of se qr sec 15 t 22 r 12, s half of se qr and ne qr of se qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, nw qr of ne qr sec 19 t 22 r 13, s 1-2 of se qr of ne qr sec 18 t 22 r 13, n half of sw qr and sw qr of sw qr of nw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, se qr of ne qr and w half of ne qr of sw qr sec 17 t 22 r 13, as the property of W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale at public auction all the right, title and interest of the above named W G Hayes, J P Nix and B F Rasberry, in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1896,

during the legal hours of sale, at the Court-house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton this July 8, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 12th day of October, 1896.

P. M. MOORE, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, the 19th day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, Oct. 26, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18321.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
Sept. 14, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on October 24th, 1896, viz.: Alex Logan, Homestead entry, No. 23,181, for the sw¼ of section 12 tp 23 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: James Wagoner, John Williams, Lewis Littleton, Marion Wagoner, all of Jumbo, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.

No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness, Price $[illegible]. As good as sells for $30.

No. [illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

APPOINTMENTS.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. A. P. Longshore will speak on Monday, Oct. 19, at Columbiana, at 1:30 p.m. and at Shelby at 7:30 p m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. T. D. Parsons will speak on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at Sycamore at 12 m. and at Sylacauga at 4 p.m.; Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Childersburg at 10 a.m.; Thursday 22 at Vincent at 2:30 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 23 at Vandiver at 11 a.m.; Saturday Oct. 14 at Talladega at 11 a.m. and at Ironaton at 5 p.m.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will speak on Monday, Oct. 26 at Stanton; Tuesday, Oct. 27 at Verbena; Wednesday, Oct. 28 at Clanton and Coopers; Thursday, Oct. 29 at Jemison and Union; Friday, Oct. 30 at Saginaw Saturday, Oct. 31 at Aldrich; Monday, Nov. 2 at Calera.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and Hon. L. H. Reynolds will address the people at Coopers on Wednesday Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. and at Clanton the same day at 3 p.m.

Legal Notice.

By order of the Court of County Commissioners.

Notice is hereby given that the building which has formerly been used as a court house in Clanton, will be offered for sale for cash to the highest bidder on Monday, the 2nd day of November, 1896. The building will be sold in two parts, one known as the main court house and the other as jury rooms. The purchaser will be required to remove the building and clean the lot of all trash by November 21st, 1896. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any bid if the bidder does not immediately pay amount of bid.

This Oct. 9, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!

THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. The designs are catchy [illegible] vividly portray the present financial situation. They will be treasured [illegible] for years as souvenirs of the greatest political [illegible] since the birth of our republic. Big profits for agents. 8 [illegible] each. For terms address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEP'T,
Birmingham, Ala.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of [illegible] cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and [illegible], and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at [illegible] over 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original [illegible] cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is [illegible]; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined [illegible] deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some [illegible] package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as [illegible] is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a [illegible] package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, [illegible] cent package, free.

[illegible] the ailments, caused by indispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach and [illegible], which Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840.

[illegible] HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS—IRRITABILITY—[illegible]—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEP[illegible]—LOW SPIRITS.—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS—[illegible] FEELING.—SOUR STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOWELS.—[illegible] & EYES YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.—[illegible]—PAINS IN SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH.—[illegible] BEFORE THE EYES.—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.—TORPID [illegible] SOFT & FLABBY.—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.—[illegible]—NERVOUS HEADACHES.—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.—[illegible]—PILES, BY CURING CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASE.—[illegible] OF BLOOD IN HEAD.—NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.—[illegible]—BLOATING OF STOMACH AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR [illegible]—DIMNESS OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY [illegible]—SUFFOCATING SENSATIONS.—DESPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—[illegible] AFTER EATING.—VERTIGO.—YELLOW JAUNDICE.—[illegible]—BAD COLDS.—BACKACHES [illegible]—LOSS OF APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN [illegible]—LIMBS FEEL TOO HEAVY.—[illegible]—PALENESS.—WEAKNESS—[illegible] HEAT.—GENERAL [illegible]—DYSPEPSIA.—NERVOUS [illegible]—SPITTING UP OF FOOD AFTER [illegible]

[illegible] BY [illegible] THE ACTION OF THE [illegible] STOMACH & BOWELS, SO THAT ALL FOOD TAKEN IS NATURALLY [illegible]

C. F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

We Employ Young Men to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,

C. H. CHEATHAM.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. [illegible]more, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

P. P. P.
P. P. P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Flies are despised, but if every one was as persistent and hard to discourage as a fly, more people would succeed. When a fly gets after a person, it never knows when it is to stop. It may be scared off fifty times, but it never forgets, and soon returns, and makes a more determined effort than ever. All efforts to kil a fly usually result only in personal injury, and do not even scare the fly. The Bible holds Job up as an example of patience, but we bet there were no flies in his time.

Some men are too lazy to wash the tobacco stains out of their whiskers.

Richest Monarch in the World.

The vast wealth in jewels and specie left by the late Shah will be inherited by the new one, and $15,000,000 is not too high an estimate of their worth, the great globe of gold, incrusted with huge gems, being valued at £1,000,000, while the historical diamond, the Deryah-i-Nur, or Sea of Light, and a vast treasure of gems, form part of the largest and most valuable collection of precious stones in the world. Mozaffer-ed-Din commences his reign the wealthiest monarch of the world.

She Disliked Steamboats.

The wife of a physician who lives in Washington tells a story of a distant kinswoman who was her guest during the Christian Endeavor convention. The kinswoman lives in an inland New England town, and when she came to Washington she spent one night of the journey on board a steamboat. It was the first time she had ever traveled by water. She reached Washington extremely fatigued. The doctor's wife remarked it.

"Yes, I'm tired to death," said the kinswoman. "I don't know as I care to travel by water again. I read the card in my stateroom about how to put the life preserver on and I thought I understood it, but I guess I didn't, though. Some way, I couldn't seem to go to sleep with the thing on."

She Felt Reassured.

"What we want is to have money getting into circulation. It's the duty," he said, excitedly, "of every citizen to exert himself to secure that end."

"John, dear," said his wife, "I'm so glad to hear you say so. I want to order ever so many things at the store, but I hesitated about doing it, for fear you wouldn't want to see the money getting out of your hands into circulation."

How Merit Counts.

"My father got a box of TETTERINE from a friend who had obtained it somewhere in the West. He has had eczema very bad a long time, and TETTERINE is the only thing that has ever benefited him.

"Please send by Express C. O. D. half-dozen boxes. I've no doubt but it will be the means of selling a great deal of it here." Very truly, MRS. L. C. MALCOLM.

591 Cranston St., Providence, R. I.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
SEAL Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know, Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have $50 or $60 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopædia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopædia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopædia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts collated in this book.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Do not use a flickering light for reading or sewing; use a lamp with a large burner, and use good oil.

Dobbins' Electric Soap is cheaper for you to use, if you follow directions, than any other soaps would be if given to you, for by its use clothes are saved. Clothes cost more than soap. Ask your grocer for Dobbins'. Take no other.

Do not work in a poor light, and avoid a glaring light, as it may be as bad as too little light.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

WHEN bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

CASCARETS stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. ABBOTT, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

Votes

Have been cast by thousands of sufferers from impure blood, and their verdict has settled the question of the great curative power of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every mail car brings in these letters of praise for Hood's Sarsaparilla. They tell the same wonderful story of health restored, pain and suffering relieved, and happiness brought back. They prove

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

CACTI, 10 different, 50c; 15, 65c prepaid. Orchids, 5 different, $5; 10, $5 prepaid. Resurrection Plants 5 for 10c; 1 doz. 15c prepaid. Remit stamps or express money order. J. A. McDowell & Co., City of Mexico.

MONEY GOLD, SILVER.... ....BOOK FREE. Dan Danehy, Columbus, O.

Am. N. U. No. 48. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

STATE DISPATCHES.

The News the Wires Brought From All Over Alabama.

THE STATE PRESS CONVENTION

In Session at Huntsville.—A Short and Strictly Business Meeting of the Quill Pushers.—Railroad Commissioners' Forthcoming Report.—Industrial Activity at Huntsville.

The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Alabama Press Association met at Huntsville Wednesday of last week at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the Huntsville Hotel. President Robert M. Rawls, of the Athens Courier, delivered his annual address, which was ordered published in the minutes.

J. C. Camper, of the Florence Times, after a most graceful nomination by Miss Susanna Clay, of the Huntsville Democrat, was unanimously chosen President for the next twelve months. The First and Second Vice-Presidents elected were J. B. Simpson, of Montgomery, and Ira Champion, of Troy. Asa Rountree was unanimously re-elected Secretary.

W. M. Meeks, of Gadsden, was re-elected Treasurer; annual orator, Gen. C. P. Lane; essayist, Mr. Miles, Uniontown, and for poetess, the bright and genial Miss Virginia Clay, of the time-honored Democrat; historian, Col. W. W. Screws, of Montgomery.

At the evening session President Pettus, of the Huntsville Chamber of Commerce, introduced Hon. Ben Hunt, who delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and city to the State Press Association. Response was made by L. H. Grubbs, of the Decatur News.

President-elect Camper announced the following standing committees: Executive Committee—M. W. Camper, ex-officio member; J. B. Hanley, E. O. Neely, W. H. H. Judson, H. S. Shackelford. Legislative Committee—J. C. Williams, F. P. Glass, C. J. Hildreth, Rufus N. Rhodes, J. G. Harris.

The following is a list of the delegates to attend the National Editorial Association, which meets in Galveston, Tex., February 14, 1897: J. A. Rountree, Executive Committeeman; J. B. Hanley, Miss Susie Clay, W. M. Bunting, W. H. H. Judson, R. M. Rawls, E. O. Neely, Charles P. Lane, M. W. Camper, R. L. O'Neal, J. B. Simpson, E. Lesser, J. H. Vaught and L. Hensly Grubbs.

The following resolution was introduced by J. B. Simpson and was unanimously adopted:

Be it resolved, by the Alabama Press Association, That it commends the Tennessee Centennial Exposition to the favorable consideration of the press and people of Alabama; be it further

Resolved, That Hon. I. F. Culver, Commissioner of Agriculture, be and he is hereby earnestly requested to use and expend from the funds in the Agricultural Department (arising from the sale of fertilizer tags and otherwise), which said fund has been set apart by law, to hold fairs and otherwise advertise and develop the resources of Alabama, a sum sufficient to secure an exhibit of the matchless capabilities of Alabama commensurate with their importance and magnitude.

The following telegram was received:

"Nashville, Oct. 14, 1896.

"J. A. Rountree, Esq., Secretary Alabama Press Association, Huntsville:

"The Executive Committee of the Tennessee Press Association sends greetings. Come to see us during our Centennial.

"W. H. GRIFFIN, President.

"H. A. HASLOCK, Secretary."

On motion the invitation to visit the Tennessee Exposition was accepted, and the Secretary instructed to notify the proper authorities of the same.

A motion was made that the Legislative Committee be urged to carry out the following resolution, which was introduced by Secretary Rountree and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we urge the Legislature of Alabama to make such changes or amendments in our libel laws as to get them more in accord with the latest legislation of other States on this subject, requiring some element of malice to create libel, and when a newspaper publishes a report or item or items bona fide, and without intent to injure, the mere fact that an error may have been made shall not constitute it a libel, but the paper may be allowed to make a correction and give full reparation in its columns, if no malice is shown, instead of being held responsible in damages for the error or mistake innocently made by it.

Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton delivered an excellent and instructive address, which was received amid much applause.

The place of holding the next session of the Association was left with the Executive Committee.

The meeting was short and strictly business, and much enjoyed.

UNTIL AFTER ELECTION.

The Circuit and District Courts of the United States for the middle district of Alabama were to have met in Montgomery on November 2, but Judge Bruce has published an order postponing the opening until Tuesday, November 5. The purpose of the postponement is to avoid interruption incident to the holding of the National election.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

The West Huntsville Furniture Factory resumed work Friday. About eight weeks ago the packing house was destroyed by fire. President James A. Ward says that there are enough orders on hand to run the factory for several weeks.

Mr. Jesse Boyd, of the Boyd Flouring Mill Company, has returned from a trip to Louisville, where he purchased the machinery for the new flour mill.

The Spoke and Handle Factory, which has been leased to a Knoxville corporation, will begin work in a few days.

PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING.

The Railroad Commission has been in session during the past week at Montgomery, and will be during most of the present week. Their attention is directed now particularly to the preparation of their annual report, which will be more explicit and more interesting this year than ever before. The Commission is determined to so compile the report as to convey to the people of the State an accurate and truthful impression as to railroad matters in Alabama generally, and particularly as to the work with which the roads have had to deal.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS WORK.

The work on Muscle Shoals canal, at Riverton, has been progressing rapidly under Mr. S. B. Williamson's supervision. About 200 men are employed there, and the lock is now nearing completion. It is the lower lock of the great boat canal which is to be built around Colbert Shoals, the whole work being of less magnitude but of equal importance with the Muscle Shoals canal. Muscle Shoals canal was opened for navigation several years ago, but it requires the constant attention of a skilled engineer and the presence of a considerable force of men to keep it in repair and running order.

:o:

KILLED HIS GRANDMOTHER.

Put a Bottle of Chloroform at Her Bedside.

A special from Clarksville, Ga., to the Atlanta Constitution, says that St. Clair Glover and his brother, a deaf mute, have been arrested and jailed, charged with the murder of their grandmother, Mrs. F. Y. Glover. St. Clair Glover has confessed and assumes all the responsibility. He states that he killed his grandmother because she cut him off in her will. The old lady was wealthy. She was found dead in her bed with a bottle of chloroform by her side. This was placed there to create the impression that it was suicide, but bruises on her face and throat indicated that she had been choked to death. The neighbors think that the mute had something to do with the murder.

:o:

AN OLD LADY SUICIDES.

Mrs. S. B. Causey, a widow, aged 72 years, committed suicide Thursday afternoon by hanging herself to a tree near her home, five miles west of Anniston, Ala. She is believed to have been insane on account of worrying over the failure to regain $250 which she and her daughters, who worked in the cotton mills there up to five years ago, had accumulated by hard labor and close economy. Five or six years since they loaned it for a few days to a prominent man in Anniston, but it had never been repaid. Her last single child, a daughter, was married Thursday, and rather than put herself upon her married children for support, she slipped away from the wedding feast and took her own life.

:o:

REMANDED AGAIN.

The Castles Admitted to Bail in the Heavy Sum of £40,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Castle, of San Francisco, who were arrested in London on October 7, on a charge of stealing a number of valuable furs, and, after arraignment in the Great Marlborough Street Police Court, remanded for a further hearing, were again arraigned Tuesday and remanded for a week, the Magistrate requiring bail in the sum of £40,000 for the release of both prisoners pending the hearing of the case next week. Bail was given.

The plea in behalf of Mrs. Castle was that she suffers from an ailment that makes her irresponsible for her actions. A plea of not guilty was entered in behalf of Mr. Castle.

:o:

INDICTMENTS IN BLANK.

Is the Regular Return of the Grand Jury at New Orleans.

The Grand Jury of the Parish of Orleans, La., Tuesday afternoon returned eleven indictments in blank, but they are understood to be against the officers and directors of the suspended Bank of Commerce of New Orleans. It is said that sensational developments will follow. The indictments against the directors are under section 877 of the revised statutes of Louisiana. This section relates to officers concealing the failing condition of a banking institution. Quite a flurry has been caused among the friends of the directors.

LINEN MILLS RESUME.

The American Linen Mills, of Fall River, Mass., started Tuesday, after a week's shut down on account of a break-down. The Robeson Mill, of that place, is still stopped. The Metacomet stopped Saturday for an indefinite period, and the Fall River manufactory will stop Saturday for an unknown time. Nothing is known regarding the course of the big mills.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

HE FINDS FOOD FOR THOUGHT IN THE TRUTHFUL CAMERA.

Photo Gallery by the Countryside Marks Civilization's Progress.

The photograph gallery in a country town is one the most pleasing marks of Christian civilization and the advancement of modern science. I pass by one every day and it is gratifying to see its patrons awaiting their turn or coming out with smiling faces and all arrayed in their best apparel. It is a family discussion before they come what dress to wear, what ornaments, and how the hair shall be arranged, or whether to sit or stand, whether a side view or a front or whether the baby shall be taken alone or with its mother. All classes are on an equality before the camera, for the sunlight of nature has no favorites. So far as faces and features are concerned, the camera tells the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. This morning as I passed I saw a countryman sitting on the steps with a child in his arms. His wife and little girl were inside awaiting their turn. I used to know him before he was married, and so I stopped and gave him my hand. His folks were poor, honest and industrious, and I have great respect for all such. The women do the housework and have the care of the children. The men cultivate their little farms, work the roads, sit on the juries, nurse their sick neighbors, bury the dead, go fishing on Saturdays and take the family to meeting on Sundays. They are generally Populists, not because of any political principles involved, but because of affiliation and association. Most of their kind are Populists and therefore clannish. They stick together because they are either poor or less than rich. Their fathers fought in the late war, and these will fight in the next if it comes in their days. It may be a rich man's war, but it will be a poor man's fight.

"Are you going to have the baby's picture taken." "No; not this one," said he; "I wanted my wife's and our little girl's. They are in there. I I thought I would like to have them about the house, for life is uncertain, you know. Jim Moore's wife died last year und Jim says he would give the world for her picture, and Jack Brown lost his little girl in June. She was a mighty purty little thing, but Jack hain't got no picture and so I concluded to have some taken for fear of accident."

"That is all right," said I, "but suppose you die; wouldn't your wife like to have one of you?"

"I reckon she would. She mentioned that, but pictures don't become a rough man like me, and besides, it would cost more money than I have got to spare. The winter is comin' on and we all have to have shoes and stockings and the like, and my cotton crop was powerful short, but I will have mine taken sometime. I reckon all your folks have got 'em, haven't they?"

Love for wife and children is the best virtue of human kind, and poor folks have as much of it as rich ones. Yes, more. Many of them haven't anything else to divide their affections. It is a pleasing thing to see them at the picture gallery and to witness their pride when the work is done and the faces of their loved ones are before them on enameled cards, fresh and clean from the artist's hand. What a wonderful art it is. I remember well when the first daguerreotype was taken in our town. It was only forty years ago, and when our first little girl was four years old we had her picture taken. She was a little beauty then, and I thought the picture was the sweetest gem on earth. We have it now in its old-fashioned case. That little girl is long since a mother and has pictures of her own little girls, and they are much finer in their finish, but I prize the first one most. It carries me back in memory to the days of my sweetest, fondest, proudest, parental love. I idolize that child and I love her dearly yet, but she left us for a young man she was no kin to in the world, and who has never done anything for her but to give her a ring and books of poetry and a little French candy now and then. We had to give her up to him, and as Tom Hood said:

"She took our daylight with her
And the joys that we love best,
With morning light upon her brow
And pearls upon her breast."

Daguerre was a benefactor to the emotional side of our nature. He was a French artist—a painter of panoramas of cities like London and Paris and Naples. He used the rays of the sun through colored glass to heighten the effect of his paintings, and kept on experimenting with sunlight until in 1839 he caught it on the king and made it stick to metallic plates and reflect the images thrown upon them. His success was partly accidental, partly design, and he himself was astonished at his discovery. In 1840 Arago made the announcement to the academy of science and Daguerre was made an officer in the Legion of Honor and voted a pension of 6,000 francs a year. He died in 1851 and a monument was erected to him in Paris.

But like all inventions, Daguerre's was crude and imperfect. Photography has grown out of it and seems now to be the perfection of art. It is used in making the exact likenesses of all the great works of art and nature and bringing them in reach of the millions who have never seen and never will see the originals. All the monuments, pyramids, churches, cathedrals, bridges, mountains and waterfalls—all the grand old paintings of Raphael and Rembrandt, all the sculpture of the old masters and even the aspects of the moon and eclipses of the sun and the reproduction of the ancient manuscripts of the Old and New Testaments. The lightning itself cannot more instantly speed its way than photography now catches a bird on the wing or a race horse on the turf or a meteor in the heavens. Just so it was with the locomotive, the spinning jenny, the sewing machine, the telegraph and telephone. All were improved from time to time by the cunning of the human brain and human hand until they now seem to be perfect, but they are not.

On the mantle near me I see a cabinet photograph of a well preserved old man who has a sweet little black-eyed grand-child on his arm, while her head rests trustingly upon his shoulder and touches his venerable cheek. She looks shyly and timidly at you, but clings to the old man as the tender vine clings to the old oak that the storm has riven. The old man's face is calm and serene. I like those pictures for the children's sake, and wish that I was so coupled with every little grandchild and that my wife had some to match them. I was ruminating that when I am dead and gone and that little girl is a mother, maybe she will show the picture to her child and say: "I never knew my father, for he died when I was very young, but that old man was my grandfather and he was good to me and I loved him very dearly." Maybe when I am in the spirit land I will some times be near her and hear her talk that way—maybe so; who knows? Flowers and music are the sweetest gift of God to mankind and pictures and painting the sweetest that come from the hand of man.

But of all the cameras that catch and hold fast the images of art or nature there are men of science who assert that none are equal to the retina of the human eye. They say that every look or glance or vision makes an impression there. An impression so delicate and unpalpable that millions may lie upon its glassy surface and the last thing seen is on the top. They say that if a man is murdered while he faces the murderer the assailant's face and form will be found upon the victim's eyes. Some experiments have been made to prove this, but they were imperfect and unsatisfactory. Maybe it will yet be proven.—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

What Is a "Good" Tire?

What is a "good" bicycle tire? One that gives the least trouble and the most comfort to the most people. In other words:

One that is sold at a reasonable price.

One that, nevertheless, gives the dealer good profit on sales.

One that gives the rider and dealer the least trouble after being sold.

One that is backed by the right kind of guarantee when it does give trouble.

One that has a long average life.

One that has great strength.

One that has just the right amount of "bounce" for comfort.

One that will respond satisfactorily, in speed, to every atom of energy the rider puts into the pedals.

One that can be easily, quickly, and permanently repaired, on the road, without having to be taken from the rim.

All these are secured in Morgan & Wright double-tube tires.

Double-tube tires are now used by Bald, Cooper, Gardiner and nearly all of the leading racing men of the country.

Double-tube tires hold the principal bicycle records of the world.

Single-tube tires were pushed hard in Europe for about two years and a half, and practically gave up the ghost last year.

When a single-tuber begins to leak its owner's troubles begin. If he finishes without becoming nervously prostrated, kicking the family dog and becoming generally disagreeable to his people he is lucky. This is not, perhaps, the experience of everyone, but it will be backed up by the majority.

At least sixty-five out of every 100 riders use the Morgan & Wright double-tube, quick-repair tire.

Ask almost any repair man or old rider why.

Two Arkansas Sheriffs Short.

W. J. Taylor, sheriff of Union county, Ark., was removed from office Saturday by the circuit court at Eldorado, pending indictment for embezzlement. He is about $10,000 behind in his accounts. He was arrested and released on bond.

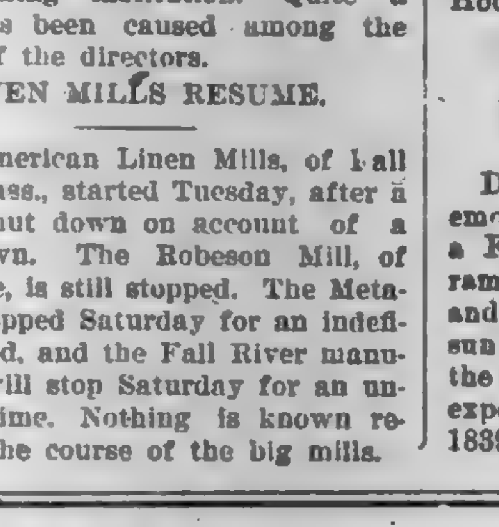
Sheriff Houpt, of Garland county, Ark., is short in his accounts with the State to the amount of about $20,000. State Auditor Mills issued a distress warrant but it had not been placed in the hands of officers Saturday. Houpt claims his shortage is due to the failure of the City Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Hot Springs.

:o:

SAID TO BE $29,000 SHORT.

John Berrien Walker, Treasurer of the Port Royal & Augusta railway, under Receiver J. H. Averill, is short about $29,000. It is reported that he took $10,000 with him. When last heard of he was in New York, at which place he wrote his wife to meet him. Walker's bond was only $10,000. The road, which has just been purchased by Thomas & Ryan, will probably bring suit against the bond of Receiver Averill for the difference.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,



KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO.

Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—19 lbs

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

FULLY RESTORED.

A TRAVELING MAN MADE WELL AND HAPPY.

Attacked by the Two Fiends, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble, but the Plots of Both are Foiled by the Pink Pills.

From the Republican, Caribou, Me.

Mr. O. A. Shepard, of Caribou, Maine, who was so dreadfully afflicted with kidney disease and rheumatism, and looked upon as incurable, tells the following story of his disability and cure:

"Early in the fall of 1894 I had, as I supposed, kidney trouble, and it was slowly and surely making headway in undermining my health for I was fast becoming unable to attend to my duties as a traveling salesman, my back seemed almost ready to break after riding any distance in buggy or sleigh. The bad feeling had been growing in my back for a period of five or six years, but I had not given it much attention, not supposing it to be anything but what would wear off. But in the fall above mentioned I was compelled to give my attention to it, for I had to stop traveling and go to doctoring myself. My efforts seemed fruitless. I grew worse and worse. My weight was decreasing. My blood was apparently growing poor and less in quantity.

"At this stage symptoms of pulmonary trouble appeared, making a bad complication, which the physicians did not attempt to cure, and I had lost hope.

"Just at this time, a friend, and he was a friend indeed, advised me to procure some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and with little faith that they would do me any good, but out of respect for my friend's advice, (I thought it would do no harm at least) I ordered six boxes. I took them. My blood at once began to increase and I for the first time in many weeks had a good night's sleep! My improvement was noticeable from the start! My weight began to increase! My appetite grew! Happy? Well I think I was! I at last had found just what my system needed to defeat the robbers preying on my health and I thought it the time to be merry.

"I purchased another half dozen boxes and when they were gone, two more, which effectually cured me. I increased in weight until from what was almost nothing for me, I tipped the scales at 196 pounds, my present weight, and I owe it all to the Pink Pills. May the knowledge of them be brought to all suffering as I did, for I know they will be benefited and cured, and I deem it a pleasure to recommend them.

"I have traveled for thirty years and have heard of many strange things, miracles, etc., but I think my own experience stranger than them all.

"Now I can drive hard all day, from early morning to late at night and not feel it. I am just as well as I ever was. No, sir, I never felt any bad effects from their use at all. It was a gradual but sure fight and the Pink Pills were victorious. Long may they wave!"

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE DEAF HEAR

DEAFNESS

and Head Noises relieved by using Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums. New scientific invention; different from all other devices. The only safe, simple, comfortable and invisible Ear Drum in the world. Helps where medical skill fails. No wire or string attachment. Write for pamphlet. Free.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.,
110 Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

Money in Chickens

For 25c. in stamps we send a 100 PAGE BOOK giving the experience of a practical Poultry Raiser—not an amateur, but a man working for dollars and cents—during 25 years. It teaches how to Detect and Cure Diseases; Feed for Eggs and also for Fattening; which Fowls to save for Breeding; everything requisite for profitable Poultry raising. BOOK PUBLISHING CO. 134 Leonard Street, New York.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand-book of information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND, BOOKKEEPING &c.
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE.
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE.
1886

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors Miners and Treasure Seekers. Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. AGENCY, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

PATENTS 30 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

GEARHART'S FAMILY KNITTER.

Knits a stocking heel and toe in ten minutes. Knits everything required in the household from homespun or factory, wool or cotton yarns. Most practical knitter on the market. A child can operate it. Strong, Durable, Simple, Rapid. Satisfaction guaranteed. Agents wanted. For particulars and sample work, address

PRICE $8.00

J. E. GEARHART, Box 100, Clearfield, Pa.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
10¢ 25¢ 50¢
REGULATE THE LIVER
ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 318.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

"Before and After Taking."

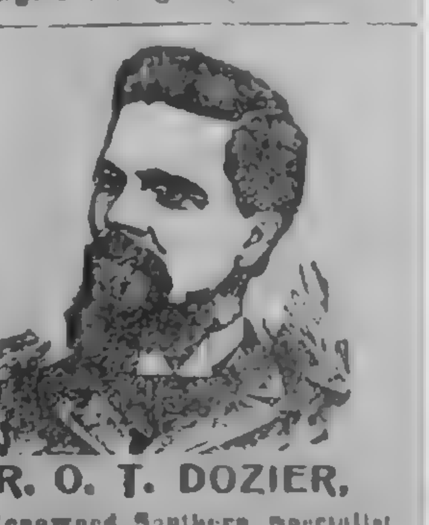
(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed. Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

(The Renowned Southern Specialist)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS,

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

([illegible])

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)

* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician. * * * He is a Georgian by birth, a high-toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments and a gentleman respected by all who know him. He can be relied on in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

SCHOOL BOOKS,

THE PEOPLE CAN BUY

From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and [illegible] will be cheaper still. [illegible] list.

W. H. OWINGS.
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

Flies are despised, but if every one was as persistent and hard to discourage as a fly, more people would succeed. When a fly gets after a person, it never knows what it is to stop. It may be scared off fifty times, but it never forgets, and soon returns, and makes a more determined effort than ever. All efforts to kill a fly usually result only in personal injury, and do not even scare the fly. The Bible holds Job up as an example of patience, but we bet there were no flies in his time.

Some men are too lazy to wash the tobacco stains out of their whiskers.

Richest Monarch in the World.

The vast wealth in jewels and specie left by the late Shah will be inherited by the new one, and $[illegible] is not too high an estimate of their worth, the great globe of gold, incrusted with huge gems, being valued at $[illegible], while the historical diamond, the Darya-i-Nur, or Sea of Light, and a vast treasure of gems, form part of the largest and most valuable collection of precious stones in the world. Muzaffar-ed-Din commences his reign the wealthiest monarch of the world.

She Disliked Steamboats.

The wife of a physician who lives in Washington tells a story of a distant kinswoman who was her guest during the Christian Endeavor convention. The kinswoman lives in an inland New England town, and when she came to Washington she spent one night of the journey on board a steamboat. It was the first time she had ever traveled by water. She reached Washington extremely fatigued. The doctor's wife remarked it.

"Yes, I'm tired to death," said the kinswoman. "I don't know as I care to travel by water again. I read the card in my stateroom about how to put the life preserver on and I thought I understood it, but I guess I didn't, though. Some way, I couldn't seem to go to sleep with the thing on."

She Felt Reassured.

"What we want is to have money getting into circulation. It's the duty," he said, excitedly, "of every citizen to exert himself to secure that end."

"John, dear," said his wife, "I'm so glad to hear you say so. I want to order ever so many things at the store, but I hesitated about doing it, for fear you wouldn't want to see the money getting out of your hands into circulation."

How Merit Counts.

My father got a box of Tetterine from a friend who had obtained it somewhere in the West. He has had eczema very bad a long time, and Tetterine is the only thing that has ever benefited him. [illegible] send by Express C. O. D. half dozen [illegible] but it will be the means [illegible] selling a great deal of it here." Very truly, Mrs. L. C. Malcolm, 501 Cranston St., Providence, R. I. 50c. box by mail for 50c. in stamps. J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, } ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. Frank J. Cheney.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. Gleason,

{ SEAL } Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have $50 or $60 you can spare for a 25-volume encyclopædia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopædia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopædia [illegible] take advantage of this great offer at [illegible] store his mind with the valuable facts [illegible] this book.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Do not use a flickering light for reading or sewing; use a lamp with a large burner, and use good oil.

Dobbins' Electric Soap is cheaper for you to use, if you follow directions, than any other soaps would be if given to you, for by its use the clothes are saved. Clothes cost more than soap. Ask your grocer for Dobbins'. Take no other.

Do not work in a poor light, and avoid a glaring light, as it may be as bad as too little light.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. Abbott, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

Votes

Have been cast by thousands of sufferers from impure blood, and their verdict has settled the question of the great curative power of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every mail car brings in these letters of praise for Hood's Sarsaparilla. They tell the same wonderful story of health restored, pain and suffering relieved, and happiness brought back. They prove

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25 cents.

C[illegible] 10 different, size 15, 8 prepaid. Orchids [illegible] prepaid. Remit stamps or express money order. J. A. McDowell & Co., City of Mexico.

MONEY GOLD, SILVER.... ....BOOK FREE. Dan Danehy, Columbus, O.

Am. N.U. No. 48. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

STATE DISPATCHES.

The News the Wires Brought From All Over Alabama.

THE STATE PRESS CONVENTION

In Session at Huntsville.—A Short and Strictly Business Meeting of the Quill Pushers. Railroad Commissioners' Forthcoming Report. Industrial Activity at Huntsville.

The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Alabama Press Association met at Huntsville Wednesday of last week at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the Huntsville Hotel. President Robert M. Rawls, of the Athens Courier, delivered his annual address, which was ordered published in the minutes.

J. C. Camper, of the [illegible] Times, after a most graceful nomination by Miss Virginia Clay, of the Huntsville Democrat, was unanimously chosen President for the next twelve months. The First and Second Vice Presidents elected were J. B. Simpson, of Montgomery, and Ira Champion, of Troy. Ned Rountree was unanimously re-elected Secretary.

W. M. Meeks of Gadsden was re-elected Treasurer, annual orator, Gen. [illegible] Lane, essayist, Mr. Miles Eastman, and for poetess, the bright and genial Miss Virginia Clay, of the time honored Democrat, historian, Col. W. W. Screws, of Montgomery.

At the evening session President Pettus, of the Huntsville Chamber of Commerce, introduced Hon. Ben Hunt, who delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and city to the State Press Association. Response was made by L. H. Grubbs, of the Decatur News.

President-elect Camper announced the following standing committees: Executive Committee—M. W. Camper, ex-officio member; J. B. Hanley, E. O. Neely, W. H. H. Judson, H. S. Shackelford. Legislative Committee—J. C. Williams, F. P. Glass, C. J. Hildreth, Rufus N. Rhodes, J. G. Harris.

The following is a list of the delegates to attend the National Editorial Association, which meets in Galveston, Tex., February 14, 1897: J. A. Rountree, Executive Committeeman; J. B. Hanley, Miss Susie Clay, W. M. Bunting, W. H. H. Judson, R. M. Rawls, E. O. Neely, Charles P. Lane, M. W. Camper, R. L. O'Neal, J. B. Simpson, E. Lesser, J. H. Vaught and L. Hensly Grubbs.

The following resolution was introduced by J. B. Simpson and was unanimously adopted:

Be it resolved, by the Alabama Press Association, That it commends the Tennessee Centennial Exposition to the favorable consideration of the press and people of Alabama; be it further

Resolved, That Hon. I. F. Culver, Commissioner of Agriculture, be and he is hereby earnestly requested to use and expend from the funds in the Agricultural Department (arising from the sale of fertilizer tags and otherwise), which said fund has been set apart by law, to hold fairs and otherwise advertise and develop the resources of Alabama, a sum sufficient to secure an exhibit of the matchless capabilities of Alabama commensurate with their importance and magnitude.

The following telegram was received:

"Nashville, Oct. 14, 1896.

"J. A. Rountree, Esq., Secretary Alabama Press Association, Huntsville:

"The Executive Committee of the Tennessee Press Association sends greetings. Come to see us during our Centennial.

"W. H. GRIFFIN, President.

"H. A. HASLOCK, Secretary."

On motion the invitation to visit the Tennessee Exposition was accepted, and the Secretary instructed to notify the proper authorities of the same.

A motion was made that the Legislative Committee be urged to carry out the following resolution, which was introduced by Secretary Rountree and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we urge the Legislature of Alabama to make such changes or amendments in our libel laws as to get them more in accord with the latest legislation of other States on this subject, requiring some element of malice to create libel, and when a newspaper publishes a report or item or items bona fide, and without intent to injure, the mere fact that an error may have been made shall not constitute it a libel, but the paper may be allowed to make a correction and give full reparation in its columns, if no malice is shown, instead of being held responsible in damages for the error or mistake innocently made by it.

Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton delivered an excellent and instructive address, which was received amid much applause.

The place of holding the next session of the Association was left with the Executive Committee.

The meeting was short and strictly business, and much enjoyed.

UNTIL AFTER ELECTION.

The Circuit and District Courts of the United States for the middle district of Alabama were to have met in Montgomery on November 2, but Judge Bruce has published an order postponing the opening until Tuesday, November 5. The purpose of the postponement is to avoid interruption incident to the holding of the National election.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

The West Huntsville Furniture Factory resumed work Friday. About eight weeks ago the packing house was destroyed by fire. President James A. Ward says that there are enough orders on hand to run the factory for several weeks.

Mr. Jesse Boyd, of the Boyd Flouring Mill Company, has returned from a trip to Louisville, where he purchased the machinery for the new flour mill.

The Spoke and Handle Factory, which has been leased by a Knoxville corporation, will begin work in a few days.

PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING.

The Railroad Commission has been in session during the past week at Montgomery, and will be during most of the present week. Their attention is directed now particularly to the preparation of their annual report, which will be more explicit and more interesting this year than ever before. The Commission is determined to so compile the report as to convey to the people of the State an accurate and truthful impression as to railroad matters in Alabama generally, and particularly as to the work with which the roads have had to deal.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS WORK.

The work on Muscle Shoals canal, at Riverton, has been progressing rapidly under Mr. S. H. Williamson's supervision. About 200 men are employed there, and the lock is now nearing completion. It is the lower lock of the great boat canal which is to be built around Colbert Shoals, the whole work being of less magnitude but of equal importance with the Muscle Shoals canal. Muscle Shoals canal was opened for navigation several years ago, but it requires the constant attention of a skilled engineer and the presence of a considerable force of men to keep it in repair and running order.

KILLED HIS GRANDMOTHER.

Put a Bottle of Chloroform at Her Bedside.

A special from Clarksville, Ga., to the Atlanta Constitution says that St. Clair Glover and his brother, a deaf mute, have been arrested and jailed charged with the murder of their grandmother, Mrs. E. Y. Glover. St. Clair Glover has confessed and assumes all the responsibility. He states that he killed his grandmother because she cut him off in her will. The old lady was wealthy. She was found dead in her bed with a bottle of chloroform by her side. This was placed there to create the impression that it was suicide, but bruises on her face and throat indicated that she had been choked to death. The neighbors think that the mute had something to do with the murder.

AN OLD LADY SUICIDES.

Mrs. S. B. Causey, a widow, aged 72 years, committed suicide Thursday afternoon by hanging herself to a tree near her home, five miles west of Anniston, Ala. She is believed to have been insane on account of worrying over the failure to regain $250 which she and her daughters, who worked in the cotton mills there up to five years ago, had accumulated by hard labor and close economy. Five or six years since they loaned it for a few days to a prominent man in Anniston, but it had never been repaid. Her last single child, a daughter, was married Thursday, and rather than put herself upon her married children for support, she slipped away from the wedding feast and took her own life.

REMANDED AGAIN.

The Castles Admitted to Bail in the Heavy Sum of £40,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Castle, of San Francisco, who were arrested in London on October 7, on a charge of stealing a number of valuable furs, and, after arraignment in the Great Marlborough Street Police Court, remanded for a further hearing, were again arraigned Tuesday and remanded for a week, the Magistrate requiring bail in the sum of £40,000 for the release of both prisoners pending the hearing of the case next week. Bail was given.

The plea in behalf of Mrs. Castle was that she suffers from an ailment that makes her irresponsible for her actions. A plea of not guilty was entered in behalf of Mr. Castle.

INDICTMENTS IN BLANK.

Is the Regular Return of the Grand Jury at New Orleans.

The Grand Jury of the Parish of Orleans, La., Tuesday afternoon returned eleven indictments in blank, but they are understood to be against the officers and directors of the suspended Bank of Commerce of New Orleans. It is said that sensational developments will follow. The indictments against the directors are under section 877 of the revised statutes of Louisiana. This section relates to officers concealing the failing condition of a banking institution. Quite a flurry has been caused among the friends of the directors.

LINEN MILLS RESUME.

The American Linen Mills, of Fall River, Mass., started Tuesday, after a week's shut down on account of a break-down. The Robeson Mill, of that place, is still stopped. The Metacomet stopped Saturday for an indefinite period, and the Fall River manufactory will stop Saturday for an unknown time. Nothing is known regarding the course of the big mills.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,

Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—19 lbs

KEATING WHEEL CO.

HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

HE FINDS FOOD FOR THOUGHT IN THE TRUTHFUL CAMERA.

Photo Gallery by the Countryside Marks Civilization's Progress.

The photograph gallery in a country town is one the most pleasing marks of Christian civilization and the advancement of modern science. I pass by one every day and it is gratifying to see its patrons awaiting their turn or coming out with smiling faces and all arrayed in their best apparel. It is a family discussion before they come what dress to wear, what ornaments, and how the hair shall be arranged, or whether to sit or stand, whether a side view or a front or whether the baby shall be taken alone or with its mother. All classes are on an equality before the camera, for the sunlight of nature has no favorites. So far as faces and features are concerned, the camera tells the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. This morning as I passed I saw a countryman sitting on the steps with a child in his arms. His wife and little girl were inside awaiting their turn. I used to know him before he was married, and so I stopped and gave him my hand. His folks were poor, honest and industrious, and I have great respect for all such. The women do the housework and have the care of the children. The men cultivate their little farms, work the roads, sit on the juries, nurse their sick neighbors, bury the dead, go fishing on Saturdays and take the family to meeting on Sundays. They are generally Populists, not because of any political principles involved, but because of affiliation and association. Most of their kind are Populists and therefore clannish. They stick together because they are either poor or less than rich. Their fathers fought in the late war, and these will fight in the next if it comes in their days. It may be a rich man's war, but it will be a poor man's fight.

"Are you going to have the baby's picture taken." "No; not this one," said he; "I wanted my wife's and our little girl's. They are in there. I I thought I would like to have them about the house, for life is uncertain, you know. Jim Moore's wife died last year and Jim says he would give the world for her picture, and Jack Brown lost his little girl in June. She was a mighty purty little thing, but Jack hain't got no picture and so I concluded to have some taken for fear of accident.'

"That is all right," said I, "but suppose you die; wouldn't your wife like to have one of you?"

"I reckon she would. She mentioned that, but pictures don't become a rough man like me, and besides, it would cost more money than I have got to spare. The winter is comin' on and we all have to have shoes and stockings and the like, and my cotton crop was powerful short, but I will have mine taken sometime. I reckon all your folks have got 'em, haven't they?"

Love for wife and children is the best virtue of human kind, and poor folks have as much of it as rich ones. Yes, more. Many of them haven't anything else to divide their affections. It is a pleasing thing to see them at the picture gallery and to witness their pride when the work is done and the faces of their loved ones are before them on enameled cards, fresh and clean from the artist's hand. What a wonderful art it is. I remember well when the first daguerreotype was taken in our town. It was only forty years ago, and when our first little girl was four years old we had her picture taken. She was a little beauty then, and I thought the picture was the sweetest gem on earth. We have it now in its old-fashioned case. That little girl is long since a mother and has pictures of her own little girls, and they are much finer in their finish, but I prize the first one most. It carries me back in memory to the days of my sweetest, fondest, proudest, parental love. I idolize that child and I love her dearly yet, but she left us for a young man she was no kin to in the world, and who has never done anything for her but to give her a ring and books of poetry and a little French candy now and then. We had to give her up to him, and as Tom Hood said:

> "She took our daylight with her
> And the joys that we love best,
> With morning light upon her brow
> And pearls upon her breast."

Daguerre was a benefactor to the emotional side of our nature. He was a French artist—a painter of panoramas of cities like London and Paris and Naples. He used the rays of the sun through colored glass to heighten the effect of his paintings, and kept on experimenting with sunlight until in 1839 he caught it on the king and made it stick to metallic plates and so fast the images thrown upon them. His success was partly accidental, partly design, and he himself was astonished at his discovery. In 1840 Arago made the announcement to the academy of science and Daguerre was made an officer in the Legion of Honor and voted a pension of 6,000 francs a year. He died in 1851 and a monument was erected to him in Paris.

But like all inventions, Daguerre's was crude and imperfect. Photography has grown out of it and seems now to be the perfection of art. It is used in making the exact likenesses of all the great works of art and nature and bringing them in reach of the millions who have never seen and never will see the originals. All the monuments, pyramids, churches, cathedrals, bridges, mountains and waterfalls all the grand old paintings of Raphael and Rembrandt, all the sculpture of the old masters and even the sunspots of the moon and eclipses of the sun and the reproduction of the ancient manuscripts of the Old and New Testaments. The lightning itself cannot more instantly speed its way than photography now catches a bird on the wing or a race horse on the turf or a meteor in the heavens. Just as it was with the locomotive, the spinning jenny, the sewing machine, the telegraph and telephone. All were improved from time to time by the cunning of the human brain and human hand until they now seem to be perfect, but they are not.

On the mantle near me I see a cabinet photograph of a well preserved old man who has a sweet little black eyed grand-child on his arm, while her head rests trustingly upon his shoulder and touches his venerable cheek. She looks shyly and timidly at you, but clings to the old man as the tender vine clings to the old oak that the storm has riven. The old man's face is calm and serene. I like those pictures for the children's sake, and wish that I was so coupled with every little grandchild and that my wife had some to match them. I was ruminating that when I am dead and gone and that little girl is a mother, maybe she will show the picture to her child and say: "I never knew my father, for he died when I was very young, but that old man was my grandfather and he was good to me and I loved him very dearly." Maybe when I am in the spirit land I will some times be near her and hear her talk that way—maybe so; who knows? Flowers and music are the sweetest gift of God to mankind and pictures and painting the sweetest that come from the hand of man.

But of all the cameras that catch and hold fast the images of art or nature there are men of science who assert that none are equal to the retina of the human eye. They say that every look or glance or vision makes an impression there. An impression so delicate and unpalpable that millions may lie upon its glassy surface and the last thing seen is on the top. They say that if a man is murdered while he faces the murderer the assailant's face and form will be found upon the victim's eyes. Some experiments have been made to prove this, but they were imperfect and unsatisfactory. Maybe it will yet be proven.—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

What Is a "Good" Tire?

What is a "good" bicycle tire? One that gives the least trouble and the most comfort to the most people. In other words:

One that is sold at a reasonable price.

One that, nevertheless, gives the dealer good profit on sales.

One that gives the rider and dealer the least trouble after being sold.

One that is backed by the right kind of guarantee when it does give trouble.

One that has a long average life.

One that has great strength.

One that has just the right amount of "bounce" for comfort.

One that will respond satisfactorily, in speed, to every atom of energy the rider puts into the pedals.

One that can be easily, quickly, and permanently repaired, on the road, without having to be taken from the rim.

All these are secured in Morgan & Wright double-tube tires.

Double-tube tires are now used by Bald, Cooper, Gardiner and nearly all of the leading racing men of the country.

Double-tube tires hold the principal bicycle records of the world.

Single-tube tires were pushed hard in Europe for about two years and a half, and practically gave up the ghost last year.

When a single-tuber begins to leak its owner's troubles begin. If he finishes without becoming nervously prostrated, kicking the family dog and becoming generally disagreeable to his people he is lucky. This is not perhaps, the experience of everyone, but it will be backed up by the majority.

At least sixty-five out of every 100 riders use the Morgan & Wright double-tube, quick-repair tire.

Ask almost any repair man or old rider why.

Two Arkansas Sheriffs Short.

W. J. Taylor, sheriff of Union county, Ark., was removed from office Saturday by the circuit court at Eldorado, pending indictment for embezzlement. He is about $10,000 behind in his accounts. He was arrested and released on bond.

Sheriff Houpt, of Garland county, Ark., is short in his accounts with the State to the amount of about $20,000. State Auditor Mills issued a distress warrant but it had not been placed in the hands of officers Saturday. Houpt claims his shortage is due to the failure of the City Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Hot Springs.

SAID TO BE $29,000 SHORT.

John Berrien Walker, Treasurer of the Port Royal & Augusta railway, under Receiver J. H. Averill, is short about $29,000. It is reported that he took $10,000 with him. When last heard of he was in New York, at which place he wrote his wife to meet him. Walker's bond was only $10,000. The road, which has just been purchased by Thomas & Ryan, will probably bring suit against the bond of Receiver Averill for the difference.

FULLY RESTORED.

A TRAVELING MAN MADE WELL AND HAPPY.

Attacked by the Two Fiends, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble, but the Pluts of Both are Foiled by the Pink Pills.

From the Republican, Gardiner, Me.

Mr. O. A. Shepard, of Gardiner, Maine, who was so dreadfully afflicted with kidney disease and rheumatism, and looked upon as incurable, tells the following story of his disability and cure:

"Early in the fall of 1894 I had, as I supposed, kidney trouble, and it was slowly and surely making headway in undermining my health, for I was fast becoming unable to attend to my duties as a traveling salesman, my back seemed almost ready to break after riding and distance in buggy or sleigh. The bad feeling had been growing in my back for a period of [illegible] years, but I had not given it much attention, but supposing it to be anything but what would wear off. But in the [illegible] eleven months I was compelled to give my attention to it, for I had the most unrelenting pain by its distracting inroads. My muscles seemed lifeless. I grew worse and worse. My weight was decreasing. My blood was apparently growing poor and less in quantity.

At this stage symptoms of pulmonary trouble appeared, making a bad complication, which the physicians did not attempt to cure, and I lost heart.

"About this time, a friend, and he was a friend indeed, advised me to procure some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and, with little faith that they would do me any good, but out of respect for my friend's advice, I thought it would do no harm at least, I got [illegible] boxes. I took them. My blood at once began to increase and for the first time in many weeks had a good night's sleep. My improvement was noticeable from the start. My weight began to increase. My appetite grew. Happy? Well I think I was! I at last had found just what my system needed to defeat the sickness preying on my health and I thought it the time to be merry.

"I purchased another half dozen boxes and when they were gone, two more, which effectually cured me. I increased in weight until from what was almost nothing for me [illegible] the scales at 190 pounds, my present weight, and I owe it all to the Pink Pills. May the knowledge of them be brought to all suffering as I did, for I know they will be benefited and cured, and I deem it a pleasure to recommend them.

"I have traveled for thirty years and have heard of many strange things, miracles, etc., but I think my own experience stranger than them all.

"Now I can drive hard all day, from early morning to late at night and not feel it. I am just as well as I ever was. No, sir, I never felt any bad effects from their use at all. It was a very cruel but sure fight and the Pink Pills were victorious. Long may they wave!"

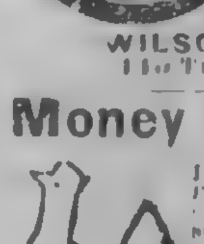
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE DEAF HEAR

DEAFNESS

And Head Noises relieved by using Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums. [illegible] Wilson Ear Drum Co., 11[illegible] Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.



Money in Chickens

For 25c. in stamps we send a 100 PAGE BOOK giving the experience of a practical Poultry Raiser—not an amateur, but a man working for dollars and cents—during 25 years. It teaches how to Detect and Cure Diseases; Feed for Eggs also for Fattening; which Fowls to Save for Breeding; everything requisite for profitable Poultry raising. BOOK PUBLISHING CO. 134 Leonard Street, New York.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer can't supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of information. Veterinary Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE BIRMINGHAM ALA. SHORTHAND BOOKKEEPING &c. WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE. SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSON FREE. 1886

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors Miners and Treasure Seekers. Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. Agency, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

PATENTS 25 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. H. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent Office. Deane & Weaver, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

GEARHART'S FAMILY KNITTER.

Knits a stocking heel and toe [illegible]. Knits everything required in the household from homespun or factory, wool or cotton yarns. Most practical knitter on the market. A child can operate it. Strong, Durable, Simple, Rapid. Satisfaction guaranteed. Agents wanted. For particulars and sample work address

PRICE $8.00

J. E. GEARHART, Box 100, Clearfield, Pa.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts, gentle efforts, pleasant efforts, rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. [illegible]

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, [illegible] If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

DR. O. T. DOZIER,

The Renowned Southern Specialist

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats at office or BY MAIL all forms of Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder and all Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds of [illegible] character, and thousands of high [illegible] from patients can be furnished if necessary.

[illegible]

Dr. O. T. Dozier [illegible] Dispensary of [illegible] nearly twenty years' experience in the [illegible] [illegible] given him a leading position in the medical profession.

[illegible]

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age-Herald.)

[illegible] Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham [illegible] year has added to [illegible]

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician [illegible] Georgian by birth, a high toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and an [illegible] for all his [illegible]

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier [illegible] of education, skill and experience [illegible] of culture and high literary attainments [illegible] all who know him [illegible] in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His [illegible] local standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER.

Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

THE PEOPLE CAN BUY

From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and [illegible] list.

W. H. OWINGS.

2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION REGULATE THE LIVER 10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 318.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

THE BANNER.

Clerk

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1896. NO. 1.

Discontent lies at the bottom of all progress.

The paramount question is that of human rights.

Government ownership will break up the railroad trust.

One of the "paramount issues" now is "where are we at?"

There is practically no limit to consumption except the ability to buy.

Products are the result of labor, and low prices of products mean low wages.

The yellow-hammers are without doubt entitled to the "last year's bird's nest."

A gilt edged civilization may contain as much barbarism as no civilization at all.

There is every reason to believe that the yellow-hammers were only decoy ducks.

The price of products, under an equitable system of distribution, fixes the price of labor.

The men who buy votes before election will buy the votes of representatives after election

It is now about time to say "when the smoke of battle clears away, etc.," with a very extended etc.

One of the most dangerous phases of anarchy is that the employment of a man should control his vote.

Since the wealthy are the greatest tax dodgers, it comes with poor grace for them to talk about honesty in politics.

The government might experiment on government ownership of railroads by closing its mortgage on the Pacific roads.

The constant appreciation of money prevents it from seeking investment in enterprises, or being exchanged for commodities.

Middlemen buy the farmers' produce at the lowest prices possible, then sell to consumers at the highest price they can force by combination. The farmers should combine, and say something about the selling price themselves.

The St. Louis Evening Journal aptly remarks that "Within the boundaries of creation man is the only animal that will submissively suffer for food in a land of plenty and see his offspring suffer with cold when material to keep them warm is plentiful.

Are we free? Even as English colonists our forefathers enjoyed for one hundred and ten years the right of free and unlimited coinage of silver. But a hundred and twenty years after the declaration of independence we are told that we must ask England. Are we really independent?

Whatever Bourke Cochran or any other hired orator may say about the farmers the naked truth remains that the farmers produce the meat, bread and clothing of the world--and the aforesaid orators never eat a square meal nor don a nobby suit of fashionable clothes that the farmer did not handle first.

The gold-bug howl about "silver barons" is nonsensical flapdoodle. Might as well denounce the use of wheat because men make fortunes gambling in wheat futures, but the men who produce the wheat don't make any great fortunes, and nobody thinks of stopping the use of wheat just because some men speculate in it. We have no defense to offer for the gamblers in mining stocks; neither do we defend the men who speculate in wheat, pork or railroad stocks. Yet that does not change the fact that hot biscuits with ham and gravy make a fine breakfast; that railroads are a great convenience in travelling, and that silver makes good money.

The only possible ground which "international bimetallism," or a single gold standard, as brought forward in opposition to free coinage of silver, has to stand upon is that this country has been a borrower in European markets since silver was demonetized, and has agreed to pay in gold. But the restoration of silver would not prevent the payment of such obligations in gold. The production of gold would continue in this country, and we should coin both gold and silver. The fly in the ointment is that increasing the supply of money by free coinage of silver would reduce the purchasing power of gold and prevent the English gold syndicate stealing as much from the wealth producers of this country as they planned when they entered into the conspiracy to destroy half our money and make the dollars they receive in payment twice as great in purchasing power as the ones they loaned.

A Peculiar Australian Storm.

A prize was recently awarded by the Royal Society of New South Wales to the author of a paper on "Southerly Bursters." This is the name given in Australia to storms which begin with violent northerly winds, withering like the breath of a furnace, because they have swept across the burning sands of the interior, and bearing clouds of suffocating dust. Suddenly, in the midst of the tempest, the wind swings round into the southwest or south, and heavy rain begins to fall, driven before chilly blasts from the ice-clad regions that surround the South Pole.

WHAT IS REAL MONEY?

WHO SHOULD ISSUE AND CONTROL IT?

What Are Its Functions—How Determine the Proper Amount Necessary for Business—Prosperity and Employment of Labor.

We hold, that to a very large extent the shrinkage was caused by a decrease in, together with concentration of, our money.

This ought to be understood by all who are able to vote, yet, ask every business man and every man you meet on the streets and how varied the answers. In order to define as clearly as possible what money is, we here quote from some of the world's best authors, writers, and jurists on money and currency. It will be well for you who have not the authorities and who wish to have references at your command, to clip them out and paste in your scrap book.

Money is the impression of sovereign authority, conveying the legal tender of debt paying function on a piece of metal, paper or other substance. Destroy that impression, melt up the metal upon which it is placed, you extinguish the money and money value.

"Money is coin stamped metal, usually gold or silver, stamped by authority and used as a medium of commerce —Webster's Dictionary.

"Money is the medium of exchange. What ever performs this function, does the work, is money, no matter what it is made of."—Prof. Walker in Political Economy.

"Money is simply employed for bartering, as a ship for carrying. Its action is similar to a cart's, it fetches for its owner the things he is in want of."—Professor Jevons.

"The intrinsic value of money was the idea in the days of crude barbarism. The simplest and most perfect form of money is that which presents nothing but transferable debt, such as paper. It is only when states have reached a high degree of civilization that they adopt this perfect form of money.—Rees' Encyclopedia.

"Whatever power there is over the currency is vested in congress. If the power to declare what money is not in congress it is annihilated. * * We repeat, money is not a substance, but an impression of legal authority, a printed legal decree."—12 Wallace 519, United States Supreme Court.

"An article is determined to be money by reason of the performance by it of certain functions without regard to its form or substance.—Appleton's Encyclopedia.

"Metallic money, while acting as coin, is identical with paper money in respect to its being destitute of intrinsic value."—North British Review.

"Money is a tool of exchange and nothing more. It is not a measure of value, nor a standard of value, nor a representative of property. It transfers property conveniently from one party to another; as a wagon hauls goods from one place to another."—Professor Price.

"Moneys are of great varieties. The palpable characteristic which distinguishes money from the numerous subjects that resemble it, but which are not money, is its mark of authority, signifying that it is issued, circulated and made payable for debts, services, fines, taxes and commodities by virtue of law."—Alex Delmar in Science of Money.

"Money is a value created by law (a statutory law). The value of metallic money is created by law."—Henry Cornuschi.

"The legislation assumes that in contemplation of law, money of every species has the value which the law fixes on it; that congress has the constitutional power to say that ten pennyweights of silver shall henceforth be the dollar and do the office heretofore done by sixteen pennyweights, four and one half grains."—Attorney General U. S. (12 Wallace, U. S. Supreme Court report, page 519.)

"The gold dollar is not a commodity having an intrinsic value, but money having only a statutory value. * * And every dollar has the same value without regard to the material. * * The gold dollar has not intrinsic value. Money has only a statutory value. * * In business transactions gold is not a commodity, but money; nothing more nor less. This gold has and had a statutory value; legally each dollar passes for one hundred cents and legally it had no other value."—Supreme Court of Iowa, vol. 16.

"There is legally no such thing as gold or silver money. Money is the sovereign authority impressed on that which is capable of taking and retaining the impression. That upon which the stamp is placed is called coin; the coin may be metal, parchment or paper. "The value is in the stamp and not in the metal or material."—Judge Tiffany's Constitutional Law, written before the war.—Lantern.

A Queer Coin.

Fully half of the grown-up people of France believe the old story that Napoleon Bonaparte put a check for 100,000 francs in a silver five franc piece and that the coin is yet in circulation. They say that the people did not want the five-franc piece, and that in order to create a demand for it Napoleon resorted to the device mentioned. The check or treasury order, it is said, was written upon asbestos paper and enclosed in the metal at the time the coin was made. Thousands of five franc pieces are annually broken open and have been so inspected since the story of the check was first circulated.—New York Journal.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Some of the Advantages to Be Secured by Its Adoptson.

It seems somewhat remarkable that in the general discussion of financial measures for the relief of the government as well as the prevailing stringency in the money market, so little has been said of the postal savings bank system. Perhaps it is from lack of definite information on the subject by the public. And yet such information is at hand. The broad and far-reaching possibilities of the system may well challenge attention, both as to its benefits to the government and to the depositors and borrowers.

The authority of the statistics about to be quoted is the official report for 1895 of the general government through the comptroller of the currency, whose duty requires him to make known the financial resources of the country. It appears that there are in several states of the union 1,017 savings banks. The number of depositors in each state, the aggregate amount of deposits and the per capita of the depositors, with much other valuable information, may be found in this report. For the present purpose it is only necessary to deal with the totals.

The total number of depositors in these 1,017 private savings banks is given at 4,875,519; the total amount of deposits at $1,810,597,023, and the average per capita of the depositors at $371.63. It may be worth while to note in passing that there are only four states in the union—New York, Massachussets, Pennsylvania and Connecticut—that have as large a number of depositors or as large a sum deposited as our state of California. New York leads with 1,615,178 depositors, the sum of $643,873,574, and an average per capita of depositors of $393.63; Massachusetts comes next with 1,247,090 depositors, $416,778,018 in deposits, with $224.20 per capita; and Connecticut has 337,254 depositors, with $136,928,358 in deposits, and $406.01 per capita; then follows Pennsylvania with 264,642 depositors, $68,522,217 in deposits and $258.92 per capita; while California shows 168,638 depositors, $126,830,518 in deposits and $752.08 per capita. New Hampshire follows California with 163,702 depositors, $66,746,703 in deposits and $407.73 per capita. No other state shows so large a per capita—$752.08—as California. Rhode Island comes next with $512.40, then New Hampshire with $407.73, Connecticut with $406.01, Ohio with $403.25, the lowest being North Carolina, with only $48.31.

In its present financial embarrassment the government is borrowing $100,000,000 at 4 per cent interest in gold for a term of thirty years, during which long period the interest will amount to $120,000,000 with an annual tax of $4,000,000, and then the principal, $100,000,000, will still have to be paid. However, the premiums paid for the bonds may reduce the interest, if we reckon nothing for the use of the $4,000,000 paid in annually for thirty years, to be about the same sum as the principal. Now, if the administration had proposed and secured the establishment of a postal savings bank system and had offered 4 per cent interest on deposits, with absolute security to the depositors, this rate of interest to run for one year or more, as the needs of the treasury might justify, and thereafter at 3 per cent interest, does any sane man suppose that, with over 18 times the $100,000,000 just borrowed in the private savings banks and over five times the $100,000,000 subscribed for, the government could not have obtained deposits to double the amount of the loan, or $200,000,000, which is less than one-tenth of the money in the savings banks and that offered for the bonds which are now to be issued?

There is every reason to suppose that with a postal savings bank system in full operation all over the country, with 3 per cent interest paid on deposits, the government would speedily have on hand not less than $1,000,000,000 (one thousand million dollars) and could loan the whole sum at 4 per cent, the one per cent paying all the expenses of making the loans and conducting the business. This would fix the rate of interest so low that private savings banks could not afford to pay 3 per cent interest on deposits, and declare large dividends, and hence in due time the government would have nearly two thousand millions in deposit to loan to the people at 4 per cent. As the capital of private savings banks is a mere trifle compared with the amount of the deposits, the bankers would employ their capital in useful industries and become producers, while the revenue from the postal savings banks would greatly lighten the burden of the national expenses.

The growth of the private savings banks system is an evidence of its great advantages to those who engage in the business of receiving deposits at a low rate of interest and loaning them at a higher rate of interest. In 1820 there were 10 savings banks, with $1,138,570 in deposits; in 1860 there were 278 savings banks, with $149,277,504 in deposits; in 1890 there were 931 of these banks, with deposits amounting to $1,524,844,506; five years later, in 1895, they had increased to 1,017 in number and the deposits were $1,810,597,023.

The advantage to depositors of a government system of postal savings banks are seen at a glance. First, they never fail; secondly, their doors are never closed because people in alarm make a run on the bank; third, depositors can always get their money when they want it. These are considerations which appeal to the good sense of any one who has intelligence enough to earn money and save a portion of it.

But there is another side of this subject worthy of serious consideration. It is the fate of those who borrow money from private savings banks. They are constantly losing their property by foreclosure of the bank mortgage at one half of the property value; and one bank never lends money to the borrower from another bank; the borrower must go under. This never happens under the postal or government system of savings banks if the borrower by extension of time on his loan can pay the interest.

I close with two suggestions. No demand has ever been made in any country that has adopted the postal savings banks system to have it abolished. It suits both the people and the government. And it ought not to be an objection to the system that the people's party has made it a part of their national platform.—Freeman's Labor Journal.

Infidelity.

In view of Bob Ingersoll's recent hysterical screeching about "anarchy, insanity and repudiation," it might be well to quote from one of his old speeches:

"In every country there is a satisfied class—too satisfied to care. They arelike the angels in heaven, who are too happy to be generous. This satisfied class asks no questions and answers none. They believe the world is just what it should be. All reformers are simply disturbers of the peace. When they talk low they should not be listened to. When they talk loud they should be suppressed. The truth is today what it always has been—what it always will be—those who feel are the only ones who think. A cry from the down-trodden, from the unfortunate, from men who despair and women who weep. There are times when mendicants become revolutionists—when a rag becomes a banner under which the oldest and bravest battle for the right."

By the way, Bob isn't the only goldbug that has indulged in revolutionary oratory at some time in the past. Even John Sherman, the yellowest of them all without and blackest within, has a past that he fain would drown in potations of liquid forgetfulness.

Women Live Longer Than Men.

There is a prevailing impression that men are not only less subject to ailments and illnesses but are longer-lived than women, but an examination of life insurance companies' tables will show that the term of life of women is slightly longer than that of men. The difference in the mortality rates during the first few years of life is striking. During the first year the mortality among males is decidedly greater than among females. Though more boys are born than girls, the proportions are reduced to almost even terms at the end of the first year by the excessive male mortality. Even during the first four years the mortality among males exceeds that among females, notwithstanding the fact that there are practically no distinctions made in the management of the two sexes. Both are subject to the same conditions, are dressed virtually alike, and receive the same food. At about five years the comparative death-rate among girls begins to increase. This has been attributed to the fact that boys of this age are more in the open air. The mortality in both sexes diminishes from this time to the twelfth year, when it attains its lowest point. It then steadily rises, being larger in each successive year. Between the twelfth and sixteenth years the death-rate among girls increases more rapidly than among boys, but after the sixteenth year, for several years, the rate of increase is more rapid on the male side. The explanations that have been offered for these peculiarities are not wholly satisfactory, but one fact is clear, that during early years females possess a greater tenacity of life than do males.

An Interesting Experiment.

The Hackney guardians have tried an interesting experiment. They lately sent fifty able-bodied paupers to Gen. Booth's farm colony at Hadleigh, in order to see if they could be turned by the Salvation Army's methods into useful citizens. Nineteen very soon returned to the workhouse, most of them having been dismissed for drunkenness. Others left from various causes, but at the end of the experimental period there was a virtuous residuum of fourteen. It is stated that these men have improved and are really anxious to earn their own livings. The guardians are sufficiently satisfied with the result to make them anxious to send another batch of paupers. They propose in future only to pay Gen. Booth for the six months of the pauper's residence at Hadleigh. That seems a reasonable proposal. We hope the experiment will be further developed. We do not see why pauper spade labor should not be applied on a large scale to Essex. It would benefit both the land and the paupers.—Spectator.

Why He Sold the Land.

A gentleman who has just returned from Alabama tells how some of the moneyed men in that state secured possession of a valuable piece of property. It seems that the farm, under which were valuable coal veins, was owned by an old colored man, who asked an exorbitant price. No agreement could be reached, and the prospectors waited. Finally, the property was bought for 30 pounds of sugar and a side of bacon. When the old fellow was asked why he sold the land so cheap he replied: "Ise can eat de bacon and sugar, but Ise could not eat de land, it was hard work to farm it."—Columbus Dispatch.

AS TO CIRCULATION.

ONE OF THE FALLACIES OF BANKERS EXPOSED.

Why Business Men Lose Confidence, Hoard Their Money, and How It Produces Business Stagnation, Panic and Industrial Depression.

In the discussion of the money question one of its main features is frequently lost sight of. There is a great deal said about the per capita circulation and the whole amount of money supposed to be in existence is cited and the claim set up that it is sufficient. According to the reports of the Secretary of the Treasury there is said to be in existence about $23 per capita.

There is no claim set up, however, that this amount of money is in actual circulation. On the other hand, it is estimated by good authorities that the amount in active circulation will not exceed $8 per capita, and some estimates, among which is no less authority than Senator Vest, of Missouri, place it as low as $4 or $5.

All authorities on finance agree that it is the volume of money in actual circulation which fixes the price of commodities. This being true, it follows that that money which circulates best is the best money. Herein lies one of the great objections to money having a commodity or commercial value. Originally gold and silver was merely an article of exchange, making barter more convenient. It has its origin in the days of barbarism, and can truthfully be said to be a relic of that age. The fact that it is the recognized currency of all ages is no better reason for its use as actual money, than that foolish superstition among the negroes which makes a "grave-yard rabbit's foot" more valuable than any other rabbit's foot.

But conceding, as we must, the recognized commercial value of gold and silver, we have only to consider its fitness as money. It is this commodity value, in our opinion, which constitutes it as the dangerous factor in our currency system.

Like all other commodities, the value of gold and silver depends upon the universal law of supply and demand. If the supply falls short, either through the ever-varying laws and chances which govern its production, or the demand increases by its extended uses, the natural consequence is that its value rises as compared with all other commodities, and holders of the precious metals are loth to part with them in exchange for commodities, the prices of which are constantly falling. Here, then, is where lack of confidence begins. What man having $10,000 in gold or silver would be willing to exchange it for real estate or personal property with the certain knowledge staring him in the face that the property for which he exchanged it would, within a year or two, be worth 25 per cent. less than it was when he acquired it?

The result is he loses confidence and hoards his money. It is taken out of circulation and the prices of commodities continue to fall in the exact proportion to the money taken from active circulation. This aggravates the situation, lack of confidence spreads, and financial collapse and industrial depression results.

This state of affairs continues until the people are reduced to the extremity of resorting to barter, which is the bed-rock of falling prices, and reaction sets in until some unforseen circumstance or indiscriminate and wild speculation again swings the pendulum of public confidence in the opposite direction. These are the laws which govern public confidence, create panics, govern prices, and cause financial depression, and this condition will remain as long as the present system of commodity money obtains.

But even if the $23 per capita was in actual circluation, it would not be sufficient in this country of unexampled enterprise and undeveloped resources. France has a circulation of $38 per capita, and her resources are developed and her population kept dense. It is quite true that much of our business is done through banks and with credit checks of different kinds, but this does not answer all the demands of our great commercial system.

There are millions of people who do not and cannot transact their business through the banks, and who must either depend upon money as a medium through which to make their exchange or resort to the old barbaric system of barter. Besides, they are compelled to have money with which to pay their debts and taxes, and when that money is scarce and dear it works a hardship on them.

If, then, to resort to both gold and silver as the foundation of our monetary system and our whole business fabric, subjects us to the ever-recurring danger of the lack of confidence, the hoarding of money, panic and business stagnation, it seems no less than a crime to lop off half of this foundation and depend upon the one commodity of gold alone.

Picket Stuck Through Him.

Near Hill Top, Ky., the other morning, Emery Hardin, a young farmer, fell on a picket fence which he was climbing. The end of one of the pickets entered the lower part of the body and penetrated the stomach, passing through him. He is still living, but cannot recover.

Same Thing.

While the statistics show that there are not so many donkeys in the United States as there were three years ago, the number of aeronauts is constantly increasing. This is a great country for keeping up its average.

SOME SOLEMN TRUTHS.

Mr. J. A. Wayland Sizes Up the Situation.

"A government that does not furnish its citizens comfort and pleasure should be destroyed by the people, and a government established that will give the people pleasure. As to our own country, every person knows that the so-called Congress is wasting the people's substance, that Congressmen are wholly neglectful of the people's welfare and that they are constantly busy deceiving the people as to what they are doing; and it is well known that they are constantly using their time in gambling for their own gain or sport, in sugar, stocks and poker and other disreputable means of getting gain, and wholly for their personal pleasure. It is no uncommon occurrence for Congressmen to be found drunk on the streets of the Capitol and to be found in any of the places of debauchery and degradation. The laws of our old, rotten and dishonest government are made for the punishment and degradation of what is called common people, and their commonality sonsists in their not being rich or in not having some affix or prefix to their names. All who have such titles are favored by the dirty little clique called the government, and a mechanic or farmer or a man who labors at what is called ordinary labor is treated as an inferior person, when, in fact, such are the only useful people in the land, and it is they who are constantly fleeced and degraded; and all because they are honest and not pretenders. The meanest and most wicked people are generally holding the offices and positions. It is by means of their pretense, fraud and trickery that they get them. An honest man waits to be invited before he enters a house. A thief will enter in the dark and by stealthy methods; and such methods are used to get the offices, and should an honest man be placed in office the ring of bad ones block every move he makes until he is compelled to adopt their methods, and thus it is that corruption grows and spreads, and such has been the spread of corrupt methods in this land that every branch of business is worked on that plan."—Extract from a manuscript.

Frozen Mutton.

The reason why Argentine mutton generally is of inferior price to that of New Zealand has a three-fold explanation. In the first place, New Zealand possesses to-day a mutton-producing breed superior to that grown in the Platte. In the second, the New Zealander feeds his stock during the winter time with extra forage, while in the Argentine the sheep are allowed to graze upon the same bare pampa during the dead season. The result of this is that the New Zealander produces an even, well-grown carcass, while there is sent home from the Plate one upon which a hasty covering of fat has been put during the spring months of the year. The difference between the two carcasses will readily be noted by any one who pays a visit to the cattle market. Thirdly, the freezer in New Zealand freezes the mutton on account of the breeder; and in the Argentine the freezer buys from the breeder. The disadvantage of the latter system, so long as the breeder has no knowledge of the requirements of the market, is apparent. The New Zealand breeder selects his wethers with care, rejecting any which will give an inferior weight, or which are insufficiently fattened for the butcher. He remits them in small droves to the freezing establishments, and takes every care that they shall arrive in perfect order. The Argentine breeder, on the other hand, makes a contract with the representative of the freezer to sell a given number; and the latter binds himself to remove them within a certain date.

A New Fabric.

A fabric of beautiful appearance is to be put upon the market—an improvement upon the waterproof coated materials rendered thus impervious by treatment with the well-known India rubber and other solutions. The improvement in this case consists in giving to the coated surface of such goods a dressing formed by a film of powder made by reducing glass to an impalpable dust and finely sieved so as to remove all crystallized appearance, this coating giving to the surface treated a fine, soft, silky and luminous effect. Thus coated, the material may be ornamented either before or after vulcanization, by printing or other method, in a suitable medium and in the colorings preferred, the desired pattern or design. For this purpose colors having an India rubber or other suitable waterproof medium are selected; and, in order to counteract the adhesive property, the material is treated after ornamentation to a second coating of pulverized glass; this also produces a luminous appearance, while not being soluble in water it possesses the advantage of being more substantial and lasting in its effects than the ordinary powders employed.—Montreal Star.

One Way.

"I shall yet set myself right before the world," cried the heroine.

"Ha, ha," laughed the villain.

Yet he did not know how her purpose could be defeated. However, he did not despair. Perhaps the police would decide the show was immoral and stop it before the last act.—Detroit Tribune.

Inconsiderate of Her.

"I'm not pleased with your school report, Bobby," said his father, with solemn look.

"I told the teacher you wouldn't be, but she was too stubborn to change it, the old pelican."—Detroit Free Press.

NEWSY STATE ITEMS.

The Latest News of Special Interest to Alabamians

INDUSTRIAL BIRMINGHAM.

Europe Buys 4,000 Tons of Her Iron Products—Vinegar and Other Works Established—Martin D. Sibert, One of the Democratic Electors Dies at Birmingham—Accident at Elba.

The Evening News, of Birmingham, of last Saturday, has the following interesting items:

Coal and iron movements show the effect of absorption in politics just like anything else, but, for all that, the Birmingham district has kept in both fields very satisfactorily, all things considered, for the past few weeks. As a general thing the iron market is what is known as quiet but firm. The same number of furnaces have been in blast all this fall, and for the past three weeks a 50 cent advance on the summer price has been received on No. 2 foundry. Coal is not up to the production of this time last year, but is constantly on the increase and two cold months, if they are cold, may considerably add to the average for the year. The coal and iron operators alike say the conditions are all that could be expected.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company sold 10,000 tons of iron in good round orders this week, of which 4,000 tons were bought by parties in England and will be exported via Brunswick, Ga. The sale means $27,000 to come back across the water to the Birmingham district. The price was as satisfactory, it is stated, as could have been gotten in this country for the same amount of iron at this time. The consumers manifest a desire to get quotations, even though they do not buy extensively, showing a disposition to be ready to buy as soon as the election is over.

Domestic coal trade is very good. The steam coal market is not as active as it was this time last year, when it had a phenomenal run at New Orleans. It is stated that the Tennessee State mines are causing some disarrangement in Alabama's coal trade in Georgia. It is understood that these mines have been selling coal at 48 cents per ton f. o. b. cars at the mines, while the Alabama operators pay their miners alone 40 cents per ton to dig the coal and cannot get it on the cars at the mines for less than 70 to 75 cents per ton. Tennessee has through her convict labor cut quite a swathe of business from the Birmingham district. The local coal trade has picked up the past two days on account of the change in the weather and movements are quite active. Work at the mines seems to be about the same.

MARTIN SIBERT DEAD.

Hon. Martin D. Sibert, Democratic elector from the Seventh district, and a prominent attorney of Gadsden, died Saturday morning at 3 o'clock at the Infirmary of Drs. Davis & Davis, on Avenue G and Twenty-first street, Birmingham, aged 29 years.

Mr. Sibert came to Birmingham a week for the purpose of having an operation performed, though one could not be attempted on account of his condition. Everything possible was done for him, but in vain, and death claimed him for its own. Death resulted from aneurism of the chest or thorax, a complication of diseases of the throat.

Mr. Sibert was well known all over the State. He was one of the most prominent attorneys in Gadsden and numbered his friends by the score. He was the son of Major and Mrs. W. J. Sibert, of Etowah county, and law partner of Major Amos E. Goodhue.

Mr. Sibert was on the electoral ticket of the Democratic party in this State. He was an ardent follower of free silver coinage, and was honored with a position on the ticket. His remains were taken to Gadsden by his parents and the interment took place at that place.

TWO WOMEN KILLED.

A special to the Montgomery Advertiser from Elba, Ala., says: Mrs. William Hanchey, Miss Elmira Hanchey and a little child were riding in a buggy near here, when the mule became frightened and ran away. When found by the side of the road both women were dead and the child had one leg and one arm broken.

BIRMINGHAM STEEL.

Parties in the West have written to Birmingham for twenty pounds of the steel made at the Jefferson Steel Works, at North Birmingham, by the Hawkins process. Just enough of the steel is wanted to test it. It will be in great demand yet.

DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI.

The water coal route to New Orleans and the Mississippi river sugar plantations will be opened in a few days and a substantial load of Alabama coal will find its way down the Father of Waters in barges. The route will thus be formally inaugurated and Alabama coal will knock at the doors of all the points on the Mississippi below Greenville in competition with that of Pennsylvania and Ohio and West Virginia.

VINEGAR WORKS ESTABLISHED

J. W. Hardesty, of Montgomery, has recently built a vinegar and other works in Birmingham. The new plant is located on Twenty-first street, between Avenues A and B, in the building formerly used by Mr. George F. Wheelock as a cornice works. The name of the company under which Mr Hardesty is doing business is the Detroit Cider and Vinegar Works.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS E. WATSON
Of Georgia

4th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
FOR CONGRESS
W. F. ALDRICH

Electors at large—Joseph H. Harris of Chambers and S. A. Hobson of Tuscaloosa.

First district—A. B. Gaston of Mobile.

Second district—Lawrence S. Knight of Crenshaw.

Third district—John G. Searcy of Barbour.

Fourth district—Thomas L. Harvey of Calhoun.

Fifth district—Edmund B. Langley of Tallapoosa.

Sixth district—H. P. Gaines of Walker.

Seventh district—W. M. Coleman of Marshall.

Eigth district—T. B. Bickley of Colbert.

Ninth district—Nelson Fuller of Bibb.

UNTIL November 1 we will accept 75 cents for a twelvemonths subcription to THE BANNER. After that date we positively cannot make any reduction.

VOTE next TUESDAY.

REMEMBER that this is positively the last week of our 75 cent offer.

EVERY Populist should do his duty to himself, his family and his country, by voting for the nominees of our party next Tuesday.

TUESDAY next is the decisive day, and every true Populist will go to the polls and cast his vote. Taking everything into consideration, we again advise our readers to vote for Bryan and Watson electors and W. F. Aldrich for congress.

THE country has suffered a loss in the death of ex-Speaker Crisp. While politically we were, in a measure, opposed to Mr. Crisp, we recognize the fact that he was one of our foremost Southern men, and as such we honor him and mourn his demise.

ALL friends of the late Alliance Herald will be glad to know its distinguished editor, Mr. Frank Baltzell, has re-entered the journalistic arena and commenced a new publication at Montgomery entitled The Alabama Monitor. Number one starts off in Mr. Baltzell's well known vigorous style, and we predict a brilliant future for the new journal, which is, of course, a straight middle-of-the-road paper.

OUR Democratic friends have engaged that notorious individual, Sam Will John, of Jefferson, to come and make a talk at Clanton next Saturday. Our readers will remember it was Sam Will John, who, in the last legislature, introduced the bill to disfranchise the people of Chilton county and give the Governor the power to appoint our county officers. Perhaps Mr. Sam Will John will explain why he wished to disfranchise us then, and whether his mission now is not another move in the same direction.

TOM WATSON, in his speech last week at Birmingham, which we wish every voter in the State could have heard, impressed upon his audience the necessity of every Populist standing by the nominees of our party. Mr. Watson, as is well known, is opposed to fusion in any form, but while that is the case he insisted that in the present election, as it is now too late to put out any middle-of-the-road ticket, it is the duty of every Populist to vote for the several candidates who have been regularly nominated by Populist conventions.

Tom Watson is standing up for you and right. Stand by Watson, show your voting strength. Democrats are equal to the emergency, and will assuredly steal Alabama for the Bryan and Sewall ticket. Democrats want Sewall or nobody. Do you want to endorse the stealing democracy of Alabama? If you do, then vote for Bryan, Sewall and Plowman. A vote for Plowman is an endorsement of ballot-box stuffing. A vote for Aldrich is an endorsement of honest election methods in Alabama. Do you want to endorse election frauds? Then vote for Plowman, the chief sinner in that line in the fourth congressional district. Aldrich by contest, secured for once, honest elections in the fourth district. Now show your appreciation of honest elections by voting for him next Tuesday. Go out to the election next Tuesday and vote. Show Kolb what you think of him and other traitors by your vote.

A Populist who casts his votes for Bryan and Sewall electors simply admits that he has hitherto been mistaken. Bryan's defeat, to the organized democracy of Alabama, is more acceptable to that body of ballot-box stuffers and thieves, than honesty in elections. What right have the organized ballot-box stuffing domocracy of Alabama to a Populist vote as a voluntary gift? Vote for Bryan and Watson electors on next Tuesday. The election thieves will do the rest. The organized democrats say to you Populists vote for us, and endorse all the thieving and stealing we have donde. Can a Populist be considered honest in his charges aganst the ballot-box thieves of Alabama, when he votes for Bryan and Sewall? Watch out for the campaign liar. He is abroad in the land.

Aldrich is the nominee of the People's Party for Congress. Vote for him or desert your party. Some Populists in this district like Kolb, have been enticed from the narrow but straight way by the promise of office hereafter from the democrats. Poor fools. You receive only a barren promise, while Kolb got the currency of the country, and democrats that know you next Tuesdey will know you no more forever. Selah. Every democratic speaker now, as well as four years ago, promised upon all the stumps in Alabama to give you free silver. What did you get then, say? You will get the same again if you listen to them. Democrats lied then and it is best now to distrust them, because they openly tell you that as between Tom Watson and defeat, they will take defeat.

Tom Plowman stole votes in the primary two years ago from his friend's, so the Democratic State Executive declared, and announced that Tommy, the primary runner, could not be recognized or voted for by that party. Honest elections can only be secured by the persistent effort and "votes" of Populists. Did you ever in your whole life hear of Tom Plowman asking for or advocating honest elections? The man who has heard or knows to the contrary has a patch of whiskers in the palm of his hand.

Populists stand by your nominee. You know that they are honest and above reproach, because Kolb and Bowman have deserted them. These worthies cannot stand honesty. Were you honest in your advocacy of Populist doctrine, or did a boodler like Kolb carry you in his market basket for sale? Answer ye Populists by your votes next Tuesday. Populists, if Kolb, with his confessed receipt of boodle for his service, is a fair specimen of what is honest either in you or fair elections, according to your idea, why then show your faith by voting with him next Tuesday; but if you be lieve in honesty in everything then vote aganst him.

Lomax.

Mr. Doll Hill has moved his family to Bessemer where he has accepted a position with the Rail-road company. We regret giving Mr. Hill and family up, as Mr. Hill is a good free hearted christian gentleman and will be missed at New Salem church. We hope that brother and sister Hill will have good luck and will return back some day to us.

A FRIEND.

Subscribe for the BANNER!

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Jemison, Ala., Oct. 27 1896.

To the voters of Chilton.

After hearing so much talk about our congressman Mr. Aldrich I want to call your attention to a few facts. First the Democrats say we must be consistent, and that we cannot afford to vote for Mr. Aldrich because he is a Republican. Ask them if they are not a nice lot of fellows to plead consistency in politics, when only last August they and the Republicans in their county were as thick as three in a bed all voting the same ticket, but they throw up their hands in holy horror and say that no true Populite can vote for Aldrich. Yes, they are the best set of fellows I every saw, so ready to give us advice; they seem to be our best friends, and the only objection they find to us is that we wont surrender our party and vote for their nominees. Why dont they vote for ours? Why didn't they ask us to help select a man for Congress? No, it was stard off, boys, wait, let us name the man then you Populists can come in and vote. Yes, sir, all you prodigal sons can return election day. Why, friends, if we were to come in and vote for their man they would not have any confidence in us themselves. They would say we cannot be trusted, and we could not. Are we too put up such men as Aldrich and Watson, and by the advice of Democrats sacrifice them? If we are to take their advice we will always vote their ticket. No, they cannot advise me to vote for a gold-bug and a man whom they said themselves two years ago had stolen the nomination for congress from Robbins. Why don't they sacrifice Plowman? If they want to unite the white men, let them come to us, we have the largest crowd of white men on our side and opened our doors to them last spring and they convinced us they were not a set to be trusted. Came in our primaries and voted, turned right around and ran aganist the men that they had helped nominate. We have a good clean man, no new convert to silver, a greenbacker all the time, while Mr. Plowman is only a recent convert, and just in time to get the nomination. Let us look well to the situation. You get into a bunch of hogs and beat them and they will get close together ready to defend eachother, but you go at them quiet and the first thing you know you will have them scattered, soon have them in a pen, so with us as long as the Democrats abused us we stayed close together ready to defend eachother, but watch out if they don't get some of us in a pen. The Democrats, Kolb & Co., have got awful scared that McKinley will carry Alabama. Why, can't they count Bryan and Sewall in like they counted Kolb out? It is the same crowd and I know they are none to good to do it. But here is the trouble, they are trying to scare our men with McKinley, to get them to vote for their man for congress. Did you hear one word about peace and uniting the white men, until they had nominated their man, Plowman, then they cried peace peace. Let us stand true to our men. Let every Populist in Chilton vote according to the agreement, stand to Watson and Aldrich as long as they are in the race. Don't be scared with McKinley, the returns are already made up in the black belt for Bryan and Sewall. Our congressman is what we are most interested in, and we have a man that is worthy, one we have tried, one that stood to our party in its darkest days. I have known him personally for fifteen years, and he has proved to be true to the laborer. Let us send him back to congress this time with a larger majorrity than we did before. Let's show to the world that we are still united, for, by our standing close together, we have exerted an influence that we never

(continued on 4th column next page)

Consumption

Out-door life and Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites have cured thousands of cases of consumption in the early stages. They cure old, advanced cases too; but not so many, nor so promptly. When a case is so far advanced that a cure cannot be made, even then SCOTT'S EMULSION checks the rapidity of the disease, relieves the pains in the chest, reduces the night sweats, and makes the cough easier. In these cases it comforts and prolongs life. Don't experiment with cures that destroy the digestion. Pin your faith to the one remedy which has been THE STANDARD FOR OVER 20 YEARS.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

HOW TO VOTE.

BELOW we show you how to vote next Tuesday week. The election law says the names of all candidates must be arranged alphabetically, consequently the name of Wm. F. Aldrich, whom you wish to vote for, and against which we have placed a cross-mark, X, just as you will do on November 3, is the first name on the ticket. Then take the names of the electors and make a X mark against those we have made a X mark on the ticket below, and you will vote for Bryan and Watson electors.

For Representative in the Fifty-fifth Congress of the United States from the Fourth District of the State of Alabama:

Vote for One.

X	William F. Aldrich
	Edmund H. Dryer
	Thomas S. Plowman

For Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States:

Vote for Eleven.

	Nathan H. Alexander
	Edward B. Almon
	John Andrews
	J. B. Appleton
	F. B. Baldwin
	J. M. Barnes
X	Thomas B. Bickley
	William B. Browne
	Charles W. Buckley
	Thomas L. Bulger
	Joseph W. Burke
	W. P. Burks
	John D. Burnett
X	William M. Coleman
	O. E. Comstock
	C. E. Crenshaw
	J. B. Cumming
	Anthony R. Davison
	L. O Dawson
	C. E. Dunn
	Thomas M. Espy
	Frederick S. Ferguson
X	Nelson Fuller
X	H. P. Gains
X	Alpheus B. Gaston
X	Joseph H. Harris
X	Thomas L. Harvey
X	S. A. Hobson
	Daniel E. Huger
	Samuel W. John
	A. B. Jones
X	Laurence S. Knight
X	Edmund B. Langley
	Lawrence H. Lee
	J. C. Lester
	James J. Mayfield
	J. P. Mudd
	William O. Mulkey
	Charles B. Powell
	Charles Rattery
	R. Barnwell Rhett
	Edward L. Russell
	John W. A. Sanford
	R. L. Seale
X	John G. Searcy
	John B. Shields
	Martin D. Sibert
	John A. Steele
	John W. Stewart
	A. S. Stockdale
	J. J. Taylor
	Nicholas M. Ware
	Andrew J. Warner
	Morris D. Wickersham

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skilful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and machanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-know "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you mong their patrons.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a general election will be held at the various voting places in Chilton county, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1896,

for the election of Electors for President and vice-President of the United States, and for the election of a Representative in the Congress of the United States for the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

This 1st day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

ELECTION MANAGERS.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA }
CHILTON COUNTY. }

This is to certify that the following named persons have been appointed Inspectors and Returning Officers, as required by law, for an election to be held in said County on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1896. To-wit:

Beat No. 1—T J Dorminy, J W Sorrell, Mardical Robinson, Inspectors; J M Robinson, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 1 Providence)—I B Martin, Hugh Henry, Charles Johnson, Inspectors; J A Lowery, Returning officer.

Beat 2 (Box 2 Jemison)—B M Gentry Ira Campbell, J P Givhan, Inspectors; G W Shaw, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 1 Benson)—H W Yarden, John Wright, Andy Jones, Inspectors; John Middlebrooks, Returning officer.

Beat 3 (Box 2 Macedonia)—Y O Freeman, A J Ware, Green Hayes, Inspectors; William Nix, Returning officer.

Beat 4—A A Ayres, John Grant, Alfred Popwell, Inspectors; A. C. Oates, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 1 Coopers)—J W G Kicker, B H Wells Hardy Jones, Inspectors; H A J Harris, Returning officer.

Beat 5 (Box 2 Verbena)—W H Strock J J L Stewart, A H Courtney, Inspecters; — Thompson, Returning officer.

Beat 6—J R Vinson, Madison Popwell T L Dickerson, Inspectors; Fayette Popwell, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 1 Maplesville)—W Y Nix G W Fox, W F Foshee, Inspectors; Geo Foshee, Returning officer.

Beat 7 (Box 2 Sheultz) W A Green, J D Holsomback, L O Burnett, Inspectors; J N Gentry, Returning officer.

Beat 8—W A Weaver, D C Gandy, Jack Landers, Inspectors; Wiley Letcher, Returning officer.

Beat 8—D N Riggins, W A Mims, James Collins, Inspectors; Wash Foshee Returning officer.

Given under our hands, this the 2 day of October, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate,
J. P VANDIVEER,
Clerk of Circuit Court,
J T. COOLEY
Sheriff.

State of Alabama }
Chilton County }

I, J. T. Cooley, Sheriff of said County, hereby appoint the Returning Officers, above named at their respective voting places, to act as Special Deputy Sheriffs to attend upon the above named election.

This the 2d day of October, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Marvelous Results

From a letter written by Rev. J Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife While I was pastor at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at J. S. Johnson, Jr Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00

Mr. J. W. Ledbetter, of Randolph, is in town this week on business.

Tax Collector's Notice.

FIRST ROUND

I will attend at the following named times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes of Chilton County for the year 1896:

		1896
Shoultz	October	7
Valley Creek church	"	8
Dixie	"	9
Stanton 8 am to 11 am	"	10
Clantonford 1 pm to 4 pm.	"	10
Macedonia church	"	12
Providence church	"	13
Elijah Busby's	"	14
Jemison	"	15
Mineral Springs	"	16
Sraeburg	"	17
Clanton	"	19
Cane Creek	"	20
Maddox's mill	"	21
Gore school-house	"	22
Calloway's mill	"	23
Maple Springs church	"	24
Davis & Rollins' gin	"	26
Coopers	"	27
Burwells	"	28
Mountain Creek	"	29
Verbena	"	30
Kincheon	November	2
Maplesville	"	3
Benson	"	4

T. J. HUBBARD, TaxCollector.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Robert Wilson, Deceased. } Probate Court Chilton County.

Letters of Administration upon the estate of Robert Wilson, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of August, 1896, by Hon. R M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court for Chilton county. Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or that the same will be barred.

W. M. WILSON,
Adm. Est. of Robert Wilson, Dec'd.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes,

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

V V V

Chain Shot

You've got to use heavy ammunition when you fight such a malignant enemy as SCROFULA. There is nothing that will rout this disease like V. V. V.—the wonderful blood purifier and family remedy. It drives out all impurities and taints—whether hereditary or not—making the blood pure and healthy and the whole body strong and vigorous. V. V. V. is a specific for all blood and skin diseases, as well as rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, etc.

Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6⅝ cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1051
Mullins	570
Wilson	235
	1856

BRICK FOR SALE. I have 75,000 brick for sale at a low price, on the Lomax Road one and a half miles north of Clanton. Will exchange for corn or cotton seed at market price.

F. R. WOODYARD.

REQUESTED. The citizens young and old, male and female, are requested to read and study for this week, our Saviour's last prayer before His crucifixion. St. John 17th chapter.

Mr. G. H. Green spent a few days in north Alabama last week.

Next Tuesday is election day, vote for Aldrich and Bryan and Watson electors.

W. W. Moore, the painter who made such an excellent job of the court house work, is now finishing several other jobs in Clanton. If you need any painting done you had better see him at once before he leaves. He is now working at Mr. W. L. Sampey's residence.

Mr. W. R. King, of Coosa, visited friends here last week.

Mrs. L. A. Thornton is on a visit to her daughter in Birmingham.

Mrs. G. W. Anderson, of Springfield Tenn., is down to see her parents here this week.

Mr. W. J. Gentry has moved his family to Oak Hill, Wilcox county, Ala., where he has accepted the position of mail carrier in that country.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. Will Vinsant and Miss Ella Robinson; Mr. R. W. Ward and Miss Sarah C. Culp; Mr. Robert Sims and Miss Mary Barnett Lowe; Colored: Andrew Lykes and Mary Coleman.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

Sheriff Cooley last Friday arrested Wylie Garner negro employed at Ehrman's Mill, on a chaage of rape committed on a little colored girl named Smitherman. Wylie is in jail and may consider himself lucky in being there.

Mr. D. K. Middleton, fo Hayneville, is visiting his parents here this week.

Mr. Lee Stewart has removed his family to Birmingham.

Mr. Tom Smith is building a new residence at the brickyard.

Fire yesterday at Mahans Mill destroyed a dwelling house; fortunately the mill escaped.

Notice.

A special meeting of the Farmers Mutual Insuarance Association of Chilton county, is hereby called to meet at Clanton on Monday November 2, 1896. All members are requested to come as business of importance has to be attended to

J. A. Logan, President.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Jesse S. Martin, Sr., deceased.

Probate Court, Chilton County Ala.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 27th day of October, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

R. H. Martin, Administrator.

By his attorneys Adams & Martin

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1896, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 9th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of sw¼ sec 3 and w½ of sec 6 all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and ne¼ of sw¼ sec 10 and n ½ of nw¼, sw¼ of nw1-4 and nw1-4 of sel-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14, w½ of nwl-4, sel-4 of nwl 4 and sel-4 of nel-4 sec 33, and sel 4 of sel-4 sec 20 all in t 22 r 14 and nwl-4 of sel-4 and swl-4 of swl-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK.

Admr. etc. of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.

This 21 day of October, 1896.

Ministers Should Use Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

THERE IS NO PROFESSION, whose labors so severely tax the nervous system, as that of the ministry. The derangement of the nerve centers of the brain by over work, frequently brings on attacks of heart trouble, and nervous prostration.

Rev. J. P. Kester, M. D., Pastor U. B. church, London Mills, Ills., himself a physician, writes Feb. 26, 1895: "Heart affection and nervous prostration had become so serious last fall that a little over work in the pulpit would so completely prostrate me that it seemed certain I must relinquish the work of the ministry entirely. Heart palpitation became so bad that my auditors would ask me if I did not have heart disease. Last November I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure alternately with Dr. Miles' Nervine and derived the greatest possible benefit. I have just closed revival work of 10 weeks, preaching nearly every night and twice on the Sabbath. I can speak for hours without suffering as I formerly did. Hard working ministers should keep Dr. Miles' grand remedies on hand."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18353.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John W. Worthy, Homestead entry, No. 25,479, for the w½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18352.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Homestead entry, No. 23,170, for the e½ of se ¼ of section 10 tp 21 north of range 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: John E Beardin, John W. Worthy, Dolby Atkinson, John S. Beardin, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING

SHAVING

SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville..........	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church..	"	11
Welch's mill..........	"	12
Dixie................	"	13
Stanton, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson...............	"	16
Macedonia church...	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill...........	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg............	"	21
Maddox's mill........	"	22
Lomax................	"	24
Mineral Springs......	"	25
Mountzion church....	"	26
Cane Creek church....	"	27
Ehrman's mill........	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers..............	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church......	"	9
Kincheon............	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.

T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,354.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
September 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on October 31st, 1896, viz.: John E. Beardin, Homestead entry, No. 24,790, for the e½ of se¼ section 22 tp 21 north of r 11 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Lewis R. Hall, Calton Hall, Dolby Atkinson, Thomas McCormick, all of Maplesville, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

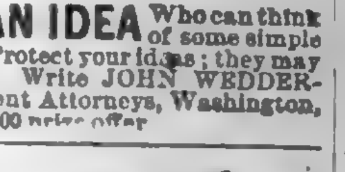
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.



CAMPAIGN SILVER BADGES!

THESE Badges are copyrighted, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. [illegible] souvenirs of the [illegible] birth of our party [illegible] Big profits for agents. [illegible] each. For terms address

STATE HERALD BADGE DEPT.

Birmingham, Ala.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

could have done if we had stayed in the old parties. Let us remain true and vote for those we have nominated. Don't weep over the loss of Kolb and Bowman, there is plenty of time between now and election day for them to get back into our party, but for my part I am glad I will have no more explaining to do for Kolb, the Democrats will have to explain for him in the future. I have followed Kolb through thick and thin, I did everything I could to make him governor, but I say farewell Kolb, we must part and I want to serve notice on Tom Jones now that we will not take him in our party, and if he and Kolb both get in the Democratic party she is broke up sure for no party can stand both of them at the same time.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $100 per bottle

THE JURORS.

Following are the names of jurors drawn for the fall term of circuit court, which will convene on Monday, November; 23 1896.

GRAND JURY.

J, M. Merchant, Thos. Williams, W. H. Parr, Milford Wooley, H. C. Young, Frank Harris, Craton Rasberry, Alfred Popwell, W. R. Dawson J M Robinson, R R Killingsworth, J W Scott, J E Knight, B W Silsby, G B Reed, J M Moody, John Burnett, Charlie Coburn, D H Mullins, H B Rodgers, Moses Popwell.

PETIT JURY—first week.

L W Thomas, J L Palmer, J A Miller, W J Brown, J J Roberts, S G Glasscock, Elijah Robinson, J S Aldrige, J G Smitherman, Jessie Thomas, M H Barnes, W B Jones, S N Waldrop, George Moore, John Harris, E H Mims, James Jones, G W Askins, Peter Barrett, J R Billingsley, W T Callen, Hugh Henry, G W Mims, J N Glasscock, T C Alred, Munroe Martin, J G Jones, W J Fleming, W P Cleckler, T M Mims, G L Spear James Nix, L L Culver, G W Gothard, J W Scott.

PETIT JURY—second week.

A J Glasscock, J W E Gulledge, W F Claughton, Hamp Shoults, J G White, D H Hudgins, J W Sorrell, J R Kemp, W H Thomas, J J Marcus, S M Yates, Wm. Reynolds, W A Sims, M A Bates, Thomas Roberts, J L Waldrop, John Runnels, John Robinson, Mart Gore, K R Burnett, W C Dickerson, W D Horsley, J E Cobb, W M Wood, J N Askins H C Bearden, A L Collins, D Z Merchant, LaFayett Ingram, G T Mims, W A Green, J E Champion, W E Vinsant, W W Rutherford, J W Baker.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $2.35, cloth, or $1.25, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. [illegible]

No. [illegible] Surrey Harness. Price $[illegible]

No. 7[illegible] Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible]

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

News of the Campaign.

People's Party News Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 28.

From every state comes encouraging news of the effacement of party lines and the consolidation of all forces opposed to Hanna-McKinleyism. Hope grows fainter in Hanna's heart as he sees his plans for buying obstructionists and deserters among the democrats and Populists fail. That he has striven to accomplish this everywhere is no longer news.

The recent meeting of the executive committee of the People's party at Chicago resulted in George F. Washburn and Reed of Georgia going to visit Mr. Watson at his home. Chairman Jones has sent representatives to confer with them and it is to be hoped that fusion on electors may yet be arranged. His letter of acceptance has not yet reached Chairman Butler although it was mailed the 14th.

Lily Lyrics.

Prof. Startain has failed, as yet, to get as many subscribed pupils as he would like to have. Hence he did not begin teaching last Monday, as was stated in last weeks Lyrics.

An infant of Mr. Bob Robers was buried at Isabella last Saturday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards, the 13th. inst.

Miss O'phelia King, entered the Industrial school, at Montevallo last Monday.

Miss Ollie Garner has just returned from a visit to her sister at Elmore Station.

We are glad to have Mr. B. H. Jones back in our midst.

Mr. E. J. Hayes will move to the Hammonds place this week.

Mr. W. J. Woolley gave a Musical last Thursday night in honor to the Mr. King, of Mountain Creek.

Our farmers are about done gathering now and the squirrels may look out.

CLINT.

Legal Notice.

By order of the Court of County Commissioners.

Notice is hereby given that the building which has formerly been used as a court house in Clanton, will be offered for sale for cash to the highest bidder on Monday, the 2nd day of November, 1896. The building will be sold in two parts, one known as the main court house and the other as jury rooms. The purchaser will be required to remove the building and clean the lot of all trash by November 21st, 1896. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any bid if the bidder does not immediately pay amount of bid.

This Oct. 9, 1896.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

"ALL THE MAGAZINES IN ONE."

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

FIVE MONTHS FOR $1.00.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION $2.50.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

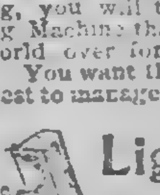
THREE RECENT SAMPLES 25 cents.

Agents find it the Most Profitable Magazine.

Sold on all News Stands. Single Copy, 25 cents.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

13 Astor Place, New York.



GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,

IS VIA THE

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P. P. P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled. Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pains subsided and I was able to work. I feel better than I have for 20 years, and am confident of a complete recovery.
J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.
W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.
Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.
JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am now entirely cured.
Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON, of Johnston & Co., Savannah, Ga.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johns[illegible]'s Drug Store.

A double-tandem bicycle, with four wheels arranged like those of a wagon, and four seats for riders, two in front and two behind, and carrying a hose-reel, rotary pump, etc., was exhibited at the recent bicycle show in Paris. The machine is intended as a fire engine. When the scene of the fire is reached, the pedals are thrown into gear with the pump, the hose is unrolled, and the riders, resuming their seats,

A French chemist claims to have succeeded in photographing thought, and says it can be done in the dark equally as well as in the light. There may be something in this; it is nothing new for a young man to get a negative from a girl, even in the dark.

A Kentucky contemporary thinks that "there is no reason now why Breckinridge should not be sent back to Congress." Miss Pollard knows at least 15,000 separate and distinct reasons worth a dollar apiece.

There are only nine George Washingtons in the Chicago city directory in a population exceeding 1,750,000; but it is only fair to state, however, that there are more than nine Chicagoans who practice Uncle George's precepts occasionally.

He who is passionate and hasty is generally honest. It is your old, dissembling hypocrite of whom you should beware. There is no deception in a bulldog. It is only the cur that sneaks up and bites you when your back is turned.

A $50 Doctor's Bill.

"I cannot recommend your TETTERINE enough. I had erysipelas in my face and head so bad that I could not do any work in three months, and I tried the doctors, and my doctor's bill is fifty dollars. A friend told me to get some of your TETTERINE, and I did so, and it has entirely cured me. I recommend it to everybody." Yours truly,

WILLIAM H. ALDERMAN,
Laton P. O. (Bullock Co.) Ga.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

Slobbs—Here's a rather clever little book, "Don'ts for Club Men." Slobbs—It isn't the don'ts that worry me; it's the dues.—Philadelphia Record.

That Joyful Feeling

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

Jonesy How is Mugler betting on the election? Smitty—With his mouth.—Roxbury Gazette.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have 50 or $60 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopedia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopedia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts collated in this book.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

He—It takes three generations to make a gentleman. She—And six figures.—Indianapolis Journal.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap contains all the good properties of Dobbins' Electric, combined with those of the best floating soap. No chapped hands where this soap is used. Same price as adulterated soaps without Borax. Red wrapper.

He—My life without you will be a lonely one. The Heiress—But think how busy you will have to be!—Life.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. WILLIAMS, Antioch, Ills., April 11, 1894.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

CASCARETS stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

Chronic

Catarrh cannot be cured by local applications. It is a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system and makes you feel renewed in strength.

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

[illegible]
VETERINARY MEDICINE CO. Nashville, Tenn.

Am. N. U. No 44 1896.

[illegible]

PILES [illegible]

[illegible]

THE POLITICAL ARENA.

The Latest News from the Political Battlefields.

GEORGIA'S NEXT SENATOR.

The Death of Elector Sibert, of Alabama Will Not Complicate Matters.—Kansas Callers at Canton.—Bryan to Break the Record This Week.—When He Will Be Silent.

The death of Ex-Speaker Crisp, of Georgia, has thrown the politics of that State into confusion. When Senator Colquitt died, two years ago, Governor Northen appointed Mr. Crisp his successor. As he was in the midst of his duties as Speaker of the Federal House of Representatives, he declined whereupon Patrick Walsh was appointed and accepted. At the opening of the present National campaign Mr. Crisp announced himself for the succession to Senator John B. Gordon, and the Secretary of the interior, Hoke Smith, entered as the administration candidate. In the joint debates which followed, the malady which has cost Mr. Crisp his life made its appearance. He carried the nominating primaries overwhelmingly, and could have been elected at the coming session of the State legislature had he lived.

The result of Mr. Crisp's death is that there will be a scramble over the unexpected plum which is thus thrown out among the boys. "Pat" Walsh will be in the race again. Hoke Smith has hopes that his present support of Mr. Bryan, to the displeasure of Mr. Cleveland, may help his fortunes. James A. Robertson will be a prominent candidate. The sensation, however, will be the candidacy of Governor Atkinson, just elected to a second term. Fortunately for him, there has been a state election called for December to choose Supreme Judges. The election of a new Governor at the same time would entail no expense upon the State. In this event Stephen Clay would probably be a candidate for Governor.

DEATH OF ELECTOR SIBERT.

The Death of Elector Sibert Will Not Complicate Matters.

In this connection the following important address has been issued:

To the Democratic Voters of the State of Alabama: We regret to advise you of the death of the Hon. Martin D. Sibert, nominee of the Democratic and Conservative party for Elector for the Seventh District.

Hon. Columbus C. Appleton, who was nominated by the Democratic and Conservative party of this State, as alternate Elector, has been selected and is hereby recommended to the voters of the Democratic party to be voted for as Elector in place of Martin D. Sibert, deceased. It is of the utmost importance that every Democratic voter should be advised of the fact of the death of Mr. Sibert, and of the importance of casting his vote for Columbus C. Appleton, in accordance with the decision and recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of this State, and we, therefore, hope that every one will disseminate this information and cooperate with us in securing this result.

JOHN B. KNOX,
Chairman State Executive Committee.
C. M. SHELLEY,
Chairman State Campaign Com.

WHY HE WILL BE SILENT.

Lieutenant Governor Nye, of Indiana, has written Chairman Pickens, of the Democratic "Sound Money" State Committee, of that State, announcing his opposition to free silver and the Chicago platform. He says the State of his health is all that prevents him from taking the stump in favor of "Sound Money."

ROWDIES ANNOY COCKRAN.

Bourke Cockran addressed 3,000 people at Evansville, Ind., Saturday night. A gang of rowdies tried to break up the meeting by shouting and other disorder. They would have probably succeeded, but for the vigorous interference of the police, who ejected the ring leaders.

WEST VIRGINIA POPULIST RESIGN

Three of the men on the Populist State ticket of West Virginia, have formally resigned, and it is supposed the others will soon follow. The three who resigned are Colonel Fitzgerald, candidate for Governor; W. C. Miller, candidate for Auditor, and I. H Offner, candidate for Treasurer. All resign in favor of the Democratic nominees and for the good of the cause of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

CHAIRMAN CORCORAN RESIGNS.

Gen. John W. Corcoran, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, of Massachusetts, has resigned that position. In his letter to the Executive Committee he says in part: "The resolution which prompts this resignation was formed long since, and of the reasons therefor you are fully advised. Suffice it to repeat now that if health, comfort and professional duty did not require this course, the experience of the last month have given me all the 'active politics' that I will desire unless a decided change of heart and inclination is felt."

KANSANS AT CANTON.

Kansas came smilingly into Canton today, several hundred strong, says a Saturday dispatch from Major McKinley's home. Employes of the Santa Fe Railroad Company and others made one of the most enthusiastic delegations that has yet visited Canton. Some of the party were two days on the road. They were headed by President H. B. Morris, of the St. Louis Railway Men's Sound Money Club.

The singular crowd of the day was the party of post supervisors of Pennsylvania, who came to Canton from Pittsburg, where they were in [illegible] county. Pennsylvania was represented by several thousand people [illegible] again crowded with delegations, accompanied by bands, besides several hundred people from neighboring towns.

BRYAN TO BREAK RECORD.

The greatest piece of personal campaigning ever done by a public man in a single city is what will be attempted by William Jennings Bryan, in Chicago. Details of his programme of speech-making there was finally settled upon Saturday afternoon, and political annals show few if any instances approximating the remarkable character of the undertaking by a candidate for high public office at the supreme crisis of the final days of a National campaign.

The schedule as arranged, showing the halls and tents all arranged and the precise hour for Mr. Bryan to appear at each place, shows that the triple nominee is to deliver five speeches the night of his arrival in the city. Tuesday next, after speaking at probably a dozen points up the State on the road from Lincoln, Ill.

On Wednesday he delivers seven speeches, Thursday eight, and Friday probably more than on any other day, the exact limit having not yet been fixed. The record is expected to show over thirty different addresses in the three days and one evening named, the aim of the candidate apparently being to place himself practically in personal contact to the extent of sight and hearing of the entire population of every corner of the 176 square miles of territory within the limits of Chicago.

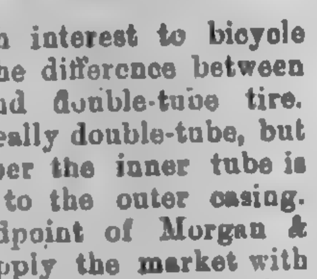
:o:

A False Rumor.

A paragraph has got started to the effect that Morgan & Wright, makers of the famous Morgan & Wright pneumatic tire, "have turned their attention to the manufacture of a single-tube tire that promises to be a hummer." It is learned that this report is absolutely untrue.

The single-tube tire makers of Europe shouted for two seasons and a half that their tires had only to be plugged, while the old original, glued-to-the-rim tire had to be torn apart before a hole could be fixed; but the old glued-to-the-rim tire won out, and in Europe the single-tuber has not been a strong competitor for two seasons. The trouble with it is that holes in the inner tube, which is stuck fast to the outer casing, cannot be found easily, and cause the tire to leak constantly.

Plugging holes which can be found is generally only a temporary repair, as the plugs work loose. There are exceptions, but this has been the rule. The complaint against the double-tube tire has been that the inner tube has to be taken out. Some people would rather make a repair badly, but easily, than to put in hard work and make a permanent repair.



The Morgan & Wright quick-repair strip is a boon to these lazy people. It is now a part of every Morgan & Wright tire. The illustration shows how the quick-repair strip closes a puncture. It is only necessary to pump as much air as possible into a tire which has been punctured, stick a little tool into the hole, and follow the few simple instructions in the catalogue, to make a quick, perfect and permanent repair, at the roadside.

While this tire is having such immense popularity, Morgan & Wright are not likely to make single-tube tires, which did not succeed even against the old style of Morgan & Wright double-tube tire.

It is of much interest to bicycle riders to know the difference between a single-tube and double-tube tire. Both tires are really double-tube, but in the single-tuber the inner tube is vulcanized fast to the outer casing. From the standpoint of Morgan & Wright, who supply the market with many more tires than all the other makers put together, the single-tuber is not correct, and they ought to know, as they make what the great majority want.

:o:

FEDERAL PRISONERS ESCAPE

Nine prisoners confined in the United States jail at Ft. Smith, Ark., succeeded in making their escape some time Thursday night. They tunneled into the cells where two boys of the Correta train robbers, in an attempt to escape, had made a hole to the roof recently, and let themselves down with ropes.

:o:

PERFECT FUSION IN OHIO.

William F. Barr, Presidential elector for the Twelfth Ohio district on the People's party ticket, has withdrawn his name. This secures perfect fusion of Democrats and Populists on the Bryan ticket in Ohio.

HON. THOMAS WATSON

Talks to Alabamians at Birmingham and Defines His Position.

COULDN'T SUPPORT SEWALL

But Had Bryan's Success at Heart.—Contends That His Withdrawal From the Race Would Injure Bryan's Chances.—His Speech Well Received.

The Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, the middle-of the road candidate for Vice-President, visited Birmingham last Wednesday. He was met at the depot by a committee composed of Dr. Crowe, Colonel Shugart and others. He was carried to the residence of Mr. Sibley, on the South Highlands, a former Georgia friend, where he spent several hours, returning at 4 o'clock to the Morris Hotel where he was met by many of his friends and supporters.

By 8 o'clock a large crowd of at least 1,500 or 2,000 people had gathered at Capitol Park awaiting the arrival of the speaker.

Mr. Watson reached the park at 8 o'clock, and was greeted with music by the Blocton Band, each musician wearing the miners' cap and candle.

Dr. Crowe presided over the meeting and presented to the audience Mr. Hobson, of Tuskaloosa, who introduced the speaker of the evening.

We give below only a brief report of what was said on the occasion by Mr. Watson. In reference to his position in the race he said:

My position in this campaign has not been pleasant. I have been misunderstood, my sayings misinterpreted and my motives misconstrued. I have not sought to lay any obstacle in the way of the success of Mr. Bryan. I have pointed out the way by which he could win, and that way and Democrats of the South and west. I did not see how we could get free silver votes in the east to defeat Hanna and Hannaism, but the South and the West would have to put foot to foot, hand to hand and heart to heart to accomplish our aim.

"The Democrats come to us and asked a partnership. They came to our convention. We did not go to theirs, and now we say, for God's sake, let us be one of the partners. Don't play the whole act and take us for Jonahs. You might forget to deliver us at the proper time.

"The Democrats say, 'quit shooting, boys, and give up your guns.' We say, 'no, you keep your guns and we will keep ours.' Let each party keep its organization and if you don't carry out free silver we are there to make you do it, and if you do carry it out we cant' hurt you.

"There are some of the very worst enemies to silver in Bryan's party. Every member of the Populist party is a friend to silver. Democrats like Gorman and Hill will never do anything for silver. These men are staying in the Democratic party because they think they can do more harm against silver within than without.

"You have men in the Democratic party who have stabbed the party in the past and will stab it in the future.

"Ours was the party that held the light up in the dark days of 1892 and 1893, and ours was the party that forced the Democratic leaders to get upon the Chicago platform, and now let us keep in line and don't stop the pressure. The People's party was the first party that put the coal of fire on the terrapin's back and set him to traveling.

"If you people want free silver I tell you to stay with the people.

"When any man says to me come off of the Populist ticket—a Southern man, blood of my blood, bone of my bone, with my every aspiration in the upbuilding of my country—when I am asked to lay in the dust and let this eastern plutocrat put his feet on my neck, I say no true Southern man wants me to do it. Proud men of the South, you have been furnishing more than half of the vote to elect the President, but you have never been allowed to write a platform or name a candidate.

"Before I would be false to my party and disappoint patriotic men and disband my party, I would die the death of a dog.

"We understand the compact at St. Louis to be this: We will undertake to elect one man and the Democrats the other. The Democrats to take the first place on the ticket and the Populists the second place, and by selecting a Western man for the first place and a Southern man for the second place, thereby controlling the vote of these two sections.

"Why should they have gone to the East for a man diametrically opposed to our principes? After you make a contract, stand by it; after a pledge is made, abide it.

"We have six votes in Kansas where the Democrats have one. We should have eight electors and the Democrats two. In Colorado, three votes to one. In Kansas the Populists have not put out any ticket at all. It has been a political deal by office-seekers on each side. They have swapped off the National ticket for State offices. They have done the same thing in Colorado.

"The Republicans of Georgia offered to give us their entire vote if we would agree to give them one place on the State ticket. My reply was: You cannot build a platform broad enough for a Populist and Republican to stand upon.

"In Texas our friends say we can get fifteen votes for you if you will give fifteen for McKinley. My reply was you cannot give me votes at the expense of Mr. Bryan.

"I tried to get our chairman in Kansas to put out a ticket and divide the vote, and I am now informed that that chairman denounces me as a traitor.

"When I speak for Bryan and Watson I speak for the ticket.

"Democrats are very fond of men on special occasions, on other occasions not so fond. In one State the chairman has applied to the Supreme Court to get a mandamus to keep my name on the ticket, since I have ordered it off.

"Take North Carolina. The Populists have fused with the Republicans on State offices and fused with the Democrats on the National ticket. The People's party steadily protests against fusing with either of these parties.

"Suppose I should go to North Carolina to make a speech. What would I say? I could not attack the Democrats, nor could I attack the Republicans. All I could do would be to repeat the Ten Commandments, say the Lord's prayer and sing the Doxology.

"Gentlemen, reach your conclusions like intelligent, brave men and stand by them. Free and fair discussion will bring out that which is best.

Mr. Watson then touched upon the revenue system and said that one of the great evils the People's party was seeking to rectify was the system of taxation at present in vogue.

"The Federal tax amounts to $7 a head for every man, woman and child in the Government. A family is estimated at five members, and for this family tax is paid to the amount of $35 per year. Now, start to pay this with 7 cents cotton and 8 cents corn and see what it amounts to. Great insurance and express companies pay no tax. National banks pay no tax, unless you call it a tax of $1 to make $8 per hundred interest tax. Men who have much should pay much and men who have little should pay little.

"According to the present tax system, the poorest man in this audience pays more tax than the richest railroad in the Republic."

In reference to the matter of transportation, he said: "And our transportation system, too, is wrong. One firm in Wall street, J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., has been buying up all the railroads without expending one dollar. If they can buy railroads by reorganizations and the issues of new stocks and bonds to take up the old ones, the Government ought to be able to do so. Yet some tell us to buy these railroads would bankrupt the Government.

"If the rivers are public highways, the railroads certainly ought to be. How would you like for Morgan & Co. to own the rivers?"

He then entered upon the discussion of the financial question, and made a most interesting and able argument in favor of a double standard.

"If you have a single gold standard every debt must be paid in gold, and Wall street will then have the world by the throat. You will have to have the gold to pay your taxes and your indebtedness, and from these hoarders alone can you obtain it. Then look for depression and serfdom never yet thought of by this American people.

"We of the South ought to get together. Let us love our country more and hate each other less. We are all Southern people, equally honest in our efforts."

"I want to know," said a voice, "how to vote? Who to vote for?"

"That's what I have been trying to impress you with all through this speech. Could not be less modest. Suppose a man was courting a girl and asked her to marry him every breath, and she was to ask him if he wanted her to marry him." (Applause and laughter).

"Are you in the field?" said another of the audience.

"I am in the field and am going to remain in the field. Before I was nominated I was wired if I would accept. I answered I would. My word of honor is out, and no influence or threats can make me furl the flag."

"Will not your course defeat Bryan?"

"The Populists were averse to going into the compact. Twenty-one States threatened to bolt the convention. My name was used to prevent this bolt and the inevitable split in the party, and to prevent this division was the reason I agreed to run with Bryan.

"If I should come down, instead of the Populists voting for Bryan, they would be farther from doing so. They would either stay at home or vote for McKinley. Should I come down, my friends would feel deceived, and rightly so. And the result would be that Bryan's campaign would collapse in Oregon and North Dakota. In those States the Democrats are running a Bryan and Watson ticket in order to carry those States for Bryan. My remaining on the ticket holds the fusion together in Indiana and Illinois, and this would collapse if I should come down. No Democrat ought to want me to come down.

"The Democratic chairman of Oregon wrote me a letter to the effect that if I came off the ticket that State would go for McKinley.

"I want to help Bryan, but I can't do everything with my people."

Another Field of Famine.

A drouth has occurred in the northern part of South Australia as a result of which the harvest is a total failure; [illegible]

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?
KEATING—it is
KEATING WHEEL CO,
HOLYOKE, MASS.
[illegible]

How Old are You?

You need not answer the question, madam, for in your case age is not counted by years. It will always be true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age so deeply upon woman's beauty as gray hair. It is natural, therefore, that every woman is anxious to preserve her hair in all its original abundance and beauty; or, that being denied the crowning gift of beautiful hair, she longs to possess it. Nothing is easier than to attain to this gift or to preserve it, if already possessed. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores gray or faded hair to its original color. It does this by simply aiding nature, by supplying the nutrition necessary to health and growth. There is no better preparation for the hair than

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR.

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M.D.

CAUSE

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 Pages, Profusely Illustrated.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all.

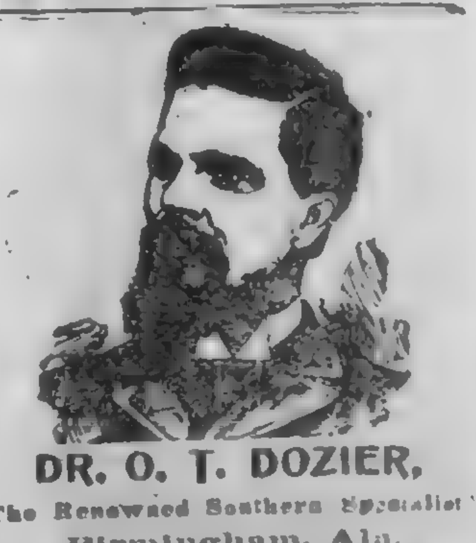
ONLY 60 cts. POSTPAID.

Postage Stamps Taken.

Not only does this Book contain so much information Relative to Disease, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families, together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs, &c.

COMPLETE INDEX.
BOOK PUB. HOUSE,
134 Leonard St., N. Y. City

AND EFFECT.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist)
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)

• • • Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician • • • He is a [illegible] by birth, a high-toned, cultured, Christian gentleman strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments and a gentleman respected by all who know him. He can be relied on in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

Dr. Dozier's professional standing is unimpeachable and [illegible]

Address
DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DEAFNESS

THE DEAF HEAR

And Head Noises relieved by using Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums. New scientific invention, different from all other devices. The only safe, simple, comfortable and invisible Ear Drum in the world. Helps where medical skill fails. No wire or string attachment. Write for pamphlet. Free.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.,
110 Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND, BOOK-KEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE.
SHORTHAND BY MAIL LESSONS FREE

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors Miners and Treasure Seekers Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. AGENCY, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

MONEY GOLD, SILVER..........BOOK FREE. [illegible]

OPIUM and WHISKEY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

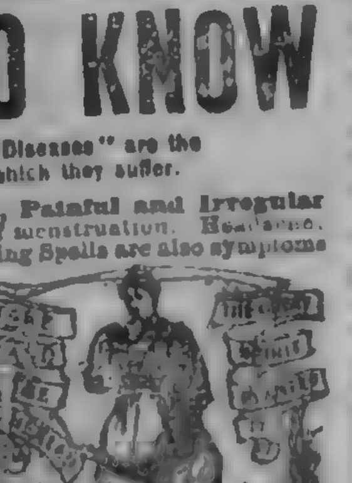
Absolutely Pure-Delicious-Nutritious.

The Breakfast Cocoa
MADE BY
WALTER BAKER & CO. LIMITED
DORCHESTER, MASS.
COSTS LESS THAN ONE CENT A CUP.
NO CHEMICALS.
ALWAYS ASK YOUR GROCER FOR WALTER BAKER & CO'S. BREAKFAST COCOA MADE AT DORCHESTER, MASS. IT BEARS THEIR TRADE MARK LA BELLE CHOCOLATIÈRE ON EVERY CAN!
AVOID IMITATIONS.

WOMEN SHOULD KNOW

That the Disorders commonly called "Female Diseases" are the Foundation of nearly all the Troubles from which they suffer.

Whites, Chlorosis, Falling of the Womb, Painful and Irregular Menses are caused by derangements of the organs of menstruation. Headaches, Backache, Dizziness, Eruptions of the skin and Fainting Spells are also symptoms of these Diseases. Being only symptoms, their temporary relief does not cure the disease.



McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI CURES FEMALE DISEASES

by acting directly upon the delicate organs affected. It can be taken in the privacy of home. Thousands of ladies use it. Druggists sell and commend it. One Dollar buys a large bottle.

PIERCE CITY, Lawrence County, Mo.
I have been afflicted with Irregular and Painful Menstruation and very severe Cramping Spells following each monthly period. After the best doctors I could find had failed to benefit me, I tried the Wine of Cardui treatment. [illegible] I have been for twelve months. NETTY WATSON.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

By J. Hamilton Ayers A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household [illegible]

Before and After Treatment.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.
60 CTS. POST-PAID.
[illegible]
BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1896. NO. 2.

The government still lives.

[illegible] best some of the trusts.

[illegible] A job-lot of political pre[illegible].

[illegible] a more honorable than [illegible].

[illegible] now fast the trusts [illegible].

[illegible]ilization is only refined and [illegible].

[illegible] yellow hammers can now go to [illegible] the cuckoos.

[illegible] of the world is [illegible].

[illegible] on with the work of education [illegible] well begun.

Debt [illegible] the form of slavery [illegible] servant to the lender.

[illegible] prosperity don't show up now [illegible] have been lots of lies told about [illegible].

[illegible] may help the bankers and [illegible] but it is costly to the pro[illegible].

The men who denounced the Dred [illegible] decision were pronounced an[illegible].

There should be enough money in circulation to provide against the en[illegible]ment of debt trade.

The improved methods of production would under a proper system of distribution shorten the hours of labor.

[illegible] church-upheld chattel slavery [illegible] it now seems to be doing debt slavery. It places property above human [illegible].

If a government is not administered [illegible] the greatest good to the greatest number it is not worthy of the name of government.

Great industries are the result of the intelligence and enterprise of the many, and the profits should be equitably distributed.

The true greatness of Abraham Lincoln was in his contention for the rights of labor as against the encroachments of capital.

The men who fought chattel slavery were villified, slandered and traduced the same as are now the men who oppose debt slavery.

Now is a good time to "cast up" accounts and review mistakes. Men who are not wise and honest leaders should be asked to step down in the "ranks."

The milestones which mark the progress of civilization were protests against unwise and unjust constitutions, court decisions and legal enactments.

Why not begin to agitate the question of demonetizing gold? If the law does not and cannot add to its value, why not let it go on its own intrinsic merits?

It is not the law that makes "something out of nothing," but the legal enactments which bestow special and valuable privileges on a few that is the contention of mankind.

One of the amusing phases of the campaign was that the greatest tax-dodgers made the most noise about national honor and sound money. Such scalawags ought to be hung.

The people are not only taking lessons in a "Financial School," but they are investigating other questions of economic reform of almost equal importance, and will be heard from later.

It ought to be seen to now that the free silver question doesn't serve the same purpose for the next ten or fifteen years that the tariff question did for twenty years—that of keeping the people divided and furnishing a hobby for politicians to ride into office.

Here's a Surprise.

Following closely on the decided stand taken by the Medical World, the representative organ of the profession which its name indicates, for direct legislation by the people, now comes the Weekly Law Bulletin and Ohio Law Journal and puts itself on record as favoring the reform. The legal fraternity, from the very nature of law, must be the most conservative of all. The Law Bulletin, commenting on the work of the last state legislature and its suggestion to elect only men pledged to carry out the wishes of their constituents, says:

"As to the remedy proposed by the Commercial Gazette's review of the that there may be spasmodic movements among the people to improve things, but they soon disgust, and affairs will soon go on as before. The most effective remedy would seem to be the introduction of the referendum as it exists in the Swiss republic. If it were known that legislation of doubtful character would be brought before the people for ratification or rejection, corrupt cliques would not find it worth while to spend large sums of money, etc., to secure such legislation in the first instance. It would relieve the legislatures of temptations which now surround them, and men who now go to the legislature for what there is in it for them would not be willing to go there when nothing could be made out of it. We should learn from experience of other republics."—The Toledo Union.

SOME SAD PICTURES.

DRAWN FROM LIFE BY A MAN WITHOUT A SOUL.

An Apt Illustration of How the Law Makes Poverty a Crime. It Is From The Coming Nation—Breaking the Laws of God and Man.

I was sitting in the park and resting my brain with the chatter and song of little birds and feeling happy in the thought that I had been born in free America and fate had so ordered my life that I drifted to the far west where men drew in the love of liberty with the very air they breathe.

I know I have been told this flowery story ever since I was old enough to appreciate a lie.

On the grass, a few rods from where I sat, two men were reclining and talking in a tone of voice too low for me to understand. Their faces and clothes were soiled with marks of box car travel, and I knew they were strangers.

Presently, one man got up off the grass and came over to where I sat musing and asked me if I knew where a willing man could find employment. I could not tell him. The town was full of idle men all the time and the highways and byways were full of workless men, going up and down this beggared continent in search of labor and a chance to earn a livelihood.

He went back to his companion with a dejected air, and lay down again on the grass. The happy little birds sang joyously overhead; the heavily laden bee went drowsily homeward through the balmy air; the tall weeds nodded in the gentle autumn wind; the big red ants at my feet went on laboring, excavating new cells for the enlargement of their great underground city; the whippoorwills were congregating overhead and skimming through the air in graceful circles while waiting for their pilot leader to order a flight to the south to escape the cold storms of the coming winter; the minister rode by in his carriage, seated alongside of the prominent banker who loans money at 10 per cent—and the two men lay on the grass.

The city marshal came into the park. He had been elected by the populists—the great reform party—the party pledged in their platform to protect the oppressed poor.

He stopped in front of the two men on the grass and asked them what they were doing there. They told him they were resting. He asked them what they had been working at. One replied that he was hunting work—had not worked for several months, except the few odd jobs he obtained to pay for a meal.

The marshal asked them if they had any money. The one had six dollars. He produced it from his vest pocket and showed it with pride. The other man—the one who had talked with me—the one who said he was hunting work, had but 5 cents.

"I am compelled to arrest you for a vagrant," said the marshal; and he laid his hand on the reclining man's shoulder and ordered him to get up. He led him away to the city jail, while his companion, who possessed $6 in cash, was left reclining on the grass.

There is nothing exciting about this story, nothing romantic, and nothing to show that we are a liberty loving people. I sat there and saw it all. I did not raise my voice in protest against this outrage. I was perfectly helpless. It was the law. Poverty has been made a crime.

The birds still sang their happy songs overhead, the bees went slowly winging their way home with their load of honey. The ants worked away at my feet; the whippoorwills collected into a large flock and their leader led them over the mountains toward the sunny plains of "sunny south," while away down in my heart I cursed such a system of government in which men are robbed of an opportunity to work, and then imprisoned as vagrants because they are moneyless.

My curiosity was aroused, so I went over and asked the man with the price of liberty in his pocket how it happened that he had money while his unfortunate companion had scarcely anything at all.

"It's simply my luck, stranger," he replied, with a hardened grin. "I had but 50 cents last night, but I got into a little game of 'draw' with the boys down at the water tank, and—well, luck was in my favor, and I smouched a pair of kings just at the time when I needed them, and I skinned the crowd. That's all."

And he turned over on his back, placed both arms over his eyes and went to sleep. He cared no more for his companion in distress than he did for a hungry Chinaman on the opposite side of the globe.

I started home with a mingled feeling of pity and contempt sickening every happy feeling which nature had generated in my heart. Of all the cruel, cold, selfish animals in the world civilized man was the most contemptible and depraved.

On my way home I stopped in front of the city jail. There was a stool on the outside of the door where the guard sat down in the cool of the day to smoke his pipe, so I sat down. I could not help the stranger who had been made a poverty criminal, but it made me feel as though I was giving him my sympathy more freely while remaining near his prison.

Looking down the street, I could see three church spires pointing toward heaven, two on the right and one on the left. Across the street were two licensed saloons. Men came out of them staggering under a load of poison.

The government gets a "rakeoff" on the sale of this poison; so does the city.

There is a law against gambling in this state but it is carried on in every saloon. I have a neighbor who squanders all his wages there while his wife is compelled to take in washing to support the family. The marshal knows all about it; all the ministers know it; all the good and pious brethren know that gambling goes on. It takes money to gamble, and that gives it the color of respectability.

It is a crime to beg for work, or the price of a meal.

While I sat there the marshal came out and stood in the open doorway of his office. A pair of painted prostitutes passed by; he raised his hat to them, he knew they had paid their licenses and they were doing business under the law. A gambler passed by and exchanged a friendly nod with the officer. Last week he killed a man. It was called a justifiable act. The dead man had drawn a gun on the gambler. The gambler had fleeced him, of course, but that belonged to the profession. He kept the finest gambling hell in the city, and his wife was a leading member of the Methodist church. Her donations were liberal.

In the state where I now live the chairman of the board of county commissioners attends to the charity fund. He is honored in proportion to the economy he forces upon the unfortunate and dependent poor. He is a pompous man, loves to be admired by the society ladies. He never had any morals to speak of.

He passes by the stool where I am sitting. A few rods farther on he is accosted by a poor widow whose misfortunes have driven her out to hunt assistance. She has been to the commissioners' office, but he was not there. Had not been there for two days, was attending to his profession—bookkeeping—at the office of his employer, two miles away from the commissioners' office. He could not draw his salary as commissioner except when performing actual duty for the city and county.

He took out his book and wrote an order for 75 cents to the corner grocery, which he handed to the widow. It did not consume over five minutes of his time, and he had already been credited with a day's work by his employer. But he immediately got into a street car and rode up to the commissioner's office and ordered the clerk to credit him with one day—$5.

The taxpayers say it costs so much to keep the poor, and the commissioner is told to make the poor live on a less amount of luxuries.

A real estate broker drives past with a victim from some foreign shore. He has told the stranger a thousand lies about the country. The soil is so rich that crops grow with scarcely any cultivation or care. The price of the land they have just been out to look at will be doubled in two weeks. The title is clear, and it is the best neighborhood God ever blest with his bounty.

The stranger only has a few hundred dollars to invest, but the broker assures him he can get work at good wages in the city, and he had better invest his ready cash before the good bargains are all snapped up.

I know what the end will be. The poor, deluded stranger will invest every cent of cash he possesses, in the faith of getting employment to support his family. When it is too late he will see how he has been deceived. There is no work to be had in the towns—his family is hungry—he cannot sell his interest in the ranch, because there was a big mortgage on it before he was swindled into buying it.

Well-meaning neighbors tell him he can get work up in the mountain towns. He goes up there and starves for a few weeks while hunting for work—takes pneumonia one day, and the next day he is a corpse, waiting in the morgue for some friend to recognize his features.

His wife and children find work; the years roll by, and they wonder what became of the husband and father. The broker grows wealthy and full of grace and takes the minister home to dine with him almost every Sunday, and has long ago sought and found pardon for his many deeds of skinflintism.

There is nothing romantic about this story, nothing that appeals to our patriotism, but it is a true story of American life. I have painted it just as I saw it with my own eyes. I defy the heathen and barbarous nations to produce a more disgusting picture of inhumanity to man.

And yet I have told nothing of our crimes. The picture I have painted is simply one depicting the daily practice of our law-abiding citizens. It is all supported and favored by our churches and church people.

If Christ came to America penniless, how long would it be before he was in the chain gang?

Poverty is a crime here.

Judging from the cartoons in the plutocratic papers the principal charge against the farmer is that his whiskers are too long. Of course this is a very grave offense and one that can only be partially atoned for by the fact that the farmer is kept so busy in the struggle to keep his head above the water that he has but little time to trim his whiskers in the latest plutocratic style. Another reason may be that he is "shaved" so often by speculators, demagogues and usurers that he stands in holy abhorrence of shaving himself.

The Republican party once made a vigorous kick against a decision of the supreme court—the Dred Scot decision—and it was severely denounced for it.

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" can hardly be said to belong to a man who is denied the opportunity to earn a living by honest toil.

WHO CREATES MONEY?

MAJOR M'KINLEY SAYS POINTEDLY THAT THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT.

He Neglected the Opportunity, However, to Name the Power That Does, and It Is Hoped That He Will Correct the Oversight.

Bryan's campaign declaration to the Martinsburg (West Va.) farmers that "money is a creature of law" called out a reply from Mr McKinley. In a speech Oct. 7 he spoke as follows:

"There is a deal of misunderstanding as to how the government gets its money and how it pays it out. There are some people who seem to believe that the way the government gets its money is to make it. The government gets its money by taxation, and can get it in no other way. It takes about $430,000,000 a year to conduct this government. A million and one-third dollars for every day is required to keep its wheels in operation. Now if the government had the power to make money, as some people seem to believe, or had the power to double the value of a thing by its stamp or fiat, it would not need to resort to taxation—it would simply set its mints to work and make the necessary amount of money to pay its running expenses. It would have paid off the national debt long years ago in this way. There is another thing I would have you all know—that the government cannot get gold or silver except through the customhouses or the internal revenue offices without giving something for it, just as you and I have to give something for it if we want gold or silver. Now how does the government distribute this money? Somebody asked me this question the other day. The government distributes its annual receipts under appropriations of congress to its creditors. That is the way the money of the government is distributed. It is distributed to the army and the navy, for public improvements, for rivers and harbors, for the great postal service of the country, for the expenses of congress, for sustaining the judiciary, to pay the principal and interest of the public debt, and to pay the pensions of soldiers and to other creditors of the government; and there is no other way for the government to distribute any money except to pay it to the people to whom it owes money. There is no such thing as a general distribution of money by the government of the United States. The point I want to make in the little talk I am giving to you this morning is this—that the government does not create money, that it can not create money and that whatever money it needs it has to collect from taxes, either by a system of direct taxation or by a system of indirect taxation, known as a tariff, and that if the government wants to have any gold or silver minted for its own uses it has to pay for that gold and that silver just as you and I would have to pay for it if we wanted it for our purposes. The idea that the government can create wealth is a mere myth. There is nothing that can create wealth except labor."

This is plain, very plain, but plain as it is, the major could have vastly simplified matters if he had only given his audience the name of the power that can and does "create money." Everybody knows that money exists, and that in this country it is divided into different denominations, as dimes, dollars, cents, etc., and everbody knows, or at least everybody who has attained to years of discretion, with the usual complement of sense, knows that the individual who undertakes to "create money" will speedily find himself in the penitentiary, and that, too, by the order of the very government which the major says cannot and does not "create money."

Of course, being a great statesman, the major knows the name of the power that "creates money," and of course being a member of a Christian church in good standing, he wouldn't lie to the people, but while this all follows as a matter of course, he, having excited the curiosity of the masses, has a duty to perform in the premises, and that is to tell them what power "creates money," unless, in fine, the knowledge they desire is a "state secret," in which event they will have to content themselves as they are, and in which event it would really have been much better for the interests he represents, as well as much kinder to the people, had he not mentioned the matter at all. There are quite a good many people who are really and truly of the belief that government does "create money," and the major's hint that they, being correct, the "national debt" might easily be paid and "national taxes" dispensed with, instead of operating to convince them of their folly, may suggest to them new methods of getting money into circulation.

Just think a moment what the adoption of these ideas would mean to the bond holding interest absorbing gentlemen who buy $5,000 dogs and in other ways encourage home industry and home talent represented by the gallant major! Why, a dog that can be bought now for the insignificant sum of $5,000 would then cost at least $20,000! and a handsome golf suit, costing now $50, would advance in price to not less than $200, and that would mean the utter destruction of the dog trade and a very wet blanket on the elegant business of golfing. Certainly it would be "anarchy," but when such men as Bryan turn "anarchists," there is no telling where the craze will stop.

There are several cranky agitators who do not hesitate to declare that "the government never borrowed a dollar" for the purpose of prosecuting the war, for the reason, first, the men who had money wouldn't lend it to the government; second, there wasn't money enough in the world, if our government could have borrowed it all, to pay its war bills; that the war was fought with paper money, and if the government really owes anything at all it was for paper money, and that the "debt" should be paid in the same kind of money which the government borrowed; therefore, "start your printing presses and pay the debt," and these same cranks do not hesitate to say that if the people need more money than this, then remit all taxes and print the money necessary to pay running expenses until such time as the proper limit to the amount of money is reached.

Of course this means anarchy, pure and simple, and perhaps the only effective way to stop its progress is for the major to tell the people plainly where money comes from, how it is created, etc., the fact that the constitution gives congress the power to coin money and regulate its value could easily be explained on the ground of expediency in maintaining the inviolability of the "state secret."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Flashes of Thoughts Inspired by Passing Events.

The people's party did more to press the silver question to the front than all other forces put together. While it should have credit for this, recent developments cause us to ask the question, if it is not probable that too much prominence was given to it at the expense of other phases of the money question. The silver question considered alone and apart from the money question, is of minor importance and rather a weak foundation.

* * * *

All the objections that can be urged against gold coin with equal propriety can be urged against the white metal. Its volume depends upon chances of discovery, and while the free mintage of both metals comes nearer filling the demands for a circulating medium, the fact that the output of both depends upon the chances of discovery of new mines and the exhaustion of old ones, makes it next to impossible to preserve a uniformity in the volume of currency even with both used as money metals.

* * * *

Besides in gauging the battle on the silver question alone we were made subject to unfair comparisons that proved a serious obstacle in the fight. The countries of Mexico, Japan, China and some of the South American states were pointed out as examples of the evil effects of a silver basis, when as a matter of fact silver had little to do with the low rate of wages and poor condition of the laborer in those countries. It will be remembered that during the tariff discussion the contestants pointed to these same countries as examples of warning against a change of the "American policy."

* * * *

The whole monetary question should have entered into the discussion, especially the problems of who should issue the money and how it should be redeemed. But it seems to be in line with the usual tactics of considering the question of how not to settle it instead of grasping the real problem in dead earnest and demanding its consideration.

* * * *

The silver question is but a minor one among those incorporated in our platform, yet its discussion and consideration has engrossed the entire attention of the public. While this is to be regretted there is some consolation in the fact that the money question is "in court," and if the populists will pull themselves together and follow up their agitation much good may yet accrue from the animated contentions of the campaign just closed. Voting on a proposition does not always settle it, and even it it be claimed that the silver question is settled, the agitation of the financial question is only just begun.

* * * *

The developments of the recent campaign have emphasized the importance of wresting from the banks the power to issue money. The threats which have time and again emanated from Wall street as to what it would do in the event of the election of a free silver administration justifies the people to go to the extreme of not only withdrawing from them the privilege of issuing their own notes, but of revoking their charters. If we cannot have banks without surrendering to them the power over the immense business interests of the country and of yielding to their every demand on threats of a panic which they claim they can and will precipitate, then we were better off without banks.

* * * *

The campaign is over, but the enlightenment which the people received from it will be as seed sown upon good ground. Happily the discussion of one step toward monetary reform may lead to an investigation of the whole. Here, then, is the opportunity which Populists should improve. All political parties should now be put on their record and their ante-election promises. Every man's work should be measured for what it is worth. If he is not capable of leadership he should be deposed. Those who are elected and do not keep their records clear should be marked for retirement at the very first opportunity the people have to speak. Let it be known that close tab is being kept on every man, and that he will be held in strict account for his every action, and we will not have so much reason to complain of those whom we trust to represent our interests.

W. S. Morgan.

Rothschild's Platform.

An examination of the gold bug argument from Carlisle, formerly of Kentucky, down to little [illegible], will disclose the fact that they rest upon the following assumptions:

1. That the United States has no power to coin money and regulate the value thereof.

2. That money is created by government for export and not for use within the jurisdiction issuing it.

3. That the United States has no right to money which is not a full legal tender in every country of the world.

4. That foreign commerce consists in the exports of money and not of commodities.

5. That foreign balances are settled by exporting money and not by incurring a foreign debt.

6. That it is a good thing to buy more commodities than we sell and export our money to pay the differences.

7. That there can be no international trade without international money.

8. That it is the duty of the United States to have the same kind of financial legislation as Europe has, because Europe is a civilized country, and if the United States desires to be civilized its government, laws and customs must be the same as those of Europe.

9. That the best money is the dearest money, and the more rapidly the purchasing power of money increases the more equitably time contracts can be settled.

10. That the fact that the unlimited coinage of silver was always beneficial previous to 1873 proves conclusively that a return to the equal coinage of the two metals would be disastrous.

11. That the fact that all silver standard countries enjoy unexampled prosperity, while all gold standard countries are more miserable than at any time during the century is a conclusive reason why the United States should remain on the gold standard.

12. That because silver was demonetized without knowledge of the American people it ought not to be restored, because that would be a reflection upon the good faith of the eminent men who succeeded in cheating the people out of the money of the Constitution.

13. That the establishment of an independent financial system by the Fathers of the Republic, and in corporating the same in the Constitution, was an unfriendly act towards the British empire for which the patriots of Wall street are rendering reasonable satisfaction to the Mother Country.

14. That the Republican party came into existence as the friend of equal rights and opposed slavery in every form, which was an unpardonable offense to extortion, despotism and oppression, and makes it the bounden duty of every Republican to stand by the old party while it renders satisfaction to plutocracy and aristocracy for its organization in defiance of the divine right of money changers, bondholders and gold gamblers.

15. That it is the duty of the Democratic party to stand by the patriot of Buffalo and Wall street in vindicating the honor of an alien gold trust, and sanctify and purify the acquisition of wealth by bond deals, treasury raids, and honorable collusion with the speculators and money dealers of the world.

16. That the man who protests against any of the maxims of the gold king or their methods of robbing the people, is an anarchist and disturber of the public peace, and if he is a Populist or silver man, he is declared dangerous to the good government of gold gamblers and money changers for whose sole and exclusive benefit man was created and government ordained. —Sixteen To One.

Evil Result of the Gold Standard.

The recent issue of 262 millions of bonds in time of peace illustrates another serious evil of the present monetary system. The necessity the government is under of redeeming greenbacks in gold upon demand enables scheming men to draw large amounts of gold from the treasury and then say to the government, "Your reserve is getting low; you must have gold or you will be in danger of failure to keep your promise in respect to specie payments—issue bonds and get the gold back again." So the schemers get bonds for their gold, sell the bonds at a premium, take the greenbacks they get for the bonds and draw the gold out of the treasury again, till the government is frightened into a new issue of bonds, and so on in an endless chain; with a premium profit for Wall street on every issue of bonds, and nothing but accumulating debt for the nation. When bonds are issued in time of war the government gets a substantial equivalent, but these millions of bonds that are issued to keep up the gold reserve have secured to the people nothing at all of any real worth to them. The speculators rendered no service to the government—they simply drew out gold in order to speculate on the bonds that would be issued to get it back. The government might start with 30 millions of gold in the treasury and through the repetition of the above process, issue a billion of bonds, and at the end be just where it started, with 30 millions of gold in the treasury, and not a thing to show for the billion of debt but the keeping of a foolish promise that is of little advantage to anyone except the schemers who have found out how to gear it to a bond-printing press and make it turn the people's millions into their coffers as fast as they dare to turn on the current.—Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston University in October Arena.

The thing seems to have been loaded.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

What the Commercial Agencies Say of the State of Business.

IN A WAITING ATTITUDE.

The Volume of Business Is Smaller and Will Continue That Way Until After the Election—Merchants Buying With Caution—Pressure of the New York Money Market.

Last week's issue of Bradstreet's trade review says: Business in staple lines is confined to immediate wants, interest in the election absorbing attention. The volume of trade is smaller than a week ago, and will continue restricted until the results of the election [illegible].

The [illegible] distribution of merchandise for [illegible] weeks has begun to register itself in the bank clearings totals, the aggregate for which at all cities during the past six business days is $969,000,000, 7 per cent less than last week, but 10 per cent less than in the corresponding week one year ago.

Orders to an enormous amount have been placed with manufacturers, jobbers, commission houses and importers to be cancelled in the event of the success of the free silver cause. An encouraging feature is a further advance in the price of leather, wool, Bessemer pig iron, wheat, Indian corn, lard, raw and refined sugar, and for crude and refined petroleum. Prices are practically unchanged for pork and coffee, but hides are a little weaker, and prices for oats, wheat flour, cotton and print cloths, are lower. Only moderate orders have been placed for woolen goods for spring delivery, but manufacturers are disposed to buy some raw material.

Texas country merchants buy with extreme caution, and in Louisiana the advance in discount rates has rendered trade duller than it might otherwise have been. Mercantile failues throughout the United States have declined in number this week, the total being 246, against 202 last week and 229 in the week one year ago.

R. G. Dun & Co. has the following to say: A market without anything but politics to rule is not often seen. Business is almost abolished until after the election by the extraordinary pressure for money, by the indisposition of anybody who thinks that a chance for the better is near, by the feeling that it is now of no use to contract or buy when so little time remains before a decision and by the general absorption of business men in political activities. The indications show a gratifying confidence in preparing for better things, but an enormous volume of contracts and orders depend on the election, and while prices of materials are strong, with heavy speculative buying, the absence of immediate demand makes finished products generally quiet in price, though with evident expectation of strength.

The feature of the week has been the pressure of the New York money market in spite of the heavy arrivals of gold. Quotations of call loans at 100 per cent or more have no real meaning except that with practically four holidays to come in succession there is really no market. Commercial loans are almost a lost art, except as banks sustain their regular customers which they do generally with a fair degree of liberality. The hoarding or engagement of gold to provide against contingencies has far surpassed all records, and in exchange bought ahead, gold actually withdrawn and contracts to deliver gold if required probably exceeds in amount $100,000,000. The makers of contracts to deliver gold on demand have imported over $10,000,000, it is believed, and ordered $500,000 more this week; the withdrawals of gold from banks for temporary deposit elsewhere, or at the demand of customers, have been quite heavy, and the buying of foreign exchange has made the market entirely abnormal and quite out of relation to the existing state of foreign trade.

Cotton has held up remarkably well, in spite of trade estimates that the yield will be close to 9,000,000 bales. The trade believes such estimates erroneous and also believes that the present prices will not be found too high if with such a crop there should be good business in this and other countries. The mills are selling staple goods somewhat freely and print cloths are a shade higher, but there is neither much selling nor much effort to buy goods of other descriptions.

Iron has been bought largely by speculators, 25,000 tons of Bessemer at Pittsburg raising the price to $11.00; large quantities of gray forge raising the price to $10.40 and 20,000 tons, nearly all of Northern iron, at Chicago. Finished products do not change in quoted prices, although quotations are less shaded than of late to secure business, and there is a late belief that after a week there will be a marked change.

Failures for the week have been 270 in the United States, against 278 last year, and forty in Canada, against fifty-three last year.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN

Is What Edward J. Avery, an Alleged Dynamiter, Says He Is.

Edward J. Ivery, alias Bell, an alleged dynamiter, who is under remand for further examination in the Bow Street Police Court, London, having applied to the United States Ambassador Bayard for the protection of the Embassy as an American citizen, the Embassy will send a representative to the Bow street court when the next hearing comes up, next Friday, to watch the proceedings, with a view of preserving the prisoners rights as a citizen of the United States.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office of Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain;
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THE organized Democracy are now about convinced that Capt. Kolb could not deliver the goods.

FOUR years of Republican rule confronts us, and that is pretty rough after we have just managed to pull through four years of Democratic misrule.

ONE great lesson should be learned by all Populists in this election, and that is in future to take their'n straight—we don't seem to gain anything by concessions to either of the old parties.

AMONGST the first things we expect to hear from the new legislature will be the cry of the necessity for a new State constitution, and more amendments to the existing election law.

THE BANNER is now in its fifth year. A large number of subscriptions became due with our last issue and we hope all subscribers will promptly come forward and renew. All who receive this paper with a blue cross-mark on it, will kindly consider it an invitation to vote one dollar right away for a renewal of their subscription.

GOVERNOR Atkinson of Georgia who has only just been re-elected to the gubernatorial chair, is desirous of becoming senator. It seems to us that when a man is elected to any office it is his duty to his constituents to fill that office and not throw it over because there is a possibility of securing a more remunerative one. Tom Watson was denounced as an office-seeker, but what excuse can be found for Governor Atkinson?

WE think that no man had the right to paste a slip of paper with a printed name and a printed cross-mark on it upon the official ballots issued in Tuesday's election, and believe inspectors would have been fully justified in rejecting all such ballots. The election law provides blank spaces for voters to write the name of any person they wish to vote for whose name may not be printed on the ballot, and the innovation introduced by this slip pasting process is one to be closely looked into. We do not hesitate to say that if the death of a Populist elector had occurred instead of a Sewall man, the pasting of any substitute's printed name on the ballot would have been strenuously opposed by the powers that be.

THE committee appointed at the citizens meeting two weeks ago to draft a charter of incorporation for Clanton, we have no doubt are attending to that duty, but if so their proceedings seem to be remarkably quiet and no one knows what the results of their deliberations will be. The legislature meets next Tuesday and we presume the petition will be ready for presentation in a short time. Our citizens ought to make themselves acquainted with the provisions of the proposed charter BEFORE it is presented to the legislature, and not put the legislature to the trouble of passing an act granting a charter of incorporation which may or may not be acceptable to a majority of the people of the town. We are not saying this will necessarily be the case, but there is no reason why the citizens of Clanton should not know the nature of the charter under which it is proposed they shall live in future. We respectfully suggest to the committee that as soon as they have drafted the proposed charter they call a meeting of our citizens and submit it to their consideration, before it is presented to the legislature.

THE ELECTION.

THE election of 1896, which has been engrossing public attention to an almost unparalleled degree, is now a matter of history. The result seems to be, although at this moment it is by no means a certainty, that Mr. McKinley will be our next president, and if the reports are to be relied upon the Republicans will have a large majority in the House and also a majority in the Senate.

The reports yesterday were that McKinley would have at least 264 votes in the electoral college and Bryan 170, with California 9 and Oregon 4 yet to be heard from. On the other hand this morning brings the news that the reports of yesterday are not correct and that Bryan will yet have sufficient votes to elect him. Our opinion is, however, that McKinley is elected and will be our next president.

The result is naturally a disappointment to Populists who were anxiously looking forward to seeing better times under Bryan's administration and who have small expectations of relief from a Republican president and congress.

We believe that Populists have more cause to congratulate themselves than they have to bewail the result of this election for the reason it is very evident the people of the United States will not again trust the Democratic party, and unless McKinley's administration is conducive to the prosperity of the country, four years from now will see the end of the Republican party and the election of Populists from one end of the country to the other.

We have been unable to obtain reliable information as to the result of the election for congress in this district, and publish the following from this morning's State Herald for what it is worth.

Anniston, Nov. 4.—(Special.) For congress returns show that Plowman, democrat, carried Calhoun county by 550, Talladega by 184 and Cleburne by 155, while Aldrich, fusionist, gets Shelby by 500 and Chilton by 255. Plowman goes to Dallas county with 139 majority and there it will be largely increased. Two years ago Robbins, democrat, went to Dallas 1,600 votes short.

Government by Party.

At this writing political indications point to the election of Mr. McKinley by a large popular majority and a considerable majority in the Electoral College. With this election the coinage issue may perhaps disappear from American politics. On the one hand, it is not impossible that international agreement may be secured with France and Germany, if not with other European powers, for a bimetallic currency; on the other, it is not impossible that the discovery of the immense gold fields in South Africa may at once lessen the difficulty of establishing bimetalism and lessen the evils of the gold standard. But it appears to me very clear that the party which has selected Mr. Bryan as its standard bearer will not disappear. Though the issue formulated in 1896 will never again be similarly formulated, the tendencies appearing in 1896 will certainly reappear in two great national organizations. Conservatism will be represented in the one party, radicalism in the other. A too staied and self-satisfied content will be the fault of the one, and a too restless and eager demand for change the fault of the other. One will have too little, the other too much faith in popular government; the one will fear the excesses of liberty, the other will be impatient of constitutional restraints; the one will tend toward Toryism, the other toward radicalism, if not socialism. Let us hope that they may find as leaders worthy successors, the one to Alexander Hamilton, the other to Thomas Jefferson, and the great middle body of voters, alternately attracted by the promises and repelled by the failures of the competing parties may wisely mediate between them, that the country may thus be preserved from falling either into the political solidity and stagnation of Spain or the restlessness and untempered radicalism of France, and by the sometimes inspiring, sometimes restraining, influence of the people may be kept in that path of real and rational progress which has been the safety of Great Britain and the glory of Anglo-Saxon history.—From "A Summing-up of the Vital Issues of 1896," by Rev. Lyman Abbott, D.D., in November Review of Reviews.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

THE BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8, 1896.

When this letter reaches the reader the election will be over, the die cast, and the people of the United States will know what to expect during the next four years. All-anti-election news will be of doubtful interest, and hence, rather than offer our usual news letter, we will look back over the last few months and study and contrast the two political elements that have made our country a bloodless battle field.

That McKinley's candidacy was placed in the hands of an organized candicate at the crisis of his financial embarrassment, that this body paid his indebtedness and took his notes and that these same notes were afterward bought up by Mark Hanna is ancient history. We have seen syndicates and trusts organized for almost every other purpose, but a Presidential syndicate was a novelty. The management of this enterprise having fallen into the hands of Mark Hanna, that gentleman began his unique and iniquitous work in time. He invaded, either in person or by means of his trusted emissaries, every state. He dominated almost every state convention. Instructions for McKinley were as openly purchased as if it had been a stock or real estate transaction. That there were stronger better men in the race, at the beginning, no one denies. This man who had spent all his life talking tariff, but whose every utterance on finance had favored silver, suddenly lost his tongue and delegations in the South and West that would never have endorsed him as a goldbug gave him support on account of those utterances.

The only thing that relieved the monotony for the spectators was Senator Teller's walk out. However much his subsequent conduct may be criticised, his leave taking of the party, for which he had done so much, and the rallying around him of younger men whose future was necessarily jeopardized by the act, was indeed dramatic. He went out followed by hisses of rage. The delegates were relieved when he was gone; they shouted it. It was in the air. The dynamite had been removed, the slow fuse was put out.

In striking contrast to all this was the Chicago Convention, were a plain, honest man of the people stood up alone and the multitudes claimed him as their leader and champion. It was futile for the traditional leaders to advise a straddle, a compromise, a middle man. That was a convention of and for the people. Bland, Stone, Altgeld and Blackburn and others as brave and as earnest turned back the Hills and Whitneys and told them to their teeth that the time had come when the West and the South would be heard.

Then came the People's Party Convention, when many a scarred veteran who had fought so long and against such fearful odds, found here his hardest task was to quit fighting, to join hands with the men who were willing to help forward one of the several reforms the People's Party had been working for. But the rank and file were great enough to put country and home above party. And the work begun. We have felt that Bryan was our man and if he sits in the White House, People's Party votes will have put him there. That some alleged People's party men have heeded Mark Hanna's siren voice non can deny. That others have made unnatural alliances is deplorably true. Some men are not now, and never were, Populists. They are out of our ranks and cannot return.

However this campaign ends it is not the end to our party. Its work is but begun. There can be no real failure when the rights of the people, the brotherhood of humanity is at stake. Let every man begin the next Presidential campaign November 4, 1896, so that if we are in power we may stay in and if the opposing party be in we must begin in time to turn the rascals out.

A. R.

Thin, Pale Children

One satisfaction in giving Scott's Emulsion to children is they never object to it. The fact is, they soon become fond of it. Another satisfaction is because it will make them plump, and give them growth and prosperity. It should be given to all children who are too thin, or too pale. It does not make them over-fat, but plump.

It strengthens the digestive organs and the nerves, and furnishes material for rich blood.

We have a book telling you more on the subject. Sent free for the asking.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Lily Lyrics.

Mrs. Seaborn Jones will leave in a few days to visit her brother, Mr. Perry Edwards, in South Alabama

Miss Minnie Rasberry entered the Industrial School at Montevallo last week.

Mr. Newton Wilson, of Clanton, was over here last Sunday.

CLINT.

* * *

Union Singing at Big Springs.

The people assembled at 10:00 o'clock at Big Springs the first Sunday in November to engage in a song service.

T. A. King was elected chairman and W. U. Gaines, Joe Billingsley and W. W. Carter were appointed a committee to make out a program for the day.

The following leaders were placed on the program: J. C. Veazey, W. H. Cox, W. Billingsley, Wyatt.

Miss Daisie Cox was the principal organist with T. A. King and Mr. Billingsley assistants. The house was filled with attentive listeners and the day passed pleasantly and profitably.

J. C. VEAZEY, Sec.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

Our much needed rain has come and farmers are hurrying in late crops of rye, oats and turnips.

Farmers are now moving around briskly gathering in the fruits of their year's labor.

There is not so much cotton wagoned to Selma this season as usual.

Mr. J. C. DuBose is at home again from Selma.

Mr. Robert Martin has been to Selma. Mrs. Mary DuBose has been to Selma to have her eyes treated. We are enjoying a prayer-meeting held in the Methodist church.

Tom Plowman and Sid Bowie have been guests of T. U. Crumpton.

SUBSCRIBER.

* * *

Program of Mulberry Baptist S. S.

Convention to be held with Macedonia church, on Friday, November 27, 1896.

Prayer by Bro. G. W. Freeman, 10 a.m. Welcome address by Bro. S. E. Waldrup. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. S. M. Adams.

Subjects for discussion—1. What is the best method of promoting an interest in Sabbath-school work? discussed by Bro. J. E. Jones and Bro. L. B. Pounds. 2. What effect should a Sabbath-school have on a church and community? discussed by Bro. M. D. Langston, W. H. Shaw and others. 3. What is the duty of a church towards a Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt, Z. J. Jones and others. Singing. 4. What is our motive in attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. A. Mims and Bro. David Smitherman and others. 5. Can we be better Christians or enjoy any more religion by attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. J. Fleming and James Neat. Mass-meeting, Sunday, 9 a.m., conducted by Bro. Albert Foshee. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt.

There will be song service conducted by Z. J. Jones.

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skillful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and mechanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-known "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you among their patrons.

Subscribe for the BANNER!

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	22
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Mountzion church	"	26
Cane Creek church	"	27
Ehrman's mill	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church	"	9
Kincheon	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cure by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00

THE JURORS.

Following are the names of jurors drawn for the fall term of circuit court, which will convene on Monday, November, 23 1896.

GRAND JURY.

J. M. Merchant, Thos. Williams. W. H. Parr, Milford Wooley, H. C. Young, Frank Harris, Craton Rasberry, Alfred Popwell, W. R. Dawson J M Robinson, R R Killingsworth, J W Scott, J E Knight, B W Silsby, G B Reed, J M Moody, John Burnett, Charlie Coburn, D H Mullins, H B Rodgers, Moses Popwell.

PETIT JURY—first week.

L W Thomas, J L Palmer, J A Miller W J Brown, J J Roberts, S G Glasscock, Elijah Robinson, J S Aldrige, J G Smith, [illegible]erman, Jessie Thomas, M H Barnes, W B Jones, S N Waldrop, George Moore, John Harris, E H Mims, James Jones, G W Askins, Peter Barrett, J R Billingsley, W T Callen, Hugh Henry, G W Mims, J N Glasscock, J C Alred, Munroe Martin, G Jones, W J Fleming W P Cleckler, T M Mims, G L Spear James Nix, L L Culver, G W Gothard, J W Scott.

PETIT JURY—second week.

A J Glasscock, J W E Gulledge, W F Claughton, Hamp Shoults, L G White, D H Hudgins, J W Sorroll, J R Kemp, W H Thomas, J J Marcus, S M Yates, Wm. Reynolds, W A Sims, M A Bates, Thomas Roberts, J L Waldrop, John Runnels, John Robinson, Mart Gore, K R Burnett, W C Dickerson, W D Horsley, J E Cobb, W M Wood, J N Askins, H C Bearden, A L Collins, D Z Merchant, LaFayett Ingram, G T Mims, W A Green, J E Champion, W E Vinsant, W W Rutherford, J W Baker.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told that I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Robert Wilson, Deceased } Probate Court Chilton County

Letters of Administration upon the estate of Robert Wilson, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of August, 1896, by Hon. R M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court for Chilton county. Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or that the same will be barred.

W. M. WILSON.
Adm. Est. of Robert Wilson, Dec'd.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,526.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 2, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on December 12th, 1896, viz.: Monroe Stewart, Homestead entry, No. 24,149, for the nw¼ of nw¼ section 12 tp 22 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Jake Hayes, of Thorsby, Ala., Anthony Latham, of Thorsby, Ala., Luke Latham, of Jemison, Ala., Robert Hicks, of Thorsby, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES;
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker's Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

CATARRH

is a more common and a more serious disease than most people imagine. Its cure depends upon constitutional treatment, not upon local remedies. V.V.V. cures catarrh because it purifies the blood, cleanses the secretory organs and brings the entire system to a condition of health and vigor. Composed entirely of health-giving vegetable remedial agents,

V.V.V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a wonderful specific for all blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—as well as rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

BABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6¼ cents.

Bales received to-date:

[illegible]	1114
[illegible]	620
Wilson	253
	1987

BRICK FOR SALE. I have [illegible] brick for sale at a low price, on the Lenix Road one and a half miles north of Clanton. Will exchange for corn or cotton seed at market price.

F. R. WOODYARD.

W. N. Moore the Painter is still in Clanton. Any one wanting work done can leave word at Mr Sampey's.

The citizens are requested to read with care Acts 2nd chapter.

The ladies aid society of the M. E. church invite everyone to an oyster supper on Friday evening, November 6, to be given for the benefit of the Parsonage.

Mr. [illegible] N. Gentry, of Oakmulgee, was in town yesterday.

When you need clothing, furnishing goods, etc, you cannot do better than give S. P. Haardt, 4 & 6 Montgomery street (under the Exchange hotel) Montgomery a trial. He has some splendid goods at low prices.

Miss Celestia Jones, of Mulberry, was in town to-day.

Miss Roberta Johnson is down from Birmingham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sory, on their return from a visit to South Alabama, spent Sunday night with relatives in Clanton.

Miss Julia Hester, after a lengthy visit to relatives in Nashville, returned home this week to the delight of her many friends.

Miss Della Leeth, of Birmingham, is down on a visit to friends in town.

Mr. Saint Clair Thornton is visiting his parents here this week.

On Monday last a large number of citizens from all parts of the county came into town to attend the sale of the old court house building. Soon after one o'clock Judge Honeycutt mounted the rostrum and explained the conditions of the sale and then ex sheriff Moore, acting as auctioneer, requested bids. For the convenience of buyers the building was sold in two lots, the first lot being the main building and the second the back part containing the grand jury room etc. The first bid for the main building was $50. and from that point it advanced up to $115 at which price it was sold to Dr. J. S. Johnson Jr. Bidding on the grand jury room part commenced with an offer of $25, jumped to $50 and went up to $90 and again Dr. Johnson was the purchaser. The buildings are to be removed and everything cleared away before court meets on the 23 inst.

Judge Callen is spending this week at home here.

Commissioners court is in session this week. They met on Monday and adjourned over Tuesday to enable the Commissioners to go home to their respective beats to vote.

Election day passed off very quietly, the only excitement during the day being when a horse belonging to Mr. Eureka Downs, Coopers, ran away with a buggy. Fortunately no damage was done.

We understand Dr. Johnson will remove the old court house to the lot opposite his residence, at the rear of Mr. Sampey's store house, and the grand jury room will be removed to the lot next the Baptist church.

Dr. A. J. Massey, the well known Dentist, will be at the Duke House, Clanton, during the first week of Fall court to extract teeth by his painless process. Come promptly. All classess of Fine Dentistry done.

A Sunday-school Convention

For Chilton county, will be held at Verbena on Sunday, Nov. 15th. All Sunday-schools in the county, without regard to denominational lines, are earnestly requested to send delegates to said convention.

H. W. CAFFEY.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. S. E. Sneed and Mrs. Lucilla Thomas; Mr. Roland C. Hanlin and Miss Georgia V. H. Plant; Mr. Franklin Monroe Scott and Margaret Kezah Oats; Mr. G. W. Gray and Miss Susie Anderson; Mr. C. M. Northcutt and Miss Mattie Hankins.

Miss Minnie Hester left this morning on a visit to Nashville.

Col. Collier, who has just returned from a trip to the North, was in town Tuesday.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 8th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN.

Editor and proprietor of DER LANDSMAN.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.....

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the General Assembly of Alabama at its next session, for the passage of an Act empowering Alfred Popwell of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell and convey the interest in lands in Chilton County, Alabama, of the heirs of John Popwell deceased, in the estate of Reuben Popwell and Benjamin Popwell, both deceased. ALFRED POPWELL.

Clanton, Ala., November 5, 1896.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Jesse S. Martin, Sr., deceased. Probate Court, Chilton County Ala. Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 27th day of October, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred. R. H. Martin, Administrator,

By his attorneys Adams & Martin

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1896, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 9th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of sw¼ sec 3 and w½ of sec 6 all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and ne¼ of sw¼ sec 10 and n½ of nw¼, sw¼ of sw1-4 and nw1-4 of se1-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14, w½ of nw1-4, se1-4 of nw1-4 and se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 33, and se1-4 of se1-4 sec 29 all in t 22 r 14 and nw1-4 of se1-4 and sw1-4 of sw1-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK.

Admr. etc. of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.

This 21 day of October, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Monthly — AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE — Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c. Trial (five months), $1.00 Year, $2.50.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. [illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness, [illegible] Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. [illegible] Spring Wagons [illegible] Send for large Catalogue.

No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness. Price $[illegible].

No. [illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

→PORTABLE←

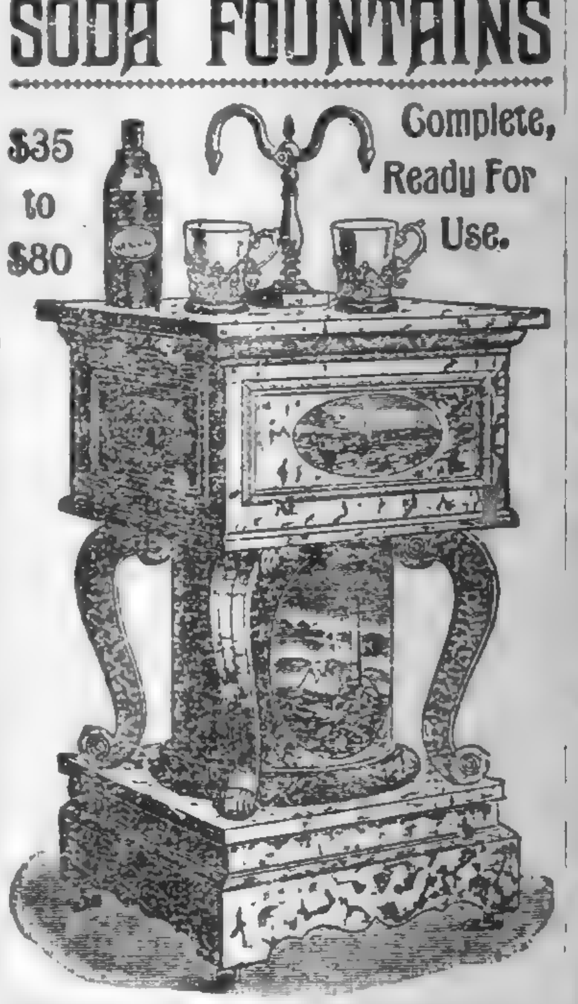
SODA FOUNTAINS



$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. [illegible] No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, [illegible] year; [illegible] Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, [illegible] Broadway, New York City.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS, BURNS, BRUISES, SCALDS, SALT RHEUM, ULCERS, ITCH, ERYSIPELAS, CHAPPED HANDS, FROSTED FEET, RINGWORM AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation.

Guaranteed to give satisfaction; when you need an ointment, be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.

VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

CAMPAIGN

SILVER

BADGES!

THESE Badges are patented, thus enabling us to protect dealers from competition. The designs are catchy and each vividly portrays the present financial situation. They will be treasured in after years as souvenirs of the greatest political revolution since the birth of our republic. Big profits for agents. Samples 10c. each. For terms [illegible]

STATE HERALD BADGE DEPT

Birmingham, Ala.

Subscribe for THE BANNER.

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD

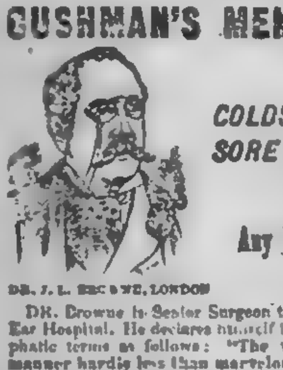
PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

— FOR —

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or

Any Head or Throat Trouble.



DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathing, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when Cushman's Inhaler will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Companion! $5.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No sickening or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the influenza bacilli."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Besley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off."

MOTTVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 21, '92.

I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I tried it.

T. DOUGLAS MORTON.

KINGSTON, N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried. H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for Book on Menthol and testimonials. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

FROM No. 2.

Campaign Edition.

THE ARENA.

Uncle Sam's Crown of Thorns.

"I will not aid to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor this crown of thorns."
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Chicago, July 9, 1896.

All voters should read the Campaign Edition of The Arena, which began with the June issue and runs to November (6 months), price,

ONE DOLLAR.

Send your subscription to Business Office of this paper.

WANTED men and women at once. $25.00 a week easily made taking orders for the Campaign Edition of the Arena. Secure your territory at once, address

ARENA PUBLISHING COMPANY,
Boston, Mass.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS:

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

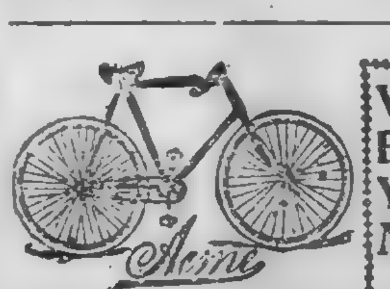
CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer



We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel. Yours truly,

C. H. CHEATHAM.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package free.

[illegible] the ailments, caused by indispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach and Bowels, which Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 18[illegible].

SICK HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILITY.—INDIGESTION.—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEPLESSNESS.—LOW SPIRITS.—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS—TIRED FEELING.—SOUR STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOWELS.—SKIN & EYES YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.—COATED TONGUE.—PAINS IN SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—[illegible] CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—[illegible] BLOATING OF STOMACH AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—[illegible] DESPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—[illegible] YELLOW JAUNDICE.—[illegible] BAD COLDS.—[illegible] APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN [illegible]

C. F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Clanton daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

P. P. P.
P. P. P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

The remarkable thing about most of the accidents that happen to bicyclists is that the injured is not a novice on the wheel, but generally an experienced if not an expert rider. The novices seem to have sense enough to keep out of danger's way. But as soon as one becomes accustomed to the wheel he begins to overestimate his ability to dodge danger when he gets into its path. Witness the foolhardiness of the youths who make a practice of riding through the tunnels between the cable cars.

Galveston is going to be the New York of Texas. Fine elevators are going up, ocean vessels are coming there for freight. St. Louis wheat exporters will export their wheat that way. The southwestern railroads all favor Galveston connections. Last year $1,000,000 worth of coal and gold was mined in that State; there are also numerous beds of lignite there.

Reading may make a full man, as Bacon says, but merely devouring papers and books, without thought, makes him no fuller than a goat.

It Took the Ribbon.

Dear Sir:—"Having used several boxes of your TETTERINE, I can say that it is the best remedy I have ever found for skin diseases. After failing with Cuticura and other similar preparations, through the recommendation of a friend I tried a box of TETTERINE, and two applications was all that it took to effect a complete cure of a breaking out on my foot of long standing. I think it is the best salve in the world for skin diseases." Yours truly,

R. B. ALEXANDER,
Mt. Sims, Texas.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Remorse is a teacher from which we should require but one lesson.

When Dobbins' Electric Soap was first made in 1865 it cost 20 cents a bar. It is precisely the same ingredients and quality now and doesn't cost half. Buy it of your grocer and preserve your clothes. If he hasn't it, he will get it.

No one should be so contented as to remain passive to poverty.

CASCARETS stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. LOTZ, 1305 Scott St., Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Eyes

Ears and nose are all more or less affected by catarrh. The eyes become inflamed, red and watery, with dull, heavy pains between them; there are roaring, buzzing noises in the ears, and sometimes the hearing is affected; the nose is a severe sufferer, with its constant, uncomfortable discharge. All these disagreeable symptoms may be removed by the use of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, indigestion, biliousness. 25 cents.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

75 Jacks and Jennets 75

I own the largest herd of Jacks and Jennets of any breeder in Tennessee. They are all black with white points and bred from the best sires and dams. Will sell on time or trade. Come and inspect my herd.

DeWITT SMITH, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

WANTED—State and local agents, male and female. Those having had sufficient experience to warrant their taking charge of large territory will do well to address us at once. We are in a position to suit almost everybody, both as to territory and terms. A modern and taking plan. Sick and death benefits. Write for terms. Union Beneficial Association, Ribson Building, Trenton, N. J.

PILES ABSOLUTELY CURED. For convincing proof and free sample, address Hermit Remedy Co., Dept. 8, 188 Dearborn St., Chicago.

MONEY GOLD, SILVER.... ....BOOK FREE. Dan Beachy, Columbus, O.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

OF INTEREST TO BICYCLE RIDERS.

There can be no question that one of the most important parts of a bicycle is the tire. It has to bear the brunt of the work, is constantly coming in contact with destroying elements, and generally receives the least care from the rider. The importance of the work it has to do was early recognized by makers of bicycles, however, and they have given much attention to this important adjunct of the wheel

There are today, perhaps, thirty different styles of bicycle tires on the market, all of which vary in detail. As to their various merits, theories are of little value, actual experience is the only way to determine this question. Unless an article gives satisfaction, demand for it soon ceases. After a test of over six years, during which time double-tube and single-tube tires have been marketed, at least three-fourths of all the riders in this country today demand and ride double-tube tires.

The leading firm in the United States, and in fact in the entire world, in the manufacture of double-tube tires, is Morgan & Wright, Chicago. Their history is interesting. The first pneumatic tire—the rags and glue kind—was giving trouble, and Morgan & Wright stepped in to fill a great public want. They furnished a tire that could be easily taken from the rim to be repaired. That was the principal requirement in those days, besides the usual requirements of speed, durability and comfort.

That was several years ago. Single tube tires had been pushed in Europe and were failing, and the same effort was being started in this country. The Morgan & Wright double-tube tire quickly proved its superiority, with the result stated above. The quick-repair, inner tube, which is this year a standard feature of all of this firm's tires, has made the position of double-tube tires practically invincible, by making it quick and easy for the riders to secure, at the roadside, a permanent repair—a thing admittedly impossible in the majority of single-tube accidents.

DIED THE DEATH OF HEROES.

Two Miners Responding to Another's Call For Aid Are Crushed to Death.

An incident resulting from a singular cause cost the lives of two men and the fatal injury of a third at Packer colliery No. 2, at Girardville, Penn., Monday afternoon. Thomas Welsh, of Lost Creek; John Halleran, of Gilberton; Joseph Staum, of Lost Creek, and Michael Mack were at work in the mine this afternoon. Walsh had been engaged in what is known as "robbing" pillars. He had driven a pole in the face of the breast in which match he had put his blast. He applied the match and hastened away for a place of shelter. He had gone but a few feet when a large lump of coal rolled onto his feet, pinning him to the ground. Momentarily expecting the blast, he cried for help. The other three men were working near, and disregarding the danger to themselves, ran to Welsh's rescue. They had scarcely reached it when the blast exploded, bringing down with it a mass of coal upon the men. Haloran and Straum were crushed to death and Welsh fatally injured, while Mack was fortunate in escaping with slight hurts.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Joe Davis, Colored, Cut to Pieces by a Freight Train.

Joe Davis, a colored brakeman on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, met a horrible death at an early hour Monday morning near Bangor, Ala., some miles above Birmingham. He was front brakeman on Second No. 73 freight, south-bound, which passed Bangor about 3 o'clock this morning. His lamp was out from some cause, and he went back to the rear brakeman and exchanged lamps. While going back to the front end of the train he fell between the cars in some manner and a number of cars run over him.

DANGEROUS TO REJECT.

This Kentucky Lover Put a Bullet Through the Girl's Head.

A special to the Times from Benton, Ky., says: Daisy Sullivan, daughter of J. M. Sullivan, living four miles north of here, was assassinated in cold blood Saturday night at 9 o'clock. The greatest excitement prevails as a result, as the young woman was a beautiful girl, of prominent family, and about 18 years of age. The assassin, who is believed to be a rejected suitor, is unknown, but bloodhounds are on his trail, and if he is caught there will be a lynching. The girl was found at her father's gate with a bullet hole in her head.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Frightful Explosion at the Empire Magazine, Geneva, Ind.

The Empire Magazine, situated half a mile west and north of Geneva, Ind., exploded Saturday morning. Seven hundred quarts of nitro glycerine tore the magazine to atoms and wrecked scores of houses in the city. Hundreds of windows were blown out, walls were cracked and chimneys were torn down.

It is reported that a wagon was unloading at the magazine at the time of the explosion. The rumor has not been positively verified, but it is believed that such is the case. Not a trace of wagon, horses or driver can be found. A remarkable fact is that the Hercules Torpedo Company's magazine, situated only seventy-five yards from the Empire Magazine, did not explode. Twenty-five hundred quarts of explosives were stored in the Hercules Magazine, where a wall was blown in.

A DAMNABLE DEED.

Young Wife Shot Dead in the Attempt to Rob Her Husband.

Just outside the limits of Morriston, Pa., early Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miser, a young couple of Morristown, were returning from an afternoon drive when two men sprang from the roadside and seized the horses' heads. The men were armed with revolvers and they demanded of Miser that he turn over to them his valuables. Miser refused and started to whip up his horses. Thereupon the desperadoes opened fire. Miser was shot through the arm and his wife was shot through the head and instantly killed.

The murderers dragged Miser from the carriage and robbed him of his watch and money. They then rifled Mrs. Miser's body of her gold watch and made their escape.

Miser dragged himself to a near-by house and summoned assistance. He was brought to his home here, and is badly wounded. Miser was able to give the authorities a good description of the highwaymen, and the police are bending every effort to capture the outlaws.

THE SHIPYARD NUMBER

Of the New Alabama Is 290—A Curious Coincidence

Secretary of the Navy Herbert Wednesday morning announced that the un-named ships under construction will be named as follows: Battleships—Alabama, Illinois and Wisconsin. Gunboats—Annapolis, Marietta, Newport, Princeton, Vicksburg and Wheeling.

The Alabama is the name given to the vessel heretofore designated as battleship No. 8, building at the Cramps yards, Philadelphia. It a curious coincidence that the shipyard number of this vessel is No. 290, which is the same as that used for the rebel cruiser Alabama when she was under construction in England.

The Alabama is slightly more formidable than the Kearsarge, building at Newport News, and is named for Secretary Herbert's adopted State. It is believed the selection was made by the President in compliment to the Secretary, just as the President was understood to have named the Brooklyn for Secretary Tracy's adopted city. The gunboat Marietta is named for the Ohio town of that name, and not for any other Marietta. The Wheeling is for the West Virginia city, the Princeton and Vicksburg for battles of those names, and the Annapolis and Newport for the naval stations in Maryland and Rhode Island.

THREE MEN INJURED.

One of Them, a Fireman, Had His Thigh Broken in Three Places.

There was a disastrous fire at Atalla, Ala., Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. The hotel building, two stories, belonging to W. P. Shahan, was entirely destroyed.

By a falling roof three men were badly hurt. One, Walter S. Cox, a member of the company, had both thighs broken in three separate places. Arthur McDonough and Fletcher Parrish, spectators, were injured, but not seriously. Cox is a bright young man in the prime of life, and of the best family. He is not expected to recover from internal injuries received.

The loss on the building is about $25,000, said to be covered by insurance.

Work on a New Road.

Seven miles of track have been laid on the Hoxie, Bocahontas and Northern Railroad between Hoxie and Pocahontas, Ark. Two new engines arrived a few days ago. Traffic will commence about Nov. 10.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

ALABAMA GLEANINGS.

The News of a Week From All Parts of Our Commonwealth.

INDUSTRIAL AND PERSONAL.

Political, Accidental and Other News. Peculiar and Perilous Experience of an Opelika Physician—Improvements at Bridgeport—An Old Man Killed Near Birmingham.

OPELIKA.

Wednesday night Dr. J. M. Watkins, of our city, was called in to see Mrs. Dick Williams professionally. At the time he entered the room he had a two-ounce phial of carbolic acid in his right hip pocket. In some way the phial was broken, and shortly afterwards he rose to give a dose of medicine to his patient, and found that he could not walk. He called the husband to give the medicine to his wife, and in a few moments he was totally insensible. His professional associate, Dr. J. G. Palmer, was sent for immediately, and arrived just in time to save his life. The poison, after breaking the phial, was rapidly absorbed and came very near proving fatal. Dr. Watkins is able to be about again, though he was within ten minutes of death that night.

It is only nine days until the East Alabama Fair swings open its gates. All indications show that this will be one of the largest and most successful fairs ever held in Opelika. The railroads have given low rates from all points within a radius of 150 miles. An excursion train will be run from Sylacauga every morning during the fair and the schedules of all other roads will be arranged especially to accommodate visitors to the fair. The attractions promise to surpass any ever offered in a preceding fair. Already a large number of stalls have been engaged for race horses. Rope walking, balloon ascensions and acrobatic performances will be some of the amusement features.

BRIDGEPORT.

At a meeting of the directors of the Bridgeport Stove Works it was decided to enlarge the foundry by building a steel annex of 50x75 feet. This will necessitate the employment of about 50 per cent more men and nearly double the output. The officers of the company have known for some time that it would be necessary to increase the plant to keep step with the growing business, but owing to the election it was thought best to wait. Within the past two months orders have come in so rapidly and the outlook is so bright that they were compelled to build.

George Spears, the 12-year-old son of J. M. Spears, of this city, had a rare and peculiar accident Sunday. The lad was eating persimmons, and in trying to swallow a seed it became lodged in his windpipe. The lad's breathing became difficult, and as there seemed to be no way of giving relief and on advice from local physicians he was carried to Chattanooga Wednesday morning for treatment.

SELMA.

The Liberia fever is still growing in Dallas. Emigration agents are constantly mingling with our colored population, distributing literature and pictures of the land of promise. There are not less than 1500 negroes in Dallas county to-day who are saving their money and getting ready to sail next January. Those who have gone before send glowing accounts of how easy it is for a colored man to make a living in that country. A colored blacksmith named Stone, who owned a lot with a shop thereon next to Iwerson's on Washington street, has sold the property to Mr. Iwerson, and will risk his all in Liberia. Many colored cooks are saving up their earnings with which to make the trip.

DECATUR.

James E. Peck, Probate Judge of the county of Morgan, died at that place this morning. Mrs. Dr. McGlathery, of Woodlawn, Ala., sister of the deceased, went up on the afternoon train to attend the last obsequies over the remains. The deceased was about 41 years of age. He was elected Probate Judge four years ago. Previous to that time he had been a school teacher of much prominence in the profession. His wife was Miss Emma Brown, sister of Mr. Arthur L. Brown, of Hartselle, Ala. He was a man of exemplary character. His death will be unexpected and sad news to many friends in this city.

ENSLEY CITY.

Mr. William Neill, a white man 67 years of age, was found dead Saturday morning by the side of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad track, near the crossing of that road and the Ensley dummy line, by a negro named Jackson, an employe of the Pioneer Mining and Manufacturing Company at Thomas Furnace, as he was going to his work.

The back of the dead man's head bore a mark which indicated that his life had been knocked out by a railroad engine. He had attended the circus in Birmingham Friday, and was returning home when the accident occurred.

EUFAULA.

Eufaula, Oct. 31.—(Special Correspondence.)—A committee was engaged yesterday in testing the new water works. They just wanted to see how they would go. The hose was connected directly with the pumping station, and it was found that it would not stand. The pressure burst one line open and threw a nozzle from the other line. The test must have been more than satisfactory.

DEAF WOMAN KILLED.

Passenger train No. 3, on the Alabama Great Southern Railroad, south bound, struck and killed Mrs. Higgins between Springville and Argo, Ala., shortly after 1 o'clock Monday. The train was in charge of Conductor Ford and Engineer Spencer. It is stated that the lady was walking the track with her face the same way as the train was going, and that she was deaf. The engineer saw her and blew his whistle, but the lady, being deaf, did not hear it, and consequently the train struck her. She died soon after the accident.

BESEIGED BY FLAMES.

For a Time It Looked as Though a Holocaust Were Inevitable.

A disastrous fire in Ronald & Co.'s six-story building, on the corner of State street and Boreum Place, Brooklyn, in which there were a number of narrow escapes from loss of life, took place Tuesday afternoon. The firm are wholesalers of plumbers' supplies, and the other tenants are Fay, Harman & Chadwick Manufacturing Company, corset manufacturers; Locklit & Findley and the Seemon Brothers, skirt manufacturers. The latter firm employed seventy-five girls, and the fact that all got out safely is almost miraculous, as they were in the upper stories. The fire originated on the fourth floor from an unknown cause and spread rapidly, and in a few minutes the whole building was a mass of flames. The Fay, Harman & Chadwick employes, about 100 in number, nearly all of whom were girls, were in the part of the building first attacked by the flames, and there was a great jam on the stairs and fire escapes, but so far as can be learned all have been accounted for, but many of them fainted and had to be carried down the stairs.

The girls in Seemon Brothers skirt factory were panic-stricken when the dense smoke began penetrating their rooms, and many screamed and rushed helplessly about. The employers, assisted by the male help, partially quieted the girls and piloted them to the stairway, and all reached the street in safety.

The fire burned five hours and completely wrecked the building. The loss is estimated at $300,000, most of which is Ronalds & Co. Fay, Harman & Chadwick place their loss at $25,000.

The only person injured, so far as reported, was Fireman Frank McCarthy, who had his foot crushed.

KILLING AT COAL CREEK.

A Justice of the Peace Shot in a Melee Between Negroes.

A dispatch from Coal Creek, Tenn., the mining town thirty miles from Knoxville, says a very sensational shooting affray occurred there Monday night, in which two men were killed and others were wounded. The fight occurred at a McKirdey and Hobart meeting. A negro named Bud Black began shooting at another negro named Frank Martin. They exchanged shots and Martin fell mortally wounded, with two bullet holes through his body. One of the shots struck and instantly killed Robert Laughter, a justice of the peace, and one of the leading citizens of the town. Others were hit, but not seriously hurt. Black escaped.

FOUR MASKED MEN

Held Up Indian Agency, But Didn't Get the Money.

The Sac and Fox Indian Agency was held up by four masked robbers late Monday afternoon. Sac and Fox is sixty miles east of Guthrie, O. T., and only thirty miles from Carney. Three stores were robbed and $620 taken.

The Indian Agent, General Thomas, has $46,000 of Sac and Fox annuity money, to be paid to the Indians next week. This money the robbers were after. The robbers rushed into General Thomas' office and fired several shots, but Thomas was absent. As they rode out of town the fiends fired into a crowd of Indian children at the Government school, but none of the shots took effect.

Two of the robbers were recognized as being in the Carney hold-up last week. The news came over the telephone from Chandler, but the wires were soon cut, evidently by the bandits, and no further particulars can be learned.

THE GOLDEN TIDE.

Stream of Yellow Metal Still Pouring Into New York.

The steamer Campania, which arrived at New York from Europe Friday night, brought gold consigned as follows: Bank of Montreal, $1,000,000; L. von Hoffman & Co., $150,000, and Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., $100,000. Total, $1,250,000, and the steamer Augusta Victoria brought $100,000 to Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., and $60,000 to Muller, Schall & Co.

The steamship St. Louis arrived there with £110,000 for the National City Bank. The steamship Niagara brought $50,000 gold to Muller, Schall & Co. The Bank of British North America has £100,000 gold on the steamship St. Paul, which left Southampton to-day.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

A Family Seriously Injured Near Sweetwater, Tenn.

Saturday morning as John McMillan, a farmer living near Sweetwater, Tenn., with his wife and two children in a wagon were coming into that town, the horses attached to the wagon became frightened, and before they could be controlled overturned the wagon, throwing the occupants out, all of whom sustained more or less injury. Mr. McMillan had his thigh broken and Mrs. McMillan sustained some severe cuts and bruises about the face. They were taken home and prompt medical attention given.

PRISONER HANGS HIMSELF.

Francis O. Carlson, a white prisoner, hanged himself in the county jail in Charleston, S. C., at an early hour Saturday morning. Carlson was awaiting trial charged with drawing a pistol on a lady on King street a few days ago, and his mind was supposed to be deranged. He took the cord from his bed some time this morning and hanged himself to the bars of his cell. His body was found by the jailer when daylight came.

STORM AT SEVELLE.

A cyclone swept over the city and province of Seville, Spain, Wednesday, wrecking a great many houses and killing and injuring a number of the inhabitants. The storm covered a wide area, in which the wires were prostrated, cutting off communication and greatly delaying the appeals for assistance made by the sufferers.

SICK NEARLY THIRTY YEARS.

BRILLIANT SERVICE IN THE WAR FOLLOWED BY PROLONGED SUFFERING.

High Private Briggs Brings His War-time Valor Into a Life and Death Combat—He Speaks of His Struggles Since the War.

From the Tribune, Hornellsville, N. Y.

There is no man in Oneida County, New York, who stands higher in the community than Mr. William H. Briggs, a wealthy farmer, and resident of Bridgewater, and a prominent member of the G. A. R. His statement will not be news to his friends, as they all know whereof he writes, but it is commended to the consideration of the public. Mr. Briggs writes as follows:

"It gives me great pleasure and satisfaction to be able to give honor where honor is due, and to that end I make this certificate, hoping it may be the means of others being benefited as I have been.

"I am a farmer residing near Bridgewater, Oneida County, New York; my name is William H. Briggs, and I am 56 years old. I am an old soldier, and member of the G. A. R., having served as high private in Co A. 1st New York Artillery, during the whole four years of the Rebellion. Though not a pensioner, and never an applicant for pension, I contracted through malarial climate, disease of liver and stomach, from which I suffered continuously, in various forms. In 1863 I had the jaundice, and it continued for years, to a greater or lesser degree. I never was free from dyspepsia, and palpitation of the heart, and suffered from nervous debility to such an extent that I could neither rest by night nor work by day. Night after night I walked the floor tormented by vague fears, which I knew were purely imaginary, and yet I could not shake them off. I came home in June, 1865, and from then until 1894 I was constantly attended by physicians, having employed three at different times during that period. These good doctors gave me occasionally temporary relief, but the good effects of their treatment quickly disappeared, and left me more despondent and wretched than ever.

"I did not believe in giving up, and was about to send to Utica for another physician, when Mr. H. Seifert, the blacksmith who attends to my horses, recommended me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as he assured me they had done wonderful things for him. I had read of these pills before and felt somewhat inclined to try them, before Seifert spoke of them, but his recommendation settled the matter, and I became Dr. Williams' patient. I took Pink Pills steadily until I have consumed four boxes, growing better and better every day, my liver working freely, my kidneys acting normally. My heart no longer troubled me, and I could digest my food. All that water brash, heart burn, buzzing in the head, as if there were a great empty space in my cranium, disappeared, and life began to be worth living, which it had not been since my army service. I was cured in less than one year from the time I began to take Pink Pills in 1894, and have been in fair health ever since. Of course, I have to be careful, as I easily catch cold, and it is apt to settle in my right side, but a dose or two of the Pink Pills soon set me to rights again, and I shall never be without them, unless something very unforeseen occurs.

"I do not want it understood that I am casting any stress against those who are pensioners. If I were needy I should certainly ask for what I am entitled to, but being amply provided with this world's goods, I do not require it. My old comrades can testify that I have helped many a one of them to get a pension.

"The above statement is true in every particular. I certify on honor.

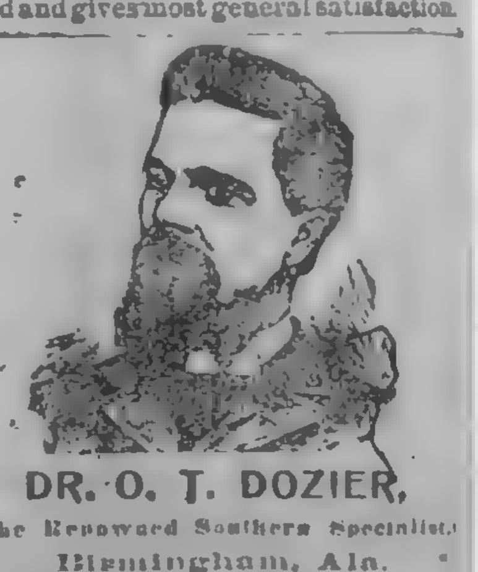
"(Signed) WM. H. BRIGGS."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

(The Renowned Southern Specialist.)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)

* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician. * * * He is a Georgian by birth, a high toned, cultured Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and thoroughly reliable for all his contracts.

(City News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments and a gentleman respected by all who know him. He can be relied on in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DEAFNESS

THE DEAF EAR

And Head Noises relieved by using Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums. New scientific invention, different from all other devices. The only safe, simple, comfortable and invisible Ear Drum in the world. Helps where medical skill fails. No wire or string attachment. Write for pamphlet. Free.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.,
Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

Brookland Stock Farm

Has added to its herd of Poland-Chinas "Royal Black U. S.," a son of that most noted sire (old) Black U. S. No. 1361. Also "White Face," the show sow of Gilmour's Herd, of Indiana. I will book your order for a pig (either sex) of this breeding for $25. Standard-bred Shorthorn cattle.

R. M. SMITH, Shelbyville, Ky.

BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
SHORTHAND, BOOK-KEEPING
WE PAY YOUR R. R. FARE
SHORTHAND BY MAIL—LESSON FREE

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors, Miners and Treasure Seekers. Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. AGENCY, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

PATENTS 25 years' experience. Send sketch for free advice. Fee, low. Patent office. Washington, D. C.

Why Let Your Chickens Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Schoon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them or money refunded. If your dealer can not supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and farmer's hand book of information. VETERINARY MEDICINE CO., Nashville, Tenn.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

THE PEOPLE CAN BUY

From us at WHOLESALE PRICES, and second-hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.

W. H. OWINGS,
2028 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

12c pays for your name in our Public Directory and gets you a Handy Dictionary of 30,000 words worth $1.00. South Pub. Co., Roanoke, Va.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain everyday English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

THE BANNER.

Clerk

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1896. NO. 7.

INTERESTING STATE NEWS.

The Happenings of a Week All Over Alabama.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S REPORT

An Interesting Document From the Hands of the State's Legal adviser. The State Legislature Meets—Candidates on Hand and at Work—State Press Simmerings.

Hon. W. C. Fitts, the Attorney-General, has issued his bi-ennial report. In it he says 12,118 criminal cases have been disposed of during two years, and of this number, 6,610 resulted in conviction, 223 in acquittal and [illegible] cases were abated or withdrawn. The report, which is one of [illegible] ever gotten out, is arranged with taste and contains the following:

From the general consolidated statement and from former reports of this office it appears that criminal cases have been disposed of in the State during the several bi-ennial periods of the last ten years as follows: In 1885-86, 11,011 cases; in 1887-88, 8,572 cases (two circuits not reported); in 1889-90, 12,274 cases; in 1891-92, 12,433 (one circuit not reported); for [illegible] 1895-96, 12,118 cases, as above stated.

Of the 6,610 convictions in the past two years, there were twenty sentences to death, 1,488 sentences to the penitentiary, 2,070 sentences to hard labor for the county, 262 sentences to jail and 2,799 fines imposed and sentenced. Five persons escaped after conviction, two died and twenty one were sent to the insane hospital; seventeen [illegible] remitted by the trial judge and five new trials were granted.

The twenty sentences to death were all for murder in the first degree.

The period is unusual in that it presents no instance in which the death penalty has been exacted for the crime [illegible].

It appears that there were 377 cases of murder disposed of in the State. Of this number there were fifty-six convictions of murder in the first degree, [illegible] seven convictions of murder in [illegible] second degree, forty-seven convictions of manslaughter in the first degree, twenty-seven convictions of [illegible]laughter in the second degree. [illegible] and larceny seems to have been [illegible] predominant crime, there being [illegible] cases of that offense. Of this [illegible] 1,001 convictions were secured, 514 defendants sentenced to the penitentiary; 151 to hard labor for the county, two to jail, three to the insane hospital, and in one instance the Circuit Court granted a new trial.

The kindred crimes of burglary [illegible] hard labor for the county, besides jail and fine [illegible] for the disfranchising of [illegible].

[illegible] were 1,196 cases of carrying concealed weapons, 687 of which convictions were secured.

The per cent of convictions in cases disposed of for the past two years throughout the State is about [illegible] per cent, an increase over the per cent [illegible] the bi-ennial period which immediately preceded the present one.

The per cent of convictions in the several courts ranges from 19 to [illegible], as will be seen by reference to the several tabulated statements, which shows the records of the solicitors separately.

Out of 12,118 cases disposed of, solicitors have entered nolle prosequies in 2,044. Thus it appears that the time [of] public officers and the money of the State has been used to set on foot 2,044 prosecutions which had to be abandoned when about to be put to the test. There must of necessity always [be] a considerable number of nolle prosequies, witnesses disappear or become corrupt after testifying before the grand jury, etc., but I hope the number will decrease and that thorough work in the grand jury room and prompt prosecutions after indictments will be found to remedy this matter somewhat.

MONTGOMERY LEGISLATURE.

The General Assembly convened in biennial session Tuesday. The Capitol had been put in the pink of condition, the Assembly halls repaired and repainted and much cleaner, more comfortable and attractive than for many years before.

The Senate will probably be organized with little trouble. President F. L. Pettus will probably succeed himself, although there is talk of his having a competitor. Even in this event it will not be difficult to decide between two aspirants, one ballot sufficing to determine.

W. L. Clay, of Huntsville, who has been Secretary of the Senate for several terms, will be opposed by John F. Proctor, of Scottsboro, who was the efficient clerk of the last House, and who has a strong support in the Senate.

Whether there will be any contest with Elmore Garrett for the Assistant Secretaryship of the Senate is not known.

It may take some days, however, to organize the House. There are seven prominent and popular candidates for the Speakership, and each goes in with apparently as good chances as the other to win. They are: John J. Altman, of Jefferson; N. N. Clements, of Tuskaloosa; Charles Waller, of Hale; Cecil Browne, of Talladega; D. J. Meadors, of Marengo; Wilson Brown, of Colbert, and B. L. Hibbard, of Monroe.

Mossie Wilson, of Clark, will doubtless succeed himself as clerk of the House, there being no opposition whatever to him.

GRACE'S GAP—DEAD NEGRO.

A negro was found in the woods near Grace's Gap, below Birmingham, on the Louisville and Nashville, with his head hacked almost out of shape. Deputies with dogs were sent to the scene and made a hot search for the man who had committed the crime. A hatchet covered with blood was found nearby, which proved a silent witness as to how the man was cut about the head. The negro will die. He was unable to speak, therefore it was impossible to obtain any information from him.

BIRMINGHAM—FOUND DEAD

Walter Stone, aged about 45 years, in the employ of Louis V. Clarke & Co., insurance agents of Birmingham, was found dead in a room at the Acme Hotel, in the Hewlett Block, on First avenue, of that city, Friday. Dr. Gillespie, the county physician, made an examination and pronounced death the result of heart failure. Coroner Jones, after investigating the facts surrounding the death, decided that no inquest was necessary.

FLORENCE—WATER WORKS.

A meeting of citizens of Florence held with the Business Association passed a resolution asking the Legislature not to authorise the issue of bonds by the city for the purchase of the water works until the matter has been submitted to the people. The resolution asks the Legislature to sanction the issue of bonds only upon condition of the people being allowed to vote upon it. The city has arranged for the purchase of the works, and all that is needed is legislative sanction to issue the bonds. There is some opposition to the deal.

STATE PRESS SIMMERINGS.

The colored voters of Birmingham have organized for the city campaign.

Most elaborate arrangements are in progress for Birmingham's Mardi Gras.

The Birmingham Rolling Mill is in full operation now, with the exception of two sheet mills.

The price of iron is advancing, and a raise in miners' wages will take place, under the sliding scale.

Frank W. Pickens, ex-postmaster in Pickens county, wanted on a charge of embezzlement, has been arrested in Paris, Tex.

T. T. Hillman, of Gadsden and Birmingham, will start the Gadsden furnace, which has been idle for four years, on January 1.

The Alabama Rolling Mill, at Gate City, resumed work on Monday. Its first order is for 600 tons of finished iron for St. Louis.

Three men are traveling through Northern Alabama buying and taking out black walnut stumps. They use the wood for veneer.

The new cotton mill at Prattville is nearing completion, and will be ready for business on or about the 1st of January, 1897. The machinists are very busy putting in the machinery.

Miss Lizzie Hendricks, a pretty Calhoun county girl, was awarded damages in the sum of $215 by the Circuit Court at Jacksonville recently for being overpowered and kissed by a conductor of the road, while she was en route a few months ago from Anniston to Rome.

The November term of the United States Court convened at Montgomery Friday. The criminal cases on the docket number over 500, more than half of them being for illicit distilling and for cutting timber from Government lands.

HOBART HOLDS THE KEY

His Vote, From Present Indications, Will Be Required

The announcement from Milwaukee by friends of Senator John L. Mitchell of Wisconsin, that he will support gold measures in the Senate, makes a tie of the gold and silver forces in that body, and puts upon Vice-President Hobart the responsibility of casting the deciding vote, this, of course, upon the assumption that no other changes are made.

Putting him among the gold men, the Senate of the next Congress, as at present indicated, would be divided among the parties as follows: Gold Republicans, 37; gold Democrats, 8; silver Democrats 29; silver Republicans, 10; Populists, 9.

Should Messrs. Carter, of Montana, and Shoup, of Idaho, who supported Major McKinley in the campaign, ally themselves with the dominant faction of the party, the gold vote in the Senate, after March 4 next, would be 47 and the silver vote 43.

The composition of the House of Representatives in the Fifty-fifth Congress remains substantially the same as at first sent out by the Southern Associated Press, the political division, according to the latest returns being: Republicans, 212; sound money Democrats, 2; Democrats, 120; silver Republicans, Populists and Fusionists, 23. Total, 357.

THE WAR IN CUBA.

Gen. Aldave Said to Have Defeated the Insurgents.

Gen. Aldave, with a force of troops conveying a provision and ammunition train of wagons to Manicaragua, in the Puerto Principe province, had an engagement with the rebels under Serafin Sanchez and Carillo Alberich. The loss of the insurgents was heavy. The Spaniards had one man killed and twenty wounded.

The steamer Guanico has arrived at Havana bringing three hundred sick soldiers from Pinar del Rio. Among the passengers on board the steamer was the rebel leader, Luis Laso, who had surrendered to the Spanish commander. When the ship arrived he was found dead in his cabin, having cut his throat.

DUN AND BRADSTREET

Make a Pen Picture of Coming Prosperity That Is Encouraging

STAPLE PRICES STIFFENING

The Iron Market Firmer and New Orders Begin to Roll In—Merchants and Manufacturers Look Confidently to the Future—Cotton, Resin and Turpentine Higher.

Bradstreet's commercial report for week ending November 7 says:

The expected has happened in the success of the fight for "sound money." One result is a return of confidence in the stability of values and the early revival of demand for staples. Lower rates of interest and a willingness on the part of banks to make loans which had previously been declined are additional evidence of the meaning of the maintenance of the gold standard.

Business was practically suspended throughout the country early this week, and there has been little increase in values compared with like periods in preceding weeks. But manufacturers and jobbers are more inclined to purchase in advance instead of for nearby wants only, and in a few lines, notably wool, cotton, iron and steel, a larger volume of purchases is reported.

That merchants generally share the confidence in an early revival is indicated by the hardening of staple prices and the increase in quotations in addition to those given in preceding weeks. Sales of cotton goods have been freer, and some mills are better employed. Woolen mills also report more orders, and a tendency to prefer higher cost goods.

Numerous industrial establishments which have started up within two days report being offered large orders if they would sell for 1897 delivery at present prices. Millions of dollars' worth of orders for general merchandise, given contingent on the success of sound money, are now being filled. Owing to the lateness of the season, few have regarded the outlook as promising much in the nature of a boom during the current year. At a few northwestern commercial centers large orders have been received from country merchants within a few days, and Georgia farmers have met their obligations more promptly than for years past, and Southern merchants and manufacturers are reported looking ahead confidently to a marked improvement in business in the near future.

Bank clearings totals continue below the billion dollar mark, $965,000,000, for the past week, an increase of 3 per cent over last week, but shows a decrease of 1 per cent, compared with the like total last year. Reactions in quotations are conspicuous only for Indian corn and lard, while prices for oats, pork, sugar and petroleum are firm and practically unchanged.

Pig iron is 25 cents higher, with sales of considerable amounts in Western markets.

Lumber is firm, the tendency is upward, and there is an advance for white pine.

Renewed demand for cotton goods and placing orders with mills advance print cloths.

Cotton, resin and turpentine are higher as is coffee, while meat, under the stimulus of a strong statistical position, and to an extent the results of the election, reports another marked advance.

DUN'S REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, says:

A great revolution has been effected this week in the conditions which control business. It could not be in any fair degree reflected as yet in transactions or in records, but there is ample evidence already that a crushing weight has been lifted and rolled away, and the business world has begun to adjust itself to a state of freedom and security which it has not known for years. Dread of immeasurable disaster no longer locks up resources and paralyzes enterprise and new contracts involving many millions have become binding since the election.

The instant vanishing of the premium on gold, which had reached about 2 per cent, the unlocking of many millions which had been hoarded, the collapse of the interest rate from 8 and 12 to 6 and 5½ per cent, and the quick demand for American securities on foreign account are signs of more lasting promise. The lifting of the load of peril and of fear, all men know, means an incalculable relief for all industry and trade.

Speculation in cotton was on the theory that mills would now start up, as many have done, and would meet a large demand for goods. But the [illegible] by realizing sales and a slight reaction. It will be all the better for business if bright hopes do not boost prices too fast.

The election has stiffened prices of pig iron, which reached $12 at Pittsburg for Bessemer, and the certainty that many large orders for buildings and bridges and other finished forms would now become operative justifies some advance. The future of this trade now depends upon the extent of increase in demand for finished products of iron and steel, which is likely to be materially affected by the course pursued by various combinations. The billet pool, which is still openly undersold at Pittsburg, and has caused no end of disturbance in business by favoring one class of producers to the detriment of another, has been in session here, and is said to have changed its basis of allotment so as to secure fairer results.

The nail combinations is now threatened with a hostile league of jobbers and producers, and is openly undersold. The bar combination, notwithstanding its large rebate, is still demanding more than the price at which steel bars are sold in great quantities. A slight advance in sheeting and print cloths is the only change which yet appears in the market for cotton goods, and practically no change has yet appeared in woolens.

Failures for the week have been 290 in the United States, against 280 last year; and 52 in Canada, against 40 last year.

A WARNING GIVEN.

It Is Addressed to the Republican Leaders by Anarchists.

The New York Herald says that the New York anarchists held a post-election meeting, and it was decided to tolerate or "give the Republicans a trial." A warning was written in Greek and sent to the Republican leaders. The following is a translation:

"Take care you don't rejoice too much in your hour of victory. Be just in all things. Do not crush the workingman. It is a bad time (for that). Keep your solemn pledges or the revolution will follow. A violent death to the traitor. 'The red hand.'"

Copies were sent to Mark Hanna, Thomas C. Platt, Chairman Hackett, of the Republican State Committee; Chauncey M. Depew, Senator Quay, Warner Miller and Frederick S. Gibbs, National Committeeman.

It was asked before the meeting broke up if all these gentlemen understood Greek, and an amendment was about to be offered to send the "warning" in English. Skoblenski, a Russian anarchist, gravely explained that the purpose of sending it in Greek was to enable each recipient to "ponder over it and carefully weigh its meaning."

Mr. Hackett missed his "warning," and when a copy received by the Herald was translated to him he laughed. Chauncey M. Depew's letter from the "Red Hand" reached the waste basket. Mr. Gibbs read his and seemed to enjoy it, and T. C. Platt, when he had perused the scrawl, said: "I would rather crush myself than the workingman. I am just in all things, and I always keep my solemn pledges, especially to my party."

PROCLAMATION

By the President Setting Apart November 26th for Thanksgiving.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The President last evening issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States:

The people of the United States should never be unmindful of the gratitude they owe the God of nations for His watchful care which has shielded them from dire disaster and pointed out to them the way of peace and happiness. Nor should they ever refuse to acknowledge with contrite hearts their proneness to turn away from God's teachings, and to follow with sinful pride after their own devices.

To the end that these thoughts may be quickened, it is fitting that on a day especially appointed, we should join together in approaching the throne of grace with praise and supplication.

Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday the 26th day of the present month of November, to be kept and observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer throughout our land.

On that day let our people forego their usual work and occupation and assemble in their places of worship. Let them with one accord render thanks to the Ruler of the universe for our preservation as a nation and our deliverance from every threatened danger, for the peace that has dwelt within, the year that has passed; for the plenteous rewards that have followed the labors of our husbandmen, and for all the other blessings that have been vouchsafed for us.

And let us, through the mediation of Him who has taught us how to pray, implore the forgiveness of our sins and a continuation of Heavenly favor.

Let us not forget on this day of thanksgiving the poor and needy, and by deeds of charity let our offerings of praise be made more acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

Witness my hand and the seal of the United States, which I have caused to be hereto affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 4th day of November, in the year of the Lord 1896, and of the independence of the United States of America 121.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

By the President.

RICHARD OLNEY,
Secretary of State.

JUMPED TO DEATH.

A Woman and Her Granddaughters Driven From a Bridge.

Mrs. J. M. McCarthy, of Scranton, Pa., with her two granddaughters, May and Margaret Clinch, aged 2 and 4 years, respectively, were caught by a train on a bridge of the Erie and Wyoming Valley road, which spans the Lackawanna river. They became frightened, and in trying to escape, were struck by the engine and fell into the stream below and were drowned. The bodies have not been recovered.

A ROYAL GREETING.

Senator Jones, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, reached his home at Hope, Ark., at noon Saturday. He was greeted by an immense crowd of people, and was given three hearty cheers. He was driven to the residence of his son-in-law in a carriage drawn by white horses, gaily bedecked with white chrysanthemums and other flowers.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Bryan Reviews the Political Situation—Truth Will Yet Prevail.

LET'S CONTINUE TO WORK

Says the Leaders of the Silver Forces. Preserve the Line, Maintain the March, Suffering Not From Disappointed Personal Ambition, and Rich in the Merited Love of the People.

William Jennings Bryan this afternoon gave out the following statement:

To the Bimetallists of the United States:

"Conscious that millions of loyal hearts are saddened by temporary defeat, I beg to offer a word of hope and encouragement. No cause ever had supporters more brave, earnest and devoted than those who have espoused the cause of bimetallism. They have fought with all the zeal which conviction inspires. Events will prove whether they are right or wrong. Having done their duty as they saw it, they have nothing to regret.

"The Republican candidate has been heralded as the advance agent of prosperity. If his politics bring real prosperity to the American people, those who oppose him will share that prosperity. If, on the other hand, his politics prove an injury to the people generally, those of his supporters who do not belong to the office-holding class or to the privileged classes will suffer in common with those who opposed him.

"The friends of bimetallism have not been vanquished, they have simply been overcome. They believe that the gold standard is a conspiracy of the money changers against the welfare of the human race, and until convinced of their error will continue their warfare against it. The contest has been waged this year under great embarrassments and against great odds. For the first time during this generation public attention has been centered upon the money question, as the paramount issue, and this has been done in spite of all attempts upon the part of our opponents to prevent it.

"The Republican convention held out the delusive hope of international bimetallism, while Republican leaders labored secretly for gold monometallism. Gold standard Democrats have publicly advocated the election of the Indianapolis ticket, while they labored secretly for the election of the Republican ticket. The trusts and corporations have tried to excite a fear of lawlessness, while they themselves have been defying the law, and American financiers have boasted that they were the custodians of National honor while they were secretly bartering away the National financial independence.

"But in spite of the efforts of the administration and its supporters; in spite of the threats of the money loaners at home and abroad; in spite of the coercion practiced by the corporation employers; in spite of trusts and syndicates, in spite of enormous Republican campaign funds, and in spite of the influence of a hostile daily press, bimetallism has almost triumphed in its first great fight.

"The loss of a few States, and that, too, by very small pluralities, has defeated bimetallism for the present, but bimetallism emerges from the contest stronger than it was four months ago.

"I desire to commend the work of the three National Committees, which have joined in the management of this campaign.

"Co-operation between the members of distinct political organizations is always difficult, but it has been less so this year than usual. Interest in a common cause of great importance has reduced the friction to a minimum.

"I hereby express my personal gratitude to the individual members, as well as to the executive officers of the National Committees of the Democratic, Populist and Silver parties for their untiring and unselfish labors. They have laid the foundation for future success, and will be remembered as pioneers when victory is at last secured.

"No personal or political friend need grieve because of my defeat. My ambition has been to secure immediate legislation rather than to enjoy the honors of office, and, therefore, defeat brings to me no feeling of personal loss.

"Speaking for the wife who has shared my labors, as well as myself, I desire to say that we have been amply repaid for all that we have done. In the love of millions of our fellow citizens so kindly expressed, in knowledge gained by personal contact with the people and in broadened sympathies, we feel full compensation for whatever efforts we have put forth.

Our hearts have been touched by the devotion of friends, and our lives shall prove our appreciation of the affection which we prize as the richest reward which this campaign has brought.

"In the face of an enemy rejoicing in its victory, let the roll be called for the next engagement, and let us urge all friends of bimetallism to renew their allegiance to the cause. If we are right, as I believe we are, we shall yet triumph.

"Until convinced of his error, let each advocate of bimetallism continue to work. Let all silver clubs retain their organization, hold regular meetings and circulate literature. Our opponents have succeeded in this campaign, and must now put their theories to the test. Instead of talking mysteriously about 'sound money' and an 'honest dollar,' they must now elaborate and defend a financial system. Every step taken by them should be publicly considered by the silver clubs.

"Our cause has prospered most where the money question has been longest discussed among the people. During the next four years it will be studied all over this Nation, even more than it has been studied in the past.

"The year 1900 is not far away. Before that year arrives, international bimetallism will cease to deceive; before that year arrives the people who called themselves gold standard Democrats will become bimetallists and be with us, or they will become Republicans and be open enemies.

"Before that year the trusts will have convinced still more people that a trust is a menace to private welfare and to public safety. Before that year arrives, the evil effects of a gold standard will be even more evident than they are now, and the people then ready to demand an American financial policy or the American people will join with us in the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other Nation.

(Signed) "W. J. BRYAN."

THE FINAL RESULT.

The Latest Unofficial Returns in Tabulated Form.

The result of Tuesday's election, so far as the Presidency is concerned, is now definitely known in all the States except two—Kentucky, with thirteen electoral votes, and Wyoming, with three electoral votes. It will probably require the official count to decide the result in these States. It looks like McKinley will get Kentucky and Bryan Wyoming. The result with these two States thus placed is as follows:

Total Electoral Vote............447
Necessary to a Choice..........224

FOR M'KINLEY.

California	9
Connecticut	6
Delaware	3
Illinois	24
Indiana	15
Iowa	13
Kentucky*	13
Maine	6
Maryland	8
Massachusetts	15
Michigan	14
Minnesota	9
New Hampshire	4
New Jersey	10
New York	36
North Dakota	3
Ohio	23
Oregon	4
Pennsylvania	32
Rhode Island	4
South Dakota	4
Vermont	4
West Virginia	6
Wisconsin	12
Total	277

FOR BRYAN.

Alabama	11
Arkansas	8
Colorado	4
Florida	4
Georgia	13
Idaho	3
Kansas	10
Louisiana	8
Mississippi	9
Missouri	17
Montana	3
Nebraska	8
Nevada	3
North Carolina	11
South Carolina	9
Texas	15
Tennessee	12
Utah	3
Virginia	12
Washington	4
Wyoming*	3
Total	170

Doubtful*

It will be observed that McKinley's total vote cannot fall below 264. He will have to lose Kentucky for it to drop to these figures. Bryan's total cannot be lower than 167, and he must lose Wyoming for it to be that low.

BIG FIRE IN INDIANAPOLIS

The dry goods establishment of Lawrie & Robson, 26 and 28 West Washington street, Indianapolis, Ind., was completely destroyed by fire Saturday morning; loss over $100,000.

COLLISION AT SEA

In Which Thirteen Lives Are Lost. Carelessness the Cause.

A SCHOONER CUT IN TWO.

And of Those on Board Ten Are Rescued and Thirteen Perish—An Outgoing Steamship Did the Work—The Captain to Be Arrested—Pecuniary Loss of the Survivors Heavy.

The Steamer Tiber, Captain De Lisle, bound for Sidney, left here at 7 o'clock last night, says a Saturday dispatch from St. John, N. F. Fifteen minutes later, when just beyond the entrance to the harbor, she collided with the schooner Maggie, bound from Benavist Bay for St. Johns with a cargo of fish and lumber. Thirteen lives were lost.

The schooner carried a crew of nine and fourteen passengers, five of whom were women. The schooner had her lights displayed, and there was no justification on the steamer's part for the collision, because the night was clear and the schooner quite near the shore in a part of the entrance where steamers rarely go.

The schooner was struck midship, cut in two pieces and sank instantly. All on board were on deck. They were thrown into the water, and those saved were only rescued by the help of the floating deck load of lumber. Several were caught under the sails and dragged down with the sinking vessel. Others unable to keep afloat until the rescue boats arrived and dropped off the planks. Two men climbed up the steamer's side, and seven were saved by her boats. One woman was also saved, making ten souls rescued.

The other thirteen, nine men and four women, were drowned. Captain Bladon's wife, who was bringing her 16-year-old consumptive boy to the hospital at St. Johns, was drowned, though her husband had her on a plank. The boy was saved.

The captain's brother and nephew were also lost.

Seven widows and thirty three orphans is the result of the catastrophe.

The pecuniary losses of the survivors are heavy.

All on board the schooner were more or less closely related.

The accident happened within a half mile of the town. The steamer lay to [illegible] she sent a boat ashore to land the survivors and then continued her voyage.

The police are arranging to cause the arrest of the Tiber's captain in [illegible] days on a charge of manslaughter.

The Government is caring for the survivors.

WHEELS GO ROUND

Big Industrial Concerns Are Now Running on Full Time

The [illegible] company's factory, at [illegible], [illegible] months of [illegible] periods of idleness [illegible] started [illegible] on full time. The large cotton mills at [illegible] started on full time Monday of this week, and will [illegible].

The officers of the [illegible] Knitting Company at Worcester, said to be the largest knitting plant in the country, which has been running [illegible] hours daily over the [illegible], [illegible] says that owing to the way orders [illegible] coming in it was expected to shortly begin to run all night.

WILMINGTON'S RECORD BROKEN.

The British steamship Maudala, [illegible] master, cleared to-day from the Wilmington, N. C., port for Bremen, Germany, with 11,740 bales of upland cotton, weighing [illegible] pounds. This is the largest cargo of cotton ever carried out of Wilmington.

CALL FOR A SPECIAL SESSION.

Governor Drake, of Iowa, has issued a call for an extra session of the Legislature. It will begin January 19 and will probably last fifty days. The object is to complete the revision of the State Code, which was begun at the regular session last winter.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO.
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—
KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THANKSGIVING DAY is appointed for Thursday, November 26.

THE committee appointed by the citizens of Clanton to prepare a charter of incorporation for the town have performed that duty, and this morning Mr. W. I. Mullins went down to Montgomery to place the bill before the Legislature. From a cursory reading of the proposed charter we do not see any objectionable features in it, and hope it will become law, but we still think the committee should have submitted it to the people of Clanton before presenting it to the Legislature. By so doing they would have obviated any chance of its becoming abortive as previous efforts in the same direction have been.

THE State Legislature convened at the capitol on Tuesday and at once proceeded to organize. Our Democratic friends, having full control of both houses, elected Hon. A. D. Sayre, of Montgomery, President of the Senate, and Hon. N. N. Clements, of Tuskaloosa, Speaker of the House. The Populist caucus nominated Hon. G. B. Deans for President of the Senate, and Hon. A. P. Longshore for Speaker of the House, but under the circumstances of course these nominations were merely a matter of form.

ACCORDING to the official returns Chilton county cast 756 votes for W. F. Aldrich, 477 for Thos. S. Plowman and 174 for E. H. Dryer. This gives Mr. Aldrich a plurality of 279 over Mr. Plowman. In the whole of the Fourth District, Mr. Plowman is declared to be elected by a majority of 3324, and of that number 3089 come from Dallas county. Mr. Aldrich who was in Selma last Saturday during the official count, entered a protest before the result was announced, on the ground that the election in every beat in Dallas county was conducted illegally.

FROM the official returns throughout the State of Alabama it appears that the Democrats have captured the whole nine congressional districts—not a single Populist or Republican being elected. We understand contests will be made by W. F. Aldrich in the Fourth, A. T. Goodwyn in the Fifth, M. W. Howard in the Seventh and G. B. Crowe in the Ninth. Maybe by the time the contests are finished there will not be nine Democratic Congressmen from Alabama.

MR. OATES, in his message to the Legislature, recommends among other things that the Sayre election law be abolished; that State elections be held every four years and that officers be ineligible to re-election; that the Legislature shall sit for sixty days instead of fifty as at present.

THE election of a United States Senator is the next move in politics. There are four prominent candidates; but probably the winning man will be Pugh or Oates.

THE directors of the American Bimetallic Union, who constitute the bulk of the silver leaders in three parties, have decided to maintain headquarters in Washington, from which to send out literature.

The branch office at Chicago will be consolidated with the Washington office, but the San Francisco branch is to be continued.

Gen. A. J. Warner, the President of the Union, has issued an address to the silver leagues and bimetallic unions urging that the fight for free silver be kept up for effect on the campaign of 1900.

Tom Watson's Letter of Acceptance.

ON Oct. 14th last Hon. Thos. E. Watson addressed his letter of acceptance of the Populist nomination for the vice-presidency to Senator Marion Butler, chairman of the notification committee, which has just now come to light.

We clip the following passages from the letter:

"As the time for beginning the presidential campaign of 1896 approached the democratic party found itself in a dying condition, and it resorted to a desperate remedy to save itself from dissolution. It publicly renounced the republican policies which it has already enacted into law, and professed the populist creed which it had bitterly assailed. Having closed the doors of the mints to silver, having sustained Mr. Cleveland in his refusal to allow the seigniorage coined, having condemned his issue of bonds in violation of law, having acquiesced in his traction policy of destroying the greenbacks, having helped to feed the trusts by the passage of the Wilson-Gorman-Jones tariff bill, the democratic party, realizing that it had lost the respect, the confidence and the patience of the people, determined to anticipate the triumph of populism by a public confession of political patience of the people, determined to anticipate the triumph of populism by a public confession of political guilt, an earnest assertion of change of heart, a devout acceptance of populist principle and a moderate demand that the people's party should vacate its quarters and surrender its political possessions.

"A very staggering piece of political impudence was this. It was not a minority of the democratic party which murdered silver in '93. It was a majority that did it—a majority of the house, a majority of the senate. And the men who committed the deed cannot now promise more solemnly to undo their work than they promised in 1892 to do it.

"During the dreary years of 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, when republicans and democrats alike were falling over each other in the effort to be first at Wall street's feet, and lowest in the dust of political self-abasement to the trusts, the national banks, the railroads, the bondholders and the gold speculators, the people's party was the one champion of the people. It stood fearlessly against the hungry hordes of class legislation. It proclaimed constantly its undying antagonism to Wall street and its policies. It held aloft the sacred banner of a people's rights and called for patriots to rise and defend the republic. Since the bugle-note of Roderick woke the highlands, and the fiery cross sped from mountain to glen and from glen to hamlet, there has been no such spontaneous outburst of popular enthusiasm as marked the growth of the people's party. One creed, one purpose, one hope, one inspiration moved us all, and had we sternly put temptation aside and nominated a straight populist ticket at St. Louis, one man from the west and one from the south, we would have swept this land from sea to sea."

Do Wages Rise with Prices?

The returns for all industries in this country, as in England, show that wages advanced fully 50 per cent. during the period from 1860 to 1873, in which prices advanced about 15 per cent., and wages fell fully 15 per cent. during the period from 1873 to 1890, in which prices fell 25 per cent. The relative gains of the laborers were far greater during the period of expanding currency and rising prices under bimetallism than during the period of scarcer currency and falling prices under the gold standard.

These statistics, moreover, give the wages of laborers when actually employed, and the heaviest losses of laborers under the gold standard have come from the lack of employment. This was especially true of the years of panic and depression from 1873 to 1879. With the rise of prices that followed the resumption of specie payments and passage of the Bland act there was a marked recovery in the rate of wages and a still more marked recovery in the extent of employment. A similar period of relief came with the rise of prices under the Sherman act of 1890. But only during the years of comparatively steady or rising prices was labor fully employed and prosperous. Whenever prices fell the panic or depression in the commercial world created in labor an army of unemployed. These panics and depressions never came when prices were rising. Those who to day are simultaneously predicting that the free coinage of silver will cause the doubling of prices and a commercial panic have as little history as logic to support them. A panic has always meant the inability of business men to meet their obligations without selling at a loss. A panic never did occur and never can occur when prices are rising.—"Would Free Coinage Benefit Wage-earners?" I, The Affirmative View, by Dr. Charles B. Spear, in November Review of Reviews.

AFTER THE BATTLE

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9, 1896.

Secretary Edgerton claims for the People's party in the next House 24 Congressman: Kansas 6. Nebraska 4. South Dacota 2; North Carolina 6, Idaho 1, Colorado 1, California 1. Alabama 1, Minnesota 1, and Indiana, 1, with possibly one more each from California, Alabama, and Illinois.

Later returns add to this as follows: Texas 4, Washington 2.

The People's party has elected full state tickets in several of the Western states, Nebraska heading the list.

Jerry Simpson, in spite of heavy odds, is elected by a handsome majority.

Honest Dick Bland, of Minnesota, is elected by a larger majority than ever, after being out of Congress for two years.

"Cyclone" Davis, of the Fourth Congressional district, Texas, is reported elected. Mr. Davis was seriously hurt by a blow on the head given by an ex-member of the state legislature when making his last campaign speech.

W. C. P. Breckenridge, of evil odor, is defeated.

Harry Skinner, of North Carolina, has been returned to Congress.

Altgeld's defeat in Illinois could only have been accomplished by boodle and bribery and that plutocratic hatred of every such noble champion of the common people as he has shown himself.

Missouri was saved to the New Democracy by the support of the Populists.

Bring on your prosperity! We have heard enough about it. It has been promised to us by the Plutocratic Press. They put it on the transparencies and had the weary laborer carry it through the street.

The orators have yelled that it was coming. Even the goldbug preachers pledged it. Now let it come. We will take no excuses. Begin at once. We are eager to see the difference between gold basis democratic rule and gold basis republican rule. We, the common people, the silver fanatics, calamity howlers, cranks, will not sit as spectators at this continuous show, but while we pay our price we will jeer the clown and hiss the villian and ring down the curtain in 1900 upon the whole sorry lot.

Wm. J. Bryan is not elected but he is not defeated. Such noble, patriotic labor as his has been, during the campaign just closed, cannot be in vain. Had the true will of the people been registered at the polls, had corruption, intimidation, trade and barter of votes been lacking, our candidate would have gone to the White House with such a majority as America has never seen. Bryan has made a campaign without a pareilel. None but a phenomenal man, mentally and physically, could nave endured the tremendous work and constant strain to which he has been subject. He has gone everywhere, calm, strong and confident in the midst of turmoil, weakness and doubt. He believed in the great common people and they responded. They wanted Bryan and Free Silver. That an avalanche of corruption spread over the land, that capital made its cruel hand felt at the throat of labor, that the workman had to choose between a free ballot and bread "for Mollie and the babies," that all partisan and sectional feeling was appealed to, made it possible for Hanna's tool to pose as president. But all of this has demonstrated that Mr. Bryan's backers had no money, with which to buy or bribe, that they were in sympathy with the laborer, that partisan and sectional spirit could be vanquished by patriotism and their leader has gone on record as the friend of all true Americans and as the fearless foe of all trusts, monopolies and enemies of freedom. Neither Mr. Bryan nor his party is defeated. The Hannacrats have had a good scare. This struggle will but give to us and our brave young leader strength for the conflict of 1900. Right is might and we will triumph yet. A.R

Poor Blood

When a horse is poor in flesh, a new harness won't give him strength. If a house is cold new furniture won't warm it. If your strength is easily exhausted; work a burden; nerves weak; digestion poor; muscles soft; if you are pale and worn out, the trouble is with the blood. It is not so much IMPURE blood as POOR blood. Pills won't make this blood rich; nor will bitters, nor iron tonics, any more than a new harness will give strength to the horse, or new furniture will make a house warm. For poor blood you want something that will make rich blood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is the best remedy in the world for enriching the blood.

We have prepared a book telling you more about the subject. Sent Free. For sale by all druggists at 50c. & $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Lily Lyrics.

Mr. J. W. Kincade died at his home near this place last Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, leaving a devoted wife and seven little children and a host of friends to weep. We feel it a great loss but our loss is his gain.

Miss Mattie Lenoir is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Collins, at Oakmulgee.

Mr. Luther and Miss Celestia Jones are visiting friends in Birmingham this week.

Miss Mamie Johnson and Mr. Paton Wilson, of Clanton, were out here last Sunday.

Mr R. L Veazey has secured the school at Mulberry Academy, and began teaching last Monday.

Bro. E. M. Woods was here and preached our beloved brother Kincade's funeral last Monday.

Mr. G. W. Fox will move to Maplesville in a few days.

Dr. Dawson will move to Verbena ere long and Dr. Hayes is speaking of going to Jemison. I guess they think our people will not get sick any more. I hope they wont, but I am afraid we will. So here is a good opening for some good doctor. CLINT.

• • •

Program of Mulberry Baptist S. S. Convention to be held with Macedonia church, on Friday, November 27, 1896.

Prayer by Bro. G. W. Freeman. 10 a.m. Welcome address by Bro. S. E. Waldrup. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. S. M. Adams.

Subjects for discussion—1. What is the best method of promoting an interest in Sabbath-school work? discussed by Bro. J. E. Jones and Bro. L. B. Pounds. 2. What effect should a Sabbath-school have on a church and community? discussed by Bro. M. D. Langston, W. H. Shaw and others. 3. What is the duty of a church towards a Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt, Z. J. Jones and others. Singing. 4. What is our motive in attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. A. Mims and Bro. David Smitherman and others. 5. Can we be better Christians or enjoy any more religion by attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. J. Fleming and James Neat. Mass-meeting, Sunday, 9 a.m., conducted by Bro. Albert Foshee. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt.

There will be song service conducted by Z. J. Jones.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, A. C. Smith, Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder at the court house door in Clanton Alabama, on

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1896,

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to-wit:

The sw1-4 of the se1-4 and all of the se 1-4 of the sw1-4 that lies east of Yellow Leaf Creek all in section 10 township 22 range 14 Chilton county, Alabama, containing sixty acres more or less.

A. C. SMITH,
Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased.

Eleven congressmen are returned from North Carolina by the fusion vote. Not a single McKinley republican was elected in the Idaho Legislature. Fusionists will control the legislature in South Dacota.

* * *

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skillful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and mechanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-know "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you among their patrons.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

	1896
Maplesville	November 9
Shoultz	" 10
Valley Creek church	" 11
Welch's mill	" 12
Dixie	" 13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	" 14
Benson	" 16
Macedonia church	" 17
Providence church beat 2	" 18
Hays' mill	" 19
Jemison	" 20
Strasburg	" 21
Maddox's mill	" 22
Lomax	" 24
Mineral Springs	" 25
Mountzion church	" 26
Cane Creek church	" 27
Ehrman's mill	" 30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber 4
Coopers	" 5
Verbena	" 7&8
Wayside church	" 9
Kincheon	" 10
Clanton	" 11&12

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Did You Ever

Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for your troubles? If not, get a bottle now and get relief. This medicine has been found to be peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Female Complaints, exerting a wonderful direct influence in giving strength and tone to the organs. If you have Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, or are nervous, Sleepless, Excitable, Melancholy or troubled with Dizzy Spells, Electric Bitters is the medicine you need. Health and Strength are guaranteed by its use. Fifty cents and $1.00

THE JURORS.

Following are the names of jurors drawn for the fall term of circuit court, which will convene on Monday, November, 23 1896.

GRAND JURY.

J. M. Merchant, Thos. Williams, W. H. Parr, Milford Wooley, H. C. Young, Frank Harris, Cra'on Rasberry, Alfred Popwell, W. R. Dawson J M Robinson, R R Killingsworth, J W Scott, J E Knight, B W Silsby, G B Reed, J M Moody, John Burnett, Charlie Coburn, D H Mullins, H B Rodgers, Moses Popwell.

PETIT JURY—first week.

L W Thomar, J L Palmer, J A Miller W J Brown, J J Roberts, S G Glasscock, Elijah Robinson, J S Aldrige, J G Smitherman, Jessie Thomas, M H Barnes, W B Jones, S N Waldrop, George Moore, John Harris, E H Mims, James Jones, G W Askins, Peter Barrett, J R Billingsley, W T Callen, Hugh Henry, G W Mims, J N Glasscock, J C Alred, Munroe Martin, J G Jones, W J Fleming, W P Cleckler, J M Mims, G J. Spear James Nix, L L Culver, G W Gothard, J W Scott.

PETIT JURY—second week.

A J Glasscock, J W E Gulledge, W F Claughton, Hamp Shoults, I G White, D H Hudgins, J W Sorroll, J R Kemp, W H Thomas, J J Marcus, S M Yates, Wm. Reynolds, W A Sims, M A Bates, Thomas Roberts, J L Waldrop, John Runnels, John Robinson, Mart Gore, K R Burnett, W C Dickerson, W D Horsley, J E Cobb, W M Wood, J N Askins, H C Bearden, A L Collins, D Z Merchant, LaFayett Ingram, G T Mims, W A Green, J E Champion, W E Vinsant, W W Rutherford, J W Baker.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Robert Wilson, Deceased } Probate Court Chilton County.

Letters of Administration upon the estate of Robert Wilson, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of August, 1896, by Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court for Chilton county. Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or that the same will be barred.

W. M. WILSON,
Adm. Est. of Robert Wilson, Dec'd.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,526.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
November 2, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given, that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on December 12th, 1896, viz.: Monroe Stewart, Homestead entry, No. 24,149, for the nw¼ of nw¼ section 12 tp 22 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz.: Jake Hayes, of Thorsby, Ala., Anthony Latham, of Thorsby, Ala., Luke Latham, of Jemison, Ala., Robert Hicks, of Thorsby, Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	[illegible]
New York World (3 papers every week)	[illegible]
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	[illegible]
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	[illegible]
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	[illegible]
Silver Knight National Watchman	[illegible]

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	[illegible]
Birmingham State-Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

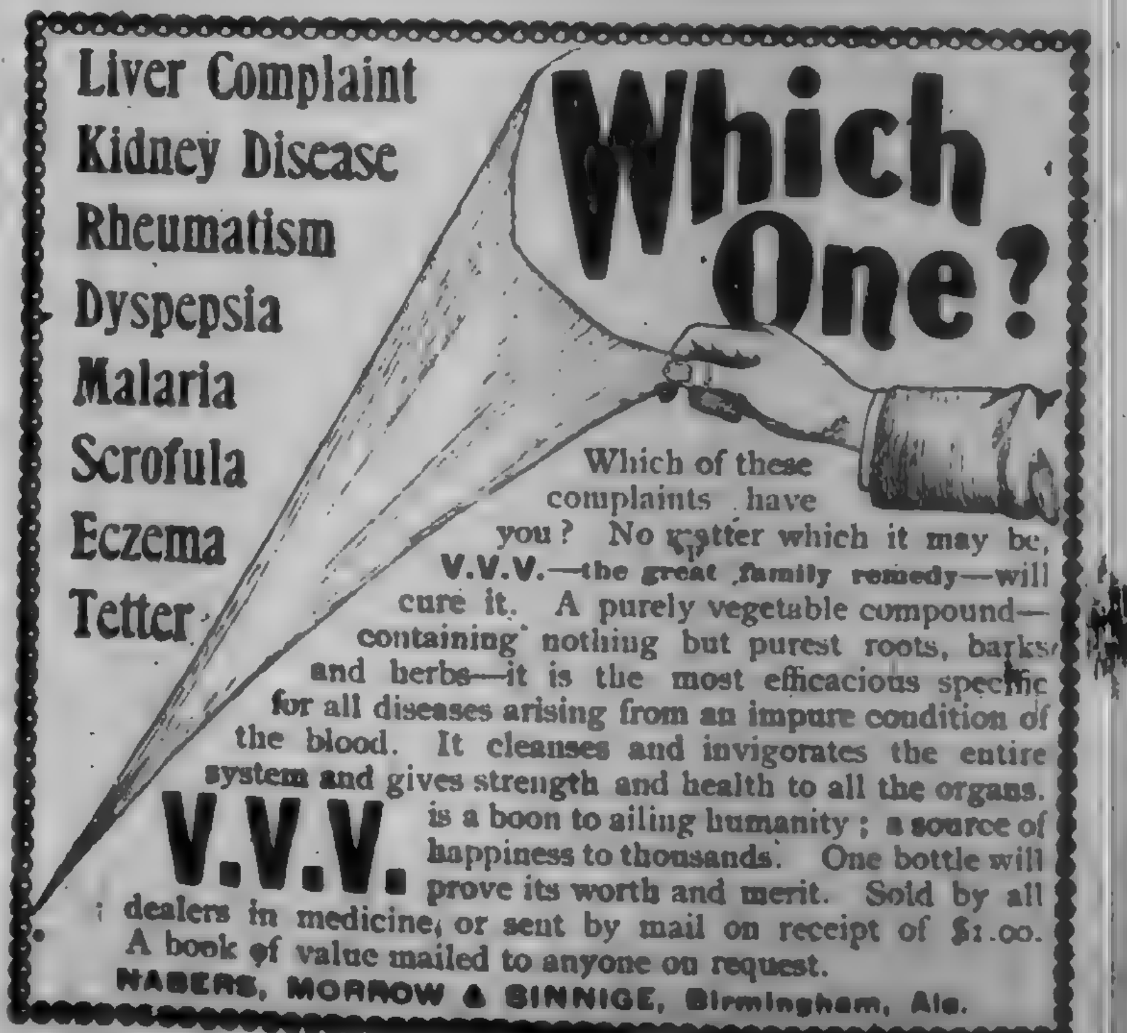
for many pears with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats
To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA



Liver Complaint
Kidney Disease
Rheumatism
Dyspepsia
Malaria
Scrofula
Eczema
Tetter

Which One?

Which of these complaints have you? No matter which it may be, V.V.V.—the great family remedy—will cure it. A purely vegetable compound—containing nothing but purest roots, barks and herbs—it is the most efficacious specific for all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood. It cleanses and invigorates the entire system and gives strength and health to all the organs. V.V.V. is a boon to ailing humanity; a source of happiness to thousands. One bottle will prove its worth and merit. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6¼ cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1400
Mullins	698
Wilson	293
	2391

BRICK FOR SALE. I have 75,000 brick for sale at a low price, on the Lomax Road one and a half miles north of Clanton. Will exchange for corn or cotton seed at market price.

F. R. WOODYARD.

W. W. Moore the Painter is still in Clanton Any one wanting work done can leave word at Mr. Sampey's.

When you need clothing, furnishing goods, etc., you cannot do better than give G. P. Haardt, 4 & 6 Montgomery street (under the Exchange hotel) Montgomery a trial. He has some splendid goods at low prices.

Dr. G. W. Shackelford, Dentist, will be in Clanton for one week only, commencing Monday Nov. 20. He extracts teeth positively without pain. Any one wishing the services of a good dentist will do well to call on him at Duke House. Prices for gold and amalgam fillings reasonable. All work first class and warranted.

Mr. J. M, Ward, of Haleysville, Ala., is visiting relatives here this week.

Dr. W. E. Stewart went to Birmingham Monday.

Mr. W. H. Taylor made a trip to Birmingham on business last Friday.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds passed through Clanton last Monday morning on his way to Montgomery to attend to his duties in the Legislature.

Judge Honeycutt is entertaining at his home this week his aged mother from Clear Creek, and his two sisters, Mrs. Z. H. Crim, of Henderson Texas, and Mrs B. B. Haigewood, of Big Sandy, Texas. Another sister, Mrs. Tempey Glass, of Clear Creek, was also included in this family reunion. It is ten years since the Judge and his relatives have had the pleasure of being together.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Springfield, Tenn., who has been spending several weeks with Capt. Middleton's family, left last Thursday for Brooksville, Fla.

Mr. J. A. Culp went to Montgomery this morning.

Mr. W. H. Foshee made a trip to Birmingham yesterday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Dr. W. E. Stewart made a trip to Birmingham Monday.

Dr. J. S. Johnson Jr. is on a business trip to Birmingham.

Dr. A. J. Massey, the well known Dentist, will be at the Duke House, Clanton, during the first week of Fall court to extract teeth by the painless process. Come promptly. All classes of fine Dentistry done.

A Sunday-school Convention

For Chilton county, will be held at Verbena on Sunday, Nov. 15th. All Sunday-schools in the county, without regard to denominational lines, are earnestly requested to send delegates to said convention.

H. W. CALLAN.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. John Roberts and Miss Jennie Mahan; Mr. J. T. Rockett and Miss Isabella Clark; Mr. Wm Manuel Rasberry and Miss Rosie Belle Barrett; Mr. E. J. Weldon and Miss Ella L. Dunavan.

Mr. John McCullough, who is filling the position of yard foreman in the L. & N. yards at Birmingham, was visiting old friends here Monday.

Mr W. L. Sampey is considering the erection of a two-story brick building on the site of his present store house

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Roley Latham, deceased. Probate Court, Chilton county, Alabama.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of November, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, in said State, notice is hereby given, that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

J. H. [illegible],
Administrator.

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Wineinger, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes: "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and, before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects, I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits, or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the General Assembly of Alabama at its next session, for the passage of an Act empowering Alfred Popwell of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell and convey the interest in lands in Chilton County, Alabama, of the heirs of John Popwell deceased, in the estate of Reuben Popwell and Benjamin Popwell, both deceased.

ALFRED POPWELL.

Clanton, Ala., November 5, 1896.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Jesse S. Martin, Sr., deceased Probate Court, Chilton County Ala.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 27th day of October, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

R. H. Martin, Administrator,
By his attorneys Adams & Martin.

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1895, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 9th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of nw¼ sec 3 and w½ of sec 6 all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and n½ of sw¼ sec 10 and n½ of nw¼, sw¼ of nw1-4 and nw1-4 of se1-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14, w½ of nw1-4, se1-4 of nw1-4 and se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 33, and se1-4 of se1-4 sec 29 all in t 22 r 14 and nw1-4 of se1-4 and sw1-4 of sw1-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK,
Admr, etc, of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.
This 23 day of October, 1896

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his period of visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

PORTABLE SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS	SALT RHEUM	CHAPPED HANDS
BURNS	ULCERS	FROSTED FEET
BRUISES	ITCH	RINGWORM
SCALDS	ERYSIPELAS	AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation. Guaranteed to give satisfaction; when you need an ointment, be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.

VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

Send your name for a Souvenir of the Works of Eugene Field,

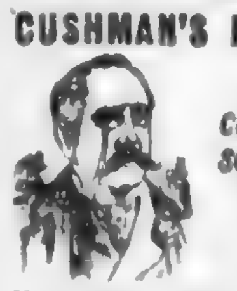
FIELD FLOWERS

The Eugene Field Monument Souvenir

The most beautiful Art Production of the century. "A small bunch of the most fragrant of blossoms gathered from the broad acres of Eugene Field's Farm of Love." Contains a selection of the most beautiful of the poems of Eugene Field. Handsomely illustrated by thirty-five of the world's greatest artists as their contribution to the Monument Fund. But for the noble contributions of the great artists this book could not have been manufactured for $7.00. For sale at book stores, or sent prepaid on receipt of $1.10. The love offering to the Child's Poet Laureate, published by the Committee to create a fund to build the Monument and to care for the family of the beloved poet

Eugene Field Monument Souvenir Fund,
180 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD
PRESCRIBES
CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER
— FOR —



DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or

Any Head or Throat Trouble.

Dr. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathing, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE CURES IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when Cushman's Inhaler will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Companion! $5.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No clubbing or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in [illegible] the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. M. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is perhaps most destructive to the life of the Influenza bacillus."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Besley Thorne, in communication to the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's [illegible] that Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the [illegible] has passed off."

"I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend used me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I used it.

T. DOUGLAS MORTON,
[illegible], N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried.

H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for Book on Menthol and testimonials. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville Ky.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.,

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

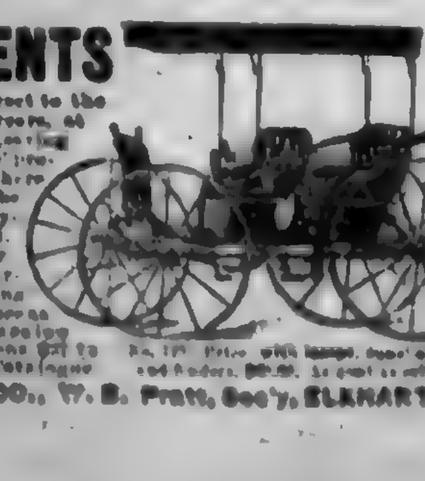
Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles' Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

No. 1[illegible] Surrey Harness. Price $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

but have sold direct to the consumer for [illegible] years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profit. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. [illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness. [illegible] Spring Wagons [illegible] Send for large free Catalogue.



No. 1[illegible] Price with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COMING! COMING!

WATCH AND WAIT FOR THE DATE

HALL & MACFLINN'S

EQUINE AND CANINE CARNIVAL AND ROYAL ROMAN HIPPODROME

COMBINED WITH

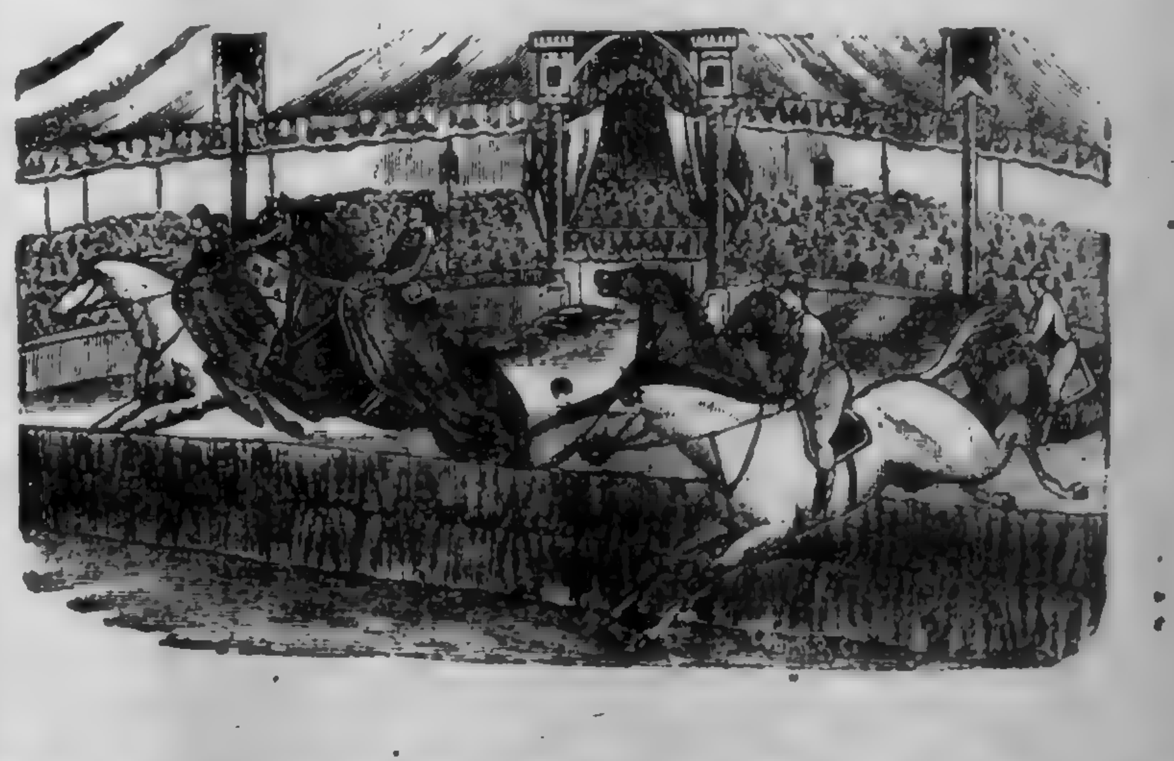
PROFESSOR HERR HAGENBECKES

TRAINED · ANIMAL · EXPOSITION

WILL EXHIBIT AT

Clanton, Friday, Nov. 20,

FOR ONE DAY ONLY



TWO ✿ BIG ✿ SHOWS ✿ IN ✿ ONE

A TRULY MORAL SHOW HONESTLY CONDUCTED

We allow no Gambling or Games of Chance

WE Advertise what we have and Show what WE Advertise

WE HAVE MORE ANIMALS
WE HAVE MORE SHETLAND PONIES
WE HAVE MORE AND BETTER HORSES
WE HAVE MORE FEATURES
THAN ANY SHOW TRAVELING

SEE our Performing Elephants

SEE our $10,000 Gorilla--only one in America

SEE our Troop Performing Monkeys

SEE our Huge Den Performing Lions

SEE our Wonderful Water Elephant

SEE the Best Ring Performance you ever saw in your life

COME in Town early and see our Grand Street Pageant--Rain or Shine

SPECIAL FEATURE

PROFESSOR CHESTER BALDWIN, THE CELEBRATED ILLINOIS AERONAUT

Will give a Grand Balloon Ascension 5000 feet to the Clouds and a Parachute leap Will Positively take place

REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE

Jamison	Thursday	November 19
Clanton	Friday	November 20
Verbena	Saturday	November 21

How to Speak of Birds.

The correct names of the assemblages of birds are as follows: A covey of partridges; a aye, side or nest of pheasants; a beard of swans; an exalting of larks; a watching of nightingales; a team of ducks; a muster of peacocks; a bevy of quails; a flight of doves, a flock of gargle of geese; a spring of teals; a fall of woodcocks; a pack of grouse; a sedge of herons; a shoal of rocks; a trip of widgeon; a wisp or walk of snipe.

We make to-morrow harder by assuming useless obligations to-day that must be met to-morrow.

A man's moral character cannot be really elevated by external force. People may awaken and inspire and help each other by their interest, sympathy, advice and influence; but, if the character is to be built up into fair and beautiful proportions, it must be by the personal force of the individual himself.

"At this point she broke down and wept scalding tears." "Dear me! She must have been boiling over with rage."

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and sold by all druggists.

It is said that there is ground for a belief that James Monroe did not die of poverty, as often stated.

Among Our Exchanges.

[Bessemer Weekly.]

There is probably not a more highly educated physician in this section than Dr. O. T. Dozier. He is a specialist of many years' experience and successful practice. He is noted for his thorough mastery of the details and intricacies of his profession, and for unusual scientific attainments.

[Sunday Morning Star.]

Dr. Dozier's success has been simply marvelous and has elicited the most enthusiastic words of praise and gratitude from the dispensary's many patrons from all over the state.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

$100 Reward. $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Are You Satisfied With What You Know,

Or would you gladly improve your stock of knowledge? You may not have $8 or $10 you can spare for a 10-volume encyclopedia, but you can afford to pay fifty cents for a Hand Book of General Information. You won't want to pay even this unless you are desirous of improving your mind and believe that a five-hundred-page book, filled with a condensed mass of valuable knowledge, will be read by you. This valuable Encyclopedia will be sent postpaid for fifty cents in stamps by the Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. Every person who has not a large encyclopedia should take advantage of this great offer at once and store his mind with the valuable facts collated in this book.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

In 1848 President Polk offered Spain a million dollars for the island of Cuba, which offer was refused.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap costs more to make than any other floating soap made, but the consumers have to pay no more for it. It is 100 per cent. pure and made of Borax. You know what that means. Order of your grocer.

In Russia servants kiss their mistress's hand both in morning and evening greetings.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

We think Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only medicine for Coughs.—JENNIE PINCKARD, Springfield, Ills., Oct. 1, 1894.

St. Vitus' Dance. One bottle Dr. Fenner Specific cures. Circular, Fredonia, N. Y.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle.

One

Fact is worth a column of rhetoric. It is a fact established by the testimony of thousands, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, catarrh, and other diseases and affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite and gives strength to every part of the system. Get only

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure [illegible] or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of information. VETERINARY MEDICINE CO., Nashville, Tenn.

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors Miners and Treasure Seekers Circular, 2 cents. [illegible] Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

MONEY GOLD, SILVER.... ....BOOK FREE. Bus Dansby, Columbus, O.

12 c. pay for your name in our Public Directory and gets you a Handy Dictionary of 31,000 words all worth $10 to you. South Pub. Co., Roanoke, Va.

Am. N.U. No. 46. 1896.

PILES ABSOLUTELY CURED. For circulars & proof and free sample, address Hermit Remedy Co., Dept. 8, 181 Dearborn St., Chicago.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

THREE ANGELS.

Three Angels share the lot of human strife,
Three Angels glorify the path of life.
Love, Hope and Patience cheer us on our way;
Love, Hope and Patience form our spirit's stay;
Love, Hope and Patience watch us day
 by day,
And bid the desert bloom with beauty
 vernal,
Until the earthly fades in the eternal.

SISTERS.

Cawnpore, Sept. 13, 180—.

"Dear Miss Barton—May I venture to hope that you have not quite forgotten the friendship which made last summer—to me at least—so exceedingly pleasant? It is with the thought of your kindness still fresh in my memory that I dare to ask that question which has been growing more and more important to my mind ever since I left home. Will you be my wife? I feel I am asking much of you, but, indeed, I ask in all humility, knowing I have nothing to offer in exchange but a most sincere affection and a great desire to make you happy, and if I can in any degree succeed in that I shall be always yours most gratefully.

"DANIEL MERTON."

Upford Rectory, Norfolk,
Sept. 30, 180—.

"Dear Major Merton—I was very much surprised by your letter, as it had never struck me that you looked upon me as anything but a friend. But I, too, have pleasant memories of the summer, and I feel that I should be contented as your wife, however deeply I might miss my dear home and all the sad and happy associations with which this place is connected, and which must always make it dearer to me than any other in the world. My father has written to you, I know, so I need say no more. I am yours very sincerely,

"CONSTANCE BARTON."

"Mother," said Constance, a few days after writing this letter, "I cannot do it."

"But, my dearest, you must! You know it is only a week to the day you start, and your passage is taken, and all; and your trousseau has gone, and it is really quite easy; and Colonel and Mrs. Gore will look after you, and——"

"What is the good of talking, mother? You know I would travel anywhere; it is the thought of meeting him at the end!"

"Yes, dear," sighed Mrs. Barton. "I quite understand; but you won't mind in a little while. It will soon wear off."

"But it will not! How often must I tell you that this is no sudden freak? I have thought about it for weeks and weeks."

"Why did you not tell me, then?" said the mother, reproachfully.

"Because I could not be certain what I could endure. Yes"—answering a startled look in her hearer's face—"endure. I meant to marry him without loving him; it seemed quite easy, but—last night I found——"

"My dear Constance, go on! What could have influenced you last night?"

"We were coming home from choir practice, and the sun was setting just as we got to the top of the hill—and I stopped at the gate into the first field and watched the sun go down behind the fir trees and the mists come over the fields—and—I found I could not leave it."

"What! Leave what?"

"That gate, mother! No, you cannot understand it; you never would—so just try and forgive me, if you can."

"Constance, surely you cannot be thinking—After all these years!"

"No, mother; I never think, as you say, after all these years. The present is quite enough to think about, and—do you understand? I will not go out to India! I will not marry Major Merton, and so—will you tell my father, or shall I?"

"I will!"

Mrs. Barton went down the stairs with a heavy heart, and on reaching her husband's study sank into the first chair and sighed.

"Constance refuses to marry Major Merton!"

The rector gasped, but before he could say a word an indignant girlish voice broke in from the other end of the room.

"It is a shame! How dare she?"

"Are you there, Maud?" said Mrs. Barton. "Never mind; I should have had to tell you. I think it is a great pity."

"A pity! (scornfully). It is disgraceful. And how—how will he bear it? To have his love treated like that. She took it as though it were her right, and now she flings it away without thinking of his heart—breaking——" and something very like a sob sounded through the room.

"Don't be silly, Maud!" said her mother, in the tone which betrays how familiar is the sentence, and Maud had heard it all her life in response to her most enthusiastic ideas, as well as to her daily chatter, so its effect was small.

Her father and mother began to consider the position. Major Merton expecting a bride; their friends, Colonel and Mrs. Gore, waiting to escort Constance to Bombay and be present at the wedding; and, most important to the female mind, the trousseau, which was already on its way to Brindisi. What was to be done?

"Wire to Major Merton," suggested the rector. "'No. Constance;' or 'Constance refuses.'"

"No," said Mrs. Barton, decidedly, "the Gores must take our letters, and when he sees them alone on the steamer half the force of the blow will be broken; he will see something is wrong and that will be much better than a telegram."

"Yes," said Maud, "because he will not have to wait a fortnight for the explanation."

"Of course," said Mrs. Barton, pitifully, "though that had not struck me. And, by-the-bye, Maud, this will put an end to your Indian trip," and her mother looked bewildered.

"Why?" said Maud, quickly, and the sharp tones of her voice reduced the confused objections surging in her parents' minds into a feeble "It would not do." But through the long argument that followed, they found her imperious "Why not?" so difficult to answer, that she left them in the end saying wonderingly to each other, "And why not?"

The Ganges was steaming into Bombay harbor early one December morning. The passengers, most of them returning from leave, stood on deck watching for Malabar Hill and other familiar landmarks, full of the excitement of a return to that land which however they might call England "home," held most of their life's interests.

Colonel and Mrs. Gore were there, looking rather distracted as they thought of the unpleasant task which lay before them. Maud had disappeared below on some excuse, somewhat to their relief; they felt the sight of the offending bride's sister would not be likely to soothe matters with the forsaken bridegroom.

Maud, in an agony of suspense and half-shamed disgust with herself, was looking with misty eyes out of one of the portholes, when she heard a hasty step behind her, and before she had time to wonder who it was a voice she knew was saying in eager tones:

"Constance! How glad I am!"—She turned and faced—Major Merton. He looked disconcerted for a minute, and then went on: "I beg your pardon, Miss—er—Maud, I suppose I may say, but your figures are so much alike; and where is Constance?"

Poor Maud saw that all her strategems had been useless. She, of all people, had to tell him the bitter truth; she who all the voyage had pictured him having brain fever, ending probably in madness, when he learned how Constance had treated him. She was very young!

She hung her head like a naughty schoolgirl, feeling intolerably guilty, but something must be said, and gathering all her courage together she began:

"I cannot tell you how sorry I am. I am ashamed of Constance," and as Major Merton smiled in utter misconception of her meaning—"yes, ashamed that she is my sister, for, oh, Major Merton!—she is not—she won't—marry you!"

And all her composure fled before the sternness which gathered in his eyes, and, like a little coward, she began to cry. For a few minutes there was a dead silence, broken only by the sound of her sobs, and then a strong sunburned hand was laid on hers, and a very kindly voice said:

"My dear child, why should you cry? It is not your fault, you would not—have not done this thing, and really"—as this did not seem to have any effect—"it is much better that your sister should have found out her feelings, even, as it seems to me, rather late in the day."

"But it is shameful," sobbed Maud; "you will despise us all. It is so cool of her, you know."

Major Merton almost smiled.

"I could not despise her, and as for you—how could I despise you? I think you are sorry for me, and if those tears are for my pain, I cannot have another one. We all have disappointments sometimes, and I hope I know how to bear one."

Maud looked up through her tears again and wondered how Constance could have done this thing. She had never thought that he would bear it as he had; in her own mind she had expected him to stagger—turn white—and perhaps groan a little. She had always heard that a man's tears were so terrible to witness! Secretly, she felt a trifle disappointed when she thought over the scene which she had so often imagined.

However, there was no time for more to be said, for the Gores arrived in the saloon, half vexed and half relieved to gather from the looks of the pair before them that the dreaded disclosure was over, and that nothing remained for them to do but deliver the letters with which they had been intrusted, and let Major Merton depart as quickly as possible.

Mrs. Gore and Maud had been schoolfellows and were great friends, so that the latter found life a very pleasant thing in the gay little cantonment where the regiment which Colonel Gore commanded was stationed.

In April Mrs. Gore and Maud betook themselves to Naini Tal.

Colonel Gore came up in July, and his wife and Maud rode down as far as the Brewery to meet him. They arrived early at the meeting place, and walking on through the gorge, settled themselves near a bowlder covered with waving ferns, over which the water dripped, from whence they could see a bit of the road up which Colonel Gore must pass. Mrs. Gore was the first to catch sight of the traveller for whom they waited.

"Oh, Maud!" she cried, "what a bother! He is not alone. How like Ben to pick up some one, when he might know that I am dying to tell him everything as we ride up."

Mrs. Gore's astonishment knew no bounds when she found that the stranger was Major Merton, but Maud was silent until he asked her pointblank whether she had recognized him on the road, and then she answered very quietly:

"I thought it looked like you."

Mrs. Gore chattered away to Ben all the way home, but the pair behind was rather silent. Major Merton's recollections of Maud were very hazy, but he had imagined her to be a young woman of decided opinions, and one whose voice was heard more frequently than Constance's in the Norfolk Rectory, and he glanced at her from time to time, wondering at the change, little thinking that she was still oppressed by the thought of his sufferings, which, truth to tell, he had almost forgotten, having soon realised that he was just as happy without the bride who had so coolly deserted him.

As they passed through the bazaar and saw the first shimmer of the waters of the lake and faced the circle of the hills which surround it, he turned and asked her the inevitable question:

"How do you like Naini?"

And she, looking up at him for the first time, showed her dark eyes positively radiant with some hidden light and answered as though to a question in the Catechism—solemnly and earnestly:

"I think it is the most beautiful place in the whole world, Major Merton."

That night Mrs. Gore was silent for five whole minutes when alone with Ben, and then broke into such an infectious peal of laughter that he joined in it begging to know what it was all about.

"Oh," said she, "it struck me as being so funny! I believe we brought out Major Merton's bride, after all."

"What on earth do you mean?" said Colonel Gore.

"Why, Maud is such a sentimental child that I fancy the idea of Major Merton's broken heart, which, of course, was all nonsense, made her more than half in love with him herself, while, as for Major Merton, you know if a man wants to get married he will not give it up because one girl refuses him; he will go on till he finds one who will wed, so there will be no difficulty about him——"

"My dear child, stop! You have absolutely nothing to go upon, and I cannot have you matchmaking for Maud."

"I am not matchmaking!" (indignantly.) "I would not do anything so horrid. But you see how delightful it would be, and you know the regiment is in orders for Lucknow, and Major Merton's battery is at Cawnpore, so I should be able to see a lot of Maud when she was married, and——"

"You had much better go to bed. Merton is not likely to contemplate marriage for a long time after such a nasty hit."

"How little you know about men!" sighed the sage of twenty-four, and Colonel Gore subsided into silence with a chuckle of delight.

Mrs. Gore behaved very well. Even Ben, who kept a sharp lookout upon her, admitted that. She was friendly with Major Merton, certainly, but not ostentatiously so. She invited him to dinner about once a week, and to every picnic that she gave; but so she did Charlie Manners, the young R. A. who was Maud's friend, and whose devotion was so open that she could hardly help laughing over it to Major Merton in private.

And Maud, much older for her seven months' Indian experience, gave up pitying Major Merton, put the thought of Constance's misdeed away, and enjoyed the happiest weeks of her whole life, in that delightful state of mind, known once and once only, when a girl forgets the past and the future and feels that the present is very good.

Sept. 13.

"Maud—I go down to-morrow, and though I tried to speak to you last night I never had the opportunity, for when I had I was too miserably uncertain of what your answer would be to dare to risk all upon a question. But now I cannot leave you without getting one word of hope. You know—I need not tell you that—that I love you. You must have seen, ever since the day you met me half way down the hill, that you are dearer to me than any one else in the whole world; that I am content just to be with you; no, that is not true, for I want you for my own, all your dear self. Can you do it? How can I ask it, and whatever it may be you will know that I am yours and yours only."

Tuesday morning.

"One word will not do. Yes—and—Yes—and Yes—and that means I love you, and that means everything! Do you know that I am so glad you wrote? Can you guess why? Well, I read your letter to Constance, and I wanted to know whether you could write differently, and I see that you can! I shall see you to-night, and I will not think of to-morrow's goodby.

"MAUD."

No Two Men Alike.

The professor who would aim at shaping the character of all his students according to one uniform ideal standard would be attempting the impossible, because he would be striving to do what is at variance with the laws of nature and of nature's God. In all the Creator's works there is charming variety. There are no two stars in the firmament equal in magnitude and splendor, "for star differeth from star in glory"; there are no two leaves of the forest alike, no two grains of sand no two human faces. Neither can there be two men absolutely identical in mental capacity or moral disposition. One may excel in solid judgment, another in tenacity of memory and a third in brilliancy of imagination. One is naturally grave and solemn, another is gay and vivacious. One is of a phlegmatic, another of a sanguine temperament. One is constitutionally shy, timid and reserved, another is bold and demonstrative. One is taciturn; another has his heart in his mouth. The teacher should take his pupils as God made them, and aid them in bringing out the hidden powers of their soul. If he tries to adopt the levelling process by casting all in the same mould, his pupils will become forced and unnatural in their movements; they will lose heart, their spirit will be broken, their manhood crippled and impaired.—North American Review.

An Unfailing Sign of Longevity.

Starting from the base of the big toe there is a distinct line. That is the life line. In one foot it will curve along until it terminates under the instep far toward the lower base of the little toe. This means long life. If broken in the hollow of the foot it denotes a sickness at middle age, and if it terminates in the hollow of the foot it means a short life. This line is the most interesting one on the foot. The experiments that have been conducted lately have proven this to be an almost unfailing reading of longevity.

What is known as the Carver claim to the site of the city of St. Paul and part of Minneapolis is to be revived. Congress refused to recognise the claim in 1848, and in 1861 the original documents, purporting to cede the land from the Indians to Captain Jonathan Carver, were destroyed when the State Capitol was burned.

THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

JESTS AND YARNS BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Analytical—Blessed Reassurance—The Modern View—A Matter of Taste—No Use—Available Either Way—They Knew Her—Etc., Etc.

ANALYTICAL.

"What does Slyker think about this silver question?"

"There's no telling. All we know is what he says."

BLESSED REASSURANCE.

Mr. Frost—"I must turn you away. I have no work for you."

Rugged Strong—"Bless yer, sir; bless yer."

THE MODERN VIEW.

Mamma—Why were the five virgins whose lamps lacked oil called foolish?

Tommy—Maybe they had their bikes with 'em.

DEFINED.

"What is an accommodation train, papa?"

"An accommodation train, my son, is one that stops at every station that you don't want to get off at."

BAD RESULTS.

"Binks is a sort of photographic lover, isn't he?"

"Photographic? What do you mean?"

"Why, he's always bringing out negatives."

A MATTER OF TASTE.

Customer—You are using a different kind of soap from what you were, aren't you?

Barber—What makes you think so?

"It doesn't taste the same."

FAIR ENOUGH.

His Fiancee—Are you sure you would love me just as tenderly if our conditions were reversed—if you were rich and I were poor?

He—Reverse our conditions and try me.

LONG DRAWN OUT.

"How did you feel when Charlie was proposing?"

"I felt sure I'd say yes if he ever got through."

HIS OCCUPATION.

"What are you doing down there so long?" shouted the proprietor to Rastus

"Helpin' 'Lias, sah."

"What's 'Lias doing?"

"Nuthin."

LEFT IT TO HIM.

Jones—Hello, Smith! Got home again?

Smith—I suppose so. I don't look as if I was out of town, do I?

AT THE INQUEST.

Coroner—Is this man whom you found dead on the railroad track a total stranger?

Witness (who had been told by the company to be careful in his statements)—No, sor. His leg was gone intoirely. He was a partial stranger.

THEY KNEW HER.

Mabel—How many engagement rings did you bring back from the seashore?

Gertrude—None.

Mabel—Why, how did that happen?

Gertrude—Unluckily I got in with the same crowd that I met last year.

AVAILABLE EITHER WAY.

Helen—He is extremely reticent about his family.

Her Brother—Hum—must be a good man of bad family or a bad man of good family. You had best encourage him.

NO USE.

The conversation dragged.

"You are worth your weight in gold," he ventured to observe to the girl he so madly loved.

"Excuse me," she replied, freezingly, "but I detest politics."

Again the conversation dragged.

AWKWARD, YOU KNOW.

Flossie—Do you remember whether Tom's engagement ring had five diamonds?

Cissy—No. why?

Flossie—Because I've lost a ring in the water, and don't know whether it was Jack's or his.

COULDN'T RESIST.

Old Boy—I pride myself on keeping myself to myself. For instance, I did not speak to my next door neighbor for ten years.

Son—How did you come to speak to him first?

Old Boy—He brought home a new bicycle, and I couldn't resist giving him some hints how to ride it.

EXPLICIT.

"Patrick, I was sorry to hear that you were arrested last week. What was the charge against you?"

"Sivin dollars an' costs sir."

"I mean, what were you charged with when they brought you before the Justice?"

"Apple brandy, sor."

HARD TO TELL.

Little May—Why do they consider marriage such an important step in life?

Agatha—Because it's so hard to tell whether it's a step up or down.

An Electrical Aerial Torpedo.

Mr. H. G. Rich, electrical engineer, has invented an instrument of warfare which he calls an "aerial torpedo," designed to be used in the siege of cities, or to scatter large bodies of troops while at rest. The torpedo consists of a small-sized gas-filled balloon, capable of sustaining for any length of time from thirty to forty pounds at an elevation of from 500 to 1,000 feet above the earth. Inside of the lower or small end of the balloon is placed a metal cylinder, which contains an electrical device, the purpose of which is to ignite the gas in the balloon at any stated period. When this is done the balloon, of course, is destroyed, and the basket falls to the earth with great rapidity. Underneath the balloon is suspended a case or basket containing high explosives, similar to dynamite, which explodes with terrific force when striking a hard substance like the earth or walled embankments. The gas is carried in metal cylinders, enough being compressed in one cylinder to inflate a considerable number of balloons.

GOV. TAYLOR'S PLURAILTY.

Finally Figured Out to Be Something Over Eight Thousand.

Governor Taylor's plurality in Tennessee, based on unofficial but complete returns from eighty-five counties and estimates from the remaining eleven is 8,604. It is now blieved tha there will be but little change from these figures. The counties upon which estimates are made are Grainger, Hancock, Hardin, Lauderdale, Lewis, Meigs, Polk, Rhea, Scott Sequachee and Unicoi. Governor Taylor's total vote in eighty-five counties is 145,241, against 138,872 for Tillman.

A Cougher's Coffers

may not be so full as he wishes, but if he is wise he will neglect his coffers awhile and attend to his cough. A man's coffers may be so secure that no one can take them away from him. But a little cough has taken many a man away from his coffers. The "slight cough" is somewhat like the small pebble that lies on the mountain side, and appears utterly insignificant. A fluttering bird, perhaps, starts the pebble rolling, and the rolling pebble begets an avalanche that buries a town. Many fatal diseases begin with a slight cough. But any cough, taken in time, can be cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

More particulars about Pectoral in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

WINE FOR WOMEN!

Woman's modesty and ignorance of danger often cause her to endure pains and suffer torture rather than consult a physician about important subjects.

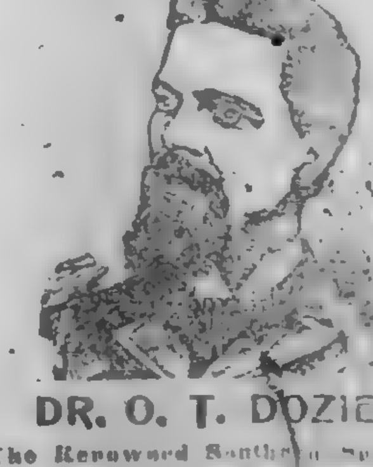
Pains in the head, neck, back, hips, limbs and lower bowels at monthly intervals, indicate alarming derangements.

McELREE'S
WINE OF CARDUI

is a harmless Bitter Wine without intoxicating qualities.

Taken at the proper time it relieves pain, corrects derangements, quiets nervousness and cures Whites, Falling of the Womb and Suppressed or too Frequent Menses. Price $1.

For Sale by Medicine Dealers.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

(The Renowned Southern Specialist)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at [illegible] all forms of Chronic Nervous [illegible] and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of [illegible] Heart, [illegible] the Genito-Urinary organs [illegible] practice. Diseases [illegible] all venereal diseases [illegible] cured by mild and [illegible] ments to marriage [illegible] cele, Impotency. [illegible] sults of self abuse [illegible] quickly and permanently [illegible] tee satisfaction in every case [illegible] valuable "Book for Men Only," and [illegible] tom Blanks for men or women [illegible] free in plain, sealed envelope to [illegible] apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials [illegible] patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern [illegible] Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., [illegible] nearly twenty years' experience [illegible] chronic, nervous and private diseases [illegible] form success has given him a leading [illegible] medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation [illegible] O. T. Dozier has already acquired [illegible] profession, but we know him [illegible] promise he makes [illegible]

[illegible]

* * * Dr. Dozier [illegible] Birmingham, and each successive year [illegible] his reputation, to his usefulness [illegible] in which he is held by our best [illegible] record and approved abilities [illegible] proud distinction of standing at the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is [illegible] living physician * * * He is [illegible] for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of [illegible] skill and experience, a man of cultivated literary attainments and a gentleman [illegible] all who know him. He can be relied [illegible] ters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His (Dr Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address

DR. O. T. DOZIER.
Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

"Blight"

costs cotton planters more than five million dollars annually. This is an enormous waste, and can be prevented. Practical experiments at Alabama Experiment Station show conclusively that the use of "Kainit"

will prevent that dreaded plant disease.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

DEAFNESS

[illegible] comforts [illegible] string attachment. [illegible] for pamphlet. Free.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.,
140 Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

THE DEAF HEAR

WANTED—State and local agents, male and female. Those having had sufficient experience to warrant their taking charge of large territory will do well to address at once. We are in a position to suit almost everybody, both as to territory and terms. A modern and taking plan. Sick and death benefits. Write for terms. Union Beneficial Association, Ribson Building, Trenton, N. J.

Have you spent "hundreds" on experiments? Send 50 cents more for cure.

TETTERINE.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR. S. PERKEY, Chicago. Ills.

PATENTS 21 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent Office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D C.

Be Sure

'Tis pure Cocoa, and not made by the so-called "Dutch Process."

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa is absolutely pure—no chemicals.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1896. NO. 4.

ALL dollars are flat.

THERE are no 50 cent dollars.

IT WAS a wild rush for the hog trough.

NOTHING is settled until it is settled right.

NOW let the agitation for a paper currency go on.

IT IS funny how easily men can believe what they want to believe.

THE principal trouble with fusion seems to be that it failed to fuse.

OF COURSE everybody is expected to explain just how it happened.

A MAN who is opposed to direct legislation is opposed to the people's rule.

AN overproduction of fools seems the greatest drawback to human happiness.

THE gold standard don't hit you; it just crawls on top of you and holds you down.

A PAPER currency based on taxes would be the most perfect that could be issued.

DIRECT legislation is the only hope of the republic. Keep up the agitation.

A CORRECT diagnosis of the case can be stated in three words: "Too much fusion."

IT SEEMS that the people have not yet forgotten their experience with the Democratic party.

IF THE dollar is to have 100 cents commercial value of material in it why make it legal tender?

NEITHER of the old parties will ever enact the measures of reform needed by the people.

IT IS safe to say that many of those foolish wheelbarrow riding bets are not worth 50-cents on the dollar.

WHEN the "smoke of battle clears away," the middle-of-the-road Populist will be a very respectable person.

THERE is a large lot of ante-election predictions that were once quite interesting, but are now very stale.

IT WAS not the [illegible] standard that the people wanted, but the Democratic party that they did not want.

THE preachers who want the gold standard would have danced like wild dervishes around Aaron's golden calf.

AS A rule what Great Britain wants us to have we should avoid, therefore we should repudiate the gold standard.

IF THE "advance agent" redeems the pledges of his party we may look for old prosperity around within the next year.

THE recent election only proves that the Democratic party having been tried and found wanting the people no longer trust it.

AS A rule bankers are tax-dodgers and their talk about national honor and "sound money," is all sound and not more than skin deep.

IT IS no dishonor for the law to confiscate a deadly weapon; it is therefore no violation of the "rights of property" to wipe out the gold standard.

IT IS one of the funny phases of politics that the place hunter always regards patriotism and his own advancement as one and the same thing.

THE recent election returns only show that the people will not trust the Democratic party to deliver them from the thralldom of industrial slavery.

THE most important lesson of this campaign is, that the best way to unite is not to divide. The men who first agitated the fusion methods are responsible for the division in the People's party.

IF THE government credit is good for a bond that draws interest why is it not for a paper dollar that draws no interest? The people say it is, but Shylock says not. Are you on the side of Shylock?

GOVERNMENT banks and government loans would furnish a circulating medium, "safe, sound and flexible," that would abundantly fill all the requirements of trade without the recurrence of panics.

NOW that McKinley and sound money has won the business men and those who have money might turn "confidence" loose and let him roam around even before the Major "takes his pen in hand" to indite his inaugural address.

DISHONEST and tyrannical methods in running conventions may be expected of the old parties, but when a reform party claiming to be actuated by principle and patriotism resorts to such methods it can only result in defeat and disgrace.

THE fact that the price of wheat has gone up is no argument in favor of the gold standard. The crop in India and Russia is short and the locusts devoured the Argentine harvest. It is not likely, however, that our foreign neighbors will always be so obliging—or the locusts either—and our gold standard friends should be very careful how they pile up argument on these little mishaps.

THE TALE IS TOLD.

THE ARGUMENT BETWEEN THE MASSES AND CLASSES.

The People Are the Law, the Courts and the Government—An Interesting Chapter from the Book—Volney's Ruins.

Whoever has read "Volney's Ruins" cannot have failed to find especial interest in the chapter entitled "The New Age." The Genius of tombs and ruins has shown him the empires of the past, the causes of their ruin and downfall and the influences which ever retard human progress and development; and, in view of these, he is lead to exclaim:

"Here, sunk in sorrow, my oppressed heart no longer found utterance. The Genius answered not, but I heard him whisper to himself:

"'Let us revive the hope of this man; for if he who loves his fellow creatures be suffered to despair, what will become of nations? The past is perhaps too discouraging; I must anticipate futurity, and disclose to the eye of virtue the astonishing age that is ready to begin; that, on viewing the object she desires, she may be animated with new ardor, and redouble her efforts to attain it.'"

Then follows the chapter upon "The New Age," in which the author is permitted to catch a glimpse of futurity. It is as follows:

"Scarcely had he finished these words, when a great tumult arose in the west, and turning to that quarter, I perceived, at the extremity of the Mediterranean, in one of the nations of Europe, a prodigious movement—such as when a violent sedition arises in a vast city—a numberless people, rushing in all directions, pour through the streets and fluctuate like waves in the public places. My ear, struck with the cries which resounded to the heavens, distinguished these words:

"'What is this new prodigy? What cruel and mysterious scourge is this? We are a numerous people and we want hands! We have an excellent soil, and we are in want of subsistence! We are active and laborious, and we live in indigence! We pay enormous tributes, and we are told they are not sufficient! We are at peace without, and our persons and property are not safe within. Who, then, is the secret enemy that devours us?'

"Some voices from the midst of the multitude replied:

"'Raise a discriminating standard; and let all those who maintain and nourish mankind by useful labors gather round it; and you will discover the enemy that preys upon you.'

"The standard being raised, this nation divided itself at once into two bodies of unequal magnitude and contrasted appearance. The one, innumerable, and almost total, exhibited in the poverty of its clothing, in its emaciated appearance and sun-burnt faces, the marks of misery and labor; the other, a little group, an insignificant faction, presented in its rich attire embroidered with gold and silver, and in its sleek and ruddy faces, the signs of leisure and abundance.

"Considering these men more attentively, I found that the great body was composed of farmers, artificers, merchants, all professions useful to society; and that the little group was made up of priests of every order, of financiers, of nobles, of men in livery, of commanders of armies; in a word, of the civil, military and religious agents of government.

These two bodies being assembled face to face, and regarding each other with astonishment, I saw indignation and rage arising in one side, and a sort of panic in the other. And the large body said to the little one: 'Why are you separated from us? Are you not of our number?'

"'No,' replied the group, 'you are the people; we are the privileged class, who have our laws, customs and rights peculiar to ourselves.'

"People.—'And what labor do you perform in our society?'

"Privileged class.—'None; we are not made to work.'

"People.—'How, then have you acquired these riches?'

"Privileged class.—'By taking the pains to govern you.'

"People. 'What! is this what you call governing? We toil and you enjoy! We produce and you dissipate! Wealth proceeds from us and you absorb it! Privileged men! class who are not of the people; form a nation apart, and govern yourselves.'

"Then the little group, deliberating on this new state of things, some of the most honorable among them said 'We must join the people and partake of their labors and burdens, for they are men like us, and our riches come from them;' but others arrogantly exclaimed: 'It would be a shame, an infamy, for us to mingle with the crowd; they are born to serve us. Are we not men of another race—the noble and pure descendants of the courageous of this empire? This multitude must be reminded of our rights and its own origin.'

"The nobles.—'People! know you not that our ancestors conquered this land, and that your race was spared only on condition of serving us? This is our social compact! this the government constituted by custom and prescribed by time.'

"People.—'O, conquerors, pure of blood! show us your genealogies! We shall see if what in an individual is robbery and plunder, can be virtuous in a nation.'

"And forthwith, voices were heard in every quarter calling out the nobles, by their names; and relating their origin and parentage; they told how the grandfather, great-grandfather, or even father, born traders and mechanics, after acquiring wealth in every way, had purchased their nobility for money; so that but very few families were really of the original stock. 'See,' said the voices, 'see these purse-proud commoners who deny their parents! see these plebeian recruits who look upon themselves as illustrious veterans!' and the peals of laughter were heard.

"And the civil governors said: 'These people are mild, and naturally servile; speak to them of the king and of the law, and they will return to duty. People! the king wills, the sovereign ordains!'

"People.—'The king can will nothing but the good of the people; the sovereign can only ordain according to law.'

"Civil governors.—'The law commands you to be submissive.'

"People.—'The law is the general will; and we will a new order of things.'

"Civil governors.—'You are then a rebel people.'

"People.—'A nation cannot revolt; tyrants only are rebels.'

"Civil governors.—'The king is on our side; he commands you to submit.'

"People.—'Kings are inseparable from their nations. Our king cannot be with you; you possess only his phantom.'

"And the military governors came forward. 'The people are timorous,' said they; 'we must threaten them; they will submit only to force. Soldiers, chastise this insolent multitude.'

"People.—'Soldiers, you are of our blood! Will you strike your brothers, your relatives? If the people perish who will nourish the army?'

"And the soldiers, grounding their arms, said to the chiefs: 'We are likewise the people; show us the enemy!'

"Then the ecclesiastical governors said: 'There is but one resource left. The people are superstitious; we must frighten them with the names of God and religion. Our dear brethren, our children! God has ordained us to govern you.'

"People.—'Show us your credentials from God!'

"Priests.—'You must have faith; reason leads astray.'

"People.—'Do you govern without reason?'

"Priests.—'God commands peace! Religion prescribes obedience.'

"People.—'Peace supposes justice. Obedience implies conviction of duty.'

"Priests.—'Suffering is the business of this world.'

"People.—'Show us the example.'

"Priests.—'Would you live without gods or kings?'

"People.—'We would live without oppressors.'

"Priests.—'You must have mediators, intercessors.'

"People.—'Mediators with God and with the king! courtiers and priests, your services are too expensive; we will henceforth manage our own affairs.'

"And the little group said: 'We are lost! the multitude are enlightened.'

"And the people answered: 'You are safe; since we are enlightened we will commit no violence; we only claim our rights. We feel resentments, but we will forget them. We were slaves, we might command; but we only wish to be free, and liberty is but justice.'"

In a footnote the author says:

"This dialogue between the people and the indolent classes, is applicable to every society; it contains the seeds of all the political vices and disorders that prevail, and which may be thus defined: Men who do nothing and who devour the substance of others, and men who arrogate to themselves particular rights and exclusive privileges of wealth and indolence."—The Advocate.

THE WILSON TARIFF.

Not the Cause of the Present Hard Times.

Those who claim that the present hard times are due to the operation of the Wilson tariff are recommended to study the following figures taken from the United States statistical abstract and treasury report for August, 1896:

Average total annual imports:

Tariff of '83.	McKinley bill.	Wilson bill.
$668,260,000	$830,190,000	$755,843,635

Average total dutiable imports:

Tariff of '83.	McKinley bill.	Wilson bill.
$443,340,090	$407,420,000	$389,333,539

Average total free imports:

Tariff of '83.	McKinley bill.	Wilson bill.
$224,915,000	$422,770,000	$366,510,096

Average total annual favorable balance of trade:

Tariff of '83.	McKinley bill.	Wilson bill.
$47,675,000	$74,567,000	$89,185,000

An analysis of these reports shows that under the McKinley law we had the largest volume of importations known in our history. The present much abused tariff law has brought about a materially larger favorable balance of trade than under either the McKinley law or the act of 1883.

Pay It Out.

Although Coxey's plan to issue money to build good roads, and thereby not only increase the volume of currency, but give employment to the idle, was ridiculed and scorned by congress, and Coxey himself put in jail ostensibly for carrying a banner a size larger than a Columbian postage stamp and fined for walking on the grass, it is not generally known that the road he traveled from Masillon, Ohio, to Washington was built by the national government and paid for out of national funds. The great national pike is an enduring monument of the idea which inspired Coxey and is in accord with that part of our platform. The improvement of the water ways is also exactly in line with this principle. There is nothing impractical, nothing unconstitutional, or nothing new and strange in this declaration.—Extract from speech of W. S. Morgan.

IF THE recent election returns don't kill the fusion snake it must possess greater vitality than the proverbial nine-lived cat.

FREE BALLOT AND FAIR COUNT

One of the Demands of the People's Party.

The People's party, at its National Convention at St. Louis, declared in favor of a free ballot and fair count in the following language:

"Believing that the elective franchise and an untrammeled ballot are essential to a government of, for, and by the people, the People's Party condemns the wholesale system of disfranchisement adopted in some of the States as unrepublican and undemocratic, and we declare it to be the duty of the several state legislatures, to take such action as will secure a full, free, and fair ballot and honest count."

With the Populists in most of the Southern States this question is one of supreme if not paramount importance.

If the pressing issues of the hour are to be settled in accordance with the spirit of the Declaration of Independence and the meaning of the Constitution, the people must be free to vote as they choose and have that vote counted as cast.

By a system of gerrymandering congressional districts in some states, and constitutional limitations and barefaced fraud in others, the great issue in these states is an untrammeled ballot. Without it no reform can be accomplished. Without it platforms, and declarations and demands amount to nothing. To the Populists of the South especially the importance of this issue is apparent. While they are agitating other questions no effort should be spared to secure to ever legal voter, not only the right to vote freely as he chooses, but the right to know that his vote will be counted as it is cast.

If the fear of negro domination ever was any excuse for tampering with the ballot box that day is past. Recent election returns prove that the negro to-day is with the party that most feared his domination, or that that party is guilty of the most flagrant frauds on the right of elective franchise that ever desgraced a civilized people. In either case the demand for a free ballot is no less urgent.

The cry should go up from one end of the land to the other for the rights of citizenship. The dark frauds which have been perpetrated on the right of elective franchise is a blot on our good name, a shame to our civilization. No party can any longer afford to condone or apologize for base election methods employed in many states in the South by the dominant party. If this question is pressed from now on as it should be, the party in power must either amend the laws and for its methods or the people will rise up and overthrow it. The right of free and untrammeled franchise is dearer to the American citizen than any other. Let a concerted effort be put forward from now on to secure that right, and in such manner that the demand dare not go unheeded.

WHAT WASHINGTON SAID.

Foreign Influence the Foe of Republican Government.

George Washington, in his farewell address, among other things said:

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, believe me, fellow citizens, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that such influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. * * * The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is to have with them as little political connection as possible. * * * Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation (as we possess)? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor or caprice? 'Tis true our policy is to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world. * * * Constantly keeping in view that 'tis folly in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another; that it must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character, there can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation. 'Tis an illusion which experience must cure which a just pride ought to discard.

JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

Extract from His Veto Message to Congress December 3, 1894.

"Circumstances make it my duty to call the attention of congress to the Bank of the United States. Created for the convenience of the government, that institution has become the scourge of the people. Its interference to postpone the payment of a portion of the national debt that it might retain the public money appropriated for that purpose to strengthen it in a political contest, the extraordinary extension and contraction of its accommodations to the community, its corrupt and partisan loans, its exclusion of the public directors from a knowledge of its most important proceedings, the unlimited authority conferred on the president to expend its fund in hiring writers and procuring the execution of printing and the use made of that authority, the retention of the pension money and books after the selection of new agents, have through various channels been laid before congress. They were substantially a confession that all the real distresses which individuals and the country had endured for the preceding six or eight months have been needlessly produced by it with the view of affecting, through the sufferings of the people, the legislative action of congress."

IT NOW rests with the Republican party to demonstrate that the gold standard is a good thing. If it don't do it it ought to be evident to every man that it is a fraud and that neither old party can be depended upon.

REAL ANARCHISTS.

WILL NOW TRY A HAND AT GOVERNMENT.

Will Despoil the People of Their Rights and May Bring on a Bloody Revolution—Some of the Offenses of Plutocracy.

The principles of the Declaration of Independence are just as potent today as they were in 1776. And the oppressions which the cowardly grandsons of revolutionary heroes suffer a-re just as galling and destructive of Liberty and equality as were the u-njust taxation and tyranny our forefathers fought against. The Engl-ish and American money power, which is the same, have crushed our government out of all semblance to a government of the people.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unali-enable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure the rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is right of the people to alte-r or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more dsiposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.—Declaration of Independence.

Such has been the suffering of the useful producing classes of America, and they are beginning to see the necessity or restoring the government to the people from whom it has been stolen by the money powewr of England and America.

We submit facts as startling as were those recited in the Declaration that was framed by our forefathers.

The money power has prevented the passage of laws necessary for the public good.

It has caused the repeal of laws that kept money enough in circulation to enable the people to do a cash business without paying tribute to the money brokers.

It has delayed the passage of laws so as to enable trusts and enables trusts and combines to corner the market on staple products.

It has prevented the passage of laws for the benefit of the majority of the people.

It has forced its way into legislative halls in the form of a lobby to influence legislation for its own special purposes.

It has prevented state legislatures accomplishing the work for which they were called in special session. For instance, the late session of the Illinois legislature.

It has openly, flagrantly and boastfully disregarded the inter-state commerce law, and defied the anti-trust law.

It has prevented the administration of justice by controlling the courts.

It has made judges independent of the law, the constitution and the people.

It has, through its political heelers, created hundreds of useless high salaried offices, and had them filled by appointment from the enemies of the people.

It is building military fortresses and garrisoning them with rich men's sons, besides drilling school children to be soldiers instead of useful citizens.

It indicates what kind of text-books shall be used in our common schools, controls our colleges, and prevents even the preaching of the principles of Jesus Christ in many pulpits.

It has made the military independent of civil power.

The American money power has combined with England to force this country to maintain a financial policy that is robbing the people of their homes, and turning thousands out to beg, steal or starve.

It causes the building of war ships and cannon, and has secured an entire change in the tactics of the U. S. army, so that now soldiers are being specially trained to bombard houses and murder working people who dare assemble on the streets of our great infernos, called cities.

It has cut off our trade with the world by appropriating all our surplus products to pay interest on bonds and mortgages.

It has forced the issue of interest bearing bonds to enslave the people.

It deprives men of the right of trial by jury, and has set up a system of "government by injunction."

It has caused the sending of armed troops into a state where the local officers were fully capable of enforcing the law.

It has doubled the debts of the people, and thirty thousand of its representatives have stolen half the wealth of the nation.

It has secured by special grants enough land to maintain ten million people in honest industry.

It has rendered all our laws inoperative where the rich man is involved.

It has caused the supreme court to declare it unconstitutional to tax the rich.

It has bribed men chosen to represent the people.

It has made protection of property the sole object of our government.

It has plundered the people, driven young girls to prostitution, starved wives and children, driven men from happy firesides to wander on the highways and caused the murder and imprisonment of workingmen whose only crime was helplessness.

It is at this time engaged in fastening the chains of debt slavery upon the producers of this country, by issuing bonds, destroying the money of the people, and setting up a golden calf and a hunk of soap grease to rule the nation.

It has caused young men in the military service to shoot down their fathers, brothers and friends to "protect property," when itself has hired incendiaries to burn property so as to make an excuse for using military force in driving men back to work at starvation wages.

It has imprisoned men for stepping on the grass at Washington.

It has caused men to be sent to the penitentiary for asking for bread.

It was the cause of the late war in which thousands of able-bodied young men were murdered, and the principal result of which was the creation of a debt whereby not only the negro but the white man is made a slave, and the owner has not even the responsibility of feeding him.

And a hundred more things we might mention.

But, ye gods! is not this enough to boil the albumen white in every drop of patriotic blood in American veins?—Industrial Advocate.

AS TO SOLDIERS' PENSIONS.

The Plutocrats' Concern About Their Payment in Cheap Dollars.

The "sound money" people are visibly agitated over what appears to them to be the danger of paying the old soldier his pension in "cheap dollars." It is not the first time this element has manifested much concern about the interests of the old soldier. A suspicious circumstance, however, is that this concern always assumes greatest activity during the heat of a political campaign. Most of the old soldiers are aware of this and make due allowance for the self-interests which prompt this seeming devotion to their interests.

There was a time when the old soldier was being paid in 40-cent dollars as compared with gold. It was when he was enduring the hardships of tented field, of tiresome march and dangerous conflict. At that time this same sound money crew were at home, gambling in gold, depreciating the soldiers' money and speculating off the necessities of the government. Under the cloak of pretended patriotism they were bleeding the country. Their speculations prolonged the war and added to its cost. They purchased greenbacks for 40 cents on the dollar, converted them into bonds, and afterwards had a law passed making the bonds payable "in coin." By legislation they made their 40-cents worth a 100 cents. They did this although there was nothing promised or implied in the contract that it should be done. Not so with the soldier. He was first paid in coin, or its equivalent, and the implication was that he should continue to receive his pay in that kind of currency.

But he took it in greenbacks.

He never grumbled.

He knew that the honor of the Nation depended upon the success of arms and not on the kind of money he was paid in.

He marched and camped and fought until victory perched upon our banners. Then he was paid off in this purposely discredited money and went home.

In 1869 a law was passed which made up the difference between the coin and face value of the greenback to the bondholder. They called it protecting the National honor. A bill was introduced to make up this difference to the soldier.

It was hooted at and scorned.

The men who remained at home and bled the government were rewarded as patriots.

The men who bared their breasts to the enemy's bullets; who carried the flag from Sumter to Appomattox; who by their patriotic devotion saved not only the Nation's honor, but the Nation itself, were scorned and neglected by the treacherous leeches who bled their country in its hour of trial.

Talk about justice to the soldier! Let justice be done as it has been more than done to the bondholder, and every sound money blatherskite in the country would hold up his hands in holy horror.

The Sound Money Fallacy.

Sound money, honest money! What do you mean by that?

We mean that gold coin only is to be our legal tender.

But how are we to get enough to do all our business?

O, we do not intend that gold coin is to circulate. The circulation is to be of bank notes and silver, but it is to rest upon the gold. Every dollar is to be redeemable in gold.

But you will not have gold enough to redeem all the silver and paper. There will always be three or four dollars more of circulation than of redemption money.

Yes; but nobody will ever expect to see all the silver and paper come in for redemption at one time.

And that is honest money! A pretense of having enough gold on hand to redeem three or four times more of its representatives in silver and paper. Each representative being in reality worth not over 25 or 30 cents on the dollar. That is worse than the 50-cent silver dollar you accuse us of wanting to circulate. So much for your sound money.—Appeal to Reason.

WATSON'S LETTER.

The Long Delayed Letter of Acceptance At Last Given Out.

RATHER LATE, BUT IT COMES.

Hills and Gormans Would Have Joined the Republicans, and Bryans and Blands Would Have Joined the Pops. His Party Leaders, Butler in Particular, Roundly Roasted.

Atlanta, Ga.—The letter of acceptance written by "Tom" Watson accepting the Populist nomination for Vice-President, was Thursday made public. Seven columns of Watson's People's party paper are devoted to it. The letter is supplemented by four columns of advice to the Populists to "sit steady in the boat and hold their party together."

The editorial tone of the paper is one of fulfilled prophecy. Watson declares that the failure of the Populists to support Bryan in the close States brought about McKinley's election. He goes into a long review of the circumstances leading to his nomination at St. Louis, and accepts the Vice-Presidential nomination "because I said I would." He declares that if the St. Louis Populist Convention had nominated a straight Populist ticket it would have been elected. It would, he said, have driven the Hills and Gormans where they belong—into the Republican ranks—and the Bryans and Blands would have joined with the Populists. He complains bitterly of the treatment he received at the hands of the Populist leaders, and addresses himself particularly to Senator Butler in this way:

IN TRUE WATSON STYLE.

"Senator, a reform has no right to exist if it has no valid complaint to make. Populists cannot denounce the sins of the two old parties, and yet go into political co-partnership with them. The moment we make a treaty the war must cease, and when we cease our war upon the old parties we have no longer any excuse for living. Whenever right compromises wrong it is the right which suffers. The Democratic managers seem to resent as a strange piece of impertinence the fact that the Populists dared to nominate a ticket differing at the rear end from theirs. Coming to them with the 2,000,000 votes they were begging for and piteously needing, I can say with perfect assurance of telling the unqualified truth that my arrival on the field of battle was not welcomed as heartily as Blucher was welcomed by Wellington at Waterloo. They want my reinforcement, but they do not want me to lead them. They need Blucher's troops, but they draw the line at Blucher. That is hardly fair either to Blucher or his troops, nor is it the best way to defeat Napoleon. For this attitude upon the part of the Democratic managers I believe that you, Senator, are largely responsible. You made no effort to have me recognized. You publicly stated that I would not be notified of my nomination. You went into the fusion policy over my written protest, with all the zeal of a man who wanted to elect the Democratic ticket. In this I think you were wrong.

BUTLER UNTRUE TO HIS TRUST.

"As Chairman of the Populist Committee the party certainly expected you to do all you could to elect the Populist ticket. Had you demanded Mr. Sewall's withdrawal from the ticket he would have been withdrawn. I have a letter of yours in which you state that the Democratic Committee expected you to make the demand, but that you did not make it. From the perversity of temper with which the Democratic managers have refused to do the right thing by the Populists, it would seem that they prefer McKinleyism to anything which might seem to be partly a Populist triumph. Their subtle purpose is to couple the Bryan election with the complete destruction of the Populist party. The position taken in this letter will be bitterly assailed. Would that the pathway of duty were always carpeted with flowers. It rarely is. By making myself and the great party I represent a mere foot mat for the Democratic politicians to wipe their feet upon I could win much applause from that quarter. But if I were now lacking in the loyalty which was expected of me when chosen, I would grieve the men who have honored me, trusted me and defended and loved me.

"No one regrets more profoundly than I do that the Democratic managers have so shaped the campaign that the South has again been told that she must grovel in the dust and let an Eastern plutocrat place his foot upon her neck. These Populists of the rank and file have the spirit of martyrs and they would die for a principle more quickly than they would sell it. These men will not vote fro Mr. Sewall. If Senators Jones and Gorman really wish to defeat McKinley, let them lose no time in realizing this truth."

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, FLORENCE, ALA.

It is gratifying to know that the attendance is unprecedentedly large this year. The student body is exceptionally fine. The faculty is the strongest in the history of the College. It is inspiring to think of nearly 300 young people here from all parts of the State preparing to teach in the Public Schools. They do well to get ready to fill the places for which we have been bringing in teachers from other States.

The winter term will begin Monday, December 7. That will be an auspicious time for new students to enter, though they may do so any day during the school year.

One hundred dollars will defray a year's expenses, including board. President James K. Powers will be glad to send a catalogue to any who wish it.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly F. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain;
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY : : $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THANKSGIVING Day is next Thursday.

THIS X mark is to remind you that when you come to court next week will be a good time to renew your subscription.

GEN. Edmund W. Pettus of Dallas was last Monday nominated by the Democratic caucus for the United States Senate on the first ballot, the vote being Pettus 87, Oates 36. Senator Pugh withdrew from the race earlier in the evening.

THE bill to incorporate the town of Clanton was introduced to the House last Monday by Hon. L. H. Reynolds. We hope all our citizens have made themselves acquainted with the provisions of the charter, a copy of it is in the possession of Mr. J. F. VanDerveer.

AFTER a week's balloting the Democratic caucus in Georgia nominated Hon. A. S. Clay for the United States Senate to succeed Mr. Crisp, deceased. Governor Atkinson withdrew from the race after several days balloting and most probably now wishes he had never been a candidate.

A BILL to appropriate $25,000 for the purpose of building a mansion for the Governor was defeated in the House yesterday. This is quite right, and we are glad to see this sign of economy in the present Legislature. As Mr. Longshore remarked "The State is now in debt; and this is no time for putting up fancy buildings."

THIS is the way a contemporary fixed up its scare headings on the result of the election:

Brave Bryan Battalions Battling for Bimetallism Badly Beaten by Bold Bands of Bankers Backed by Boodle.

Confederate Cohorts Crucified on the Cruel Cross and Consigned to the Cold Cemetery's Clammy Clap.

Poor Populists and Popocrats Punched and Pounded into Pulpy Pieces by Proud and Pampered Plutocracy.

WE note with satisfaction the appointment of Hon. John Harkins of Jefferson as chairman of the Mining and Manufacturing committee. We have known Mr. Harkins for several years and know him to be eminently qualified for the position he occupies. The appointment reflects credit upon the speaker and proves a disposition to at all events make use of the material he has to accomplish something in the nature of necessary reforms during the present session.

THE question of adopting a new constitution for any State is one that cannot be considered too carefully, and the fullest information should be given to the people before it is submitted to a vote. This question has been more or less discussed in some sections of Alabama for the last few years, but we doubt there are few persons in the State who can say what form the proposed new constitution is likely to take. If it is to be on the lines of the Mississippi plan, it is safe to say a majority of the people of Alabama do not want it. That the existing constitution might be advantageously amended in certain particulars we will not attempt to deny, but if a new constitution cannot be framed without disfranchising a large number of our citizens then we prefer to let the present one stand. A joint resolution has passed the Legislature providing for the appointment of a committee of three from the House and two from the Senate to prepare a bill to provide for the holding of a constitutional convention. We shall watch their proceedings with great interest.

HON. L. H. Reynolds, representative from Chilton county, introduced the first two bills in the House this session. The first is one which affects the whole State and may safely be left to the Legislative solons.

The second (which we print first) is one that affects Chilton county, and in our opinion is an improvement upon existing conditions. We have before contended it is bad policy to change all the county commissioners at the same time, and this bill simply provides that two new members be elected at a time, so that two old members would always be retained on the board. We hope it will become law.

We hear that an effort will be made to substitute for this bill the appointment by the Governor of a board of revenue for Chilton county, much on the same lines as was attempted and met with so much opposition two years ago. We have confidence in the Legislature refusing to pass any such substitute.

A BILL

To be entitled an Act to authorize the Commissioners' court of Chilton county to lay off said county into four Commissioners districts and to provide the manner of electing the County Commissioners.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, that the commissioners court of Chilton county, is authorized, and said court is hereby required to lay off said county into four commissioners districts as nearly equal in population as may be practicable.

SECTION 2. Be it further enacted that the qualified voters of Chilton county at the election for State officers every four years shall elect one commissioner for each district whose term of service shall commence at the expiration of the term of the present incumbents, and continue for four years, except as herein provided, and said commissioners shall reside in the district for which they are elected; provided that the term of office of two of said commissioners to be elected at the August election, 1900, shall close at the expiration of two years from their election, and at the August election 1902, their successors shall be elected whose term of office shall continue for four years.

SECTION 3. Be it further enacted that said commissioners' court shall designate in the order dividing said county into commissioners districts the two districts in which the commissioners shall be elected for the term of two years as herein provided.

SECTION 4. Be it further enacted that all laws and part of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

A BILL

To be entitled an act to amend section 3739 of the Code of Alabama.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama that section 3739 of the Code of Alabama be amended so as to read as follows:

3739 Carnal knowledge of a female under sixteen years of age. Any person who has carnal knowledge of any female under sixteen years, or abuses such female in the attempt to have carnal knowledge of her, must on conviction be punished at the discretion of the jury either by death or by imprisonment in the penitentiary for life.

Senator Butler in his paper, The Caucasian, says:

"Speaking now for the People's party of North Carolina, and we believe for the nation, we take the liberty of serving notice on Mr. Bryan that if he desires to head the reform forces of the People's party in the next fight he must do so under some other name than that of Democrat. The name has become a reproach and a stench among the people, and it will not be supported any more, now nor hereafter. In the campaign just closed the People's party joined forces with the Democrats and the Democrats played the people false, grossly and brutally false.

"We are done with them now and forever, and also with any man who seeks to lead the people hereafter under any standard that may bear the name or have the smirch of the word Democrat on."

Thorsby.

Thorsby in rapidly coming to the front and if it continues to grow at the same rate as it has done for the last few months, will soon be one of the largest towns in Chilton.

Next evening (Thanksgiving Day) a social entertainment, with supper, will be given at the school house here, for the benefit of the public school.

The entertainment will commence at 7 p.m., and the following program has been arranged:

1. Music.
2. Interesting Speech by Prof. H. W. Ryding.
3. Music.
4. Supper.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come and enjoy themselves.

There will be a grand opening sale at the new store, under the management of Mr. J. Bice, next Saturday. Special bargains are offered.

A CLOSE SHAVE

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 17, 1896.

When the first election returns came in it looked like a republican landslide, but later developments show it to be quite the contrary. Like the wise man of old who said in his wrath that all men were fools and hoped to correct the statement later. They claimed at first an overwhelming victory and have neglected to give facts and figures since. The truth is that about 20,000 more votes would have put Bryan in the White House.

If the following states had given the additional number of votes opposite their names it would have given Bryan [illegible] electoral votes. These added to the 187 already sure would have given him 227 votes in the electoral college; three more than is needed to elect. Had California given [illegible], Delaware 1,630, Indiana 11,101, Kentucky 281, North Dakota 2,310, Oregon 1,000, South Dakota 131, West Virginia [illegible], Wyoming 111, in addition to the Bryan vote cast, the [illegible] would have been on the other issue.

Let no believer in silver be discouraged. These figures speak in eloquent words of the mighty hold the question has taken on the minds of the people and they are a safe prophecy of victory in the future.

It is generally conceded that an extra session of congress will be called by President McKinley.

W. J. Bryan has been inundated with business offers, all of which have handsome incomes attached. None of them have been accepted as yet. In his address to his supporters Mr. Bryan expresses himself in a dignified manner in regard to the result of the election but urges that the campaign of education be kept up.

C. D. Lane, a wealthy gold mine owner of California, offers to support Bryan and his family for the next four years so that he may be free to give his entire time to the great work for which he has shown himself so well fitted.

Sec. Morton, Henri Watterson et al, are out urging the democratic party to get a lesson out of its recent defeat and "rally to the support of the Indianapolis platform."

The Kansas, legislature stands: Populists 92, Democrats 9, Free Silver Republicans 2. A Populist Senator will of course be elected. Lewellen, Pfeffer and Breinthal are candidates.

Hon. Thomas Watson received twenty one votes in the electoral college. Gen. Weaver received twenty-two in 1892.

Georgia has elected two Populist congressman—one being T. W. West, the law partner of Tom Watson.

Hon. Joseph C. Sibley has been defeated for congress by 400 votes.

The expense of a Presidential election is enormous. This is the first campaign in which documents were carried on franks. Forty million of these documents were carried on congressional franks alone. The cost to the government in postage for the entire campaign is $2,400,000. The Australian ballot system calls for a greater number of officials than heretofore at the booths. The cost in the recent election averaged about one dollar per vote. In New York it is one dollar and thirty-four cents. Thus the cost to the entire country would be about $14,000,000, adding to this the postal expense we have in two items alone $16,400,000. If all illegal uses of money to influence votes, injury to business, and loss of time were estimated in dollars it could safely be put at $100,000,000.

National Chairman Marion Butler issued an address to his party Nov. 7th. He speaks in highest terms of Bryan and ascribes his defeat to the failure of the Silver Republicans to support him in such numbers as had been expected.

Late returns show that that good and able man, "Cyclone" Davis, is defeated in the congressional race.

A woman presidential elector is returned from Wyoming.

Only one county in Washington gave McKinley a majority.

See that it is there!

This is the trade-mark which is on the wrapper (salmon-colored) of every bottle of the genuine SCOTT'S EMULSION. Be sure this is on the package, and that nothing else is palmed off on you when you ask for it.

Nothing has been made that equals it to give strength and solid flesh to those who are run down or emaciated.

Your doctor will tell you that it is the one food for all those whose weight is below the standard of health.

Put up in 50 cts. and $1.00 sizes, and sold by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Burwell Bits.

Death, the silent reaper, came on the 11 inst. and carried away the spirit of J. R. Mims, after a long and wearisome confinement to his bed. The man who had borne the respect and esteem of all who knew him from his boyhood to his death passed into the unknown beyond. He was, and had been for some years, a member of the M. E. church at Shady Grove. He was but [illegible] from a hundred years old and leaves three children to mourn his death. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

Miss Sally Norris has returned home after spending some time with relatives at Prattville.

We are sorry we have lost one of our best men, G. J. Mundine; he has gone to Union Springs, Ala.

W. N. Pierce was at Coopers Friday on business.

J. G. Jones, who has been almost blind, we are glad to say is improving very fast.

Rev. J. Bice was the guest of W. N. Pierce last Friday.

Mr. R. McKee was down last week to buy out J. S. Jones' plantation; we learn they did not trade.

J. N. Y. V.

* * *

Program of Mulberry Baptist S. S.

Convention to be held with Macedonia church, on Friday, November 27, 1896.

Prayer by Bro. G. W. Freeman. 10 a.m. Welcome address by Bro. S. E. Waldrup. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. S. M. Adams.

Subjects for discussion—1. What is the best method of promoting an interest in Sabbath-school work? discussed by Bro. J. E. Jones and Bro. L. B. Pounds. 2. What effect should a Sabbath-school have on a church and community? discussed by Bro. M. D. Langston, W. H. Shaw and others. 3. What is the duty of a church towards a Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt, Z. J. Jones and others. Singing. 4. What is our motive in attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. A. Mims and Bro. David Smitherman and others. 5. Can we be better Christians or enjoy any more religion by attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. J. Fleming and James Neat. Mass-meeting, Sunday, 9 a.m., conducted by Bro. Albert Foshee. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt.

There will be song service conducted by Z. J. Jones.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy wont live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

IT seems highly probably that Mr. McKinley will call an extra session of Congress soon after his inauguration.

* * *

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase, necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skillful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and mechanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-know "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you among their patrons.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
[illegible]	"	10
[illegible]alley Creek church	"	11
Walch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
[illegible]	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church [illegible]	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	[illegible]
Lomax	"	[illegible]
Mineral Springs	"	[illegible]
[illegible] church	"	[illegible]
Cane Creek church	"	[illegible]
Chapman's mill	"	[illegible]
Providence church [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Coopers	"	[illegible]
Verbena	"	[illegible]
Wayside church	"	[illegible]
Kingston	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12

A. L. Mims, Assessor
[illegible], Collector

Strasburg.

A new firm has just commenced business here, Messrs Collins & Moore, at Bice's old stand, and opened up with a fine assortment of new goods. This puts new life into the old town.

THE JURORS.

Following are the names of jurors drawn for the fall term of circuit court, which will convene on Monday, November, 23 1896

GRAND JURY.

I. M. Merchant, Thos. Williams, W. H. Parr, Milford Wooley, H. C. Young, Frank Harris, Craton Rasberry, Alfred Popwell, W. R. Dawson, j M Robinson, R R Killingsworth, j W Scott, j E Knight, B W Silsby, G B Reed, j M Moody, John Burnett, Charlie Coburn, D H Mullins, H B Rodgers, Moses Popwell.

PETIT JURY—first week.

L W Thomas, j L Palmer, j A Miller, W j Brown, j j Roberts, S G Glasscock, Elijah Robinson, j S Aldrige, j G Smith, erman, Jessie Thomas, M H Barnes, W B Jones, S N Waldrop, George Moore, John Harris, E H Mims, James Jones, G W Askins, Peter Barrett, J R Billingsley, W T Callen, Hugh Henry, G W Mims, J N Glasscock, J C Alred, Munroe Martin, J G Jones, W J Fleming, W P Checkler, T M Mims, G L Spear, James Nix, L L Culver, G W Gothard, J W Scot.

PETIT JURY—second week.

A J Glasscock, J W E Gulledge, W F Claughton, Hamp Shoults, I G White, D H Hudgins, j w Sorroll, j R Kemp, W H Thomas, j j Marcus, S M Yates, Wm Reynolds, W A Sims, M A Bates, Thomas Roberts, j L Waldrop, john Runnels, john Robinson, Mart Gore, K R Burnett, W C Dickerson, W D Horsley, j E Cobb, W M Wood, j N Askins, H C Bearden, A L Collins, D Z Merchant, LaFayett Ingram, G T Mims, W A Green, j E Champion, W E Vilsant, W W Rutherford, j W Baker.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Consumption and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guarteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 2c. per box. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, A. C. Smith, Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder at the court house door in Clanton Alabama, on MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1896.

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to-wit:

The sw1-4 of the se1-4 and all of the se 1-4 of the sw1-4 that lies east of Yellow Leaf Creek all in section 10 township 22 range 14 Chilton county, Alabama, containing sixty acres more or less.

A. C. SMITH,
Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,526.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
November 2, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on December 12th, 1896, viz.: Monroe Stewart, Homestead entry, No. 24,149, for the nw¼ of nw¼ section 12 tp 22 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Jake Hayes, of Thorsby, Ala., Anthony Latham, of Thorsby, Ala., Luke Latham, of Jemison, Ala., Robert Hicks, of Thorsby, Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	[illegible]
New York World (3 papers every week)	[illegible]
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	[illegible]
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	[illegible]
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	[illegible]
Silver Knight National Watchman	[illegible]

For $1.95 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial Appeal	[illegible]
Birmingham State Herald	[illegible]

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PATENT MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT.
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.
CLANTON - ALA

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

[for many pears with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

Don't Groan over the aches and pains of rheumatism any longer. Drive the disease from your system with V. V. V., the wonderful blood purifier, and cure for rheumatism. V. V. V. is purely vegetable, containing nothing but the highest curative properties of roots, barks and herbs. It is so harmless that it may be given to a child, yet so efficacious that it cures diseases of many years standing.

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a sure specific for all forms of blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, malaria and dyspepsia. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of values mailed free to anyone on request. HABERS, MORROW & BINNICE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

...missioners' Court meets second ...day in February, first Monday in ...second Monday in May, second ... in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

...day 6½ cents.
...received to-date:

	1575
	793
	331
	2699

NOTICE.

...is hereby given that the ...warrants in favor of Confederate Widows for 1896 ...at to me by the Aud... ...are now ready to be de...

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Judge of Probate.

...Honeycutt went to Birmingham yesterday.

...week in Chilton—...Jemison, to-morrow at ...Saturday at Verbena.

...L. Sampey has decided ...brick store ...as the rush of Fall ...

...of Birmingham, was ...

...cross ties. Ap... J. D. GREEN, Clanton

...Everybody is re... ...the Hebrews ...notice first ...chapter 2.

..., the painter is ... Anyone wanting ...work at Mr. ...

...Carter, of Thorsby, ...his brother, Dr. ...Friday.

...L. Bassett, of Fort Val... ...at the Congre... ...church last Sunday after-...

...Potts contemplates ...the Cast place, half ...town.

...W. Shackelford, Dent... ...Clanton for one week ...Monday Nov. ...extracts teeth positively ...pain. Any one wishing ...a good dentist will ...call on him at Duke ... Prices for gold and amal... ...reasonable. All work ...warranted.

...Birmingham last Monday ...E. Gullahorn was the ...man in Alabama, owing ...arrival of a little female vis... Mother and child are doing ...

...Mrs. Patrick Smith de... ...visitors to court to know ...can get board and lodging at ...Smith house at reasonable ...

...Massey, the well known ...will be at the Duke House, ...during the first week of ...to extract teeth by his ...process. Come promptly. ...of Fine Dentistry done.

...licenses have been ...this week by the Probate ...the following persons: ...James A. Thomas and Miss ...Jones; Mr. W. J. Fi... ...Miss Ida Lou Poole; ...Edwards and Miss Mar... ...; Mr. Geo. Lockhart ...Sarah Thrash ...Tom Gunn and Osie ...

...numerous friends of Mrs. ...will be sorry to learn ...dangerously ill at her home ...and will join us in ...her speedy recovery.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

...salve in the world for ...Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt ...Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped ..., Chilblains, Corns, and ...Eruption, and positively ..., or no pay required. It is ...to give perfect satisfac- ...money refunded. Price 25 ...box. For sale by J S John-...

...on Tuesday evening at ...Baptist church, Six Mile, Bibb ...Mr. W. J. Martin, one of ...most promising young ...and Miss Sadie Fancher, ...belle of Six Mile. In ...of a crowded church ...McCord, of East Lake, ...the solemn ceremony ...the young couple one. ...visitors present were ...and Miss Bettie ...Clanton; Mr. H. I. Hon... Miss Minnie Muse of ...Mr. W. M. Adams and ...Gentry of Jemison; ...Gentry and Miss Maud ...Jemison, and Mr. Less ...and Mrs. Woolley of ... After the ceremony the ...party drove to Jemison ...came on to Clanton, where ...will make their home, next ... The BANNER joins the large ...friends of the happy young ...in wishing them a full ...of happiness and prosper... ...and cordially welcomes them to ...

...the same time and place Mr ...Thompson of Centerville, ...county, and Miss Bertie ...of Six Mile, were happily ...Rev. — Mitchell perform... ...the ceremony. We wish them ...happiness.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Simonton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the General Assembly of Alabama at its next session, for the passage of an Act empowering Alfred Popwell of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell and convey the interest in lands in Chilton County, Alabama, of the heirs of John Popwell deceased, in the estate of Reuben Popwell and Benjamin Popwell, both deceased.

ALFRED POPWELL.

Clanton, Ala., November 5, 1896.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Jesse S. Martin, Sr., deceased Probate Court, Chilton County Ala.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 27th day of October, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

R. H. Martin, Administrator,
By his attorneys Adams & Martin.

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1896, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 9th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of sw¼ sec 3 and w½ of se¼ 6, all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and n½ of sw¼ sec 10 and n½ of nw¼, sw¼ of nw1-4 and nw1-4 of se1-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14. w½ of nw1-4, se1-4 of nw1-4 and se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 33, and se1-4 of se1-4 sec 29 all in t 22 r 14 and nw1-4 of se1-4 and sw1-4 of sw1-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK,
Admr. etc. of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.

This 21 day of October, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co.; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

...ailments, caused by indispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, which Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840.

SICK HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILITY.—INDIGESTION.—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEPLESSNESS.—LOW SPIRITS.—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS.—TIRED FEELING.—SOUR STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOWELS.—SKIN & EYES YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.—COATED TONGUE.—PAINS IN SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH.—[illegible] BEFORE THE EYES.—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.—TORPID LIVER.—FLESH SOFT & FLABBY.—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.—BILE COMING UP IN MOUTH.—NERVOUS HEADACHES.—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.—WIND COLIC.—PILES, BY CURING CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASES.—FULLNESS OF BLOOD IN HEAD.—NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.—BELCHING UP GAS.—BLOATING OF STOMACH AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR APPETITE.—HEARTBURN.—DIMNESS OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY GETTING UP.—SUFFOCATING SENSATIONS.—DISPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—NAUSEA BEFORE OR AFTER EATING.—VERTIGO.—YELLOW JAUNDICE.—DEFICIENCY OF PERSPIRATION.—FEMALE COMPLAINTS.—BAD COLDS.—BACKACHES SO COMMON TO [illegible].—FLATULENCY.—LOSS OF APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN JOINTS.—CHILLY FEELINGS DOWN THE BACK.—LIMBS FEEL TOO HEAVY.—CRAMP COLIC.—SKIN DRY & HARSH.—BILIOUS FEVERS.—PALENESS.—WEAKNESS.—THINNESS.—DETESTATION OF FOOD.—SUDDEN FLUSHES OF HEAT.—GENERAL DEBILITY.—FRETFULNESS OF TEETHING CHILDREN.—DYSPEPSIA.—NERVOUS DEPRESSION OF TIRED WOMEN.—UNPLEASANT DREAMS.—SPITTING UP OF FOOD AFTER EATING.—DIARRHŒA OF CHILDREN, BY REMOVING THE CAUSE.—GNAWING SENSATIONS IN STOMACH.—PUFFINESS & DARK RINGS UNDER THE EYES.—THAT RESTLESS "OUT-OF-SORTS," NOT SICK AND NOT WELL FEELING, SO COMMON WITH OVER-WORKED PEOPLE.—IT BUILDS UP WEAK & DEBILITATED MOTHERS AND FATHERS & PALE AND ENFEEBLED CHILDREN, BY PERFECTLY REGULATING THE ACTION OF THE KIDNEYS, LIVER, STOMACH & BOWELS, SO THAT ALL FOOD TAKEN IS NATURALLY ASSIMILATED.

C. F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

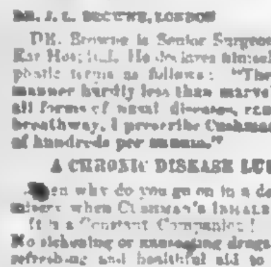
THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD
PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

— FOR —

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or

Any Head or Throat Trouble.



DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when CUSHMAN'S INHALER will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Companion! $3.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No sickening or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is certainly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Beeley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off."

MOTTVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 31, '92.

I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I tried it.

T. DOUGLAS MORTON.

KINGSTON, N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried. H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for Book on Menthol and testimonials. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Rolly Latham, deceased, Probate Court, Chilton county, Alabama.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of November, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, in said State, notice is hereby given, that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

J. H. SHOULTS,
Administrator.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. ...more, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Send your name for a Souvenir of the Works of Eugene Field,

FIELD FLOWERS

The Eugene Field Monument Souvenir

The most beautiful Art Production of the century. "A small bunch of the most fragrant of blossoms gathered from the broad acres of Eugene Field's Farm of Love." Contains a selection of the most beautiful of the poems of Eugene Field. Handsomely illustrated by thirty-five of the world's greatest artists as their contribution to the Monument Fund. But for the noble contributions of the great artists this book could not have been manufactured for $7.00. For sale at book stores, or sent prepaid on receipt of $1.10. The love offering to the Child's Poet Laureate, published by the Committee to create a fund to build the Monument and to care for the family of the beloved poet.

Eugene Field Monument Souvenir Fund,
180 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

We Employ Young Men

to distribute our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY,
ELKHART, IND.

FT. WORTH, TEX., Oct 10, 1895.

ACME CYCLE CO., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Yours truly,
C. H. CHEATHAM.

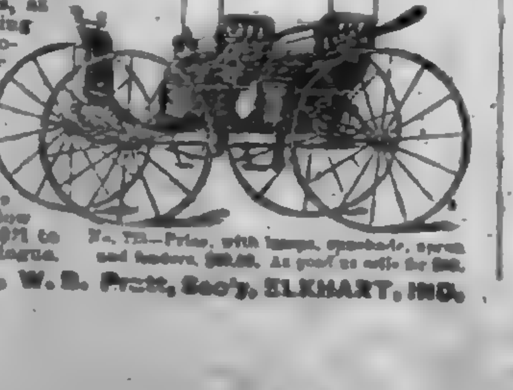
The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

---

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.



No. 3—Surrey Harness, Price $15.50. As good as sells for $30.

No. 77—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer

---

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is

Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1895.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c. Trial (five months), $1.00 Year, $2.50.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS	SALT RHEUM	CHAPPED HANDS
BURNS	ULCERS	FROSTED FEET
BRUISES	ITCH	RINGWORM
SCALDS	ERYSIPELAS	AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation.

Guaranteed to give satisfaction; when you need an ointment, be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.
VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below, we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while those who make and sell the fence must add the cost of labor to manufacture and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We can sell you a Machine and enough wire to make 100 rods of the best Woven Wire Fence on earth, horse high, bull strong, pig and chicken tight for the same money that will buy 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. In one case you buy the fence alone. In the other you have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to be your own fence manufacturer and with which you can make over 50 styles, including several styles of Ornamental yard or lawn fences. To show how the farmers of this country appreciate this machine it is only necessary to say that if all the machines sold by us were run for twenty days, each machine making 40 rods per day, they would make enough fence to go around the world, being an average of 4,000 rods or 1,250 miles per day. If all of the machines were run only 60 days during the year, making 40 rods per day each, they would make a grand total of 24,000,000 rods, which would make an average of 78,400 rods or 240 miles for every working day in the year. The combined product of all the Loom Fence Factories of the United States would not equal this. One-tenth as much. Invest it in a postal card and send for our large Illustrated Catalogue, telling all about fencing. It may save you many dollars. Sent Free for the asking. Address, Kitselman Bros., Box 125, Ridgeville, Ind.

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Subscribe for the BANNER!

P.P.P.
P. P. P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Infant Alarm.

A French inventor has devised a curious electrical alarm for infants. It consists of a microphonic circuit breaker placed near the head of the child in its cradle and connected with an electric bell. A cry from the child will actuate the instrument and will thus cause the bell to ring, awakening the attention of mother or nurse.

"Mudger feels sure his new 'Romeo and Juliet' will make a hit." "What are the high lights?" "Juliet dives off the balcony in her bloomers and they elope on their wheels."—Chicago Record.

It is claimed that paper-pulp water pipes have been tried in London with success. Besides being durable and inexpensive, they are free from the usual corroding influences affecting metal pipes, and, moreover, are free from the electrolytic effects of the electric current employed in street railway systems.

The Cincinnati Times-Star can't understand the local project to "cut a new ship canal a mile in length for $10,000,000 and sell one mile of the lower end of the Chicago river for $15,000,000." Why, the smell alone would sell for more than that to any fertilizer factory.

Sheer Desperation.

SAVANNAH, GA.

J. T. SHUPTRINE, City.

Dear Sir:—"Several physicians treated me without success for what they pronounced a stubborn case of eczema. In addition to this I have tried every so-called remedy that was suggested to me, but nothing did me the slightest good until in sheer desperation I tried your TETTERINE. This effected what seems to be a PERMANENT cure, and I take pleasure in testifying to its merit." Respectfully yours, ISAAC G. HAAS.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

Physician, Poet and Inventor.

It is seldom that nature endows one man with such diversity of talents in such pre-eminent degree as in the case of Dr. O. T. Dozier, of Birmingham, Ala.; but with him excellence is the mark and stamp of his genius in everything he attempts. His many inventions and the works of his facile pen have brought him fame and a just reward for his work. But it is as a healer of the sick that his greatest reputation has been won. Thousands of men and women, who have been cured by him, attest his wonderful skill, while hardly a paper published in the south has failed to commend and indorse him to its readers. He is indeed a remarkable man, a blessing to our people, and the whole south is proud of him as one of her most gifted sons. His card appears elsewhere in this issue and should be read by our every reader and clipped out and kept for future reference.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, } ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON.

{SEAL}

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under guarantee to cure. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

A woman who has passed thirty thinks all other young women must be twenty-seven, anyway.

Do you wish to know how to have no steam, and not half the usual work on wash day? Ask your grocer for a bar of Dobbins' Electric Soap, and the directions will tell you how. Be sure to get no imitation. There are lots of them.

Scotchmen have almost entire control of the stone cutting industries of New York.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

I believe Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my boy's life last summer.—Mrs. Allie Douglass, LeRoy, Mich., Oct. 20, 1894.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Catarrh

is just as surely a disease of the blood as is scrofula. So say the best authorities. How foolish it is, then, to expect a cure from snuffs, inhalants, etc. The sensible course is to purify your blood by taking the best blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has permanently cured Catarrh in a multitude of cases. It goes to the root of the trouble, which is impure blood. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

CANCERS TUMORS and MALIGNANT SORES CURED.

NO KNIFE USED.

Address with stamp.

DR. CURRENT, Paris, Ky.

WE PAY SALARY to men and women in every town to work for us, day or evening, at their homes; nice, pleasant work; no canvassing. Experience not necessary. Enclose stamp for particulars. STANDARD CO., 142 W. 23d St., N. Y.

RODS and Dip Needles for Prospectors Miners and Treasure Seekers Circular, 2 cents. P. & M. AGENCY, Palmyra, Penn. Also Agents Wanted for new line of Specialties.

WANTED—$75 to $150 salary and expenses to salesmen for cigars; experience unnecessary; special inducements to customers. W. L. KLINE & CO., St. Louis.

FREE, New catalogue of creamery and dairy supplies; farm implements. Write for one. Mention this paper. J. A. MADDEX, 25 W Mitchell St., Atlanta, Ga.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR S PERKEY, Chicago Ills

12c pay. for your name in our Public Directory and gets you a Handy Dictionary of [illegible] words worth $10 to you. South Pub. Co., Roanoke, Va

Am. N.U. No. 47. 1896

PILES ABSOLUTELY CURED For circular, proof and free sample, add [illegible]

STATE CHRONICLES.

Happenings of a Week All Over Alabama.

A TRAIN WRECKED

But No Lives Are Lost.—Huntsville Young Men Engage In An Ugly Practice.—Gov. Johnson's Private Secretary Will Be Chappel Cory. Little Chronicles.

Montgomery, Ala.—The fast mail on the Louisville and Nashvill Railroad for New Orleans leaving here at 9:30 Thursday night was wrecked when four miles from town, but fortunately no one was killed. The engine, baggage, express, smoker and one sleeper left the track. The mail car was shot at least fifty feet from the track, but landed right side up, and even the lights were not extinguished. The smoking-car was thrown down the embankment and rolled over on its side. It was in this car that the only damage was done. J. R. Latham, of Atlanta, was caught by the legs, and W. C. McCarvey, of Monroeville, Ala., by the arm, and each had to be cut off. These two were the most seriously hurt of any, and their injuries are not dangerous. A number of others were slightly bruised.

The cross-ties had been split so as to get the spikes out, and the track moved in about three inches so that when the engine struck it the flange of the driver rode the rail, and the engine was thrown from the track. Engineer Goins stuck to his engine and was not hurt.

MAPLEVILLE KILLING.

Mary White killed her husband, George White, at their home near Mapleville Wednesday night, shooting three pistol balls into his breast. Jealousy was the cause of the trouble. The couple have not been getting along amicably for some time past, and they had a difficulty a short time before the shooting.

SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR.

Mr. Campell Cory will be private secretary to Captain Joseph F. Johnson when the latter assumes the office of Governor. Mr. Cory recently returned from London, and his well known capability for the post, taken in conjunction with his return to the State, gave rise to the conjecture that he would be the next Governor's secretary. A dispatch from Montgomery confirms the belief. It is stated that Captain Johnson says that Mr. Cory will be his private secretary, adding that the appointment came without solicitation.

BRIDGEPORT'S PROGRESS.

Bridgeport, Ala.—Bridgeport has evidently taken a new lease on life, and is rapidly forging her way to the front as one of the most prosperous and energetic towns in North Alabama. During this week several very noticeable improvements have been made, among which are several houses repainted, the sidewalks of the city cleaned and the stove works has put on fifteen more moulders, and the directors are considering the advisability of paying off weekly and stopping the issuing of orders, which will be equivalent to an increase in wages of 5 per cent to the men.

A PLAIN INAUGURAL.

Montgomery, Ala.—Colonel and Adjutant-General Harvey E. Jones, of the State Troops, states that he has received a request from Governor-elect Joseph F. Johnson, that no military display be made at the inauguration on December 1. Governor Johnston stated that he desires a simple and quiet inaugural without the usual decorations. Colonel Jones stated that he does not presume to question Governor Johnston's wisdom in this decision, but that he regrets it on account of his own personal pride in the State troops.

"The troops are in splendid shape," he said, "and I like to show them off. We had prepared for a great day until I received the Governor's request yesterday, and in compliance therewith I have prepared and sent out a circular recalling all invitations for participation in the inaugural.

AN UGLY PRACTICE.

Huntsville, Ala.—The ugly habit of young men surprising people as they walk the streets on dark nights near our cotton mills has prevailed for some time. The officers of the law, however, have had occasion more than once to deal with these offenders, and it was thought the practice had been abolished until Thursday night, as Walter Winkle was passing through the grove near West Huntsville cotton mills, several shots were fired uncomfortably close to him, but he did not decamp, as was expected, so the fire was repeated, with an aim too accurate. Mr. Winkle, it is thought, is dangerously wounded, with a bullet in his groin. The police at once took the matter in hand, and have arrested eight young men on the charge of malicious mischief. They were tried before Justice R. P. Whitman, and seven of them were fined $25 each, and one was remanded to jail to await the developments of the young man's injuries.

MONTGOMERY—LEGISLATIVE.

Hon. A. D. Sayre, of Montgomery, was chosen President of the State Senate, and Hon. N. N. Clements, of Tuskaloosa, was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. Both branches of the General Assembly have secured very able presiding officers.

The following other Democratic nominees were elected: Massie Wilson, of Clark, clerk; Jesse Adams, of Dale, assistant clerk; Val Taylor, of Marengo, engrossing clerk; Robert Hassin, of Etowah, doorkeeper.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor Oates' biennial message was presented to the House at noon. It is a voluminous document of some 25,000 words, and treats of every department of the State government. The Governor recommends:

That the Sayre election law be repealed.

That the county convict system be abolished and the State system reestablished.

That Building and Loan Associations be made to pay taxes on all of their asets.

That the assesament of taxes be more perfectly aranged for.

That the poll tax be increased to $2.

That State elections be held every four years, and that Supreme Court judges be elected every ten years.

That liberal appropriations be made for the Girls' Industrial School.

That a tax be levied especially for public schools.

That an increased appropriation be made for the State University.

That fees be allowed solicitors rather than salaries.

That there be appointed an examiner of acounts for each Congressional District.

That the State historian, at a $1,200 salary, be appointed.

That the erection of a Governor's mansion be allowed.

That no political conventions be held in the Capitol.

That a charge of $2 for comissions under seal be made.

LITTLE CHRONICLES.

—The Supreme Court is now calling cases from the Fifth Division.

—The Gate City Mill is now employing more men than ever before.

—There is a possibility of a large cotton mill being located at Irondale.

—Gov. Oates and Gen. Pettus are leaders in the Senatorial race.

—The Alabama Legislature is to be asked for aid for the Confederate soldiers' Home.

—Sand mountain farmers are better off this fall, financially and every other way, than ever before.

—The political excitement is still raging in Birmingham. The mayoralty question is still unsettled.

—The East Alabama Fair, at Opelika, was a grand success. For quality, the exhibits surpassed all former years.

—The organized Sunday school convention of Chilton county was held in the Methodist Church, Verbena, November 15.

—The Thomas furnaces at Birmingham are now shiping more iron than they are making, and are drawing on the reserve.

—Hon. Craig Smith, State Treasurer, has resigned his office and taken his seat in the House as a member from Dallas county.

—The woods on red mountain were on fire on Monday and Tuesday and the sight was a grand one from points at a distance.

—Tuesday was the last day under the law of Alabama in which candidates for city honors could have their names printed on the ticket.

—When the price of No. 1 foundry iron advances to $9 a ton at the furnace the miners will get an advance in the mining of coal. It is expected soon to reach $9.

—The cargoes of every vessel of the Harsley line from Mobile to Europe have been engaged till the end of the year. Such a rush of freights is unprecedented at this season.

—William J. McGill, a wealthy old farmer of Sulphur Springs, died from the effects of a fractured skull received in a quarrel with a merchant named Dan Houser.

A BIG THING.

Ground Broken in Dallas, Tex., for the St. Paul Sanitarium.

Dallas, Tex.—Ground was Friday broken for St. Paul's Sanitarium, a hospital to be erected under the auspices of the Sisters of Charity of the Catholic church, at a cost of $150,000. The securing of the hospital for Dallas was the work of the physicians of the city. They raised money among themselves and purchased two full blocks of ground as a site. The ceremonies to-day were witnessed by fully 1,000 persons. The Right Rev. Bishop Dunn, formerly of Chicago, threw the first spade full of earth. Besides the Bishop and local members of the Catholic clergy, Sister Mary Bernard, of Atlanta, Ga., who will be the mother superior of the institution, was present. All took turns at assisting in breaking ground. The site for the hospital is 378 by 461 feet. The building will front on Bryan, Hall and Pavillion streets.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, FLORENCE, ALA.

It is gratifying to know that the attendance is unprecedentedly large this year. The student body is exceptionally fine. The faculty is the strongest in the history of the College. It is inspiring to think of nearly 300 young people here from all parts of the State preparing to teach in the Public Schools. They do well to get ready to fill the places for which we have been bringing in teachers from other States.

The winter term will begin Monday, December 7. That will be an auspicious time for new students to enter, though they may do so any day during the school year.

One hundred dollars will defray a year's expenses, including board. President James K. Powers will be glad to send a catalogue to any who wish it.

STRANGLED TO DEATH.

Willie Wilkes Kills a Woman and Then Walks Coolly Away.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Mrs. Ravena Caramay, formerly of Knoxville, Tenn., but recently of Ocala, Fla., was strangled Saturday by her lover, R. Willie Wilkes, formerly of Florence, S. C., but of late years of Ocala. The man and woman came here from Ocala two weeks ago, and have quarreled frequently. Saturday Wilkes went to the woman's room, and after a quarrel, threw her on the bed and choked her until she was dead. The murderer coolly walked out of the house, and the body was not found until an hour later. Wilkes was captured as he was riding out of town on a bicycle.

MORE CUBAN AID.

Kingston, Jamaica.—An important expedition in aid of the insurgents in Cuba, conveying dispatches from New York of vital importance and stores of medicine and clothing sailed from here last week. The boats on board of which the expedition left here have returned and report the successful landing of the members of the party and the supplies upon the Cuban coast.

RELIGIOUS NEWS.

The Methodist and Baptist Bodies in Session.

Lynchburg, Va.—Upon roll-call 220 members were found in attendance on the 114th annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Paul Whitehead, Dr. Judkins and Dr. Lafferty were appointed a committee on memorials. The annual report of Dr. Brown, book agent, was read by Rev. Mr. Lambeth, and then followed reports of the Board of Missions, the Board of Church Extensions and Secretary of Church Extensions.

CAROLINA BAPTISTS.

Winston, N. C.—The sixty-fourth annual session of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention opened at Morganton Wednesday with a good attendance of preachers and delegates. Dr. R. H. Marsh, of Oxford, is moderator. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Robert Van Deviu, who recently accepted a call to Georgia. The convention represents 140,000 white Baptists in the State. It will close Sunday. During the week addresses will be delivered by eminent Baptist divines.

BAPTIST CONGRESS.

Nashville, Tenn.—The Baptist Congress in session here after devotional exercises discussed problems of "The Country Church." Rev. W. L. Munger, of Belding, Mich., and Rev. J. H. Baldridge, of Lancaster, S. C., were the chief debaters of the session. At the night session, "Is God the Father of All Men?" was the topic. Dr. F. H. Rowley, of Chicago, and Rev. George C. Baldwin, of Springfield, Mass., maintained the affirmative; President W. Pope Youman, of Grand River College, Gallatin, Mo., denying it. President Youman's speech was the feature of the day. The Congress adjourned Thursday morning.

MOBILE'S EXPORT BUSINESS

Continues to Increase Very Rapidly Wheat Appears on Her List.

Mobile, Ala.—The expansion of business at Mobile is well illustrated in the continued increase in the foreign exports of the port.

The exports for the first four months of the fiscal year 1896-97 exceeded the total for the same four months of the year previous by 52 per cent; the totals being $2,477,000 and $1,622,000. The increase is general. Wheat for the first time appears on the export list in October, 60,000 bushels going to Germany and 58,000 bushels to England. The corn exports for four months were [illegible] bushels, compared with [illegible] bushels last year. The cotton exports were $1,000,000 and $651,000 respectively, and the lumber exports were $500,000 and $305,000, both articles showing a flattering increase.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

St. Louis, Mo.—The 500 officers and delegates to the Twenty-third Annual Convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, were called to order in Exposition Music Hall at 9 o'clock Friday morning by President Frances A. Willard. Prior to this a morning prayer meeting was conducted in Schuyler Memorial Hall by Miss Elizabeth Greenwood, of New York.

At 11 o'clock the evangelistic hour began. An hour of prayer was observed at 12 o'clock.

In the afternoon reports of committees were in order, also reports of the secretary, treasurer and superintendents, the latter being given in ten minutes each.

A welcome meeting was held in the evening.

LONG ISLAND'S MAYOR

To Be Arrested on a Charge of Violating Election Laws.

Long Island City, N. Y.—A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mayor Gleason, of Long Island City. The indictment is the result of charges by the Jeffersonian Democrats that in appointing election inspectors and poll clerks he violated the law which requires that the inspectors be appointed for the dominant parties, whereas he appointed Republicans and members of his own political faction, the Jeffersonians receiving only twenty of the 100 inspectors and poll clerks. The Jeffersonians are the silver Democrats.

ASSASSINATED BY NEGROES.

Augusta, Ga.—A special to the Chronicle from Washington, Ga., says: "Julius Hardy, a young man who runs a country store at Woodstock, was assassinated Friday night by negroes. The motive for the crime is not known, as no goods are missing from the store.

CONFEDERACY'S DAUGHTERS

Elect Officers for the Ensuing Year. Will Meet In Baltimore Next.

Nashville, Tenn.—Before adjourning Thursday afternoon the United Daughters of the Confederacy in annual session assembled at this place, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee, of Lynchburg, Va.; First Vice-President, Mrs. D. Girard Wright, of Baltimore, Md.; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Augustine T. Smythe, of Charleston, S. C.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. John P. Hickman, of Nashville; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, of Atlanta; Secretary, Miss Kate Mary Roland, of Virginia (now residing in Baltimore).

When the chair called on the Convention for invitations from the representatives of the various cities for the next meeting place, the following cities were placed in nomination: Lynchburg, Va., Jacksonville, Fla., Alexandria, Va., Baltimore, Md., and Montgomery, Ala. The votes were counted by States and resulted as follows: Baltimore 68, Alexandria 17, Lynchburg 5, Jacksonville 8, Montgomery 35.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS

Of Agitation the M., J. and K. Railroad is to Be Completed.

Mobile, Ala.—The Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad, an enterprise begun nearly thirty years ago but which first was brought to the point of construction last Spring, and which has hung fire since then because of the financial situation, will be put through without delay. President F. B. Morrill telegraphs from New York "as the direct result of McKinley's election the construction of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City will be pushed to completion."

Advertisements for material, including 50,000 cross ties, have been made. The road is to be 185 miles long, passing from Mobile through Jackson, Greene, Perry, Jones, Covington, Simpson, Rankin and Hind counties, to Jackson, Miss., connecting there with the Illinois Central. It crosses the New Orleans and Northwestern road at Hattiesburg, Miss. The immediate outlay in this section will be $1,800,000.

A BLACK EYE.

The Mississippi Railroad Company Gave It to the Railroads.

Jackson, Miss.—The Mississippi Railroad Commission, after a three days' session, during which it wrestled with freight rates, has adjourned. In spite of vigorous protests from all roads doing business in the State, [illegible] would send them into the hands of a receiver. The Commission ordered reductions averaging about 20 per cent. The original order of the board was for a 40 per cent reduction but on the statements and protests [illegible] the order was modified about one half and generally accepted by the roads. The schedule on all roads except the Illinois Central was fixed and its [illegible] that many thousand dollars will thus be saved to the people of the State annually.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Two Men and a Team are Dashed Into Eternity By an Explosion.

Ridgway, Pa.—Lewis Stewart and Patrick Donahue were instantly killed at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon about three miles from Johnsonburg by the explosion of nitro-glycerine. The two men were working for Markham & Martin, oil producers, of Kane, and were engaged in hauling nitro-glycerine to a magazine with a team of horses. It is supposed that one of the cans of the explosive fell to the ground and the terrible explosion resulted. No trace of the two men have as yet been found, while only a few fragments of horse flesh have been discovered in the branches of adjoining hemlock trees. The shock was plainly felt in the town of Johnsonburg, three miles distant, where some panes of glass were broken.

NO LONGER AN ATTRACTION.

Chicago, Ill.—The Famous Ferris wheel is in the hands of a receiver. Saturday Judge Horton appointed Andrew Onderdonk to take charge of the assets, under bond of $10,000. The company was nine months in arrears on the interest due on mortgage bonds of $300,000, and is totally insolvent.

BIG FIRE IN INDIANAPOLIS.

The dry goods establishment of Lawrie & Robson, 26 and 28 West Washington street, Indianapolis, Ind., was completely destroyed by fire Saturday morning; loss over $100,000.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,

Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)

KEATING WHEEL CO.

HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

ONE WOMAN'S CASE.

A Common Malady and a Remarkable Cure.

From the Herald, Boston, Mass.

When a great, popular remedy rises to such remarkable success as to be a worthy theme of comment in a whole section it may fairly be treated as a matter of news rather than mere business, because it is in a sense a public benefactor. In view of this fact a lady reporter was deputed to investigate personally the remarkable tonic and curative effects which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had shown, particularly in cases of nervous weakness and general debility, numerous instances of its efficacy in this class having been noted, especially in the vicinity of Boston.

A typical case was readily found in the experience of Mrs. Mary A. Conway, living on Erie street, Dorchester, Mass., who had been, according to her own testimony, suffering for a long time with physical and nervous weakness, accompanied by palpitation of the heart and irregularity of functions.

"It is true," she said, "that I have met with a remarkable restoration through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For some time I was completely run down, and the care of a family was a great strain upon me. My lips were white and my heart palpitated so severely that I could not go up and down stairs without great distress. My digestion, too, was weak, and I can truly say that I was suffering from a general lack of vitality.

"I took Pink Pills with misgivings, but after taking only a small quantity I was agreeably surprised to find that they were all and more than they had been described to be.

"From the very first time of taking the pills I began to notice their beneficial effect, and I found myself gradually and rapidly overcoming the varied physical weaknesses that seemed to have fastened upon me; my white lips were restored to their normal tinge, I regained color in my face, and as for the heart trouble I may say that it has completely vanished, and I can now go up and down stairs without any palpitation whatever. Heretofore I had black specks before my eyes and a tendency to dizziness, but now my head is clear and my vision is unimpaired.

"I shall continue to use the Pink Pills," said Mrs. Conway, "and to recommend them to my friends. I have found them to do great benefit, and I find that their use not only relieved me of the particular trouble which I had, but acted as a general tonic for my whole system. It seems to me that the more they are known the more they will come into general use, for people have been so often deceived by [illegible] that claim to cure everything that they are glad to find one that does exactly what is claimed for it."

Inquiries of physicians and apothecaries in this section also lead to the belief that such cases as that of Mrs. Conway are proving to be the prototypes of many other.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4% Actual Potash.

Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

THE DEAF HEAR

DEAFNESS [illegible] Write for pamphlet. Free.

WILSON EAR DRUM CO.,
140 Trust Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

THE PEOPLE CAN BUY

From us at WHOLESALE prices, and second hand books will be cheaper still. Write for our catalogue and price list, free.

W. H. OWINGS,
208 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die?

Dr. Salmon's Medicines are guaranteed to cure and fatten them, or money refunded. If your dealer cannot supply you send 25 cents for large sample package and Farmer's hand book of information. VETERINARY MEDICINE CO., Nashville, Tenn.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

DR. O. T. DOZIER,

The Renowned Southern Specialist [illegible]

Successfully treats all cases BY MAIL AT YOUR OWN HOME, all forms of Chronic [illegible] Blood and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

[illegible]

DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112 Birmingham, Ala.

Breech Loaders, Single Barrel [illegible] Double Barrel [illegible] or $6. Top Lever [illegible] complete [illegible] Rifles, $1.75. GUNS Revolvers [illegible] Action, $1 [illegible] Below everyone. Send stamps for catalogue. H. & D. FOLSOM ARMS CO., 314 B'way, N. Y.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. [illegible] late principal examiner U. S. Patent Office. Deane & Weaver, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1896. NO. 5.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING, THINKING AND DOING.

Will the Fusion Idea Be Continued?—Would Be Easy in Some States—A Difficult Task in Others—A Conference of Leaders Is Near at Hand.

The result of the election seemed to be a surprise to everybody almost, but the republicans. Up to the last minute both sides claimed everything. East of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio it was a republican landslide.

* * *

Notwithstanding the fact that the republicans have severely criticised Mr. Bryan for intimating that the question would be decided on sectional lines, the result proves the correction of his judgment. With the exception of California and Oregon the McKinley states are grouped in a bunch in the east and north, and extending as far west as Wyoming.

* * *

The result further shows that where the silver question has been agitated most Mr. Bryan received his best support. In the east the issue was new and the people had never studied it. Another four years of gold standard administration, unless it is a great improvement on that of Grover Cleveland's will likely give them an object lesson which will induce them to give the question serious consideration.

* * *

There is one element in the result which is fortunate for the opponents of the republican party. They have shifted all responsibility from their shoulders. The full responsibility is with the republicans. They will have both branches of congress and the president. They have placed themselves on record as the advance agent of prosperity. They have pledged their words that the gold standard will bring it. The whole country will watch for the results predicted and if the party fails to redeem its pledges its doom is sealed.

* * *

We are not of that class, however, who believe the country has gone to irretrievable ruin because the election did not go as we wished it. We have heard that cry for sixteen years. We have confidence in the intelligence and patriotism of the people as the great balance power that will be able to save the republic at any crisis. The harder the times the sooner the party in power will be voted out, and when it becomes evident that the party cannot be trusted then the people will revolt.

* * *

Great things are not born without great travail, and truth has always had to fight for every inch of ground it occupied. What education lacks in accomplishing, oppression and tyranny will supply. But the work of education is necessarily slow. But the object lessons educate very rapidly. That times will be better for a short time we do not doubt. When the boaconstrictor loosens his folds for another grip the victim feels easier until the pressure is renewed. Money will flow into circulation and enterprise will be stimulated, but woe unto the unwary who lose their heads and indulge in speculation. The trap will close again and another batch of mortgages be added to the burdens of the people.

* * *

How will the election affect the people's party? is a question now uppermost in everybody's mind. At this early date (Nov. 10) it is difficult to tell. We find a disposition on the part of some to continue the alliance with the democratic party. We do not think, however, that this will meet with the approbation of the great majority of members of the people's party. There was strong opposition to any alliance with the democrats during the recent campaign and that opposition has become intensified since the election. It is more than probable, however, that in such states as Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado, where the local tickets have been successful, that a continued alliance will obtain, but in those states, the democrats cut but little figure so far as numbers are concerned, and their influence consists only in holding the balance of power. They are perhaps now practically absorbed by the populists.

* * *

In all the southern states the situation is different. To make an alliance with the democratic party means a total and absolute surrender of our party machinery. The same condition applies to Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio and other northern states. The people's party must draw its recruits from both old parties. An alliance with the democrats not only prevents disgusted republicans from joining our ranks, but drives out some of our own members who never expected to be thus conveyed into the democratic camp. The same can be said with regard to an alliance with the republicans. It prevents disgusted democrats from joining us. The history of reform parties in this country is full of experiences of this kind.

* * *

There is evidently a strong feeling toward a re-organization of the party along the old lines. It is likely that a call will soon be made to that effect. There is a pretty general demand for such a call. It is no doubt best that something like this should be done. There is not only much confusion but considerable distrust of leaders among our ranks. A mass conocution at which the prominent men in the party were present, and a declaration as to the future policy of the party would do much to strengthen our lines and put us in active working condition. It seems to me that it is actually necessary that something of this kind should be done, and to fail to do it would be fatal to the people's party organization. There is a general call for such a convention and the probability is that if those who have the authority do not call it there will be a spontaneous call from the "boys in the trenches" that will bring it about anyway.

W. S. MORGAN.

FUNCTION OF MONEY.

Development of the Monetary Problem Means a Government Paper Currency.

Besides the checks and promissory notes, issued by individuals, which have a limited circulation, and the notes issued by banks, which have a more extended circulation, many governments issue notes directly that circulate generally among the people. As, however, the precious metals are the only commodities generally accepted as money throughout the world, all promises to pay are based upon one or another of them, but the aggregate of value represented by these promises to pay is so great that their fulfillment at any one time in coin or bullion would be impossible, the ratio between the volume of exchanges effected by the use of paper representatives of money to the volume effected by coin or bullion itself being greater than 9 to 1. This fact, that the total value called for by the paper representatives of value at any time in existence, although expressed in terms of the units of value originally designating coins, vastly exceeds the value of the metals as coined or held in bullion by the sources whence coins are issued, together with the fact that no man willinly and knowingly exchanges commodities for paper representatives of value without believing that he can obtain the worth called for by these representatives, leads to the perception that, after all, it is not the metals, however precious, but property of all kinds that is their basis, and that these paper representatives of value are succeeding coins in designating and measuring the value of the commodities for which they are exchanged. And as the value of commodities depends upon the efforts expended, under the law of supply and demand, in producing and delivering them at the place of need, the ultimate function of paper representatives of value is to measure and reward human effort.—"Development of the Monetary Problem," by Logan G. McPherson, in Popular Science Monthly.

Who Are the Anarchists?

How dear are the lives and comforts of the "dear people" to the exponents of plutocracy is evident from the following extracts, which might be indefinitely extended. The goldbugs are making beds for the poor; will the poor be fools enough to lie down in them?

The people be damned.—Vanderbilt.

The best meal to give a tramp is a leaden one.—N. Y. Herald.

The capital of this country is organized at last.—N. Y. Tribune.

The battle with socialism will be brief, but it will be hot.—Rev. Dr. Hitchcock.

There is too much freedom in this country rather than too little.—Indianapolis Journal.

If the workingmen had no vote they might be more amenable to the hard times.—Indianapolis News.

These brutal creatures (strikers) can understand no other reasoning than that of force. What they need is force, and enough of it to be remembered among them for generations.—N. Y. Tribune.

The simplest plan, probably, when one is not a member of the humane society, is to put a little strychnine or arsenic in the meat or other supplies furnished tramps.—Chicago Tribune.

There semes to be but one remedy and it must come—a change to land owners on one hand and tenant farmers on the other, something similar to what has existed in the old countries of Europe.—N. Y. Times.

Hand grenades should be thrown among those who are striving to obtain higher wages, as by such treatment they would be taught a valuable lesson, and other strikers would take warning by their fate.—Chicago Times.

The American laborer must make up his mind henceforth not to be so much better off than the European laborers. Men must be contented to work for less wages. In this way the workingman will be nearer to that station of life to which it has pleased God to call him.—New York World.

The people are almost unanimous in their desire for good times. The republicans have promised the country prosperity if they were given the power. They now have the opportunity. Every act of theirs will be watched with interest. They will be put on record. If permanent prosperity attends their administration of affairs nothing could happen that would prevent the people from giving them a further lease of power. Will they improve the opportunity?

One of the silliest things of which the plutocrats were guilty in the recent campaign was their attack on that part of the Chicago platform that criticised the action of the Supreme Court in regard to its decision on the income tax. There was nothing new or strange in that. Some of the best republicans that ever lived criticised severely the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case and were of course denounced for it by the slave power.

It ought to be evident that there never was an independent or third party movement that did not have a tendency in some way to help one or the other of the old parties, but the charge of treason has never before been made so viciously on this account as in the recent campaign.

FREE SILVER AND FIAT.

The Difference Between Token Money and Commodity Money.

Some of our free silver democratic friends are very tender on the fiat money theory, yet they are obliged to fall back on it in order to support their position. We note that the most of them seem to get their idea of ultimate redemption money from Harvey, and evidently maintain that all paper money should be redeemed in gold or silver. Then follows their theory that it is the money of ultimate redemption that fixes prices without reference to the paper money in existence. Were it not for the fact that their opponents, the goldites, were as uneducated on the principles of finance as themselves, their argument would not stand a moment before an array of logic and facts. There was a time when there was no money of ultimate redemption in sight. What fixed prices then? The fact is we should have prices without any money. While money has most to do with prices, credit has also its share of influence upon them. But as to the fiat theory. All legal money is fiat. Fiat means a decree of law, and applies to all kinds of money. A great many people use the word fiat ignorantly. What they really mean is token money—that is money composed of material without intrinsic value—such as paper, leather, tin or any other cheap material.

Now anything is valuable for what it will accomplish. Money is designed as a medium of exchange. Money should circulate—that is what it is intended for. If a man wants to hoard property he has no right to demand that it shall be first stamped as money and then be taken from circulation and hid. This is the objection to gold and to some extent to silver. Both are commodity money—that is having both a legal and commercial value. Therefore they are both unreliable as money because they are liable to be hoarded or exported and thus affect the volume of currency in circulation and thereby affect prices.

It is not so with token money. It is redeemable in all things and its one mission is to assist in making exchange of property. It is not likely to be hoarded, and if it ever finds its way out of the country will soon come back. Its volume depends not upon the chances of discovery and the laborious process of taking it from the ground, but upon the will of the creator. As its creator is composed of the people who use it they can be relied upon to make it good. No man who builds a wagon for his own use will put a bad piece of timber in it. It is true that such a money system might interfere to some extent with the business of the banks and those who loan money, but it would be in the interests of the great mass of people.

Overproduction?

A great and extensive country, industrious people, good crops, a surplus of everything, at peace with the world, and in the midst of all these great blessings business men are forced to the wall, farmers after working from daylight to dark to mature a crop, after selling the same at beggarly prices are forced to mortgage their land to the banks or money lenders for enough money to carry them through the winter; thousands of men out of employment, people starving for bread is the picture of life in this great free (?) America to-day. And still the wise statesmen tell us that it is overproduction; lack of confidence that is causing all the misery. What a fertile brain it must have taken to have made such a discovery! Think of it, people are starving because crops are too good (what a blessed thing it would be to have a famine), and people going poorly clad because there has been an overproduction of clothing—bosh!—Labor World.

Novel Surgical Operation.

A quite novel surgical operation has successfully been performed at Parma, Italy, by Professor Camillo Verdelli, in the presence of all the physicians of the Parmese Hospital, and with very satisfactory results. The new operation was the washing of the heart. It was the first operation of the kind, and Prof. Verdelli employed the washing apparatus recently invented by Prof. Riva. After making an operative incision, Prof. Verdelli first cleaned the pericardium of the patient, a twelve-year-old boy, of the pus which had accumulated thereon, and then proceeded to wash the heart with a strong solution of soda biborate (borax). The operation was very successful, inasmuch as no further complication has arisen; the boy is now doing very well, and is on his way to complete recovery. Prof. Verdelli has received numerous congratulations for his success with the new operation from surgeons all over Europe.—Philadelphia Record.

A Story of Professor Herkomer.

A pretty story of Prof. Herkomer is told in one of the London papers. His aged father, who lives with him in his splendid home at Bushey, used to model in clay in his early life. He has recently taken to it again, but his fear is that soon his hands will lose their skill, and his work will show the marks of imperfection. It is his one sorrow. At night he goes to his early rest, and when he has gone Herkomer, the talented son, goes into the studio, takes up his father's feeble attempts, and makes the work as beautiful as art can make it. When the old man comes down in the morning, he takes the work and looks at it, and rubs his hands and says: "Ha! I can do as well as ever I did!"

THE men who have been led are not to blame; it is the men who have done the leading.

ALABAMA'S LAW-MAKERS.

The State Legislature Has Gotten Down to Hard Work.

GOVERNOR'S SECOND MESSAGE

Desires a Thorough Investigation of the State's Financial Condition.—Wants a Joint Committee for the Purpose.—Kyle, of Morgan, Wants to License Pistol "Toters."

Montgomery, Ala.—The following message from Governor Oates was sent to the House Friday, and is self-explanatory:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

In my biennial message to you at your organization I endeavored to show that the present deficiency in the revenue was $225,177.54, and after quoting from the auditor his estimate of the deficiency for the present fiscal year as $146,100, I stated that it would not exceed $150,000.

In the State Herald yesterday the following language was used editorially, to wit:

"The fact is that on the 1st of January, 1897, there will be a deficiency of something like $600,000 to deal with. Confronted, therefore, as we are with such a large deficit and with the further fact that there must be a very heavy increase in taxable valuations, on the tax rate, or a moderate increase in both to enable the State to meet its current expenses and extinguish the deficit, we cannot agree that it would be wise at this time to incur any additional liabilities not absolutely necessary for the proper administration of the Government."

If this editorial be true it proves that I uttered a falsehood in my message. If I told the truth then the editorial statement is false. I am also informed that the honorable gentleman, who will succeed me in the Chief Executive Office, some days ago requested that a Committee be raised to investigate the state of the treasury and ascertain the amount of the deficiency, which Committee, I am informed has not been raised. It is his right to have the information authoritatively.

I ask nothing except what is my due and desire the investigation to be a most thorough and searching one, and will order the State Examiner to aid any committee which may be raised. I hope it will be a joint committee from the two Houses. The people of the State should know the facts. It is but just to me and my administration and I most respectfully demand that immediate action be taken.

WM. C. OATES,
Governor.

HOUSE—FRIDAY.

Among the bills introduced to-day the most interesting was a measure by Mr. Kyle, of Morgan, "To regulate and license the carrying of concealed weapons in the State of Alabama." The bill provides that a license be granted to persons of good moral character, peaceable and law-abiding, when a certificate has been signed by not less than twenty householders and free holders of the neighborhood in which said person resides, testifying that he is of the peaceable character required under this act. It provides that the person to whom such license is granted shall be over 21 years of age, and that he shall pay to the Probate Judge, issuing the license, a tax of $20 for such license, and a fee of $1 to the Probate Judge for his services in performing such duty. A book shall be kept in the office of the Probate Judge showing a list of all who have been granted such privilege, and such book shall, at all times, be open to the public for inspection. A list of all who shall apply for such license and are refused on account of certain provisions of this act, shall be referred to the Grand Jury for investigation. The bill was referred to the Committee on Revision Laws.

SENATE—FRIDAY.

Senator Brewer, from the Committee on Rules, reported favorably this morning the resolution for the raising of a joint committee to prepare a bill for calling a Constitutional Convention. Mr. Hundley is leader of the opposition to this measure in the House, and offered a bill to repeal the Sayre Election law, which, he claimed, is so constructed that the delegates to a Constitutional Convention, should it be called, would not be fairly elected. Mr. Hundley stated that fraud had been committed under this law and he was taken up on this statement by Senators Kilpatrick and Brewer.

The resolution was finally re-committed to the Committee on Rules.

Senator Hogue's bill, providing that no State officer, excepting the Governor and Supreme Court Justices, shall receive a salary exceeding $2,000, was passed by the Senate this morning by a vote of 18 to 12.

The bill was strongly advocated on the floor by Senators Brewer, Cunningham, Robinson, Hundley and Hogue.

HOUSE—SATURDAY.

The only bill out of the usual run of legislation was introduced by Mr. Timberlake, the member from High Jackson. It was referred to the Committee on Temperance. The bill read as follows:

To regulate the dress of women and maintain the distinction of dress of the sexes.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Alabama, That it shall be unlawful for any woman to appear in any public place in this State attired in the habit or any part of the habit of man.

Section 2. Be it further enacted, That no woman shall appear in any public place in this State so adorned as to unduly excite the passions of men.

Section 3. Be it further enacted, That Section 1 and 2 of this act shall imply all such articles of dress known as tights, bloomers, shirt waists and all articles of dress commonly worn by men at this time.

A short but heated discussion occurred over the passage of the general bill, introduced several days ago, to give a lien for the fees of practicing physicians to the amount of $10. All counties were stricken from this bill by amendments except two, Sumpter and Pickens, and the bill passed as a local measure.

SENATE—SATURDAY.

The important issue in the Senate to-day was the motion by Senator Smith, of Mobile, to reconsider the vote by which the Hogue salary bill passed the Senate yesterday. The opposition to the bill seems to have grown in a single night, and the forces were well organized to-day. The bill was ably opposed by Senators Pettus, McElldery and Case. Senator Hogue then made a motion to reconsider the vote, so that he might have an opportunity to amend by excepting county officers from the provisions of the measure. The motion carried, and the amendment was adopted. Mr. Kilpatrick then moved that consideration of the bill be postponed until the second Tuesday after recess. The motion prevailed by a vote of 14 to 13.

Just before adjournment of the Senate Dr. Cunningham, of Jefferson, introduced a new convict bill by unanimous consent.

The bill proposes a revolution of the present convict system, and is a carefully prepared measure. It affords a revenue to the State of about $100,000 per annum through the State working its convicts. The bill provides for the abolishment of present board of convict inspectors and substitutes a general manager with two superintending divisions and a medical director, with headquarters at Speiguers, Ala. This board is to be appointed by the Governor and indorsed by the Senate. The manager and medical director shall serve for six years at salaries of $2,400 per annum, and the superintendents for four years at salaries of $1,500 each and traveling expenses.

Printed copies of the general appropriation bill were distributed among the members to-day. This bill has been made a special order for Monday and will be a continuous order until disposed of.

HOUSE—MONDAY.

The lower House of the State Legislature got down to hard work this morning. A number of bills, both local and general were introduced, but the one that appeared to be the paramount issue was a bill by Mr. Meadows, of Marengo, to regulate primary elections. Among the other most important were the following:

By Hearn—To regulate the aportionment of the school fund in the State by fixing the apportionment by actual attendance of the pupils during the month of July.

By Davis—To set aside the school fund of Alabama for school purposes; education.

By Delchamps—For the payment of wages to workingmen and employees; appropriations.

By Wiley—To establish the convict and prison bureau, to provide for the administration of its business and for the inspection; penitentiary and criminal administration.

SENATE—MONDAY.

The Senators convened to-day at the usual hour. A message from the House was received stating its concurrence in the joint resolution to provide for the reprinting of 500 copies of out-of-print volumes of the Alabama Supreme Court reports, and referred to the Committee on Rules.

The third reading of Senator Brown's bill to permit women to practice law in this State precipitated one of the most brilliant debates ever heard in the Senate chamber. Two reports were had from the Judiciary Committee. The bill passed by a close vote, but its reception by the House is doubtful.

The following general bills were disposed of in the Senate as indicated below:

By Appling (H)—To amend an act entitled an act to amend section 3588 of the code, relating to the taking up of criminal dockets. Passed.

By Lavender—To revive judgment and decrees against administrations de bonis non, in cases where such judgments or decrees have been rendered against administrators in chief and such administrators in chief have died, been removed, or have resigned, before the payment of such judgment or decree. Passed with amendment.

By McElderry (S)—For the protection of the creditors of any insolvent and failing corporation against preferences made or suffered by the directors, officers or managers of such corporation of the code, approved February 18, 1895. Insures a trial by jury on law issues in chancery cases, if demanded by either party. Passed.

By Appling (H)—To amend section 3262 of the code. Passed, without amendment.

By Robinson (H)—To amend an act entitled an act to dissolve garnishments in cases where the defendant executes bond to plaintiff, approved February 12, 1891. Laid over informally and retains it place on the calendar.

By Brown (H)—To amend section 751 in the payment or security of debts. Passed.

By McElderry—To fix the times of holding the Circuit Courts in the several counties comprising the seventh judicial circuit. Passed.

:o:

AFIRE AND ABANDONED.

Vain Efforts to Save the Lumber-Laden Lake Steamer B. W. Arnold.

Houghton, Mich.—The steamer B. W. Arnold, on fire and abandoned by her crew, went ashore near the Salmon Trout River, in Lake Superior, Monday morning. The steamer left Duluth Thursday with a cargo of 800,000 feet of lumber, bound for Chicago, having in tow the schooner Mowatt, also lumber-laden. When off Ontonagon fire was discovered in the deck load in the forward part of the steamer. The crew fought the fire bravely, and every possible effort was made to save the vessel. The work of the crew was ineffectual, however, and after five hours of battling with the flames they were compelled to flee before the heat, which became unbearable. The crew then boarded the schooner, cut the tow-line, and the burning steamer was allowed to drift away. She was owned by the Mills Transportation Company, of Marysville, Mich. Her valuation is placed at $45,000.

:o:

AN OUTRAGEOUS ACTION.

Garcia's Son the Victim of Spanish Vengeance Sent to Penal Servitude.

New York, N. Y.—An evening paper says: The Spanish Government actuated, the Cubans in this city say, by news of a crushing defeat to Weyler's men by Gen. Calixto Garcia, of the Cuban army, have caused the arrest of the General's son, who was temporarily in Spain, and sent him to do penal servitude for life in a convict colony on the coast of Africa. News of the arrest was received by Mrs. Calixto Garcia, wife of the General, who is now in command of the insurgent forces in Santiago Province, in a letter from Barcelona. Young Garcia was arrested on the charge that he was intending to join the insurgents in Cuba after reaching the United States.

:o:

JERE BAXTER PERSEVERES.

He Has Interested More Capital in His Tennessee Central Railroad.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Col. Jere Baxter, of Nashville, and representatives of certain capitalists of St. Louis and New York, whose names could not be learned, left Harriman Monday in vehicles, in company with Engineer Whitman, for an inspection trip over the Tennessee Central so far as graded. It is stated that Receiver Godfrey has about abandoned the idea of completing the line, and will agree to have it brought to sale, and the visit of these parties, it is believed, is made with a view to becoming its purchasers. It is understood that St. Louis parties are interested in the oil fields of Fentress and Overton counties, which this road traverses. The recent flow of oil at the Bob's Bar well, which is regarded as rather phenomenal, bears out the rumor that the St. Louisans are interested themselves in the railroad project.

:o:

CONFLICTING OPINIONS

Of the Reports From Porto Rico—Weyler's Head in Danger.

Madrid, Spain.—Senor Castellano, Minister of the Colonies, denies the truth of the story cabled recently of the probability of an uprising in Porto Rico, despite the fact that the story was based upon official advices from the island. But El Dia affirms the accuracy of the story, and declares that the Government has received advices showing the existence of a conspiracy to accomplish an insurrection.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD.

Fort Gaines, Ga.—Leon, the ten-year-old son of William Hammock, a prominent citizen, lost his life Saturday. He and his elder brother and a cousin were hunting when he was accidentally killed.

PERILS OF THE SEA.

A Tacoma Steamer Wrecked on a California Sand Bar.

HEROIC WORK OF RESCUERS.

Some of the Crew Rescued After Clinging to the Riging for Hours During a Terible Storm, and Attempts to Rescue the Remainder Are in Progress.

Point Arena, Cal.—The steamer San Benito, bound from Tacoma to San Francisco went ashore seven miles north of Point Arena Sunday morning. The steamer struck on a sand bar and broke in two. The San Benito carried forty-four men, and during the severe storm Saturday night must have lost her bearings. The wind blew terifically and a heavy sea was runing. The vesel struck about 1 o'clock in the morning, and an hour later broke just aft the smokestack. Boats were lowered, but one capsized immediately with five men in it, four of whom were drowned. Another boat with four of the crew capsized nine times, losing two men. Three men, by heroic means, reached shore. Daylight found the rest of the crew clinging to the rigging. Such a heavy sea is running that it is impossible to render asistance.

The drowned are: O. W. Scott, first engineer; F. Condon, second engineer; M. Pendergast, fireman; John Sheridan, messenger boy; one seaman, name unknown.

The steamer Point Arena reached the scene at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and sent out a boat, and by bravery and skilled seamanship rescued seven men. In making a second trip the boat was almost swamped and was compelled to abandon all efforts on account of the great breakers washing over the wreck. A sailor was washed overboard and reached shore almost dead. He was revived by a doctor on the beach.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon a sailor jumped overboard and attempted to swim ashore with a line. The shoulder straps of his life-preserver broke and the man went down.

Lighthouse Keeper Brown and an Indian named Lazarus, William Comprey and "Al" Cunningham manned a boat and made two heroic efforts to conect the wreck with the shore line, but were unsuccessful.

The steamers Point Arena and Alcazar are off the wreck, but can render no assistance until the sea calms. Both parts of the ship are fast in the sand, fifty feet apart. The sailors claim the accident was on account of the fog-horn not blowing, but the night was clear and the light could be seen many miles.

:o:

BLACKBURN GIVES IT UP.

Will Now Try to Be Kentucky's Next Governor.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—The Commercial-Tribune's special from Lexington, Ky., says that Senator Blackburn has given up the Senatorial contest and determined to make the contest for Governor. Senator Blackburn is confident he can secure the nomination for Governor, and that he can be elected. It is stated that Senator Blackburn's present action in declining to contest for the Senatorship is due to gold Democrats refusing to stand by him as the caucus nominee.

:o:

GOING AFTER A COFFIN

An Alabama Man is Knocked from the Track by a Passenger Train.

Huntsville, Ala.—W. B. Cobb was killed at Paint Rock by Memphis and Charleston train No. 4, east-bound, Saturday night. Cobb attempted to cross in front of the train and was knocked down by it. His head was crushed and one leg was cut off. Cobb lived near New Hope, this county, and leaves a wife and four children. He had gone to Paint Rock to meet the train and get a coffin he expected to be brought in for his father.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.
Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THIS X mark is to remind you that when you come to court next week will be a good time to renew your subscription.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

CAPT. KOLB has retired from the newspaper business, and disposed of the Tribune to Philander Morgan. As Mr. Margan took the same position as Capt. Kolb in the late compaign we presume the policy of the paper will be unchanged.

A GROWING opposition to the proposed charter of incorporation for Clanton is making itself manifest, and it seems tolerably evident that there are several features in the charter which are strongly objected to. We are decidedly in favor of incorporating the town, but unless the charter meets the approval of the people it is better left alone. We would again suggest to Mr. J. P. VanDerveer, as chairman of the committee, that he take the people into his confidence and make public the provisions of the charter.

A PARTY of young people, enjoying a hay-ride last Saturday night at Ensley City, near Birmingham, met with a fatal ending to their enjoyment. When the wagon was crossing a bridge over Village Creek, the bridge gave way, and down into the creek went wagon, horses and people. One unfortunate young man, Wm. Shannon, has since died, and several others are severely injured. The bridge was new, only having been completed a few days before and accepted by the county commissioners. Indignation meetings are being held in the vicinity, and it would seem there ought not to be much difficulty in fixing the responsibility on the right parties.

OBJECT lessons are generally very convincing. The merchants of Chilton county last week had splendid object lessons at Jemison, Clanton and Verbena, of the value of an advertisement in THE BANNER. There were larger crowds of people from all parts of the county congregated in the three above mentioned towns than were ever known before, and all brought to town by a single adv. in THE BANNER. The moral to all enterprising merchants is that if you waut to reach the people of Chilton county you must advertise in THE BANNER.

REDUCING salaries is not usually a very popular proceeding, but we are confident that the action of the Legislature in cutting down the appropriations will meet the approval of the people of the State The present Legislature seems to be economically inclined and is getting down to business in good style. We are glad to note however that while cutting down expenses where practicable, an appropriation of $15,000 was made for the Girl's Industrial School at Montevallo.

WHILE all this talk of a constitutional convention is going on, it seems to us a word about re-districting the State would be opportune. Take, for instance, our own (the fourth congressional) district, comprising six counties. In the FIVE WHITE counties, according to the returns, Aldrich majorities are 1093, and Plowman majorities 971—nett majority for Aldrich 122. Now comes the funny part. ONE BLACK county, Republican from end to end, returns a DEMOCRATIC majority of 3,089; the majority alone in that ONE BLACK county being 1025 over the combined majorities of the two candidates in the FIVE WHITE counties. Facts indisputable!

CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit court convened on Monday, Judge N. D. Denson presiding. This was the first occasion of the public use of the new court house, and Judge, lawyers and clients, as well as the public generally, were unanimous in commending this improvement.

The docket was light and there were no cases of any public interest, the only case of any importance being the Alabama Mineral Land Co. vs. E. E. Jackson et al, involving the sum of $45,000. Judgment was given for the defendants, and notice of appeal was made on behalf of the plaintiffs. The petit jury was discharged Wednesday evening and the grand jury finished their labors this morning about ten o'clock.

The report of the County Treasurer was satisfactory, showing a balance on hand.

The following visiting attorneys were in attendance: E. E. Willett, Anniston; S. D. Logan, Centreville; W. A. Gunter, Montgomery; W. R. Oliver, Calera; W. A. Collier, Birmingham; C. S. G. Doster, Prattville; W. R. Brassell, Prattville; C. P. Jones, Montgomery; F. B. Baldwin, Verbena.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To Hon. N. D. DENSON, Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit of Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury for the Fall Term, 1896, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, respectfully submit the following final report:

We have enquired into the violations of law in our county and as a result have returned into Court 18 true bills.

We have examined the books of our county officers by committees and report the same properly kept as far as we can judge. Especially those of County Clerk.

The bonds of our county officials we consider good.

We are glad to note that our county has a new and attractive court house and we think that this fact should be a source of gratification to every citizen of our county.

We recommend that the water works at the county jail be put in perfect repair at once. With this exception we find our jail in good order. The prisoners have been well treated.

The roads of our county are in fair condition, but we earnestly urge that the road officers take a greater pride in the faithful discharge of their several duties, for we are convinced that the value of good roads to any county can not be easily over estimated.

We have examined into the financial condition of our county and hereto attach a report of the County Treasurer.

The comfort of our county poor we are glad to say has been properly considered.

We desire to thank your Honor for the explicit charge given, our Solicitor for kind and patient assistance, and our Bailiff for his prompt attendance.

Having now discharged our duties to the best of our ability we respectfuily ask to be discharged.

Very respectfully,
B. W. SILSBEE, Foreman.

Maplesville Music.

Mr. Oliver Latham's friends are glad to see him in our midst again in fine health and spirits.

A misnomer was made of the colored killing near this place the 3rd of this month, the woman was a daughter of Henry and Mary White and was married to John Henry Harvey, they had been living in great discontent some time, she pleads self-defence. The man spoke but a few words after the shooting, being shot through the heart, died immediately. The woman offered no resistance and was safely lodged in jail.

Several from here took advantage of excursion rates for pleasure and business trips.

Mrs. R. H. Martin and Miss Cora Smith have visited friends in Selma.

Mrs. Garner and her lovely daughter, Miss Ollie, have been guests of Mrs. Goodwin the past week.

McKinley's success hasn't brought prosperity yet. There is a considerable increase of tramps that are a great nuisance to house-keepers here, we think some of his extra wisdom would be well employed to get work for these unfortunates.

We are fearful the Opossums are not living in this locality in any security from the noise the festive small boys and dogs are making here after night.

The weather has been remarkably mild in this locality, cotton continued to grow and make later than ever known before.

SUBSCRIBER.

PROSPERITY WAVE.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24, 1896.

The Venezuelan arbitration has, after an infinite amount of red tape, been placed in the hands of a commission, composed of two representatives of Great Britain and the United States each, and the King of Sweden.

The recent meeting of the Knights of Labor has been of great interest. Secretary-treasurer Hays, in his report, exposed the violent attacks made upon the order by a clique, known as the "New York Triangle," composed of some of the Socialist Labor party, when they failed to get control of the K. of L. Among other measures the organization pledged itself to try to get before the next Congress, is the establishment of Postal Savings Banks.

W. J. Bryan, in company with several of his friends, has gone to Taney county, Missouri, to spend ten days hunting and fishing. From the time he left his home he was greeted with the same enthusiasm that he met everywhere before the election. Although he has not so announced, it is generally understood that Mr. Bryan will, about the first of January, publish a book on Bimetallism, to be supplemented by his biography, written by Mrs. Bryan, and a history of the recent campaign.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature of Alabama, seeking to make void all contracts calling for payment in gold or any other currency than the legal tender of the United States.

The Leader, of Canton, South Dakota, states that ballots were printed in the Russian language and men employed to do the marking, in McPherson county, at the recent election.

Carroll D. Wright, in his recently published census report, gives the number of unemployed at 3,523,730.

The leaders in the Silver cause will meet in Washington, immediately after the convening of Congress.

The war in Cuba goes on with renewed horrors. Spain has sent to Gen. Weyler 200,000 men, and the command to crush the rebels or resign in the near future. The Cubans are believed to have only about 7,000 men poorly fed, clothed and armed. Spanish ladies have sold their jewels, it is said, to raise money to provide troops, while Cuban women are fighting in the ranks. Owing to the possibility of trouble with Spain the Secretary of War has ordered the southern ports and their means of defense looked into and in some cases steps have been taken to render them less open to attack.

The first Populist headquarters for 1900 have been formally opened at Lincoln, Nebraska, on the ground floor of the Lincoln hotel.

The farmer element will predominate in the Nebraska legislative bodies. But one gold democrat was elected to either branch of the house.

Mark Hanna recently gave a gorgeous banquet to his Wall street adherants and admirers. All of the toasts proposed were boquets for the Chairman and he, in turn, distributed compliments and twenty dollar gold medals, as souvenirs of the occasion. Mr. Hanna, in his speech, with that delicate tact(?) that characterizes every utterance of that great "Cannibal of Labor," told how one of his hired "spell-binders" had said, "Mr. Hanna stands with one hand on the Almighty and one on McKinley, and he can't be beat."

It is given out that the Wilder mansion at Bolton, Mass., has been purchased by President-elect McKinley, through his manager, as a summer residence. This is the same house that was provided as a retreat for Napoleon, but never used by him as he too long delayed his departure from France. Ardent admirers of the Major may be delighted with this coincidence and regard it as further proof of his being a "man of destiny," but we venture to suggest that a little study of history or a sober second thought might divest this comparison of much of its glamor. It may be all very well to be like the great man of France—but there is Waterloo! A. R.

Broken Chain

The family circle is never so happy after the chain is broken and a link taken. Some family chains are strong, others weak. Have you a good family history? Or is there a tendency to coughs, throat or bronchial troubles, weak lungs? Has a brother, sister, parent or near relative had consumption? Then your family chain is weak. Strengthen it. Take SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It makes rich blood, gives strength and vigor to weak lungs and run-down constitutions. With its aid the system throws off acute coughs and colds. It prevents the chain from breaking.

Shall we send you a book about this, free?

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

EDITOR BANNER: I think maybe some of our citizens of Chilton would like to hear something of the workings of the Legislature I will give them a few notes. We have done nothing of very much importance. We had a little fun over a bill to license women to practice law, but after a hard fight the bill was defeated. I was very sorry, for I am willing to give woman an equal chance with man in making a living. Some men are willing to let woman enter the field of hardship, but when it comes to professions of honor they want her to take a back seat.

I have put in another bill raising the age of consent to 14 years of age, and after a hard fight the committee has made a favorable report and I think it will pass. While I think this age too low, I think it much better than ten years.

Well, our people had just as well get ready for a constitutional convention, because I am a most sure one will be called. I think all of the Populites will oppose such a measure.

I think the proceedings of this house will be pleasanter than any for the last two or three sessions. Closing, I will say that I want the people of our county to feel free in any request they have to make of me, because I am their servant, and am here to do their wishes, so let them send me any suggestions that they see proper, and I assure them that I will appreciate the same.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

* * *

Vine Hill.

As the election is over and political strife is at an end for the present and there is no danger of personal differences, I will return to my work of getting local news.

Health of community generally good.

Crops all gathered; ginning season closed and cotton about all marketed.

Glad to report Mr. Nole Merony able to be out again after being badly hurt by a fall.

Mrs. Jas. Johnson is very sick, hope she will soon be well.

Mr. C. A. Fisher is putting up a new dwelling.

J. M. Russell was severely, though not dangerously, cut by a foot-adze.

Mr. Butler and family were the guests of Mr. J. P. Willis this week.

There will be Thanksgiving services held at Vine Hill church Thursday. The young folks are expecting an enjoyable time. Our Sunday-school is still prospering; its an ever green school.

Mr. Ed Moore and Willis Blue went to Selma last week; in fact, almost everybody is going or has been to town.

Mr. Wm. Hunt has gone back home after a two months stay.

Glad to say that circuit court was of little interest except some had to attend as jurors.

Hope now the election is over that all the local news-gatherers will all help to make the BANNER the newsiest county paper in the State.

May peace and prosperity crown the BANNER in its efforts for justice, peace and equal rights to all men alike.

Yours again,
PAT.

* * *

LOST.—Tol Marcus lost a $5 bill, Wednesday, and will be glad if the finder will return it to him.

* * *

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skillful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and mechanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-know "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you among their patrons.

Tax Notice.
Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	22
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Mountzion church	"	26
Cane Creek church	"	27
Ehrman's mill	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church	"	9
Kincheon	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12
Benson	"	14
Maplesville	"	15
Smith's school-house	"	17
Jemison	"	18
Strasburg	"	19

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,

THE JURORS.

Following are the names of jurors drawn for the fall term of circuit court, which will convene on Monday, November, 23 1896.

PETIT JURY—second week.

A J Glasscock, J W E Gulledge, W F Claughton, Hamp Shoults, I G White, D H Hudgins, J W Sorrell, J R Kemp, W H Thomas, J J Marcus, S M Yates, Wm. Reynolds, W A Sims, M A Bates, Thomas Roberts, J L Waldrop, John Runnels, John Robinson, Mart Gore, K R Burnett, W C Dickerson, W D Horsley, J E Cobb, W M Wood, J N Askins, H C Bearden, A L Collins, D Z Merchant, LaFayett Ingram, G T Mims, W A Green, J E Champion, W E Vinsant, W W Rutherford, J W Baker.

Real Estate for Sale.

The following lands for sale very cheap by F. B. Baldwin, Verbena or W. H. Foshee Clanton, Ala.

SW¼ of sw¼ sec 33 tp 20 r 12; nw ¼ of nw¼ and se¼ of nw¼ sec 33 tp 21 r 11; e½ of sw¼ sec 28 tp 21 r 16; s½ of se¼ of ne¼ sec 23 tp 20 r 11; nw¼ of nw¼ sec 10, nw¼ of se¼ sec 20, ne¼ of se¼ sec 32 tp 20 r 11; nw¼ of ne¼ sec 10 tp 20 r 12; e½ of se¼ sec 26 tp 23 r 14; nw¼ of sw¼ and sw¼ of sw¼ sec 25 tp 23 r 15; se¼ of nw¼ sec 25 tp 21 r 11; ne¼ of ne¼ sec 4 tp r 12, all in Chilton county, Alabama.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,526.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 2, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on December 12th, 1896, viz.: Monroe Stewart, Homestead entry, No. 24,149, for the nw¼ of nw¼ section 12 tp 22 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Jake Hayes, of Thorsby, Ala., Anthony Latham, of Thorsby, Ala., Luke Latham, of Jemison, Ala., Robert Hicks, of Thorsby, Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs: Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN
DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,
DEALERS IN
General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.
CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS
—DEALER IN—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.
- Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.
FURNITURE AND COFFINS
N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.
CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT
for many years with Pollack & Co.
Has the Finest Line of
Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats
To be found in Montgomery
Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET
MONTGOMERY - ALA

Danger Ahead!

Don't neglect slight symptoms of ill health. Headaches—biliousness—constipation—these are warnings that there's danger ahead. Don't wait 'till you have a severe attack of sickness but take V.V.V. now and avoid liver complaint, bilious fever and like diseases. V.V.V. the great family remedy is a sure specific for all forms of liver complaint. It drives all impurities from the blood and system, toning and invigorating the whole body. V.V.V. is composed solely of roots, barks and herbs, having powerful healing properties, yet so harmless that no one can receive any but good effect from their use. V.V.V. cures every form of blood and skin disease, including the worst cases of scrofula, kidney diseases, rheumatism, catarrh, malaria, etc.

Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00.
A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

[illegible] Court meets second [illegible] in February, first Monday in [illegible], second Monday in May, second [illegible] in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price today 6.55 cents.

Bales received to-date:

[illegible]	1650
[illegible]	853
[illegible]	375
	2878

STRAYED on Nov. 16th, one [illegible] mule, medium size, [illegible], [illegible] in order. A [illegible] offered for the mule. [illegible] Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 [illegible] of Stanton, Ala.

[illegible] Honeycutt went to Birmingham this morning.

Mr W. M. Adams was somewhat indisposed early part of this week.

[illegible] Collier, who was attending court, was taken sick on Tuesday, [illegible] to leave for his home in Birmingham, Wednesday morning.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. R. Ehrman is dangerously ill

Mrs. Middleton has been slightly [illegible] this week.

Dr Johnson, Sr., and Miss Roberta Johnson have gone to New Orleans to spend the winter.

Mr. W. H. Foshee went to Birmingham Sunday.

With sorrow we announce the death of Mrs. R. Ehrman this morning at her home in Birmingham, where she has been sick for some time. Mrs. Ehrman was a lady held in high esteem and respected in this county, and the bereaved husband and family have the deepest sympathy of all our citizens.

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. THE BANNER, Clanton

Married last Thursday at the residence of the bride's parents near Clear Creek, Rev. J. L. Busby and Miss Alla M. Thompson, Rev. J. R. Crowson performing the ceremony. We wish the happy couple much felicity.

WANTED 1000 cross ties. Apply to G. H. GREEN, Clanton.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. J. L. Busby and Miss Alla M. Thompson; Mr. Virgil W. Wilson and Miss Rosa B. Grant.

Mr. Virgil W. Wilson and Miss Rosa B. Grant were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last Sunday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R, T. Grant, near Coopers. Rev. Hardy Jones officiated. Long life and happiness is the wish of all their friends.

Mr. and Nrs. Norriss, of Mountain Creek and their daughter Mrs. Jones, were among the visitors to court this week.

MEALS 25 CENTS.

Court people can find accommodation at my store for meals at all hours during the day. All kinds of first class groceries on hand with fresh nuts, apples, candy, etc.

J. A. CULP, Clanton.

Dr. A. J. Massey is doing a good business extracting teeth by his painless process, judging from the crowd he has had this week He will be here next week until court adjourns; will then go to Bozeman, Verbena, Lily, Jemison and many other places where his customers are. Prompt payment is his motto. Be ready for him. He will continue his visits in Chilton more frequently. It will pay you to have him do your dental work

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

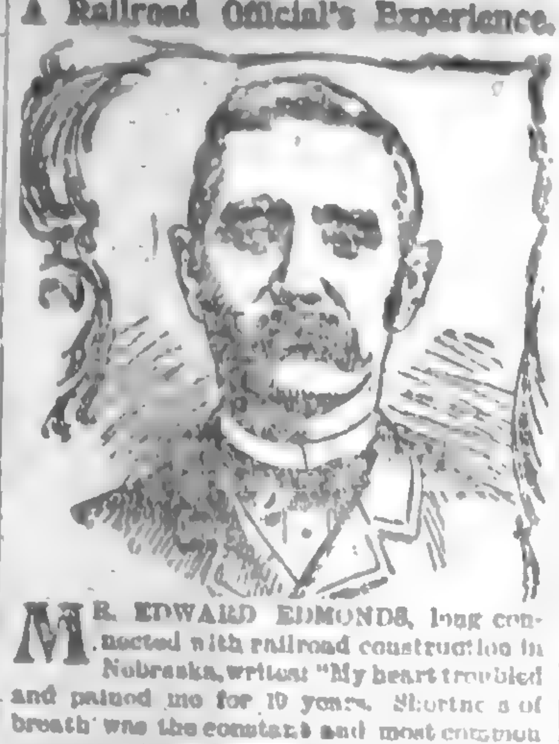
Program of Mulberry Baptist S. S. Convention to be held with Macedonia church, on Friday, November 27, 1896.

Prayer by Bro. G. W. Freeman. 10 a.m. Welcome address by Bro. S. E. Waldrup. Preaching at 11 a.m. by Bro. S. M. Adams.

Subjects for discussion—1. What is the best method of promoting interest in Sabbath-school work? discussed by Bro. J. E. Jones and Bro. L. B. Pounds. 2. What effect should a Sabbath-school have on a church and community? discussed by Bro. M. D. Langston, [illegible] H. Shaw and others. 3. What [illegible] duty of a church towards a Sabbath school? discussed by Bro. [illegible] M. Honeycutt, Z. J. Jones and others. Singing. 4. What is our motive in attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. A. [illegible] and Bro. David Smitherman and others. 5. Can we be better christians or enjoy any more religion by attending Sabbath-school? discussed by Bro. W. J. Fleming and James Neat. Mass-meeting, Sunday, 9 a.m., conducted by Bro. [illegible] Foshee. Preaching at 11 by Bro. R. M. Honeycutt. There will be song service conducted by Z. J. Jones.

Full Details Gladly Given.

A Railroad Official's Experience.



MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 10 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

P. O. Box 65, David City, Nebraska.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the General Assembly of Alabama at its next session, for the passage of an Act empowering Alfred Popwell of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell and convey the interest in lands in Chilton County, Alabama, of the heirs of John Popwell deceased, in the estate of Reuben Popwell and Benjamin Popwell, both deceased.

ALFRED POPWELL.

Clanton, Ala., November 5, 1896.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Jesse S. Martin, Sr., deceased. Probate Court, Chilton County Ala.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 27th day of October, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

R. H. Martin, Administrator,

By his attorneys Adams & Martin.

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1896, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 9th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of sw¼ sec 3 and w½ of sec 6 all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and ne¼ of sw¼ sec 10 and n ½ of nw¼, sw¼ of nw1-4 and nw1-4 of se1-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14, w½ of nw1-4, se1-4 of nw1-4 and se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 33, and se1-4 of se1-4 sec 29 all in t 22 r 14 and nw1-4 of se1-4 and sw1-4 of sw1-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK,

Admr etc, of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.

This 23 day of October, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING

SHAVING

SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS...

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

WATCH THIS SPACE

For the Announcements of

Dr. A. J. MASSEY

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Who will continue to make his periodical visits to Chilton and adjoining counties, and will publish the date he will be here in the BANNER.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon; while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of [illegible] package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

[illegible] ailments, caused by indispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, which Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840.

[illegible] HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILITY.—[illegible].—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEP[illegible].—LOW SPIRITS.—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS.—[illegible].—SOUR STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED [illegible].—[illegible] & EYES YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FL[illegible].—[illegible].—PAINS IN SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH.—[illegible] THE EYES.—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.—TORPID [illegible] SOFT & FLABBY.—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.—BILE COMING [illegible].—NERVOUS HEADACHES.—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.—WIND COLIC.—PILES, BY CURING CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASES.—[illegible] OF BLOOD IN HEAD.—NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.—[illegible] STOMACH AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR APPE[illegible].—DIMNESS OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY GETTING [illegible] SENSATIONS.—DESPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—NAUSEA [illegible] EATING.—VERTIGO.—YELLOW JAUNDICE.—DEFICIENCY OF [illegible].—FEMALE COMPLAINTS.—BAD COLDS.—BACKACHES SO COMMON TO [illegible].—FLATULENCY.—LOSS OF APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN JOINTS.—CHILLY [illegible] DOWN THE BACK.—LIMBS FEEL TOO HEAVY.—CRAMP COLIC.—[illegible].—BILIOUS FEVERS.—PALENESS.—WEAKNESS.—THINNESS.—[illegible] FOOD.—SUDDEN FLUSHES OF HEAT.—GENERAL DEBILITY.—FRETFULNESS OF TEETHING CHILDREN.—DYSPEPSIA.—NERVOUS DEPRESSION OF TIRED [illegible].—UNPLEASANT DREAMS.—SPITTING UP OF FOOD AFTER EATING.—DIARRHOEA [illegible] CHILDREN, BY REMOVING THE CAUSE.—GNAWING SENSATIONS IN STOMACH.—[illegible] & DARK RINGS UNDER THE EYES.—THAT RESTLESS "OUT OF SORTS" NOT SICK AND NOT WELL FEELING, SO COMMON WITH OVER-WORKED PEOPLE.—IT BUILDS UP WEAK & DEBILITATED MOTHERS AND FATHERS & PALE AND [illegible] CHILDREN, BY PERFECTLY REGULATING THE ACTION OF THE KIDNEYS, LIVER, [illegible] BOWELS, SO THAT ALL FOOD TAKEN IS NATURALLY ASSIMILATED.

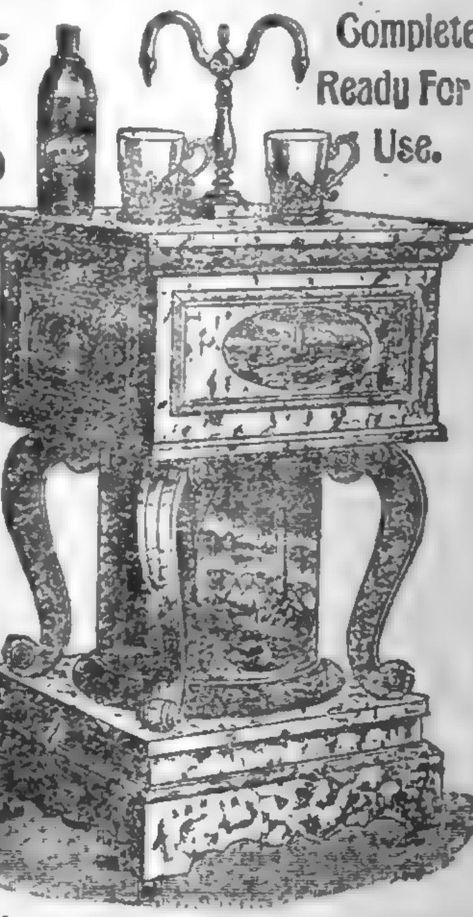
C. F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.



80 Years In Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

A BOON TO HUMANITY!

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

Greatest Discovery of 19th Century. Cures all troubles of the Head and Throat.

CATARRH, HEADACHE, NEURALGIA, LaGRIPPE, WILL CURE You. First Inhalation stops Sneezing, Snuffing Coughing, Headache. Continued use effects SURE CURE.

It has no equal for COLDS, Sore Throat Hay Fever, Bronchitis, La GRIPPE. The most Refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration.

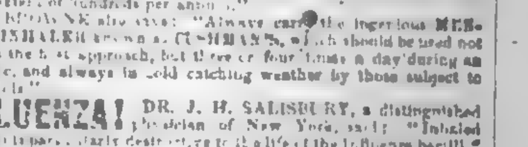
ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS EVERYWHERE.

J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. "The vapor of Menthol [illegible] cure Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathing, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER [illegible]."

DR. BROWNE also says: "Always carry the ingenious MENTHOL INHALER known as CUSHMAN'S, which should be used not only on the first approach, but three or four times a day during an epidemic, and always in cold catching weather by those subject to [illegible]."

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."

DR. S. S. BISHOP, Surgeon to the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, Chicago, says: "You need no other assurance of my good opinion of your Inhaler, when I say that I am constantly using and prescribing them for my patients."



Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. Price, 50c. at all Druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of [illegible]. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials. AGENTS WANTED. Address

Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Ind., or 324 Dearborn St., Chicago.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

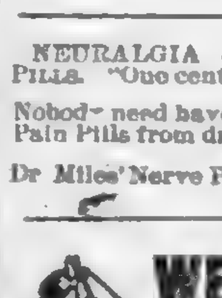
THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO,

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

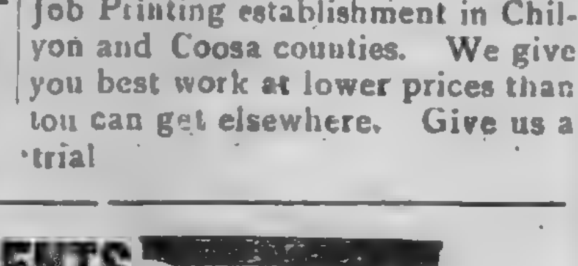
Dr Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS



No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness, Price $14.50. As good as sells for $20.

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 1[illegible] styles of Carriages, [illegible] styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $[illegible]. Spring Wagons $[illegible] to $[illegible]. Send for large Catalogue.



No. [illegible]—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Rolly Latham, deceased. Probate Court, Chilton county, Alabama.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of November, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, in said State, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

J. H. SHOULTS,

Administrator.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18597.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 23,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of Section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M. Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I. A. C. Smith, Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder at the court house door in Clanton Alabama, on MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1896.

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to-wit:

The sw1-4 of the se1-4 and all of the se 1-4 of the sw1-4 that lies east of Yellow Leaf Creek all in section 10 township 22 range 14 Chilton county, Alabama, containing sixty acres more or less.

A. C. SMITH,

Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville. Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

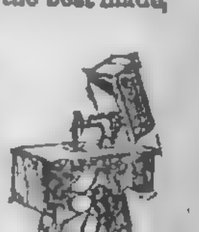
LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

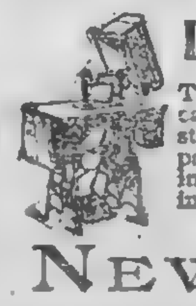
GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular



for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,

Clanton, Ala.

THE

REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would [illegible] the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, [illegible] than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, [illegible].

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "[illegible] abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c.; Trial (five months), $1.00; Year, $2.50.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

[illegible]

Softens the Hands.

Go and get a 25c box of Cushman's Menthol Balm and keep it in the house. It is the safest remedy and sure [illegible] for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Sores, or any skin eruptions. It is quick to relieve pain and inflammation. For Farmers cracked hands it is a wonderful cure. Largest box of ointment on the market.

Cured His Mother.

CARTHAGE, Mo., July 24, 1896.—Your Menthol Salve cured mother's hands. She has had trouble with her hands since I got her the box. My mother is happy and doing all her own work again. She was not able to do any work for forty [illegible] on account of her hands. Your Balm has cured them. I thank you very much. ROY [illegible].

It Acts Like a Charm.

SALEM, Ala., April 5, 1895.—I have used your Menthol Balm on some old bad sores, and on two or three cases of itch and other eruptions: the patients say it "acts like a charm." Please send four boxes Balm. I intend to encourage the use of your preparations because they do not sure enough "like a charm." D. W. FLOYD, M. D.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists. Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Indiana.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below, we have done more in [illegible] to enable the farmers of this country to [illegible] cost of the wire than all other [illegible] the United States [illegible] the total cost of the wire [illegible] who make and sell the fence [illegible]

[illegible] built strong, pig and chicken tight for the same money that will buy 1[illegible] rods of any good woven wire fence [illegible] allows you to [illegible] with which you can [illegible] styles of [illegible] or lawn fence [illegible] Illustrated Catalogue, telling [illegible] may save you many dollars. Send [illegible] address, Kitselman Bros., [illegible]

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Subscribe for the BANNER!

P. P. P.
Lippman's Great Remedy
Brings Help to All!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. W[illegible]DER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,

Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Gold Relief Monument.

"It is due you and a pleasure for me to recommend your Tetterine. Truly it is an infallible remedy and cure for tetter. My wife had been annoyed by same for about twelve years, and after using the Tetterine for five days it disappeared entirely, to her great relief. She is ready to sing your praise, and I am prepared to contribute my cold dollar to erecting a monument to your name."
Yours, etc., A. M. Haywood, Evelyn, Ga.

To J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga. 1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

Many a life has been spoiled by not knowing the difference between thrift and stinginess.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and sold by all druggists.

Every man feels the need of some agreeable person to grumble to.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

It has recently been ascertained that almanacs and calendars date back to the year 300 A. D.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is 100 per cent pure. Made of Borax. It floats. Costs you same as poorer floating soap. Worth more. If all true you need it. Order one cake of your grocer, you'll want a box next.

What a blessed thing it is that even those of us who are reliable, don't have to prove all we say!

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

I could not get along without Piso's Cure for Consumption. It always cures.—Mrs. E. Moulton, Needham, Mass., Oct. 22, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25c. a bottle.

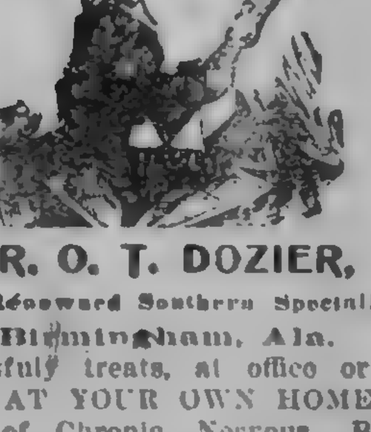
Ringing

Noises in the ears, sometimes a roaring; humming sound, or snapping like the report of a pistol, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also results from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, cure headache. 25c.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,
(The Renowned Southern Specialist.)
Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL AT YOUR OWN HOME, all forms of Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)
Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a specialist of nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and his uniform success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)
Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)
We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be a brother Odd Fellow that can be relied on to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)
* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His long record and approved abilities entitle him to the proud distinction of standing at "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)
As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician * * * He is a Georgian by birth, a high toned, cultured Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)
Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of education, skill and experience, a man of culture and high literary attainments and a gentleman respected by all who know him. He can be relied on in all matters pertaining to his profession.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)
His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address
DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, Birmingham, Ala.

RODS For tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

WANTED—To buy old U. S. and Confederate cancelled stamps on original envelopes. Send stamp for reply. to E. S. Jones, Tullahoma, Tenn.

Am. N. U. No. 48. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

THE FARMER'S THANKSGIVING

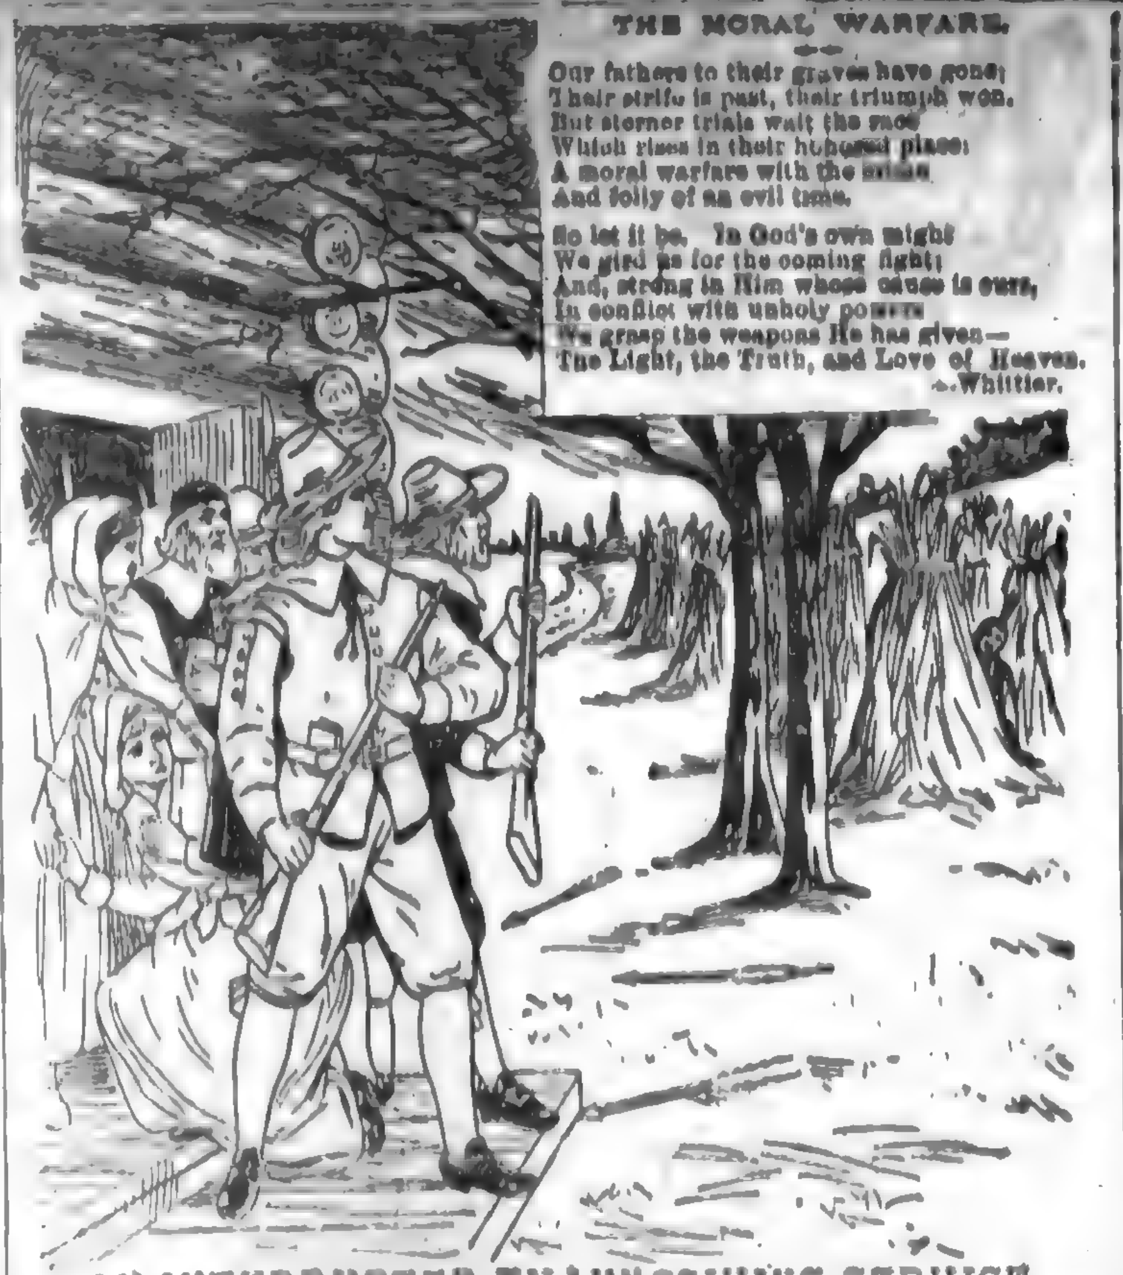
The earth is brown, and skies are gray,
And the windy woods are bare,
And the first white flakes of the coming snow
Are afloat in the frosty air;
But the sparks fly up from the hickory log
On the homestead's broad stone hearth,
And the windows shake, and the rafters ring,
To the lads' and the lasses' mirth.

The farmer's face is furrowed and worn,
And his locks are thin and white;
But his hand is steady, his voice is clear,
And his eye is blue and bright,
As he turns to look at his sweet old wife,
Who sits in her gown of gray,
With the cobweb 'kerchief, and creamy frills
She wore on her wedding day.

He bows his head to the laden board,
And the guests they are silent all.
'Thanksgiving, Lord, for the sun and rain,
And the fruit on the orchard wall,
For the silver wheat, and the golden corn,
And the crown of a peaceful life,
The greatest blessing that Thou canst give
A true and a loving wife!"

This white-haired lover he bends to kiss
Her hand in its frill of lace,
And the faded rose on her wrinkled cheek,
With a proud and a courtly grace;
And the snowflakes click on the window-pane,
And the rafters ring above,
And the angels sing at the gates of God
The words of the farmer's love.

—Minnie Irving.



AN INTERRUPTED THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

THE MORAL WARFARE.

Our fathers to their graves have gone;
Their strife is past, their triumph won.
But sterner trials wait the race
Which rises in their honored place:
A moral warfare with the crime
And folly of an evil time.

So let it be. In God's own might
We gird us for the coming fight;
And, strong in Him whose cause is ours,
In conflict with unholy powers
We grasp the weapons He has given—
The Light, the Truth, and Love of Heaven.

—Whittier.

HOME AGAIN.

A THANKSGIVING STORY.

RATHER a very singular name, Jane, such a very singular name. Oh, if it should be!"

The words were a wail, in accents of such utter misery, that the strong woman who heard them felt her eyes grow misty. She bent over the lounge where the speaker, a silver-haired old lady, helpless for years with paralysis, was lifting beseeching eyes to her face.

"Don't take on, so, deary," she said, soothingly. "There's many one, the more's the pity, driven to suicide by hunger and cold. Why should this one be—"

Then she choked. Her nursling, her baby, the child she worshiped, drived by hunger and cold to suicide.

"But, Jane," the invalid persisted, "it is such a strange name. See," and she pointed to one sentence in the paper before her; "the only clue to the identity of the would-be suicide is a wedding ring marked 'John to Delphine.'"

"I see," said the nurse, "but—but—"

And again the wished-for words of comfort failed her. The paragraph was no uncommon one, merely the record of a woman's attempt at self-destruction. She had thrown herself off a bridge, clasping a babe close in her arms, and had been rescued and taken, quite unconscious, to a hospital. Her dress was described and the inscription on the ring given; that was all.

But the paralyzed woman reading the newspaper was journeying over memory's plain, back—back twenty-five years, when a baby lay upon her breast, the only one God ever gave her. A blue eyed babe, nursed tenderly, reared in every luxury, petted, indulged for twenty long years, the idol of two loving hearts. Then—oh, the bitter rock on the plain—one day this child of so much love left her home to follow the fortune of a man who was so unfit for the care of her sweet girlhood, that her father had forbidden him to enter the house where his child dwelt.

The lovers—if the very name is not a desecration, where on one side was mercenary calculations, on the other blind worship—met at the house of friends and planned an elopement.

When Delphine was gone, when no doubt of her treachery to her parents remained, her father, a stern, hot-tempered man, cursed her, and forbade her name to be mentioned in his house. And her mother, even then helpless, shivered and moaned, and silently prayed for the child whose deceit could not destroy her mother's love.

And for five years no line came to tell them of repentance, no prayer for pardon.

One letter from John Hollis, the man who had so basely stolen a young, trusting girl from a happy home to follow his evil fortunes, the father answered, crushing forever the hope of fortune that had prompted the villain.

Such a letter as he read, grinding his teeth with impotent rage, effectually prevented a second demand upon his father-in-law's purse, and Delphine knew in that hour what misery lay before her.

But she made no appeal.

The future she had deliberately chosen she accepted as her punishment, seeing at last how wickedly she had requited the love of years.

"Mrs. Bernard, dear," Jane said, softly, caressing the haggard face, at last buried in the pillows of the lounge, "don't—don't take on so."

"If I only knew, if I only knew," the mother moaned; "and, oh, Jane! it is Thanksgiving Day. How can I pray thankfully if my darling lies to-day in a hospital dying—by her own act? Jane, I must see Mr. Bernard."

Jane went willingly upon this errand, but returned slowly.

"Mr. Bernard has gone out, ma'am."

"Gone out? Why, he never goes till after 10."

Down in the cosy library, where James Bernard enjoyed the leisure well earned by years of mercantile toil, the morning's newspaper had been opened deliberately, the money article scanned, the foreign news enjoyed, and the reader was idly looking over other columns, when a sentence seemed to spring out of the page before him, so clearly it stood defined against the mass of print.

"The only clew to the identity of the would-be suicide is a wedding ring, marked 'John to Delphine.'"

Eagerly every line of the tragedy was read, the sweat standing in great beads upon James Bernard's face.

"Shabby weeds!" he muttered, "a widow, starving!"

Then in his heart arose a great cry, breaking through the stern repression of years.

"Delphine, my girl, my treasure!"

He could read no more. Only that one pitiful record could he see upon the whole broad printed sheet, and the yearning bitterness of his heart would not be stilled.

"I must be sure," he thought, at length. "I hope Delia will not see this. Shall I see? No, my face would betray me. I will not see her until I can tell her it is not our child, or—"

What? He would consider no further, but put on his overcoat and hat, and hurried out into the bleak November air. It was Thanksgiving Day, and the city wore its holiday air.

Stores were closed, and groups were going to and fro with the expression expected pleasure brings upon faces worn with the world's cares.

The butchers' carts rattled about noisily and hurriedly, that turkeys might be delivered in time to secure longer holiday for the carriers. Children with "going to grandma's" legibly printed on their faces skipped lightly over the cold pavements.

Nobody noticed the handsomely dressed old man who strode rapidly in the direction of the city hospital, forgetting carriages, horse cars, everything but the necessity of satisfying that dreadful doubt in his heart.

Now he sickened for fear this desperate wretch was his child; now he prayed it might be, that he could claim her for his own again.

"Here—yes, sir," said the physician, in answer to his inquiries; "living? oh, yes, she'll get over it; needs food as much as anything. Can you see her? Certainly—Sarah," calling a nurse, "take this gentleman to 39—pauper ward."

"39—pauper," lay upon a cot that was scrupulously clean, perfectly comfortable, yet sent a chill to James Bernard's heart.

Her babe, a lovely boy of some six months, pale, but with large, dark eyes full of intelligence, was seated beside her, and the mother's eyes rested upon his face mournfully, but without any delirious fire.

James Bernard staggered back a little, and the nurse whispered:

"She's quite herself this morning, though she will tell us nothing of herself. Shall I speak to her?"

"No, I—I will speak to her."

The voice was hoarse, choked, but the woman upon the bed heard it, and looked up.

Many a cry of anguish, of dying agony, of piteous appeal had rung through that "pauper ward," but never one of more passionate entreaty than the one word, "Father!" that burst from the lips of the woman snatched from death by a policeman's rough grasp not twenty-four hours before.

The morning was dragging wearily along in the room where every luxury wealth could command was heaped about Mrs. Bernard's invalid lounge. Trembling with excitement, mingled hope and fear, the mother watched the hands of the clock travel slowly over the face. Again and again Jane had gone to the library, only to return to make the same report.

"He's not come in yet, ma'am."

It was past noon when the long strained patience gave way.

"Jane you must go to the hospital. I shall die in this agony of doubt. You can see if—if—this is a stranger, and—if not—oh, Jane, surely—surely her father will forgive her now."

As if in answer to the cry James Bernard at this moment entered the room. Upon his face there was a strange solemnity, and not seeming to see the quivering lips, the imploring eyes lifted to his face, he kissed his wife tenderly.

"Delia," he said, gently, "did you read the newspaper this morning?"

"Yes, James—I—"

"You saw, perhaps, a paragraph describing the attempted suicide of a woman—named—"

"Delphine! James, you read it? James—James you will see if it can be our child. James, you will forgive her now!"

And the poor, helpless figure writhed as if the poor mother would have thrown herself at her husband's feet.

"You thought—too," he said huskily.

"Yes, yes, Jane was going to go, but now you will go. You will see if our darling, our Delphine, has been driven to such mad misery as to try and take the life we cherished so tenderly. James, you will go?"

"Delia, you must try to be calm," cried her husband, frightened at the terrible agitation, so much more pitiful from her inability to move, except above her waist. It was awful to see the white, thin fingers twisting and working, the pale face so agonized. Literally afraid to tell his tidings, James Bernard took the little figure in his arms.

"If you will be quiet, love," he said, "I will tell you good news."

She was quiet enough then, lying panting with exhaustion in her husband's arms.

"Then you know!" she gasped.

"I have been to the hospital."

"And it is not our Delphine?"

"Delia, it is our Delphine!"

"Oh, James—James!" and here the tears broke forth, and the invalid shook with sobs.

"Our Delphine, Delia."

"Dying?"

"Thank Heaven, no! She has had hours of unconsciousness, but is rational again, and she knew me. Her illness now is not dangerous, only the effect of—" with a choking sob: "Starvation!"

"Oh, James—James!"

"She can be nursed back to life."

"There?"

"Can you bear it, Delia? She is here!"

"And not with me? Oh, how can you keep her from her mother?"

In answer to the cry, James Bernard left the room, motioning Jane to follow him. Only a few moments later he returned, half supporting, half carrying, a weak, trembling woman, who sank, half fainting, into her mother's arms.

There was a long silence, broken only by the voice of Mrs. Bernard, speaking low, caressing words and murmurs in answer, faint and low, but full of tenderness.

Then Jane appeared, asking:

"Is there no welcome for my bonnie boy, the darling with grandpa's eyes?"

And a glad greeting followed the painful, yet joyful meeting between the parents and the long lost child.

It was a sad story Delphine Hollis told to sympathizing listeners; but the miseries, the trials of the unloved wife were softened in the widow's recital, and over the dead was spread a mantle of gentle charity and forgiveness.

"Dinner, Mrs. Bernard," Jane said, at last, "and Thanksgiving."

And while she set the invalid's table, James Bernard escorted Delphine to the dining room to preside over the bountiful repast provided there, with a heart full of most sincere and fervent thanksgiving.

The Spirit of the Home-Coming.

There are many people who regard a Thanksgiving Day as a meaningless day, and its celebration once a year a waste of time and a mockery. It might have been, they go on to say, a day of reality to those who in early colonial times had hostile tribes, inclement weather and threatened starvation to fight, and whose natures were wrought upon to all their depths of fear and gratitude. But for us in these days of no National crises, in these days of money getting and materialism, a Thanksgiving Day means only a day in which, oftener than not, observances are a bore.

Yet for all that, and in spite of what the croakers say, year after year in every home in town and country some glad preparation for it is made. Feasts are prepared. Welcome stands ready. To the returning wanderer arms are outstretched; to the homeless wayfarer the hand is extended. Cost of labor and pain of preparation are forgotten in the joy of reunion. All the year that has gone has been with many but as vista looking toward it. For them all the year to follow shines as a new pathway leading to the same bright end.—Harper's Bazar.

A Soulless Sceptic.

"I'm tired," remarked the spectacular scoffer, "of reading these stories about the wayward son or the disowned daughter who invariably come back on Thanksgiving Day or Christmas, to be received into the bosom of the family."

"Why," replied his wife, "how hard hearted you are! Surely you must be touched by their repentence."

"Not as much as I'd like to be. I'd be more impressed if they'd select some day for coming back home when they aren't dead sure the family is going to have roast turkey for dinner."

Every Day.

Every day is a day of thanksgiving for Christians. They do not wait until the crops have been gathered before returning thanks, for they are thankful for every day's blessings. Still it is commendable custom for a Nation to officially recognize man's dependence, and to ask its people to unite in a common thanksgiving.

The late Justice Bowen's definition of a search for equity was "a blind man looking in a dark room for a black hat that isn't there."

A funny way to make money—Write jokes.

A SCATHING REBUKE

Administered by Hon. Thos. E. Watson to Chairman Butler.

WAS AN OPEN LETTER

And a Hot, Pointed Arraignment of the Populist Leader.—Accuses Butler of Having Betrayed Him.—"In This Campaign You Have Bargained with Republicans and Democrats."

Atlanta, Ga.—The Constitution prints the following: Tom Watson has been rubbing more red pepper into the wounds of Senator Marion Butler. In his paper, out Wednesday, he publishes his answer to Butler, and it is without any appearance of conservatism. In his reply Mr. Watson says, in part:

"You did not dare to publish it (the first letter) because you felt its arraignment of you to be unanswerable. Mr. Washburn's telegram (to which I was no party) did not control you then in not publishing the letter any more than they control you now in suppressing it. The truth is, Senator, you feel yourself to be a deeply guilty man—as, indeed, you are. Instead of managing this great campaign in a spirit of broad patriotism and courageous loyalty to your nominee and your party, you have allowed your personal ill-will toward me to divert you into a tortuous, narrow, jealous and disloyal policy, which has shipwrecked the People's party and brought the success of Mr. Bryan to a crisis of extreme peril.

"You now plead with me to pull you out of the hole. I shall do nothing of the kind. You pecked your way into it, you must peck your way out.

"Senator, you were selected as Chairman to help me with this campaign. You were expected to act with me and for me. You have not done so. You have acted without me, and you have acted against me. In nothing have you consulted me. At no time have you told me of your plans or your purposes.

"In all this you may be right, and I may be wrong. The Committee called off at one side by you at Chicago has sustained you and censured me. Therefore, my position is most painful. The Bryan-Sewall Committee is against me, and the Bryan-Watson Committee is against me.

"I stand alone.

"But, Senator, I was a Populist while you were still camping with the Democrats, and I have always been a middle-of-the-road Populist, while you never have been. A fusionist you have always been, and you bargain with the Republicans in one campaign and with the Democrats in the next. In this campaign you have bargained with both Republicans and Democrats.

"God only knows which bargain you intended to keep.

"As for me, I turn from you and appeal to the real, true-hearted Populists. If I have sinned against principle and right in demanding that our party and its nominees and its creed be represented by the Democrats who have come to us for help—then I want the party to say so, and I will bow to its decree.

"But you do not recognize your right to put me under the heels of the Democratic tricksters and bosses, and I shall continue to claim the privilege of speaking and writing for the national nominees of the People's party.

"I do not believe that the time has yet come when the Popusits willl say it is treason to be loyal to the Populist ticket. It is unnecessary for me to say that my letter of acceptance must stand just as it is written.

Yours truly,
THOMAS E. WATSON.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE, TROY, ALA.

The term examinations are in progress at the State Normal College and all are hopeful as to the outcome. Full 300 have enrolled thus far for attendance work, and about the same on the "Extension Course," and these 600 young people and teachers in the harness are pressing on to better and better attainments for their own sakes and that of the children they are preparing to teach in the Alabama schools. Every one of these who secures the requisite skill will secure recognition in the ranks of the profession, for the demand for trained teachers is now beyond the supply, President Eldridge informs us.

December 1 is the opening of the Winter Term, and many new students are expected then. Some of the Senatorial and Representative Scholarships are yet open to competition, and information about these may be had by calling on the Senator or Representative of your county, or by writing direct to the President of the College, at Troy, Ala. Applications should be made at once.

KILLED BY A FLYER.

Three Young People Hurled to Instantaneous Death.

Concord, Ky.—While the Misses Lula and Lizzie Lind, daughters of the proprietor of the Lind Hotel, in this city, and Al Pillock, a young attorney, were returning home in a buggy from a party some miles west of town, at 11:20 Thursday night, "flyer" No. 4, on the Chesapeake and Ohio road, struck the buggy at the First street crossing, hurling the three occupants some fifty feet in the air and killing them almost instantly. The train was going about fifty miles an hour, and as the depot was between them and the train, it is supposed that they did not hear it coming.

INTO A CIRCUS TRAIN.

Spartanburg, S. C.—As Forepaugh & Sells Brothers' Circus was being put on a train early Saturday morning a loaded coal car on the side track at a coal chute broke loose and ran a mile and a half, smashing two circus cars, injuring a pair of hippopotami, valued at $75,000 each. A big elephant was hurt, and the Cleopatra car was demolished. The damage is estimated at half a million dollars, and the Southern Railway will be sued by the circus.

AYER'S ARGUMENT.

If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Potash

is a necessary and important ingredient of complete fertilizers. Crops of all kinds require a properly balanced manure. The best contain a high percentage of Potash.

Fertilizers

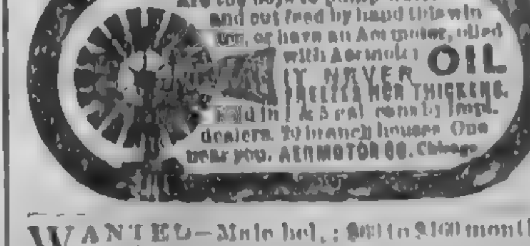
All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.



Are the boys to pump water and cut feed by hand this winter, or have an Aermotor, oiled with Aermotor OIL [illegible] dealers. 20 branch houses. One near you. AERMOTOR CO., Chicago.

WANTED—Male help; $60 to $100 monthly and expenses; experience unnecessary. Attractive holiday goods free to customers. Folk Ritchie Cigar Co., St. Louis.

Young Ladies' College.
IN THE VIRGINIA MOUNTAINS.
[illegible]
TERMS UNUSUALLY LOW.
For tuition, board, washing, fuel and light, for half session, $[illegible]
Catalogue sent free.
J. I. MILLER, D. D., President.
[illegible]

FOR SALE. [illegible]

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs, Cattle and Horses Die? [illegible] VETERINARY MEDICINE CO., Nashville.

WE PAY SALARY to men and women everywhere [illegible] day or evening, at their homes [illegible] STANDARD CO., 142 W. 23d St., N. Y.

FREE. New catalogue of creamery and dairy supplies, farm implements. Write for one. Mention this paper. [illegible]

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for package and let it speak for itself. [illegible]

MAMMOTH BRONZE TURKEYS, [illegible] and their eggs, in season. Mrs. W. H. MANN, [illegible]

PATENTS 21 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. [illegible]

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Celebrating in 1897 its seventy-first birthday, The Companion offers its readers many exceptionally brilliant features. The two hemispheres have been explored in search of attractive matter.

MRS. BURTON HARRISON,
ONE OF THE POPULAR WRITERS FOR 1897.

The Youth's Companion

For the Whole Family.

In addition to twenty five staff writers fully two hundred of the most famous men and women of both the Old and the New World, including the most popular writers of fiction and some of the most eminent statesmen, scientists, travellers and musicians, are contributors to The Companion.

A delightful supply of fascinating Stories, Adventures, Serial Stories, Humorous and Travel Sketches, etc., are announced for the Volume for 1897. The timely Editorials, the "Current Events," the "Current Topics" and "Nature and Science" Departments give much valuable information every week. Send for Full Prospectus.

FREE
to Jan. 1, 1897, with Beautiful Calendar.

As a special offer The Youth's Companion will be sent free, for the remainder of the year 1896, to all new subscribers. One of the most beautiful Calendars issued this year will also be given to each new subscriber. It is made up of Four Charming Pictures in color, beautifully executed. Its size is 10 by 24 inches. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This Calendar is published exclusively by The Youth's Companion and could not be sold in Art Stores for less than one dollar.

Distinguished Writers
IAN MACLAREN.
RUDYARD KIPLING.
HALL CAINE.
FRANK R. STOCKTON.
HAROLD FREDERIC.
MADAME LILLIAN NORDICA.
CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER.
STEPHEN CRANE.
HAMLIN GARLAND.
MAX O'RELL.
W. CLARK RUSSELL.
ALICE LONGFELLOW.
HON. THOMAS B. REED.
ANDREW CARNEGIE.
LIEUT. R. E. PEARY, U. S. N.
DR. CYRUS EDSON.
DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE.
DR. LYMAN ABBOTT.
And One Hundred Others.

700 Large Pages in Each Volume. 52 Weeks for $1.75.

12-Color Calendar FREE.

New Subscribers who will cut out this slip and send it at once with name and address and $1.75 (the subscription price) will receive:
FREE—The Youth's Companion every week from time subscription is received to January 1, 1897.
FREE—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Double Numbers;
FREE—The Companion 4-page Calendar for 1897. The most costly gift of its kind The Companion has ever offered.
And The Youth's Companion 52 Weeks, a full year, to January 1, 1898.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Mass.

Important Notice!

TRADE-MARK.

The only genuine "Baker's Chocolate," celebrated for more than a century as a delicious, nutritious, and flesh-forming beverage, is put up in Blue Wrappers and Yellow Labels. Be sure that the Yellow Label and our Trade-Mark are on every package.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

GOOD LOOKS & PAIN

When you see a "good-looking" woman, you nearly always see a healthy woman. Beauty is really health. It is the attractiveness of face and form that comes naturally when weakness and pain are absent. Sickness and pain drive attractiveness away.

It is difficult to make women believe their tortures can be cured at home. The popular belief is that they must suffer on and on—or go to a physician, and reveal secrets that he ought not to know.

Nine-tenths of women's troubles can be cured without physician's aid.

McELREE'S WINE of CARDUI

is a remedy that stops the drain on the system. It stops the pains that drag and pull at the organs of womanhood. It makes them strong and well. It makes them attractive by making them healthy. Price $1 per bottle.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1896. NO. 6.

WHAT WILL WE DO?

TOM WATSON SOLILOQUIZES OVER THE SITUATION.

"As Legatees of the Patriots of the Past, and Trustees for the Present and Future, Let Us Stand Firm."

People's party paper: I sit here by a warm hearth, surrounded by the comforts of home—a citizen secure in many inestimable rights.

How did I get them? Scholars conceived them, poets sang them, orators spoke them, warriors fought for them, martyrs died for them—and at length the statesman wrote them into laws.

I can worship God as I choose—not as some other man chooses—and there is no wheel to break me in, as there used to be, if my conscience varies from the king's.

I can vote as I please, and claim a voice in the making of laws and the choosing of rulers, and there is no block to behead me on—as there used to be for those who could see no "divine right" in the one-man power.

I can put forth the strength of my hand in any field of industry, and whatsoever I earn is mine, mine—and is not carted up to an embattled castle to feed some lazy lout of a robber who calls himself my feudal chief.

I can think anything that comes into my head, and, having thought it, can speak it—nay, speak it vociferously to any assemblage of human brethren who choose to hear; and I can attack the government and everybody connected with it for sins of omission and commission, without the slightest fear of being hanged for treason, or of having the dragoons disperse the meeting, or of being shut up in prison as a riotous and seditious person—all of which happenings would have occurred to me a few generations ago, unless perchance, I had turned my tongue to the chant of the priest and the flatteries of the king.

It has not been long since it was a crime to talk of the rights of the common people! a crime to assemble and discuss grievances; a crime to say that the governed should have voice in the government; a crime to claim liberty of speech and of conscience.

When I think of the awful punishments wreaked upon those who dared to denounce wrongs in the olden days, when nearly everything was wrong, I seek in vain for words to express my profound admiration for the courage of those who gave their lives to the Cause of the Right!

No such heroism has ever been shown on fields of battle as has been shown by the martyrs of civil liberty. The frown of kings could not silence them, nor the curses of Popes turn them. Prisons could not quench their fires, nor could the rack break aught but their bones. As they marched to the block, they stepped lightly—as pioneers leading the free of a great future. As they mounted the scaffold, they rose, step by step, proudly, like conquerors leading men upward and onward.

Their names are lost—nearly all of them—but here in my quiet home I sit, the legatee of their heroic work.

I lay my hand on the code of my country, and every great leading law in it has cost some brave man his life. I am guarded round about with guarantees and safe-guards—all consecrated with the blood of human sacrifice.

And do I owe nothing to anybody for all this?

Am I to nurse the slippered foot, by my own fireside, in selfish ease, and never stir forth to inquire how fares it with my brother?

Am I to be deaf to the cry of human suffering, blind to the havoc wrought by bad laws, cold-hearted to the plea of the helpless weak against the tyranny of the oppressive strong?

Am I to bask in the blessings brought me by the heroes of the past, and care nought for the miseries that may come upon the children who follow us?

God forbid!

No man holds his life for himself alone, but holds its splendid gifts as trustee—a trustee who must come to an account, some day, with the Most High.

Shall I be cast down because our efforts seem to result in so little? Shall I mope and fret because the world decides against us at the ballot box?

Not unless history shows me that majorities are always right, and ballot boxes infallible.

The man who strives merely to run with the biggest crowd is at best a sorry creature. The man who strives to be right, and to do right, is after all the only citizen who can rest under the infinite comfort of an approving conscience.

As legatees of the patriots of the past and trustees for the present and future, let us stand firm in defense of the right. Let us preach its gospel to whosoever will hear. And, as a mere matter of honesty and patriotic duty, let us speak as we believe, vote as we speak, and hold aloft, always, the higher and better ideals to which the human race must ever strive if it would move onward and upward.

A Sensible Comparison.

If the postoffices were under corporate control, as the railroads are, and discriminated against certain places or interests in favor of others as the railroads do, many enterprises which now flourish, would be crushed. If the railroads were owned by the government, as the postal service is, and run in the interest of all the people without discrimination, many enterprises which now cannot exist, would spring up and flourish. See?—Daily Tribune.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

What the People Are Thinking, Saying and Doing.

Some of our populist papers who fought the idea before the election, in the early part of the campaign, are now declaring for a four-years' campaign on the issue of free silver alone. We hope they will think better of it when "the smoke of battle clears away" and they get cooled down. In our humble opinion it is a mistake to make even the currency question in its entirety the sole issue. Other questions of almost equal import are pressing for settlement. It is by pressing these that we strengthen our lines. If our issues are practical and desirable, an assortment will not weaken us. While the logic of the situation may make the money question paramount with free silver at the front, we must carry with us other issues to strengthen our position. We have tried a battle on a single issue. We have lost. Now let us take up the other important and necessary reforms and press them forward. There is much that is humiliating in the oft repeated charge that Hanna is responsible for republican success and defeat of free silver. If this be true, then surely American citizenship is at a discount. If it is not true; the cause of financial reform is weakened by making the charge. We are loath to believe that one man owns and controls a majority of citizens in this country. It must be remembered that Mark Hanna had behind him the brains of some of the shrewdest business men in the country. He had unlimited means that were contributed by corporations and wealthy individuals. He was supplanted by shrewd men and skilful politicians at every point. It was all this aggregated force that defeated the cause of free silver. It is true that Hanna was both an unscrupulous and shrewd manager, but without such strong support as he had defeat for the republicans would have been overwhelming. No one man possesses the power over the people that Mark Hanna is said to have, and we but belittle our own manhood when several millions of us admit that we were outdone by one man.

* * *

At the National Farmers' (?) congress recently held at Indianapolis, Ind., ex-President Harrison delivered a lengthy address. He spoke of the custom of men of a particular avocation associating themselves together with commendation.

"The times are full of such associations," he said, "and I think they should be encouraged." General Harrison said; "Don't fight as one that beateth the air. I have no patience whatever with those people who are always fighting the air. If you have something to antagonize, out with it; specify it, make your attack directly, it must be so if it is to be effective. If there are abuses of any kind in legislation or in the business of the country, let us fix the public eye upon them until we have exposed the evils and then we can trust the country to make it right. It is mischievous to denounce classes, and this thing and that; and if there are trusts, let us know it, and bring legislation to bear upon them and court decrees to bear upon them and then we have accomplished something."

The farmers have not been backward in their demands for the past ten or twenty years, but the only response they seem to get is the charge that they are repudiators and anarchists. What the farmers must do is to emphasize their demands at the ballot box.

* * *

During his lifetime Mr. Windom, twice secretary of the treasury, used the following well chosen words regarding railroads, and which apply to other certain corporate powers: "The channels of thought (telegraph and telephone) and the channels of commerce thus owned and controlled by a few men, what is to restrain corporate power, or to fix a limit to its exactions upon the people? What is there to hinder these men from depressing or inflating the value of all kinds of property to suit their caprice or avarice, and thereby gathering into their own coffers the wealth of the nation? Where is the limit to such a power as this? What shall be said of the spirit of a free people who will submit without protest to be thus bound hand and foot?"

The position taken by the populists on this subject is the most impregnable of all their platform. It should be agitated on every occasion. The people should be told that it is no new and untried experiment, but one that has been successfully demonstrated by three-fourths of the civilized nations of the earth. Let the question of public ownership be given the prominence its merit deserves and our lines will be much strengthened in the next four years.

* * *

Secretary Pound Sterling Morton has opened his mouth again. In a recent interview he said:

"The democratic party is not dead; it still lives. Its principles are mighty and must prevail. And four years hence, beneath the banner hung to the breeze in Indianapolis it will march forth reunited and rejuvenated to victory. Dead? Why, it was never so much alive as today. The life of the party is co-existent with its principles. The principles of the democratic party are truth itself, and, therefore, eternal. Those principles, and most especially the party's position on the money question, were never better proclaimed than in the platform adopted by the Indianapolis convention."

Morton reminds me of the Irishman's turtle that was walking around after its head was cut off; "dead, but don't know it." Morton thinks the yellow-hammer ends the democratic party, when as a matter of fact that is only the back-yard end of the republican party. The other end is the largest but it hasn't got political sense enough at its head to pound sand in a rat hole.

* * *

There is some consolation, however, in the knowledge which this unwilling dispenser of garden seeds imparts to the country. He says: "We don't want another long agitation over the tariff. The present bill is all right. We have enough revenue for the legitimate needs of the government." Then he adds: "The only thing necessary is not more revenue but less expense. Cut down our expenses to meet our income." That is the best thing Morton ever said. Every sane man who knows anything about the subject knows that the expenses of government are much greater than is necessary. In the old days of Jefferson it cost the people about 60 cents each per annum to be "governed," and they were "governed" better than they are now for about $7 per head per annum. The secretary thinks that both the tariff and currency questions should be taken out of politics and given to a commission to settle. The danger of such a course would be in getting a commission of such men as Morton. Continuing his interview he declared himself certain that harmony would be restored between the two factions of the democratic party.

* * *

The Arkansas Democrat sizes up the situation in pretty good shape in the following spirited editorial:

"The next twelve months might be spent very profitably by the several varieties of democrats in getting together. That the several factions of the party are now wide apart, and that a great deal of friction exists, is not to be doubted. Let us see, in the first place, how many kinds of democrats—all claiming with great earnestness that they are the best democrats, and the only democrats, we find after the wreck. First, there are the democrats who voted for McKinley—a very large number. Second, there are the democrats who voted for Palmer and Buckner—a small number. Third, the democrats who took to the woods—a very considerable number. Fourth, the democrats who voted for Bryan but who would not swallow Watson; and fifth, the democrats who voted for Bryan with or without Watson. It is easy enough to revile each other and call hard names, but if we are ever to have a democratic party again, the thing to do is to get the warring factions together on some common ground. We shall never be reconciled or harmonized so long as we go on accusing each other of disloyalty and treachery. We can never present a formidable front to our ancient enemy while we are split up into hostile and warring factions. The need of the hour is cool judgment, good temper and a sincere desire for a return to old-time democratic principles. Certain it is that abuse of each other, crimination and recrimination, will not pave the way to success in the future. In its long career the democratic party has had many dangers and perils to contend with, but there was never a time when wise and conservative counsel was more in demand than the present. The very existence of the party depends upon it.

* * *

New Zealand is becoming an interesting study for people who desire the largest liberties consistent with the public good.

It is of interest to note how that colony taxes its citizens, for if there is one thing above another we need to discover in the United States, it is a system of taxation which will work out with absolute justice to every member of the commonwealth. The article makes clear the extent to which New Zealand has carried progressive taxation. The income tax is levied only on incomes exceeding $1,500 a year. Between that sum and $6,500 the tax is 5 per cent. On larger incomes it is 10 per cent. The land tax, also, is not levied upon persons of small means. Persons owning less than $2,500 worth of bare land are exempt from the tax, which rises as high as 1¼ per cent on holdings worth more than $1,000,000. In the taxation of owners of mortgaged lands, the amount of the mortgage is deducted, and the tax upon it is assessed to the owner of the mortgage. For the further relief of mortgagors from their hardships during recent years, the government lends money on farms, up to three-fifths of their value, at 5 per cent. The farmers must pay 6, but 1 per cent goes to the extinguishment of the debt. The average rate of interest on American farm mortgages is 7½ per cent.

Here is an example of farm loans that the government of the United States might do well to imitate. Some of our states already loan their school funds on real estate, which is to all intents and purposes a government loan on real estate. The New Zealand system of taxation, also presents an example worthy of imitation. It follows and is founded upon a well known and generally accepted law of nature that the strongest shall bear the greatest burden. Mankind recognize this in lower animals, but in this country our system of taxation places the greatest burdens upon the poor.

W. S. MORGAN.

A Goldite Hit Hard.

A silverite and a goldite were on the street the other day and a Review reporter was just opposite them. "I am surprised, colonel, to see a man of your sense advocating free silver. What on earth can you be thinking about?" remarked the goldbug. "Well, it is just this: If we have free silver you can pay your debts, and that is one reason I am interested in having free silver." A physician and a camphor bottle were called in.—Reidsville Review.

$500,000,000 CAPITAL.

GROVER WILL HAVE IT TO START A BANK.

He Will Endeavor to Control the Finances of the United States—Would Surely Bring a Revolution with Winchesters Instead of Ballots.

It is given out now through the Associated Press, the monopoly mouthpiece, that Cleveland is not to imitate General Grant in a trip around the world, but no reason is given to the public for the "King's change of mind." Accidentally, sound money has come in possession of the real reason.

He is going to start a national bank in New York city as soon as he leaves the White House next March, at least our Washington correspondent so learned.

It seems that someone, high in authority in Secretary Carlisle's office, told a friend so, confidentially, in speaking about his future plans, and the conversation was overheard by our correspondent's informant, a very reliable person. This official is to have an important post in "the greatest banking institution in the world"—it will probably be called the First National Bank of North America. Rothschilds own South America completely.

"Grover has become ambitious," says this friend, "since he has amassed several millions so easily, to become the 'richest man in the world,' and he is devoting all his energies and the advantages of the high office he holds, to make a foundation for his bank that will make it 'firm as the Rock of Gibraltar.'" He proposes to out-do Nicholas Biddle's United States bank scheme, and so be able to corner the people, and be the real ruler of the United States by being president of the bank that will have its powers to block the wheels of government whenever it chooses—that is, if the election is not so close as to give a basis to cry "fraud" and hold on where he is.

The capital stock of this bank is to be $500,000,000, based on United States bonds, $262,000,000 of which he has already issued himself to Pierpont Morgan and others in the deal. The remainder he will issue between election day and the 4th of next March, if the people will stand it; if not, McKinley is to issue them—Mark Hanna and John Sherman, no doubt, having agreed to do this in consideration of Grover using his influence to create the Palmer-Buckner ticket to aid in McKinley's election.

This bank is to be a competitor of the banks of England and France, and old Rothschild himself—the old Boss Jew's American adepts are discounting him at his own game of "hog." Pierpont Morgan, Benedict, Whitney and Stetson are to be fellow directors. It is believed that Dave Hill has eyes upon the attorneyship of the bank so fixed that he doesn't take any interest in the present election, but Carlisle is slated as head legal adviser. Probably Nicholas Biddle's bank that Jackson squelched out will appear in history as the smallest satelite in the heavens to the sun in comparison to Grover's colossal scheme. It will be the government, and McKinley, if elected, will be simply a subaltern to Grover the Great.

Such will be the tremendous power of the gold standard if Bryan is beaten.

THE GOLD BUGS

Will Have a Hard Time Redeeming Their Pledges.

The goldbugs will now have a hard time redeeming their pledges. All kinds of rank breaks were made to hold weak minded voters into line, and already we hear mutterings of disappointed expectations. Men who were promised big jobs at big wages immediately after McKinley's election are beginning to look up the prospects and are finding out that they have been hoodooed. The next day after McKinley was elected the packing house employes in Chicago went on a strike because they were not given the usual winter raise in wages. The simple election of McKinley was to disperse all indications of hard times and give everybody work at much higher wages than ever before heard of, but the Chicago packing houses refuse now to pay as much wages as they did last year during the panic. The silver forces told the laboring classes they would have to work for less wages under a continued gold standard and now they are getting a taste of it already. The writer heard a man swearing, Saturday, about his disappointment. He said they had promised him the brick plant would start up immediately after McKinley's election, and now they say it will not do so until next March. So he has been hoodooed out of his vote. Millions of men were made to believe that immense building operations would start as soon as "confidence" was restored by McKinley's election, that all the factories would start the next day and this country would be short of working men. We heard one man say the reason he voted for McKinley was that he was promised a good job of painting a house and now he expects to make several dollars out of it. Sold his vote for a promise, and now if, like most such promises, it fails to materialize, he will have sold out cheaper than did Judas when he got his thirty pieces of silver. In fact this is one way in which the goldbugs won their victory, by promises that mean nothing, and when their dupes find that they have been roped in there will be wailing and gnashing of teeth and those fellows will be wishing for another election in which to vote for a change.—Farmer's Tribune.

The best way to down the money power is with government banks.

THE HONORABLE UNION.

The Democrats Wanted to Hold Their Jobs.

The great reform movement which covered the entire West was forcing its way East and South. Thorough and complete reform in finance, transportation and land had become the battle-cry of well nigh a majority of the people west of the Missouri river, and of Texas and Georgia. A great party, the democratic party, had proven a traitor to the country and was in the throes of death. Democratic politicians foresaw that their jobs were about to be lost. Politicians who had cast the votes of their states once, twice, three times for Cleveland in as many national conventions, saw that the time had come when they had either to cease co-operating with Wall-street or give up their governorships, senatorships, congressional seats and county offices. This fact stared them in the face. They looked about them for a means of holding their jobs. Certain Western republicans and certain prominent populists were striving for a "union of reform forces" so they could get re-elected instead of being succeeded by populist advocates of government ownership of railroads. Why, yes, let's unite, was the happy thought of Vest, Voorhees, Jones of Arkansas and thousands of other democratic office-holders and office-seekers. "Let's unite in the democratic party." And Stewart, and Teller, and Weaver, and Allen, &c., &c., said "Let it be so." Just how many months ago they answered thus the public does not know, but circumstances very strongly point to a date nearly two years past. The "union of reform forces" advocated by Senator Stewart, now and for thirty years or more an attorney and lobbyist for the Central Pacific railroad, was believed at the time by many of us as intended as a move in opposition to government ownership of railroads, and especially in opposition to the government taking possession of the Pacific railroads under the past due mortgages.

Who were the head leaders in the move to capture the people's party? Jones of Arkansas and Senator Stewart.

Jones less than two years ago introduced a bill in the senate providing for four things: The issuance of five hundred million dollars of bonds; national banks to have one hundred per cent on bonds deposited instead of ninety per cent, and the charge for same to be reduced to one-quarter of one per cent per annum; the destruction of a part of the greenbacks and silver notes; for the unlimited coinage of silver. All these propositions in the one bill.

Stewart was on the senate Pacific railroads committee. That committee reported in favor of extending the time on the debt of the Pacific railroads to the government for eighty years and reducing the interest rate on the debt to two per cent. Stewart as a member of that committee favored the report. The report of the committee claimed that the government had better release all claims on the roads than to adopt the principle of government ownership by taking possession of the Pacific railroads and operating them. Stewart and Jones, Jones and Stewart. What immense reform would come from a movement engineered by them!—Missouri World.

Watson's Electoral Vote.

Had Mr. Bryan been elected president it is very likely the choice of vice-president would have fallen to the senate, for the division of votes would have prevented either Sewall or Watson from having a majority in the electoral college.

As it is, Watson will have at least 21 votes in the electoral college, and may receive more. He will get four votes from Louisiana, five from North Carolina, four Nebraska, two Washington, one from Utah, one from Montana and four Missouri. In 1892 the populists had 22 votes in the electoral college.

In other respects the party seems to have been as successful as in the past, or more so. Populist committeemen claim the election of twenty-one congressmen from California, Idaho, Colorado, Alabama, Nebraska, Kansas, North Carolina and South Dakota. In the present congress the populists have only six members. They also hope to secure senators from Kansas, South Dakota, Idaho and possibly North Carolina. This will leave them with about the same strength in the senate as they have at the present time.—Chicago Record.

The People Indorse This!

The public debt has been on the increase for several months.

The increase for March was $1,551,087.

The increase for May was $2,897,450.

The increase for July was $11,273,624.

The increase for August was $12,812,071.

The increase for September was $3,191,945.

The increase for October was $7,581,693.

This is not a very good showing for gold standard but the people have endorsed it and the secretary of the treasury should keep it. If it is wrong the people ought to have condemned it, but as they did not, one can only conclude that it is all right and ought to be perpetuated. When McKinley gets the helm, with John Sherman as secretary of the treasury, he may be able to beat this record. A sound money business revival ought at last to increase the public debt fifteen millions per month.—Southern Mercury.

All this talk about 1900 under a democratic banner is bosh. The rotten record of that party is too much for the people to ever stomach again.

ALABAMA'S LAW-MAKERS.

The State Legislature Has Gotten Down to Hard Work.

SOME OF THE BILLS PASSED.

The Work of Both Houses of the State Legislature in Condensed and Interesting Form.—Some Important Measures Disposed of.—Many Bills of Minor Importance Introduced.

HOUSE—FRIDAY.

This was a quiet day in the House, no discussions occurring, and strictly routine business being transacted. A batch of local bills were introduced, and local bills on the calendar taken up for passage. The appropriation bill was taken up and adopted with only one amendment, viz.: increase of the teller's salary in the treasurer's office from $1,000 to $1,200.

The following were among the new bills that were introduced:

By Fitts—To amend section 3,389 of the code. In forcible entry and unlawful detainers title not in issue. Revision of laws.

By Delchamp—To enable any county or separate school districts of the State to adopt a uniform series of text books to be used in the public schools of the counties or districts; education.

By Glove—To require corporation associations or persons operating railroads in this State to fence the railroads so operated. Commercial and common carriers.

By Glover—To provide for collection of damages for stock killed or injured by railroads; judiciary.

By Bouldin (by request)—To amend section 1880 of the code of 1886, relating to the redemption of real estate; judiciary.

By Bouldin—To amend section 4 of an act approved February 28, 1887, entitled an act to pay salaries to solicitors instead of the fees which they now receive, and to require the fees to be paid into the State treasury; judiciary.

At 12 o'clock the Senate reported to the House for the purpose of hearing a paper by Hon. James H. Fitts, of Tuskaloosa, on the subject of "State Legislation As It Affects the State University." Mr. Fitts' paper was lengthy and able. He held the attention of the Assembly for about two hours, giving a history of the State University and appealing to the Legislature for encouragement. He suggested the plan of the State's making loans to the young men of the State to the amount of $20,000 and receive notes for the same to be paid back in a reasonable length of time. This money to be used by its borrowers for educating themselves at this institution. He also suggested that State convicts be employed in the mineral lands belonging to the State University and that that institution receive a royalty from the State. He made many valuable and interesting suggestions.

SENATE—FRIDAY.

The Senate disposed of a long calendar of local bills today, previous to 12 o'clock, when they repaired in a body to the House for the purpose of attending the reading of a lengthy paper by Hon. James H. Fitts, of Tuskaloosa.

Ex-President Pettus occupied the chair today at the request of President Sayre. The business before the Senate was rapidly dispatched, the bills passed and introduced being almost altogether of a local nature.

The following general bills were taken from the calendar on third reading and disposed of as indicated:

By Kilpatrick (S)—To amend an act to relieve married women of their disabilities of minority, approved February 18, 1895. Passed.

By Smith (S)—To amend section 2836 of the code. Passed.

There were also a large number of local bills disposed of.

HOUSE—SATURDAY.

The Assembly will adjourn on Wednesday, the 9th inst., for a recess, until Wednesday January 20. This report was offered to-day by the joint committee on adjournment and adopted. This will equally divide the session into twenty-five days each. It was the desire of many of the members to adjourn next week, and considerable lobbying was done to that effect, but the majority seemed to be of the opinion that this would require too long a session after Christmas and keep many of the members who are interested in agriculture from their early duties of the year.

The following were among the general bills introduced and referred:

By Merrill—To prevent the granting of free passes, or the sale of tickets or passes at a discount other than sold to the public generally by any railroad or transportation company or officer or agent of any railroad or other transportation company, and to prevent he uses of such passes or tickets.

By Altman—To abolish the days of grace on negotiable and other commercial instruments.

By Lipscomb—Providing for printed or typewritten transcripts in cases appealed to the Supreme Court of the State.

By Troup (by request)—To amend an act dividing the State into nine Congressional districts.

By Altman—To provide for two weeks' pay to wage earners, employed in mining and manufacturing in Jefferson and other counties.

By Hibbard—To prevent and prohibit administrators and executors from selling lands of decedents after their debts are paid except when such sales are authorized and directed by the last will and testament.

By Kyle—To amend section 2322 of the code of 1886 relative to grounds of divorce.

By Tremp—To regulate pament of forfeitures in felony cases.

By McGuire (by request)—For relief of B. J. Costello, former sheriff of Geneva county.

By Cameron—To prohibit the sale of cigarettes.

SENATE—SATURDAY.

On the Senate calendar to-day there were only two bills, which indicates the promptness of the workings of that body.

The feature of the day's session was the introduction of a State dispensary bill by Senator Moody, of Tuskaloosa. The bill is in substance the famous "Tilman law," operated in South Carolina. This bill, or its equivalent, was introduced at the last session of the Legislature, and was fought for valiantly, but defeated by a considerable majority. The bill provides that in August, 1898, at the time of election of State officers, a popular election as to dispensary or no dispensary shall be held. This bill provides for the establishment of dispensaries, at which not more or less than one-half pint of liquor shall be sold to any one person on the same day, under the control of a public dispenser, who shall receive not less than $500 nor more than $5,000 per annum, and such dispensers "shall not drink or give away any liquors. Each county seat, where the sale of liquors is not already prohibited by law, shall be entitled to one dispensary; also, Anniston, in Calhoun county, shall also have a dispensary. Each city in the State shall be entitled to one dispensary, for each 10,000 of population or fraction thereof. The bill was referred to the Temperance Committee.

Another general liquor bill was introduced by Senator Matthews (by request), which seeks to amend section 1,391 of the code relating to the license and retail of liquors in the State.

M'KINLEY'S BUSY DAY.

Many Callers, Not the Least Important Being Senator Foraker.

Canton, Ohio.—Saturday was a busy day for Major McKinley. Callers began to arrive early in the morning and were numerous all day. Many were old acquaintances or chance sojourners in the city, who merely called to pay their respects, and some were high in the councils of the party. Aside from the demands of the visitors, the weather, which was cold, damp and dismal, militated against unnecessary ventures out of doors, and the President-elect spent the morning in the ruddy glow of the grate fire in his own room, or in Mrs. McKinley's room across the hall.

Among the early callers was Senator G. L. Wellington, of Maryland; S. A. Perkins, who was assistant secretary of the national committee in New York during the campaign; Col. Keurt, of Kenton, Ohio, commanding the Second Regiment, Ohio National Guard.

W. H. Thompson, L. B. Doud, C. A. Malloy, Joseph Adams and C. W Baker, a committee representing the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, reached here this morning and were given an audience with the President-elect. There is nothing authorative concerning the call except that they came with the greetings of the Exchange to the man so soon to be inaugurated President. Gossip, however, has it that the callers are interested in having Hon. Sam W. Allerton, familiarly known as "Farmer" Allerton, of Illinois, written opposite "Secretary of Agriculture" on the official Cabinet slate, and it is possible that they put in some good work for the Illinois man during the call.

Charles W. Hart, editor of the Wheeling Intelligencer, a prominent West Virginia Republican, whose name gossips have associated with the seat in the United States Senate, which the West Virginia Legislature will suply, with an occupant, was another of the morning callers.

Senator-elect Foraker was at the McKinley residence in the afternoon. Major McKinley was at the depot with the family carriage to meet him. They drove to the house, where lunch awaited them, and spent the afternoon in conversation.

HUSTLING FOR WAR SHIPS.

Spain Trying to Buy Those Just Built for Chili.

Newcastle-on-Tyne.—From reliable sources it has been learned that the Spanish Government asked Chili to sell the new cruiser Esmeralda, 5,000 tons, 23 knots, also the small battleship Congresso, both of which will be ready to sail for Valparaiso next month. The Chilian cabinet informed the Madrid Cabinet through the medium of the Spanish Minister at Santiago that the proposition could not be entertained. Similar advances by Spain were also made looking to the purchase of four fast torpedo catchers built for Chili at Yarrow's yard on the Thames.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Secretary Hurty, of the State Board of Health, has received advices that diphtheria is epidemic at Columbus, Centre Point and Portland, that all cases have been quarantined and radical steps taken to eradicate the disease. Everything is being done for the abatement of the trouble.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

FRANK CRICHTON Editor & Proprietor

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

Two years ago a bill was presented to the Legislature by Mr. Sam Will John, of Jefferson, providing for the appointment by the Governor of a board of revenue for Chilton county. It was unanimously opposed by Democrats and Populists alike—the chairman of the Democratic county executive committee, and other prominent Democrats, working together to secure its defeat. The result was the Legislature absolutely refused to interfere with the right of the free people of Chilton county to elect their own officers.

Last Friday a similar (but somewhat worse) bill was introduced, which is utterly condemned by every man in Chilton county, irrespective of political opinions. We publish it in full on the fourth column of this page. This bill, we are informed, has been drawn up by a Republican lawyer, who gave it to another Republican, Mr. Alex Wilson, whose business requires him to spend the whole of his time in Birmingham, and who is practically a non-resident of Chilton county. Mr. Wilson requested Hon. L. Y. Lipscomb, of Jefferson, to present it to the Legislature, which he did, and the bill was referred to the committee on local legislation, who now have it under advisement.

The bill is bad in principle, bad in its design, and would be, if enacted into law, bad in every respect for the people of Chilton county. It is bad in principle because it deprives the people of the democratic right to elect their own officers to attend to their home requirements. It is bad in its design because it is evidently aimed at our present board of commissioners, who have been elected by the people and who are fully competent to perform to the entire satisfaction of the county (with the exception of our Republican friend) all the duties which the bill requires of the proposed "board of county revenues." It would be bad for the county because the people would not have the slightest control over "the board of county revenue," while they can and do exert all the control necessary over the board of commissioners.

There is no excuse whatever for this bill. Under the board of commissioners, during the last four years, the county has freed itself of debt, is now out of debt, and in addition has built and paid for a handsome and substantial court house. There are few, if any, counties in the State which can show a better condition of affairs than Chilton.

The whole people of this county, both Democrats and Populists, are entirely opposed to this bill, and look with confidence to the present Legislature to repeat the action of its predecessor and consign this iniquitous anti-democratic measure to the oblivion it merits.

SOME talk has been indulged in in reference to the qunshing of juries this week, owing to some trifling irregularity in the drawing. No harm was intended and none was done. No one raised any objection to the character of the jurors in attendance, who were as good a set of men as can be found in the State. But county officials should invariably bear in mind there is always someone ready to find fault, and by strictly conforming to all technicalties of the law they avoid criticism. The Montgomery Advertiser, referring to our jurors, says: "over 90 per cent. are farmers." Well, considering Chilton is entirely an agricultural county, any reasonable person would naturally expect to find farmers and would not look for bankers and brokers on our juries.

GOVERNOR JOHNSTON starts well which promises fair for his administration.

Governor Johnston's Inaugural Address.

THE opening remarks of Governor Johnston's inaugural speech will be found on the fourth page. Following are some of the most important suggestions he makes to the Legislature:

CONTEST LAW.

I respectfully recommend that you proceed to enact a contest law, under which a fair decision can be had to the title to the various state officers, with the least possible delay and expense. It is of the greatest importance that no cloud should rest upon the title of the men called to fill the highest executive offices in the state: men chosen to these offices can but be greatly embarrassed in the discharge of their duties when any considerable number of our people honestly believe them to be beneficiaries of any fraud or unfair conduct. The single aim of such a law should be the ascertainment of the honest choice of the voters without regard to technical defects or irregularities. Such a statute I am sure can now be enacted free from any influence that would excite partisan feeling.

ELECTION LAW.

The honest purpose of every election is to ascertain the will of the majority as to who shall fill the offices. I am persuaded that our present law multiplies the difficulty of many voters in registering their will without any sufficient compensation.

I suggest that the registration law be entirely repealed, except in cities of more than 5,000 inhabitants and in precincts where the residence of the voter is more or less transitory. In the country precincts the great body of the voters are well known to the inspectors and the danger of illegal voting is so small that it does not justify the time lost or expense of registration.

The secrecy of the ballot should be preserved and more rigid laws enacted to prevent corporations or others employing large numbers of men from coercing the will of their employes. No greater danger can threaten free government than the corruption or coercion of voters by those who hold temporary authority over them, and no laws can be too rigid in inflicting just punishment upon those who would take advantage of their authority to prevent an honest expression of the will of the voter.

The inspectors of election should represent the contending parties and no technical defect should prevent effect being given to the will of the voter. In case of defective or insufficient returns, the county returning boards should have authority and be requested to call before them the precinct officers of election and require them to so amend or correct the returns as to make them speak the truth and enable them to be counted.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

I recomend also that you enact laws under which the various political organizations in the state may hold primary elections and secure fair nominations. Possession of the party machinery by one faction too often foreordains the result. The only real opportunity that members of a political party have to express their choice in selecting officials is in these primaries, and the passage of a just and fair law enabling all the candidates to take part in choosing managers for these primaries and preventing any faction from controlling them will do much to prevent unfair dealings and to secure nominations that will express the wishes and choice of a majority of the voters of the party. It is not expected that any such law should be compulsory until its aid is invoked, but the enactment of one entirely just and fair, designed solely to secure honest results would put those declining to avail themselves of its benefits so clearly in the wrong that their power to defeat the will of the majority would be greatly curtailed.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The duty is upon you to consider the necessity for a new constitution for our state. That the present constitution has served its purpose and now embarrases rather than promotes the objects it should subserve is manifest to all thinking men. We should approach the consideration of this question divested of all party spirit, and with a patriotic purpose to consider only the good of the state and the prosperity and advancement of all its people. Various attempts to secure amendments to our organic law have demonstrated that the very requirements of the constitution prevent any amendment. It is essential that some of the iron bands that have prevented our growth and development should be struck off.

The fear of improper restricture of the right of suffrage should not be allowed longer to stand in the way of relief demanded more strongly each year. The necessity for local taxation in aid of our public schools, and the extention of the system, reforms in our judicial system, the preservation of municipal growth and credit, the encouragement of immigration and manufactures, and the necessity for securing more equal laws in the distributing the burdens of government all demand that we should take this step.

It is also well known that a large and fruitful section of our state has had a constant menace to its growth and to the security of life and property that should be removed with such moderation, wisdom and justice, that even those deprived of the power to imperil these things would in the end find a blessing for themselves and their children in the restriction imposed. Many compensations can be found for the expense, the agitation and the danger that may confront your affirmative action in this matter.

The security, peace and concord that would come from the successful accomplishment would bless not only this generation, but those to follow us, by opening opportunities to progress and removing dangers sometimes averted by resort to methods that all patriotic citizens deplore.

A provision requiring a substantial poll tax to be paid by all who vote would probably give all the security needed, and at the same time largely increase our school fund.

All of us recognize the fact that this question must be met sooner or later, and I respectfully urge the general assembly to meet this issue now, honestly and fairly and with a courage that comes only to those who have unbounded confidence in the patriotism and intelligence of the free men of Alabama.

In conclusson, permit me to assure you of my cordial co-operation in all measures that may come before you looking to the good of our people.

JOSEPH F. JOHNSTON, Governor.

Circuit Court.

Circuit Court re-convened Monday morning, Judge Denson presiding. There were no cases of any great importance and the whole business was transacted by Wednesday evening. There were 16 convictions, 4 discharged not guilty, and 22 cases continued or otherwise disposed of. The principal convictions were Andrew Devenport, presenting gun, affirmed by supreme court, fined $10; Amanda Jones, col., carrying concealed weapons, $50; Charles Henry Brown, col., burglar, 3 years in penitentiary; Robert Hannon, col. grand larceny, 13 months in penitentiary; Bynum Cooper, col., grand larceny, 4 years in peniten. tiary; Georgia Ann Henry, col., manslaughter in first degree, 2½ years in penitentiary.

Mann Mims, killing mule, not guilty; Joseph Carlee, assault to rape, not guilty; and George Crosby, carrying concealed weapons, not guilty.

The following cases were continued: Wyley Garner, rape; Watley and Garner miscegenation; Latham and Klinner, adultery; Annie Young, grand larceny; German Crosby and others defaulting bail.

IT would seem from the small amount of business in the Circuit Court in recent sessions that one week in Spring and two in Fall would be ample, and would certainly save the county a good deal of expense.

The court house of Randolph county was burned down Monday and all records destroyed.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2, 1896.

A careful scrutiny of the large number of papers received at this office, justifies the statement that the People's Party press has not only taken a new lease on life but is being conducted with a heartiness and vigor that speaks but little comfort to the enemy. They seem to have taken up the campaign of education the presidential canvass has interrupted and are again discussing the several reforms that the party has heretofore demanded. A peculiarly hopeful tone is noticeable. A number of papers are being organized with good strong stock companies to back them.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is swept away.

Book about it free.
For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

An Outrage on Democratic Principles.

A BILL

To be entitled an act to establish a Court of County Revenue for Chilton County.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama. That a Court of Record to be known as "The Court of County Revenues of Chilton County", be and the same is hereby established in the county of Chilton in this State, to be composed of the Judge of Probate as Principal Judge, and four Commissioners who shall be denominated commissioners— of reveneus for the county of Chilton, which commissioners shall be appointed by the Governor, and shall hold their office for six years, and until their successors are duly appointed and qualified.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That when the Court hereby established shall be in session, the Judge of Probate shall be the presiding Judge of the Court when he is present, and in his absence the said Commissioners, or a majority of them shall elect one of their number to act as presiding Judge pro tempore, who shall thereafter in the absence of the Judge of Probate, be the presiding Judge of the Court, and upon a tie vote the Presiding Judge shall have the casting vote, and a majority of the members of the Court shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted, That the said Court hereby established shall have all the jurisdiction and all the powers which are now, or may hereafter be by law vested in the Courts of County Commissioners in this State, and the several members of the Court hereby established shall respectively perform all the duties and services and exercise all the powers which are or may be required by law of the several members of the Courts of County Commissioners in this State.

Sec. 4. Be it further enacted That all general laws hereafter enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, in relation to the jurisdiction, powers, authority or duties of Courts of County Commissioners in this state shall apply to "The Court of County Revenues" hereby established, except so much of said general law as may relate to the mode of electing the members of said Courts of County Commissioners.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, That the Judge of Probate shall receive four dollars per day, and each of said Commissioners shall receive three dollars per day for each day they are actually engaged in the performance of their duties and ten cents per mile traveled in going to and returning from the Court House for the purpose of attending said Court.

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted. That the Court hereby established shall have the possession and control and custody of all papers, records and books pertaining to the Court of County Commissioners, or connected with its business, which before the establishment of said Court of County Revenue was pending and undetermined in the Court of County Commissioners heretofore existing in said County of Chilton, shall be heard and determined and disposed of by the Court of County Revenue hereby established.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That the provisions of this act shall go into effect immediately on and after the approval of the same by the Governor.

* * *

Among the business cards in this issue none is more interesting to the writer as a reminder of the better things of life than the announcement of the Chicago Cottage Organ Company of that peerless musical instrument, the Conover piano. Every material that ample capital could purchase necessary for the construction of a first-class instrument, and skillful hands to assemble these products of an age of invention and mechanical improvement, have been used that the promoters might truly claim that the Conover is the leader of pianos. Against adverse national prosperity this instrument has steadily and rapidly gained the position it occupies as the piano most sought after by music lovers everywhere, the artists of Europe and America, and for the best homes of the land.

Not only, however, are the manufacturers of the Conover the leaders in the piano world,—but as makers of the renowned "Chicago Cottage" organ they are known throughout the world and their product is a household favorite in every county in the United States, and almost every village. As sole introducers of the "Kingsbury" and the well-know "Schubert" pianos they have a line of musical instruments that the most exacting demands of a music-loving clientele may require, both in tone, durability, construction and design, and have not omitted to duly consider the important subject of making a price so reasonable that the public is quick to avail itself of an unexcelled opportunity to gratify its taste for music. What better investment could be suggested to our readers than making a purchase of a piano or an organ? The Chicago Cottage Organ Company can supply you, and desire to include you among their patrons.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.

The Institute for the first quarter of the present scholastic year for the white teachers of Chilton county will be held at Jemison, Friday and Saturday Dec. 18th and 19th 1896.

Program replete with interest. Free entertainment for teachers and visitors. Day and night sessions at Academy, with nice program of instrumental and vocal music, and other features provided for the entertainment and enjoyment of all. Some lecturers and speakers from a distance, whose names we hope to announce soon, are expected, and in addition to these, a concert program, by the Jemison High School, will be rendered on the night of the 18th.

We hope especially to have the teachers out in full force, as the law, as well as the interests of our schools, require your attendance at these institutes. The subjects admit of a wide range of discussion, and other talent added to our force this year will be on hand to assist in the success of the institute. So come, teachers, without fail.

PROGRAM.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18.

9 a.m. Music. Prayer—Rev. F. M. Woods. Welcome address, C. C. Slaton, Jemison; Response, E. Y. McMorries, Clanton. Organization, enrollment of names, etc.

9:30 Essay, Let the law of love reign in school, Miss Ida Robinson, Rocky Mount.

10 The qualified scholar vs. The qualified man, J. Alex Moore, Montevallo. Music.

10:30 True teaching, the development of moral, mental and physical power, L. E. Zach, Verbena.

11:30 Essay, Striving to create character, vs. contributing to the growth of character in the child, Miss Sophie Mullins, Jumbo. Recess.

2 p.m. Music. Teaching facts vs. teaching how to study, G. L. Speer, Lilly. Music.

3 Normal extension, and Lyceum courses, B. D. Wilson, Stanton.

4 Music. Intermission.

7 Concert exercises by Jemison School.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19.

9 a.m. Music. Prayer, Rev. S. M. Adams. Calling roll, reading minutes, etc.

9.30 Is teaching grammar, teaching language, E. Y. McMorries, Clanton.

10 Objects to be secured by composition, writing, P. M. McKee, Jumbo.

10:30 When is a reaning theroughly prepared, Miss M. V. Palma, Moss Hill. Music.

11 The study of English authors, Judson Strock, Coopers. Music. Recess.

2 p. m. Music. Are advanced views of education found among increasing numbers of patrons? Experience of all the teachers on this subject. Music.

3 Local taxation and school law, Hon. Jno. O. Turner, State Supt Dismission.

The local committee will prepare comfortable homes for teachers and visitors.

Remember the date Dec. 18th and 19th.

J. W. MOORE, Co. Supt.
C. C. SLATON, Ch. Com.

Tax Notice.

Assessor's and Collector's LAST ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1897, and collecting the taxes for the year 1896:

		1896
Maplesville	November	9
Shoultz	"	10
Valley Creek church	"	11
Welch's mill	"	12
Dixie	"	13
Stanton 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.	"	14
Benson	"	16
Macedonia church	"	17
Providence church beat 2	"	18
Hays' mill	"	19
Jemison	"	20
Strasburg	"	21
Maddox's mill	"	22
Lomax	"	24
Mineral Springs	"	25
Mountzion church	"	26
Cane Creek church	"	27
Ehrman's mill	"	30
Providence church beat 5	Dec'ber	4
Coopers	"	5
Verbena	"	7&8
Wayside church	"	9
Kincheon	"	10
Clanton	"	11&12
Benson	"	14
Maplesville	"	15
Smith's school-house	"	17
Jemison	"	18
Strasburg	"	19

A. C. MIMS, Assessor.
T. J. HUBBARD, Collector.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.
CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET
MONTGOMERY - ALA

Blood and Brawn

Impoverished blood means loss of strength. Probably seventy-five per cent. of the diseases with which mankind is afflicted are caused by impure blood. Very many diseases—such as tetter, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas, etc., could not exist if the blood were perfectly pure. V. V. V. makes pure blood. It is composed of natural vegetable remedial agents skillfully compounded in the exact proportions to secure right results.

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

thoroughly cleanses the blood, tones up the whole system and brings back health, strength and happiness.

A purely vegetable compound and a wonderful specific, not only for all blood and skin diseases, but for rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, malaria, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

HABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6.65 cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	17 6
Mullins	8 0
Wilson	385
	3 16

Mrs. B. F. Collier, sister of Judge R M. Honeycutt, of Keywance, Miss., has been spending some days with the Judge's family and returned last week to her home in Mississippi. Mrs. B. B. Hagewood, of Big Sandy, Texas, and Mrs. Z. H. Crim, of Henderson, Texas, also returned to their Texan homes the same day.

Miss Roberta Johnson returned from her trip to New Orleans Tuesday.

Dr. J. G. Hayes, of Maplesville, was in town last Thursday.

Messrs W. H. Foshee, J. M. Stanfield, J. W. Stanfield, W. Walker and Scott Chesnut went to Montgomery Tuesday to the inaugural ceremonies.

Dr. A. J. Massey, the dentist, [illegible] his engagements in Clanton as usual.

Mr. [illegible] is, we are sorry to say, very sick.

The Banner has been one hand short this week as Mr. J. H. Middleton has been on the sick list.

Bring in some pine, we will take it on subscription.

We [illegible] cold and disagreeable Monday and Tuesday, but they came to court all the same.

Deputy Marshall J. A. Dudley has removed his family to the house recently vacated by Mr. Oscar Nelson.

Col. Knox has moved into the McK[illegible] residence.

Mr. John Gafner has moved his family back into town to his old home.

Mr. Ed Willis, from Jumbo, has rented Mr. Garner's plantation, and moved there this week.

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. The Banner, Clanton.

WANTED 1000 cross ties. Apply to G. H. Geeter, Clanton.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons:

Mr. Tilman I. Adams and Miss M[illegible] Johnson, Mr. Robert M. [illegible] and Miss Julia M. Collins; Mr. [illegible] D. Collins and Miss Mattie [illegible]; Mr. H. H. Bisco and Miss [illegible] Cunningham; [illegible] Elam Goodwin and [illegible] Rush.

[illegible] W. Dawson was in town Monday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J S Johnson.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,526.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
November 2, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on December 12th, 1896, viz.: Monroe Stewart, Homestead entry, No. 24,149, for the nw¼ of nw¼ section 12 tp 22 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Jake Hayes, of Thorsby, Ala., Anthony Latham, of Thorsby, Ala., Luke Latham, of Jemison, Ala., Robert Hicks, of Thorsby, Ala.,

H. Purcell, Register

Commissioner's Sale.

In pursuance and in accordance with the terms and directions of a commission, issued and addressed to the undersigned, by the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of Probate of Chilton county, bearing date the 30th day of November 1896, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, at public auction, in front of the Court House door of said county at Clanton, on all that certain real estate which is described as follows, viz.: The southeast fourth of the northeast fourth of section fourteen, and the north half of the southwest fourth and the southwest fourth of the southwest fourth of section thirteen, township twenty-three, range fifteen, in Chilton county, Alabama, which said land is to be sold under the decree of said court for the purpose of a division between and among the several owners thereof, the said property belonging to and being the property of the heirs at law of the estate of L. F. Marcus deceased.

MONDAY DECEMBER 28, 1896,

H. I. Honeycutt, Commissioner.
Clanton, Ala., Dec. 2, 1896.

Will Not Perform Miracles But It Will Cure.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases require prolonged treatment as shown by that of Mrs. M. B. Reed, of Delta, Iowa, who writes: "As the result of a lightning stroke, the physicians said I had a light stroke of paralysis, my limbs would all draw up. I would have throbbings in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for sleep, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 40 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Book on heart and nerves free. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE
WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Real Estate for Sale.

The following lands for sale very cheap by F. B. Baldwin, Verbena or W. H. Foshee Clanton, Ala.

Sw¼ of sw¼ sec 33 tp 20 r 12; nw¼ of nw¼ and se¼ of nw¼ sec 33 tp 21 r 11; e½ of sw¼ sec 28 tp 21 r 16; s½ of se¼ of ne¼ sec 23 tp 20 r 11; nw¼ of nw¼ sec 10, nw¼ of se¼ sec 20, ne¼ of se¼ sec 32 tp 20 r 11; nw¼ of ne¼ sec 10 tp 20 r 12; e½ of se¼ sec 26 tp 23 r 14; nw¼ of sw¼ and sw¼ of sw¼ sec 25 tp 23 r 15; se¼ of nw¼ sec 25 tp 21 r 11; ne¼ of ne¼ sec 4 tp r 12, all in Chilton county, Alabama.

Administrator's Sale of Real Estate.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Chancery court for Talladega county, Alabama, rendered on to-wit the 3rd day of October, 1896, and in accordance with the terms thereof, I, James Crook, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of Edward Gantt, deceased, will sell at public outcry, for cash to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 30th day of December, 1896, within the legal hours of sale in front of the court house door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, the following described property in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: se¼ of sw¼ sec 3 and w½ of sec 6 all in t 21 r 14; ne¼ and ne¼ of sw¼ sec 10 and n½ of nw¼, sw¼ of nw1-4 and nw1-4 of se1-4 sec 12 all in t 22 r 14, w½ of nw1-4 se1-4 of nw1-4 and se1-4 of ne1-4 sec 33, and se1-4 of se1-4 sec 29 all in t 22 r 14 and nw1-4 of se1-4 and sw1-4 of sw1-4 sec 32, t 21 r 15.

JAMES CROOK,
Admr. etc. of the estate of Edward Gantt, Dec'd.

This 23 day of October, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered.

R. M. Honeycutt,

STRAYED on Nov. 16th, one black horse mule, medium size, tolerably old, thin in order. A liberal reward offered for the mule. Apply to Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 miles east of Stanton, Ala.

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—Editor.]

Lily Lyrics.

Quite a number of our young people attended the Sunday school convention at Macedonia last Friday and Saturday.

Mr. A. S. Jones gave an entertainment last Friday night.

Mr. G. W. Jones, T. I. Ward, and J. C. Veazey were in Birmingham last week.

Mrs. Seborn Jones, accompanied by Miss Edwards, has just returned from South Alabama. X. Y. Z.

* * *

State Alliance Notice.

Dudleyville, Ala. Nov. 23. 1896

County Secretaries that have not received minutes of the last State meeting will receive them by dropping me a card notifying me of their failure to receive the same.

J. W. Jackson,
State Secretary.

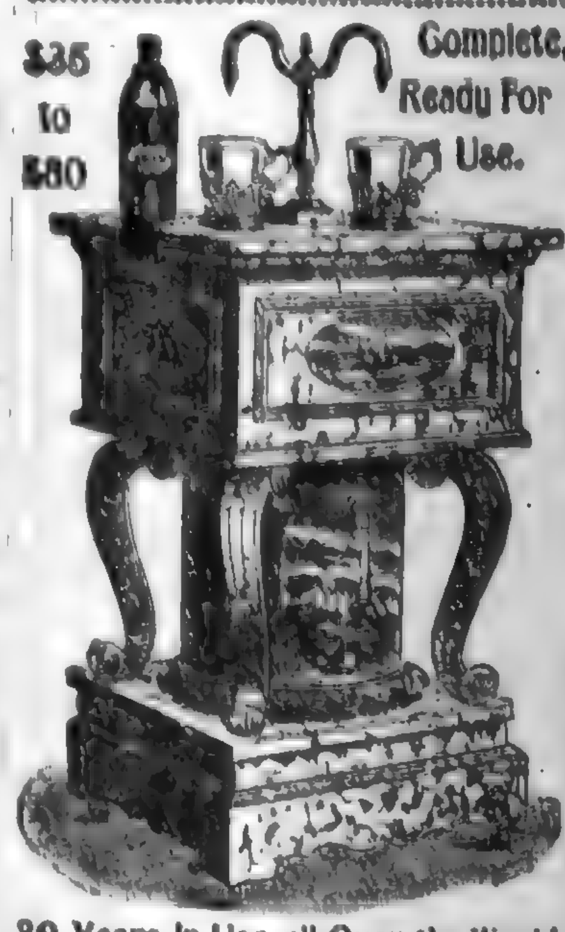
• • •

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alderman Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

PORTABLE
SODA FOUNTAINS



$35 to $80 Complete, Ready For Use.

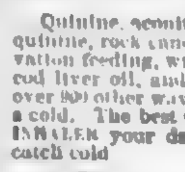
80 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.
MADISON, INDIANA.

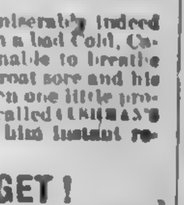
1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, a "sweat," foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old hundreds cough cure, these and over 900 other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold



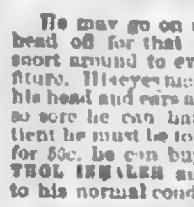
A man must be miserably indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache, unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing, when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!



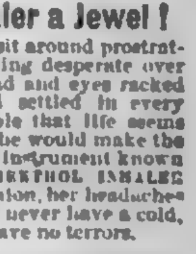
He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, snuffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head and ears ache and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Patient he must be to endure it all when for 50c. he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!



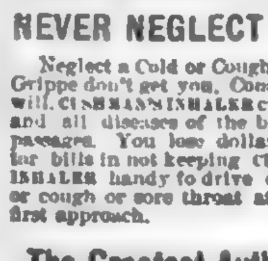
A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH



Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breathway passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.



DR. BROWNE.

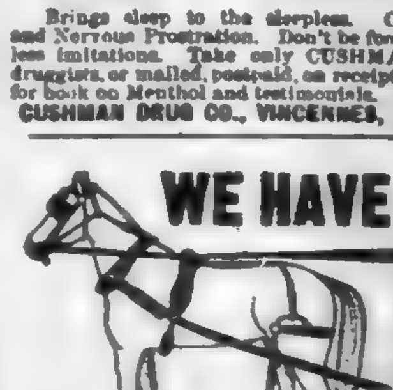
Dr. J. Lennox Browne, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

[Is not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?]

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

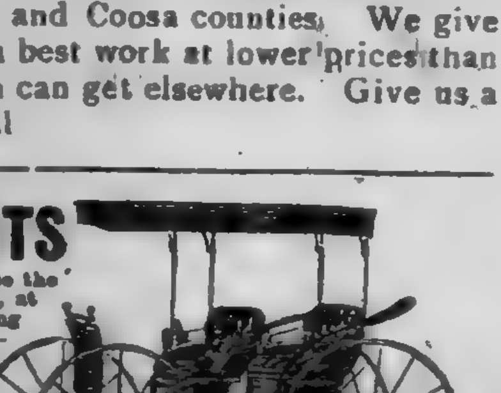
CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS



No. 1414—Surrey Harness. Price $16.50. As good as sells for $30.

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.



No. 723—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Roily Latham, deceased. Probate Court, Chilton county, Alabama.

Letters of administration upon the estate of said decedent, having been granted to the undersigned on the 5th day of November, 1896, by the Honorable R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, in said State, notice is hereby given, that all persons having claims against said estate will be required to present the same within the time required by law, or said claims will be barred.

J. H. Shoults,
Administrator.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18597.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., }
Nov. 21, 1896. }

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 23,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of Section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M. Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. Purcell, Register

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, A. C. Smith, Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder at the court house door in Clanton Alabama, on

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1896,

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to wit:

The sw1-4 of the se1-4 and all of the se1-4 of the sw1-4 that lies east of Yellow Leaf Creek all in section 10 township 22 range 14 Chilton county, Alabama, containing sixty acres more or less.

A. C. Smith,
Administrator of the estate of A. B. Hill, deceased.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,
IS VIA THE

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Union daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

OWEN WOOD HEATER

NO DIRT! NO GAS!

Base Burner in the fullest sense.
Retains Fire from 1 to 3 Days.
Consumes All Kinds of Wood.

—TRY IT—

EGLEY BROTHERS *
.... ONARGA, ILL.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE.

MEDICAL TREATMENT.

If you want the best expert and scientific treatment by the leading physicians and specialists of this country, consult only Dr. HATHAWAY & CO., 70 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. All Chronic Diseases of men and women, Private, Skin, Blood and Nervous Diseases. Cases treated by mail all over the world by sending for Symptom Blank No. 1 for men, No. 2 for women, No. 3 Skin Diseases, No. 4 for Catarrh. Best of professional and financial references, a legal guarantee given if necessary.

FREE 64-page Medical Reference Book for men and women who are afflicted with any form of private disease peculiar to their sex, contagious diseases, female troubles, etc. Send two 2-cent stamps to pay postage, to the leading specialists and Physicians in this country.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO.,
No. 85, St. Charles St., Masonic Temple,
New Orleans, La.

The Banner office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.
CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

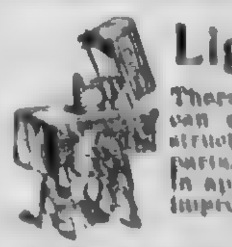
WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

GET THE BEST

When you are about to buy a Sewing Machine do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and be led to think you can get the best made, finest finished and

Most Popular

for a mere song. See to it that you buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing, you will then get a Sewing Machine that is noted the world over for its durability. You want the one that is easiest to manage and is



Light Running

There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the

NEW HOME

It has Automatic Tension, Double Feed, alike on both sides of needle (patented), no other has it; New Stand (patented), driving wheel hinged on adjustable centers, thus reducing friction to the minimum.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO.
ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N. Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.
FOR SALE BY
W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review of Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c.; Trial (five months), $1.00; Year, $2.50.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. [illegible]

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self instructor. Over [illegible] sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.25, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below, we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made [illegible] the actual cost of the wire to make them, while [illegible] who make and sell the fence must add the [illegible]

[illegible]

Use Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Subscribe for the Banner!

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P. P. P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. M. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Cynical.

"How is that song getting along?" asked the publisher's friend.

"Splendidly," was the enthusiastic reply. "It is going to be one of the hits of the day. Every musician who has heard it says that it's vile."—Washington Star.

An Honest Girl.

"The butcher offered me his hand this morning," said the hired girl.

"Indeed?"

"Yes'm. He tried to sell it to me with the steak, but I made him take it off the scales."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Scotch Indifference.

An old Scotch sergeant was going his rounds one night to see that all the lights were out in the barrack-rooms. Coming to a room where he thought he saw a light shining, he roared out:

"Put out that light, there!"

One of the men shouted back:

"It's the mune, sergeant!"

"I dinna care a tacket what it is," the sergeant said; "pit it oot."

Mr. Sewall is distinguished as owning the best vegetable garden in Maine."

The object of the manufacturers of Dobbins' Electric Soap has been for 28 years to make this soap of such supe ior quality that it will give universal satisfaction. Have they succeeded? Ask your grocer or it. Take no other.

There are forty-seven Chinese temples in America, but not a single Mohammedan mosque.

Just try a 10c. box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist. Under absolute guarantee to cure. Book and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

CASCARETS stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

Piso's Cure is a wonderful cough medicine.—MRS. W. PICKERT Van Siclen and Blake Avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1894.

Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

WHEN bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10c., 25c.

Get

Most for your money and save needless expenses now. It is true economy to build up your system and prevent sickness by taking

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills are prompt, efficient and easy in effect. 25 cents.

Webster's International Dictionary

Invaluable in Office, School, and Home.

A thorough revision of the Unabridged, the purpose of which has been not to display nor the provision of material for boastful and showy advertisement, but the due, judicious, scholarly, thorough perfecting of a work which in all the stages of its growth has obtained in an equal degree the favor and confidence of scholars and of the general public.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

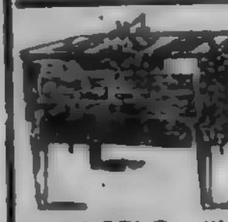
The Choicest of Gifts for Christmas.

IN VARIOUS STYLES OF BINDING.

Specimen pages sent on application to

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U.S.A.

BUY NO INCUBATOR



and pay for it before giving it a trial.

The firm who is afraid to let you try their incubator before buying it has no faith in their machine. We will sell you ours

ON TRIAL

NOT A CENT until tried, and a child can run it with 5 minutes attention a day. We won and will win you for a steady customer if you will only buy ours on trial. Our large catalogue will cost you 5 cents and give you $100 worth of practical information on poultry and incubators and the money there is in the business. Plans for Brooders, Houses, &c., &c.

FIRST PRIZE WORLD'S FAIR

N. B.—Send us the names of three persons interested in poultry and 25 cents and we will send you "The Bicycle: Its Care and Repair," a book of 180 subjects and 80 illustrations, worth $5 to any bicycle rider.

VON CULIN INCUBATOR CO.,

Box 168, DELAWARE CITY, DEL.

Young Ladies' College.

IN THE VIRGINIA MOUNTAINS.

Buildings grand; scenery and healthfulness superior; faculty first-class; board warranted good; all modern conveniences.

TERMS UNUSUALLY LOW.

For music, tuition, board, washing, heat and light, for half session, $90 00.

Catalogue sent free.

J. I. MILLER, D. D., President,
Buena Vista, Va.

GASLIGHT in every house; newest thing out; attaches to ordinary lamp; no chimney, safe, economical; outfit free to active workers. Standard Brass Company, manufacturers, Covington, Ky.

WATCHES.—Up to January 1st we will sell to the consumer at the manufacturers' genuine American watches. Enclose stamp. Falls City Introduction Co., Louisville, Ky.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR. S. PERKEY, Chicago, Ills.

MAMMOTH BRONZE TURKEYS, Indian Games, Black Langshans, Pekin Ducks, and their eggs, in season.
Mrs. W. H. MANN, Manville, Fla.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. O. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent Office. Deane & Weaver, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

THE INAUGURAL.

Governor Joseph F. Johnston Inducted Into His Office.

THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The Resources of of Alabama Form the Principal Topic of Discussion. The Industrial Situation of His Beloved State.—Her Wealth of Material Must Be Developed.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Joseph F. Johnson was inaugurated to-day. Before taking the oath of office he delivered the following address, sounding the keynote of his administration, which is to promote the development of Alabama's resources and improve the condition of her people:

To be chosen to the highest office within the gift of the people of the State should gratify the ambition and inspire the patriotism of any citizen. In entering upon the duties of the office I am about to assume, I do so with profound gratitude to the people, and with a just comprehension of the difficulties that beset the path before me. difficulties that can only be overcome by help from Him who holds us all in the hollow of his hand.

I shall undertake this work with the single purpose to do what I can to bring to our people the blessings of peace and prosperity, and with the conviction in my heart that I can best serve my party by best serving the people.

The hot political contests of this eventful year, that aroused so much passion, are now behind us; the people have registered their will and all good citizens should yield cheerful obedience to their mandate; if they have not erred in their verdict on the great question that broke party lines, returning prosperity will soon confirm their judgment; if they have erred no misrepresentation or coercion can deter them from setting aside the verdict and driving from place and power those who have misled or deceived them.

The past is beyond recall, but the future stands a willing handmaid to reward patriotic endeavor.

I shall not now discuss the cause of education that appeals to us with infant lips for opportunity to elevate and bless our children and our commonwealth, nor of other matters of grave importance to the people of our State. These I shall presently consider in a message to your general assembly; I prefer now, for the brief time I shall ask your attention, to speak somewhat of the resources and capabilities of the State we all love.

With an area of but little more than fifty thousand square miles, there is no territory of like size in the known world so prolific in the variety of its resources; were a wall erected around our State, cutting off all access, we could produce within our borders everything necessary for the comfort or convenience of man. Great veins of iron ore and seams of coal put at our command almost boundless resources in fuel, iron and steel. Splendid forests of yellow pine here stand ready to build homes for millions of people. Building stone and marble, fire clay, kaolin and lime exist in great abundance: walnut, maple, oak, cherry, ash and other hard woods await the hand of man for manufacture for the adornment of our homes.

In the production of pig iron we take rank as the fourth State in the Union; in iron ore, third; in coal, we stand fith; in the production of cotton, fourth, and in the manufacture, fourth.

In lumber we are near the head of the list.

It would be unjust should I fail to include in our minerals copper, lead, graphite, marl and gold; indeed the only mineral that we seem to be without and to want most in silver.

Leaving forest and mine and coming to our fields we find that they produce generously cotton, corn, wheat rye, oats, tobacco, rice and the grasses and here is the home of the pear, the peach, the grape and all small fruits. Vegetables are grown with great success, and in this industry is steadily developing. Our splendid rivers, the Alabama, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Warrior, Cahaba, Bigbee and Tennessee are the liquid arteries of the commonwealth, fed by innumerable creeks, all fruitful in power to convert our raw products into articles of merchandise.

Over 4,000 miles of railroads traverse our State from north to south, and east to west, furnishing quick transportation to market for our products.

When we come to our climate we find that the Giver of all good things has not stayed His hand, and that He has blessed us with opportunity to labor twelve months a year without detriment to health of comfort. Indeed, we can scarcely appreciate the blessings we enjoy in this respect when compared with less favorable regions, for even now we are seemingly unconscious that roses are blooming in our gardens, and that fragrant air is sweet with their perfume.

The Piedmont region of our State shows that its average thermometer in summer and winter correspond almost exactly with that of Berlin and Hamburg, whilst Mobile and the lower part of the State correspond largely with the climate of Frankfort-on-the-Main, and Carlsruhe. The average temperature for the whole State shows about 40 degrees Fahrenheit for January, 75 for July and 60 degrees for April and October.

Our streams abound in fish, our woods are fragrant with flowers, and our beautiful seaport supplies an abundance of fish and oysters for all our people. Nowhere in all the Republic can more prolific response be had from the soil to the intelligent cultivation of man. Nowhere can purer water, a more genial climate, or sunnier skies be found to bless contented homes.

These are our opportunities, these the substantial ground work upon which a great commonwealth can be erected.

It is our duty and our privilege to utilize these blessings.

This is the age of industrial development, and to that task the legislator and citizen should bend their energies and weary not in well doing. When we consider that we are now cultivating and utilizing less than one-third of these resources, and that the other two-thirds produce taxes only, it behooves us to invite to our borders and give generous welcome to men and money to aid in awakening these dormant resources.

Our pig iron should be melted and our cotton spun and woven at home, thus giving greater employment to labor and establishing home markets for our agricultural products.

The smoke of our factories should be found rising in every county, and our furnaces, like pillars of fire, should light the night.

The production of grasses and the raising of cattle should be stimulated until we become one of the great beef raising States of the Union.

There seems to be no good reason why our productive lands should not become a great center for the manufacture of beet sugar, and by its exportation to sister States add further store to an increasing income; canning establishments should utilize fruits fruits and vegetables that now too often rot on our farms.

Behind these splendid resources we have a patriotic and hospitable people, equal laws and an incorruptible judiciary securing to those who may come amongst us generous welcome and ample protection to life, liberty and property. Were these facts made known to the people of the north and west, where a trying climate and a dense population are constantly multiplying the difficulties in the struggle for existence. I am persuaded that the course of empire would be diverted to the South and that many of us here present would live to see our State as great in population, enterprise and wealth as she is now in resources.

We have nothing to ask of the Federal Government except equal laws, and perhaps the perfection of a system of coast defenses that in case of sudden war would enable our citizen soldiers to defend this fair land from invasion and maintain the National honor. Considering the gallantry of our brethren, who in obedience to the call of duty, were prodigal in deeds of valor in the war between the States, no one could doubt that should occasion arise, even more splendid achievements would adorn the defense of home and National integrity by the men of this generation.

We must also bear in mind that as our State progresses in population, wealth and development we can devote larger and larger sums to the education of our children, the reformation of our criminal classes and the enlightened progress of our people, until our commonwealth shall stand at the very head of the list of States, not only on the roll call, but in affection of the good and the wise.

In order to accomplish this great destiny no sumptuary laws, no restraint upon personal liberty; except for the common good, should ever mar our statute books, and all the people should be permitted to work out their own destiny; and worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences, free from any legislation that will hamper them in the enjoyment of their rights. We have the right to congratulate ourselves on the progress we have made. At the close of the war, after our ranks had been thinned by that bloody struggle, we returned to homes upon which the hand of disaster had fallen, without money or credit, more than half of our property destroyed, and with an alien government imposed upon us intent chiefly upon pillage. We undertook the task of reconstructing our fortunes, a task almost as great as that of conquering success on fiery fields against gallant soldiers thrice our superiors in numbers and equipment.

Within a generation we have restored the waste places, more than doubled our productions, built cities, opened mines, erected furnaces and factories, established our credit and largely increased our appropriations for free schools. This great work has been accomplished almost wholly by Southern women. We have been the pioneers of our development; on the great industrial fields we have met our brethren as competitors worthy of their steel. The manufacture of cotton is steadily drawing around the fields where it is grown. In iron we have not only invaded territory heretofore possessed by our friends in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and entrenched ourselves there for permanent occupation, but are now shipping our product to Great Britain and Italy, Germany and Spain, and underselling in their home markets those who have had the trade of the world for generations at their command.

Having accomplished such results as this ourselves, we have the right to expect that as sectional prejudice disappears before the rising light of a broader patriotism our progress shall be still greater in the future.

Here on this spot, hallowed to us by so many sacred memories; here where a young nation was born amid the thunder of hostile artillery, baptised in the blood of its noblest sons and then maintained the unequal struggle for sovereignty for four bloody years; what more appropriate place this for us to dedicate ourselves once more to the preservation and maintenance of the Union, whose declaration was framed, whose armies were led and whose highest court has been illuminated by Southern men?

Holding in our hearts an unforgetful memory of the splendid achievements of our revolutionary fathers, and the glorious deeds of our Confederate brethren, deeds that immortalized Southern valor and glorified American manhood, we should show to our brethren of other States that our people are as noble in peace as they were heroic in war, and that in the fields of education, morality, religion and industrial development we shall make a more splendid record than our brethren did on the fields of blood.

With a profound gratitude to the God of our fathers, that our lots have been cast in this sunny land, let us beseech Him to send warmth and vitality and enduring growth into every field of endeavor, that will make us strong to accomplish the things that make a State loved at home and revered abroad.

ALABAMA CHRONICLES.

The News of Our Own State in Paragraphs.

—A fine deposit of ochre has been found near Round Mountain.

—One of the Woodstock furnaces is to be put in blast next week.

—Cotton is being held for higher prices in Opelika; sellers will not sell.

—A house to house Sunday school census was recently taken in Montgomery.

—Mrs. Anna Desseker, one of the oldest residents of Selma, died in that city on Wednesday.

—J. A. Burgess & Son, of Edwardsville, have their new saw and planing mill in full operation.

—A syndicate is being formed in Birmingham to purchase leases in the Tennessee oil fields.

—The postoffice at Opelika has just been inspected, and has been declared to be in first-class condition.

—The Tredegar mineral properties, which are considered the richest in the South, are to be fully developed.

—F. J. Willoughby, of Heflin, has failed for $5,000. He is the first merchant who has failed in that county for four years.

—The Alabama Conference of the M. E. Church will convene in Montgomery on Wednesday, Bishop Granberry presiding.

—A negro boy was crushed to death by a switch engine at Opelika on Wednesday. He was crossing the track in a wagon when he was struck.

—The Florence Northern railway scheme may be revived. The proposed road is intended to run from Florence north to Linden, in Perry county.

—Upon a rumor that the firm of J. C. McKenzie & Co., wholesale grocers of Montgomery, had failed, attachments to the amount of about $21,000 were issued last Wednesday night.

—Two parties, one of seventeen people and the other eight, left Anniston Wednesday for Texas. They came from near White Plains.

—While hunting 'possums near Anniston the other night, Flem Lindsey was caught under a tree that had been thrown and seriously injured.

—W. J. Tinney and Miss Sallie Bolin ran away from Columbiana and were married at Wilsonville. The young lady's parents opposed the match.

—Frank Smith shot a woman called Mrs. Lawson, at America mines, the other night, inflicting fatal wounds. Smith is at large and defies arrest.

—The Sunday School Convention of the Tuskaloosa Baptist Association met in session at Mount Olive, eight miles from Northport church, Tuskaloosa county.

—In a difficulty at Jasper, M. J. Parker seriously cut Samuel Childers, his father-in-law. Parker was placed under bond at his own request. Childers is expected to recover.

—Mark A. Gilbreth, aged 70 years, of Marshall county, got his arm broken and was badly bruised by his team running away. It is feared he will not survive the accident.

—While loading the ship Selma at Mobile with cotton Fred Nelson fell twenty-five feet and broke his neck, death resulting instantly. Three others were slightly hurt by a chain which fell.

—The Governor has commuted the sentence of John Grover, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree in the Cherokee Circuit Court, from five to two years. Grover was convicted for slaying the abuser of his mother.

—Many cars of brick, stone, lumber, lime, sand and other building materials are daily arriving at Montevallo and work is being pushed on the new building for the Girls' Industrial School. The Southern railway is doing the generous thing by hauling it all free of freight. The school now has over 180 pupils.

—At a dance hall in Selma Bob Holly was killed and Alf Holly fatally wounded. Happy and Devil Hays, who are charged with the deed, escaped. All are negroes.

—Archie Noble was sent to the penitentiary for four years from Carrollton. He is a son of Mrs. Noble, who is serving a life sentence in Georgia for the murder of her husband.

—The Baptist meeting at Greensboro has closed. There were seven conversions. Rev. W. A. Whittle, of Birmingham, assisted in the service.

A CIGARETTE DID IT.

Fire in a Kansas City Jail Causes a Panic Among Prisoners.

Kansas City, Mo.—At 3:30 o'clock Friday morning fire broke out in the Jackson county jail, and for a while it appeared as if the structure would be destroyed and many of the prisoners, 168 in number, cremated. Prompt work by the fire department prevented an awful holocaust, and the damage to the building will be only about $6,000. The first intimation the prisoners had of the fire was when a great wave of smoke rolled through the corridors and into their cells, and then a panic ensued. The male prisoners, although somewhat terrified, were undemonstrative as compared with the women on the upper tier. The women, most of them colored, worked themselves into a frenzy and screamed lustily. The firemen finally quieted them down, and within twenty minutes after their arrival the blaze was under control and half an hour later completely extinguished. The Criminal Court room and Marshall's office were wrecked. The fire was caused by a cigarette.

ARRESTED IN HAVANA.

Key West, Fla.—C. B. Pendleton, editor of the Equator Democrat, of this city, and correspondent of the New York Journal, was arrested Friday morning in Havana. It is reported that there were some irregularities in his passport that caused his detention.

Could we live without reflecting on the past, [illegible] indeed, we would be happy.

WIRE FLASHES.

The Latest News of Interest in Condensed Form.

ON LAND AND SEA.

Tells What is Going on all Over This Busy Country.—Crimes and Causalties Mixed Up with Notes of Industrial Improvement.—Some Business Failures.

—John Dove was hanged at Palo Pinto, Texas, for rape.

—There was a riot in Lowell, Mass., between Armenians and Greeks on one side and French Canadians on the other.

—The Sherrodsville (O.) coal mines have been closed, the 350 miners refusing to accept a reduction from 61 to 45 cents.

—G. A. Gill, proprietor of the South McAlester (I. T.) bank, assigned to W. B. Rutherford; assets, $15,000; liabilities, $37,000.

—The Anaconda Mining Company, at Butte, Mont., has given notice to its men of a cut in wages commencing December 1, from $3.50 to $3 per day.

—Daniel Frohman has secured the control of the two leading theaters in Cincinnati—the Grand Opera House and the Walnut Street Theater.

—Frank Johnson, colored, was hanged at Columbia, Tenn., for the murder of Austin Rye, whom he killed on August 1 last, and afterwards robbed of $5.

—W. S. Forman, of Illinois, the newly appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue, took the oath of office and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

—A shoting affray by which one person was almost instantly killed and two others were so badly injured that they cannot recover, occurred at Duryea, Pa.

—The St. Paul Warehouse and Elevator Company's elevator on Third street, containing 100,000 bushels of oats, was burned. Loss, $80,000; partly insured.

—The Executive Committee of the Texas Live Stock Association have decided to hold the next annual meeting of the association in San Antonio on March 8, 1897.

—The jury in the Burt murder trial at Austin, Texas, handed in their verdict, finding him guilty of murder in the first degree, and fixing punishment at death.

—At Kemela, Ore., in the Blue Mountains, the thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero Friday night. It is feared that much damage to grain will result.

—The report of Brig.-Gen. Coppinger, commander of the department of the Platte, headquarters at Omaha, says the military operations of the year have not been eventful.

—In a saloon row between Polanders and Armenians at Duryer, Pa., Frank Lambert and James Motslee received wounds from which they died, while John Betts is fatally injured.

—The Navy Department has received the report of inquiry, which investigated the condition of the battleship Texas. It is understood to be a severe criticism of the ship.

—On the advice of the Mayor of Vicksburg, Miss., the navy department has designated Miss Addie Trowbridge of that city to christen the new naval vessel Vicksburg, to be launched next month.

—Edward Goschwind, of the Boland & Goschwind Foundry Company, was killed at New Orleans by being struck by the follower head, which blew out while he was repairing the engine.

—Judge Bradley, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, refused to grant Prince Yturbide, of Mexico, a mandamus to compel the Metropolitan Club of that city to reinstate him in membership.

—George E. Ross, receiving money clerk for the Pacific and United States Express companies, at Kansas City, has been located by the security company that furnished bond, and is now under surveilance by them.

—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mine Hill and Schuylkill Railroad it was agreed to adopt the Philadelphia and Reading Company's offer of 6 per cent. on the capital stock of the Mine Hill Company.

—The Secretary of the Treasury has dismissed William R. Morley, engineer of the public building at Denver, Col., for collecting political assessments from Government employees in violation of the civil service law.

—Brig.-Gen. Bliss, commanding the division of Texas, calls attention in his annual report to the desirability of having another troop of cavalry on the Mexican frontier, near El Paso and opposite Jaurez, Mex.

—The amount of money stolen by Jashier John M Hoffer from the National Bank of Lebanon, Pa., is $110,173. There were other transactions with Lebanon banking institutions which, it is said, will swell the total amount of his peculations to $200,000.

—The railroad miners in the Pittsburg district will get the advance they have asked for without trouble. The operators have generally agreed to pay the 61 cent rate after December 1. The miners in the Ohio region will probably get a similar advance.

—Upon application of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York, United States' District Judge Foster, at Topeka, Kas., appointed Dwight Braman, of New York City, receiver of the St. Louis, Kansas and Southwestern Railway Company. The company owns a line sixty miles in length running from Arkansas City to Anthony, Kas.

BLOOD AT A FEAST.

T. W. White Slew James Cox at an Odd Fellows Banquet.

Coalburg, Ala.—A shooting affray took place at a banquet given by the Odd Fellow lodge, at this place, between James Cox, a foreman in the mines, and T. W. White, a convict guard. The first named was shot, dying from the wounds. Both white and Cox are well known about Coalburg. White is in jail at Birmingham. The difficulty did not originate at the banquet.

A FISHERMAN'S STORY.

Exposure Came Near Ending His Life.

From the Press, Utica N. Y.

Mr. William Dale is a highly respected farmer living in that part of the township of Brookfield known as the "Waterman District," and is well known as a thrifty and honorable man of independent means. Three years ago Mr. Dale was disabled from rheumatism in a most aggravated form, which medical skill seemed powerless to relieve, but suddenly he became to all appearance cured, was able to attend to his work, and ever since has been in looks at least the incarnation of sound bodily health.

The following is Mr. Dale's own statement of his case and what wrought the change.

BROOKFIELD, New York, July 14th, 1896.

"I am fifty-one years old, and by birth an Englishman. In my early life I followed the avocation of fisherman, in which by exposure I contracted rheumatism, from which I suffered more or less for many years. About three years ago, I arose one morning to find myself crippled, and the least exertion brought on most excruciating pains, so that I was forced to seek relief by going to bed and remaining motionless. Our family physician was immediately summoned, and he began the usual course of remedies but instead of helping me I became worse. My joints, especially in my left arm were inflamed and hot. I suffered much from derangement of the heart, and constant sweats, which were of a sour, ill smelling nature. My appetite failed me, my tongue was thickly coated, and altogether I was in a bad way. In addition to this, worriment of mind because I could not attend to the spring work on two farms which I owned, made my condition deplorable.

"While in this unhappy state, my friend, Mr. Amos Jaquays, of Columbus Centre, hearing of my illness, came over and recommended me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which he said had cured him of kidney disease. He also stated that William Woodman, whom I had known to be a terrible rheumatic sufferer all his life, was through this remedy now in the best of health.

"To make a long story short, I sent over to Mr. Silas York, who keeps a store and sells groceries by wagon through the county, for a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and began to take them according to directions. The results of the new treatment were astonishing, as after taking nine of the pills I was at work and ever since have done my full share of labor.

"Pink Pills are now our physician. We always keep them in the house, and doctors bills have ceased to be a part of the family expenses.

"These pills are becoming pretty well known in this part of the country, as all who have here used them swear by them, and do all in their power to make their virtues known.

"The above is a true statement, and if necessary I will make oath to the same.

"WM. DALE"

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Bicycles REPAIRING Everything pertaining to bicycles and repairs kept in stock. The best workmen and finest materials in our repair department. Prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Inquiries solicited.

THE LOOSLEY CYCLE CO.. Birmingham, Ala.

Which do you prefer?
Tetter,
Eczema,
or
50 cents?
Better swap all three for
TETTERINE.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.
It Cures all Skin Diseases.

10 WIVES! The true and startling story of Hogan, who wedded ten wives. Full length illustrations. A $1.00 book sent secure and free, by mail for seven two-cent stamps for postage, etc. GEO. MALLORY, Kearney, Mo.

RODS For tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

REGULATE THE LIVER

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES, PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

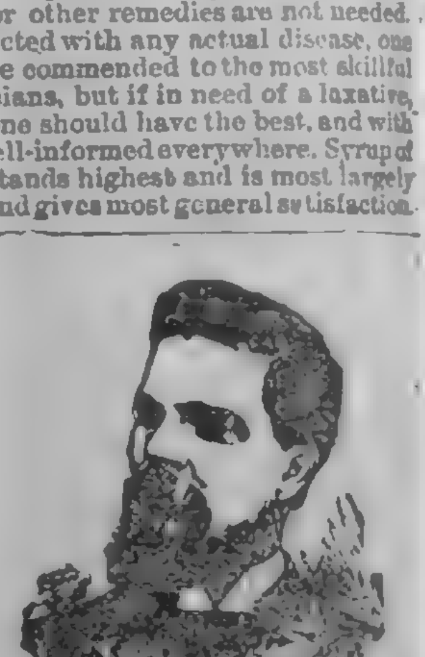
The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed. Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



DR. O. T. DOZIER,

(The Renowned Southern Specialist)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL, all forms of Chronic Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all the results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I take. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blanks for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

Hundreds more of like character, and thousands of high testimonials from patients can be furnished if necessary.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Dr. O. T. Dozier, the head of the Southern Medical Dispensary of Birmingham, Ala., is a man with nearly twenty years' experience in the treatment of chronic, nervous and private diseases and [illegible] success has given him a leading position in the medical profession.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner, and he is known all over the south.

(The Southern Odd Fellow.)

We cannot add anything to the reputation Dr. O. T. Dozier has already acquired in the line of his profession, but we know him to be able [illegible] to carry out every promise he makes to those needing his services.

(Age Herald.)

* * * Dr. Dozier has resided for many years in Birmingham, and each successive year has added to his reputation, to his usefulness and to the esteem in which he is held by our best citizens. His record and approved abilities entitle him to proud distinction of standing as "the head of his profession."

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled [illegible] a high toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, [illegible] honest in all his dealings and thoroughly reliable for all his contracts.

(Daily News, Birmingham.)

Dr. Dozier is a physician and surgeon of eminent skill and experience, [illegible]

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

By Dr. Dozier's professional standing he is a gentleman above reproach.

Address DR. O. T. DOZIER, Lock Box 112, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Why Let Your Chickens, Hogs Cattle and Horses Die? Dr. Salmon's Medicines [illegible] VETERINARY MEDICINE CO., Nashville, Tenn.

WE PAY SALARY [illegible] ant work, no canvassing. Experience not necessary. [illegible] STANDARD CO., 143 W. 23d St., N. Y.

Am. N.U. No. 49. 1896.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THU MISSING ISSUE NO. 8

LIVING POPULISM.

TOM WATSON MAKES A FEW REMARKS.

"It Has Called the Masses Into Such Life and Strength as They Have Not Had for a Generation.

People's Party Paper:

Its glory has been that it made its appeal directly to the people, sought to educate them, and tried to organize them in the behalf of better government.

As a school teacher, no political party ever made swifter headway than ours. We have educated the masses as fast as we could reach them, wherever people would listen converts were made. And no man ever returned to either of the old parties after having become a populist in principle.

It is true that our cause has suffered much damage at the hands of extremists. Radical ranters who burlesqued populism rather than illustrated it have prejudiced thousands against us. The fire-eaters who make war upon private ownership of property and who seem possessed by an insane desire to level everything in sight, alarm and disgust many a citizen whose heart and whose vote would be with us if he understood us just as we are.

During the recent campaign populist doctrines stood a better chance to get a fair hearing than ever before. When the democratic party adopted our platform at Chicago, we at once gained the ear of an immense audience which, up to that hour, had been hopelessly hostile to us. And now that the campaign is over, the moral victory which populism won at Chicago is still ours. No democrat can ever hereafter be heard to abuse or ridicule a creed which his party formally embraced.

Not only has populism done magnificent work as an educator, but it has achieved a yet more signal triumph as a liberator of the human mind from the slavery of party domination.

It has smashed party ties right and left. It has broken the idols of the market-place in a manner beautiful to behold. It has well-nigh abolished the party lash. It has utterly abolished social ostracism for political opinion's sake. No citizen any longer hesitates to take sides with any party he likes, or to vote for any candidate he prefers. The day of political persecution is over—even in the south—and populism did it!

Not only has our reform movement educated and liberalized the masses, but it leavened both the old parties until they themselves throb with the restless movement of the people. Never before did two campaign managers work harder to satisfy the minds of the common people than did Jones and Hanna. Never before did fact, argument and illustration count for so much in an election. Never before was so much economic literature printed, distributed and read.

A few years ago what did the campaign literature consist of? Lies, mostly. The democrats would get out a slander or two on Blaine or Garfield, and the republicans would concern their virtuous souls with a defect or so in Cleveland's moral character; and the contest was fought out on the old frayed and frazzled line of "Force-Bill" on one side, and "Bloody-shirt" on the other.

Look into the campaign books of the two old parties, a few years back, and see how much space is given to mere scandals, and how little to economic principles!

In this campaign all was changed—and populism has done it.

Everybody sought information. The voter wanted light. He demanded to know the facts. The printing presses groaned night and day to supply the demand.

The impression prevails that Mark Hanna's money bought McKinley's election. We do not share that opinion. It is practically impossible to bribe people by the million.

McKinley was elected because the republican writers and speakers were able to hold their men together, while Bryan's forces were scattered by bad management.

The populist theory of money is the only one which can successfully meet the "sound money" argument, and Bryan lost votes because our democratic allies were not willing to adopt our line of reasoning.

But although the campaign is over, the discussion of the money question goes right on.

It has received a mighty impulse which keeps it moving. And so greatly disturbed is Mark Hanna over the outlook, that he proposes to continue the republican campaign organization, and to keep it at work.

Thus has populism been doing its work. It has put down party despotism. It has erased the lines of sectionalism. It has brought politics to a battle of economic doctrines. It has forced the money question to the front. It has called the masses into such life and strength as they have not had for a generation. It has abolished political intolerance. It has made huge inroads upon political ignorance.

Let us not be discouraged, comrades. Good government does not happen by accident.

Under great disadvantages, we have fought a good fight. We must not falter nor fall back. The path of duty leads onward, and we must press forward therein. T. E. W.

The coal trust has taken advantage of the business boom to raise the price twenty-five cents per ton. This means a clear additional profit to the trust of fifty million dollars. It seems to us that the boom has hit the wrong end of business.

WHO WAS IT STRUCK HIM?

An Exchange Wants to Know Who Hit Billy Patterson.

Nonconformist: Looking to the states that were expected to give a majority for Mr. Bryan, but which went for McKinley, we find some significant things. In the states of Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Wyoming, California, Oregon and the Dakotas, all of which are in the McKinley column, or are saved by a scratch, a change of 25,000 or 30,000 votes in the eight states would have reversed the election and sent Mr. Bryan to the White House.

Now, why were not those states carried by Mr. Bryan?

The answer is obvious.

In all these states, except West Virginia, the populist vote was a considerable factor, and in several of them this vote was largely driven to stay at home by the unreasonable demands of the democrats, that the populists surrender their organization and become "democrats." This they could not and would not do. It is true that finally, just before opening the polls, fair union terms were agreed upon, but it was too late to repair the damage done in the earlier part of the campaign. It was too late to heal the sores or hide the scars made early in the summer. If the democratic party had stopped when Mr. Bryan had been named for the presidency, and had recognized the fact that others than "democrats" desired free silver or monetary reform, and had referred the completion of the ticket to the expected allies that were to meet in two national conventions, July 22, at St. Louis, thus gracefully acknowledging in advance the services tendered, it would have opened the way for a union of forces that would have contained none of the elements of weakness that carried defeat to the standard bearer of the allied parties on the 3d of November. Monetary reform is postponed for four more years through the stubborn party greed that demanded all, and only yielded at a late hour what was wrung from it by half-disheartened, half-disgusted allies.

The nomination of Mr. Bryan was well done, but when it was accomplished, there appeared to be still a hankering for the "flesh-pots of Egypt," and an effort was made to throw a tub to the Eastern whale in the shape of a vice-presidential nomination that was in itself an insult to the expected allies. Some of them swallowed their chagrin, but the populists being longer trained in the needs of a campaign for reform, knew that a victory of that sort would be "apples of Sodom," turning to ashes at the touch of the possessor. Some populists were even willing to sacrifice all party pride and accept the professions of the so-called "regenerated democracy," trusting all to them, but a large portion of the party could not be seduced to such a course.

After concessions were made, the populists very generally accepted the situation and assisted in carrying out the plans matured by those placed in charge of party affairs.

The writer was one of those who wished things could have been arranged otherwise, but when the party conventions and officials had done all in their power, it was a choice of accepting the union effected or voting for McKinley, and there was no hesitancy in making up the decision.

Elsewhere in this paper is pointed out the tendency of late converts or new recruits to backslide, or return to old issues. Our only hope lies in a more perfect organization of the populist party, and the keeping intact of all its educational forces. The populist party is responsible for the great popular uprising, and it must keep abreast in the way of organization, nor slacken in any respect its efforts along the line marked out by the St. Louis platform.

ABOUT THE FUTURE.

Depression in Business Did Not Prevent Corporations and Trusts from Making Money.

It is a generally acepted fact that business has never been so dull as during the past year. There have been many failures and thousands of business houses have only been able to keep out of bankruptcy by borrowing money at usurious rates, sacrificing property and reducing expenses to a minimum. This has resulted in widespread hardships and misery to thousands of people. Of course there is no question, now that the election is over, that there will be a general revival in all lines of business, but how about the past year? Did the depression in business and the tightness of the money market prevent the trusts from making any money. Not n the least. The monopolies realized their usual enormous profits and they will continue to make money for several years, now that McKinley is elected.

The Standard Oil Company paid in dividends to its stockholders during the fiscal year ending November 1, the sum of $30,149,500. This represents quarterly dividends of 3 per cent and an additional dividend every quarter.

The American Sugar Refining Company, commonly termed the sugar trust, paid to its stockholders during the same period $7,023,120 in dividends. In addition to this enormous sum the trust has a surplus of $30,000,000 in sugar, bills and cash which has accumulated during the past year.

All of the other big trusts have made a great deal of money during the past year. The Western Union Telegraph Company, which has practically a monopoly of the telegraph business of the country, paid in dividends about $7,000,000. The United States Leather Company, which fixes the price of every pair of boots and shoes that is sold, has cleared immense profits. The nail trust, meat monopoly, rubber trust and anthracite coal trust have amassed large sums despite the business stagnation.

It is pertinent at this time to ask what will President-elect McKinley do with these monopolies? If it is true, and there seems not a particle of doubt of it, that Mr. McKinley was nominated and elected largely through the assistance of the trusts, there is little prospect of any immediate relief for the people through the enforcement of the law. The only recourse for the ridden citizens of the United States is to wait patiently and put their faith in the future. At present the outlook is far from encouraging, but it is hoped that the people will be able to bear the present condition of things a little longer. It is certainly exasperating to be compelled to pay exorbitant prices for every necessary of life and to believe that the next administration will be as indifferent to the woes of the people as is the present one. Nevertheless, let us hope for the best and trust that Mr. McKinley's conduct of the affairs of state will result in a greater measure of prosperity and happiness than has been the lot of millions of citizens during the past few years.—Arkansas Gazette.

Confidence.

It cannot be denied that there is a great deal in the business world depending upon confidence, but we scarcely dare to hope that confidence alone will restore prosperity to this country. When banks and capitalists put their money out, either as a loan or an investment, they must of course have "confidence" that they will not only receive back the principal, but a return for the use of their money. If conditions are such that the value of their money is appreciating, the security they demand must be gilt-edge, and but few are able to give it. As a result, money is hoarded because as it is appreciating in value and all commodities depreciating in the same ratio, no man wants to trade money for commodities, or invest it in enterprise. This hoarding, therefore, not only aggravates the situation until something takes place that "restores confidence" and induces men to let go of their money. It is claimed that the election of Mr. McKinley will do this, and we sincerely hope that it will. We are frank to confess, however, that we can see no good, substantial reason why it should do so, other than the one that it is a change from Grover Cleveland. The general opinion is that it cannot be any worse, and the universal hope is that it may be for the better. For this reason alone we may hope to see better times under the McKinley administration than we have had under that of Cleveland. But the republicans make no pretense of doing anything that will materially aid in establishing permanent prosperity. We will have the same grinding of trusts and relentless taxation by railroad corporations. The usury mill will continue to add to its grists and take its customary toll. The landlord will not reduce his rent, and there is no probability of increase of wages for the workingman. There is no visible prospect of a rise in the products of the farm to even equal the cost of production. There may be a temporary period of prosperity, but it will likely be for those only who are able financially to manipulate it all in their own interests. The speculator may profit by a temporary stimulation of prices, but by the time it reaches the outer edges of the great industrial world it will probably have spent its force without having benefited to any great extent the real producers of wealth.

The Political Preachers.

The political preachers have not all ceased haranguing their congregations on politics. One of these is Rev. J. H. Morron, of Peoria, Ill., who, last Sunday, offered the following prayer at the close of the services at the Second Presbyterian church: "Oh, Lord, we thank Thee for this house of worship. We thank Thee for this prayer service. We thank Thee for the mission fields and the missionaries. To-night, Oh, Lord, we especially thank Thee that our missionaries, working in foreign lands will not be compelled to have their beggarly stipends cut in two, that they will not have to labor for 50-cent dollars, but will be paid in full." This "prayer" caused considerable amazement among the congregation and well it might. It is hoped that Mr. Morron will get a few standard books on political economy and finance and endeavor to learn something about such matters, and the money question in particular. It is certainly too bad that the missionaries were in danger of being paid 50-cent dollars for their arduous work of converting the heathen, and it is extremely gratifying to learn that all such danger is now past. It may be remarked, incidentally, however, that there is no such thing as a 50-cent dollar, and it is apparent that the reverend gentleman has been mislead by reading gold-bug newspapers or listening to some of Hanna's hired howlers.—Arkansas Gazette.

Why England Is Rich.

The interest on $10,000,000,000 at 6 per cent would be $600,000,000 a year. Can any nation stand that? An "Eminent English authority" has been widely quoted as saying: "The interest from money loaned and profits of investments of English capital in the states amounted to $727,000,000 last year." The records of the London stock exchange last year show the English people held $12,500,000,000 of foreign securities. Mr. Gladstone said a few weeks ago that English investments and debts abroad were probably far above £2,000,000,000—Golden Rule.

Truth can be delayed but not killed.

IS FOR HUMANITY.

FIRST SERVICE OF THE UNION CHURCH.

Rev. Flavius J. Brobst Fearless in His Flaying of the Slave Masters of Today —Prelude and Sermon of Marked Interest.

A large audience was present in the Grand Opera House, Chicago, recently at the initial services of the "Union Church Association," of which Rev. Flavius J. Brobst is pastor.

"Henry Ward Beecher's fight against slavery, with reference to present conditions," was the subject of the prelude. The speaker began by telling what the famous orator had to contend with when he undertook to fight slavery. "The press," said he, "was either silent or against him. The merchants of the land ridiculed him. He was lampooned and caricatured throughout the country. The pulpit was enraged at his broad interpretation of scripture. Mobs were organized and bitter and malignant threats made. His very name became a synonym for everything that was low and mean. Yet under this fire the great Beecher only grew more determined. It served only to lift him to sublimer heights, and the battle royal was kept up for over twenty years before humanity achieved its splendid victory.

"But the slave master we have to contend with now is more subtle, more ferocious. He dominates the country and the world. He is many times richer and more arrogant than of old. He is very respectable. The pulpit calls it a divine institution—this slavery—and assaults any man who dares criticise it."

The speaker, referring to N. D. Hillis, a south side preacher and his utterances during the late campaign, said that he was "trying to make out of the grand American emblem the black flag of piracy. The men whom George Washington fought, the English George III., had some parts," said he, "that appealed to one, but the shylocks of our day arouse all the opposition of my heart. The degenerate successor of Beecher," he continued, "lent the influence of his own paper that the shylock system might succeed."

The sound of Parkhurst's name was greeted with hisses. The speaker scored a strong point when speaking of this sensational New York preacher, he said: "See the inconsistency of this man. Before the election he lent his assistance to the gold power, and last Sunday he decried the ladies of his congregation because they bought goods in the cheapest places, and thus helped starve the sewing girl. But he himself did a thousand times more harm to the servant girl and all wage earners when he upheld the gold standard." Continuing his prelude, he attacked a west side minister for his words in favor of gold monopoly before election and his recent assault against trusts.

The sermon which followed was on the theme, "Comrades of the Almighty." His sermon was a masterly one, and he fearlessly laid his lash on the ministers who supported monopoly and abandoned the interests of their flock. "They would like," said he, "to have us spend out of our hearts and minds the principles we stood for because gold has temporarily triumphed, but one day they shall see the monopoly of greed struck by the cause of humanity, and it shall go down never to rise again."

The aim and object of the new church was then enlarged upon by J. T. Sutherland, who stated that it would be religious, humanitarian and social. It was destined to be especially conspicuous by its social features. He laid great stress on the point that every one was free to give what he chose or thought he was able to give, but everyone was welcome. It was men they wanted and not their money.

SCAPEGOATS.

An Alleged Agreement Between Senator Jones and Marion Butler.

A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times-Herald is responsible for the following:

"Altgeld, Tillman and Debs are to be dropped from the silver combination. Before Senator Jones and other free silver leaders left Chicago last week they agreed upon a line of policy for the coming four years." Whether or not they will be able to follow it is another matter, but I am able to tell with accuracy the nature of their agreement. They decided the agitation for free coinage of silver must go on. They wish, however, to cut loose from Altgeld, who, they claim, was a millstone around Bryan's neck; from Tillman, whose uncouth and violent utterances were the cause of much alarm, and from Debs, whose prominence in the campaign for Bryan alarmed all friends of social order and industrial peace.

"Moreover, the silver campaign of the future is to be waged without any complicating conditions, such as the attack upon the Supreme court and upon the power of the president to suppress disorder which interferes with interstate commerce. It was agreed by Senators Jones, Butler and their confreres that if it had not been for Altgeld, Tillman and Debs the unwise attack upon the Supreme court and the unnecessary condemnation of President Cleveland in order to please Altgeld, Bryan would have won the election.

"Senators Jones and Butler had no difficulty in reaching an agreement that Senators Jones and Butler are to be the two big men of the silver movement of the future. They are already laying their plans for bringing Bryan into their combination, though they do not agree that Bryan shall have the nomination in 1900. They want him to take the leadership in a campaign of education that is shortly to be set in motion, and if he does so with the idea that he is sure to be the candidate four years hence that is his lookout. Senator Butler has given a pledge to support the movement and he is relied upon to swing the populists into line again. Senator Jones has no sort of doubt that his own leadership in the democratic ranks will be acquiesced in without question."

The probabilities are that the above is a pure fiction, but it will be accepted as true until officially denied. Perhaps it is only a shrewd guess, based on the universal disposition of the fellow who is beaten to look about for a scapegoat to carry the burden of his sins into the wilderness of oblivion.

If it is true, Messrs. Jones and Butler have undertaken a contract that is likely to embarrass them. The rank and file who have followed these blunderers to defeat are not tendering any vote of thanks to Jones or Butler just now. Mr. Bryan's letter to Mr. Jones was characteristically courteous and magnanimous, but does not reflect the sentiments of the public.

Jones and Butler are hardly in a position to read other leaders out of the party, and reach the climax of absurdity when they presume to make a platform and nominate a candidate for 1900.—Civic Review.

RURAL WISDOM.

The Farm Products Which Are the Farmer's Income Should Not Be Taxed.

The farmers assembled in national congress at Indianapolis have taken the bull by the horns and come out plainly for what plutocrats usually style anarchy, but which common sense defines as much-needed reform. They take strong exceptions to the decision of the Supreme Court on the income tax law and declare that inasmuch as the farmers' income includes all the products of the farm, all farm products should be exempt from taxation or assessment. To the agricultural districts the supreme judges might well repair to learn the common sense interpretation of law, and should the provision levying taxes upon farm products be taken before the same supreme court that decided the income tax law unconstitutional, that tribunal could not consistently hold a different view on the income of the farmer, but consistency is no jewel with that august body: its decisions are based upon the financial standing of the parties interested in the controversy up for adjudication, and should a farmer attempt to have a law taxing him declared unconstitutional, the judges would no doubt give him the "horse laugh" and have him sent to jail for contempt of court. That is generally a poor man's portion.

They did not stop with this timely jab at the courts, but passed resolutions demanding that the existing laws against trusts be enforced by the authorities, and that where they are not strong enough they should be made stronger. The farmers perhaps see the direct effect of trusts more than any other class, and are very active in their demands to have the law applied. But why is the law not enforced? We have executive officers enough to enforce them; if they fail they can call upon the militia; if that fails they can call upon the United States army. But, who ever heard of the military being brought into play to make trusts or corporations respect the law? It is an unknown circumstance and will probably always remain an unseen spectacle. That force is reserved to pump lead into working people. The authorities do not wait for workingmen to break a law; the military is called out in anticipation of law breaking, but which seldom occurs until peanut-headed military officials force it.

Committee after committee has been appointed by both congress and state legislatures to investigate charges against trusts, but in some mysterious manner nothing has ever been done. Evidence of the existence of trusts and combines has been gathered in profusion by committees of congress, but according to an established custom it is always sidetracked before it reaches a focus and the trusts live on and flourish, flaunting the emblem of corruption in the faces of the people who are led to believe that they have representatives in congress.

May the expressions of these farmers grow until they sweep the country. —St. Louis Evening Journal.

Government Telegraphs.

Why should not every postoffice be a telegraph station under government control?

Strike your congressman while the iron is hot for government control of the telegraph.

Make the subject of government control of the telegraph a matter of interest to candidates for congress of any and all parties.

Last year the telegraph lines of Great Britain, owned by the government, transmitted over 80,000,000 messages. In this country the Western Union monopoly handled very little over two-thirds that number. However, what the matter lacked in business it more than made up in charges. The difference is that on the other side the business is done at cost for the benefit of all the people, while in this country users of the telegraph are compelled to pay all that the traffic will bear for the benefit of a private monopoly. How much longer are we going to stand it? Relief is in sight. See or write to your senators and congressmen and insist that they vote for the bills now pending in both houses for the establishment of a postal telegraph.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

There Is No Improvement Except in Holiday Goods.

BANK CLEARANCES ARE OFF.

Pig Iron, Steel, Hides, Leather and Grain Show a Downward Tendency. —Congress Has Affected Trade.— —Money in Abundant Supplies and Lending to London Continues.

New York, N. Y.—Bradstreet's report says:

There has ben no improvement in general trade this week except in holiday specialties. At Augusta, Louisville, Nashville, Charleston, Chattanooga, Cincinnati and Memphis, the condition of business is unchanged. Like reports come from Cleveland, Providence, Chicago, Omaha and Duluth, where activity is confined to the retail demand for holiday goods, and requests for staples continue moderate. The situation at Milwaukee, Galveston and Birmingham, Ala., is characterized as disappointing, but at St. Paul and Minneapolis there is more active demand for drugs, groceries, shoes and hats, and at Jacksonville, Savannah, Atlanta and New Orleans for staple goods. Distribution of merchandise in Texas has been checked by those who have held back cotton, awaiting higher prices. Unseasonable weather has again delayed demand for winter goods, and the approach of the period for stock-taking will prolong the season of dullness well into next month.

The tendency of prices is more conspicuously downward, noticeably for Bessemer pig iron, steel, billets, rails, hides, leather, flour, wheat, corn, oats, lard, cotton and petroleum. Comparatively steady quotations are reported for raw wool, print cloths, lumber, pork and sugar. Coffee is higher.

November gross railroad earnings, as expected, are the poorest for over two years. Total November earnings of 115 companies aggregate $38,154,762, a decrease of 10 per cent. from 1895, where there was a gain of 6.3 per cent. over November, 1894.

Bank clearings show the expected falling off, amounting to $1,005,700,000, or 15 per cent. less than in the preceding week.

There were 381 business failures reported in the United States this week, another increase, as compared with the average in recent weeks, and 68 more than in the like week one year ago.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of the trade, say:

The approach of the holidays and the doubt about the action of Congress put off further improvement until the new year. While industries have gained in working force, they are waiting for commensurate gain in demand, and meanwhile are trying to clear the away embarrassments which restrict them. Speculation has been halting and timid.

There is no sober-minded fear of foreign difficulty, but some have succeeded in imagining that Congress might go so far beyond the President's message regarding Cuba as to embroil this country with Spain. Money is in abundant supply. Lending to London continues, and there is nothing to cause less activity in general business except that the rush of orders deferred until after the election has not been continued. The volume of business showed by clearings has been for the week 5.2 per cent. smaller than last year. Scanty returns for December embrace so bad a report of St. Paul that they fell 16.4 per cent. below those of 1892, and earnings on United States roads amounting to $37,026,266 in November were 10.9 per cent. less that last year and 12.2 less than in 1892.

Cotton has declined 3.16 in spite of all stories that the crop had been nearly marketed and continues to come forward steadily. With over five million bales in sight, there are estimates based on Government reports that the yield is 8,300,000 to come forward in eight months and three weeks. When the official report first came there was a rush of buyers; a few minutes turned the current, and a rapid decline followed.

The iron output December 1 was 142,278 tons weekly, against 124,[illegible] November 1, and 213,797 a year ago, and unsold stocks reported were 31,[illegible] tons smaller than November 1, but these do not include stocks of the great steel companies. The entire industry is greatly demoralized by uncertainty regarding the great combinations.

Textile industries are working a larger force than in October, but there is not much evidence of larger demand, and some kinds of goods are accumulating. As raw cotton is lower, some yielding in prices of staples is expected, and buying is on that account more restrcted, a few qualities of goods having slightly declined. Print cloths are weak in tone with enormous stocks woolen goods are not in better demand, and there is a general disposition to make commitments ahead. Sales of wool in two weeks 14,378,900 pounds against 11,990,200 last year, are this year largely between traders, as the mills find at present little encouragement to buy, and London sales are a shade weaker. Quotations are not changed, though more frequent concessions are reported.

Failures for the week have been [illegible] in the United States against 338 last year, and 43 in Canada against 54 last year.

Advertising pays. Try it.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1896. NO. 8

The most of the business revival is in the newspapers.

Hard times don't affect the mortgage. It goes right along.

The prosperity we get now will be of the republican brand.

The banks are now demanding the [illegible] of greenbacks.

The principle of direct legislation is the only hope of the republic.

No poor man was ever afflicted with [illegible]. This is a disease of the [illegible].

The next thing we look for from the [illegible] is a decision that the greenback is unconstitutional.

The corporations are the greatest [illegible], yet they are continually [illegible] the cry of anarchy.

Most of the prosperity seems to be in the [illegible] papers only. What's the matter with confidence?

Control of the currency means control of prices. Do you want to leave it in the hands of bankers?

[illegible] there is in the silver question is that it is only a step toward [illegible] of a purely scientific [illegible].

There is no more fruitful source of corruption in politics than that which [illegible] from corporate ownership of [illegible].

[illegible] principle an income tax is founded upon the law [illegible] should bear the [illegible].

[illegible] of the demands of the people's [illegible] the paramount issue in some [illegible] of the south is a free ballot [illegible].

People in this country who want a [illegible] should go to Europe; and [illegible] in Europe who don't like a republic should stay there.

It is generally admitted that the [illegible] boom is based on confidence, but it is not so clear what confidence is based upon.

General prosperity must be based on [illegible] prices for farm products, and [illegible] can only be secured through cheap money and cheap transportation.

The people's party should be perpetuated if it never elects a man to office. It has forced both the old parties to the discussion of economic questions.

Senator Caffery, of Louisiana, is in favor of retiring the greenbacks, and many of the southern leaders would be [illegible] along with him if the matter came up.

The bankers want the government to go out of the banking business. Of course! The people should compel the bankers to go out of the government business.

When you hear a rich plutocrat talking about honest money and the nation's [illegible], investigate his taxes and [illegible] out of ten you will find him a tax dodger.

Whenever the demand for property and money is equal the volume is sufficient. This may be more or less, depending on the amount of business and the facilities for quick transfers.

The corporations seem to be ushering in prosperity by discharging some of their men. The people are taking note of all these things and will play even at the first opportunity at the polls.

No man who ever investigated the system of public ownership of railways and telegraphs can furnish any valid objections, and those who have not so investigated should not try to urge objections.

The postal system is paternalism; the school system is paternalism; the public road system is paternalism; government itself is paternalism; yet the word often scares people who don't think out of their boots.

The republicans will scarcely try the experiment of making any considerable additions to the already high tariff. They may make some changes, but the set-back they received in 1892 will make them cautious about tariff legislation.

The wages of coal miners at Jackson, [illegible], have been reduced from 61 cents to [illegible] cents per ton, since the election. The trust has raised the price of coal [illegible] cents per ton. This is all on account of the business boom and returning confidence. Great thing—for the coal barons.

Gold is a coward; it never fights [illegible] when it is most needed it sneaks [illegible] and hides; it only comes out when there is no danger, and has always been used as a leverage to rob the common people. Its use as money is a relic of barbarism and unworthy of the civilization of the nineteenth century.

The Silver-Knight says: "This is no time for the silver democrats and populists to berate one another. Why, their honeymoon is hardly over." It may be all right about the honeymoon, but from present appearances, divorce proceedings are already filed. Someone seems to have violated the marriage bed.

LIVING POPULISM.

TOM WATSON MAKES A FEW REMARKS.

"It Has Called the Masses Into Such Life and Strength as They Have Not Had for a Generation.

People's Party Paper:

Its glory has been that it made its appeal directly to the people, sought to educate them, and tried to organize them in the behalf of better government.

As a school teacher, no political party ever made swifter headway than ours. We have educated the masses as fast as we could reach them, wherever people would listen converts were made. And no man ever returned to either of the old parties after having become a populist in principle.

It is true that our cause has suffered much damage at the hands of extremists. Radical ranters who burlesqued populism rather than illustrated it have prejudiced thousands against us. The fire-eaters who make war upon private ownership of property and who seem possessed by an insane desire to level everything in sight, alarm and disgust many a citizen whose heart and whose vote would be with us if he understood us just as we are.

During the recent campaign populist doctrines stood a better chance to get a fair hearing than ever before. When the democratic party adopted our platform at Chicago, we at once gained the ear of an immense audience which, up to that hour, had been hopelessly hostile to us. And now that the campaign is over, the moral victory which populism won at Chicago is still ours. No democrat can ever hereafter be heard to abuse or ridicule a creed which his party formally embraced.

Not only has populism done magnificent work as an educator, but it has achieved a yet more signal triumph as a liberator of the human mind from the slavery of party domination.

It has smashed party ties right and left. It has broken the idols of the market-place in a manner beautiful to behold. It has well-nigh abolished the party lash. It has utterly abolished social ostracism for political opinion's sake. No citizen any longer hesitates to take sides with any party he likes, or to vote for any candidate he prefers. The day of political persecution is over—even in the south—and populism did it!

Not only has our reform movement educated and liberalized the masses, but it leavened both the old parties until they themselves throb with the restless movement of the people. Never before did two campaign managers work harder to satisfy the minds of the common people than did Jones and Hanna. Never before did fact, argument and illustration count for so much in an election. Never before was so much economic literature printed, distributed and read.

A few years ago what did the campaign literature consist of? Lies, mostly. The democrats would get out a slander or two on Blaine or Garfield, and the republicans would concern their virtuous souls with a defect or so in Cleveland's moral character; and the contest was fought out on the old frayed and frazzled line of "Force-Bill" on one side, and "Bloody-shirt" on the other.

Look into the campaign books of the two old parties, a few years back, and see how much space is given to mere scandals, and how little to economic principles!

In this campaign all was changed—and populism has done it.

Everybody sought information. The voter wanted light. He demanded to know the facts. The printing presses groaned night and day to supply the demand.

The impression prevails that Mark Hanna's money bought McKinley's election. We do not share that opinion. It is practically impossible to bribe people by the million.

McKinley was elected because the republican writers and speakers were able to hold their men together, while Bryan's forces were scattered by bad management.

The populist theory of money is the only one which can successfully meet the "sound money" argument, and Bryan lost votes because our democratic allies were not willing to adopt our line of reasoning.

But although the campaign is over, the discussion of the money question goes right on.

It has received a mighty impulse which keeps it moving. And so greatly disturbed is Mark Hanna over the outlook, that he proposes to continue the republican campaign organization, and to keep it at work.

Thus has populism been doing its work. It has put down party despotism. It has erased the lines of sectionalism. It has brought politics to a battle of economic doctrines. It has forced the money question to the front. It has called the masses into such life and strength as they have not had for a generation. It has abolished political intolerance. It has made huge inroads upon political ignorance.

Let us not be discouraged, comrades. Good government does not happen by accident.

Under great disadvantages, we have fought a good fight. We must not falter nor fall back. The path of duty leads onward, and we must press forward therein.

T. E. W.

The coal trust has taken advantage of the business boom to raise the price twenty-five cents per ton. This means a clear additional profit to the trust of fifty million dollars. It seems to us that the boom has hit the wrong end of business.

WHO WAS IT STRUCK HIM?

An Exchange Wants to Know Who Hit Billy Patterson.

Nonconformist: Looking to the states that were expected to give a majority for Mr. Bryan, but which went for McKinley, we find some significant things. In the states of Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Wyoming, California, Oregon and the Dakotas, all of which are in the McKinley column, or are saved by a scratch, a change of 25,000 or 30,000 votes in the eight states would have reversed the election and sent Mr. Bryan to the White House.

Now, why were not those states carried by Mr. Bryan?

The answer is obvious.

In all these states, except West Virginia, the populist vote was a considerable factor, and in several of them this vote was largely driven to stay at home by the unreasonable demands of the democrats, that the populists surrender their organization and become "democrats." This they could not and would not do. It is true that finally, just before opening the polls, fair union terms were agreed upon, but it was too late to repair the damage done in the earlier part of the campaign. It was too late to heal the sores or hide the scars made early in the summer. If the democratic party had stopped when Mr. Bryan had been named for the presidency, and had recognized the fact that others than "democrats" desired free silver or monetary reform, and had referred the completion of the ticket to the expected allies that were to meet in two national conventions, July 22, at St. Louis, thus gracefully acknowledging in advance the services tendered, it would have opened the way for a union of forces that would have contained none of the elements of weakness that carried defeat to the standard bearer of the allied parties on the 3d of November. Monetary reform is postponed for four more years through the stubborn party greed that demanded all, and only yielded at a late hour what was wrung from it by half-disheartened, half-disgusted allies.

The nomination of Mr. Bryan was well done, but when it was accomplished, there appeared to be still a hankering for the "flesh-pots of Egypt," and an effort was made to throw a tub to the Eastern whale in the shape of a vice-presidential nomination that was in itself an insult to the expected allies. Some of them swallowed their chagrin, but the populists being longer trained in the needs of a campaign for reform, knew that a victory of that sort would be "apples of Sodom," turning to ashes at the touch of the possessor. Some populists were even willing to sacrifice all party pride and accept the professions of the so-called "regenerated democracy," trusting all to them, but a large portion of the party could not be seduced to such a course.

After concessions were made, the populists very generally accepted the situation and assisted in carrying out the plans matured by those placed in charge of party affairs.

The writer was one of those who wished things could have been arranged otherwise, but when the party conventions and officials had done all in their power, it was a choice of accepting the union effected or voting for McKinley, and there was no hesitancy in making up the decision.

Elsewhere in this paper is pointed out the tendency of late converts or new recruits to backslide, or return to old issues. Our only hope lies in a more perfect organization of the populist party, and the keeping intact of all its educational forces. The populist party is responsible for the great popular uprising, and it must keep abreast in the way of organization, nor slacken in any respect its efforts along the line marked out by the St. Louis platform.

ABOUT THE FUTURE.

Depression in Business Did Not Prevent Corporations and Trusts from Making Money.

It is a generally acepted fact that business has never been so dull as during the past year. There have been many failures and thousands of business houses have only been able to keep out of bankruptcy by borrowing money at usurious rates, sacrificing property and reducing expenses to a minimum. This has resulted in widespread hardships and misery to thousands of people. Of course there is no question, now that the election is over, that there will be a general revival in all lines of business, but how about the past year? Did the depression in business and the tightness of the money market prevent the trusts from making any money. Not n the least. The monopolies realized their usual enormous profits and they will continue to make money for several years, now that McKinley is elected.

The Standard Oil Company paid in dividends to its stockholders during the fiscal year ending November 1, the sum of $30,149,500. This represents quarterly dividends of 3 per cent and an additional dividend every quarter.

The American Sugar Refining Company, commonly termed the sugar trust, paid to its stockholders during the same period $7,023,120 in dividends. In addition to this enormous sum the trust has a surplus of $30,000,000 in sugar, bills and cash which has accumulated during the past year.

All of the other big trusts have made a great deal of money during the past year. The Western Union Telegraph Company, which has practically a monopoly of the telegraph business of the country, paid in dividends about $7,000,000. The United States Leather Company, which fixes the price of every pair of boots and shoes that is sold, has cleared immense profits. The nail trust, meat monopoly, rubber trust and anthracite coal trust have amassed large sums despite the business stagnation.

It is pertinent at this time to ask what will President-elect McKinley do with these monopolies? If it is true, and there seems not a particle of doubt of it, that Mr. McKinley was nominated and elected largely through the assistance of the trusts, there is little prospect of any immediate relief for the people through the enforcement of the law. The only recourse for the ridden citizens of the United States is to wait patiently and put their faith in the future. At present the outlook is far from encouraging, but it is hoped that the people will be able to bear the present condition of things a little longer. It is certainly exasperating to be compelled to pay exorbitant prices for every necessary of life and to believe that the next administration will be as indifferent to the woes of the people as is the present one. Nevertheless, let us hope for the best and trust that Mr. McKinley's conduct of the affairs of state will result in a greater measure of prosperity and happiness than has been the lot of millions of citizens during the past few years.—Arkansas Gazette.

Confidence.

It cannot be denied that there is a great deal in the business world depending upon confidence, but we scarcely dare to hope that confidence alone will restore prosperity to this country. When banks and capitalists put their money out, either as a loan or an investment, they must of course have "confidence" that they will not only receive back the principal, but a return for the use of their money. If conditions are such that the value of their money is appreciating, the security they demand must be gilt-edge, and but few are able to give it. As a result, money is hoarded because as it is appreciating in value and all commodities depreciating in the same ratio, no man wants to trade money for commodities, or invest it in enterprise. This hoarding, therefore, not only aggravates the situation until something takes place that "restores confidence" and induces men to let go of their money. It is claimed that the election of Mr. McKinley will do this, and we sincerely hope that it will. We are frank to confess, however, that we cansee no good, substantial reason why it should do so, other than the one that it is a change from Grover Cleveland. The general opinion is that it cannot be any worse, and the universal hope is that it may be for the better. For this reason alone we may hope to see better times under the McKinley administration than we have had under that of Cleveland. But the republicans make no pretense of doing anything that will materially aid in establishing permanent prosperity. We will have the same grinding of trusts and relentless taxation by railroad corporations. The usury mill will continue to add to its grists and take its customary toll. The landlord will not reduce his rent, and there is no probability of increase of wages for the workingman. There is no visible prospect of a rise in the products of the farm to even equal the cost of production. There may be a temporary period of prosperity, but it will likely be for those only who are able financially to manipulate it all in their own interests. The speculator may profit by a temporary stimulation of prices, but by the time it reaches the outer edges of the great industrial world it will probably have spent its force without having benefited to any great extent the real producers of wealth.

The Political Preachers.

The political preachers have not all ceased haranguing their congregations on politics. One of these is Rev. J. H. Morron, of Peoria, Ill., who, last Sunday, offered the following prayer at the close of the services at the Second Presbyterian church: "Oh, Lord, we thank Thee for this house of worship. We thank Thee for this prayer service. We thank Thee for the mission fields and the missionaries. Tonight, Oh, Lord, we especially thank Thee that our missionaries, working in foreign lands will not be compelled to have their beggarly stipends cut in two, that they will not have to labor for 50-cent dollars, but will be paid in full." This "prayer" caused considerable amazement among the congregation and well it might. It is hoped that Mr. Morron will get a few standard books on political economy and finance and endeavor to learn something about such matters, and the money question in particular. It is certainly too bad that the missionaries were in danger of being paid 50-cent dollars for their arduous work of converting the heathen, and it is extremely gratifying to learn that all such danger is now past. It may be remarked, incidentally, however, that there is no such thing as a 50-cent dollar, and it is apparent that the reverend gentleman has been mislead by reading gold-bug newspapers or listening to some of Hanna's hired howlers.—Arkansas Gazette.

Why England Is Rich.

The interest on $10,000,000,000 at 6 per cent would be $600,000,000 a year. Can any nation stand that? An "Eminent English authority" has been widely quoted as saying: "The interest from money loaned and profits of investments of English capital in the states amounted to $737,000,000 last year." The records of the London stock exchange last year show the English people held $12,500,000,000 of foreign securities. Mr. Gladstone said a few weeks ago that English investments and debts abroad were probably far above £2,000,000,000—Golden Rule.

Truth can be delayed but not killed.

IS FOR HUMANITY.

FIRST SERVICE OF THE UNION CHURCH.

Rev. Flavius J. Brobst Fearless in His Flaying of the Slave Masters of Today —Prelude and Sermon of Marked Interest.

A large audience was present in the Grand Opera House, Chicago, recently at the initial services of the "Union Church Association," of which Rev. Flavius J. Brobst is pastor.

"Henry Ward Beecher's fight against slavery, with reference to present conditions," was the subject of the prelude. The speaker began by telling what the famous orator had to contend with when he undertook to fight slavery. "The press," said he, "was either silent or against him. The merchants of the land ridiculed him. He was lampooned and caricatured throughout the country. The pulpit was enraged at his broad interpretation of scripture. Mobs were organized and bitter and malignant threats made. His very name became a synonym for everything that was low and mean. Yet under this fire the great Beecher only grew more determined. It served only to lift him to sublimer heights, and the battle royal was kept up for over twenty years before humanity achieved its splendid victory.

"But the slave master we have to contend with now is more subtle, more ferocious. He dominates the country and the world. He is many times richer and more arrogant than of old. He is very respectable. The pulpit calls it a divine institution—this slavery—and assaults any man who dares criticise it."

The speaker, referring to N. D. Hillis, a south side preacher and his utterances during the late campaign, said that he was "trying to make out of the grand American emblem the black flag of piracy. The men whom George Washington fought, the English George III., had some parts," said he, "that appealed to one, but the shylocks of our day arouse all the opposition of my heart. The degenerate successor of Beecher," he continued, "lent the influence of his own paper that the shylock system might succeed."

The sound of Parkhurst's name was greeted with hisses. The speaker scored a strong point when speaking of this sensational New York preacher, he said: "See the inconsistency of this man. Before the election he lent his assistance to the gold power, and last Sunday he decried the ladies of his congregation because they bought goods in the cheapest places, and thus helped starve the sewing girl. But he himself did a thousand times more harm to the servant girl and all wage earners when he upheld the gold standard." Continuing his prelude, he attacked a west side minister for his words in favor of gold monopoly before election and his recent assault against trusts.

The sermon which followed was on the theme, "Comrades of the Almighty." His sermon was a masterly one, and he fearlessly laid his lash on the ministers who supported monopoly and abandoned the interests of their flock. "They would like," said he, "to have us spend out of our hearts and minds the principles we stood for because gold has temporarily triumphed, but one day they shall see the monopoly of greed struck by the cause of humanity, and it shall go down never to rise again."

The aim and object of the new church was then enlarged upon by J. T. Sutherland, who stated that it would be religious, humanitarian and social. It was destined to be especially conspicuous by its social features. He laid great stress on the point that every one was free to give what he chose or thought he was able to give, but everyone was welcome. It was men they wanted and not their money.

SCAPEGOATS.

An Alleged Agreement Between Senator Jones and Marion Butler.

A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times-Herald is responsible for the following:

"Altgeld, Tillman and Debs are to be dropped from the silver combination. Before Senator Jones and other free silver leaders left Chicago last week they agreed upon a line of policy for the coming four years. Whether or not they will be able to follow it is another matter, but I am able to tell with accuracy the nature of their agreement. They decided the agitation for free coinage of silver must go on. They wish, however, to cut loose from Altgeld, who, they claim, was a millstone around Bryan's neck; from Tillman, whose uncouth and violent utterances were the cause of much alarm, and from Debs, whose prominence in the campaign for Bryan alarmed all friends of social order and industrial peace.

"Moreover, the silver campaign of the future is to be waged without any complicating conditions, such as the attack upon the Supreme court and upon the power of the president to suppress disorder which interferes with interstate commerce. It was agreed by Senators Jones, Butler and their confreres that if it had not been for Altgeld, Tillman and Debs the unwise attack upon the Supreme court and the unnecessary condemnation of President Cleveland in order to please Altgeld, Bryan would have won the election.

"Senators Jones and Butler had no difficulty in reaching an agreement that Senators Jones and Butler are to be the two big men of the silver movement of the future. They are already laying their plans for bringing Bryan into their combination, though they do not agree that Bryan shall have the nomination in 1900. They want him to take the leadership in a campaign of education that is shortly to be set in motion, and if he does so with the idea that he is sure to be the candidate four years hence that is his lookout. Senator Butler has given a pledge to support the movement and he is relied upon to swing the populists into line again. Senator Jones has no sort of doubt that his own leadership in the democratic ranks will be acquiesced in without question."

The probabilities are that the above is a pure fiction, but it will be accepted as true until officially denied. Perhaps it is only a shrewd guess, based on the universal disposition of the fellow who is beaten to look about for a scapegoat to carry the burden of his sins into the wilderness of oblivion.

If it is true, Messrs. Jones and Butler have undertaken a contract that is likely to embarrass them. The rank and file who have followed these blunderers to defeat are not tendering any vote of thanks to Jones or Butler just now. Mr. Bryan's letter to Mr. Jones was characteristically courteous and magnanimous, but does not reflect the sentiments of the public.

Jones and Butler are hardly in a position to read other leaders out of the party, and reach the climax of absurdity when they presume to make a platform and nominate a candidate for 1900.—Civic Review.

RURAL WISDOM.

The Farm Products Which Are the Farmer's Income Should Not Be Taxed.

The farmers assembled in national congress at Indianapolis have taken the bull by the horns and come out plainly for what plutocrats usually style anarchy, but which common sense defines as much-needed reform. They take strong exceptions to the decision of the Supreme Court on the income tax law and declare that inasmuch as the farmers' income includes all the products of the farm, all farm products should be exempt from taxation or assessment. To the agricultural districts the supreme judges might well repair to learn the common sense interpretation of law, and should the provision levying taxes upon farm products be taken before the same supreme court that decided the income tax law unconstitutional, that tribunal could not consistently hold a different view on the income of the farmer, but consistency is no jewel with that august body; its decisions are based upon the financial standing of the parties interested in the controversy up for adjudication, and should a farmer attempt to have a law taxing him declared unconstitutional, the judges would no doubt give him the "horse laugh" and have him sent to jail for contempt of court. That is generally a poor man's sportion.

They did not stop with this timely jab at the courts, but passed resolutions demanding that the existing laws against trusts be enforced by the authorities, and that where they are not strong enough they should be made stronger. The farmers perhaps see the direct effect of trusts more than any other class, and are very active in their demands to have the law applied. But why is the law not enforced? We have executive officers enough to enforce them; if they fail they can call upon the militia; if that fails they can call upon the United States army. But who ever heard of the military being brought into play to make trusts or corporations respect the law? It is an unknown circumstance and will probably always remain an unseen spectacle. That force is reserved to pump lead into working people. The authorities do not wait for workingmen to break a law; the military is called out in anticipation of law breaking, but which seldom occurs until peanut-headed military officials force it.

Committee after committee has been appointed by both congress and state legislatures to investigate charges against trusts, but in some mysterious manner nothing has ever been done. Evidence of the existence of trusts and combines has been gathered in profusion by committees of congress, but according to an established custom it is always sidetracked before it reaches a focus and the trusts live on and flourish, flaunting the emblem of corruption in the faces of the people who are led to believe that they have representatives in congress.

May the expressions of these farmers grow until they sweep the country. —St. Louis Evening Journal.

Government Telegraphs.

Why should not every postoffice be a telegraph station under government control?

Strike your congressman while the iron is hot for government control of the telegraph.

Make the subject of government control of the telegraph a matter of interest to candidates for congress of any and all parties.

Last year the telegraph lines of Great Britain, owned by the government, transmitted over 80,000,000 messages. In this country the Western Union monopoly handled very little over two-thirds that number. However, what the matter lacked in business it more than made up in charges. The difference is that on the other side the business is done at cost for the benefit of all the people, while in this country users of the telegraph are compelled to pay all that the traffic will bear for the benefit of a private monopoly. How much longer are we going to stand it? Relief is in sight. See or write to your senators and congressmen and insist that they vote for the bills now pending in both houses for the establishment of a postal telegraph.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

There Is No Improvement Except in Holiday Goods.

BANK CLEARANCES ARE OFF.

Pig Iron, Steel, Hides, Leather and Grain Show a Downward Tendency. —Congress Has Affected Trade.— —Money in Abundant Supplies and Lending to London Continues.

New York, N. Y.—Bradstreet's report says:

There has ben no improvement in general trade this week except in holiday specialties. At Augusta, Louisville, Nashville, Charleston, Chattanooga, Cincinnati and Memphis, the condition of business is unchanged. Like reports come from Cleveland, Providence, Chicago, Omaha and Duluth, where activity is confined to the retail demand for holiday goods, and requests for staples continue moderate. The situation at Milwaukee, Galveston and Birmingham, Ala., is characterized as disappointing, but at St. Paul and Minneapolis there is more active demand for drugs, groceries, shoes and hats, and at Jacksonville, Savannah, Atlanta and New Orleans for staple goods. Distribution of merchandise in Texas has been checked by those who have held back cotton, awaiting higher prices. Unseasonable weather has again delayed demand for winter goods, and the approach of the period for stock-taking will prolong the season of dullness well into next month.

The tendency of prices is more conspicuously downward, noticeably for Bessemer pig iron, steel, billets, rails, hides, leather, flour, wheat, corn, oats, lard, cotton and petroleum. Comparatively steady quotations are reported for raw wool, print cloths, lumber, pork and sugar. Coffee is higher.

November gross railroad earnings, as expected, are the poorest for over two years. Total November earnings of 115 companies aggregate $38,154,702, a decrease of 10 per cent. from 1895, where there was a gain of 6.3 per cent. over November, 1894.

Bank clearings show the expected falling off, amounting to $1,065,700,000, or 15 per cent. less than in the preceding week.

There were 351 business failures reported in the United States this week, another increase, as compared with the average in recent weeks, and 68 more than in the like week one year ago.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of the trade, say:

The approach of the holidays and the doubt about the action of Congress put off further improvement until the new year. While industries have gained in working force, they are waiting for commensurate gain in demand, and meanwhile are trying to clear the away embarrassments which restrict them. Speculation has been halting and timid.

There is no sober-minded fear of foreign difficulty, but some have succeeded in imagining that Congress might go so far beyond the President's message regarding Cuba as to embroil this country with Spain. Money is in abundant supply. Lending to London continues, and there is nothing to cause less activity in general business except that the rush of orders deferred until after the election has not been continued. The volume of business showed by clearings has been for the week 5.2 per cent. smaller than last year. Seventy returns for December embrace so bad a report of St. Paul that they fell 16.4 per cent. below those of 1892, and earnings on United States roads amounting to $37,026,206 in November were 10.9 per cent. less that last year and 12.2 less than in 1892.

Cotton has declined 3.16 in spite of all stories that the crop had been nearly marketed and continues to come forward steadily. With over five million bales in sight, there are estimates based on Government reports that the yield is 8,300,000 to come forward in eight months and three weeks. When the official report first came there was a rush of buyers; a few minutes turned the current, and a rapid decline followed.

The iron output December 1 was 142,278 tons weekly, against 124,[illegible] November 1, and 213,797 a year ago, and unsold stocks reported were 31,[illegible] tons smaller than November 1, but these do not include stocks of the great steel companies. The entire industry is greatly demoralized by uncertainty regarding the great combinations.

Textile industries are working a larger force than in October, but there is not much evidence of larger demand, and some kinds of goods are accumulating. As raw cotton is lower, some yielding in prices of staples is expected, and buying is on that account more restricted, a few qualities of goods having slightly declined. Print cloths are weak in tone with enormous stocks, woolen goods are not in better demand, and there is a general disposition to make commitments ahead. Sales of wool in two weeks 14,378,900 pounds against 11,999,200 last year, are this year largely between traders, as the mills find at present little encouragement to buy, and London sales are a shade weaker. Quotations are not changed, though more frequent concessions are reported.

Failures for the week have been [illegible] in the United States against 338 last year, and 43 in Canada against 54 last year.

Advertising pays. Try it.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama.

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

A MERRY XMAS to you.

ONE of the best Xmas or New Year's gifts you can make to your friends is a year's subscription to the BANNER with a copy of the World Almanac and Encyclopedia all for $1.10.

MEETINGS are being held all over the United States in sympathy with the Cuban insurrection. It seems probable that the government will soon be compelled to take some definite action in this matter. The whole civilized world is aroused in consequence of the killing of Maceo.

A CAUCUS of Populist members of the Legislature was held at Montgomery last week and the Alabama Monitor was designated as the official organ of the party in the State. We shall be glad to see Chilton county sending a good list of subscribers to the Monitor. It is one of the best reform papers you can get. Our clubbing rate is $1.50 for THE BANNER and the Monitor for a year.

CHILTON county should be thankful that all its official records are now secure from the same fate as has recently happened to the records of Randolph county. The destruction by fire of the court house of that county swept away all their records which have been accumulating for fifty years. Our new court house with its fire-proof vaults removes all fear of the same thing happening here and demonstrates the wisdom of the building of the new court house.

ELECTION frauds are getting harder to successfully carry through every day. There may have been a time when there was some excuse for them, but that time is past, and now the people are determined that they shall exist no longer. The grand jury at Nashville, Tenn., was recently instructed to investigate the charges of fraud in connection with the August election, and as a result they returned indictments against six or eight local politicians. W. O. Shivers, deputy trustee, was indicted in two cases for issuing blank poll tax receipts, he having testified that he had issued twenty-five blanks, for which he had been paid $50 by Maney Schwab. Shivers gave bond for $250.

Is there no "Money Question" in all this broad land? Has the talk about silver swallowed the Populist doctrine on the question of money? Has the national banking system ceased to be of "deadly hostility to our republican institutions?" Do we no longer care that these corporations exercise the gigantic power of expanding and contracting the currency at their pleasure—thereby putting values up or down as they ordain? Can any business system be sound and enduring when one class enjoys, by law, the special privilege of supplying the currency to the unprivileged, and of charging their own prices for it?

Isn't it only a question of time when the unprivileged must sink into abject dependence upon the privileged, if this national banking system endures?

Shall the one issue of silver make us forget that four thousand malignant cancers, called national banks, are eating the life out of this republic.

AND now it is a paper trust. The manufacturers of white paper used by newspapers are said to be forming a trust in New York. The good Lord have mercy on us if white paper goes any higher. It takes close financing now to pay the paper bill and get a square meal with the surplus change.

CONGRESSMAN W. F. Aldrich on Monday last introduced a bill "to require contestees in contested election cases to give bond to the United States." The bill was referred to the committee on Elections No. 1. A correspondent of the Montgomery Journal says:

Representative Wm. F. Aldrich of Alabama, introduced a bill yesterday of considerable interest to the south, which furnishes the major part of election contests. The bill is not without merit, having many things to recommend it to favorable consideration. Mr. Aldrich, the author of the bill, contested the seat he now holds in the present house, the contestee being Mr. Robbins, who has the governor's certificate. The house unseated Robbins. The last election Aldrich was again a candidate for election, and was beaten, the certificate being given his Democratic opponent. He is getting in readiness to make a contest and it is to be presumed he wants to make conditions as hard as he can for the sitting members in the fifty fifth congress, for if the decision of the house is once more against the sitting members he will have put in all his time for more glory.

The bill does not affect the allowance for contested election expenses.

General Coxey has written an open letter to Senator Butler, resigning from the National committee. He objects to sold out and tied down to the single issue of silver.

The President's Message.

There is one astonishing utterance in the President's message. It is astonishing because it is so at variance with Mr. Cleveland's reputation for candor and courage in dealing with the facts of public administration. Mr. Cleveland says:

In the mean time no deficit that has occurred or may occur need excite or disturb us. To meet any such deficit we have in the treasury, in addition to a gold reserve of $100,000,000, a surplus of more than $128,000,000 applicable to the payment of the expenses of the government, and which must, unless expended for that purpose, remain a useless hoard, or, if not extravagantly wasted, must in any event be perverted from the purpose of its exaction from our people. The payment, therefore, of any deficiency in the revenue from this fund is nothing more than its proper and legitimate use. The government, thus applying a surplus fortunately in its treasury to the payment of expenses not met by its current revenues, is not at all to be likened to a man living beyond his income, and thus incurring debt or encroaching on his principal.

This is, to use the mildest word possible, utterly disingenuous. This "surplus" of $128,000,000 is not a surplus at all. It is not an unexpended remainder of income. Every dollar of it, and every dollar also of the $100,000,000 gold reserve, is a borrowed dollar. Worse than that, the two funds taken together constitute only the remainder of a borrowed fund of which no less than $34,000,000 has already gone to meet the extravagance that spends beyond income.

The only reason this money is in the treasury is because Mr. Cleveland's administration borrowed $100,000,000 on bonds of 1904 and $162,315,400 on bonds of 1925. In issuing these bonds the administration earnestly protested that its purpose was not to pay government expenses, but solely to maintain the gold-redemption fund intact, and it bitterly resented The World's demonstration that the money was borrowed in part to pay expenses. Yet not only has a large proportion of it gone to make good current deficiencies in revenue, but the President coolly points to the remainder "fortunately in the treasury" as available for the same purpose.

The President says that this use of the proceeds of the bond sales "is not at all to be likened to a man living beyond his income, and thus incurring debt or encroaching on his principal." But why not? If a man borrows money with which to meet outstanding demand notes, and after redeeming a portion of them (and reissuing them!) proceeds to spend the "surplus fortunately in his hands," what would be thought of his prudence—not to mention his honesty?

The facts are, first, that but for the borrowing of this $262,315,400 the treasury would be now bankrupt and a debtor by many millions; secondly, that against the $228,000,000 to which Mr. Cleveland points as an available surplus there is an outstanding and overdue demand indebtedness of $372,170,117, every dollar of which is subject to instant demand.

So far, therefore, from having any surplus of $128,000,000 in addition to the $100,000,000 gold reserve, we have in fact a treasury deficit of $144,000,000. In other words, we owe that much more than we can pay.

We cannot recall any State paper that contains so flagrant or so obvious a misrepresentation as this of President Cleveland's.—New York World.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 15, 1896.

A National Federation of Building Trades is about to be formed with headquarters at St. Louis.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, pastor of the Vine St. Congregational church, has invited President Gompers to speak in his church during the meeting of the Federation of Labor at Cincinnati, beginning December 14. The chief effort of this meeting will be to have the eight hour law for the day's labor go into effect.

Greater New York is considering owning its own gas and plants, and Ed. M. Grout has also advise municipal ownership of street railways and telephone lines and suggests that the matter be submitted to popular vote.

The Kansas press dwell at length on the need of the incoming administration in that State being free from all weakness and mistakes. Much interest is felt in the approaching senatorial contest which is understood to be between Peffer and Breidenthal. Only one delegate is instructed for Peffer, and the many papers are calling for an expression from the people.

Governor-elect Leedy, of Kansas, has declared for the permanent union of the fusionists in his State and announces that loyalty to the silver cause will be his test in exercising his appointive power. He has appointed a Silver Republican as his private secretary.

The Eastern newspaper are making vicious attacks on Governor-elect Rogers, of Washington. He has given the railroads in his State to understand that the freight laws were made be obeyed, hence the howl emitted by the organs of the owners of said roads. Rogers is a Populist and is all right.

John D. Rockfeller, backed by the Standard Oil Company, is to erect mammoth rolling mills to compete with Carnegie. A plant costing $10,000,000 is to be located in South Chicago, on land already purchased, having a lake front of 32,000 feet. A fleet of vessels is in course of construction. Carnegie at present controls the manufacture and sale of steel rails, and this new concern claims to be able to put them on the market fifty per cent. cheaper than they are furnished at present. Until we can handle them by law, we are glad to see the trusts fight one another.

Another trust was born December 5th, when the manufactures of wood-working machinery, representing a capital of $20,000,000, consolidated.

An effort is being made in Louisville, Kentucky, to establish a Free Silver and Reform organ, by selling $100,000 worth of stocks in shares of $25 each. Also by means of an annual subscription of $6, payable in advance.

The condition of the working classes in Canada is so serious that the unemployed have been holding a meeting at Toronto, where resolutions were passed embodying the following demands: removal of taxes on buildings and personal property; the spending of the $4,000,000 of government surplus in developing mineral resources; the settling of the poor on free lands; the passage of a law establishing a minimum rate of wages at fifteen cents per hour; and a small sum to be provided for superanuated working men.

Mr. Bryan is working eighteen hours a day on his book and at his correspondence which has reached as high as 2,500 letters a day. The book is to be called "The First Battle" and the preface, which has been given to the press, is marked by that simplicity of style and modesty of manner that characterizes Mr. Bryan at all times.

Senator Carlysle's estimates of appropriations required includes $56,000,000 for military and navy extension; $146,000,000 for army and navy pensions, while $31,000,000 covers internal improvements. Total estimates amount to nearly $500,000,000.

The affidavit of Gen. Fry, (late of Coxey's army) candidate for Governor on the Socialist ticket, in Missouri, declares that his campaign expenses were but 85 cents. A.R.

Scott's Emulsion

is made up of the most essential elements that go to nourish the body. Where the appetite is varying or lacking, it increases it, and where digestion is weak, it aids it to perform its function in a more vigorous way. It enriches the blood, makes healthy flesh and cures chronic coughs and colds by making it possible for the body to resist disease. Our friends tell us "IT WORKS WONDERS" but we never like to over-state the merits of our remedy even when it has been tested and tried for over twenty-five years. If you will ask for it, we will send you a book telling you more about the subject than we can put in a few words.

Go to your druggist for Scott's Emulsion. Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Strasburg.

Some one stole Mr. Eiland's horse saddle and bridle Saturday night; we have not heard of the thief being caught yet.

The lucky number that draws the watch at Mooney & Woolley's is 25. The person holding that number will present it and get the watch.

Business has been rather dull here for the last week or so, holding up for Xmas.

* * *

West Chilton Warblings

Times are very lively in West Chilton. Nearly all the farmers are preparing for another crop. Splitting rails, building fences, and clearing; Several new buildings have been erected in the community and more are contemplating building. This is the way to build up a community; we can boast of having as good a community as there is in the county, according to our wealth.

Rev. A. M. Perry delivered an excellent sermon to a very large crowd at Vally Creek last Sunday; we have called Bro. Perry for our pastor the coming year.

The young people's prayer-meeting at Valley Creek is progressing very well.

Mr. S. R. Barnes and family, of Woodlawn visited friends and relatives here Saturday and Sunday last.

Mr. H. W. Cole has gone down near Mobile to accept a job.

Well boys, Xmas is nearly here, mind where you go, and sign this vow with me, never to drink any more whiskey. Success to the BANNER, and its many readers.

YOUNG MIKE.

* * *

Republican Mass Meeting.

Editor BANNER: The Republican party of Chilton county in massmeeting at Sardis, Saturday, Dec. 12th, 1896, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

W. F. FOSHEE, Secretary.

Whereas the Republican party of Chilton county has no permanent organization and for years has had no voice in any convention of the party, except the self constituted and pretended authority of Robt. H. Knox, who really represents no one except himself, and the enemies of our party, and whereas the Republican people who are loyal to the government and Republican institutions and who reside in this county desire to be known and heard, now, therefore, be it

Resolved that we now and here organize the Republican party of Chilton county by the election of a chairman of our executive committee by this massmeeting and that a member of said committee be selected from each beat or precinct of said county, said chairman and members to hold office for the next ensuing two years, vacancies to be filled by the Republicans of the beats or beat where they occur during said time.

Resolved, further, that we indorse and stand by Hon. W. F. Aldrich in his contest with Thos. S. Plowman for a seat in the 55th congress to which Mr. Aldrich was duly and legally elected, and that we use all honorable means to establish the frauds committed against him and the party in the last election and thereby vindicate the right of American citizens to have a free vote and a fair count in every election.

Resolved, further, that we indorse in advance our President, Wm. McKinley, and his administration.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told that I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

"The Progress of the World," the editorial department of the Review of Reviews, touches in the December number on a great variety of topics of national and international significance. After devoting several paragraphs to a lucid and instructive analysis of the results of the Presidential election, the editor proceeds to review the history of the efforts to obtain arbitration of the Veneuelan boundary dispute with Great Britain, which have finally resulted successfully, explaining the attitude of the United States in the controversy; discusses the merits and demerits of the Cleveland administration now drawing to a close, criticising with special vigor the President's Turkish policy; describes the latest phases of the European situation, with reference to Eastern question and the Franco-Russian alliance; comments on Lord Roseberry's resignation and the resulting complications in English politics—making altogether a most interesting and valuable summary of the world's important doings for the month just passed.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.

The Institute for the first quarter of the present scholastic year for the white teachers of Chilton county will be held at Jemison, Friday and Saturday Dec. 18th and 19th 1896.

Program replete with interest. Free entertainment for teachers and visitors. Day and night sessions at Academy, with nice program of instrumental and vocal music, and other features provided for the entertainment and enjoyment of all. Some lecturers and speakers from a distance, whose names we hope to announce soon, are expected, and in addition to these, a concert program, by the Jemison High School, will be rendered on the night of the 18th.

We hope especially to have the teachers out in full force, as the law, as well as the interests of our schools, require your attendance at these institutes. The subjects admit of a wide range of discussion, and other talent added to our force this year will be on hand to assist in the success of the institute. So come, teachers, without fail.

PROGRAM.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18.

9 a.m. Music. Prayer—Rev. F. M. Woods. Welcome address, C. C. Slaton, Jemison; Response, E. Y. McMorries, Clanton. Organization, enrollment of names, etc.

9:30 Essay, Let the law of love reign in school, Miss Ida Robinson, Rocky Mount.

10 The qualified scholar vs. The qualified man, J. Alex Moore, Montevallo. Music.

10:30 True teaching, the development of moral, mental and physical power, L. E. Zach, Verbena.

11:30 Essay, Striving to create character, vs. contributing to the growth of character in the child, Miss Sophie Mullins, Jumbo. Recess.

2 p.m. Music. Teaching facts vs. teaching how to study, G. L. Speer, Lilly. Music.

3 Normal extension, and Lyceum courses, B. D. Wilson, Stanton.

4 Music. Intermission.

7 Concert exercises by Jemison School.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19.

9 a.m. Music. Prayer, Rev. S. M. Adams. Calling roll, reading minutes, etc.

9.30 Is teaching grammar, teaching language, E. Y. McMorries, Clanton.

10 Objects to be secured by composition, writing, P. M. McKee, Jumbo.

10:30 When is a reaning thoroughly prepared, Miss M. V. Palma, Moss Hill. Music.

11 The study of English authors, Judson Strock, Coopers. Music. Recess.

2 p.m. Music. Are advanced views of education found among increasing numbers of patrons? Experience of all the teachers on this subject. Music.

3 Local taxation and school law, Hon. Jno. O. Turner, State Supt. Dismission.

The local committee will prepare comfortable homes for teachers and visitors.

Remember the date, Dec. 18th and 19th.

J. W. MOORE, Co. Supt.
C. C. SLATON, Ch. Com.

Tax Collector's Notice.

I will be in Clanton on December 21, 22, 23, 24, 26, 28, 29, 30 and 31, for the purpose of collecting the State and county taxes for the year 1896.

T. J. HUBBARD,
Tax Collector.

L. & N. Change of Schedule.

To go into effect December 20.

Train No	arv. Clanton
2	arv. Clanton	9:54 a.m
3	"	5:59 p.m
4	"	10.35 p.m
9	"	7:48 a.m
10	"	5:26 p.m

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich, who was legally and fairly elected as the representative from this district to Congress on the 3rd of November, has served notice of contest of the election of Capt. Plowman who was counted in by the returning board of Dallas county. Mr. Aldrich alledges that Plowman's majority was obtained by fraud and ballot box stuffing.

The "virtuous and intelligent" ballot thieves of Dallas county are slick artists when it comes to manipulating an election, but like all other criminals, they generally leave something undone or do something by which their rascality can be proven in a court which is disposed to give an honest and fair investigation of the frauds.

The evidence in this case will be voluminous and will convince any honest man that Aldrich was elected by at least 3000 majority and will be good literature to place in the hands of immigration agents.—Columbiana Advocate.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices—Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

Every disease arising from an impure condition of the blood is quickly, surely and permanently cured by the great vegetable blood purifier and family remedy—V. V. V. No one living in or near a malarial district should be without this wonderful specific. A single bottle of V. V. V. will suffice to convince anyone that it positively as well as liver complaint, rheumatism, kidney diseases, catarrh, etc. V. V. V. will thoroughly cleanse the blood of all impurities, driving from the system scrofula, tetter, eczema and all other humors. It strengthens and invigorates the whole body. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

Cures Malaria

BARBERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6 cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1827
Mullins	981
Wilson	447
	3255

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. THE BANNER, Clanton.

Mr Claude McRee, of Montgomery, visited friends and relatives here the first of this week.

Mrs. ... Matthews, of Marion, is visiting her brother, Dr. Matthews, and family this week.

... A. L. Sampey went to the capital city this morning.

... n Morgan has moved ... into his residence in ...

... reliable Capital City ... Company of Montgomery represented in Clanton by Sampey.

WANTED 1000 cross-ties. Apply G. H. GREEN, Clanton.

... W. W. Culp has been suffering ... attack of grippe this ...

... McMorries' family have ... been on the sick list this ... both Caldwell and Bascom ... to remain at home for ... The Professor is ... improving.

The work of removing the old ... house has commenced.

Messrs Merritt and Chesnutt have begun work on their new ...

Mr W. I. Mullins is thinking of building a new brick store house.

Mr G. W. Anderson went to Montgomery yesterday.

Dr. W. E. Stewart was called ... Monday morning to attend Mr. J. S. Forniss, a brother-in-law of Capt. Middleton.

Dr. Johnson has commenced to remove the old restaurant building formerly occupied by Mr. Pat Smith.

See W. L. Sampey about insuring your property against fire.

Miss Sophia Mullins, of Jumbo, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Evans Pinckard is at work again after a severe sickness.

Mr Neil Duke after visiting relatives here returned home this morning.

In the United States court at Montgomery Tuesday the following prisoners were each sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary for violations of the internal revenue laws: James W. Waggoner, ... Ingram, William Sharron, ... Nix, William Mims, G. W. Moore, Lane Mass, J. B. Stokes, ... Gibson, Charles Hodges, ... A. Bryant, West Shaw. ... Bruce announced that in future instead of giving thirty and ... day jail sentences to illicit distillers he will send them to the penitentiary.

Mr. J. A. Culp went down to the capital city this morning.

Mrs. Mat Davis, at Mahan & Davis mill, is very sick with pneumonia.

Mr. Hayes Hunt's little boy fell down at the depot this morning and cut his left knee. Dr. Johnson sewed it up and he is getting along nicely.

... Johnson has entered into a ... with Mr. Holt of Montgomery to remove the old court ... The old main court ... be placed where Albert ... store now stands. Culp's ... use and the grand jury ... be moved into the lot ... the BANNER office and the ... store.

Teacher's Institute to be ... next two days at Jemison ... es to be of unusual interest. ... e you attend.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons: Mr James M. Langston and Miss Daisy A. Hand; Mr. W. M. ... and Miss N. B. Vinson; Mr. John Ceckler and Miss Mary C. Heasley; Mr. Samuel H. Sanderson and Miss Lula Fox.

WANTED everyone to know we have taken possession of the Mims old mill and will grind at any time. Someone in attendance all the time. We will accomodate you and will appreciate your patronage.

H. DRIVER & SON.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cure by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN.

Editor and proprietor of DER LANDSMAN.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.....

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Commissioner's Sale.

In pursuance and in accordance with the terms and directions of a commission, issued and addressed to the undersigned, by the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt Judge of Probate of Chilton county, bearing date the 30th day of November 1896, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, at public auction, in front of the Court House door of said county at Clanton, on all that certain real estate which is described as follows, viz: The southeast fourth of the northeast fourth of section fourteen, and the north half of the southwest fourth and the southwest fourth of the southwest fourth of section thirteen, township twenty-three, range fifteen, in Chilton county, Alabama, which said land is to be sold under the decree of said court for the purpose of a division between and among the several owners thereof, the said property belonging to and being the property of the heirs at law of the estate of L. F. Marcus deceased.

MONDAY DECEMBER 28, 1896,

H. I. HONEYCUTT, Commissioner.

Clanton, Ala., Dec. 2, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered. R. M. HONEYCUTT.

STRAYED on Nov 16th, one black horse mule, medium size, tolerably old, thin in order. A liberal reward offered for the mule. Apply to Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 miles east of Stanton, Ala.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

Jemison.

Married last Sunday at Jemison Mr. James M. Langston and Miss Daisy A Hand, Rev. F. M. Woods performing the ceremony. The BANNER wishes the happy young couple a full measure of domestic felicity and prosperity.

* * *

State Alliance Notice.

Dudleyville, Ala. Nov. 23, 1896

County Secretaries that have not received minutes of the last State meeting will receive them by dropping me a card notifying me of their failure to receive the same.

J. W. JACKSON,
State Secretary.

* * *

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

* * *

We shall be pleased to publish contributions at all times, and request that the friends of the BANNER send us all the items of news that come within their notice, and thus assist us to make the BANNER the newsiest as well as the most popular paper of Chilton county.

A BOON TO HUMANITY!

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

Greatest Discovery of 19th Century. Cures all troubles of the Head and Throat.

CATARRH, HEADACHE, NEURALGIA, LaGRIPPE, WILL CURE You. First Inhalation stops Sneezing, Snuffing Coughing, Headache. Continued use effects SURE CURE.

It has no equal for COLDS, Sore Throat Hay Fever, Bronchitis, La GRIPPE. The most Refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration.

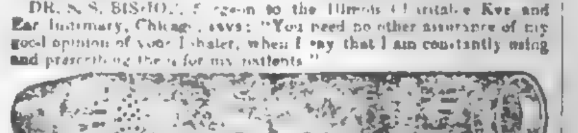
ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS EVERYWHERE.

J LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

DR. BROWNE also says: "Always carry the ingenious MENTHOL INHALER known as CUSHMAN'S, which should be used not only on the first approach, but three or four times a day during an epidemic, and always in cold catching weather by those subject to bad colds."

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."

DR. S. S. BISHOP, Surgeon to the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, Chicago, says: "You need no other assurance of my good opinion of your Inhaler, when I say that I am constantly using and prescribing them for my patients."



Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. Price, 50c. at all Druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials. AGENTS WANTED. Address

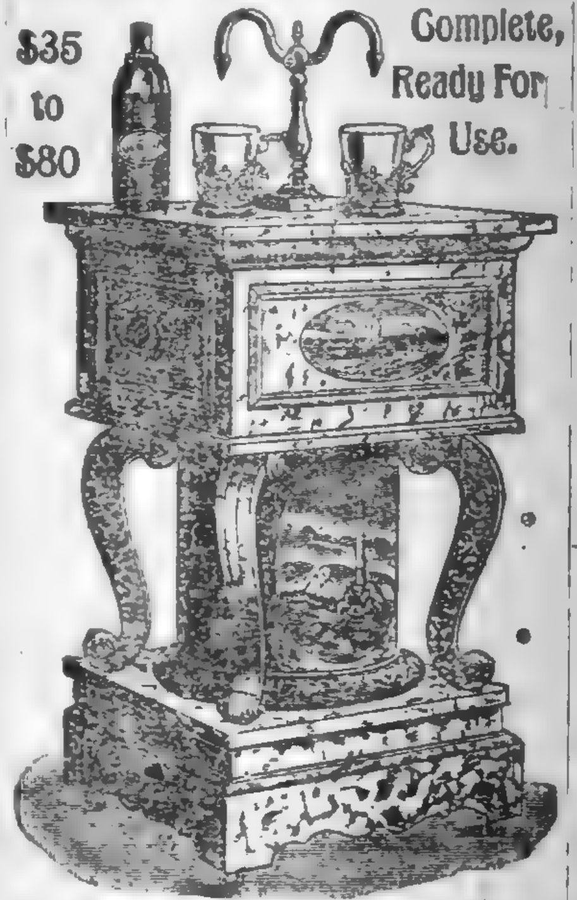
Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Ind., or 324 Dearborn St., Chicago.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

PORTABLE

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80



Complete, Ready For Use.

80 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆◆

Softens the Hands.

Go and get a 25c box of Cushman's Menthol Balm and keep it in the house. It is the safest remedy and surest for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Sores, or any skin eruptions. It is quick to relieve pain and inflammation. For Farmers cracked hands it is a wonderful cure. Largest box of ointment on the market.

Cured His Mother.

CARTHAGE, Mo., July 28, 1895.—Your Menthol Salve cured mother's hands. She has had no trouble with her hands since I got her the box. My mother is happy and doing all her own work again. She was not able to do any work for three years on account of her hands. Your Balm has cured them. I thank you very much. ROY RAHM.

It Acts Like a Charm.

SALEM, Ala., April 6, 1892.—I have used your Menthol Balm on some old bad sores, and on two or three cases of itch and other eruptions: the patients say it "acts like a charm." Please send four boxes Balm. I intend to encourage the use of your preparations because they do act sure enough "like a charm." D. W. FLOYD, M. D.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists. Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Indiana.

We Employ Young Men

in distributing our advertisements in part payment for a high grade Acme bicycle, which we send them on approval. No work done until the bicycle arrives and proves satisfactory.

Young Ladies employed on the same terms.

If boys or girls apply they must be well recommended. Write for particulars.

ACME CYCLE COMPANY, ELKHART, IND.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,668.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
December 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 23rd, 1897 viz.: Emmett W. Headley Homestead entry, No. 26,208, for the e½ of ne¼ section 20 tp 21 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Joseph Hayes, of Maplesville, Ala, Wiley Ramsey, of Lily, Ala., Simon Clark, of Maplesville, Ala., James Hayes, of Maplesville Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18597.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
Nov. 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 28,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of Section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

THE

WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA

.... FOR ....

1897

It will answer any question you may ask it.

"The Standard American Annual."

NEARLY 600 PAGES, OVER 1,500 TOPICS TREATED.

A COMPLETE statistical and political history of the United States. The results of the Presidential election accurately compiled. Every fact of value that human knowledge can require. A reference library boiled down!

25c. POSTPAID TO ANY ADDRESS.

No American who wishes to know his country can be without it.

THE WORLD,
Pulitzer Bldg.,
New York.

Ready
Jan. 1, 1897.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis,

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville Ky

SUBSCRIBERS receiving their paper with a blue cross (X) mark on it will understand their subscription has expired and will oblige by renewing. Kindly mention to your friends THE BANNER costs only One Dollar per year, or Fifty Cents for six months.

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 22 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.

No. 1034—Surrey Harness, Price $14.50. As good as sells for $20.

No. 718—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $80.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

BUY THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

Do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and think you can get the best made, finest finish and MOST POPULAR SEWING MACHINE for a mere song. Buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing. There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the NEW HOME.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

The New Home Sewing Machine Co.

ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Monthly AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c. Trial (five months), $1.00. Year, $2.50.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS, DESIGNS, COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

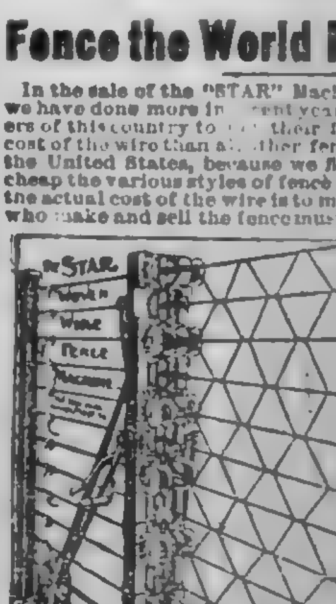
THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below we have done more in recent years to enable the ... ers of this country to ... their fencing at the ... cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figured and showed how cheap the various styles of fence can be made ... the actual cost of the wire is to make them ... who make and sell the fence must add three ...



... to ... and ... cost of the wire. We ... a Machine and enough wire to make 100 rods of the best Woven Wire Fence on earth, horse-high, bull strong, pig and chicken tight for the same money that will buy 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. In one case you have the fence alone, in the other you have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to be your own fence manufacturer with which you can make over 50 styles, ... eral styles of Ornamental yard or ... show how the farmers of this country ... machine it is only necessary ... chines sold by us were run for ... chine making 40 rods per day ... fence to go around the ... 0,000 rods or 1,250 miles ... were run only 60 days ... rods per day each, they ... 24,000,000 rods, which ... rods or 240 miles ... combined product of all the ... the United States would not ... much. Invest it in a postal card ... illustrated Catalogue, telling ... may save you many dollars ... Address, Kitselman Bros., ...

Use Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c.

Subscribe for the BANNER!

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

MACEO ASSASSINATED.

Invited to a Conference and Shot Down Like a Dog.

A RELIC OF BARBARISM

Which Has Roused the Civilized World to Cry Out in Horror—When Called Upon to Surrender He Cried "Never!" and Died With "Cuba Libre" on His Lips.

Atlanta, Ga.—The Constitution's Key West special gives the following account of Maceo's death, indicating his betrayal and implicating Dr. Zertucha:

Your correspondent is now enabled to state upon the most undoubted authority that the death of Gen. Maceo was a premeditated assassination, and that the failure to produce his body is because its mutilated condition would shock even Spanish official sensibilities.

It seems that General Maceo had planned a successful crossing of the trocha, and that, taking the sea route, with a body guard, he was to rejoin his forces east of Mariel. This was accomplished in safety, and while standing alone, within sight of a line of skirmishers, the general was shot down by men in hiding, who were awaiting their victim. His body, so far as Spanish reports go, at once disappeared, but the truth is that it was hacked up by the assassins, who exhausted every indignity of which brutal minds are capable.

It has been well known for a year past that there was a price set upon Maceo's head, and that Captain-General Weyler looked toward assassination and not military triumph for victory. His last official act upon reaching the island was to give recognition to the plateadoes, bands of free booters whom his predecessor punished as severely as did the Cubans. These men, following in the wake of both armies, would murder and plunder, and when chased down by the indignant Cubans, would find protection within Spanish lines, whilst the latter would officially deny all knowledge of them. But a few weeks ago a band of these men attacked a convent in the province of Puerto Principe, which was filled with young girls, who were most shamefully abused. Some of these men were caught by General Lacret, the insurgent leader, and executed, while the greater part of them found protection within Spanish lines. Although the enormity of their crimes was known, and their victims were convent school girls, the criminals were protected from molestation and are to-day free.

These are the men whom General Weyler has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to attach to his cause, and through him he has ordered the killing of foreigners whom he dared not to call up in court. To them he has made offers of reward for the assassination of innocent leaders. For three weeks it has been known in Havana that a clever bribe was out for the surrender of General Maceo. It was to the effect that he held the ticket which called for the grand prize of $50,000 in the Havana lottery. He did not care to call for the cashing of this cleverly arranged bribe; and then it was, upon the departure of General Weyler for the hills several days ago that it was bruited about that the man who killed Maceo could have the prize.

The story of Maceo's death, as told from official sources, sustains fully the theory of assassination. General Maceo, instead of crossing the trocha directly with his men, was, through some covert influence, induced to pass Mariel in a boat, and to reach his forces on the east side of the dead line. There everything was in readiness by the conspirators, and the brave leader fell a victim to the trap into which he had walked. How singular it is, that Spaniards, who usually kill everyone in sight, should have been considerate enough to have allowed Maceo's physician, Maximo Zertucha, to surrender. Instead of putting him in chains and rushing him off to a dungeon, he is treated with distinction, is paraded before newspaper correspondents, and has that freedom of speech which is a novelty in Cuba.

The depression into which the Cubans were thrown upon the first announcement of Maceo's death, now that the fact of his cowardly assassination is confirmed, has changed to that of desperate determination, and will make even more persistent their fight for freedom. Maceo's assassination is pointed out as conclusive evidence that Spain is still a stranger to civilized methods and the lesson drawn therefrom by the Cubans is that they might as well die with their faces to the foe, as become the victims of assassination.

BRUTALLY ASSASSINATED.

Full Details of the Treacherous Method Resorted To.

Cincinnati, O.—The Scripps-McRae League correspondent at Jacksonville, Fla., wired the Post as follows:

This city was thrown into great excitement by the news this afternoon that the patriots had admitted the correctness of the report that the brave leader, Antonio Maceo, had been butchered.

C. M. De Huaua, chief of the Florida Cuban junta, gave out the following to the correspondent: "A letter received by a prominent Cuban in this city gives the detailed account of the assassination of General Maceo and the entire staff, with the exception of Dr. Zertucha, who was Maceo's physician. The letter came from a reliable source in Havana, but the correspondent's name is withheld, for the obvious reason, said Mr. De Huaua, that the writer would be shot within an hour by the Spanish authorities if they knew who gave the details of one of the most horrible atrocities ever chronicled in modern warfare."

From the letter it appears that the Marquis of Ahumeda, who officiated as captain-general of Cuba during General Weyler's absence in the field, sent a letter to General Maceo, inviting the Cuban leader to a conference. Maceo never for a moment thinking that treachery was intended, especially as the invitation came from such a prominent Spaniard as the Marquis of Ahumeda, immediately returned an answer saying that he would be glad to meet the Spanish general, and only accompanied by his staff he went to the rendezvous, little dreaming of the awful fate in store for him. On arriving at the trocha, the Spanish soldiers there, acting under orders, actually saluted the rebel chieftain as he passed, and after reaching the rendezvous the Cuban leader was surprised to see, instead of the Marquis Ahumeda, a large body of Spanish soldiers, who seemed to come from every side. The actions of the Spanish troops were so suspicious that Maceo felt that they had him cruelly trapped, and his suspicions were confirmed when a peremptory order came from a splendidly mounted officer to surrender. "Never!" was the reply, and hardly had the words been uttered when volley after volley was poured into the little band of patriots, who, although hemmed in all sides, outnumbered almost 100 to 1, stuck spurs to their horses and with cries of Cuba libre, rode gallantly to their death.

"Maceo is reported to have fallen at the first fire, with a bullet through his head, breaking his jaw. Another hit him in the abdomen. Both were fatal. Young Gomez was the next to fall, and in a few moments a number of bloody corpses, shot almost beyond recognition, were all that remained of the gallant Cubans, who trusted to Spanish honor.

"Only one member of the staff escaped, and that was Dr. Zertucha. The latter says the corpses were buried on the field, and every precaution taken to keep the details from being made public."

THE CRIME CALLS FOR ACTION,

And Congress Is Expected to Take Prompt Steps.

Washington.—The news of the alleged assassination of Maceo under the cover of what was practically a flag of truce, is accepted as true at the Cuban Legation here, and was received with a thrill of horror by Congressmen who learned of it. If authentic confirmation of Mr. Huau's story should be received from Acting Consul General Springer in Havana, some immediate action from Congress may be looked for in the coming week. There are facts in Huau's story, which, as the Cubans here believe, fit in with previous reports and make them intelligible. It was regarded as incomprehensible that a rough and tumble fighter like Maceo should be found killed in silk underwear and with all his jewelry on his person. But if he was riding out for a parley, nothing would be more natural to a Cuban than to attire himself in his most gorgeous array.

Resolutions of inquiry on the subject will probably be introduced in one or both Houses of Congress on Monday next.

LATER DETAILS OF THE MURDER

Congressmen and Senators Tender Their Sympathy to Cuba.

Havana, Cuba.—Further inquiries by the correspondent of the Associated Press have elicited the following additional details, which are positively reliable, of the manner in which Antonio Maceo met his death. It is known that Maceo expected the insurgent leader Sanchez to concentrate his forces in Havana province in readiness for Maceo when he should pass the trocha. It happened, however, that in passing the Spanish column commanded by Major Cirujeda, Maceo mistook the force of guerrillas under Peral for Sanchez's vanguard, and found himself amongst them before he discovered his mistake. At the first volley from the Spanish, Maceo fell wounded. The insurgents, taken by surprise, commenced a general fire as they retreated and abandoned Maceo in a dying condition.

Colonel Fiejoo has had an engagement at Campo Florida, near here, with the concentrated forces of the insurgents which were with Maceo at the time he was killed, and which are now following the leaders Aguirre, Castillo, Aranguren, Cardenas, Galit and Lozo, and which number 1,300 horsemen.

Colonel Fiejoo again met these forces at Tumba Ouarto, where he inflicted a loss of ten killed, their wounded being carried off. The Spanish had nineteen wounded.

Private advices from Santiago de Las Vegas, this province, state that the prominent insurgent leader Perico Delgado has been seriously wounded and has remained hidden in the woods since the last engagement with General Figuerea. The advices add that it is expected that several bodies of insurgents will soon surrender to the Spanish authorities.

The steamer San Ignacio has arrived here, having on board 1,240 soldiers to reinforce the Spanish forces in Cuba.

THE WOMEN WIN.

Supreme Court of Idaho Decides They Are to Have Suffrage.

Boise, Ida.—Women suffrage is an accomplished fact in Idaho. The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in effect that when any proposed amendment to the Constitution receives a majority of the votes cast on the proposition, whether or not it is a majority of all the vote cast at that election, said amendment is carried.

The woman suffrage amendment received 6,000 votes more than those cast against it, though not a majority of the votes cast at the election.

WARNED BY WHITECAPS.

Dallas, Tex.—Whitecaps have threatened to blow up Planter James Moore's home with dynamite if he employs negro tenants on his Dallas county land the coming season. Notices have been posted in numerous places ordering the negroes to leave or take the consequences—dynamite and Winchester rifles. Moore and his tenants have appealed to Sheriff Cable for protection, and he has detailed a special patrol of men in Moore's neighborhood.

NEW STATE LAWS.

A List of Laws Passed by the General Assembly.

AT THE RECENT SESSION.

Only Eighteen General Laws and One Hundred and Forty-four Local.—Five Joint Resolutions.—Two Vetoes By the Governor.—General Bills Next Half Session.

(From the Montgomery Advertiser)

The General Assembly before recess devoted its attention mainly to the consideration of local laws. Governor Johnson recommended in his message that all local matters be disposed of before recess in order that the last half of the session should be given to bills of a general nature. From the result of their work this seems to have been done, and it is a fact that not one law of any great general importance has ben considered yet.

The record made up shows that there were only eighteen general laws, one hundred and forty-four local laws and five joint resolutions passed and two vetoes by the Governor. The follow are the captions of the Acts on the Record Book of the Governor's Recording Secretary yesterday:

S. 74. Joint resolution authorizing the employment of messenger and servants.

H. 112. To incorporate the Normal School of Florence.

H. 52. To repeal act to regulate the issue of garnishments as to Calhoun and Cleburne.

H. 25. To incorporate the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Alabama.

H. 131. To amend section 4 of charter of Tuskegee Normal School.

H. 103. To provide for the compensation of Solicitor of Walker County.

H. 66. To establish a separate school district for Etowah County.

H. 58. To establish Fort Madison School District in Clarke County.

H. 48. To regulate the summoning of witnesses in Bibb County.

H. 10. To amend section 751 of the Code. (Relating to taking up criminal docket).

H. 36. To amend act to amend section 3,588 of the Code. (Practice partition suits).

H. 157. To provide Financial Committee for Covington County.

H. 140. To amend act to constitute Tuskaloosa a separate school district.

H. 95. To amend act to fix the time and regulate the holding of courts in Eighth Judicial Circuit.

H. 81. To secure copyrights for the books of the State.

H. 200. For the preservation of quail in Hale County.

H. 77. To provide for registration and payment of fees of State's witnesses before the Grand Juries where defendant is not arrested.

H. 35. To amend section 3,262 of the Code. (Jurisdiction of Chancery Court to sell for division.)

S. 44. To amend act to incorporate the Southern Mutual Fre Insurance Company.

H. 150. For the preservation of game in Bibb County.

H. 175. To amend section 2,071 of the Code. (Appraisement of personal property.)

H. 22. To regulate the summoning and attendance of witnesses in Cullman County.

H. 83. To require the members of the County Commission in Madison County to give bond.

H. 49. To require judgments and decrees against administrators de bonis non, where they have died or been removed.

H. 46. For protection of birds in Chambers County.

H. 37. To authorize the filing and recording of certain deeds in Walker, Marion, Lamar and Fayette Counties.

H. 16. To amend section 1 of an act to protect outstanding crops in Mobile.

H. 61. To regulate the time of holding regular terms of the Commissioners' Court in Cullman County.

H. 102. To amend act to incorporate the city of Tuskaloosa.

H. 182. To make all fines assessed upon conviction of misdemeanors, in Morgan county, payable in money.

S. 73. To incorporate the Montezuma University of Bessemer.

S. 26. To relieve Laura C. Hill, of Montgomery County, of the disabilities of non-age.

H. 17. To amend sections 1 and 2 of an act to change the compensation of the Solicitor of Mobile County.

H. 152. To amend section 2,571 of the Code. (Waiver indorsed on attachment.)

H. 169. To amend section 3,874 of the Code.

H. 79. To authorize and require the Commissioners' Court of Lamar County to pay State witnesses out of general fund.

H. 187. To amend act to incorporate the city of Tuskaloosa.

H. 40. To create a separate school district of Cullman.

H. 130. To authorize the CityCouncil of Phenix City to issue bonds for improving same.

H. 9. To repeal act to provide for protection of game in Fayette County.

H. 91. To confirm incorporation of Athenian Culb, of Mobile.

H. 38. To change time of holding Chancery Courts in Southeast Chancery Division in Blount, Walker and Winston Counties.

H. 216. To prevent stock from running at large in Hale and Tuskaloosa.

H. 29. To authorize the corporate authorities of Decatur to assess, levy and collect special tax for fire protection.

H. 159. To donate twenty-five copies of Code to the University Library.

H. 372. To amend charter of Uniontown.

H. 132. To amend act to fix the right of Mobile to certain real estate.

H. 109. To regulate the manner of making contracts by Commissioners' Court of Cullman County.

H. 191. To authorize the City Council of Athens to issue bonds to improve said city.

H. 218. To provide for compensation of jurors in the County Court of Bibb County.

H. 220. To authorize the Solicitor of the Ninth Circuit a deputy for Western Division of Blount County.

H. 141. To prohibit law partner of Solicitor of defending in cases where Solicitor prosecutes.

Joint Resolution 2. To provide for joint committee to examine work of Code Commissioner.

Joint Resolution 1. Looking to procuring reprint of Alabama Reports.

H. 71. To establish and maintain ferries in Jackson County.

H. 12. To incorporate the town of Hamilton, in Marion County.

H. 85. To authorize Commissioners of Lee County to issue bonds for building a courthouse.

S. 19. To amend act to bar certain claims of witnesses in Bullock County.

S. 48 To amend act to confer additional jurisdiction upon County Court of Wilcox County.

S. 77. To incorporate St. Clair College.

H. 372. To amend act to amend charter of Uniontown.

S. 33. To allow the County Commissioners in each county to appropriate money for armory rent for military companies.

H. 78. To confirm the incorporation of the Jones Valley Club.

H. 351. To prohibit sale of liquor within five miles of Elba High School, in Elba, Coffee County.

H. 270. To fix the time of holding the Circuit Court in Geneva and Henry counties.

H. 256. To amend section 2,243, providing for appeals from judgments of Justices of the Peace.

H. 178. To legalize the jury box of Monroe County.

H. 145. To authorize foreman of Grand Jury to issue certificates to witnesses examined.

H. 116. To provide for refilling the jury boxes in Chambers, Coosa and Macon Counties.

(Continues in next issue.)

NATIONAL DEMOCRATS

To Keep Up Their Organization, But Will Not Spread Out.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The National Executive Committee of the National Democratic party held its first meeting since the election at the Bates House in this city, Thursday afternoon, and in the evening enjoyed a little supper with Henry Watterson as the guest of honor.

The business of the afternoon was the auditing of the accounts of the committee and discussing the question of organization during the next four years. The accounts were found to be correct, with a balance left in the treasury, not a large one, but sufficient to send out a good deal of literature before the next Presidential election comes around.

Those present were: W. D. Bynum, chairman; John P. Frenzel, treasurer, and John R. Wilson, of this city, the latter holding the proxy of L. C. Krauthoff, of Kansas City; Henry Watterson, W. B. Haldeman and George M. Davie, all of Louisville; Thomas H. Clark, of Montgomery, Ala., holding the proxy of J. M. Faulkner, M. B. Spellman, of New Orleans; G. Foster Peabody, of Brooklyn; John P. Hopkins, of Chicago; C. V. Holman, of Rockland, Me.; F. W. McCutcheon, of St. Paul, and William B. Given, of Columbia, Pa., holding the proxy of John C. Bullitt, of Philadelphia.

It was decided to hold the organization intact and not to make an effort to extend it into States where it had no footing in the last campaign.

Various sub-committees were appointed and resolutions were adopted on the death of John R. Fellows, of New York, and C. A. Ewing, of Illinois.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Bremen, Germany.—The steamer Salier, Captain Wemp, from Bremen for Buenos Ayres, left Corunna, Spain, on December 7, and is reported to have foundered off Villa Gracia, Spain, and all hands lost. She carried a crew of sixty, and the total loss of life is believed to be about seventy-eight. Persistent reports reach here from Madrid that more than two hundred emigrants took passage on the Salier at Corunna, and that all of them were lost.

A later dispatch asserts that there were 210 passengers on the steamer, including one German, 113 Russians, thirty-five Galicians and sixty-one Spaniards, and adds that it is feared that all of them were lost.

A STRIKE ENDED.

Rolling Mill Men Agree to Accept a 10 Per Cent. Cut.

San Francisco, Cal.—The strike at the Pacific Rolling Mills is at an end. The men have agreed to a 10 per cent. reduction of their wages. About forty of the employees resumed work Saturday morning. The other half of the force are still out, but expect to be back to work in a day or so.

GAY WHILE IT LASTED.

Swindler Lives in Clover on the Strength of a Bogus Check

Altoona, Pa.—A stranger calling himself P. H. Bradley is under arrest here as a check swindler, and it is said he is wanted by several Western railroad companies for forging railroad passes. It was first thought that he might be Dyer, the absconding New York bookkeeper, but that theory was set aside by the arrival from that city of a detective who failed to identify him.

Bradley deposited in the First National Bank of this city a check for $500 drawn on a bank in Dayton, Ohio. A bank book in which the deposit was credited was given him, but he was not to draw against it until information from Dayton had been received. He ignored the warning and bought diamonds and clothing, giving checks on First National Bank and exhibiting the bank book. Learning of these transactions, the bank officials caused his arrest. He has been held pending the receipt of more detailed information from the West.

VOLUNTEERS FOR CUBA.

One Thousand Men to Leave New Orleans to Fight for Liberty.

St. Louis, Mo.—Volunteers for the relief of the Cuban insurgents are being mobilized in this city, and next Friday if all plans are carried out successfully 1,000 men will leave New Orleans for Cuba. Two hundred of these are St. Louisians, the remainder coming from East St. Louis and points South of here on the lines of the Illinois Central and Iron Mountain railroads.

Julius Van Gerst, of New Orleans, will be in charge of the expedition, with W. C. Carter, J. L. Goodner and Cornelius Knott, of this city, as aids. The quartette met here to-day and completed arrangements. Van Gerst and Knott will leave this evening on the Illinois Central, picking up the men on the road as far South as Cairo and perhaps Memphis, and will then proceed via. steamboat to New Orleans.

DIDN'T WANT MUCH.

Forger at Cleveland, Ohio, Signs a Check for $75,000.

Cleveland, Ohio.—The name of Judge E. T. Hamilton, of Cleveland, was forged to a $75,000 check Saturday. Early in the afternoon a man appeared at the Loraine Street Bank and presented an order for that amount on the Dime Savings and Building Company, payable to C. N. Cunningham. The treasurer offered an excuse for not paying it at once, and Cunningham departed. Meanwhile the signature had been pronounced a forgery by Judge Hamilton. At 3 o'clock Cunningham again appeared. He was told that the bank had failed to get the money and was requested to return at 5 o'clock. He agreed to do so, and has not been seen since.

SUICIDE AT VANDERBILT.

Student Sterling Turner, of Wartrace, Cuts His Throat.

Nashville, Tenn.—Sunday about 12 o'clock, noon, Sterling W. Turner, of the junior class of Vanderbilt University, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, in his room. It was not discovered until 3 o'clock by some of his companions who went to his room, and, failing to get in, forced an entrance, finding Turner dead, in a pool of blood.

Turner was 23 years old; President of the University Y. M. C. A.; lived at Watrace, Tenn., and was suffering from the effects of over-study.

TO CONCEAL MURDER.

Victim's Body Buried Beneath the Body of a Mule.

Knox, Ind.—The body of Ed Fetters, a horse dealer, was found buried with the carcass of a mule near here Friday, and to-day Fetters' partner, William Sutherlin, was arrested, charged with the murder. The grave had been carefully dug, and the animal's body placed so as to conceal that of the man in case the grave should be carelessly opened. It s' claimed by the authorities that several people are implicated in the crime.

BOTH MUST HANG.

Sentences of Walling and Jackson Affirmed by the Supreme Court.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Court of Appeals has denied Alonzo Walling a new trial. The opinion in the case was written by Judge Hazelrigg, to whom the Scott Jackson case was submitted. Both men will be hanged for the murder of Pearl Bryan.

At least one kind of reform is needed in New York. On opening day 18,000 school children had to be turned away because there had been no room provided for them by the authorities.

BLACKSHEAR, GA.

MR. SHUPTRINE.

Dear Sir:—"The box of TETTERINE I purchased of you has, I believe, permanently cured me of a ringworm that has been a great annoyance to me for five years. I cheerfully recommend it to those troubled with ringworm. Send a box to Mrs. Allen Brown of this place." Respectfully,

J. C. BREWER, D. D. S.

1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials free. Address

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

☞ Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

If a young man who wears "buttons" doesn't smoke cigarettes, it is because he has not yet learned.

If you are doubtful as to the use of Dobbins' Electric Soap, and cannot accept the experience of millions who use it, after the 33 years it has been on the market, one trial will convince you. Ask your grocer for it. Take no imitation.

Every man admires a woman who looks at her husband's bunch of office keys with awe and reverence.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For Whooping Cough, Piso's Cure is a successful remedy.—M. P. DIETER, 67 Throop Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1894

Save

The expense of doctors' bills. Keep your blood pure, your digestion good and your system regular at this season by taking a course of

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Cotton.

With careful rotation of crops and liberal fertilizations, cotton lands will improve. The application of a proper fertilizer containing sufficient Potash often makes the difference between a profitable crop and failure. Use fertilizers containing not less than 3 to 4%

Actual Potash.

Kainit is a complete specific against "Rust."

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Collier Red Seal Eckstein and O. K.
Lead $5.50; Oil, 42; Colors, 15, net.
Mixed Paint, 85c. to $1.00 per gallon.
Wall Paper 5c. per roll.
School Desks, Pews, Furniture and Building Material of ALL kinds.

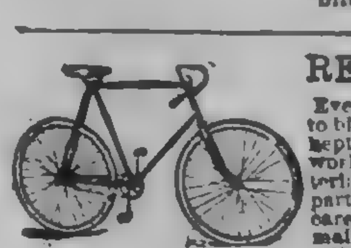
W. P. BREWER,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.



REPAIRING.

Everything pertaining to bicycles and repairs kept in stock. The best workmen and finest materials in our repair department. Prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Inquiries solicited.

THE LOOSLEY CYCLE CO.,
Birmingham, Ala.

WATCHES.—Up to January 1st we will sell to the consumer, at the manufacturers' prices, genuine American watches. Enclose stamp. Falls City Introduction Co., Louisville, Ky.

YOU DON'T SEE YOUR WHEEL WHEN RIDING,

KEATING

BUT OTHER PEOPLE DO,
Why not let them see a stylish wheel glide easily by?

(KEATING)—10 the

KEATING WHEEL CO.
HOLYOKE, MASS.

Art Catalogue 4c. in Stamps.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

BUY NO INCUBATOR

and pay for it before giving it a trial.

The firm who is afraid to let you try their incubator before buying it, has no faith in their machine. We will sell you ours

ON TRIAL

NOT A CENT until tried, and a child can run it with 5 minutes attention a day. We won

FIRST PRIZE WORLD'S FAIR

and will win you for a steady customer if you will only buy ours on trial. Our large catalogue will cost you 5 cents and give you [illegible] worth of practical information on poultry and incubators and the money there is in the business. Plans for Brooders, Houses, &c.

N. B.—Send us the names of three persons interested in poultry and 25 cents and we will send you "The Bicycle: Its Care and Repair," a book of 181 subjects and 80 illustrations, worth $5 to any bicycle rider.

VON CULIN INCUBATOR CO.
Box 1036. DELAWARE CITY, DEL.

FREE

REVOLVER FREE! WATCH FREE! 153 other articles. Cost nothing. Read our offer. [illegible]

FREE

Winston M'f'g Co., Winston, N. C.

TELEGRAPH—Taught in ten weeks; part tuition due after student takes [illegible] an office; main line practice given [illegible] particulars address C. H. Allison, [illegible] Sycamore, Ala.

10 WIVES! The true and startling story of Hogan, who wedded ten wives. Full length illustrated book sent secure and free by mail to seven two-cent stamps for postage, etc. GEO. MALLORY, Kearney, Mo.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for Free package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR. S. PERKEY, Chicago, Ill.

MAMMOTH BRONZE TURKEYS, Indian Games, Black Langshans, Pekin Ducks and their eggs, in season.
MRS. W. H. MANN, [illegible]

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

RODS for tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Am. N.U. No. 51. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A LIVER STIMULANT THAT WORKS WHILE YOU SLEEP WITHOUT A GRIPE OR GRIPE

Cascarets

CANDY CATHARTIC CURE CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

LIGHTEN THE ILLS OF HUMANITY.

PLEASE BUY & TRY A BOX OF CASCARETS TODAY

10-25-50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

SENT BY MAIL FOR PRICE. SAMPLE & BOOKLET FREE.

The Sterling Remedy Co.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

"Before and After Taking."

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M. D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule.

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1896. NO 9.

THE FAVORITE CHRISTMAS POEM.

The Night Before Christmas.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced through their heads;
And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon, on the breast of the new fallen snow,
Gave a luster of mid-day to objects below;
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and call'd them by name;
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer! now, Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen! —
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas, too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dress'd all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnish'd with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he look'd like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes, how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry.
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke, it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook, when he laugh'd, like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump—a right jolly old elf—
And I laugh'd when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye, and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spake not a word, but went straight to his work,
And fill'd all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose,
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

—Clement C. Moore.

BABY BUSKING.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

DON'T talk to me of Christmas—and its joys! Whisper your platitudes to ears that know what joy is; carry your wishes to hearts that may respond to them, smile your Christmas hopes into eyes that shall smile back at you—to whom Christmas is something more than a mere day, of the 365, to be got through with in one fashion or another. Christmas indeed!"

Paul Dargan spoke with a bitterness that was startling, even to me who knew him. He walked rapidly to and fro in the shabby room, beating his hands together now and then as he walked. A shabby and forlorn figure, with wild and unkempt hair falling into his eyes—eyes that had in them the light of tempestuous despair. His friend looked at him sadly.

"Ah, Paul! you did not always talk in this fashion. There was a time when men spoke of you, and said that you would do great things—a time when your eyes were bright and eager with hope. What has changed you?"

"Yes, there was such a time," replied the other slowly, pausing in his walk. "There is such a time in every man's life. Sometimes it lasts with us, and all is well. Ofttimes it dies away, like the mirage in the desert when one comes near to it. It died away with me."

"THE LAST TIME!" HE MUTTERED.

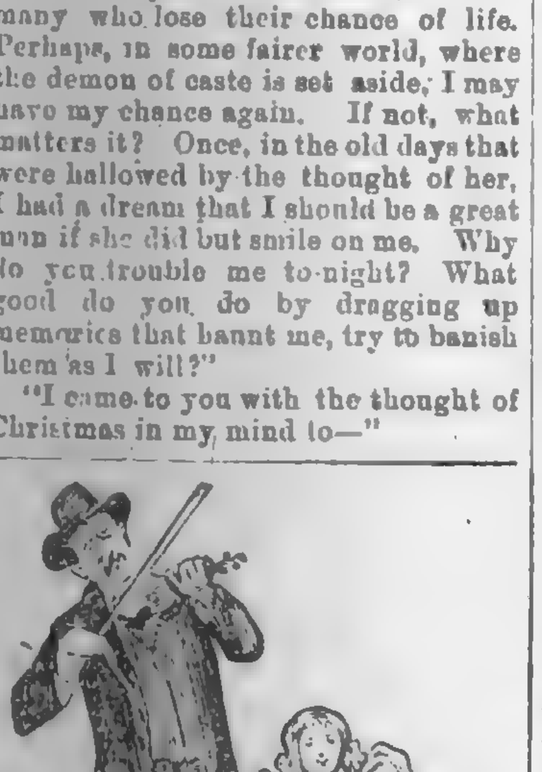
"But it may come again," urged his friend, quickly. "You have been reckless, and have set your feet on a path which leads to oblivion; it cannot be too late to turn back. I am no fatalist, but I would give much to see you your old self again. It is not too late."

"It is too late," replied the other steadily. "To some men Providence stretches out a hand once only—and they miss it. The hand was stretched out to me—the white hand of a woman. I—I could not grasp it. I have drifted ever since with the swift tide that bears men to perdition. Don't let us talk of it."

"I must. I cannot let you go like this."

"You trouble yourself needlessly, but you are very good. The woman I loved was far above me—rich, and with a position she must take in the world. I was a poor, struggling fellow, with nothing to offer her. I was scarcely ever permitted to see her. I dared not speak. I am but one of the many who lose their chance of life. Perhaps, in some fairer world, where the demon of caste is set aside, I may have my chance again. If not, what matters it? Once, in the old days that were hallowed by the thought of her, I had a dream that I should be a great man if she did but smile on me. Why do you trouble me to-night? What good do you do by dragging up memories that haunt me, try to banish them as I will?"

"I came to you with the thought of Christmas in my mind to—"



PICKED UP THE VIOLIN AND PLAYED.

"Curse Christmas! What thoughts of Christmas can I have that I should cling to the name? All the 'might-have-been' of my life is a thing of the past—a thing done with. Leave me. I am tired of it all. Like a child, I am weary of my toy—the toy men call life. It is broken in my hands. I only long for the night and sleep.

Paul Dargan was left alone at last in the shabby, scantily furnished room, illuminated only by the gas lamp outside shining through the uncurtained windows.

For a long time he stood there, with his nervous hands clutching his mouth. Once he poured some spirit into a glass with an unsteady hand and drank it hurriedly.

"Christmas Eve!" he muttered, at last. "Christmas Eve—and poverty, and loneliness, and despair. All men make excuses, but I think I am right to night when I say that if one woman had smiled on me four years ago I might not have been what I am. Who shall say? And to-night ends it. It will be a fitting irony to die when all other men make merry and are glad—to go out like the fluttering flame of a candle when all other lights burn most brightly."

He laughed mirthlessly, and crossed the room and took his shabby hat from a peg and put it on and presently went out, locking the door and passing noiselessly down the stairs.

Outside there were hurrying men and women, who jostled him as he passed—men and women with the love and good-will of Christmas in their hearts, whose hearty tones and laughter rang out through the frosty air—men and women to whom, at this time of all the year, sorrow and care seemed a forgotten thing, a something left behind and done with utterly and forever.

There were cheery shopmen who appeared to be ready almost to give away their wares if only they might enter into the spirit of the time and benefit mankind. The shivering match-seller at the corner of the street even wore a smile, ghostly though it might be.

The shabby figure of Paul passed on through it all, and entered a restaurant, and sat down at one of the tables.

"The last time," he muttered. "Why should I not go out of life like a philosopher, and let the wine that has helped me on the downward road bring a smile to my lips and a warmth to my limbs? The last time!"

The waiter looked at him dubiously, yet brought all he ordered. But the man could not eat; he thrust the food aside after a while and drank the wine eagerly.

Then he paid his reckoning, and went out again into the darkness.

He found his way to Waterloo Bridge, and stood there, looking over the parapet into the light-flecked water beneath him. How solemnly it ran along there, while all the careless noise and mirth and traffic rolled on above.

He shuddered and turned away in the direction of Lambeth, walking on listlessly and aimlessly, with a certain dimly triumphant feeling upon him that it was all nothing to him—that he had done with it.

Almost unconsciously, he noticed the figure of a child going on slowly before him—a small and lonely figure—a girl, of some seven years of age, clad in an old and worn frock. He noticed, too, with the wondering eye of a musician, that the little one carried, tucked under her arm, a small-sized violin.

It was a very steady little figure, with some evident purpose in its mind, although it walked with a strange shrinking timidity, as though unused to the streets.

With a new feeling of curiosity in his mind, he found himself following the child; he completely forgot that there had been a fixed intention in his mind to visit the large public house which stands at the corner of the road at the end of the bridge. The child went on and Paul Dargan followed.

Presently she stopped in the roadway outside a public house, and began in a very clumsy, childish fashion to tune her instrument.

A few people stopped in surprise, and Paul, drawing nearer, saw the child's face by the light of the street lamp above her.

Such a face, with great, grave, innocent eyes, and a tender little mouth that was just now quivering and nervous. The child's bright hair had escaped in clustering profusion over her shoulders.

Some old memory must have been stirred in the man's breast by the sight of the childish face; he put his thin hand up for a moment and covered his eyes. Then he looked again at the little figure with eager attention.

The crowd that had gathered was a very silent one. They looked at the child half in awe and wonder, half in unspoken admiration.

She tucked the violin under her little, soft chin, and drew the bow across the strings, and began to sing in a pretty childish treble a quaint little nursery ballad about her dolly.

It was the sweetest, rarest little song, rising and falling in that quavering voice. Paul Dargan felt a lump in his throat and a mist gathering in his eyes as he listened; he felt that he was a viler creature even than he had pictured himself, and that heaven was further away.

Suddenly, without a word of warning, the violin ceased, the song died away; the child bent her curly head and burst into an agony of weeping. She had kept up bravely enough, but the loneliness, the terror, the strangeness of standing in the midst of this crowd of people was too much for her.

In an instant a rough woman standing there with a shawl over her head, was down on her knees in the bare roadway, soothing the child with rough but gentle words—words that had the accent which, coarse or fine, is the tenderest of any among the tongues of men.

"I—I can't sing any more," sobbed the child. "I—I thought it would be all so easy. I saw a woman do it the other day, and people gave her money. Sis wanted money badly, and I crept out and thought that I would earn some, and tell her that Santa Claus had sent it in the night."

She stopped in awe and wonder and glanced up. A man who had stood beside them and heard the words had picked up the little violin and played upon its strings with the touch of a master hand, the while his voice rang out in the words of an old familiar song, in tones as pure and true as they had ever rung out years before in the houses of the rich and great, when all the world was beginning to talk of him.

The solitary, hopeless man, wrecked and forlorn, sang and played for this baby as he had never sung and played when men flattered him and gave him their gold. And there was a light upon the face he raised to the quiet stars which it had not worn for years.

The song died away at last and they pressed about him—rough men and women though they were—with many an awkward compliment, and with the coins ready in their palms. He collected it all together and tied it in the little one's handkerchief and handed it to her.

"Tell me where you come from, my little singer," he said, "and let me take you home. You are a brave little lassie, and you may give all this to Sis, and have a merry Christmas after all."

The child put her hands confidingly in his and looked up into his face.

"Yes—take me home, please, and let me tell Sis that you sang for me, and got in all the money, and helped me. Sis will be glad."

"I don't think that I did much, little one," he replied. "But did you come out all alone, without telling any one?"

"Yes. I don't think that Sis would have let me come if I had told her. But I have seen her crying often and often, because she has no money, and because we are so hungry."

"Poor little mite!" he murmured, and walked on by her side thoughtfully.

"This is our street," she said, presently, when they had walked some distance in silence.

At the same moment a figure came hurrying towards them—the figure of a young woman. She caught sight of the child and suddenly stooped down and took her in her arms.

"Oh! Baby, dear—where have you been? I have wandered about like a mad woman, scarcely knowing what had happened, or what had become of you. Where have you been?"

Baby told her story, and then turned towards Paul Dargan, who had stood perfectly still, like a man turned to stone.

"And this good, kind gentleman," added Baby, "sang to the people when I broke down, and got such a lot of money and gave it all to me. Won't you thank him, Sis?"

"I am sure, sir," began the girl. And then broke off hurriedly and took a step towards Paul and looked at him eagerly. "Mr. Dargan?" she exclaimed.

"I did not think, Miss Mayne," he replied in a low voice, "that the little one was bringing me to you. If—if I have been—of any service—I am glad. But I do not understand."

"We cannot talk in the street, Mr. Dargan. Will you come in with us for a few minutes?"

She turned as she spoke, with one arm about the child, and walked down the quiet little street. Paul having the violin under his arm, could do nothing but follow.

It was a poor room indeed into which they went, and the girls seemed distressed that he should find them in such straits.

"When last you saw us, Mr. Dargan," she said, slowly, "all things were different; the world smiled upon us. But my father failed suddenly—lost everything he had in the world and died soon after. My mother is dead, too. Baby and I have struggled on as best we could. I have been able to secure a little needlework sometimes. I don't think you saw much of Baby in the old days, Mr. Dargan. She is my only sister, and was most probably in the nursery."

"No, I don't think I saw her," he replied.

"You, too, have suffered reverses?" she asked, timidly.

"Of, my own making—yes. Life lost its sweetness for me four years ago. I have been drifting since. This night was to have been my last. Baby stopped me."

"Why should life have lost its sweetness?" she asked, softly, turning her shining eyes upon him.

HE TOOK THE LITTLE HAND IN HIS.

"Because I dreamed a dream—a hopeless dream, because I aspired to a woman who was far above me as the stars."

"But no woman is ever above a good man, Mr. Dargan. Custom binds her tongue and seals her lips. Mr. Dargan, we are both in the same boat now, with all the hard world before us, and the current is strong and I"—

"Grace, sweet Grace, will you take my broken life—will you help me to mould it to something better—will you let us pull down the stream in the same boat together, dear love?"

His arms were about her—the light of a love that she had tried to crush down was in her eyes, and as she raised her face to his, he read her answer there even before she spoke.

"Dear Paul, I would have done so long since if you had asked me."

I was certainly the merriest little Christmas dinner to which three hungry people ever sat down that following day. They were shabby people but they were happy, and their hearts were light and their hopes high.

"And I am to live with you when you get married?" Baby asked.

"Yes," said Paul, laughing happily. "But upon one condition only—that you never go busking again."

"Busking—what's that?" asked the child, opening her big eyes in perplexity.

"You were busking last night, Baby," said Paul. He took the little hand in his and raised it to his lips. "And I thank the God of Christmastide for it, little one. Some day you will know and understand why I say so. God bless you, Baby Busking."—Illustrated Bits.

CHRISTMAS CANDY.

How Many Home-Made Sweets May Be Easily Produced.

Uncooked "fondant," or cream, as it is popularly termed, forms the foundation for an almost endless variety of home-made candy, and it is easily and quickly prepared. Confectioners' sugar is the best material to use, but very satisfactory results can be achieved with ordinary powdered sugar. Sift a quantity of powdered sugar on a smooth board, making it as nearly cone shaped as possible. Into a well in the centre put a little cold water, work in sugar till the water is absorbed, then add water a little at a time till a smooth, stiff paste is formed. From this fondant, using different colors and flavors, a great variety of candy can be produced.

Lemon Creams—Work the sifted sugar to a paste with lemon juice, and add a little of the grated rind. Roll into balls and flatten, then dry.

Cream Walnuts and Dates—Cut a roll of the fondant into sections, roll each into a ball, and press half a walnut meat on either side. Place on oiled paper to harden. Halve dates, remove the stones, roll each half in a piece of fondant, then in granulated sugar.

Chocolate Creams—Make the fondant of equal parts of the whites of eggs and milk; roll portions into small balls and drop them one at a time into melted chocolate. Take them out with a fork placed underneath, let drain, then drop on oiled paper.

Lozenges—Flavor portions of the fondant with essence of wintergreen, peppermint or cinnamon, dust a board with sugar, roll the fondant thin and cut with the top of a salt bottle.

Crystalized Popcorn—Boil a teacupful of granulated sugar, three tablespoonfuls of water and one tablespoonful of butter. When a hard ball can be formed of a little dropped in cold water, throw in three quarts of nicely popped corn and stir briskly till each kernel is well coated.

Butternut Balls—Chop butternut meats very fine, add a little of your favorite spice. Make a frosting as if for cake, thicken it with the chopped nuts till it can be handled. Rub the hands with a very little butter, roll the paste into little balls and put them on buttered tins allowing space for spreading.

Crystalized Nuts—Lay the nut meats in the beaten whites of eggs, stir and drain, beat what is left in the dish and what drains from them, and pour it over the nuts. Roll each one in powdered sugar and dry in a cool oven.

Sugar Drops—Measure out five drops of essence of peppermint and cream tartar the size of a pea. When a teacupful of granulated sugar and two tablespoonsful of water have boiled five minutes, stir in the peppermint and cream tartar, first taking the kettle from the fire. Beat briskly till the mixture whitens, then drop on oiled paper. To make wintergreen drops, flavor with essence of wintergreen and color with cochineal; for rose use eight drops of rose extract and tint with a little cochineal.

White Candy—Boil together two teacupsful of granulated sugar, one teacupful of water and one tablespoon of vinegar until a little dropped in ice cold water becomes brittle. Pour it into buttered tins and when cool enough to handle pull, working in a little vanilla. Form into sticks, and before they are cold cut into sections with a sharp knife.

Wrap these bonbons separately in different colors of tissue paper. Line some pretty boxes with fringed tissue paper and tie about each box a band of narrow ribbon with bow.

Arriving at a Conclusion.

Willie Slimson—"Mamma, does Santa Claus get in his sleigh on Christmas Eve and drive around to all the houses of the little boys and girls?"

Mrs. Slimson—"Yes, dear."

Willie—"And does he stop at each chimney as he goes along, and leave just the right things?"

Mrs. Slimson—"Yes, dear."

Willie—"He must be pretty quick to visit all the little boys and girls in one night."

Mrs. Slimson—"He is, dear."

Willie (thoughtfully)—"I don't believe he does it that way."

Mrs. Slimson—"How do you think he does it?"

Willie—"I think he plans ahead and does some of the work beforehand."

Mrs. Slimson—"What makes you think so?"

Willie—"Well, I notice that he's got all my presents put away in one of the closets, already."

Where He Would Like It.

Small Boy (teasing)—"Say, papa, what you going to give me for Christmas?"

Papa—"If you don't quit bothering me I'll give you a whipping."

S. B.—"All right, pop; put it in my stocking, won't you?"

STATE CHRONICLES.

Interesting Happenings Throughout Alabama.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

Notes of Industrial Progress—What Is Going on Among the People of Our Neighboring Towns and Cities—An Interesting Budget of Important Events.

BERRY STATION—ROBBERY.

A train robbery occurred Thursday night about 7 o'clock between Berry and Bankston Stations, in Fayette County, on the Southern Railway.

The robbery was done by two men well masked, and they were evidently experts in the business, though from all reports they did not get much booty for their trouble.

The train held up was No. 85, westbound, which was pulled by Engineer Graham Jones and in charge of Conductor T. A. Slaughter. The train was flagged down with a lantern, and the stop was made on a trestle. It was between 7 and 7:20 o'clock, and the clouds made it a little dark. One man climbed up on the engine and covered the engineer and fireman with pistols. He was stern in his demands.

The other robber got on the baggage and express car and began work on battering down the door. He was assisted a few moments later by the other robber and the engineer, who thought it best to help rather than to die, the orders from the robber being in that tenure.

The inside of the baggage car was reached and Express and Baggage Messenger A. L. Buffington was ordered to throw up his hands and all would be well. It was reported that one of the safes in the car was smashed open, and that the robbers got a little for their trouble and then made off.

The country where the robbery took place is hilly. The robbers evidently had planned the attack for some time, for it was not done, judging from the information, in a bungling manner. On a trestle the train is said to have stopped, which kept the people in the cars from going to the assistance of the men in the head of the train. The robbers could soon lose themselves in the country, and, having three or four hours the start, are liable to have left the State and gotten down in the neighborhood of Mississippi, and in the haunts that the once famous Rube Burrows knew so well.

BIRMINGHAM—IRON.

A shipment of eighty car loads of Birmingham pig iron to Savannah, there to be forwarded by steamer to Genoa, Italy, has just been made. The sale of Alabama pig iron in large quantities to foreign buyers has become such a common thing that nobody is now surprised when sales are made, and little attention is paid by the public to any except to those of some magnitude. It is said that a large number of foreign orders are about to be closed for Birmingham iron, and that shipments promise to be heavier within the next thirty days than ever before.

ASHLAND—ASSASSINATION.

While John J. Thornton, one of the editors of the Clay County Advance, was sitting in front of his hearthstone surrounded by his family, some one shot him in the back of the head through a window, out of the darkness. The entire top of his head was torn off and death was instantaneous.

Thornton, at the request of his mother, had just taken up his mandolin to make some music. He played the "Last Serenade" very sweetly, when just as the last notes of the music died out the fatal shot was fired and the player fell forward a corpse at his mother's feet.

HUNTSVILLE—GOLD.

It has been a long time since as much yellow money has been in circulation in this place as was seen to-day. Yesterday over $6,000 in gold was carried in one package from the banking house of W. R. Rison & Co. to the Dallas Mill and paid out to the operatives.

Charles Winright, who has been in the North as immigration agent for the Chamber of Commerce, returned last night, bringing with him four families. He says an excursion will be run here from that section early in January.

SELMA—A KILLING.

Allen Coleman, a wealthy farmer, was shot and instantly killed Thursday evening by West Etheridge. The two men had been enemies for some time, and Etheridge has been tried on charges of burning the gin house of Coleman. Both men were on their way from town, and as Etheridge passed Coleman's buggy he fired at Coleman with a shotgun the entire load of buckshot taking effect in the back of the head. Coleman was unarmed. Etheridge disappeared.

JAPAN MIXED IN IT.

Madrid, Spain.—La Pais asserts that it has been definitely proven that Japan has landed men and munitions of war upon the Phillipine Islands, and that Phillipine rebels are commanded by Japanese officers. Two more battalions of troops have sailed for Manila.

It is usually a man who has a head like a cork who gets along best in the swim.

TREND OF TRADE.

Bradstreet and Dun Report Business Generally Dull.

A GOOD HOLIDAY TRADE.

But Only in Staples, Such as Candy, Nuts, Fruit and Groceries—Prices Still Continue Downward—Demand for Cloths Far Below the Increased Production.

New York, N. Y.—Wholesale trade continues of smaller volume than was expected, practically the only activity in wholesale lines being in groceries, candies, fruits and nuts, says Bradstreet's for last week.

The weather has interferred with seasonable business, which at many centers is smaller than in preceding years, in that a larger proportion of purchases are of a cheap grade. There is a decrease in demand at Atlanta and Seattle, but at Nashville, Sioux Falls, Savannah and Jacksonville jobbing lines remain quiet and unchanged, with retailers of holiday goods experiencing the only activity.

The downward tendency of prices pointed out a fortnight ago is continued. This includes quotations for hides, which caused boot and shoe jobbers to restrict purchases, anticipating cuts in prices for shoes; steel rails with a drop of $3.00 a ton owing to the dissolution of the pool; steel billets with a drop of $3.25 on the failure of the combination and Bessemer pig iron owing to the general tendency of iron and steel. Cotton, too, is lower on confidence in a larger crop than was expected; print cloth as product of that staple, and because of the large stock of the same; anthracite coal, Indian corn, oats and petroleum. Steady or practically unchanged quotations are reported for pork, lard, coffee and sugar. Wheat and resin are higher. At the South the decline in the price of raw cotton may affect country merchants who are still carrying that staple. An increased wheat acreage is reported from California.

Total bank clearings for the week have not changed materially, increasing only about 2 per cent. compared with last week. When contrasted with the corresponding period last year this week's total shows a falling off of 9 per cent.

There are 359 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, twenty-two fewer than last week and twenty-six less than in the corresponding week one year ago.

R. G. Dun & Co. in their weekly review of trade say:

Cuban reports, unusual closeness of money in Germany and the decision that there will be no action on the tariff this session have not really changed the situation, but have been talked about as if they might change it. The holiday trade is generally large, though at some points more confined to cheap goods than usual, and the influence of the increase in the working force is felt in other ways. Put until the new year the only material changes expected are such as prepare for a large business next year. In the iron and steel industry these appear of the utmost importance.

Exports of cotton are naturally stimulated by lower prices and with forced liquidation of important speculative operations cotton has declined to 7.12c., recovering to 7.19c. July 15 the price was 7.06c.; short crop stories raised it to 8.87c. September 10, and it has now gone back about to the starting point. Receipts from plantations continue heavy, while commercial stocks here and abroad are only about as large as a year ago, when the movement had been 1,100,000 bales less. The demand for goods in this country falls below the increased production, and the market is weak in tone, with prices of some jobbers' bleached goods sharply reduced. Speculation in wool has halted.

The control of the mountain iron of Messabi mine has been leased for fifty years or purchased by the Carnegie interest from Mr. J. D. Rockefeller, the ore to be shipped by his new steamship line on the lakes and by the new railway which the Carnegie Company is building to Lake Erie. This, with the erection of sixteen new open hearth furnaces, making thirty-six, insures an enormous increase of product at extreme low cost, and will affect all combinations in steel products or in ore. The billet pool has practically dissolved, and sales are reported at $16 to $17, the contracts to supply consumers through most of the while of next year. The beam pool has revived and restored the price to $1.55, but nails and steel bars are a shade lower. The Rail Association has been in session, and our Philadelphia dispatch states that rails are sold at $25, against $28 so long maintained. Bessemer pig and gray forge are a shade lower at Pittsburg, Virginia and Alabama irons are offered 25 cents lower at the East, and with much uncertainty regarding great changes in progress; very little is done in finished products, and generally at concessions. A sale of 3,000,000 pounds of lake copper is reported at 11½ cents. Coke tracts reported at $150.

Failures for the week have been 387 in the United States, against 377 last year, and 41 in Canada, against 32 last year.

Pie tastes just as good off a shingle to a hungry boy.

Welcome is preferable to custard for dinner.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's right maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

CONGRESS adjourned Tuesday until January 5.

PROSPERITY seems to be coming with a rush. Several heavy bank failures are reported this week.

WE have been glad to notice that all our merchants have been doing a fine holiday business.

HON. W. J. BRYAN lectured to a large audience last night in Atlanta. This is a special lecture and not one of the series of fifty lectures he is to make and for which he is to receive $50,000.

GOVERNOR Johnston has appointed Mr. Claughton of Verbena one of the watchman at the capital. Before the Legislature adjourned a resolution was passed that the watchman shall hereafter wear grey uniforms, and be invested with police powers.

THE removal of the old courthouse completely alters the appearance of Clanton. It is to be hoped now that some attention will be paid to putting our streets in better condition. Corporation or no corporation the streets certainly need some attention.

OUR Congressman, Hon. William F. Aldrich, has distributed throughout his District, over one thousand copies of the "Year Book" of the Department of Agriculture of the United States, and has, by an extra effort, so we are informad, secured some additional copies, which will be forwarded to those who make application for them. Those of our readers who have not received this book and are desirous of obtaining a valuable work, should write to Congressman W. F. Aldrich, care House of Represetatives, Washington, D. C., at once.

THE following contests for seats in the fifty-fifth congress have been filed to-wit: Thomas H. Clark vs. J. F. Stallings, in the second district; G. L. Comer vs. H. D. Clayton, in the third district; W. F. Aldrich vs. T. S. Plowman, in the fourth; A. T. Goodwyn vs. Willis Brewer, in the fifth; and Oscar R. Hundley vs. Joseph Wheeler in the eight. By the time the investigation of the frauds practiced in all these districts shall be fully ventilated the committee on privileges and elections will be ready to say that the other democrats holding certificates ought to be kicked out on general principles. These contests, with the twenty others from the south, appeal to congress for the enactment of a law to govern federal elections. The only reason that the first and ninth districts are not represented by contestents is likely for some other reason than that the friends of the democratic candidate did not steal more than all the votes comprised in the majority returned for them. The indications are that Dr. G. B. Crowe will contest in the ninth.—Monitor.

LAST Thursday in Congress Mr. William F. Aldrich submitted the following Resolution, and it was referred to the committee on rules and ordered to be printed.

Resolved, That it shall be in order immediately after the approval of the Sournal on the morning of sixth day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, to take up Senate bill numbered twenty-four hundred and sixty-one, entitled, "An act to grant lands to the States of Alabama for the use of the Industrial School for Girls of Alabama and of the Tuskegee Normal Industrial Institute," and consider the same in the House as in the Committee of the whole until the same shall be disposed of.

Congressman William F. Aldrich of the fourth district of Alabama beecame well known in the last session of congress, not only for having made a successful contest for his seat against Gaston A. Robbins, the democratic member from that district, but by a financial bill which would, in the opinion of very many, be a solution of the financial troubles which now assail the country, and in passing we might remark that they have not been settled by the last election as some fondly hoped they would be.

Mr. Aldrich has introduced a bill to require contestees in contested election cases to give bond to the United States, and in reply to a question propounded to him by the correspondent of the Journal, concerning his object and motive in so doing, he said:

"The bill you speak of is an attempt to prevent frivolous coutested election cases coming before Congress for senttlement. As the law now stands, and as the practice of congress has been, the returned member retains his seat often until the last few weeks of the second session of his term. The contestee therefore receives nearly $10,000 in salary and allowances for mileage and stationary amounting to perhaps $1,000 more, and the same salary and allowances are paid the contestant when seated, thus burdening the United States with double expenses for the same services. In addition to this great injustice, it offers a premium for fraudulent election certificates."

"Mr. Aldrich, do you think your bill, if it becomes a law, would result in limiting the number of contested election cases?"

"Yes, I think so. There were 33 contests in the present house, some of which have not yet been settled, and the expenses to the government because of them could not have been less than $250,000. About one-half of this expense would be saved if this proposed bill should beome a law. I do not contemplate depriving either the contestant or the contestee of the allowance for making the contest, as that would probably operate in some cases to prevent a poor man from contesting a just cause. I am confident that if this bill was in effect the certificate would be given to the member really elected, as the premium now offered by the government for fraudulent election certificates would not be in operation."—Montgomery Journal.

Representative Aldrich, of the fourth Congressional district of Alabama, will contest the election of Representative-elect Plowman, and served notice of contest Saturday. Mr. Aldrich says that although elected to Congress by over 3,000 majority he was deprived of the certificate through fraud and ballot-box stuffing.—Silver Knight.

Hon. Thomas Watson, of Georgia, recently Populist candidate for Vice-president, will appear before the committee on elections January 8 to contest the title to the seat now held by Judge Black in the House. Judge Black was elected to this Congress over Mr. Watson, but the Populist candidate charged that the election was procured by fraud, so Judge Black resigned and was re-elected in a special election held October 2, 1895, by a majority of 1,500. Mr. Watson contends that the second election was also secured by fraud. —Silver Knight.

A MERRY XMAS to you all.

Your Vitality?

The essence of life is force. Every breath you breathe, every heart beat, every motion of your hand, takes force. The measure of force we call vitality. If this is lacking, there is loss of flesh, lack of resistive power, a tendency to catch disease easily, especially a tendency to Consumption. For low vitality nothing is better than Scott's Emulsion. It supplies force by furnishing the nourishing, strengthening elements of food in an easily digested form; enriches the blood, and builds up the system. When ordinary food is of no avail, Scott's Emulsion will supply the body with all the vital elements of life.

Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00. All druggists.

If you will ask for it we will send you a book telling you all about Scott's Emulsion. Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 22, 1896.

The fight against the Trusts is on. A few years ago the man who dwelt at length on this growing evil was called a Populist, a "calamity howler," but open beneficiary of some sort of a trust and every newspaper except the trust organs agree that we must, in some way, stay the growth of this octopus that threatens to strangle the farmer and the small tradesman. The hardest part of any work is done when public sentiment is aroused in regard to it. In this, as in nearly all reform work the People's party press has had to take the initiative, do much hard work and get but meagre thanks. If the good work but go on, however, there is small complaint made.

A lecture on "Trusts, Their Benefits and Evils," was recently delivered at the First Congregational church, in Kansas City, Mo., by a wealthy and well known Judge. His summary of the local injury from the coal trusts of Missouri and Kansas and the abuses of the gas and fire insurance companies received hearty applause, and the Commonwealth Club, T. E. Palmer, President, will take up the question with the intention of pushing legislation.

Governor-elect Rogers, of Washington, has issued a pamphlet in which he takes the ground that the homestead should not be taxed and proposes an amendment to the State Constitution to that effect.

The Supreme Court has decided against Bhapman, the representative of S. Pierpont Morgan, in the financial scandal of Cleveland's bond-issues, thus making it possible to arrest Morgan, Belmont, Stetson et al.

An Inter-National Hypothecated Bank has been started in Chicago with a capital of $10,000,000. Branches are to be established at Paric, London, Berlin and Busterdam.

Senator Allen has been out-Heroding Herod by calling up the Dingley Bill and forcing the Republican Senators to show their hands. He has also been giving Grandma Hoar a good rating. These things may not be entirely in accord with that senatorial courtesy and dignity of which we hear much and see little, but it shows the Republican Senators that they have men to deal with. It may also serve to stop the insane attacks upon the west that have grown to be all too frequent. Mr. Allen defended his State and others from the charge of repudiation and class legislation. The character of the Western people he not only vindicated but entered counter-charges against the old Bay state that her history renders irrefutable. A few more such plain talks and perhaps even the obtuse and narrow-minded Senator from Massachusetts may learn that it is a good idea to let a western man alone, in time to avert the catastrophe that must have prompted some wise man to write "Beware of the wrath of the patient man." Mr. Allen has also offered a bill to have a senatorial committee of nine on "the use of money in elections."

Among the many good things to be done by the Kansas legislature, which all the world knows is Populist, are the following: Enlarge the power of the railroad commissions, abolish the board of pardons and create a pardon clerk, enlarge the asylums for the insane, diminish the number of state boards by consolidation, and reduce the number of state house clerks. The proposed holding of a conststutional convention in that state is causing much agitation. Senater Peffer seems to be, at this writing, in the lead in the senatorial race. The Kansas Farmer's Alliance, which once numbered 107,000 members, has now but 1,000 and threatens to disband at its next meeting.

The Populist Territorial Committee has been called together for January 11th, the day preceding the convening of the Legislature at Guthrie, Oklahoma.

The Silver Clubs of Kansas, have been called to meet at Topeka, January 12. 1897.

A National Bureau of volunteer reform speakers has been established in St. Louis. Some five thousand speakers will be sent into the field.

Hon. Thos. Watson will appear before the Committee on Elections on January 8, to contest the title to the seat now held by Judge Black.

The electoral vote of California has been tabulated and shows as follows: Republican 146,588; Fusion 44,766; Prohibition 2,573.

The First National bank, of Hollidayburg, Pennsylvania, one of the original fifty licensed, has closed its doors, alleging as the reason; the great run made upon it during the last thirty days. Some bank failure is daily announced in the same papers that a short time since were predicting such disaster if Bryan was elected. We find no editorial comment.

At the meeting of the American Bimetallic Union at Washington, D. C., it was determined to form all Silver organizations into one great Union as a nucleus for a "New Party."

The republicans are offering to put a prohibitive tax on silver and lead ores and wool, on condition that the bolters come into party-caucus. An agreement to unite, on part of the democrats, Populists and silver republicans will prevent, by seven votes, the republicans from carrying any measure.

A. R.

THE SOUTH IN 1895.

In order to understand and to appreciate the great progress and growth of the South in the year 1895, it is necessary to glance at the condition of this country soon after the close of the civil war. From the Ohio river south to the Mexican Gulf, from the Atlantic west to the tractless prairies of Texas was a scene of a fair and beautiful country laid waste by the cruel hands of war.

When we contemplate this South of twenty years ago—a country abounding in sad desolation, its people impoverished and stricken by a disastrous war, and then look at the marvelous achievements, business progress, and general prosperity of this South of 1895, it seems as wonderful as the tale of Aladdins Lamp.

In the record of the year 1895, prominent and far reaching in its results was the Atlanta Exposition. This display of Southern products, wealth and enterprise to the world will bear its greatest fruits not in heavy investments of Northern capital or in the inflow of thousands of the people of the South to their own opportunities and in the stimulation to greater activities by seeing the work Atlanta has accomplished.

Its influence will, however, be felt upon the entire country, broadening the patriotism of the American people and bringing the different parts of this country into greater harmony and closer business relations with one another.

During the year 1895, the revival of the business has put into operation many furnaces and made the rate of out-put of both coal and iron at the close of the year greater than at any former time in the history of the South. The making of steel from Southern iron is yet in its infancy, but its possibilities have been demonstrated beyond doubt. Heavy sales of basic iron have been made to steel-making concerns of the North, and now a large number of plants are being started up in the South.

The year 1895 was again made memorable in Southern progress, when the government awarded to a Southern ship-building industry a contract for two great battle ships to cost $4,500,000. This same company has now under contract for the government eight vessels, the aggregate of construction of which will be nearly $7,000,000. The influence of this will materially affect the whole South. That a Southern firm underbid the great ship builders of Philadelphia and San Fransisco by nearly half a million on each vessel indicates the growth of the manufacturing interest of the South.

The greatest industrial development in the South, and the industry which will bring more wealth than even coal and iron combined is the great activity in cotton manufacturing. Ten years ago the manufacturing business was lucrative almost any where. New England and British cotton mills could afford to pay for the transportation of cotton 1000 or 3000 miles, to buy high priced coal, to pay exorbitant taxes, and still realize good profits.

But great enconomical changes have now taken place so that the country or section of country which has the greatest manutacturing advantages will command the commerce of the world.

The South has a monopoly in cotton productions, and has unparalleled facilities for cotton manufacturing as was shown during the hard times of the last few years, and is beginning to attract Northern and Southern capitalist.

Cotton mills are going up all over the South. New England millmen are seeking to find more inviting locations in Southern fields.

Another noticeable feature is now the remarkable Southern trend of population. The development of counties seem to go by tidal waves of population. The West has to a great extent been taken possession of, and people are looking for a new Eldorado. It is to the South that the world's attention is now being drawn. The barriers that have kept people away are now being broken down. Southern ports are being opened to ocean commerce, and the South has entered the field of competition for Western transportation. The results of this Western and Southern business relation can hardly be measured.

Railroads will traverse this section from all directions, leading to Southern ports. Immigration will be greatly facilitated, manufacturing and agricultural interests will be assisted, and there will soon be seen a creation of wealth greater than that of the North-west during the days of the great Western movement.

These may seem the views of an enthusiast, and some may say that they have not felt these great industrial movements that have been going on in the South for the last few years; but nevertheless the movements are in progress.

The year 1895 will be a great epoch in the business history of the South.

The sun that went down in defeat behind the smoking heights of Gettysburg has risen again in a clearer sky, to shine with added lustre and ever increasing brilliancy.

The cry "go West young man" is no longer heard. The star empire is moving southward. In the language of Depew, "The young men of the South have no need to seek their fortunes in the crowded cities of the North. At their own doors and within their own States are their missions and careers." Many years surpassig in grandeur of results and brilliancy of execution the year 1895, a year of glorious movements, are destined to come to our Southern homes. The prophet's eye cannot foresee the splendid conditions that Providence has in store for us, if we are only true to ourselves and our highest interests.

WALTER KENDRICK

Burwell, Ala.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

L. & N. Change of Schedule.

To go into effect December 20

Train No
2	arv	Clanton	9:54 a.m
3	"	"	5:59 p.m
4	"	"	10 35 p.m
9	"	"	7:43 a.m
10	"	"	5:26 p m

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

BUY THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE?

Do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and think you can get the best made, finest finish and MOST POPULAR SEWING MACHINE for a mere song. Buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing. There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the NEW HOME.

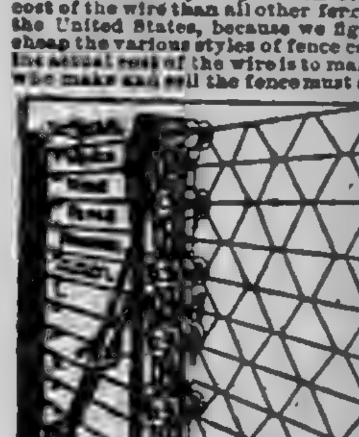
WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

The New Home Sewing Machine Co.
ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N.Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY
W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while those who make and sell the fence must add the cost of labor to manufacture and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We can sell you a Machine and enough wire to make 100 rods of the best Woven Wire Fence on earth, horse high, bull strong, pig and chicken tight, for the same money that will buy 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. In one case you have the fence alone. In the other you have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to be your own fence manufacturer and with which you can make over 50 styles, including several styles of Ornamental yard or lawn fences. To show how the farmers of this country appreciate this machine it is only necessary to say that if all the machines sold by us were run for twenty days, each machine making 40 rods per day, they would make enough fence to go around the world, being an average of 400,000 rods or 1,250 miles per day. If all of the machines were run only 60 days during the year, making 40 rods per day each, they would make a grand total of 24,000,000 rods, which would make an average of 76,800 rods or 240 miles for every working day in the year. The combined product of all the Loom Fence Factories in the United States would not equal this. One cent isn't much. Invest it in a postal card and send for our Large Illustrated Catalogue, telling all about fencing. It may save you many dollars. Sent Free for the asking. Address, Kitselman Bros., Box 1062, Ridgeville, Indiana.



$1800.00
GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential.

Address
JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO.,
Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents,
618 F Street, N. W.,
Box 385. Washington, D. C.

Reference—editor of this paper. Write for our 48-page pamphlet, FREE.

Subscribe for THE BANNER.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office

FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise. Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.

DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.

AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING [illegible]

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many pears with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

V V V

Chain Shot

You've got to use heavy ammunition when you fight such a malignant enemy as SCROFULA. There is nothing that will rout this disease like V. V. V.—the wonderful blood purifier and family remedy. It drives out all impurities and taints—whether hereditary or not—making the blood pure and healthy and the whole body strong and vigorous. V. V. V. is a specific for all blood and skin diseases, as well as rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

HABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in ..., second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6 cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1846
Mullins	981
Wilson	448
	3275

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. THE BANNER, Clanton

Mr. Leroy Watts spent Tuesday in Montgomery on business.

Mr. R. Ehrman was in Clanton Sunday night when he received a telegram from Birmingham stating that his dwelling had been destroyed by fire, but later he received another saying that it had been only scorched. We are glad no further damage was done.

Miss Iona Smith, of Ehrman's mill, left Monday to spend the Xmas holidays in Birmingham and Cedartown, Georgia. We wish that Miss Smith may spend a merry Xmas.

Mr. Lee Watts went to Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. Merritt was in Montgomery the first of the week.

Dr. W. E. Stewart went to Birmingham Monday after his mother who has been quite sick, but we are glad to say is some better.

Mr. J. F. McKee went to Montgomery this week.

Mr. W. H. Wright was in Birmingham last Monday.

The old reliable Capital City Insurance Company of Montgomery is represented in Clanton by W. L. Sampey.

WANTED 1000 cross-ties. Apply to G. H. GREEN, Clanton.

Mr. Pate Wilson went to Birmingham Monday on business.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons: Mr. T. G. Ellison and Miss S. A. Wilson; Mr. E. J. Frith and Miss Birdie Adams; Mr. Robert Leach and Miss Ida E. Langston; Mr. John M. Brantley and Miss Mary A. Gibson; Mr. George N. Honeycutt and Miss Fannie Burnett; Mr. Earnest M. Marcus and Miss Mary M. Cleckler; Mr. Newton A. Vinson and Miss Rebecca M. Driver; Mr. William T. Thames and Miss Melvinie E. Glasscock; Mr. James P. Grimes and Miss Louisa Patrick.

Colored. Robert Steel and Roxie Motts.

WANTED everyone to know we have taken possession of the Mimbs mill and will grind at any time. Someone in attendance all the time. We will accomodate you and will appreciate your patronage.
H. DRIVER & SON.

See W. L. Sampey about insuring your property against fire.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, who has been attending school at East Lake, is spending the Xmas holidays in Clanton.

Mr. Wm. McDaniel has removed to the Berry Wells place

Mr. Wm. Jones, of Thorsby, has removed to the house vacated by Mr. Wm. McDaniel.

Rev. W. E. Dennis, our new Methodist preacher, has moved to the parsonage.

Married yesterday at the residence of the bride's parents near Strasburg; Mr. George N. Honeycutt and Miss Fannie Burnett, Rev. L. B. Pounds performing the ceremony. Mr. Honeycutt is the eldest son of Judge Honeycutt and is highly respected and Miss Burnett is a charming and popular young lady. Their large circle of friends wish the the happy young couple a long and prospsrous life.

Mr. Thos. A. Curry is spending the Xmas holidays with friends at Furman in Wilcox county.

Mr. J. C. Dennis is enjoying the holidays with friends in Atlanta, Ga.

Great preparations are being made for the Xmas tree at the Baptist church.

Mr. William Smith of Coosa is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Smith here.

Did You Ever

Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for your troubles? If not, get a bottle now and get relief. This medicine has been found to be peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Female Complaints, exerting a wonderful direct influence in giving strength and tone to the organs. If you have Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, or are nervous, Sleepless, Excitable, Melancholy or troubled with Dizzy Spells, Electric Bitters is the medicine you need. Health and Strength are guaranteed by its use. Fifty cents and $1.00

Dr. Miles' NERVE PLASTERS for SPINAL WEAKNESS. All druggists sell 'em for 25c

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose." At all druggists

Subscribe for the BANNER!

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Wineinger, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes: "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects, I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.......

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on guarantee that first bottle benefits, or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COITON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yar

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

Commissioner's Sale.

In pursuance and in accordance with the terms and directions of a commission, issued and addressed to the undersigned, by the Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of Probate of Chilton county, bearing date the 30th day of November 1896, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, at public auction, in front of the Court House door of said county at Clanton, on all that certain real estate which is described as follows, viz.: The southeast fourth of the northeast fourth of section fourteen, and the north half of the southwest fourth and the southwest fourth of the southwest fourth of section thirteen, township twenty-three, range fifteen, in Chilton county, Alabama, which said land is to be sold under the decree of said court for the purpose of a division between and among the several owners thereof, the said property belonging to and being the property of the heirs at law of the estate of L. F. Marcus deceased.

MONDAY DECEMBER 28, 1896,

H. I. HONEYCUTT, Commissioner.
Clanton, Ala., Dec. 2, 1896.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federa Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered. R. M. HONEYCUTT,

STRAYED on Nov. 16th, one black horse mule, medium size, tolerably old, thin in order. A liberal reward offered for the mule. Apply to Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 miles east of Stanton, Ala.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

State Alliance Notice.

Dudleyville, Ala. Nov. 23, 1896

County Secretaries that have not received minutes of the last State meeting will receive them by dropping me a card notifying me of their failure to receive the same.

J. W. JACKSON,
State Secretary.

• • •

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, a "sweat," foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old hundreds cough cure, these and over 900 other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold

A man must be miserable indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache, unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing, when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!

He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, sniffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head and ears ache, and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Patient he must be to endure it all when for 50c. he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

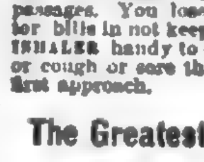
Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!

A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH

Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breathway passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.



DR. BROWNE.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

[Is not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?]

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless Imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

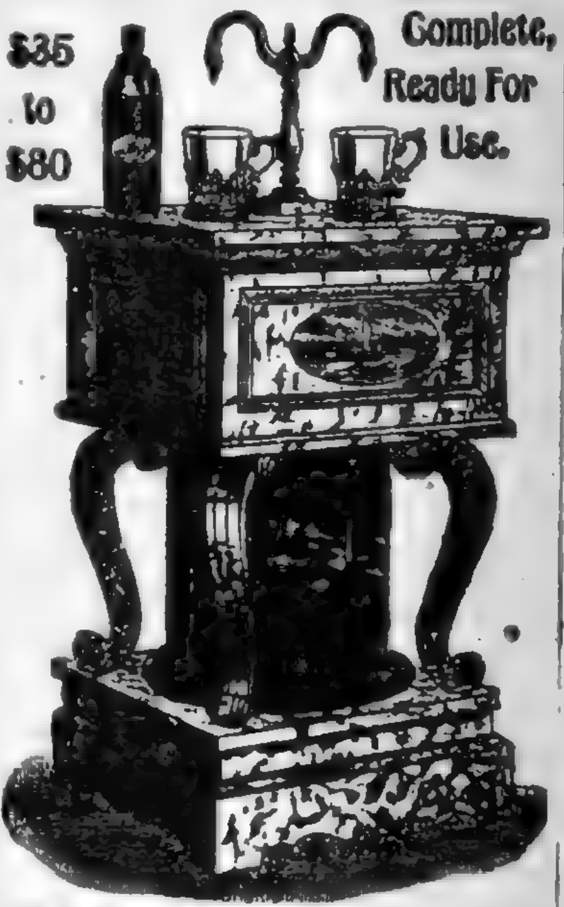
CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

★ PORTABLE ★

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.



30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS,
DESIGNS,
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

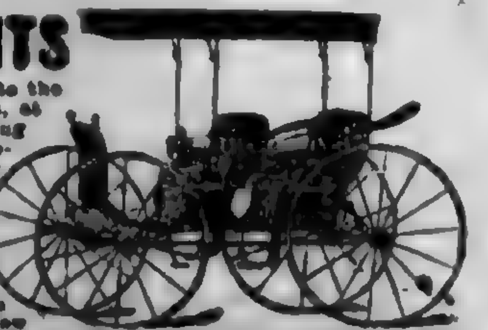
has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

No. 1 ... Surrey Harness, Price $16.50. As good as sells for $25.

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.



No. 725—Price, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,668.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
December 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 23rd, 1897, viz.: Emmett W. Headley Homestead entry, No. 26,208, for the e½ of ne¼ section 20 tp 21 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz.: Joseph Hayes, of Maplesville, Ala., Wiley Ramsey, of Lily, Ala., Simon Clark, of Maplesville, Ala., James Hayes, of Maplesville Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

Final Proof Notice

Notice No. 18597.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
Nov. 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 23,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of Section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

THE

WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA

.... FOR ....

1897

It will answer any question you may ask it.

"The Standard American Annual."

NEARLY 600 PAGES, OVER 1,500 TOPICS TREATED.

A COMPLETE statistical and political history of the United States. The results of the Presidential election accurately compiled. Every fact of value that human knowledge can require. A reference library boiled down!

25c. POSTPAID TO ANY ADDRESS.

No American who wishes to know his country can be without it.

Ready Jan. 1, 1897.

THE WORLD,
Pulitzer Bldg.,
New York.

THE BEST WAY TO THE
SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST
—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.)

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Subscribers receiving their paper with a blue cross (X) mark on it will understand their subscription has expired and will oblige by renewing. Kindly mention to your friends THE BANNER costs only One Dollar per year, or Fifty Cents for 6 months.

Nobody need have Neuralgia. Get Dr. Miles' Pain Pills from druggists. "One cent a dose."

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS:

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

... a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of ... cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 13 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

See the ailments, caused by indispositions of the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, which Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has invariably cured since 1840.

SICK HEADACHE.—PALPITATION OF THE HEART.—DROWSINESS.—IRRITABILITY.—INDIGESTION.—COLD FEET.—ENLARGEMENT OF LIVER & SPLEEN.—SLEEPLESSNESS.—LOW SPIRITS.—GENERAL LASSITUDE.—DULLNESS.—HEAVINESS.—TIRED FEELING.—SOUR STOMACH.—BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.—CONSTIPATED BOWELS.—SKIN & EYES YELLOW.—BILIOUSNESS.—LOSS OF STRENGTH & FLESH.—COATED TONGUE.—PAINS IN SIDE & UNDER SHOULDER BLADES.—FOUL BREATH.—SHIMMERING BEFORE THE EYES.—WEIGHT IN STOMACH AFTER EATING.—TORPID LIVER.—FLESH SOFT & FLABBY.—ACUTE & CHRONIC MALARIA.—BILE COMING UP IN MOUTH.—NERVOUS HEADACHES.—MEMORY CLOUDED & INDISTINCT.—WIND COLIC.—PILES, BY CURING CONSTIPATION PRODUCING IT.—KIDNEY DISEASES.—FULLNESS OF BLOOD IN HEAD.—NUMBNESS OF HANDS, ARMS & FEET.—BELCHING UP GAS.—BLOATING OF STOMACH AFTER FOOD IS TAKEN.—IRREGULAR APPETITE.—HEARTBURN.—DIMNESS OF VISION.—DIZZINESS UPON SUDDENLY GETTING UP.—SUFFOCATING SENSATIONS.—DISPONDENCY OF PREGNANT WOMEN.—NAUSEA BEFORE OR AFTER EATING.—VERTIGO.—YELLOW JAUNDICE.—DEFICIENCY OF PERSPIRATION.—FEMALE COMPLAINTS.—BAD COLDS.—BACKACHES SO COMMON TO MOTHERS.—FLATULENCY.—LOSS OF APPETITE.—PAINS & ACHES IN JOINTS.—CHILLY FEELINGS DOWN THE BACK.—LIMBS FEEL TOO HEAVY.—CRAMP COLIC.—SKIN DRY & HARSH.—BILIOUS FEVERS.—PALENESS.—WEAKNESS.—THINNESS.—DETESTATION OF FOOD.—SUDDEN FLUSHES OF HEAT.—GENERAL DEBILITY.—FRETFULNESS OF TEETHING CHILDREN.—DYSPEPSIA.—NERVOUS DEPRESSION OF TIRED WOMEN.—UNPLEASANT DREAMS.—SPITTING UP OF FOOD AFTER EATING.—DIARRHEA OF CHILDREN, BY REMOVING THE CAUSE.—GNAWING SENSATIONS IN STOMACH.—PUFFINESS & DARK RINGS UNDER THE EYES.—THAT RESTLESS ... "OUT OF SORTS," NOT SICK AND NOT WELL FEELING, SO COMMON WITH OVER ... PEOPLE.—IT BUILDS UP WEAK & DEBILITATED MOTHERS AND FATHERS & ... CHILDREN, BY PERFECTLY REGULATING THE ACTION OF THE KIDNEYS, ... STOMACH & BOWELS, SO THAT ALL FOOD TAKEN IS NATURALLY ASSIMILATED.

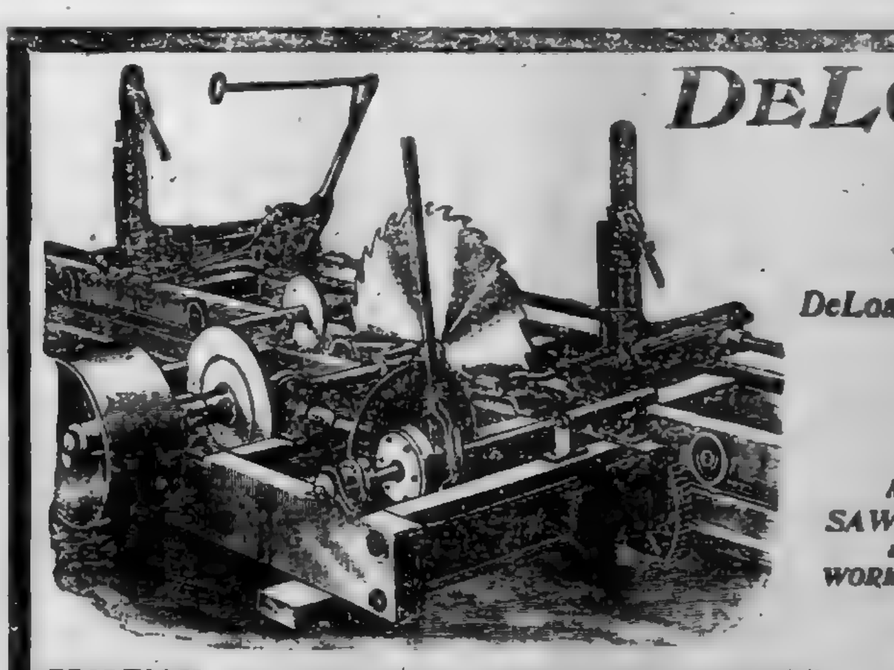
... F. SIMMONS MEDICINE CO., Props., ST. LOUIS, MO.

J B PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE.

DeLOACH

Variable Friction Feed Saw Mills,
Planers and Matchers,
DeLoach Corn and Flour Mills,
Turbine Water Wheels,
"Hungry Elephant" Baling Press,
Engines and Boilers.

MILL MACHINERY AND GEARING OF ALL KINDS.
SAW REPAIRING a specialty.
WORK GUARANTEED.



FRICTION causes nearly all the trouble in life, and more especially in machinery. Our VARIABLE FRICTION as applied to Saw Mills and Planers enables the operator to take just what he needs and no more. Warranted to yield a capacity twenty per cent. greater than the old style with same power.

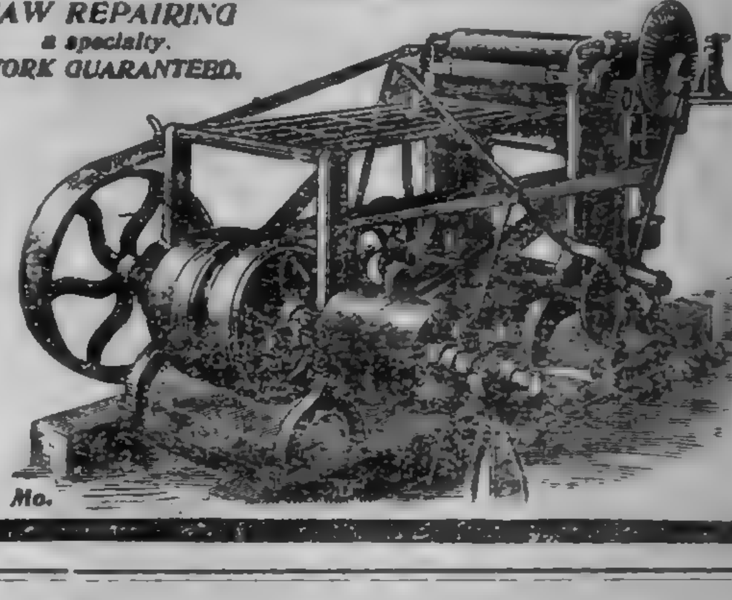
97 Saw Mills sold in one month proves its wonderful popularity, and they go to all parts of the world.

The DeLoach Variable Friction Feed Planer Matcher and Moulder beats them all

Write at once for large illustrated catalogue.

DeLoach Mill Mfg. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

165 Washington St., New York City, and 111 S. 11th St., St. Louis, Mo.



P. P. P.
P. P. P.
P. P. P.
Lippman's Great Remedy
Brings Help To All!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a NEW MAN.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store,

"Noah," asked Captain Kidd, "I've always wanted to know one thing—did you only take two of every kind of creature on board the ark?" "As passengers, yes," said Noah; "but our steward had about four hundred chickens and lobsters in the ice-box for Sundays, just the same."—Burlington Hawkeye.

Milwaukee's legless man was married the other day. Leap year and he couldn't escape from the new woman.

Has Done Wonders.

CENTREVILLE, R. I., Sept. 27, 1891.
"On a recent journey to Alabama I have heard from a Jesuit Father of Mobile College some wonder of cures from eczema, etc., from the use of TETTERINE.
"I have several people of my congregation that are suffering from eczema, tetter, etc., for a number of years. Please send me two boxes by mail. I want to see what your TETTERINE will do for them. I enclose one dollar." Yours respectfully,
REV. C. P. GABOURY.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

Gibbon's massive history occupied over twenty years of his life. Compared with this, his other works are insignificant.

The Modern Mother

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Mulhall, the noted statistician, spent over forty years in accumulating the material for his one volume of statistics.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Scott's Waverly Novels, upon which his fame now mainly rests, were all written between 1814 and 1825.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is not an imitation. It is original. The only soap that floats, contains Borax and is 100 per cent. pure. It is worthy of a trial. Every lady who tries it continues its use. Red wrapper.

Raphael enjoyed a life of 37 years, from 1483 to 1520. His period of active work covered about fifteen years.

I use Piso's Cure for Consumption both in my family and practice.—Dr. G. W. PATTERSON, Inkster, Mich., Nov. 5, 1894.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25cents a bottle.

Hope

Returns to the heart of the victim bound in the chains of rheumatism, dyspepsia, scrofula, catarrh, when blood is enriched and purified by

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

Potash

is a necessary and important ingredient of complete fertilizers. Crops of all kinds require a properly balanced manure. The best

Fertilizers

contain a high percentage of Potash.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for ...

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

BUY NO INCUBATOR

and pay for it before giving it a trial.

The firm who is afraid to let you try their incubator before buying it has no faith in their machine. We will sell you ours

ON TRIAL

NOT A CENT until tried, and a child can run it with 5 minutes attention a day. We won and will win you for a steady customer if you will only buy ours on trial. Our large catalogue will cost you 5 cents and give you $100 worth of practical information on poultry and incubators and the money there is in the business. Plans for Brooders, Houses, &c. 25c. N. B.—Send us the names of three persons interested in poultry and 25cts. and we will send you "The Bicycle: Its Care and Repair," a book of 180 subjects and 80 illustrations, worth $5 to any bicycle rider.

FIRST PRIZE WORLD'S FAIR

VON CULIN INCUBATOR CO.,
Box 1696. - DELAWARE CITY, DEL.

"BERKSHIRES"

100 Boars and Gilts, of the pure "Gentry" blood, all eligible for registry, for sale by

THE CEDARS STOCK FARM,
BOND, TENNESSEE.

REPAIRING.

Everything pertaining to bicycles and repairs kept in stock. The best workmen and finest material in our repair department. Prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Inquiries solicited.

THE LOOSLEY CYCLE CO.,
Birmingham, Ala.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

Am. N,U. No. 52. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

NATIONAL CONGRESS.

What Our Senators and Representatives Are Doing.

THE NEWS OF A WEEK.

Bills Introduced, and Passed or Referred.—Many Matters of Interest to the People Being Given Due Consideration.—The Cuban War Attracting Much Attention.

SENATE—WEDNESDAY.

A very interesting and important discussion upon Mr. Allen's (Pop., Neb.) resolution to take up the Dingley bill for consideration in the Senate was started to-day by Mr. Vest, and was participated in by Senators Allen, Chandler, Gallinger, Frye, Aldrich, Sherman, Teller Mills and Gorman.

In the course of the debate more than one allusion was made to frauds and corruption at the late Presidential election, and Mr. Teller remarked pointedly that he was not certain that his candidate (Mr. Bryan) had been defeated.

The debate began early in the day and displaced the regular order, the Immigration bill, at the expiration of the morning hour. Senators Teller and Gorman were the last two to come into the debate, and the ones to bring it to a head. Mr. Teller declared positively that it had been well known that if every Republican Senator voted for the Dingley bill it would have still lacked one of a majority, and that it was the merest pretence for anybody to say that he had expected that bill to become a law.

A number of other Senators joined in the discussion, including Mr. Gorman, Platt and Sherman.

Mr. Sherman said: "I am inclined to think that, in view of the statements as to the impossibility of passing the Dingley bill, that we ought not to waste any more time about it. We are not disposed to attempt impossibilities."

That was the last word of important discussion, and the Senate, after a short executive session, adjourned until to-morrow.

Before the debate on the Dingley bill began the Senate passed the Pension Appropriation bill without amendment—the only bill of general interest acted upon.

HOUSE—WEDNESDAY.

The House to-day, in committee of the whole, devoted nearly all of a four-hour session to the Army Appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1898.

A great portion of the time was spent in discussing a ruling of the chairman of the committee, Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, that an amendment to cut off the Hot Springs Hospital, as recommended by the Surgeon-General and Secretary of War, was out of order, being a change of existing law. Messrs. Dingley (Rep., Me.), Bailey (Dem., Tex.), Little (Dem., Ark.), Grew (Rep., Penn.), Hull (Rep., Ia.), Lacey (Rep., Ia.), Cannon (Rep., Ill.), and others participating.

The question was important, as affecting the power of the House under the rules to limit, restrict or define the expenditure of money carried by appropriation bill. One point the committee —69 to 53—sustained the chairman, but later refused to sustain him —37 to 84—and the amendment cutting out the hospital was agreed to. In the House Mr. Little made the point of no quorum on the vote adopting the amendment, and none appearing on the count by the Speaker, the House, at 4:10 adjourned until to-morrow.

In the morning hour Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.) asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a resolution directing the Committee on Naval Affairs to investigate the construction of the battleship Texas, but it was referred to the committee without action.

SENATE—THURSDAY.

The bill which passed the House of Representatives last session, and for which a substitute was reported by the Senate Committee, to amend the immigration laws of the United States, occupied the attention of the Senate during the whole of to-day's session. The substitute was amended in some particulars, the most notable amendment being one providing that the act shall not apply to Cuban refugees during the existing troubles in Cuba; and then it was passed by a vote of 52 to 10 and a conference asked with the House.

The House amendment to the Senate bill, as to the lands of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, were laid before the Senate, and were, on motion of Mr. Hill, non-concurred in, and a conference asked. Senators Hill, Platt and Clark being appointed conferees on the part of the Senate.

In presenting a lot of petitions from Alabama, declaring that there was no lawful State Government in that State, Mr. Chandler collided with Mr. Allen in reference to the failure of Mr. Allen's resolution of inquiry on that subject last session, Mr. Chandler asserting that the resolution had failed because of some intemperate remarks of Mr. Allen's questioning the motives of Republican Senators, and Mr. Allen denying that, but asserting that he had a grave suspicion that the resolution never would be acted on in good faith on the Republican side of the Chamber.

A bill to authorize the construction of a railroad bridge across the Sabine river between Louisiana and Texas was reported and passed.

After a short executive session the Senate at 4:30 p. m. adjourned until Monday next.

HOUSE—THURSDAY.

The House to-day set the inaugural ball rolling by the passage of the usual bills authorizing the laying of necessary and temporary railroad tracks to accommodate the increased travel, the use of streets and reservations for the erection of reviewing stands and the loan of such Government flags and ensigns as can be spared for decorative purposes.

The army appropriation bill, which was the unfinished business at the opening of the session, was passed, after the amendment recommended by the committees of the whole on Wednesday, practically abolishing the hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., by cutting off the appropriation for its maintenance had been agreed to.

Mr. Woodman (Republican, Illinois) introduced a bill to amend the section of the revised statutes relative to neutrality, which prohibits military expeditions against people at peace with the United States. He proposed to add to this section the following: "Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be considered or construed as applying to or as applicable to the supplying of means for charitable purposes, for hospital stores and medicines, or for the relief of persons who may be ill, wounded, destitute or otherwise helpless or disabled."

The passage of the measure would allow the shipment of food, medicines and clothing to Cuba

Mr. Burton (Republican, Ohio) offered a resolution directing the President to enter into negotiations with Britain to secure, if possible, the abrogation of the section of the treaty of 1817, which prohibits the building of war vessels at ship yards located on the great lakes. Half a dozen measures of local interest to the District of Columbia, and consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was begun in committee of the whole. Thirty-one pages of the 110 comprising the bill were disposed of without amendment, when, at 5 o'clock, the committee arose and the House adjourned until to-morrow.

SENATE—FRIDAY.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, by a practically unanimous vote this morning, ordered a favorable report to be made to the Senate Monday on the Cameron resolution recognizing the independence of the Republic of Cuba. A verbal change was made in the text of the resolution, so that as finally agreed to it reads as follows:

Resolved, etc., That the independence of the Republic of Cuba be and the same is hereby acknowledged by the United States of America.

Section 2—That the United States will use its friendly offices with the Government of Spain to bring to a close the war between Spain and Cuba.

Secretary Olney, who had been requested to appear before the committee by Senator Sherman, was present for one hour and laid before the committee all of the information in possession of the State Department. He stated to the committee very fully the policy of the administration and the reasons that actuated it in its present attitude towards the insurrection in Cuba.

Senator Cameron was instructed to prepare the report that will be submitted to the Senate Monday. As a matter of fact the report was written and was submitted to the committee this morning. It is looked upon as an exceedingly strong document, and goes into the diplomatic history of the United States very fully to show our policy in the matter of recognizing new States. Some few additions and alterations were suggested by other members of the committee, but the report as drawn by the Senator is practically complete.

There is an impression among some of the members of the committee that the President will veto the resolution, it being joint in its character and requiring the executive's approval or disapproval. If Mr. Cleveland should enter his veto, it is claimed that Congress will be able to pass the resolution by the necessary two-thirds vote.

HOUSE—FRIDAY.

This was private bill day in the House under the rules, and the request of Mr. Bingham, Republican, of Pennsylvania, for unanimous consent to proceed with the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill met objection. Thirty-seven private pension bills previously reported by the committee of the whole were passed and the rest of the afternoon was occupied in discussing five war claims bills, one of which, for the relief of Thomas B. Reed, a Pennsylvania soldier, was passed.

The report of the conferees was agreed to extending until ten days after the beginning of the next session the limit within which the joint Congressional Commission on regulations for the free use of alcohol in the arts and manufactures might report.

A bill to pay $5,000 to Flora A. Darling, widow of a Confederate General, for money alleged to have been taken from her at the time of her arrest on a steamer at New Orleans when traveling on a safe permit granted by Gen. N. P. Banks, was laid on the table, despite the favorable recommendation of the committee.

At 5 o'clock, under the rules, the House took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

HON. JOHN J. INGALLS.

The Brilliant Ex-President of the U. S. Senate to Visit Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala.—Hon. John J. Ingalls, Ex-President of the United States Senate, will visit Birmingham and deliver his great lecture at O'Brien's Opera House, Wednesday night, January 13. The consummate powers, brilliant wit and captivating rhetoric of this "wizard of the English language," makes his appearance a notable event in any city. His theme, as announced, will be "The Crisis." Some thrilling things will doubtless be said upon the present political complications and the threatened war with Spain over the Cuban matter.

The brilliant Kansan seems to have it in for the Populists. It is hoped after meeting Southern people the great statesman may love us more than he has manifested in the past.

One good trait makes a person good, but one bad trait dims the light of an otherwise good man.

The man who invariably whistles does very little thinking. But he keeps other people thinking, all the same.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Latest Dispatches From the National Capital.

WORK OF COMMITTEES.

Rather Suggestive Orders Issued to Naval Vessels—The Mississippi Outlet Considered by the River and Harbor Committee—Washington Hotels and the Inauguration—Other Matters.

Washington, D. C.—Acting Secretary McAdoo, of the Navy, Friday summoned the chiefs of construction, engineering and ordnance, Commodores Hichborn, Melville and Sampson, and ordered them to take whatever steps were necessary to expedite the repairs on all ships now in commission at the Atlantic coast navy yards. This action is taken, it is explained, in order that all available ships may be ready to rendezvous for drill purposes with Admiral Bunce's fleet at Hampton Roads not later than January 1. The chiefs were also directed to approve no changes or extensive repairs in ships for the present, as it was the desire of the department to get all the commissioned vessels away from the navy yards in order that urgent work may be prosecuted on other vessels which have been dismantled for thorough overhauling. This extra work at the navy yards is said to be made possible through the assurances given to Commodores Melville and Hichborn by the appropriation committee, before which they appeared this morning, in regard to the urgency deficiency item of a million dollars for naval work imperatively demanded. The required amount was promised, and the officers were told the money would be promptly placed at their disposal on their explanation that all work would have to be suspended at once and wholesale discharges made unless prompt relief was afforded.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED ORPHANS.

The full extent of the Armenian massacres is indicated in a report to the State Department by United States Consul Bergholdt, at Erzeroum, in which he says: The number of Armenian children under 12 years of age left orphans by the massacres of 1896 is 15,000, according to the estimates of the missionaries.

The question of what shall be done with these orphans is receiving the attention of the Christian world. The American board of commissioners has the question of creating orphanages and industrial institutions under consideration. German charitable or religious societies are preparing to establish orphan asylums and the British Ambassador at Constantinople has instituted a movement leading towards settling a number of widows and their children from the province of Erzeroum, on the Island of Cyprus.

In Erzeroum there are 180 widows with 700 children without means, and in Frzenigan 100 widows with 450 children and at Baitbourt 119 widows with 500 children. The widows of Baitbourt are in particularly distressing circumstances, not a male major remaining.

THE MISSISSIPPI OUTLET.

The House River and Harbor Committee gave a long hearing Friday to a delegation consisting of Messrs. Woodruff and Sanders, of New Orleans; Bravo, of Pittsburg; McDonald, of La Crosse; Mahoney, of Sioux City, and Ex-Governor Stannard, of Missouri, in support of the proposition requiring the engineer department to make a survey of Pass L'Outre, in the Mississippi river, to obtain an estimate of cost for the repair of the crevasses now existing there, with a view to an appropriation subsequently for that purpose.

It was explained that the Eads heirs, who are required under the original contract to maintain the depth required, twenty-eight feet, assert their inability to do so because of the crevasse, the delegation asserting on the other hand that navigation should not be endangered on this account.

The committee decided, therefore, that a hearing would be given at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to the Government of the Eads heirs before reaching a conclusion.

WASHINGTON HOTELS.

Reports having been circulated in Philadelphia and other cities to the effect that the Washington hotels had entered into a combination to charge exorbitant rates during the inauguration week, Chairman Bell, of the Inauguration Committee, authorizes an explicit denial of the reports.

Chairman Bell says: "I have caused diligent inquiry to be made of the different hotels, and I find the story to be absolutely untrue. So far as I can find no hotel proposes to charge more than the usual rates at such times."

All indications point to the largest crowd ever seen in Washington at an inauguration, and preparations are well under way for the entertainment and care of the visitors upon that occasion, and with the well known ability of Washington to properly handle large crowds, no fears need be entertained of extortion or lack of accommodations for all who may come.

THE SPANISH MINISTER.

In regard to the Cameron resolution in the Senate the Spanish Minister says, with considerable emphasis, that while certain sensational papers may be relied upon to publish alleged statements from him, he is confident that all sensible people will appreciate that he has declined and will uniformly refuse to be led into any discussion or criticisms whatever touching a matter under the consideration of Congress. Such a matter he would not discuss privately under any circumstances, and he seizes this opportunity to warn everyone against statements on the subject which might be attributed to him, however indirect.

Ambition is the star that leads through life and stands still over the grave.

Fatigue of the Eye.

A star appears more distinct if one looks at a point near it than it does when looking at the star itself. This is due to what is called "fatigue" of the retina. When looking at an object we naturally focus that object on the most sensitive part of the retina and keep the image permanently there. Now, in the case of a star, the image is a microscopic point and covers only an infinitesimal portion of the retina, and the great strain on this portion produces immediate "fatigue." If we look at a point near the star, then, as the eye moves, the image travels over the retina and successive portions of it are called into play so quickly that "fatigue" is not experienced. It does not do to look at another star near it, for then the eye is kept fixed and "fatigue" at once ensues. To most eyes the Pleiades appear far more distinct when we fix our eyes on a blank space of the heavens near them than when we look at them directly.

Unusual Surgical Operation.

A quite novel surgical operation has successfully been performed at Parma, Italy, by Professor Camillo Verdelli, in the presence of all the physicians of the Parmese hospital and with very satisfactory results. The new operation was the washing of the heart. It was the first operation of the kind and Professor Verdelli employed the washing apparatus recently invented by Professor Riva. After making an operative incision Professor Verdelli first cleaned the pericardium of the patient, a 12-year-old boy, of the pus which had accumulated thereon, and then proceeded to wash the heart with a strong solution of soda biborate (borax). The operation was very successful, inasmuch as no further complication has arisen. The boy is now doing very well and is on his way to complete recovery. Professor Vardelli has received numerous congratulations for his success with the new operation from surgeons all over Europe.

Beggars in China.

A Chinaman can live well upon five cents a day, yet there are more beggars in China than in any other country, They travel in great companies, men, women and children. The women suffer on this tramp, because their feet are bandaged. Crowds of young beggars follow carriagers for miles, howling for gifts. Professionals often multilate their children so they may excite sympathy. These swarms of beggars are the result of there not being enough work for them all. Each family takes care of its own poor to a great extent and the Chinese are no lazy, so it is the force of circumstances more than anything else that contributes to this state.

Revival of a Gallows Bird.

An Arab named Mohammed Ben Aidlel Benzerti was hanged recently in Tunis, Algeria, for killing four other Arabs. After the usual time the body was taken down and given to his relatives, who were preparing to bury him, when he remarked: "Before burying me, give me something to drink." They took him to a hospital and he is likely to recover.

First Wife—My man's just gone out wild as a hawk 'cos he can't find any money to spend on beer. Second Wife—Where do you hide it? Do tell! Mine knows everywhere 'bout the house. I can't hide nothin' from him long. First Wife—I always puts it in his own coat pocket, the one as hangs up behind the door, and he don't never look there for money.—Ally Sloper.

It is noble to bear like a hero the calamities of life, but it is ignoble to continue to suffer under them when the time has arrived to triumph over them; and only an intelligent view of each case can reveal when that time has arrived.

THE ELECTRIC STAR.

The most Wonderful Dsicovery Of Modern Times. Will Instantly Relieve and permanently cure Rheumatism, Sciatica, Atrophy of the muscles, Varicose Veins, Chilblains, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Dizziness, Melancholia, Chills and Fever, etc. If steadily worn will prevent many forms of disease peculiar to careless exposure, and at the same time vitalize and correct the entire system. Absolutely harmless, light and handy, it can be carried in the pocket. Never fails, never wears out. Nothing like it ever known before.

Price $1.00, by mail or sent C. O. D.

THE ELECTRIC STAR COMPANY,
1181-1183 Broadway, New York City.

FREE REVOLVER FREE! WATCH FREE! 138 other articles. Cost nothing. Read our offer. [illegible]

FREE

Winston M'f'g Co., Winston, N. C.

10 WIVES! The true and startling story of Hogan, who wedded ten wives. Full length Illustrations. A 50c. book sent secure and free by mail for seven two-cent stamps for postage, etc. GEO. MALLORY, Kearney, Mo.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for Free package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR S. PERKEY. Chicago, Ills.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

RODS For tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

WATCHES.—Up to January 1st we will sell to the consumer, at the manufacturers' prices, genuine American watches. Enclose stamp. Falls City Introduction Co., Louisville, Ky.

Second Hand
TUERK WATER MOTOR
For Sale.
Large size, cost $400, in use four months.
WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.
Apply at once to
Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

The Same Old Sarsaparilla.

That's Ayer's. The same old sarsaparilla as it was made and sold 50 years ago. In the laboratory it is different. There modern appliances lend speed to skill and experience. But the sarsaparilla is the same old sarsaparilla that made the record—50 years of cures. Why don't we better it? Well, we're much in the condition of the Bishop and the raspberry: "Doubtless," he said, "God might have made a better berry. But doubtless, also, He never did." Why don't we better the sarsaparilla? We can't. We are using the same old plant that cured the Indians and the Spaniards. It has not been bettered. And since we make sarsaparilla compound out of sarsaparilla plant, we see no way of improvement. Of course, if we were making some secret chemical compound, we might .... But we're not. We're making the same old sarsaparilla to cure the same old diseases. You can tell it's the same old sarsaparilla because it works the same old cures. It's the sovereign blood purifier, ... —it's Ayer's.

Important Notice!

The only genuine "Baker's Chocolate," celebrated for more than a century as a delicious, nutritious, and flesh-forming beverage, is put up in Blue Wrappers and Yellow Labels. Be sure that the Yellow Label and our Trade-Mark are on every package.

TRADE-MARK.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

LOOK TIRED THIS MORNING

WAS it your own baby or your neighbor's that drove sweet sleep away? It's all unnecessary. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, sweet to the taste, mild but effective, stop sour stomach and colic in babies, and make papa's liver lively, tone his intestines and purify his blood.

EAT CASCARETS LIKE CANDY

They perfume the breath and make things all right all around. At your druggist's 10c., 25c., 50c., or mailed for price. Address

STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, CHICAGO OR NEW YORK.

Cascarets TRADE-MARK. CANDY CATHARTIC CURE CONSTIPATION.

221

THE HOME TREATMENT
OF FEMALE DISEASES.

To assist modest women, who will not submit to humiliating examinations, in treating themselves at home, a book has been prepared which describes the symptoms of all female diseases and explains their proper treatment.

Copies of this valuable 128-page book will be mailed to any lady on receipt of five cents by

Rev. R. L. McELREE, St. Elmo, Tenn.

COST OF TREATMENT:

One Bottle McElree's Wine of Cardui,	$1.00
One Package Thedford's Black Draught,	.25
Total Cost,	$1.25

Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

100,000 Copies of Demorest's Magazine

THE increasing popularity of Demorest's Family Magazine, a popularity extending over thirty years, is ample proof that each succeeding year finds it improved in its vitality, beauty and attractiveness. There must be something in a magazine that increases its subscription list from 80,000 to 180,000 names (a clear gain of 100,000) in less than a year. Don't you think so?

READ THIS:

"Demorest's Magazine is a literary conservator of the artistic and the useful. Got up in America, where it has enormous sales, it is the most remarkable work of the class that has ever been published, and combines the attractions of several English magazines."—London Times.

"We have received another number of this delightful magazine, and we find ourselves bound to reiterate with greater earnestness the high encomiums we have already pronounced on preceding numbers. We are not given to disparage unduly the literary and artistic publications which emanate from abroad, but we are bound, in simple fairness, to assert that we have not yet met with any publication of a similar scope and purpose which can at all compare with this marvelous work."—London Budget.

The American Bookseller says: "There are none of our monthlies in which the beautiful and the useful, pleasure and profit, fashion and literature are so fully presented as in Demorest's."

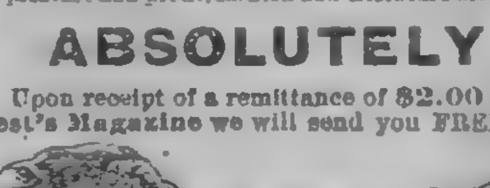
ABSOLUTELY FREE TO YOU.

Upon receipt of a remittance of $2.00 from you for one year's subscription to Demorest's Magazine we will send you FREE this beautiful Silver Sugar Shell as a premium, and, in addition, we will receive a copy of Van Vredenburgh's exquisite oil painting, "Our Bench Show," representing a "yard" of playful puppies—shown above. The picture is 10x36 and it is printed in 14 colors in the highest style of the plate-printers' art. You will say it is the cutest picture you have seen when it reaches you. It will be issued with the December number of the magazine. This premium offer is only available to subscribers sending their subscriptions at once to us direct, using the order blank below, accompanied by a remittance of $2.00.



CUT HERE AND RETURN COUPON PROPERLY FILLED OUT.

Demorest Publishing Co., 110 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

For the enclosed $2.00 please send Demorest's Family Magazine for one year. Also the Silver Sugar Shell and Van Vredenburgh's oil-color, "Our Bench Show," picture offered by you as premiums.

Name..

Post Office..

Date........................ State........................

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA

might well be the name of a 500-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopædias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids, and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian Knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

THE BANNER. Lebik

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31 1896. NO 10.

Most of the patriots proved to be pirates.

Fools and traitors are a bad mixture in politics.

No more bonds forever, and down with banks of issue.

Organized greed should be met with organized manhood.

Bayard will soon come to America to represent England.

The Cuban question will likely hang fire until the new administration comes in.

Paper money based simply on taxes is the best form of currency we could have.

McKinley has not yet signified which one of the ready-made cabinets he will [illegible]

Lying has become so common among politicians that it is scarcely noticed any more.

If the Republicans don't give us better times they won't know what hit them in 1898.

The men who advocate the free silver [illegible] will soon find themselves behind the procession.

The men who want to use the People's party for a door mat should be "cast into outer darkness."

It was "a chance" that killed the Democrats; we may now see what it will do for the Republicans.

"Dook" Pullman has reduced wages 12 per cent in his shops. Wanted to get on a parity with prosperity.

A railroad commission is a farce; nothing short of public ownership will settle the transportation question satisfactorily.

We need a decrease of pauper immigration from foreign countries rather than an increase of the standing army.

The latest news bearing on the construction of McKinley's cabinet is that Senator Cullom is beginning to look like Lincoln again.

Why don't the workingmen profit by the example of the trusts and increase their wages in anticipation of the "wave of prosperity."

McKinley will have to settle the 16 to 1 question after all, he'll have to decide which "1" of the "16" men who want the office will get it.

Talk about "cold waves," what do you call that of November 4th? The "wave of prosperity" has not been able to chase the chill off of us.

It was very nice in Grover to issue that Thanksgiving proclamation the day after we knew we were to have a change from his administration.

The election returns show that a little [illegible] and some patriotism would [illegible] the people to down the money power, but no "hog party" can do it.

It seems that Grover Cleveland never learned the art of making money until he was elected President. It is a little singular the other presidents didn't learn it even then.

Great Britain bulldozes small nations and arbitrates with the large ones. Fortunately, the South American Republics have a big brother Samuel to look after their interests.

The silver question will not be the issue in 1900. It will be talked to death by that time. Men who can see no further in finance than free silver cannot long entertain an intelligent [illegible]

The inter-state commerce law seems to be mis-named. It should be called "An Act entitled an Act to permit railroad corporations and United States courts to run the government by injunction, and rob the people at will."

The plutocrats will do well to remember that "nothing is settled until it is settled right." The slave power [illegible] in various ways to compromise the issue of chattel slavery, and protect their institution by legal enactment but the people finally rose up and shot it to death.

[illegible] slaughter pen which should be taken charge of by Uncle Sam, at least long enough to put a stop to the brutal butcheries now going on there. We are barred as a nation from saying anything about the Armenian butcheries while the most cruel murders are being committed right under our nose. But, then, the sugar trust is making millions out of it, and the interests of the trust must not be interfered with.

Politics for Pay.

Henry George says that T. V. Powderly received $5,000 from Hanna for aiding in the war against the laboring men.

Bourke Cochran is said to have received $500 for each speech he made.

Benedict Arnold received a brigadier general's commission and $20,000. Wallace was entirely confidential, but presumably satisfactory to all parties.

Judas Iscariot was more moderate in his demands than any of the foregoing gentlemen in playing the traitor, but probably he received all he was worth, being that he received it in silver, and at the same time encouraged the hemp industry.

THE TELEGRAPH.

WHAT EXPERIENCE SHOWS AND SHOULD TEACH.

In the Face of the Facts Presented by Professor Parsons After a Searching Inquiry It Is Nonsense to Permit Private Ownership States.

Prof. Frank Parsons, in his tenth installment of "The Telegraph Monopoly," which appears in the Arena for December, deals with the experience of England under both private and public ownership. The following lengthy extract will be found unusually interesting, and it is certainly convincing of the correctness of the people's party demand for government ownership of the telegraphs:

The experience of England constitutes a most powerful argument for public ownership of the telegraph. Up to 1870 the telegraph business in Great Britain was in the hands of private companies, and for many years complaints had been made of excessive charges, poor service and inadequate facilities. The companies pretended to compete, but in reality had an understanding among themselves which prevented the reduction of rates to a just figure. They were satisfied to keep the tariff up and allow each company to obtain such share of the business as its territory and facilities commanded.

In 1869 the tariff charged by the United Kingdom company, as well as by the older Electric, International, British and Irish Magnetic companies was:

1s. (24 cents) for 20 words up to 100 miles.

1s. 6d. (36 cents) for 20 words up to 200 miles.

2s. (48 cents) for 20 words beyond 300 miles.

3s. to 6s. for messages to Ireland.

In many instances these rates, high as they were, did not cover the whole transmission of a telegram. They only applied to the wires of a single company, and when a message had to be transmitted over the systems of two or more companies an additional charge, frequently of considerable amount, was levied.

These rates were scandalously high, and yet our own people at the time in question (1869) were frequently compelled to pay from five to six times as much for the same distance and the same number of words.

In 1865 the Edinburgh chamber of commerce called the attention of Lord Stanley, the postmaster general, to the telegraph question, showing that the rates were unreasonably high, the transmission unsatisfactory because of delays and inaccuracies, the treatment of the press unfair and many towns and districts wholly unprovided for. The Edinburgh committee gave careful consideration to three different remedial measures: (1) a regulated amalgamation of existing companies; (2) the establishment of entire free trade in public telegraphy; (3) the transfer of the service to the postoffice. Its conclusion was in favor of the last, but it agreed to recommend the appointment of a royal commission of inquiry prior to legislation.

Lord Stanley appointed Frank Ives Scudamore to "inquire whether the telegraph might be beneficially worked by the postoffice." Mr. Scudamore was a man of the highest character, thoroughly impartial and of very fine ability. He made a scientific study of the abuses of the existing service in England, the condition of the service in other countries, the benefits likely to result from a postal system and the difficulties and disadvantages that might attach to it. The result was that he came to believe in the postal telegraph, and in 1866 he made his report, a very able paper, conclusively showing the advantages of the present plan. In 1868 he made a supplementary report to Lord Stanley's successor, the Earl of Montrose, who transmitted it to the house of lords with a communication, of which the following is a part:

In the inclosed report and that which preceded it frequent reference is made to the manner in which the telegraph systems of Belgium and Switzerland have been framed and maintained by the postoffices of those countries. The example of the colony of Victoria might however have been cited with equal propriety, for in that colony the telegraph has long been worked by the postoffice and with such success that although the charges for transmission are high, the proportion of telegrams to letters is as high as in Belgium. There is indeed nothing new in the proposed scheme. Of its various parts each has been tried, and tried with success, either in Belgium, in Switzerland, in France, or in a British colony, and taking into account the greater wealth and commercial activity of the United Kingdom, I see no reason to doubt that the scheme, as a whole, will be equally successful here.

Your lordships will readily perceive that such a system, besides facilitating social intercourse, strengthening and multiplying the relations between the inhabitants of different districts and stimulating the growth of trade and commerce, will also strengthen the country from hostility from without and aid in the maintaining of law and order within the kingdom.

The chancellor of the exchequer, in moving for leave to introduce the bill, said:

It would be admitted as a general principle that the monopoly that had succeeded so well in regard to the conveyance of letters might be expected to succeed equally as well in a more rapid method of communication. I am not aware of any objection to monopoly in one case that would not hold good in the other. This country is behind others in the matter of telegraphic communication. The proportion of telegrams to letters is far less in this country than in Belgium or Switzerland. In 1866 the proportions were in Belgium, 1 to 37; in Switzerland, 1 to 69; in Great Britain, 1 to 121.

These figures show that we are suffering from high rates for telegraphic communication and inadequate facilities. If we were equally favored in the matter of charges, etc., the probability is that the proportion of telegrams would be largely increased. Our present system does not give satisfaction to the commercial world. A deputation from the Associated Chambers of Commerce waited upon the postmaster general and myself at the treasury to present a memorial on this subject. They complained of high rates, vexatious delays, inaccurate rendering of messages and the absence of telegraphic communication in whole districts. Under the present system of private administration there is little prospect of fair reduction in rates.

After speaking of the extortionate charges of the private companies in the paragraph already quoted, Postmaster-General Morley continues thus:

Not only were the charges high, but the systems were incomplete. It was in the nature of things that companies whose aim was to secure a profit for their shareholders should restrict their operations as far as possible to the principal towns. In the absence of an obligation to work the telegraphs as a national undertaking they naturally refrained from extensions to the smaller towns and villages or to districts remote from the chief centers of population, which could not be expected to yield a remunerative business. Thus several towns in England and Wales with from 3,000 to 6,000 inhabitants were without any telegraph facilities, being situated at distances of from five to ten miles from the nearest telegraph station. Where such towns were provided with telegraphic communication the office was, as a rule, situated at the railway station, frequently at an inconvenient distance from the center of the town.

In the large towns the telegraph offices were not well distributed. The offices of three or four companies were apt to be clustered together in the business center of the city, sometimes only a few yards distant from each other, while the suburbs and outlying districts were almost wholly neglected. When the inquiry of 1865 was instituted, the total number of places supplied with telegraphic communication by all the companies together was about 1,000, while the number of places having postal communication at the same date was 10,685.

The situation is thus graphically described by Mr. Scudamore:

By maintaining high charges as long as they could, by reducing those charges inch by inch, as it were, and only under pressure, by the confinement of their operations to important towns and by planting their offices mainly in the business centers of those towns the telegraph companies had brought speculative men, and speculative men only, to a free use of the telegraph. Whoever could make money on a turn of the market, whoever could advantageously place a few pounds when "Bumblebee" went below "Dulcibella" in the betting, whoever had it at heart to let Thames street know that there was a large take of herring at Wick, rushed cheerfully to the telegraph office and would have submitted to any inconvenience and paid any charge to get his massage through in time. But the general public, puzzled by a variable and complex tariff and disheartened by the distance of the telegraph offices from their doors, had got to regard the telegraph as a medium of communication which they might use in times of sore necessity, and then only, and to look upon a telegraph message with a feeling amounting to fear.

The parallel between the English telegraph before 1870 and our own system today is very striking. We have in an aggravated form all the evils the English reformers complained of and several additional ones of our own—boundless dilution of stock, enormous profits, telegraphic millionaires, monopoly of market reports, systematic ill treatment of employes, etc. England had abundant reason for revolt. America has still greater reason.

The press of Great Britain, as we have seen, demanded a government telegraph and persisted in discussing the subject in spite of the threatened stoppage of their dispatches.

The telegraph companies used every effort to prevent and impede the reform. The objections they raised were:

1. It was not the government's business to telegraph.

2. There would be a loss if it did.

3. The telegraph would be better conducted under private enterprise.

4. The government rates would be higher.

5. And the use of the telegraph would decrease.

6. The government service would be nonprogressive, no stimulus to invention, etc.

7. The secrecy of messages would be violated.

8. The telegraph would be used as a party machine.

9. The government could not be sued.

10. To establish a public telegraph would be an arbitrary and unjust interference with private interests. The companies had risked their capital in the new enterprise, and just as they were about to get their reward the government was going to take the business away from them. Private enterprise experimented, and the people wanted to steal the fruit.

These objections are very familiar. Our monopolists know them by heart and use them over and over, taking no notice of the answers to them no matter how many times they are refuted. It is easy to answer them a priori, and the overwhelming demonstration of their falsity by the actual experience of England ought to have buried them forever beyond the possibility of disinterment.

1. It is the government's business to transmit intelligence, and that business includes the use of the telegraph and all other appropriate means of transmission.

2. If rates remained the same, an increase of profit instead of a loss was to be expected by reason of the economies that would result from a united telegraph in combination with the postal service. The people could keep rates up and realize a large profit, or put rates down, thereby increasing the usefulness of the telegraph and taking their profit in the form of more and better service for the same money. They did the latter, and, as a matter of fact, they have saved, at the lowest estimate, $150,000,000 in twenty-five years. The telegraphing they have done would have cost them at least $150,000,000 more than it has cost, including expenses of operation, extensions, repairs, interest on the capital, water purchase and all.

3. It stands to reason that a servant appointed and paid by himself, and whose avowed interest and effort are to line his own pocket with the utmost possible "giltiness" consistent with his personal safety—it stands to reason that such a servant will not conduct your telegraph or any other business of yours as well as you can do it yourself or have it done by your own agent. As a matter of fact, the public telegraph service turned out to be vastly superior to the private telegraph service according to the universal verdict of the English people.

4. It was reasonable to expect that the government rates would be lower, because the government would work at cost and would, moreover, secure an absolute economy relatively to private corporations in the conduct of the telegraph. In fact, the rates dropped at once one-third to two-thirds, average one-half, and afterward the ordinary inland rate was again reduced almost one-half.

5. The use of the telegraph doubled the first year.

6. The government service has adopted new inventions and shown a progressive spirit in respect to employes as well as the service of the public.

7. There has been no complaint of violation of secrecy.

8. Nor the least suspicion of partisan use.

9. The government can be sued and is sued. Claims against the government are tried judicially the same as other claims.

10. Interference with private interests to accomplish a public good is not arbitrary and unjust; it is the very essence of justice and good government. The private interests of gamblers, saloonkeepers, opium sellers, shipowners housebuilders, powder makers, bone grinders, grain elevator men, etc., private interests both good and bad, are interfered with for the sake of the public welfare. Telegraph interests form no exception. The companies had already received large returns on their investment and would receive full compensation for their capital when the public took their plant—more than full compensation as it turned out.

The companies themselves knew enough to understand that all their pleas from one to nine were nonsense—mere scarecrows to frighten ignorant timidity. It is possible they might have put some faith in the tenth point.

Men who have long enjoyed the privilege of putting their hands in their neighbors' pockets may really regard an interference with their time honored custom as arbitrary and unjust. Kings and emperors have not been noted for recognizing the wisdom and justice of democracy. No matter how arbitrary and unjust a despotism may be, it will hurl the whole of ethics at any one who brings a suit of ejectment against it.

The merchants, the press and the people generally were not deceived by the outcry raised by the companies and a few conservatives who, not being able to distinguish between proper and improper extension of government functions, were fearful of any enlargement of public activities. The people knew, without reading the refutations of learned men, that the companies' pleas from one to ten were lies and sophistries; that their only real objection was the loss of an opportunity for unjust profits.

In 1868, as we have said, the chambers of commerce petitioned the commons, charging the existing telegraph system with extortion, error and inadequacy. Mr. Scudamore's reports and the committee's investigations gave overwhelming evidence of the truth of the charge and of the advantages of a national system. The press urged a change. The liberal leader, Mr. Gladstone, then as always anxious for the public weal and for that alone, took up the measure, bore down the opposition of the companies and secured the passage of a law (July 31, 1868) enabling the postmaster general to purchase the whole, or any part he thought fit, of any existing telegraph property. And in 1869 another act was passed giving the postoffice the exclusive control of the telegraph business.

On the 29th of January, 1870, all the telegraphs in the kingdom became an integral part of the postoffice. The government bought from the companies 77,000 miles of wire, with equipment, for $32,108,214, or $416 a mile. The lines had cost the companies only $11,000,000, and were really worth a the time of the transfer not more than $8,000,000. This was England's mistake. She paid at least four-times the value of the lines, probably more. The French government put up 68,000 miles of wire, with equipment, for $65 to $66 a mile. When the acts of 1868-69 were passed, in spite of all the companies could do, they determined at least to make the transfer as difficult and costly as possible. It was easy to raise the value of stock in contemplation of a government purchase. Such a rise would be apt to take place to some extent even without manipulation. In some cases shares that were selling for $125 in 1866-67 realized the holders $400 when the lines were sold to the government. The shares of another company rose from $132 in November, 1867, to $258 at the time of the government purchase. In another company the shares rose from $30 to $133. And yet the companies did not always get what they asked by any means. The Northeastern railway company claimed £540,292 in compensation for its telegraph department, besides a large sum for interest. It was awarded in all £168,696. The Metropolitan Railway company claimed in all £433,000, and were awarded £51,907. These two instances out of more than twenty suffice to show the extent to which the fraudulent greed of the companies would have bled the country if it had had its way unchecked.

The government's first move was the rapid extension of the lines into districts hitherto unprovided with telegraph facilities, and the reduction of the tariff to the uniform rate of one shilling for twenty words, social or commercial, and seventy-five words press by day, 100 words by night, all irrespective of distance, a reduction estimated at one-third to one-half.

The result was a vast and immediate increase in the popular use of the telegraph. Social messages and newspaper traffic developed enormously. The telegraph became something more than an aid to speculation and began to be of use to the people.

In respect to adequacy the superiority of the English system is equally clear. It would not be fair to compare the number of offices or messages per square mile, for England is more thickly populated than the United States, but it is fair to compare the relation between telegraph facilities and postal facilities in the two countries. Great Britain has 20,000 postoffices and 10,000 telegraph offices, less than one-fourth of which are railroad offices. The Western Union (the Mackay offices are mostly needless duplications) has 21,000 offices (about three-fourths of which are railroad offices or situated at places inconvenient or inaccessible to the general public, such as stock exchanges, policy shops, etc.), as against 70,000 postoffices. The relation between telegraph and postoffice is therefore 1 to 2 in Great Britain and 1 to 3½ here, including the railroad offices, and one to 2.6 in Great Britain as compared with 1 to 10 in the United States, taking the commercial offices alone—that is, to every fourteen postoffices in Great Britain there are seven efficient telegraph offices, while in this country to every fourteen postoffices there are not more than four efficient telegraph offices, and, considering the commercial offices alone, there are over five to fourteen postoffices over the sea and about one to fourteen postoffices here.

Economy of Government Ownership.

By abolishing 590 presidents, with their staffs (one would do)	$25,000,000
Abolishing the high-priced managers and their staffs.	4,000,000
Abolishing attorneys and legal expenses	12,000,000
Abolishing merely competitive offices, solicitors, etc.	12,000,000
Abolishing 5-7 of the advertising account which is incurred for competitive purposes	5,000,000
Abolishment traffic associations, which are employed to adjust matters between competing roads..	4,000,000
Exclusive use of short routes	25,000,000
Consolidation of working depots, offices and staffs.	20,000,000
Uniformity of rails, cars, machinery, etc., cheapening their manufacture, avoiding freight blockades, return of "empties" belonging to other roads, clerkage to keep account of cars and adjust divisions of earnings among the roads; by making simple, easily understood tariff, saving the time and labor of clerks and the public, by all the numberless little economies of a vast corporation under a single management, and no competitive warfare to waste its energies	15,000,000
By avoiding strikes and developing a better feeling generally	10,000,000
By abolishing the corruption fund used in legislatures	30,000,000
By abolishing the pass evil.	30,000,000
By abolishing unjust rebates	50,000,000
By having no rent or interest	285,000,000
By having no dividends to [illegible]	83,000,000
By putting surplus in the people's treasury	52,000,000
Total	$661,000,000

General Miles wants an increase of the standing army in order to the more effectually protect the robberies of the sitting army.

The Republicans are pledged to international bimetallism. All right, let us have it that way.

MORGAN'S MELANGE

NOTES AND COMMENT ON CURRENT TOPICE.

Wendell Phillips' Parting Words—An Up-to-Date Chicago Judge—Gen. Miles Purpose with a Big Army—Other Matters.

When we study the conditions which surround us on every side, we appreciate the full meaning of the words of Wendell Phillips when he said: "When I die I wish but two words written on my tombstone: 'Infidel' and 'Traitor'—infidel to a church that could be at peace in the presence of sin; traitor to a government that was a magnificent conspiracy against justice."

* * *

Judge Foster, of Chicago, fined a woman $10, one day last week, because her rooster persisted in "crowing" before daylight, thereby disturbing the slumber of one of her neighbors. That "judge" is a dandy. If Juke Pullman had starved a few of his men to death Foster would rule that he had a perfect right to do so.—Ex. That "Jedge" is fully up to the spirit of our civilization. If there is anything that is calculated to disturb the equanimity of a "Jedge" more than anything it is a rooster crowing and waking him up before daylight.

* * *

The Caucasian is stirred up over the fact that General Miles recommended an increase of the standing army, and that the bankers are preparing at the same time to make a raid on the greenbacks. It asserts that these are the two danger signals which should engage the people's attention. It says: "Such an army cannot be needed to meet any foreign foe that might appear, for we can always depend on the patriotism of our people for volunteers to meet any such peril when it may arise. We challenge any man who favors this increase to give his reasons—a standing army is a dead expense to the tax-payers, and is opposed to the genius of our government."

* * *

"There can be but one purpose," continues the authority above quoted, "and that is to train a standing army to serve monopolies and trusts, and to shoot down any who may oppose the avarice and oppression of industrial kings and monopoly tyrants. The present army is big enough for that purpose, but the fact that they want it more than doubled shows that they have planned new and greater schemes of robbing and oppression." This apprehension is becoming pretty general among the people, and it is not without some grounds. People naturally connect military force and despotism. It would seem that our civil authority was sufficient for all purposes, but if it should fail, there is the militia and the great body of the people to supplement it.

* * *

The Caucasian, further discussing the danger of surrendering to the banks the absolute control of the currency, says: "The constitution provides that the government shall issue all money. It is a function of government—a function of sovereignty. To turn over to the banks the power to levy and collect taxes from the people would not be near as dangerous to our property and liberty as to turn over to them the issue of our money and the control of its volume. Put the country on the gold standard and then let the banks control all the paper currency and the speculators and bankers would have the country absolutely at their mercy. It is bad enough now to bring hard times to all except those who enjoy special privileges, but the avarice of these money sharks is not yet satisfied. If the bankers have this tremendous power, in addition to the power they already have, then they can oppress the people at will beyond all endurance, and they want a big standing army to put down any kicking on the part of an outraged people and to enforce the robbery of these shylocks at the point of the bayonet."

* * *

The plutocrats ridicule the idea of money without intrinsic value, but all their ridicule and tirades of abuse cannot wipe out the expressions of a long list of eminent authorities that have placed themselves on record against the intrinsic value theory. Among these was United States Senator Plumb, of Kansas, who, in a speech in the senate, in reply to John Sherman, said: "The senator from Ohio said in a brief speech which he made the other day on a minor clause of this bill, in a spirit of candor that did not characterize his speech of yesterday, that gold and silver had been created by the Almighty as money, and had been such from the beginning of time. 'What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.' If gold is money, then silver is money, and if gold to-day is any more money than silver it is because the law has made it so, giving to gold the exclusive money function and degrading silver."

"The American people are logical. Whenever it is settled that it is the law and not the designation of the Almighty, the fiat of legislation and not intrinsic value or a long course of business or a concensus of public opinion which constitutes money, they will not long halt on gold, or silver either, for that matter, but go at once on paper as the only logical and proper representative—as the medium of exchange." W. S. MORGAN.

With a man for President who looks like Napoleon, and one in the cabinet who looks like Lincoln, what do we need with a standing army? Come down off your perch, Miles. We can plug our way through.

A ROGUE PLANT.

It Lies in Wait for Flies and Other Insects.

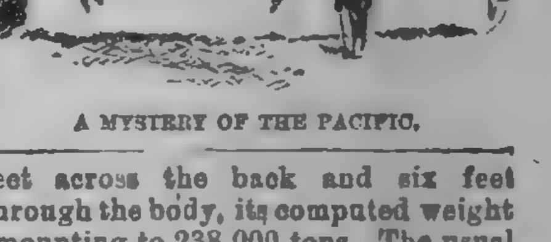
Here's the picture of a rogue of a plant that lies in wait like a highway robber for unwary flies and other insects and when they appear it swallows them up and their friends never hear of them again. It has been given the botanical name of sarracenia, but it is commonly called the pitcher plant, from the fact that its leaves are rolled into the form of pitchers, in which many a poor fly is caught. The flies are attracted to the plant by a sweet liquid which it gives off, and in their greediness they go a little too far and are killed. Botanists do not know exactly why the plant should wish a dinner of flies, but there must be some good reason for it, else its pitchers would not be so attractive. By experiment they have found that the plant will live just as well where the flies cannot get at it at all. So all the evidence would indicate that it is just a rogue, killing flies because it really enjoys the sport.

A BANDIT PLANT.

ODD AND MARVELOUS

The Colossal Recumbent Rock Figure on Easter Island.

The accompanying picture is from a photograph of a recumbent rock figure found on Easter Island, in the South Pacific. This island is about 2000 miles from the coast of Chile. As many as 500 figures, mainly busts, have been counted on the island. They differ considerably in size; from the pigmy of three feet to those of giant proportions, the largest measured being seventy feet long, 14½ feet across the back and six feet through the body, its computed weight amounting to 238,000 tons. The usual height of these wonderful busts is about twenty feet, having a weight of seventy-six tons each, by far the greater portion being about this size. Yet these huge masses of stone were not only moved considerable distances from the still existing quarries where they were sculptured, but were placed in an upright position on vast platforms of stone prepared for their reception, and were finally decorated by having the huge cylinders of stone placed on their heads, the whole indicating a surprising engineering knowledge and skill, recalling that exhibited by the ancient Peruvians in their mighty undertakings. The origin of these interesting antiquities is unknown.—Philadelphia Record.

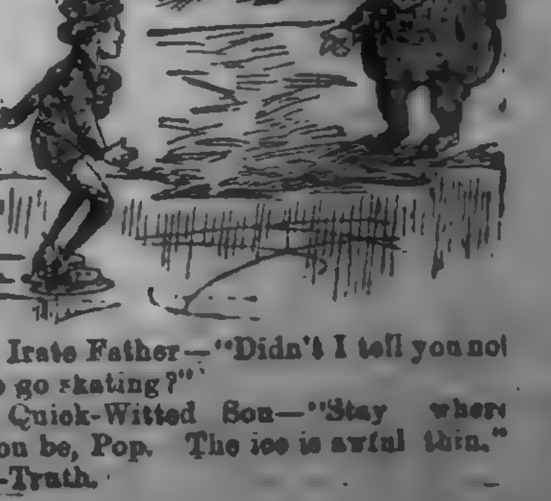


A MYSTERY OF THE PACIFIC.

The Pious Robin.

Here is a story of an orthodox robin. Some time ago I attended morning service in Ely Cathedral, where, during the prayers, a robin kept flitting about the building, joining occasionally in the service with a modest "chirrup." When the clergyman ascended the pulpit and began to speak, the robin deliberately perched himself on one of the pinnacles of the chancel-screen, quite close to the orator, and the louder did the robin sing, much to the amusement of the congregation. I have no recollection of what the sermon was about, but the robin's singing made a deep impression upon me. —London Telegraph.

Presence of Mind.



Irate Father—"Didn't I tell you not to go skating?"

Quick-Witted Son—"Stay where you be, Pop. The ice is awful thin." —Truth.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

A Happy new year.

Write it 1897 to-morrow.

The year passes away with rumors of war; we hope it will continue to be rumors only.

Make all your good resolutions to-day and hold to them until this time next year, when you can easily renew them.

The latest report is that the gallant Maceo was not killed, but was badly wounded, and hidden away before the Spaniards could get hold of him; we trust the report is correct.

The Commercial Bank of Selma failed yesterday, with liabilities about $300,000. The bank was an old established one and held in high estimation, and we are sorry it has succumbed to "returning prosperity."

Two years ago with much pleasure The Banner announced, on good authority, the marriage of Mr. Dave Cooley and Miss Mattie Wooley and exerted itself to the utmost in wishing them all imaginable joy. The announcement turned out to be unfounded and all our good wishes were thrown away. They were not lost altogether, however, and we carefully preserved them until the present moment when we again offer them with more added to the same happy young couple who were really married this time at the home of Mr. Milford Woolly, father of the bride, on Mulberry on Chrismas Eve. There is no mistake about it this time, because Rev. W. M. Woods tied the nuptial knot and tied it tight, too. There was also a large crowd present at the ceremony who afterwards celebrated the event in a most enjoyable manner. The young couple will make their home with Sheriff Cooley, who requires Dave's assistance in the shrievalty office. Once again we wish them a long and happy life. This is another instance of The Banner being up-to-date. We announced the marriage two years before the event.

One of the most awful calamities that has ever occurred in railroad history took place last Sunday morning when the accommodation train between Birmingham and Blocton went through the iron bridge over the Cahaba river and fell a distance of 110 feet, and without a moment's warning thirty souls were precipitated into eternity. Details of this terrible catastrophe will be found on the fourth page. The general opinion is that train-wreckers, fiends in human shape, displaced a rail with the result as before stated. It is hard to believe there can be human beings with such diabolical dispositions as to wantonly destroy innocent lives for any cause whatever. Unfortunately there are such monsters and it is well for the world when they are captured and destroyed. Every effort should be made by the railroad companies and the government to run these miscreants down and punish them as they deserve. Hanging is far too good for wretches who would remove a rail on a bridge 110 feet high—just think for a moment, about half as high again as the top of the tower to the new court house.

Our readers will deeply sympathize with the family of Rev. J. G. Lowrey. Mr. Lowrey lost a beloved daughther and two grandchildren in this horrible catastrophe while the unfortunate husband and father, Mr. Henry Hanbury, was pinned down in the wreckage and saw them burn up before his eyes without being able to move a hand to help them escape their terrible fate.

The Census of 1900 and the Question of a Permanent Bureau.

In view of the election figures much interest will attach to the result of the census enumeration which must be made a little more than three years hence. The preparations for that enumeration are under discussion. It is quite time that the plans for so colosial an undertaking should be well in hand. The best opinion upon this subject, both in Europe and in America, unanimously favors the maintenance of a permanent bureau, as distinguished from an organization temporarily created once in ten years. It is true that the actual enumeration must require the employment of a great army of temporary agents; but the director of the census should be a permanent official, and he should have in his office at Washington a staff of expert assistants and statisticians always at work. Most of the special inquiries which are undertaken every ten years in connection with the census, could well be distributed throughout the intervening years, so that there would be no lack of tasks of an important character to keep the bureau occupied. Hon. Carrol. D. Wright, Superintendent of the Department of Labor, was authorized some time ago by Congress to draft a bill outlining the organization and work of a permanent census bureau. Colonel Wright has complied with this instruction, and his draft is now in the hands of the proper Congressional committee. The American Statistical Association and the American Economic Association, at their last annual meetings appointed representatives to confer as a joint committee upon this question of a permanent census bureau. This joint committee was made up of statistical experts and other gentlemen having a wide general knowledge of the subject in question. A unanimous agreement has been reached by the joint committee in favor of a permanent census bureau; and Congress has been memorialized to that effect. The statistical work of the Department of Agriculture might well be made over to such a permanent census bureau, and other statistical undertakings could from time to time be devolved upon the bureau as circumstances might seem to render advisable.—From "The Progress of the World," in January Review of Reviews.

"How not to Better Social Conditions" is the title of an article by Theodore Roosevelt in the January Review of Reviews. Mr. Roosevelt is permitted to publish a letter addressed to him a few months since by the Hon. Thos Watson, then the candidate for Vice-president on the Populist ticket with Mr. Bryan. This letter was occasioned by Mr. Roosevelt's article in the September Review of Reviews dealing with the Vice-presidential candidates. The letter is a most important an interesting contribution to what may be termed the personal literature of the last campaign; it puts its writer in a new light, and must lead to a thorough revision of the opinions about "Tom Watson" entained so generally by his political opponents.

It is getting to be so costly a matter to the United States to pay all expenses of contestants in Congressional cases, and their salaries if successful, and in the mean time to pay the salaries of the men occupying the seats during the contest, that a bill to put a stop to this recently introduced in the House by Representative William F. Aldrich, of Alabama, himself a successful contestant at the last session, has attracted a great deal of attention.

"This bill," said Representative Aldrich, to a Post reporter yesterday, "is an attempt to prevent frivolous contested election cases coming before Congress for settlement. As the law now stands, and as the practice of Congress has been, the returned member retains his seat often until the last few weeks of the second session of his term. The contestee therefore receives nearly $10,000 in salary and allowances for mileage and stationary, amounting to perhaps to a thousand dollars more, and the salary and allowances are paid to the contestant when seated, thus burdening the United States with double expenses for the same services. In addition to this great injustice, it offers a premium for fraudulent election certificates.

"To show that the salary is an inducement to that end, I will quote the words of a prominent Democratic politician in my district, who said to me, 'Mr. Plowman will get the certificate, and as it took you more than a year to unseat Mr. Robbins, we are satisfied if we can hold Mr. Plowman in for that length of time.'

"Viewed in another light, it is exceedingly unjust to the party represented by the contestant to be deprived of representation in Congress for practically a whole term for which their member was elected. In the matter of post-office appointments, and changes which come close to and affect each community of the district, its voice is not heard, and the majority are deprived of representation.'—Washington Post.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 29, 1896.

The Cuban situation, as far as these United States are concerned, becomes more serious each day. Just before adjournment for the holidays members of the Senate and the lower House were equally surprised to learn that with the Chief Executive alone rests the power to recognize a belligerent power. This fact was first stated by Secretary Olney before the Senatorial Committee and has since been embodied in the manifesto. He also urges that the insurgents have made no effort to establish any government and so cannot be recognized. Prominent men like John Sherman, Cameron, Garland and Vest hold an opposite opinion and much excitement prevailed just before adjournment.

President Cleveland has returned from his duck shooting jaunt.

The subject of increasing the salary of Congressmen from five thousand to seven thousand five hundred, is being discussed.

The Pacific Railroad Bill will be brought up January 8th.

Senator Allen's plan of having an Investigating Committee appointed by the Senate to look into the use of money during the recent election has found hearty support among the believers in silver. Senator Allen has expressed himself as ready to retire from the Senate to make room for Bryan if that gentleman should desire to accept the place.

The sentiment in favor of Hon. Thos. Watson being seated in Congress, grows daily.

Secretary Carlisle's report, although it has been somewhat anticipated in the President's message, is not lacking in interest. He reports for year ending June 30th, '96, revenues from all sources $409,475,408, expenditures $434,698,654, deficit $25,203,245. Much of the greater part of the estimated deficiency for the current fiscal year has already been incurred, and has been paid, leaving still in the Treasury on the first day of December a balance of $225,036,708, which, after deducting the gold reserve, is about $100,000,000 more than is necessary as a permanent fund to insure the regular conduct of the ordidary fiscal operations of the Government. From bond sales and interest thereon, $111,170,376. Decrease in ordinary expenditures $4,105,852. Increase in receipt, $19,102,205. The revenues are classified as follows: Customs, $148,000,000; internal revenue, $150,000,000; miscellaneous, $20,000,000; postal, $89,793,120.

The pretended fight on the Chattanooga Pipe Trust goes on. The plant is being enlarged and is enjoying a great deal of free advertising.

The validity of the gold contract is being tested in many states. When alleged silver legislatures fail to legislate against gold contracts the genuineness of their sentiment for the white metal is questioned.

The Populists of Leavenworth, Kansas, have asked for eleven of the offices that Governor-elect Leedy is to fill by appointment.

The necessity of a new political party containing the elements that voted for Bryan, being organized with a new name, is being widely discussed and conceded to.

A Bimetallic State Convention composed of Populists, Silver Republicans and Democrats is called to meet at Lincoln, Neb., January 2, 1897. The call is endorsed by the People's Party State Committee.

The Virginia Sun, a leading Populist paper of Virginia, has had to suspend. This is much to be regretted.

At the recent election two kinds of ballot machines were tested, one Rochester, New York, and the other at Worcester, Mass. Neither proved satisfactory, as many as two hundred votes failing to be recorded, but the manufacturers are to consolidate and hope to combine the good and discard the bad features of each, thus securing a machine that will insure honest voting, quick returns and large savings in hire of officers.

A. R.

50 lbs. of Coal

A day would keep your rooms warm in winter. But that small stove will burn only twenty-five. Hence, discomfort and misery.

A certain amount of fat, burned daily, would keep your body warm and healthy. But your digestion is bad, and you don't get it from ordinary fat-food. Hence you are chilly, you catch cold easily, you have coughs and shivers; while pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption finds you with no resistive power.

Do this. Burn better fuel. Use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. Appetite and digestive power will revive; and soon a warm coating of good flesh will protect the vital organs against the cold and the body against disease.

Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00

Book free for the asking.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—Editor.]

West Chilton Warblings

Christmas passed off calm and pleasant in these parts; but little fun for the young people; no parties yet, but a good many Xmas trees round about and an abundance of shooting and fire works, it seemed like every body was well supplied with gun powder.

West Chilton has been on a building boom sometime—building new houses and repairing old ones.

Mr. T. A. Gay has built a new store house on Steer Creek below old Bull's Bur and has opened up a big dry goods store and we may get a post office there. We have named the place Kininghamtonville.

Mr. E. W. Bailey is building a new residence.

The head of the Jackson lumber company's railroad has become to be a desperate place, it now gose by the name of dismal hell. There is nothing but drinking, gambling, shooting and fighting out there all the time. A few days ago Jack Latheram shot and killed Oscar Temp out there near the same place where Joe O'Neal killed Mr. Malkom. O'Neal and Latheram have both escaped. The great cause of all the trouble out there is "wild-cat" whiskey and bad women, and our officers ought to break it up. The two men that were killed were both good peaceable men.

Old Mr. Anderson Davis of Jones' Switch has bought the Dr. Jeffers house and lot in Plantersville and is moving there.

Rev. J. W. Cabaniss has moved to Plantersville.

Mr. John Martin of Jemison has been visiting his best girl near Valley Creek during Xmas.

Mr. Frank Perry and Miss Dovey Perry of Chadwick have been visiting friends at Valley Creek the past week.

Mr. Leon Latheram has a brood sow 5 years old that has brought 40 pigs and raised them all in 4 years.

There is a certain place on the Centerville road over in West Chilton that has become so badly haunted until people won't pass that way in the day time. There can be heard something like a storm or a heavy wind passing by, when at the same time there will not be wind enough to move a leaf. At other times there is a racket like a lot of coons or cats climbing trees but still nothing can be seen, and after night can be seen all kinds of red angry fires and lights there. This haunted place is just above William Prices.

Success to the Banner and its Editor,

Old Mike.

* * *

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Consumption and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guarteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c, per box. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

Mrs. Cladia Paisley and family are here for a week's visit at the old homestead.

Mrs. N. A. Goodwin is in Birmingham with her invalid sister, Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. A. S. Foshee has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Parnell, of Stanton.

Mrs. D. J. Watersworth of Stanton has been visiting friends here.

The friends of Wheler Foshee are glad to have him with them again.

Mrs. R. H. Martin was agreeably surprised Xmas eve by a visit from her brothers, F. D. Kelley of Savannah and W. D. Kelley of Selma, and Miss Mammie Hodges of Marion have visited her also.

We feel very grateful to Mr. Ensley Cooper for the hand-rail he made over Byrd's creek.

James DuBose is visiting friends here at his old home.

We had a most enjoyable Xmas tree on the 24th, both young and old seemed to aid in each others happiness. Miss Cora Smith added much to the enjoyment, by the excellent recitations of her school, which reflected great credit to their excellent teacher. To speak of the good performance of any would be invidious for this reason we cannot personate none.

A happy New Year to all our friends and specially to the readers of the Banner.

Subscriber.

Send your name for a Souvenir of the Works of Eugene Field,

FIELD FLOWERS

The Eugene Field Monument Souvenir

The most beautiful Art Production of the century. "A small bunch of the most fragrant of blossoms gathered from the broad acres of Eugene Field's Farm of Love." Contains a selection of the most beautiful of the poems of Eugene Field. Handsomely illustrated by thirty-five of the world's greatest artists as their contribution to the Monument Fund. But for the noble contributions of the great artists this book could not have been manufactured for $7.00. For sale at book stores, or sent prepaid on receipt of $1.10. The love offering to the Child's Poet Laureate, published by the Committee to create a fund to build the Monument and to care for the family of the beloved poet.

Eugene Field Monument Souvenir Fund,
180 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy wont live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

L. & N. Change of Schedule.

To go into effect December 20.

Train No		arv. Clanton
Train No	2	arv. Clanton	9:54 a.m
"	3	"	5:59 p.m
"	4	"	10:35 p.m
"	9	"	7:43 a.m
"	10	"	5:26 p.m

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court of W. H. Streck a Justice of the Peace for beat 5 of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against J. E. White out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said J. E. White I have levied on the following property, to-wit: One (1) one-horse wagon.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named J. E. White in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, JANUARY 17, 1897,

during the legal hours of sale, at the court house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated this 29 day of December, 1896.

J. T. Cooley,
Sheriff Chilton county, Alabama.

BUY THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

Do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and think you can get the best made, finest finish and MOST POPULAR SEWING MACHINE for a mere song. Buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing. There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the NEW HOME.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

The New Home Sewing Machine Co.

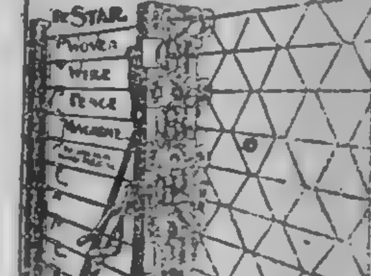
ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown [illegible] we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while those who make and sell the fence must add the cost of labor to make them, and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We [illegible] enough wire to make [illegible] feet [illegible] for the same money that will buy [illegible] rods of any good woven wire fence [illegible] the fence [illegible] with which you can make over [illegible] in [illegible] several styles of Ornamental yard or lawn fence. To show how the farmers of this country appreciate this machine it is only necessary to [illegible] that [illegible] machines sold by us were run for twenty days [illegible] machine making 40 rods per day, there [illegible] enough fence to go around the world, [illegible] 60,000 rods or 1,250 miles per day. And if [illegible] were run only 60 days during the year [illegible] rods per day each, they would make a [illegible] 24,000,000 rods, which would make [illegible] rods or 249 miles for every working [illegible] combined product of all the Loom Fence [illegible] the United States would not equal this. [illegible] much. Invest it in a postal card and send for our large Illustrated Catalogue, telling all about fencing. It may save you many dollars. Sent Free for the asking. Address, Kitselman Bros., Box 1092, Ridgeville, Ind.



TABER FELT BOOT CO.
FREDONIA, N. Y.
LARGEST MANUFACT'RS OF FELT PADS AND HOUSINGS IN THE UNITED STATES

GIG, COACH, BREAST HOUSINGS
OUR SPECIALTIES.

Send for Our Catalogue and Price-List.
We want live jobbers to handle Our Goods.
Liberal Discounts.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER Office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

CATARRH

is a more common and a more serious disease than most people imagine. Its cure depends upon constitutional treatment, not upon local remedies. V.V.V. cures catarrh because it purifies the blood, cleanses the secretory organs and brings the entire system to a condition of health and vigor. Composed entirely of health-giving vegetable remedial agents,

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a wonderful specific for all blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—as well as rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6 cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1855
Martin	992
Wilson	448
	3295

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. THE BANNER, Clanton.

Mr. Darwell Foshee spent Xmas with parents in Clanton.

Mr. Sam Gulhorn is in Montgomery this week.

Mr. Harvey Chandler went to Montgomery Monday.

Miss Tampa Cherry is among our pleasant visitors in Clanton this week.

Misses Woods, of Jemison, was in Clanton during Xmas week.

Last Friday night the "Kids" of our town enjoyed a most delightful entertainment, with refreshments, at the residence of Mr. J. H. Hale.

The old reliable Capital City Insurance Company of Montgomery is represented in Clanton by W. L. Sampey.

Miss [illegible] Thornton's school closed the 23rd, inst., and Miss Florence Gulhorn was awarded the first prize and Master Cleveland G[illegible] the second.

Rev. W. B. Dennis preached his first sermon in the Methodist church here Sunday to a large audience.

Christmas day came on quietly, nothing very exciting until after every one had enjoyed a Xmas dinner, and with a rush a large crowd began to prepare for the "fantastic" parade, which was enjoyed by the whole town.

WANTED 1000 cross-ties. Apply to G. H. GREEN, Clanton.

Clanton was lively last Monday night—there were two entertainments, one at Mr. Eugene Evans, and the other at Mrs. Davis' boarding house, both were enjoyed very much by those who attended.

The Xmas tree last Thursday night at the Baptist church was a social feast for the Sunday-school children.

Mr. A. T. Williamson, of Montgomery, who is well remembered for his work here has returned and ready to do any painting, paper-hanging, graining and kalcomining.

Mr. Will Callen is indisposed this week.

Mr. Charles F. Williams and Mr. Forrest Williams, of Comanche, Tex., is spending the holidays with friends and relatives here. Charles will return to Texas in about two weeks but Forrest has decided to remain in Chilton.

Mr. W. H. Smith returned to his home in Coosa, after spending some time with parents here.

Mr. Russell McDaniel, of Montgomery, spent Christmas with parents here.

Mr. Eugene Evans will entertain his friends this evening with an entertainment.

Mr. Charlie Merrit is Spending his Xmas holidays with parents in Clanton.

Mr. W. F. Culp is still on the sick list.

Dr. W. F. Middleton, after spending some time with parents here, returned to Texas last Monday morning.

The many friends of Mr. Barron McMorries are glad to see him out on the streets again after a two week's spell of sickness.

Mr. Willie Perdew, of Greenville, is visiting relatives this week in Clanton.

Dr. V. H. Caine is enjoying a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sampey entertained a large number of friends at their residence Xmas night.

See W. L. Sampey about insuring your property against fire.

The J. R. Kemp place has been by rented by the family of Dr. J. S. Johnson Sr., and moved into this week. The Doctor returned from New Orleans, finding it did not agree with him.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate judge to the following persons.

Mr. D. C. Cooley and Miss Mattie Wooley; Mr. James Harrell and Miss Bettie Horton; Mr. Willie Johnson and Miss Lula Mims; Mr. Joseph Smitherman and Mrs. Missouri Lewis; Mr. C. J. Littlejohn and Miss Viola Langston; Mr. V. J. Gragg, Jr., and Miss Viola Rutherford; Mr. W. E. Thompson and Victoria Rutherford

Colored. Joe Crosby and Carry Davis; Ed Owen and Olie Bailey; Aaron Cooper and Lizzie Flowers; Will Cummins and Birdie Hill; Frank Allison and Camilla Cobero.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health......

Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Stanton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential.

Address

JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO.,
Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents,
618 F Street, N. W.,
Box 385. Washington, D. C.

Reference—editor of this paper. Write for our 80-page pamphlet, FREE.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,

STRAYED on Nov. 16th, one black horse mule, medium size, tolerably old, thin in order. A liberal reward offered for the mule. Apply to Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 miles east of Stanton, Ala.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

SUBSCRIBERS receiving their papers with a blue cross (X) mark on it will understand their subscription has expired and will oblige by renewing. Kindly mention to your friends THE BANNER costs only One dollar per year, or Fifty Cents for six months.

State Alliance Notice.

Dudleyville, Ala. Nov. 23, 1896

County Secretaries that have not received minutes of the last State meeting will receive them by dropping me a card notifying me of their failure to receive the same.

J. W. JACKSON,
State Secretary.

* * *

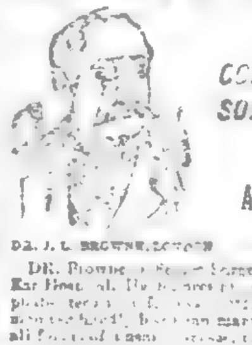
The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

— FOR —

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or Any Head or Throat Trouble.



DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne, Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, [illegible] Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE CURED IN EVERY BAD CASE!

[illegible]

DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished [illegible] of New York, [illegible] London Lancet, [illegible]

T. DOUGLAS MORTON.

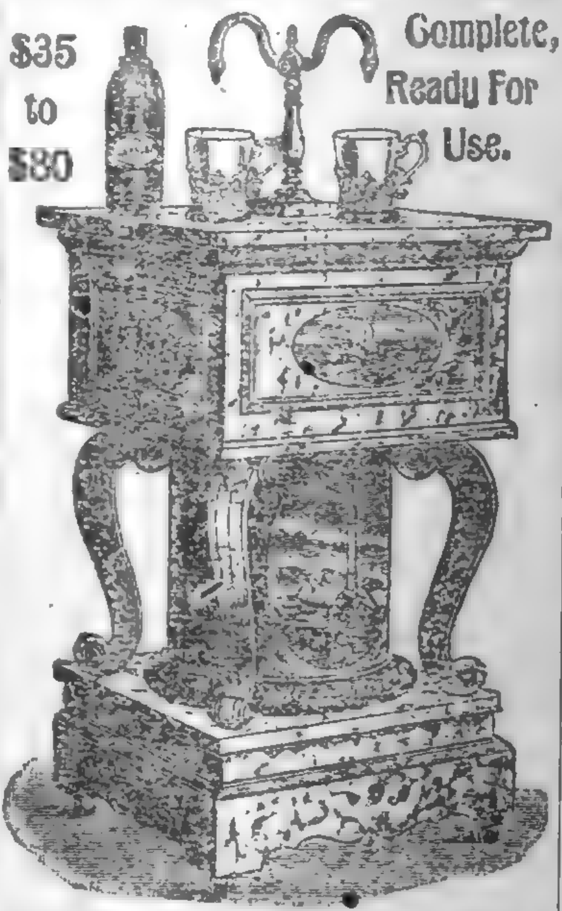
[illegible] HEADACHE [illegible] CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

→* PORTABLE *←

SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.



30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.

MADISON, INDIANA.

PATENTS

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

TRADE MARKS, DESIGNS, COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS	SALT RHEUM	CHAPPED HANDS
BURNS	ULCERS	FROSTED FEET
BRUISES	ITCH	RINGWORM
SCALDS	ERYSIPELAS	AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation. Guaranteed to give satisfaction; when you need an ointment be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.
VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,668.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., December 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 23rd, 1897, viz.: Emmett W. Headley Homestead entry, No. 26,208, for the e½ of ne¼ section 20 tp 21 north of r 15 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joseph Hayes, of Maplesville, Ala., Wiley Ramsey, of Lily, Ala., Simon Clark, of Maplesville, Ala., James Hayes, of Maplesville Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18597.

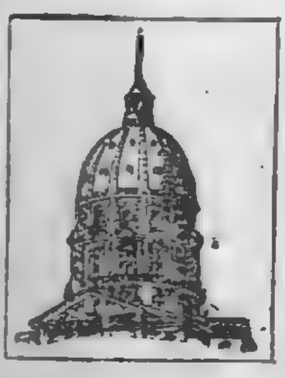
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 23,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William. N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

THE WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA ....FOR.... 1897



It will answer any question you may ask it.

"The Standard American Annual."

NEARLY 600 PAGES, OVER 1,500 TOPICS TREATED.

A COMPLETE statistical and political history of the United States. The results of the Presidential election accurately compiled. Every fact of value that human knowledge can require. A reference library boiled down!

25c. POSTPAID TO ANY ADDRESS.

No American who wishes to know his country can be without it.

Ready Jan. 1, 1897.

THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans,

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

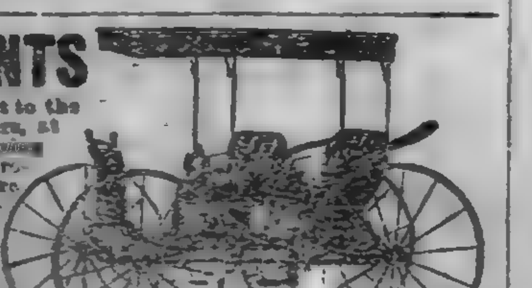
The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $55. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.



No. [illegible]—Surrey Harness. Price $15.50. As good as sells for $25.

No. [illegible]—Surrey, with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60.00. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. PRATT, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS

WERE GIVEN

HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

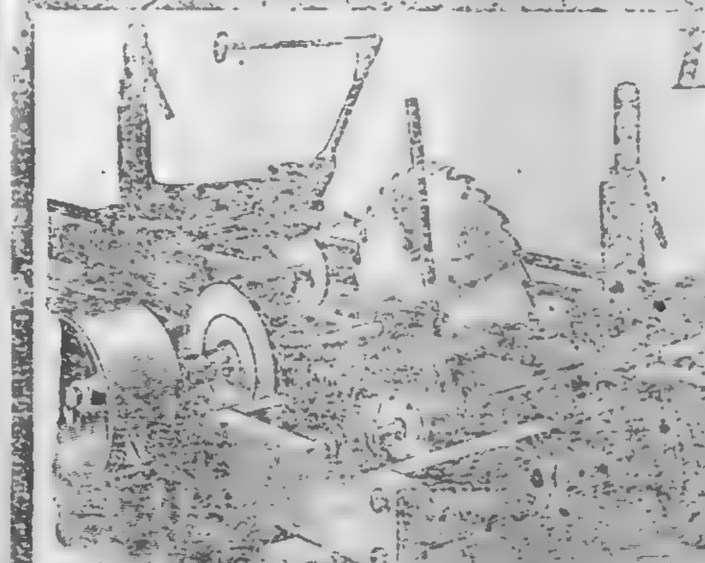
Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c.; Trial (five months), $1.00; Year, $2.50.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE.

DELOACH



Variable Friction Feed Saw Mills, Planers and Matchers,

DeLoach Corn and Flour Mills,
Turbine Water Wheels,
"Hungry Elephant" Baling Press,
Engines and Boilers.

MILL MACHINERY AND GEARING OF ALL KINDS.

SAW REPAIRING a specialty. WORK GUARANTEED.

FRICTION causes nearly all the trouble in life, and more especially in machinery. Our VARIABLE FRICTION as applied to Saw Mills and Planers enables the operator to take just what he needs and no more. Warranted to do a capacity twenty per cent. greater than [illegible] with same power.

97 Saw Mills sold in one month proves its wonderful popularity, and [illegible]

The DeLoach Variable Friction Feed Planer Matcher and Moulder beats them all

Write at once for large illustrated catalogue.

DeLoach Mill Mfg. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

165 Washington St., New York City, and 111 S. 11th St., St. Louis, Mo.

P.P.P.
P.P.P.
P.P.P.
LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY
BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P. has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

"Noah," asked Captain Kidd, "I've always wanted to know one thing—did you only take two of every kind of creature on board the ark?" "As passengers, yes," said Noah; "but our steward had about four hundred chickens and lobsters in the ice-box for Sundays, just the same."—Burlington Hawkeye.

Milwaukee's legless man was married the other day. Leap year and he couldn't escape from the new woman.

Has Done Wonders.

CENTERVILLE, R. I., Sept. 27, 1891.
"On a recent journey to Alabama I have heard from a Jesuit Father of Mobile College some wonder ul cures from eczema, etc., from the use of TETTERINE.
"I have several people of my congregation that are suffering from eczema, tetter, etc., for a number of years. Please s nd me two boxes by mail. I want to see what your TETTERINE will do for them. I enclose one dollar." Yours respectfully,
REV. C. P. GABOURY.
1 box by mail for 50c. in stamps
J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

Gibbon's massive history occupied over twenty years of his life. Compared with this, his other works are insignificant.

The Modern Mother

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Mulhall, the noted statistician, spent over forty years in accumulating the material for his one volume of statistics.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Scott's Waverly Novels, upon which h's fame now mainly rests, were all written between 1814 and 1825.

Dobbins' Floating-Borax Soap is not an imitation. It is original. The only soap that floats, contains Borax and is 100 per cent. pure. It is worthy of a trial. Every lady who tries it continues its use. Red wrapper.

Raphael enjoyed a life of 37 years, from 1483 to 1520. His period of active work covered about fifteen years.

I use Piso's Cure for Consumption both in my family and practice. Dr. G. W. PATTERSON, Inkster, Mich., Nov. 5, 1891.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell at 25cents a bottle.

Hope

Returns to the heart of the victim bound in the chains of rheumatism, dyspepsia, scrofula, catarrh, when blood is enriched and purified by

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

Potash

is a necessary and important ingredient of complete fertilizers. Crops of all kinds require a properly balanced manure. The best

Fertilizers

contain a high percentage of Potash.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

BUY NO INCUBATOR

and pay for it before giving it a trial. The firm who is afraid to let you try their incubator before buying it has no faith in their machine. We will sell you ours

ON TRIAL

NOT A CENT until tried, and a child can run it with 5 minutes attention a day. We won and will win you for a steady customer if you will only buy ours on trial. Our large catalogue will cost you 5 cents and give you $100 worth of practical information on poultry and incubators and the money there is in the business. Plans for Brooders, Houses, &c., 25c. N. B.—Send us the names of three persons interested in poultry and five cents and we will send you "The Bicycle: Its Care and Repair," a book of 180 subjects and 80 illustrations, worth $5 to any bicycle rider.

FIRST PRIZE WORLD'S FAIR

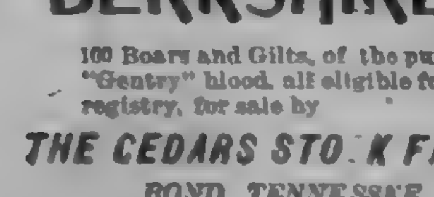
VON CULIN INCUBATOR CO.,
Box 1896. DELAWARE CITY, DEL.

"BERKSHIRES"

100 Boars and Gilts, of the pure "Gentry" blood, all eligible for registry, for sale by

THE CEDARS STOCK FARM,
BOND, TENNESSEE.

REPAIRING.



Everything pertaining to bicycles and repairs kept in stock. The best workmen and finest materials in our repair department. Prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Inquiries solicited.

THE LOOSLEY CYCLE CO.,
Birmingham, Ala.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

Am. N. U. No. 52. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

NATIONAL CONGRESS.

What Our Senators and Representatives Are Doing.

THE NEWS OF A WEEK.

Bills Introduced, and Passed or Referred.—Many Matters of Interest to the People Being Given Due Consideration.—The Cuban War Attracting Much Attention.

SENATE—WEDNESDAY.

A very interesting and important discussion upon Mr. Allen's (Pop., Neb.) resolution to take up the Dingley bill for consideration in the Senate was started to-day by Mr. Vest, and was participated in by Senators Allen, Chandler, Gallinger, Frye, Aldrich, Sherman, Teller Mills and Gorman.

In the course of the debate more than one allusion was made to frauds and corruption at the late Presidential election, and Mr. Teller remarked pointedly that he was not certain that his candidate (Mr. Bryan) had been defeated.

The debate began early in the day and displaced the regular order, the Immigration bill, at the expiration of the morning hour. Senators Teller and Gorman were the last two to come into the debate, and the ones to bring it to a head. Mr. Teller declared positively that it had been well known that if every Republican Senator voted for the Dingley bill it would have still lacked one of a majority, and that it was the merest pretence for anybody to say that he had expected that bill to become a law.

A number of other Senators joined in the discussion, including Mr. Gorman, Platt and Sherman.

Mr. Sherman said: "I am inclined to think that, in view of the statements as to the impossibility of passing the Dingley bill, that we ought not to waste any more time about it. We are not disposed to attempt impossibilities."

That was the last word of important discussion, and the Senate, after a short executive session, adjourned until to-morrow.

Before the debate on the Dingley bill began the Senate passed the Pension Appropriation bill without amendment—the only bill of general interest acted upon.

HOUSE—WEDNESDAY.

The House to-day, in committee of the whole, devoted nearly all of a four-hour session to the Army Appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1898.

A great portion of the time was spent in discussing a ruling of the chairman of the committee, Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, that an amendment to cut off the Hot Springs Hospital, as recommended by the Surgeon-General and Secretary of War, was out of order, being a change of existing law. Messrs. Dingley (Rep., Me.), Bailey (Dem., Tex.), Little (Dem., Ark.), Grew (Rep., Penn.), Hull (Rep., Ia.), Lacey (Rep., Ia.), Cannon (Rep., Ill.), and others participating.

The question was important, as affecting the power of the House under the rules to limit, restrict or define the expenditure of money carried by appropriation bill. One point the committee—69 to 53—sustained the chairman, but later refused to sustain him—71 to 84—and the amendment cutting out the hospital was agreed to. In the House Mr. Little made the point of no quorum on the vote adopting the amendment, and none appearing on the count by the Speaker, the House, at 4:10 adjourned until to-morrow.

In the morning hour Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.) asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a resolution directing the Committee on Naval Affairs to investigate the construction of the battleship Texas, but it was referred to the committee without action.

SENATE—THURSDAY.

The bill which passed the House of Representatives last session, and for which a substitute was reported by the Senate Committee, to amend the immigration laws of the United States, occupied the attention of the Senate during the whole of to-day's session. The substitute was amended in some particulars, the most notable amendment being one providing that the act shall not apply to Cuban refugees during the existing troubles in Cuba; and then it was passed by a vote of 52 to 10 and a conference asked with the House.

The House amendment to the Senate bill, as to the lands of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, were laid before the Senate, and were, on motion of Mr. Hill, non-concurred in, and a conference asked, Senators Hill, Platt and Clark being appointed conferees on the part of the Senate.

In presenting a lot of petitions from Alabama, declaring that there was no lawful State Government in that State, Mr. Chandler collided with Mr. Allen in reference to the failure of Mr. Allen's resolution of inquiry on that subject last session, Mr. Chandler asserting that the resolution had failed because of some intemperate remarks of Mr. Allen's questioning the motives of Republican Senators, and Mr. Allen denying that, but asserting that he had a grave suspicion that the resolution never would be acted on in good faith on the Republican side of the Chamber.

A bill to authorize the construction of a railroad bridge across the Sabine river between Louisiana and Texas was reported and passed.

After a short executive session the Senate at 4:30 p. m. adjourned until Monday next.

HOUSE—THURSDAY.

The House to-day set the inaugural ball rolling by the passage of the usual bills authorising the laying of necessary and temporary railroad tracks to accommodate the increased travel, the use of streets and reservations for the erection of reviewing stands and the loan of such Government flags and ensigns as can be spared for decorative purposes.

The army appropriation bill, which was the unfinished business at the opening of the session, was passed, after the amendment recommended by the committees of the whole on Wednesday, practically abolishing the hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., by cutting off the appropriation for its maintenance had been agreed to.

Mr. Woodman (Republican, Illinois) introduced a bill to amend the section of the revised statutes relative to neutrality, which prohibits military expeditions against people at peace with the United States. He proposed to add to this section the following: "Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be considered or construed as applying to or as applicable to the supplying of means for charitable purposes, for hospital stores and medicines, or for the relief of persons who may be ill, wounded, destitute or otherwise helpless or disabled."

The passage of the measure would allow the shipment of food, medicines and clothing to Cuba.

Mr. Burton (Republican, Ohio) offered a resolution directing the President to enter into negotiations with Britain to secure, if possible, the abrogation of the section of the treaty of 1817, which prohibits the building of war vessels at ship yards located on the great lakes. Half a dozen measures of local interest to the District of Columbia, and consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was begun in committee of the whole. Thirty-one pages of the 110 comprising the bill were disposed of without amendment, when, at 5 o'clock, the committee arose and the House adjourned until to-morrow.

SENATE—FRIDAY.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, by a practically unanimous vote this morning, ordered a favorable report to be made to the Senate Monday on the Cameron resolution recognizing the independence of the Republic of Cuba. A verbal change was made in the text of the resolution, so that as finally agreed to it reads as follows:

Resolved, etc., That the independence of the Republic of Cuba be and the same is hereby acknowledged by the United States of America.

Section 2—That the United States will use its friendly offices with the Government of Spain to bring to a close the war between Spain and Cuba.

Secretary Olney, who had been requested to appear before the committee by Senator Sherman, was present for one hour and laid before the committee all of the information in possession of the State Department. He stated to the committee very fully the policy of the administration and the reasons that actuated it in its present attitude towards the insurrection in Cuba.

Senator Cameron was instructed to prepare the report that will be submitted to the Senate Monday. As a matter of fact the report was written and was submitted to the committee this morning. It is looked upon as an exceedingly strong document, and goes into the diplomatic history of the United States very fully to show our policy in the matter of recognizing new States. Some few additions and alterations were suggested by other members of the committee, but the report as drawn by the Senator is practically complete.

There is an impression among some of the members of the committee that the President will veto the resolution, it being joint in its character and requiring the executive's approval or disapproval. If Mr. Cleveland should enter his veto, it is claimed that Congress will be able to pass the resolution by the necessary two-thirds vote.

HOUSE—FRIDAY.

This was private bill day in the House under the rules, and the request of Mr. Bingham, Republican, of Pennsylvania, for unanimous consent to proceed with the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill met objection. Thirty-seven private pension bills previously reported by the committee of the whole were passed and the rest of the afternoon was occupied in discussing five war claims bills, one of which, for the relief of Thomas B. Reed, a Pennsylvania soldier, was passed.

The report of the conferees was agreed to extending until ten days after the beginning of the next session the limit within which the joint Congressional Commission on regulations for the free use of alcohol in the arts and manufactures might report.

A bill to pay $5,000 to Flora A. Darling, widow of a Confederate General, for money alleged to have been taken from her at the time of her arrest on a steamer at New Orleans when traveling on a safe permit granted by Gen. N. P. Banks, was laid on the table, despite the favorable recommendation of the committee.

At 5 o'clock, under the rules, the House took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

HON. JOHN J. INGALLS.

The Brilliant Ex-President of the U. S. Senate to Visit Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala.—Hon. John J. Ingalls, Ex-President of the United States Senate, will visit Birmingham and deliver his great lecture at O'Brien's Opera House, Wednesday night, January 13. The consummate powers, brilliant wit and captivating rhetoric of this "wizard of the English language," makes his appearance a notable event in any city. His theme, as announced, will be "The Crisis." Some thrilling things will doubtless be said upon the present political complications and the threatened war with Spain over the Cuban matter.

The brilliant Kansan seems to have it in for the Populists. It is hoped after meeting Southern people the great statesman may love us more than he has manifested in the past.

One good trait makes a person good, but one bad trait dims the light of an otherwise good man.

The man who invariably whistles does very little thinking. But he keeps other people thinking, all the same.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Latest Dispatches From the National Capital.

WORK OF COMMITTEES.

Rather Suggestive Orders Issued to Naval Vessels—The Mississippi Outlet Considered by the River and Harbor Committee—Washington Hotels and the Inauguration—Other Matters.

Washington, D. C.—Acting Secretary McAdoo, of the Navy, Friday summoned the chiefs of construction, engineering and ordnance, Commodores Hichborn, Melville and Sampson, and ordered them to take whatever steps were necessary to expedite the repairs on all ships now in commission at the Atlantic coast navy yards. This action is taken, it is explained, in order that all available ships may be ready to rendezvous for drill purposes with Admiral Bunce's fleet at Hampton Roads not later than January 1. The chiefs were also directed to approve no changes or extensive repairs in ships for the present, as it was the desire of the department to get all the commissioned vessels away from the navy yards in order that urgent work may be prosecuted on other vessels which have been dismantled for thorough overhauling. This extra work at the navy yards is said to be made possible through the assurances given to Commodores Melville and Hichborn by the appropriation committee, before which they appeared this morning, in regard to the urgency deficiency item of a million dollars for naval work imperatively demanded. The required amount was promised, and the officers were told the money would be promptly placed at their disposal on their explanation that all work would have to be suspended at once and wholesale discharges made unless prompt relief was afforded.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED ORPHANS.

The full extent of the Armenian massacres is indicated in a report to the State Department by United States Consul Bergholdt, at Erzeroum, in which he says: The number of Armenian children under 12 years of age left orphans by the massacres of 1896 is 15,000, according to the estimates of the missionaries.

The question of what shall be done with these orphans is receiving the attention of the Christian world. The American board of commissioners has the question of creating orphanages and industrial institutions under consideration. German charitable or religious societies are preparing to establish orphan asylums and the British Ambassador at Constantinople has instituted a movement leading towards settling a number of widows and their children from the province of Erzeroum, on the Island of Cyprus.

In Erzeroum there are 180 widows with 700 children without means, and in Frzenigan 100 widows with 450 children and at Baitbourt 119 widows with 500 children. The widows of Baitbourt are in particularly distressing circumstances, not a male major remaining.

THE MISSISSIPPI OUTLET.

The House River and Harbor Committee gave a long hearing Friday to a delegation consisting of Messrs. Woodruff and Sanders, of New Orleans; Bravo, of Pittsburg; McDonald, of La Crosse; Mahoney, of Sioux City, and Ex-Governor Stannard, of Missouri, in support of the proposition requiring the engineer department to make a survey of Pass L'Outre, in the Mississippi river, to obtain an estimate of cost for the repair of the crevasses now existing there, with a view to an appropriation subsequently for that purpose.

It was explained that the Eads heirs, who are required under the original contract to maintain the depth required, twenty-eight feet, assert their inability to do so because of the crevasse, the delegation asserting on the other hand that navigation should not be endangered on this account.

The committee decided, therefore, that a hearing would be given at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to the Government of the Eads heirs before reaching a conclusion.

WASHINGTON HOTELS.

Reports having been circulated in Philadelphia and other cities to the effect that the Washington hotels had entered into a combination to charge exorbitant rates during the inauguration week, Chairman Bell, of the Inauguration Committee, authorizes an explicit denial of the reports.

Chairman Bell says: "I have caused diligent inquiry to be made of the different hotels, and I find the story to be absolutely untrue. So far as I can find no hotel proposes to charge more than the usual rates at such times."

All indications point to the largest crowd ever seen in Washington at an inauguration, and preparations are well under way for the entertainment and care of the visitors upon that occasion, and with the well known ability of Washington to properly handle large crowds, no fears need be entertained of extortion or lack of accommodations for all who may come.

THE SPANISH MINISTER.

In regard to the Cameron resolution in the Senate the Spanish Minister says, with considerable emphasis, that while certain sensational papers may be relied upon to publish alleged statements from him, he is confident that all sensible people will appreciate that he has declined and will uniformly refuse to be led into any discussion or criticism whatever touching a matter under the consideration of Congress. Such a matter he would not discuss privately under any circumstances, and he seizes this opportunity to warn everyone against statements on the subject which might be attributed to him, however indirect.

Ambition is the star that leads through life and stands still over the grave.

Fatigue of the Eye.

A star appears more distinct if one looks at a point near it than it does when looking at the star itself. This is due to what is called "fatigue" of the retina. When looking at an object we naturally focus that object on the most sensitive part of the retina and keep the image permanently there. Now, in the case of a star, the image is a microscopic point and covers only an infinitesimal portion of the retina, and the great strain on this portion produces immediate "fatigue." If we look at a point near the star, then, as the eye moves, the image travels over the retina and successive portions of it are called into play so quickly that "fatigue" is not experienced. It does not do to look at another star near it, for then the eye is kept fixed and "fatigue" at once ensues. To most eyes the Pleiades appear far more distinct when we fix our eyes on a blank space of the heavens near them than when we look at them directly.

Unusual Surgical Operation.

A quite novel surgical operation has successfully been performed at Parma, Italy, by Professor Camillo Verdelli, in the presence of all the physicians of the Parmese hospital and with very satisfactory results. The new operation was the washing of the heart. It was the first operation of the kind and Professor Verdelli employed the washing apparatus recently invented by Professor Riva. After making an operative incision Professor Verdelli first cleaned the pericardium of the patient, a 12-year-old boy, of the pus which had accumulated thereon, and then proceeded to wash the heart with a strong solution of soda biborate (borax). The operation was very successful, inasmuch as no further complication has arisen. The boy is now doing very well and is on his way to complete recovery. Professor Vardelli has received numerous congratulations for his success with the new operation from surgeons all over Europe.

Beggars in China.

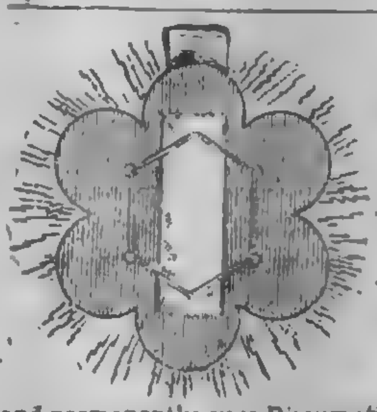
A Chinaman can live well upon five cents a day, yet there are more beggars in China than in any other country. They travel in great companies, men, women and children. The women suffer on this tramp, because their feet are bandaged. Crowds of young beggars follow carriagers for miles, howling for gifts. Professionals often multilate their children so they may excite sympathy. These swarms of beggars are the result of there not being enough work for them all. Each family takes care of its own poor to a great extent and the Chinese are not lazy, so it is the force of circumstances more than anything else that contributes to this state.

Revival of a Gallows Bird.

An Arab named Mohammed Ben Aidlel Benzerti was hanged recently in Tunis, Algeria, for killing four other Arabs. After the usual time the body was taken down and given to his relatives, who were preparing to bury him, when he remarked: "Before burying me, give me something to drink." They took him to a hospital and he is likely to recover.

First Wife—My man's just gone out wild as a hawk 'cos he can't find any money to spend on beer. Second Wife—Where do you hide it? Do tell! Mine knows everywhere 'bout the house. I can't hide nothin' from him long. First Wife—I always puts it in his own coat pocket, the one as hangs up behind the door, and he don't never look there for money.—Ally Sloper.

It is noble to bear like a hero the calamities of life, but it is ignoble to continue to suffer under them when the time has arrived to triumph over them; and only an intelligent view of each case can reveal when that time has arrived.



THE ELECTRIC STAR,

The most Wonderful Discovery Of Modern Times. Will Instantly Relieve and permanently cure Rheumatism, Sciatica, Atrophy of the muscles, Varicose Veins, Chilblains, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Dizziness, Melancholia, Chills and Fever, etc. If steadily worn will prevent many forms of disease peculiar to careless exposure, and at the same time vitalize and correct the entire system. Absolutely harmless, light and handy, it can be carried in the pocket. Never fails, never wears out. Nothing like it ever known before.

Price $1.00, by mail or sent C. O. D.

THE ELECTRIC STAR COMPANY,
1181-1183 Broadway, New York City.

REVOLVER FREE! WATCH FREE! 138 other articles. Cost nothing. Read our offer. Every person who cuts this out & sends [illegible] naming express office, will be entitled to 1 automatic, double action, S & W model 32 or 38 Cal. 5? hair revolver, 1 solid [illegible] Stem wind and Stem set watch, 1 elegant rolled gold [illegible] Vest chain, [illegible] triple silver plated tea spoons worth $1, [illegible] gold plated [illegible] cuff buttons [illegible] gold plated watch charm worth 75 c [illegible] diamond solid gold $2 Scarf pin, 1 doz. collar buttons, 100 Envelopes, 1 doz. high grade lead pencils, 1 lead pencil sharpener, 1 Pocket memorandum and 1 perpetual button hole Bouquet, all we ask in order to introduce our cigars is that you allow us to send in same package 50 of our finest [illegible] cigars valued at $4.95. Full examination allowed. Remember you only pay $4.95 and express for the cigars and the 140 articles named above are free if you don't consider the lot worth 3 times what we ask, don't pay a cent.

Winston M'f'g Co., Winston, N. C.

10 WIVES! The true and startling story of Hogan, who wedded ten wives. Full length illustrations. A 50c. book sent secure and free by mail for seven two-cent stamps for postage, etc. GEO. MALLORY, Kearney, Mo.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for Free package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR. S. PERKEY, Chicago, Ills.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

RODS For tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

WATCHES.—Up to January 1st we will sell to the consumer, at the manufacturers' prices, genuine American watches. Enclose stamp. Falls City Introduction Co., Louisville, Ky.

Second Hand

TUERK WATER MOTOR

For Sale.

Large size, cost $400, in use four months.

WILL BE SOLD AT A BARGAIN.

Apply at once to

Atlanta Newspaper Union,
ATLANTA, GA.

The Same Old Sarsaparilla.

That's Ayer's. The same old sarsaparilla as it was made and sold 50 years ago. In the laboratory it is different. There modern appliances lend speed to skill and experience. But the sarsaparilla is the same old sarsaparilla that made the record—50 years of cures. Why don't we better it? Well, we're much in the condition of the Bishop and the raspberry: "Doubtless," he said, "God might have made a better berry. But doubtless, also, He never did." Why don't we better the sarsaparilla? We can't. We are using the same old plant that cured the Indians and the Spaniards. It has not been bettered. And since we make sarsaparilla compound out of sarsaparilla plant, we see no way of improvement. Of course, if we were making some secret chemical compound, we might.... But we're not. We're making the same old sarsaparilla to cure the same old diseases. You can tell it's the same old sarsaparilla because it works the same old cures. It's the sovereign blood purifier, and —it's Ayer's.

Important Notice!

The only genuine "Baker's Chocolate," celebrated for more than a century as a delicious, nutritious, and flesh-forming beverage, is put up in Blue Wrappers and Yellow Labels. Be sure that the Yellow Label and our Trade-Mark are on every package.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

LOOK TIRED THIS MORNING?

WAS it your own baby or your neighbor's that drove sweet sleep away? It's all unnecessary. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, sweet to the taste, mild but effective, stop sour stomach and colic in babies, and make papa's liver lively, tone his intestines and purify his blood.

EAT CASCARETS LIKE CANDY

They perfume the breath and make things all right all around. At your druggist's 10c., 25c., 50c., or mailed for price. Address

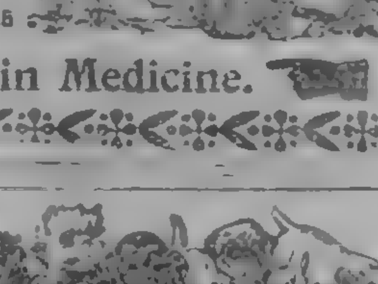
STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, CHICAGO or NEW YORK.

Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC
TRADE MARK.
CURE CONSTIPATION.

THE HOME TREATMENT

OF FEMALE DISEASES.

To assist modest women, who will not submit to humiliating examinations, in treating themselves at home, a book has been prepared which describes the symptoms of all female diseases and explains their proper treatment.



Copies of this valuable 128-page book will be mailed to any lady on receipt of five cents by

Rev. R. L. McELREE, St. Elmo, Tenn.

COST OF TREATMENT:

One Bottle McElree's Wine of Cardui,	$1.00
One Package Thedford's Black Draught,	.25
Total Cost,	$1.25

Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

100,000 Copies of Demorest's Magazine

THE increasing popularity of Demorest's Family Magazine, a popularity extending over thirty years, is ample proof that each succeeding year finds it improved in its vitality, beauty and attractiveness. There must be something in a magazine that increases its subscription list from 80,000 to 180,000 names (a clear gain of 100,000) in less than a year. Don't you think so?

READ THIS:

"Demorest's Magazine is a literary conservator of the artistic and the useful. Got up in America where it has enormous sales, it is the most remarkable work of the class that has ever [illegible] and compares [illegible] several English magazines [illegible]

"We have received another number of this wonderful magazine, and we find ourselves [illegible] iterate with greater earnestness the high encomiums we have already pronounced on preceding [illegible] We are not given to disparage unduly the literary and artistic publications which emanate from [illegible] in prose, but we are bound, in simple fairness, to assert that we have not yet met with any publication pretending to a similar scope and purpose which can at all compare with this marvelous [illegible] worth."—London Budget.

The American Bookseller says: "There are none of our monthlies in which the beautiful and the useful, pleasure and profit, fashion and literature are so fully presented as in Demorest's."

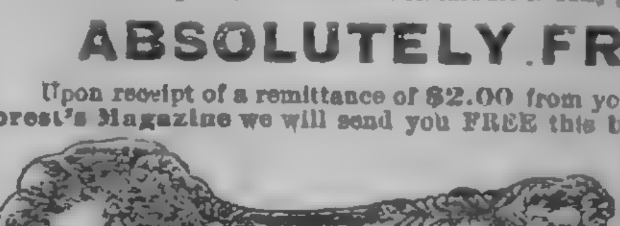
ABSOLUTELY FREE TO YOU.

Upon receipt of a remittance of $2.00 from you for one year's subscription to Demorest's Magazine we will send you FREE this beautiful Silver Sugar Shell as a premium, and, in addition, you will receive a copy of Van Vredenburgh's exquisite oil painting, "Our Bench Show," representing a "yard" of playful puppies—shown above. The picture is 10x36 inches and it is printed in 14 colors in the highest style of the plate-printers' art. You will say it is the cutest picture you have ever seen when it reaches you. It will be issued with the December number of the magazine.



This premium offer is only available to subscribers sending their subscriptions at once to us direct, using the order blank below, accompanied by a remittance of $2.00.

CUT HERE AND RETURN COUPON PROPERLY FILLED OUT.

Demorest Publishing Co., 110 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

For the enclosed $2.00 please send Demorest's Family Magazine for one year. Also the Silver Sugar Shell and Van Vredenburgh's oil-color, "Our Bench Show," picture offered by you as premiums.

Name..

Post Office..

Date.................... State....................

POOR MAN'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA

might well be the name of the 520-page book sent postpaid for 50c. in stamps by the BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE, 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City, for it serves the purpose of the great encyclopædias costing a hundred times the 50c. asked. It is completely indexed, making the information instantly available. With this valuable book you have a world of knowledge at your fingers' ends, and can easily supply a lack of early educational advantages. When reading, don't you constantly come across references you fail to understand? Isn't 50c. a small amount to pay for having such knowledge at hand? Do you know who Crœsus was, and where he lived? Who built the Pyramids and when? That sound travels 1125 feet per second? What is the longest river in the world? That Marco Polo invented the compass in 1260, and who Marco Polo was? What the Gordian knot was? The book contains thousands of explanations of just such matters as you wonder about. Buy it at the very low price of half a dollar and IMPROVE YOURSELF.

50c. 50c. 50c.

THE BANNER.

Clerk

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31 1896. NO 10.

Most of the patriots proved to be pirates.

Fools and traitors are a bad mixture in politics.

No more bonds forever, and down with banks of issue.

Organized greed should be met with organized manhood.

Bayard will soon come to America to represent England.

The Cuban question will likely hang fire until the new administration comes in.

Paper money based simply on taxes is the best form of currency we could have.

McKinley has not yet signified which one of the ready-made cabinets he will appoint.

Lying has become so common among [illegible] that it is scarcely noticed any more.

If the Republicans don't give us better times they won't know what hit them in 1898.

The men who advocate the free silver [illegible] will soon find themselves behind the procession.

The men who want to use the People's party for a door mat should be cast into outer darkness."

It was "a chance" that killed the Democrats; we may now see what it will do for the Republicans.

"Dook" Pullman has reduced wages [illegible] per cent in his shops. Wanted to get on a parity with prosperity.

A railroad commission is a farce; nothing short of public ownership will settle the transportation question satisfactorily.

We need a decrease of pauper immigration from foreign countries rather than an increase of the standing army.

The latest news bearing on the construction of McKinley's cabinet is that Senator Cullom is beginning to look like Lincoln again.

Why don't the workingmen profit by the example of the trusts and increase their wages in anticipation of the "wave of prosperity."

McKinley will have to settle the [illegible] question after all; he'll have to decide which "1" of the "16" men who want the office will get it.

Talk about "cold waves," what do we call that of November 4th? The "wave of prosperity" has not been able to chase the chill off of us.

It was very nice in Grover to issue that Thanksgiving proclamation the day after we knew we were to have a change from his administration.

The election returns show that a little wisdom and some patriotism would enable the people to down the money power, but no "hog party" can do it.

It seems that Grover Cleveland never learned the art of making money until he was elected President. It is a little strange the other presidents didn't learn it even then.

Great Britain bulldozes small nations and arbitrates with the large ones. Fortunately the South American Republics have a big brother Samuel to look after their interests.

The silver question will not be the issue in 1900. It will be talked to death by that time. Men who can see further in finance than free silver [illegible] long entertain an intelligent public.

The inter-state commerce law seems to be mis-named. It should be called "An Act entitled an Act to permit railroad corporations and United States [illegible] to run the government by injunction, and rob the people at will."

[illegible] autocrats will do well to remember that "nothing is settled until it is settled right." The slave power [illegible] in various ways to compromise the issue of chattel slavery, and protect their institution by legal enactment, but the people finally rose and shot it to death.

Cuba [illegible] slaughter pen which should be taken charge of by Uncle Sam, at once [illegible] enough to put a stop to the brutal butcheries now going on there. We are [illegible] as a nation from saying anything about the Armenian butcheries [illegible] the most cruel murders are being committed right under our nose. [illegible] the sugar trust is making money out of it, and the interests of the trust must not be interfered with.

Politics for Pay.

[illegible] George says that T. V. Powderly received $5,000 from Hanna for [illegible] the war against the labor[illegible]

Bourke Cochran is said to have received [illegible] for each speech he made.

[illegible] Arnold received a brigadier general's commission and $20,000. [illegible] was entirely confidential, but [illegible] satisfactory to all parties. Judas Iscariot was more moderate in his demands than any of the foregoing gentlemen in playing the traitor, [illegible] probably he received all he was worth, being that he received it in silver and at the same time encouraged the hemp industry.

THE TELEGRAPH.

WHAT EXPERIENCE SHOWS AND SHOULD TEACH.

In the Face of the Facts Presented by Professor Parsons After a Searching Inquiry It Is Nonsense to Permit Private Ownership States.

Prof. Frank Parsons, in his tenth installment of "The Telegraph Monopoly," which appears in the Arena for December, deals with the experience of England under both private and public ownership. The following lengthy extract will be found unusually interesting, and it is certainly convincing of the correctness of the people's party demand for government ownership of the telegraphs:

The experience of England constitutes a most powerful argument for public ownership of the telegraph. Up to 1870 the telegraph business in Great Britain was in the hands of private companies, and for many years complaints had been made of excessive charges, poor service and inadequate facilities. The companies pretended to compete, but in reality had an understanding among themselves which prevented the reduction of rates to a just figure. They were satisfied to keep the tariff up and allow each company to obtain such share of the business as its territory and facilities commanded.

In 1869 the tariff charged by the United Kingdom company, as well as by the older Electric, International, British and Irish Magnetic companies was:

1s. (24 cents) for 20 words up to 100 miles.

1s. 6d. (36 cents) for 20 words up to 200 miles.

2s. (48 cents) for 20 words beyond 200 miles.

3s. to 6s. for messages to Ireland.

In many instances these rates, high as they were, did not cover the whole transmission of a telegram. They only applied to the wires of a single company, and when a message had to be transmitted over the systems of two or more companies an additional charge, frequently of considerable amount, was levied.

These rates were scandalously high, and yet our own people at the time in question (1869) were frequently compelled to pay from five to six times as much for the same distance and the same number of words.

In 1865 the Edinburgh chamber of commerce called the attention of Lord Stanley, the postmaster general, to the telegraph question, showing that the rates were unreasonably high, the transmission unsatisfactory because of delays and inaccuracies, the treatment of the press unfair and many towns and districts wholly unprovided for. The Edinburgh committee gave careful consideration to three different remedial measures: (1) a regulated amalgamation of existing companies; (2) the establishment of entire free trade in public telegraphy; (3) the transfer of the service to the postoffice. Its conclusion was in favor of the last, but it agreed to recommend the appointment of a royal commission of inquiry prior to legislation.

Lord Stanley appointed Frank Ives Scudamore to "inquire whether the telegraph might be beneficially worked by the postoffice." Mr. Scudamore was a man of the highest character, thoroughly impartial and of very fine ability. He made a scientific study of the abuses of the existing service in England, the condition of the service in other countries, the benefits likely to result from a postal system and the difficulties and disadvantages that might attach to it. The result was that he came to believe in the postal telegraph, and in 1866 he made his report, a very able paper, conclusively showing the advantages of the present plan. In 1868 he made a supplementary report to Lord Stanley's successor, the Earl of Montrose, who transmitted it to the house of lords with a communication, of which the following is a part:

In the inclosed report and that which preceded it frequent reference is made to the manner in which the telegraph systems of Belgium and Switzerland have been framed and maintained by the postoffices of those countries. The example of the colony of Victoria might however have been cited with equal propriety, for in that colony the telegraph has long been worked by the postoffice and with such success that although the charges for transmission are high, the proportion of telegrams to letters is as high as in Belgium. There is indeed nothing new in the proposed scheme. Of its various parts each has been tried, and tried with success, either in Belgium, in Switzerland, in France, or in a British colony, and taking into account the greater wealth and commercial activity of the United Kingdom, I see no reason to doubt that the scheme, as a whole, will be equally successful here.

Your lordships will readily perceive that such a system, besides facilitating social intercourse, strengthening and multiplying the relations between the inhabitants of different districts and stimulating the growth of trade and commerce, will also strengthen the country from hostility from without and aid in the maintaining of law and order within the kingdom.

The chancellor of the exchequer, in moving for leave to introduce the bill, said:

It would be admitted as a general principle that the monopoly that had succeeded so well in regard to the conveyance of letters might be expected to succeed equally as well in a more rapid method of communication. I am not aware of any objection to monopoly in one case that would not hold good in the other. This country is behind others in the matter of telegraphic communication. The proportion of telegrams to letters is far less in this country than in Belgium or Switzerland. In 1866 the proportions were in Belgium, 1 to 37; in Switzerland, 1 to 69; in Great Britain, 1 to 121.

These figures show that we are suffering from high rates for telegraphic communication and inadequate facilities. If we were equally favored in the matter of charges, etc., the probability is that the proportion of telegrams would be largely increased. Our present system does not give satisfaction to the commercial world. A deputation from the Associated Chambers of Commerce waited upon the postmaster general and myself at the treasury to present a memorial on this subject. They complained of high rates, vexatious delays, inaccurate rendering of messages and the absence of telegraphic communication in whole districts. Under the present system of private administration there is little prospect of fair reduction in rates.

After speaking of the extortionate charges of the private companies in the paragraph already quoted, Postmaster-General Morley continues thus:

Not only were the charges high, but the systems were incomplete. It was in the nature of things that companies whose aim was to secure a profit for their shareholders should restrict their operations as far as possible to the principal towns. In the absence of an obligation to work the telegraphs as a national undertaking they naturally refrained from extensions to the smaller towns and villages or to districts remote from the chief centers of population, which could not be expected to yield a remunerative business. Thus several towns in England and Wales with from 3,000 to 6,000 inhabitants were without any telegraph facilities, being situated at distances of from five to ten miles from the nearest telegraph station. Where such towns were provided with telegraphic communication the office was, as a rule, situated at the railway station, frequently at an inconvenient distance from the center of the town.

In the large towns the telegraph offices were not well distributed. The offices of three or four companies were apt to be clustered together in the business center of the city, sometimes only a few yards distant from each other, while the suburbs and outlying districts were almost wholly neglected. When the inquiry of 1865 was instituted, the total number of places supplied with telegraphic communication by all the companies together was about 1,000, while the number of places having postal communication at the same date was 10,685.

The situation is thus graphically described by Mr. Scudamore:

By maintaining high charges as long as they could, by reducing those charges inch by inch, as it were, and only under pressure, by the confinement of their operations to important towns and by planting their offices mainly in the business centers of those towns the telegraph companies had brought speculative men, and speculative men only, to a free use of the telegraph. Whoever could make money on a turn of the market, whoever could advantageously place a few pounds when "Bumblebee" went below "Dulcibella" in the betting, whoever had it at heart to let Thames street know that there was a large take of herring at Wick, rushed cheerfully to the telegraph office and would have submitted to any inconvenience and paid any charge to get his massage through in time. But the general public, puzzled by a variable and complex tariff and disheartened by the distance of the telegraph offices from their doors, had got to regard the telegraph as a medium of communication which they might use in times of sore necessity, and then only, and to look upon a telegraph message with a feeling amounting to fear.

The parallel between the English telegraph before 1870 and our own system today is very striking. We have in an aggravated form all the evils the English reformers complained of and several additional ones of our own—boundless dilution of stock, enormous profits, telegraphic millionaires, monopoly of market reports, systematic ill treatment of employes, etc. England had abundant reason for revolt. America has still greater reason.

The press of Great Britain, as we have seen, demanded a government telegraph and persisted in discussing the subject in spite of the threatened stoppage of their dispatches.

The telegraph companies used every effort to prevent and impede the reform. The objections they raised were:

1. It was not the government's business to telegraph.
2. There would be a loss if it did.
3. The telegraph would be better conducted under private enterprise.
4. The government rates would be higher.
5. And the use of the telegraph would decrease.
6. The government service would be nonprogressive, no stimulus to invention, etc.
7. The secrecy of messages would be violated.
8. The telegraph would be used as a party machine.
9. The government could not be sued.
10. To establish a public telegraph would be an arbitrary and unjust interference with private interests. The companies had risked their capital in the new enterprise, and just as they were about to get their reward the government was going to take the business away from them. Private enterprise experimented, and the people wanted to steal the fruit.

These objections are very familiar. Our monopolists know them by heart and use them over and over, taking no notice of the answers to them no matter how many times they are refuted. It is easy to answer them a priori, and the overwhelming demonstration of their falsity by the actual experience of England ought to have buried them forever beyond the possibility of disinterment.

1. It is the government's business to transmit intelligence, and that business includes the use of the telegraph and all other appropriate means of transmission.

2. If rates remained the same, an increase of profit instead of a loss was to be expected by reason of the economies that would result from a united telegraph in combination with the postal service. The people could keep rates up and realize a large profit, or put rates down, thereby increasing the usefulness of the telegraph and taking their profit in the form of more and better service for the same money. They did the latter, and, as a matter of fact, they have saved, at the lowest estimate, $150,000,000 in twenty-five years. The telegraphing they have done would have cost them at least $150,000,000 more than it has cost, including expenses of operation, extensions, repairs, interest on the capital, water purchase and all.

3. It stands to reason that a servant appointed and paid by himself, and whose avowed interest and effort are to line his own pocket with the utmost possible "giltiness" consistent with his personal safety—it stands to reason that such a servant will not conduct your telegraph or any other business of yours as well as you can do it yourself or have it done by your own agent. As a matter of fact, the public telegraph service turned out to be vastly superior to the private telegraph service according to the universal verdict of the English people.

4. It was reasonable to expect that the government rates would be lower, because the government would work at cost and would, moreover, secure an absolute economy relatively to private corporations in the conduct of the telegraph. In fact, the rates dropped at once one-third to two-thirds, average one-half, and afterward the ordinary inland rate was again reduced almost one-half.

5. The use of the telegraph doubled the first year.

6. The government service has adopted new inventions and shown a progressive spirit in respect to employes as well as the service of the public.

7. There has been no complaint of violation of secrecy.

8. Nor the least suspicion of partisan use.

9. The government can be sued and is sued. Claims against the government are tried judicially the same as other claims.

10. Interference with private interests to accomplish a public good is not arbitrary and unjust; it is the very essence of justice and good government. The private interests of gamblers, saloonkeepers, opium sellers, shipowners housebuilders, powder makers, bone grinders, grain elevator men, etc., private interests both good and bad, are interfered with for the sake of the public welfare. Telegraph interests form no exception. The companies had already received large returns on their investment and would receive full compensation for their capital when the public took their plant—more than full compensation as it turned out.

The companies themselves knew enough to understand that all their pleas from one to nine were nonsense—mere scarecrows to frighten ignorant timidity. It is possible they might have put some faith in the tenth point.

Men who have long enjoyed the privilege of putting their hands in their neighbors' pockets may really regard an interference with their time honored custom as arbitrary and unjust. Kings and emperors have not been noted for recognizing the wisdom and justice of democracy. No matter how arbitrary and unjust a despotism may be, it will hurl the whole of ethics at any one who brings a suit of ejectment against it.

The merchants, the press and the people generally were not deceived by the outcry raised by the companies and a few conservatives who, not being able to distinguish between proper and improper extension of government functions, were fearful of any enlargement of public activities. The people knew, without reading the refutations of learned men, that the companies' pleas from one to ten were lies and sophistries; that their only real objection was the loss of an opportunity for unjust profits.

In 1868, as we have said, the chambers of commerce petitioned the commons, charging the existing telegraph system with extortion, error and inadequacy. Mr. Scudamore's reports and the committee's investigations gave overwhelming evidence of the truth of the charge and of the advantages of a national system. The press urged a change. The liberal leader, Mr. Gladstone, then as always anxious for the public weal and for that alone, took up the measure, bore down the opposition of the companies and secured the passage of a law (July 31, 1868) enabling the postmaster general to purchase the whole, or any part he thought fit, of any existing telegraph property. And in 1869 another act was passed giving the postoffice the exclusive control of the telegraph business.

On the 29th of January, 1870, all the telegraphs in the kingdom became an integral part of the postoffice. The government bought from the companies 77,000 miles of wire, with equipment, for $32,168,214, or $416 a mile. The lines had cost the companies only $11,000,000, and were really worth at the time of the transfer not more than $8,000,000. This was England's mistake. She paid at least four times the value of the lines, probably more. The French government put up 68,000 miles of wire, with equipment, for $65 to $66 a mile. When the acts of 1868-69 were passed, in spite of all the companies could do, they determined at least to make the transfer as difficult and costly as possible. It was easy to raise the value of stock in contemplation of a government purchase. Such a rise would be apt to take place to some extent even without manipulation. In some cases shares that were selling for $125 in 1866-67 realized the holders $400 when the lines were sold to the government. The shares of another company rose from $132 in November, 1867, to $259 at the time of the government purchase. In another company the shares rose from $30 to $133. And yet the companies did not always get what they asked by any means. The Northeastern railway company claimed £540,292 in compensation for its telegraph department, besides a large sum for interest. It was awarded in all £168,696. The Metropolitan Railway company claimed in all £438,000, and were awarded £51,907. These two instances out of more than twenty suffice to show the extent to which the fraudulent greed of the companies would have bled the country if it had had its way unchecked.

The government's first move was the rapid extension of the lines into districts hitherto unprovided with telegraph facilities, and the reduction of the tariff to the uniform rate of one shilling for twenty words, social or commercial, and seventy-five words press by day, 100 words by night, all irrespective of distance, a reduction estimated at one-third to one-half.

The result was a vast and immediate increase in the popular use of the telegraph. Social messages and newspaper traffic developed enormously. The telegraph became something more than an aid to speculation and began to be of use to the people.

In respect to adequacy the superiority of the English system is equally clear. It would not be fair to compare the number of offices or messages per square mile, for England is more thickly populated than the United States, but it is fair to compare the relation between telegraph facilities and postal facilities in the two countries. Great Britain has 20,000 postoffices and 10,000 telegraph offices, less than one-fourth of which are railroad offices. The Western Union (the Mackay offices are mostly needless duplications) has 21,000 offices (about three-fourths of which are railroad offices or situated at places inconvenient or inaccessible to the general public, such as stock exchanges, policy shops, etc.), as against 70,000 postoffices. The relation between telegraph and postoffice is therefore 1 to 2 in Great Britain and 1 to 3½ here, including the railroad offices, and one to 2.6 in Great Britain as compared with 1 to 10 in the United States, taking the commercial offices alone—that is, to every fourteen postoffices in Great Britain there are seven efficient telegraph offices, while in this country to every fourteen postoffices there are not more than four efficient telegraph offices, and, considering the commercial offices alone, there are over five to fourteen postoffices over the sea and about one to fourteen postoffices here.

Economy of Government Ownership.

By abolishing 590 presidents with their staffs (one would do)	$25,000,000
Abolishing the high-priced managers and their staffs.	4,000,000
Abolishing attorneys and legal expenses	12,000,000
Abolishing merely competitive offices, solicitors, etc.	12,000,000
Abolishing 5-7 of the advertising account which is incurred for competitive purposes	5,000,000
Abolishment traffic associations, which are employed to adjust matters between competing roads..	4,000,000
Exclusive use of short routes	25,000,000
Consolidation of working depots, offices and staffs.	20,000,000
Uniformity of rails, cars, machinery, etc., cheapening their manufacture, avoiding freight blockades, return of "empties" belonging to other roads, clerkage to keep account of cars and adjust divisions of earnings among the roads; by making simple, easily understood tariff, saving the time and labor of clerks and the public, by all the numberless little economies of a vast corporation under a single management, and no competitive warfare to waste its energies	15,000,000
By avoiding strikes and developing a better feeling generally	10,000,000
By abolishing the corruption fund used in legislatures	30,000,000
By abolishing the pass evil.	30,000,000
By abolishing unjust [illegible]	50,000,000
By having no rent or interest	285,000,000
By having no dividends to pay	82,000,000
By putting surplus in the people's treasury	52,000,000
Total	$661,000,000

General Miles wants an increase of the standing army in order to the more effectually protect the robberies of the sitting army.

The Republicans are pledged to international bimetallism. All right, let us have it that way.

MORGAN'S MELANGE

NOTES AND COMMENT ON CURRENT TOPICE.

Wendell Phillips' Parting Words—An Up-to-Date Chicago Judge—Gen. Miles Purpose with a Big Army—Other Matters.

When we study the conditions which surround us on every side, we appreciate the full meaning of the words of Wendell Phillips when he said: "When I die I wish but two words written on my tombstone: 'Infidel' and 'Traitor' —infidel to a church that could be at peace in the presence of sin; traitor to a government that was a magnificent conspiracy against justice."

* * *

Judge Foster, of Chicago, fined a woman $10, one day last week, because her rooster persisted in "crowing" before daylight, thereby disturbing the slumber of one of her neighbors. That "judge" is a dandy. If Juke Pullman had starved a few of his men to death Foster would rule that he had a perfect right to do so.—Ex. That "Jedge" is fully up to the spirit of our civilization. If there is anything that is calculated to disturb the equanimity of a "Jedge" more than anything it is a rooster crowing and waking him up before daylight.

* * *

The Caucasian is stirred up over the fact that General Miles recommended an increase of the standing army, and that the bankers are preparing at the same time to make a raid on the greenbacks. It asserts that these are the two danger signals which should engage the people's attention. It says: "Such an army cannot be needed to meet any foreign foe that might appear, for we can always depend on the patriotism of our people for volunteers to meet any such peril when it may arise. We challenge any man who favors this increase to give his reasons —a standing army is a dead expense to the tax-payers, and is opposed to the genius of our government."

* * *

"There can be but one purpose," continues the authority above quoted, "and that is to train a standing army to serve monopolies and trusts, and to shoot down any who may oppose the avarice and oppression of industrial kings and monopoly tyrants. The present army is big enough for that purpose, but the fact that they want it more than doubled shows that they have planned new and greater schemes of robbing and oppression." This apprehension is becoming pretty general among the people, and it is not without some grounds. People naturally connect military force and despotism. It would seem that our civil authority was sufficient for all purposes, but if it should fail, there is the militia and the great body of the people to supplement it.

* * *

The Caucasian, further discussing the danger of surrendering to the banks the absolute control of the currency, says: "The constitution provides that the government shall issue all money. It is a function of government—a function of sovereignty. To turn over to the banks the power to levy and collect taxes from the people would not be near as dangerous to our property and liberty as to turn over to them the issue of our money and the control of its volume. Put the country on the gold standard and then let the banks control all the paper currency and the speculators and bankers would have the country absolutely at their mercy. It is bad enough now to bring hard times to all except those who enjoy special privileges, but the avarice of these money sharks is not yet satisfied. If the bankers have this tremendous power, in addition to the power they already have, then they can oppress the people at will beyond all endurance, and they want a big standing army to put down any kicking on the part of an outraged people and to enforce the robbery of these shylocks at the point of the bayonet."

* * *

The plutocrats ridicule the idea of money without intrinsic value, but all their ridicule and tirades of abuse cannot wipe out the expressions of a long list of eminent authorities that have placed themselves on record against the intrinsic value theory. Among these was United States Senator Plumb, of Kansas, who, in a speech in the senate, in reply to John Sherman, said: "The senator from Ohio said in a brief speech which he made the other day on a minor clause of this bill, in a spirit of candor that did not characterize his speech of yesterday, that gold and silver had been created by the Almighty as money, and had been such from the beginning of time. 'What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.' If gold is money, then silver is money, and if gold to-day is any more money than silver it is because the law has made it so, giving to gold the exclusive money function and degrading silver."

"The American people are logical. Whenever it is settled that it is the law and not the designation of the Almighty, the fiat of legislation and not intrinsic value or a long course of business or a concensus of public opinion which constitutes money, they will not long halt on gold, or silver either, for that matter, but go at once on paper as the only logical and proper representative—as the medium of exchange." W. S. MORGAN.

With a man for President who looks like Napoleon, and one in the cabinet who looks like Lincoln, what do we need with a standing army? Come down off your perch, Miles. We can bluff our way through.

A ROGUE PLANT.

It Lies in Wait for Flies and Other Insects.

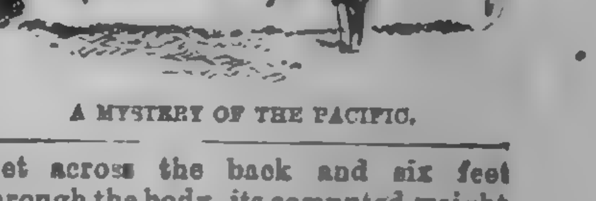
Here's the picture of a rogue of a plant that lies in wait like a highway robber for unwary flies and other insects and when they appear it swallows them up and their friends never hear of them again. It has been given the botanical name of sarracenia, but it is commonly called the pitcher plant, from the fact that its leaves are rolled into the form of pitchers, in which many a poor fly is caught. The flies are attracted to the plant by a sweet liquid which it gives off, and in their greediness they go a little too far and are killed. Botanists do not know exactly why the plant should wish a dinner of flies, but there must be some good reason for it, else its pitchers would not be so attractive. By experiment they have found that the plant will live just as well where the flies cannot get at it at all. So all the evidence would indicate that it is just a rogue, killing flies because it really enjoys the sport.

A BANDIT PLANT.

ODD AND MARVELOUS

The Colossal Recumbent Rock Figure on Easter Island.

The accompanying picture is from a photograph of a recumbent rock figure found on Easter Island, in the South Pacific. This island is about 2000 miles from the coast of Chile. As many as 500 figures, mainly busts, have been counted on the island. They differ considerably in size, from the pigmy of three feet to those of giant proportions, the largest measured being seventy feet long, 14½ feet across the back and six feet through the body, its computed weight amounting to 238,000 tons. The usual height of these wonderful busts is about twenty feet, having a weight of seventy-six tons each, by far the greater portion being about this size. Yet these huge masses of stone were not only moved considerable distances from the still existing quarries where they were sculptured, but were placed in an upright position on vast platforms of stone prepared for their reception, and were finally decorated by having the huge cylinders of stone placed on their heads, the whole indicating a surprising engineering knowledge and skill, recalling that exhibited by the ancient Peruvians in their mighty undertakings. The origin of these interesting antiquities is unknown.—Philadelphia Record.

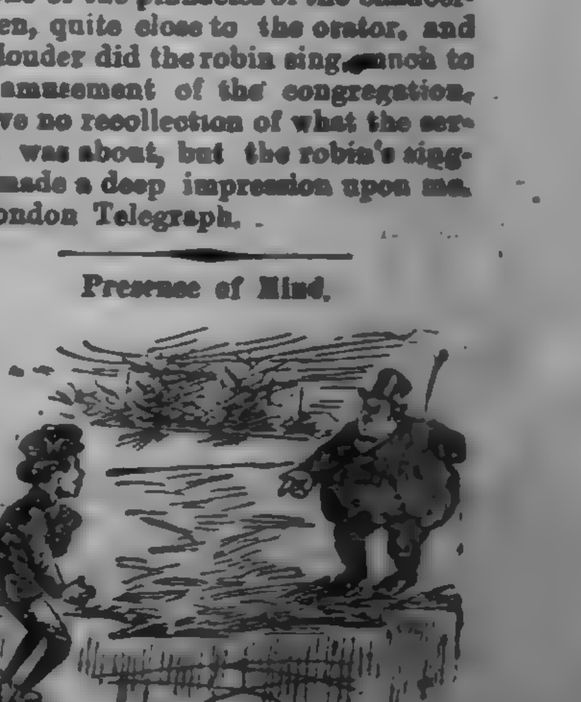


A MYSTERY OF THE PACIFIC.

The Pious Robin.

Here is a story of an orthodox robin. Some time ago I attended morning service in Ely Cathedral, where, during the prayers, a robin kept flitting about the building, joining occasionally in the service with a modest "chirrup." When the clergyman ascended the pulpit and began to speak, the robin deliberately perched himself on one of the pinnacles of the chancel-screen, quite close to the orator, and the louder did the robin sing, much to the amusement of the congregation. I have no recollection of what the sermon was about, but the robin's singing made a deep impression upon me. —London Telegraph.

Presence of Mind.



Irate Father—"Didn't I tell you not to go skating?"

Quick-Witted Son—"Stay where you be, Pop. The ice is awful thin." —Truth.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

Entered at the Post Office at Clanton, Ala., as Second-class mail matter.

Official Organ State Assembly K. of L. of Alabama

"Here shall the press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw.
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

SUBSCRIPTION, YEARLY - - $1.00

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

A HAPPY new year.

WRITE it 1897 to-morrow.

THE year passes away with rumors of war; we hope it will continue to be rumors only.

MAKE all your good resolutions to-day and hold to them until this time next year, when you can easily renew them.

THE latest report is that the gallant Maceo was not killed, but was badly wounded, and hidden away before the Spaniards could get hold of him; we trust the report is correct.

THE Commercial Bank of Selma failed yesterday, with liabilities about $300,000. The bank was an old established one and held in high estimation, and we are sorry it has succumbed to "returning prosperity."

Two years ago with much pleasure THE BANNER announced, on good authority, the marriage of Mr. Dave Cooley and Miss Mattie Wooley and exerted itself to the utmost in wishing them all imaginable joy. The announcement turned out to be unfounded and all our good wishes were thrown away. They were not lost altogether, however, and we carefully preserved them until the present moment when we again offer them with more added to the same happy young couple who were really married this time at the home of Mr. Milford Woolly, father of the bride, on Mulberry on Chrismas Eve. There is no mistake about it this time, because Rev. W. M. Woods tied the nuptial knot and tied it tight, too. There was also a large crowd present at the ceremony who afterwards celebrated the event in a most enjoyable manner. The young couple will make their home with Sheriff Cooley, who requires Dave's assistance in the shrievalty office. Once again we wish them a long and happy life. This is another instance of THE BANNER being up-to-date. We announced the marriage two years before the event.

ONE of the most awful calamities that has ever occurred in railroad history took place last Sunday morning when the accommodation train between Birmingham and Blocton went through the iron bridge over the Cahaba river and fell a distance of 110 feet, and without a moment's warning thirty souls were precipitated into eternity. Details of this terrible catastrophe will be found on the fourth page. The general opinion is that train-wreckers, fiends in human shape, displaced a rail with the result as before stated. It is hard to believe there can be human beings with such diabolical dispositions as to wantonly destroy innocent lives for any cause whatever. Unfortunately there are such monsters and it is well for the world when they are captured and destroyed. Every effort should be made by the railroad companies and the government to run these miscreants down and punish them as they deserve. Hanging is far too good for wretches who would remove a rail on a bridge 110 feet high—just think for a moment, about half as high again as the top of the tower to the new court house.

Our readers will deeply sympathize with the family of Rev. J. G. Lowrey. Mr. Lowrey lost a beloved daughther and two grandchildren in this horrible catastrophe while the unfortunate husband and father, Mr. Henry Hanbury, was pinned down in the wreckage and saw them burn up before his eyes without being able to move a hand to help them escape their terrible fate.

The Census of 1900 and the Question of a Permanent Bureau.

In view of the election figures much interest will attach to the result of the census enumeration which must be made a little more than three years hence. The preparations for that enumeration are under discussion. It is quite time that the plans for so colosial an undertaking should be well in hand. The best opinion upon this subject, both in Europe and in America, unanimously favors the maintenance of a permanent bureau, as distinguished from an organization temporarily created once in ten years. It is true that the actual enumeration must require the employment of a great army of temporary agents; but the director of the census should be a permanent official, and he should have in his office at Washington a staff of expert assistants and statisticians always at work. Most of the special inquiries which are undertaken every ten years in connection with the census, could well be distributed throughout the intervening years, so that there would be no lack of tasks o an important character to keep the bureau occupied. Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Superintendent of the Department of Labor, was authorized some time ago by Congress to draft a bill outlining the organization and work of a permanent census bureau. Colonel Wright has complied with this instruction, and his draft is now in the hands of the proper Congressional committee. The American Statistical Association and the American Economic Association, at their last annual meetings appointed representatives to confer as a joint committee upon this question of a permanent census bureau. This joint committee was made up of statistical experts and other gentlemen having a wide general knowledge of the subject in question. A unanimous agreement has been reached by the joint committee in favor of a permanent census bureau; and Congress has been memorialized to that effect. The statistical work of the Department of Agriculture might well be made over to such a permanent census bureau, and other statistical undertakings could from time to time be devolved upon the bureau as circumstances might seem to render advisable.—From "The Progress of the World," in January Review of Reviews.

"HOW NOT to Better Social Conditions" is the title of an article by Theodore Roosevelt in the January Review of Reviews. Mr. Roosevelt is permitted to publish a letter addressed to him a few months since by the Hon. Thos Watson, then the candidate for Vice-president on the Populist ticket with Mr. Bryan. This letter was occassioned by Mr. Roosevelt's article in the September Review of Reviews dealing with the Vice-presidential candidates. The letter is a most important an interesting contribution to what may be termed the personal literature of the last campaign; it puts its writer in a new light, and must lead to a thorough revision of the opinions about "Tom Watson" entained so generelly by his political opponents.

It is getting to be so costly a matter to the United States to pay all expenses of contestants in Congressional cases, and their salaries if successful, and in the mean time to pay the salaries of the men occupying the seats during the contest, that a bill to put a stop to this recently introduced in the House by Representative William F. Aldrich, of Alabama, himself a successful contestant at the last session, has attracted a great deal of attention.

"This bill," said Representative Aldrich, to a Post reporter yesterday, "is an attempt to prevent frivolous contested election cases coming before Congress for settlement. As the law now stands, and as the practice of Congress has been, the returned member retains his seat often until the last few weeks of the second session of his term. The contestee therefore receives nearly $10,000 in salary and allowances for mileage and stationary, amounting to perhaps to a thousand dollars more, and the salary and allowances are paid to the contestant when seated, thus burdening the United States with double expenses for the same services. In addition to this great injustice, it offers a premium for fraudulent election certificates.

"To show that the salary is an inducement to that end, I will quote the words of a prominent Democratic politician in my district, who said to me, 'Mr. Plowman will get the certificate, and as it took you more than a year to unseat Mr. Robbins, we are satisfied if we can hold Mr. Plowman in for that length of time.'

"Viewed in another light, it is exceedingly unjust to the party represented by the contestant to be deprived of representation in Congress for practically a whole term for which their member was elected. In the matter of post-office appointments, and changes which come close to and affect each community of the district, its voice is not heard, and the majority are deprived of representation."—Washington Post.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 29, 1896.

The Cuban situation, as far as these United States are concerned, becomes more serious each day. Just before adjournment for the holidays members of the Senate and the lower House were equally surprised to learn that with the Chief Executive alone rests the power to recognize a belligerent power. This fact was first stated by Secretary Olney before the Senatorial Committee and has since been embodied in the manifesto. He also urges that the insurgents have made no effort to establish any government and so cannot be recognized. Prominent men like John Sherman, Cameron, Garland and Vest hold an opposite opinion and much excitement prevailed just before adjournment.

President Cleveland has returned from his duck shooting jaunt.

The subject of increasing the salary of Congressmen from five thousand to seven thousand five hundred, is being discussed.

The Pacific Railroad Bill will be brought up January 8th.

Senator Allen's plan of having an Investigating Committee appointed by the Senate to look into the use of money during the recent election has found hearty support among the believers in silver. Senator Allen has expressed himself as ready to retire from the Senate to make room for Bryan if that gentleman should desire to accept the place.

The sentiment in favor of Hon. Thos. Watson being seated in Congress, grows daily.

Secretary Carlisle's report, although it has been somewhat anticipated in the President's message, is not lacking in interest. He reports for year ending June 30th, '96, revenues from all sources $409,475,408, expenditures $434,698,654, deficit $25,203,245. Much of the greater part of the estimated deficiency for the current fiscal year has already been incurred, and has been paid, leaving still in the Treasury on the first day of December a balance of $225,036,708, which, after deducting the gold reserve, is about $100,000,000 more than is necessary as a permanent fund to insure the regular conduct of the ordidary fiscal operations of the Government. From bond sales and interest, thereon, $111,170,376. Decrease in ordinary expenditures $4,105,852. Increase in receipt, $19,102,205. The revenues are classified as follows; Customs, $148,000,000; internal revenue, $150,000,000; miscellaneous, $20,000,000; postal, $89,793,120.

The pretended fight on the Chattanooga Pipe Trust goes on. The plant is being enlarged and is enjoying a great deal of free advertising.

The validity of the gold contract is being tested in many states. When alledged silver legislatures fail to legisiate against gold contracts the genuineness of their sentiment for the white metal is questioned.

The Populists of Leavenworth, Kansas, have asked for eleven of the offices that Governor-elect Leedy is to fill by appointment.

The necessity of a new political party containing the elements that voted for Bryan, being organized with a new name, is being widely discussed and conceded to.

A Bimetallic State Convention composed of Populists, Silver Republicans and Democrats is called to meet at Lincoln, Neb., January 2, 1897. The call is endorsed by the People's Party State Committee.

The Virginia Sun, a leading Populist paper of Virginia, has had to suspend. This is much to be regretted.

At the recent election two kinds of ballot machines were tested, one Rochester, New York, and the other at Worcester, Mass. Neither proved satisfactory, as many as two hundred votes failing to be recorded, but the manufacturers are to consolidate and hope to combine the good and discard the bad features of each, thus sesuring a machine that will insure honest voting, quick returns and large savings in hire of officers.

A. R.

50 lbs. of Coal

A day would keep your rooms warm in winter. But that small stove will burn only twenty-five. Hence, discomfort and misery.

A certain amount of fat, burned daily, would keep your body warm and healthy. But your digestion is bad, and you don't get it from ordinary fat-food. Hence you are chilly, you catch cold easily, you have coughs and shivers; while pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption finds you with no resistive power.

Do this. Burn better fuel. Use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. Appetite and digestive power will revive; and soon a warm coating of good flesh will protect the vital organs against the cold and the body against disease.

Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00
Book free for the asking.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

West Chilton Warblings

Christmas passed off calm and pleasant in these parts; but little fun for the young people; no parties yet, but a good many Xmas trees round about and an abundance of shooting and fire works, it seemed like every body was well supplied with gun powder.

West Chilton has been on a building boom sometime—building new houses and repairing old ones.

Mr. T. A. Gay has built a new store house on Steer Creek below old Bull's Bur and has opened up a big dry goods store and we may get a post office there. We have named the place Kinninghamtonville.

Mr. E. W. Bailey is building a new residence.

The head of the Jackson lumber company's railroad has become to be a desperate place, it now gose by the name of dismal hell. There is nothing but drinking, gambling, shooting and fighting out there all the time. A few days ago Jack Latheram shot and killed Oscar Temp out there near the same place where Joe O'Neal killed Mr. Malkom. O'Neal and Latheram have both escaped. The great cause of all the trouble out there is "wild cat" whiskey and bad women, and our officers ought to break it up. The two men that were killed were both good peaceable men.

Old Mr. Anderson Davis of Jones' Switch has bought the Dr. Jeffers house and lot in Plantersville and is moving there.

Rev. J. W. Cabaniss has moved to Plantersville.

Mr. John Martin of Jemison has been visiting his best girl near Valley Creek during Xmas.

Mr. Frank Perry and Miss Dovey Perry of Chadwick have been visiting friends at Valley Creek the past week.

Mr. Leon Latheram has a brood sow 5 years old that has brought 40 pigs and raised them all in 4 years.

There is a certain place on the Centerville road over in West Chilton that has become so badly haunted until people won't pass that way in the day time. There can be heard something like a storm or a heavy wind passing by, when at the same time there will not be wind enough to move a leaf. At other times there is a racket like a lot of coons or cats climbing trees but still nothing can be seen, and after night can be seen all kinds of red angry fires and lights there. This haunted place is just above William Prices.

Success to the BANNER and its Editor,

OLD MIKE.

* * *

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Consumption and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guarteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. per box. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

* * *

Maplesville Music.

Mrs. Cladia Paisley and family are here for a week's visit at the old homestead.

Mrs. N. A. Goodwin is in Birmingham with her invalid sister. Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. A. S. Foshee has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Parnell of Stanton.

Mrs. D. J. Watersworth of Stanton has been visiting friends here.

The friends of Wheler Foshee are glad to have him with them again.

Mrs. R. H. Martin was agreeably surprised Xmas eve by a visit from her brothers, F. D. Kelley of Savannah and W. D. Kelley of Selma, and Miss Mammie Hodges of Marion have visited her also.

We feel very grateful to Mr. Eusley Cooper for the hand-rail he made over Byrd's creek.

James DuBose is visiting friends here at his old home.

We had a most enjoyable Xmas tree on the 24th, both young and old seemed to aid in each others happiness. Miss Cora Smith added much to the enjoyment, by the excellent recitations of her school, which reflected great credit to their excellent teacher. To speak of the good performance of any would be invidious for this reason we cannot personate none.

A happy New Year to all our friends and specially to the reader of the BANNER.

SUBSCRIBER.

Send your name for a Souvenir of the Works of Eugene Field,

FIELD FLOWERS

The Eugene Field Monument Souvenir

The most beautiful Art Production of the century. "A small bunch of the most fragrant of blossoms gathered from the broad acres of Eugene Field's Farm of Love." Contains a selection of the most beautiful of the poems of Eugene Field. Handsomely illustrated by thirty-five of the world's greatest artists as their contribution to the Monument Fund. But for the noble contributions of the great artists this book could not have been manufactured for $7.00. For sale at book stores, or sent prepaid on receipt of $1.10. The love offering to the Child's Poet Laureate, published by the Committee to create a fund to build the Monument and to care for the family of the beloved poet.

Eugene Field Monument Souvenir Fund,
180 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy wont live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

L. & N. Change of Schedule.

To go into effect December 20.

Train No
2	arv.	Clanton	9:54 a.m
3	"	"	5:59 p.m
4	"	"	10:35 p.m
9	"	"	7:43 a.m
10	"	"	5:26 p.m

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruption, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by J S Johnson Jr.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court of W. H. Streck a Justice of the Peace for beat 5 of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against J. E. White out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said J. E. White I have levied on the following property, to-wit: One (1) one-horse wagon.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named J. E. White in and to the above described property, on

MONDAY, JANUARY 17, 1897,

during the legal hours of sale, at the court house door in Clanton, Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated this 29 day of December, 1896.

J. T. COOLEY,
Sheriff Chilton county, Alabama.

BUY THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

Do not be deceived by alluring advertisements and think you can get the best made, finest finish and MOST POPULAR SEWING MACHINE for a mere song. Buy from reliable manufacturers that have gained a reputation by honest and square dealing. There is none in the world that can equal in mechanical construction, durability of working parts, fineness of finish, beauty in appearance, or has as many improvements as the NEW HOME.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

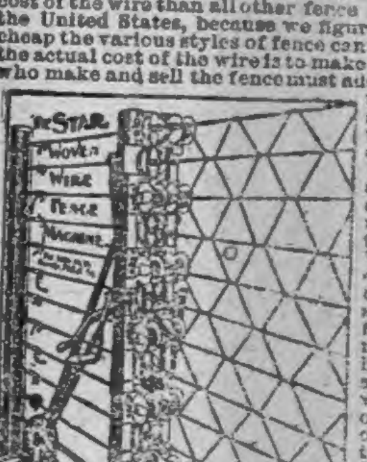
The New Home Sewing Machine Co.
ORANGE, MASS. BOSTON, MASS. 28 UNION SQUARE, N.Y.
CHICAGO, ILL. ST. LOUIS, MO. DALLAS, TEXAS.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. ATLANTA, GA.

FOR SALE BY

W. L. SAMPEY,
Clanton, Ala.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while those who make and sell the fence must add the cost of labor to manufacture and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We can sell you a Machine and enough wire to make 100 rods of the best Woven Wire fence on earth, horse high bull strong, pig and chicken tight for the same money that will buy 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. In one case you have the fence alone. In the other you have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to be your own fence manufacturer, with which you can make over 50 styles, including several styles of Ornamental yard or lawn fences. To show how the farmers of this country appreciate this machine it is only necessary to say that if all the machines sold by us were run for twenty days, each machine making 40 rods per day, they would make enough fence to go around the world, being an average of 80,000 rods or 1,250 miles per day. If all of the machines were run only 60 days during the year, making 40 rods per day each, they would make a grand total of 24,000,000 rods, which would make an average of 76,800 rods or 240 miles for every working day in the year. The combined product of all the Loom Fence Factories of the United States would not equal this. One cent isn't much. Invest it in a postal card and send for our Large Illustrated Catalogue, telling all about fencing. It may save you many dollars. Sent Free for the asking. Address, Kitselman Bros., Box 1095, Ridgeville, Ind.



TABER FELT BOOT CO.
FREDONIA, N. Y.
LARGEST MANUFACT'RS OF FELT PADS AND HOUSINGS IN THE UNITED STATES

GIG, COACH, BREAST
HOUSINGS
OUR SPECIALTIES.

Send for Our Catalogue and Price-List.
We want live Jobbers to handle Our Goods.
Liberal Discounts.

THE BANNER

THE LEADING PAPER OF CHILTON COUNTY.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and any of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Peoples Tribune (Birmingham)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading Magazine)	$1.50
People's Party Paper (Tom Watson)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50

For $1.25 we will send you The Banner and either of the following papers for one year:

Memphis Commercial-Appeal	$1.25
Birmingham State-Herald	$1.25

Job Printing Cheap at THE BANNER office
FIRST-CLASS WORK

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS, : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,
TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT
CLANTON, ALABAMA.

W. M. WILSON & BROTHER,

DEALERS IN

General Merchandise, Dry Goods, Groceries, Notions and Plantation Supplies.

AGENTS FOR PACIFIC AND SEA ISLAND GUANOS.
DEALERS IN FERTILIZERS AND ACID PHOSPHATES OF HIGH GRADES.
AGENTS FOR WHITE SEWING MACHINES.

CLANTON ALA

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS.

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertaker's Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

A New Clothing Store
And New Prices--Reduced to the Utmost Limit.

G. P. HAARDT

for many years with Pollack & Co.

Has the Finest Line of

Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats

To be found in Montgomery

Call and see for yourself at the New Clothing Store under Exchange Hotel 4 & 6 MONTGOMERY STREET

MONTGOMERY - ALA

CATARRH

is a more common and a more serious disease than most people imagine. Its cure depends upon constitutional treatment, not upon local remedies. V.V.V. cures catarrh because it purifies the blood, cleanses the secretory organs and brings the entire system to a condition of health and vigor. Composed entirely of health-giving vegetable remedial agents,

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

is a wonderful specific for all blood and skin diseases—scrofula, tetter, eczema, erysipelas, etc.—as well as rheumatism, malaria, liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, debility, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, second Monday in May, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

Clanton Cotton Market.

Price to-day 6 cents.

Bales received to-date:

Sampey	1855
Malone	992
Wilson	448
	3295

If you want a Piano or Organ we can sell you one at a low figure and on easy terms. THE BANNER, Clanton.

Mr. Durword Foshee spent Xmas with parents in Clanton.

Mr. Sam Gulihorn is in Montgomery this week.

Mr. Harvey Chandler went to Montgomery Monday.

Miss Tampa Cherry is among our pleasant visitors in Clanton this week.

Misses Woods, of Jemison, was in Clanton during Xmas week.

Last Friday night the "Kids" of our town enjoyed a most delightful entertainment, with refreshments, at the residence of Mr. J. H. Hunt.

The old reliable Capital City Insurance Company of Montgomery is represented in Clanton by W. L. Sampey.

Miss Rosa Thornton's school closed the 23rd, inst., and Miss Florence Gullihorn was awarded the first prize and Master Cleveland Giles the second.

Rev. W. B. Dennis preached his first sermon in the Methodist church here Sunday to a large audience.

Christmas day came on quietly, nothing very exciting until after every one had enjoyed a Xmas dinner, and with a rush a large crowd began to prepare for the "fantastic" parade, which was enjoyed by the whole town.

WANTED 1000 cross-ties. Apply to G. H. GREEN, Clanton.

Clanton was lively last Monday night—there were two entertainments, one at Mr. Eugene Evans, and the other at Mrs. Davis' boarding house, both were enjoyed very much by those who attended.

The Xmas tree last Thursday night at the Baptist church was a social feast for the Sunday-school children.

Mr. A. T. Williamson, of Montgomery, who is well remembered for his work here has returned and ready to do any painting, paperhanging, graining and kalcomining.

Mr. Will Callea is indisposed this week.

Mr. Charles F. Williams and Mr. Forrest Williams, of Comanche, Tex., is spending the holidays with friends and relatives here. Charles will return to Texas in about two weeks but Forrest has decided to remain in Chilton.

Mr. W. H. Smith returned to his home in Coosa, after spending some time with parents here.

Mr. Russell McDaniel, of Montgomery, spent Christmas with parents here.

Mr. Eugene Evans will entertain his friends this evening with an entertainment.

Mr. Charlie Merritt is Spending his Xmas holidays with parents in Clanton.

Mr. W. F. Culp is still on the sick list.

Dr. W. F. Middleton, after spending some time with parents here, returned to Texas last Monday morning.

The many friends of Mr. Bassen McMorries are glad to see him out on the streets again after a two week's spell of sickness.

Mr. Willie Perdew, of Greenville, is visiting relatives this week in Clanton.

Dr. V. H. Caine is enjoying a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sampey entertained a large number of friends at their residence Xmas night.

See W. L. Sampey about insuring your property against fire.

The J. R. Kemp place has been by rented by the family of Dr. J. S. Johnson Sr., and moved into this week. The Doctor returned from New Orleans, finding it did not agree with him.

Marriage licenses have been granted this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. D. C. Cooley and Miss Mattie Wooley; Mr. James Harrell and Miss Bettie Horton; Mr. Willie Johnson and Miss Lula Mims; Mr. Joseph Smitherman and Mrs. Missouri Lewis; Mr. C. J. Littlejohn and Miss Viola Langston; Mr. V. J. Gragg, Jr., and Miss Viola Rutherford; Mr. W. E. Thompsonand Victoria Rutherford Coloren. Joe Crosby and Carry Davis; Ed Owen and Olie Bailey; Aaron Cooper and Lizzie Flowers; Will Commins and Birdie Hill; Frank Allison and Camilla Cobern.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health...... Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Simonton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted! I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

MONTGOMERY

Is one of the largest inland cotton markets in the world, and one of the greatest distributing points for Dry Goods and Groceries south of the Ohio river. If you intend carrying your

COTTON

there go to

MARKS & GAYLE

WAREHOUSEMEN

where the

Best Appointed Wagon Yard

in the city will be

FREE

to you the year round. This wagon yard is in the heart of the city. Separate rooms for white and colored. Plenty of water and stalls.

$1800.00
GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$100.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential.

Address

JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO.,
Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents,
618 F Street, N. W.,
Box 385. Washington, D. C.

Reference—editor of this paper. Write for our 50-page pamphlet. FREE.

ROBERT H. KNOX,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

CLANTON, ALA.

Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP

W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING

In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.

HOT AND COLD BATHS.

MERRITT'S NEW BUILDING CLANTON

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Pension Warrants in favor of Confederate Soldiers Widows for 1896 have been sent to me by the Auditor, and are now ready to be delivered. R. M. HONEYCUTT,

STRAYED on Nov. 16th, one black horse mule, medium size, tolerably old, thin in order. A liberal reward offered for the mule. Apply to Mrs. Sarah Mahan, 6 miles east of Stanton, Ala.

STRAYED One small mouse colored mule striped legs. Strayed Oct. 16. A liberal reward offered. Return to Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., Clanton, Ala.

SUBSCRIBERS receiving their paper with a blue cross (X) mark on it will understand their subscription has expired and will oblige by renewing. Kindly mention to your friends THE BANNER costs only One Dollar per year, or Fifty Cents for six months.

State Alliance Notice.

Dudleyville, Ala. Nov. 23, 1896

County Secretaries that have not received minutes of the last State meeting will receive them by dropping me a card notifying me of their failure to receive the same.

J. W. JACKSON,
State Secretary.

* * *

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

—FOR—

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or Any Head or Throat Trouble.

DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathing, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE CURES IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when CUSHMAN'S INHALER will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Companion! $5.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No sickening or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli." SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Kesley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off." MOTTVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 21, '95.

I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I tried it.

T. DOUGLAS MORTON, KINGSTON, N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried. H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price. Write for Book on Menthol and testimonials. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., Vincennes, Ind. or No. 324 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

PORTABLE SODA FOUNTAINS

$35 to $80

Complete, Ready For Use.

30 Years in Use all Over the World

No Generators or Extras. Operated by a child. Will stand by any $4000 Gas Fountain and sell five glasses to its one.

CHAPMAN & CO.
MADISON, INDIANA.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS, DESIGNS, COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

Cushman's Menthol Balm

Is the safest, surest, and most reliable remedy for

CUTS	SALT RHEUM	CHAPPED HANDS
BURNS	ULCERS	FROSTED FEET
BRUISES	ITCH	RINGWORM
SCALDS	ERYSIPELAS	AND OLD SORES.

Specially Recommended for PILES.

Quick to Relieve Pain and Reduce Inflammation. Guaranteed to give satisfaction; when you need an ointment, be sure to get Cushman's Menthol Balm. Do not accept anything else as being just as good. This Balm is the Largest Box of Ointment and the best on the market.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists.

CUSHMAN DRUG CO.
VINCENNES, IND. or 324 Dearborn St., CHICAGO.

TEACH YOURSELF TO WRITE SHORTHAND!

How? Study the Manual of Phonography, by Benn Pitman and Jerome B. Howard. A perfect self-instructor. Over 300,000 sold. Sold by all booksellers, or we will send it by mail, with the Phonographic Reader and the Phonographic Copy Book, for $1.35, cloth, or $1.15, boards.

THE BENN PITMAN SYSTEM

has for 43 years been the standard. Called by the U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. Full information and complete catalogue, free.

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 23 years, at wholesale prices, saving them the dealers' profits. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Top Buggies as low as $35. Phaetons as low as $66. Spring Wagons $31 to $50. Send for large Catalogue.

No. 3 — Harness. Price $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

No. [illegible] — with lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $[illegible]. As good as sells for $[illegible].

ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., W. B. Pratt, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18,688.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., December 10, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 23rd, 1897, viz.: Emmett W. Headley Homestead entry, No. 26,208, for the e½ of ne¼ section 20 tp 21 north of r 13 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joseph Hayes, of Maplesville, Ala., Wiley Ramsey, of Lily, Ala., Simon Clark, of Maplesville, Ala., James Hayes, of Maplesville Ala.,

H. PURCELL, Register

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 18597.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 21, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before The Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 2nd, 1897, viz.: Marry Dennis, widow of Daniel B. Dennis, H. E. No. 23,671, for the s½ of Fraction (A), Fraction (B) of section 25 Tp. 21 n R 16 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz.: William N. Pierce, James S. Jones, John L. Howard, Pinkney M Jones, all of Burwell, Ala.

H. PURCELL, Register

THE WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA .... FOR 1897

It will answer any question you may ask it.

"The Standard American Annual."

NEARLY 600 PAGES, OVER 1,500 TOPICS TREATED.

A COMPLETE statistical and political history of the United States. The results of the Presidential election accurately compiled. Every fact of value that human knowledge can require. A reference library boiled down!

25c. POSTPAID TO ANY ADDRESS.

No American who wishes to know his country can be without it.

Ready Jan. 1, 1897.

THE WORLD,
Pulitzer Bldg.,
New York.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST —IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER

Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters 25c. at all druggists

COLUMBIAN PRIZE WINNERS.

CONOVER PIANOS

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS.

WERE GIVEN HIGHEST AWARDS

At the World's Exposition for excellent manufacture, quality, uniformity and volume of tone, elasticity of touch, artistic cases, materials and workmanship of highest grade.

CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION FREE.

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.
CHICAGO, ILL.

LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS AND ORGANS IN THE WORLD.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE

Monthly Illustrated

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments completes the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Send 10 Cents in Stamps for Specimen Copy

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York.

Single Copy, 25c.: Trial (five months), $1.00: Year, $2.50.

JOB PRINTING AT THE BANNER OFFICE.

DeLOACH

Variable Friction Feed Saw Mills, Planers and Matchers,

DeLoach Corn and Flour Mills, Turbine Water Wheels, "Hungry Elephant" Baling Press, Engines and Boilers.

MILL MACHINERY AND GEARING OF ALL KINDS.

SAW REPAIRING a specialty. WORK GUARANTEED.

FRICTION causes nearly all the trouble in life, and more especially in machinery. Our VARIABLE FRICTION as applied to Saw Mills and Planers enables the operator to take just what he needs and no more. Warranted to yield a capacity twenty per cent. greater than the old style with same power.

97 Saw Mills sold in one month proves its wonderful popularity, and they go to all parts of the world.

The DeLoach Variable Friction Feed Planer Matcher and Moulder beats them all

Write at once for large illustrated catalogue.

DeLoach Mill Mfg. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

168 Washington St., New York City, and 111 S. 11th St., St. Louis, Mo.

P. P. P. LIPPMAN'S GREAT REMEDY BRINGS HELP TO ALL!

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. R. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnansville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a great many cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

DRS. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

LIPPMAN BROS., SOLE PROPRIETORS, Lippman Block, SAVANNAH, GA.

For sale at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store.

Russia's Alaskan territory as approved by Great Britain included a strip twenty miles back from the shore line. Russia ceded that right to the United States on payment of $7,000,000. Now comes England and says that the twenty-mile strip must be measured from the outermost boundary of the shore islands. This is a violation of both the letter and the spirit of the existing treaties.

There are two things men don't enjoy—kissing a girl through her veil, or the visits of kin.

Advice to young writers is the burden of many a paragraph and article. The wisdom of the earlier authors also ought to be remembered. It was a learned woman of the tenth century who wrote these words, which literary aspirants may well remember: "I am fearful of appearing greater than I am, being perplexed by two things, both of which are wrong, namely, the neglect of talents vouchsafed to one by God, and the pretence to talents one has not."

People are very lenient with eccentricity until it takes the form of long finger nails.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

This beautiful sunshine is Heaven's gift, alike to the just and unjust.

Dobbins' Electric Soap has been made for 29 years. Each year's sales have increased. In 1896 sales were 2,047,620 boxes. Superior quality and absolute uniformity and purity, made this possible. Do you use it? Try it.

Sometimes we get to the turning in the long lane before we know it.

Piso's Cure cured me of a Throat and Lung trouble of three years' standing.—E. CADY, Huntington, Ind., Nov 12, 1894.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething softens the gums, reduces inflamation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Life

Is misery to thousands of people who have the taint of scrofula in their blood. For this terrible affliction there is no remedy equal to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization. On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under 7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

THE ELECTRIC STAR.

The most Wonderful Dsicovery Of Modern Times. Will Instantly Relieve and permanently cure Rheumatism, Sciatica, Atrophy of the muscles, Varicose Veins, Chilblains, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Dizziness, Melancholia, Chills and Fever, etc. If steadily worn will prevent many forms of disease peculiar to careless exposure, and at the same time vitalize and correct the entire system. Absolutely harmless, light and handy, it can be carried in the pocket. Never fails, never wears out. Nothing like it ever known before.

Price $1.00, by mail or sent C. O. D.

THE ELECTRIC STAR COMPANY,
1181-1183 Broadway, New York City.

FREE REVOLVER FREE! WATCH FREE! 138 other articles. Cost nothing. Read our offer. [illegible]

FREE

ADDRESS WINSTON MFG. CO., Winston, N. C.

Tetterine...
relieves you of all skin disease. "Blood purifiers" relieve you of your ...Cash...
That's the difference.
1 box by mail for 50c. in cash or stamps.
J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.
It Cures all Skin Diseases.

10 WIVES! The true and startling story of Hogan, who welded ten wives. Full length illustrations. A 50c. book sent secure and free by mail for seven two-cent stamps for postage, etc. GEO. MALLORY, Kearney, Mo.

Am. N.U. No.53. 1896.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A BIT OF LIFE.

A maiden sat within the door
And sang as many times before.
A man to daily toil passed by,
No love nor pleasure lit his eye,
But when he heard the merry song
He whistled as he went along.

A woman by the window wept
For one who in the churchyard slept,
But when upon her hearing fell
That tune she knew and loved so well,
The flood of burning tears was stayed,
And soon a song her lips essayed.

Her neighbor heard the tender strain,
And softly joined the sweet refrain.
Thus, all day long that one song bore
Its joyousness from door to door.

—Clara J. Denton, in Ladies' Home Journal.

A JUMP FOR FREEDOM.

OH yes, a steady lot, us drivers? Well, we have to be, there's no choice in the matter. Driving wants a clear head, and a man who can make up his mind what to do in a moment. The majority of people don't half realize the work there is to do, or the responsibilities of the "foot-plate."

I often think, myself, the difference there is between us chaps and the captain of a Channel boat. I used to think of it more when I was on the "Sou'-Western," running the Continental train to Southampton. Maybe I had a couple of hundred lives in tow; but I'll venture to say very few of them thought of the man who had them and the train in sole charge, for though the fireman's along with you, the driver is responsible for everything, including him. Yet when the passengers stepped aboard the Channel boat, if they got a glimpse of the captain they'd look at him wiih a kind of awe.

I don't say all this out of jealousy, but I've often thought if we had a uniform, with gold lace round our caps and collars and an engine worked on our shoulders, folks who were going a long journey would think more of us, and say: "That's our driver," just as you hear them remark "That's our captain."

Still, as I say, I wouldn't change. There's a charm about the "foot-plate" and a pride in your engine that only a driver knows. Why, I've seen men get quite affectionate over a favorite engine, and almost cry when they were changed to another. Adventures? Well, the life's full of adventures, more or less; not very interesting to the general public, perhaps, but exciting enough to us. Stop, though. I can tell you one adventure I had years ago, which will interest you—about the most remarkable thing that ever happened to me, and about as curious an affair as you could find in the history of the line, I reckon. It was while I was on the Sou'-Western, and before I became a regular express driver.

Before you can quite understand it, I must tell you something about the line itself. From Clapham Junction to Hampton Court there are four lines of rails, two of them used for up and down "fast" trains, and the others for up and down "slow." You have the same sort of thing on some of the other lines; the London and Northwestern, for instance, has four lines as far as Roade, beyond Bletchley, only they are worked differently to the South-western.

The London and North-Western run their up and down fast trains on the two left hand lines of rails from Euston, and the up and down slow on the two right hand, so that, when two trains are going in the same direction there is always a line of metals between them. But from Clapham to Hampton Court Junction the outer left hand rail is used for slow, and the next to it, the inner left hand, for fast, the outer right and inner right being used for up-slow and fast respectively. The "up-slow" extends all the way to Woking, but this has nothing to do with my story.

Thus, you see, if one train passes another going in the same direction, the trains are close together. Sometimes I have known two trains travel alongside each other at the same rate for two or three minutes, and more than once I have spoken from my engine to the driver of another train, and given or received a bit of 'baccy when we were going at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour. The Northern system is generally considered to be the better of the two, but the South-Western still sticks to the other plan.

One day, in the winter of 188—, there had been a special cheap excursion from Portsmouth to Waterloo; I forget what the occasion was; but, anyhow, I was detailed on duty to take this train back to Portsmouth. We were to start at 9.27, and as far as Hampton Court Junction to run on the outer, or slow, line. The last train before us was the nine o'clock, so you see we expected a clear run. We were not to stop anywhere before reaching Portsmouth.

The train was a heavy one, as a good number of people had taken advantage of the excursion, and it seemed that we should hardly get off to time. As a matter of fact, however, we were only two minutes late in starting, and were soon bowling away merrily towards the south.

The boat express to Southampton leaves Waterloo at 9.35, and runs from there to Basingstoke without a stop, traveling to Hampton Court Junction on the fast line. We had just passed Ryan's Park when I heard the approaching roar of the express coming down behind us. We were traveling a good forty miles an hour at the time, and the other train began to pass ours very slowly. Presently the express engine was alongside ours, and the driver sang out a cheery "What ho! mate," as the two "cabs" came together. Creeping gradually past us, the carriages of the boat train became visible, and as I glanced at them I could distinguish the passengers plainly. Five coaches had already passed us, when I stood well on the left-hand side of the foot-plate, farthest from the other train, to allow my fireman to perform his office.

At this moment my engine put on a little spurt, and the two trains were running almost exactly at the same pace, the other just slightly gaining. I happened to glance over my shoulder, when, to my astonishment, I saw a man in the other train deliberately opening the door of his compartment, which was just drawing opposite to the "cab" of my engine. Before I could recover from my surprise he had stepped out on the footboard of the carriage, and in another second he sprang upon the foot-plate of my engine, clutching at the rail on the cab, while the door of the carriage he had left, obeying the motion of the train, shut with a slam.

In an agony of terror, my mate and I seized him and dragged him into a position of safety, while the other train spurted forward and passed us. For a moment or two neither of us spoke. I was the first to recover my presence of mind, and the habit of duty mastered my curiosity for the instant.

"Hold on here," I shouted. "Jim, fire her up, man; wait till we get through Woking—then we'll see to him. Steady, sir! Keep over in that corner, please, and thank Providence you're not a dead man."

"Mad, I should think," said my fireman, as he set to work again shovelling on the coals, while I riveted my attention to the mass of red and green lights we were ever and anon approaching and passing.

At Hampton Court Junction we were switched on to the "fast" line, following the boat-express by about six minutes, and in half an hour or so we were through Woking, and then I turned to the stranger. He was a young man, clean shaven, and well dressed; deadly pale and trembling, clutching hard at the support. The foot-plate's a bit shaky to a novice.

"Are you mad, sir? Do you know you've had a fearful escape? What, in the name of all that's wonderful, do you mean by it?"

"N-no; I'm not mad. I—I was forced to do it."

"Forced to do it? Why, you were alone in the carriage, as far as I could see."

"Yes, yes, I know that. But I was desperate. I'll explain everything."

"Wait a minute or two; I can't attend now. Tell me when we're through Guildford."

How he started as we entered the Guildford tunnel just beyond the station! I thought he'd fall at first, and my mate had to hold on to him for a minute. When we were clear of the tunnel, I asked him for his explanation.

"I wanted to escape," he said, "and it was the only way."

"Escape? Who from? The police, I suppose? Well, don't you think you've done that, my friend?"

"No, no, no! Not from the police. I'm not a criminal. Listen, and I'll tell you. I've got mixed up with a terrible secret society—a set of people composed of the very worst sort of Anarchists—men of several Nations. It would be too long a story to tell you how I came to join it, but when once among such people, there is no drawing back. We were pledged with the most awful oaths to secrecy, and terrible penalties were ordained for those who proved traitors. I would have given anything to set myself free, but it was impossible.

"Well, one evening last week we held a meeting to determine the performance of an awful act. I can't tell you exactly the truth, but I will go so far as to say it was the assassination as a certain great personage on the Continent. We drew lots, in order that the assasiin might be chosen. The lot fell upon me. In vain I begged to be excused, the others were relentless, and the president said to me:

"'George Felton, you have sworn obedience, and obey you must. The lot has fallen upon you, and you must perform the deed. If you refuse, or if you even hesitate, there is only one penalty, and that you know. It is death, and it is useless for you to try to escape from it. This is how you will proceed: Until Thursday you will be carefully watched. The evening of that day you will take the boat-train via Southampton and Havre for Paris. You will travel by that route because it is the less frequented. You will go absolutely alone, but every step you will be watched. The "brethren" will be posted all along the line of route. At Waterloo two of the men will watch you into the train. At Basingstoke two others will keep their eyes on you while the train is stopping there. At Southampton you will be watched on board the boat, and the same thing will happen at Havre and Rouen, your only stoping-places. At Paris you will be met by two comrades, who will keep you in view until the final arrangements have been made, when you will be told how to act. So do not think to escape, as every movement will be watched.'"

The train flew on; my mate and I were interested, as you may well guess. He paused for a moment to allow of the engine being coaled once more, then I said:

"But you might have stopped the train by pulling the communicator, and—"

"I'm coming to that. I had thought of trying to escape thus, but just as the train moved out of the station a little note was thrown in at the window by a 'comrade,' who had been watching me. I opened it and read as follows: 'We never thought the other night that perhaps you might try to escape by stopping the train en route and jumping off. In case such an idea has entered your head, you may as well know that the "brothers" are on the train. You know what that means. You are helpless. Be brave for the sake of the "cause."'"

"Have you got that letter?" said the fireman.

"No; I tore it up. Well, I tell you, I was desperate. I had half made up my mind to jump and risk it, when we gradually began to pass your train. I was alone in my compartment, and could see the well-filled carriages close to me. I sat looking at them mechanically, when the idea suddenly seized me, and I asked myself the question: 'Why shouldn't I change trains?' By this time I was opposite to the guard's van in the front, and there was not a moment to be lost. It was too late to try for that when I opened the door, and my only course was to jump on to your engine. Thank God, I did so safely!"

"Aye, you've had a lucky escape, and you may well thank God. Well, what's to be done now?"

"Where are you bound for?"

"Portsmouth."

"Do you stop anywhere first?"

"No."

"Well, look here. Can't I slip off on the outer side as we come into the station?"

"I don't know so much about that. You've come on the foot-plate uninvited, and you ought to give an account of it to the authorities. If I let you get off without, I'm liable for a row myself. Besides, how are we to know your story's true?"

"Before God I swear it's true. And no one need ever know I was here. I'll make it well worth your while. Besides," he added, piteously, "it's my only chance. When they know I've escaped they'll search high and low. If this isn't kept quiet they'll know about it before I have the start of them, and that means certain death. I couldn't escape. As it is, I've got money enough to get well out of the country before they know."

Well, it seemed rough enough on the poor chap, but my mate stuck out against letting him go. I argued the matter out with him as well as I could, and he was beginning to come round to my point of view when I suddenly exclaimed:

"Look out, mate, there's a block at Petersfield."

The distant signal was shining with a red light instead of a green, and we put on the brakes until the train was almost at a standstill.

"For God's sake, let me get off," begged the stranger.

My mate and I looked at one another. The train came to a stop close to the signal.

"Don't refuse me. See here," and he held out five sovereigns and literally pressed them into my hand. I looked at Jim again. He nodded.

"All right, get off and keep quiet till we've gone on. Good luck to you. Here, I don't want your money."

But he was gone in a moment. Then the semaphore arm fell with a crash, the green light shone out, and we started once again; nor did we stop till we had reached Portsmouth. Later on, my mate and I talked the matter over between us, and agreed that we would not mention it to anyone, as it was better for all that it should be kept quiet. Then I offered him half the money.

"No," said he, "I won't take it. If his story's true, it's something like the price of blood. They must have given him the cash for his journey and expenses."

I hadn't seen it in that light.

"Well, mate, I believe you're right. I never thought of that. I shan't touch it either. I couldn't bring myself to do it. But what shall we do with it?"

Finally, we agreed to send it anonymously to a railway charity, and the next morning we did so.

Two days after that, I was off duty, when the fireman came round to my house, with a curious expression on his face and a newspaper in his hand. "Read that," he said, quickly pointing to a paragraph. I read as follows:

"MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A CRIMINAL.

"Oh Thursday evening last a strange occurrence, the facts of which are unknown, must have taken place somewhere on the main line of the Southwestern Railway between Waterloo and Basingstoke. Our readers will remember the case of embezzlement and forgery at the head offices of the 'Amalgamated General European and Colonial Exchange,' a forgery on a large scale, in which the under cashier, Charles Winfield, a clever, and unfortunately well-trusted young man, was deeply implicated. Winfield, by some means, managed to escape arrest and the police have been assiduously following his track since. On the evening in question Detective Baxter, of Scotland Yard, recognized Winfield in a first-class compartment of the 9.35 boat-train from Waterloo to Southampton. The train was just moving out of the station, and it was impossible for the detective to get in, but he ran along the platform by the side of the window, clearly identified his man, took the number of the carriage, and noticed which compartment it was, and immediately wired to Basingstroke, the first stopping place. When, however, the train arrived at this place the police, who had assembled on the platform, found no trace of the criminal. It was ascertained that the train had not pulled up once; the particular compartment was empty, but a thorough search was made throughout the train, it being thought that he might have changed carriages by the foot board. It is supposed that Winfield recognized the fact that he had been discovered at the last moment on his way to the Continent, and guessing that he would be arrested at Basingstroke, must have jumped off the train in a moment of desperation. Whether the unhappy man was killed or escaped remains a mystery, no trace of him having been discovered."

"What do you think of that!" said my mate.

"Well," I said, "I think he half deserved to escape on account of his pluck. And—well, he was the finest liar I've ever met!"

The fireman nodded his head slowly, and then said:

"Well, I had my doubts most of the time. He was too fine a liar for me!"
—Strand Magazine.

High Price for a Relic.

Numismatists have been greatly interested this week in the sale at auction of the remarkable collection of coins, known as the Montagu collection, including the famous Juxon medal, presented by Charles I. to Bishop Juxon on the scaffold, just before the former's execution. The bidding for this relic was of the liveliest description, and it was finally sold for $3850, said to be the highest price ever paid for a coin.—New York Post.

Pickling Weakens Iron.

Experiments indicate that iron is weakened by being pickled and galvanized. A dozen eyebolts, all alike, so far as could be perceived, were carefully selected; six of these were laid aside and the others galvanized. When the galvanized bolts were returned the twelve were tested, and it was found that the galvanized bolts were the ones to break; in no instance did the ungalvanized ones give way.—American Artisan.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

There are two kinds of women in this world; one kind sits and sighs silently about her wrongs, and the other storms and raves about her rights.

He who thinks he can find within himself the means of doing without others is much mistaken, but he who thinks that others cannot do without him is still more mistaken.

Wouldst thou rather be a peasant's son that knew, were it ever so rudely, there was a God in heaven and in man, or a duke's son that only knew there were two and thirty quarters on the family coach?

We must make people feel that heaven and hell are not places for drinking sweet wine or being broiled alive, some distance off, but they are here before us and within us, in the street and at the fireside.

People who make puns are like wanton boys that put coppers on the railroad tracks. They amuse themselves and other children, but their little trick may upset a freight train of conversation for the sake of a battered witticism.

The one fact in which all unavoidably agree is that we come into the world alone and we go out of the world alone and though we travel in company and make a great show of our fellowship and of bearing one another's burdens we carry our deepest burdens alone.

No employment can drag a true man to any lower level, but he may lift any honest, honorable employment to a higher level. The one great question which is of transcendent importance is—character. Take care of that and leave your reputation to take care of itself.

He is not rich that hath much, but he that hath enough; nor he indigent that hath little, but he that craves more. For we are not rich or poor, happy or unhappy, honorable or mean, so much according to the proportion of that which we possess as of that which we desire.—The South-West.

Need for Sleep.

By far the most important compensation for all effects of fatigue is sleep. Everybody, even the man mentally most inert, develops when awake a mass of mental effort which he cannot afford continuously without suffering. We need, therefore, regularly recurring periods in which the consumption of mental force shall be slower than the continuous replacement. The lower the degree to which the activity of the brain sinks then, the more rapid and more complete the recovery.

The mental vigor of most men is usually maintained at a certain height for the longest time in the forenoon. Evidences of fatigue come on later at that time of day than in the evening, when the store of force in our brain has been already considerably drawn upon by the whole day's work. If no recovery by sleep is enjoyed, or it is imperfect, the consequences will invariably make themselves evident the next day in a depression of mental vigor, as well as in a rise in the personal susceptibility to fatigue. The rapidity with which one of the persons I experimented upon could perform his tasks in addition sank about a third after a night journey by railway with insufficient sleep. Another experimenter could detect the effects of keeping himself awake all night in a gradual decrease of vigor lasting through four days. This observation was all the more surprising because the subject was not conscious of the long duration of the disturbance, and was first made aware of it incidentally by the results of continued measurements on the causes of the manifestations of fatigue.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Apple Era.

"Apples, apples, apples," is the cry of the season. Apples for indigestion, apples for the complexion, apples for insomnia, and ever more apples for everything. One man complains that after paying a big doctor's fee for advice concerning sleeplessness, his physician as a finalty said, "There is no better remedy for your complaint than eating a good juicy apple just before retiring. It is light, easily digested, and creates just the amount of heat in your stomach necessary to bring the blood from the brain and so promote restfulness in that busy organ."

A girl whose complexion has been a source of worry for months has the same experience to relate. "Use this lotion and these pills," says Esculapius, "but by no means omit eating a large apple three times a day; the malic acid contained in them is the best remedy for your trouble, and nature presents it in a most agreeable pill form."

At Boston dinner tables the apple is one of the accepted forms of decoration, and several small cut glass dishes of rosy-cheeked health producers are used to offset the mound of flowers in the center, and with it form the only spectacular adjuncts to the feast. Very pretty, too, they look, carrying back the fancy of the satiated diner-out to to the time—when an apple, fragrant, juicy, probably purloined from a forbidden orchard, formed the summum bonum of his existence.—Washington Star.

Denied Naturalization.

Sven Andreason applied for naturalization at Chicago the other day, and failed to get it for a curious reason. Andreason is a Norwegian, and insisted that his papers should record that he renounced allegiance to the "King of Norway and Sweden." The County Clerk declared that there is no such monarch, though there is a "King of Sweden and Norway." Official accuracy and National pride found themselves at odds, and as neither would yield Andreason was not admitted to citizenship.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The First Surname.

The first person in Great Britain credited with bearing a surname was John de Clavering, son of Robert Fitzroger, by command of King Henry I., by virtue of and from his barony of Clavering, in Essex. The father was owner of the baronies of Clavering and Warkworth. The oldest surnames in this country in Doomsday book are taken from places owned by the persons, with the addition of "de," as John de Clavering, Walter de Vernon, etc.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When your urine stains your linen it is evident you have kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate is convincing proof that your kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and book free mention this paper and send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., six cents in stamps to cover cost of postage.

Editor Labouchere of London Truth recently invited his readers to send in suggestions as to the best way to celebrate the completion of the sixtieth year of Queen Victoria's reign. The first suggestion received was: "Abdicate. Proclaim the British republic. Disestablish the state church. Abolish the House of Lords." How is this, coming from a monarchy?

A Chicago boy gets three months in the house of correction for stealing a collar button. More than one man has gone to a worse place forever through losing one.

Having seen a newspaper portrait of the late Sultan of Zanzibar, we cannot help feeling that justice has scored another touchdown in his case.

REPAIRING

Everything pertaining to bicycles and repairs kept in stock. The best workmen and finest materials in our repair department. Prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Inquiries solicited.

THE LOOSLEY CYCLE CO.,
Birmingham, Ala.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

FITS A Great Remedy Discovered. Send for Free package and let it speak for itself. Postage 5c. DR S. PERKEY, Chicago, Ills.

PATENTS 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U. S. Patent office.) DEANE & WEAVER, McGill Building, Washington, D. C.

RODS For tracing and locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or hidden treasures. M. D. FOWLER, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

180,000 Copies of Demorest's Magazine

THE increasing popularity of Demorest's Family Magazine, a popularity extending over thirty years, is ample proof that each succeeding year finds it improved in its vitality, beauty and attractiveness. There must be something in a magazine that increases its subscription list from 80,000 to 180,000 names (a clear gain of 100,000) in less than a year. Don't you think so?

READ THIS:

"Demorest's Magazine is a literary conservator of the artistic and the useful. Got up in America, where it has enormous sales, it is the most remarkable work of the class that has ever been published, and combines the attractions of several English magazines."—London Times.

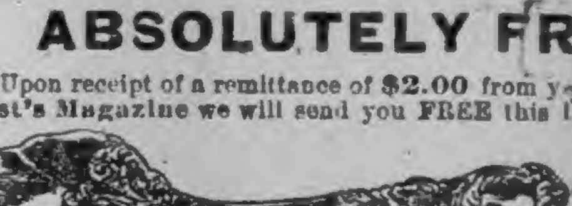
"We have received another number of this delightful magazine, and we find ourselves bound to reiterate with greater earnestness the high encomiums we have already pronounced on preceding numbers. We are not given to disparage unduly the literary and artistic publications which emanate from the London press, but we are bound, in simple fairness, to assert that we have not yet met with any publication pretending to a similar scope and purpose which can at all compare with this marvelous shilling's worth."—London Budget.

The American Bookseller says: "There are none of our monthlies in which the beautiful and the useful, pleasure and profit, fashion and literature are so fully presented as in Demorest's."

ABSOLUTELY FREE TO YOU.

Upon receipt of a remittance of $2.00 from you for one year's subscription to Demorest's Magazine we will send you FREE this beautiful Silver Sugar Shell as a Premium, and, in addition, you will receive a copy of Van Vredenburgh's exquisite oil painting, "Our Bench Show," representing a "yard" of playful puppies—shown above. The picture is 10x36 inches, and it is printed in 14 colors in the highest style of the plate-printers' art. You will say it is the cutest picture you have ever seen when it reaches you. It will be issued with the December number of the magazine.

This premium offer is only available to subscribers sending their subscriptions at once to us direct, using the order blank below, accompanied by a remittance of $2.00.



CUT HERE AND RETURN COUPON PROPERLY FILLED OUT.

Demorest Publishing Co., 110 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

For the enclosed $2.00 please send Demorest's Family Magazine for one year. Also the Silver Sugar Shell and Van Vredenburgh's oil-color, "Our Bench Show," picture offered by you as premiums.

Name..........

Post Office..........

Date.......... State..........

CCC HEAD ACHE this Morning.

Shows you did not take a tablet of Cascarets Candy Cathartic last evening. Cascarets prevent sour stomach, tone up the intestines, stimulate the liver, leave no chance for sick headaches in the morning. You eat them like candy, and they leave your breath sweet and fragrant. Better send out for a box right now, 10c., 25c., 50c., any drug store, or mailed for price. Write for booklet and free sample.

Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC Cure Constipation.

ADDRESS STERLING REMEDY COMPANY
CHICAGO;
MONTREAL, CAN.;
NEW YORK. 222

EVERY MAN HIS OWN DOCTOR

By J. Hamilton Ayers, A. M., M.D.

This is a most Valuable Book for the Household, teaching as it does the easily-distinguished Symptoms of different Diseases, the Causes, and Means of Preventing such Diseases, and the Simplest Remedies which will alleviate or cure.

598 PAGES,
PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The Book is written in plain every-day English, and is free from the technical terms which render most Doctor Books so valueless to the generality of readers. This Book is intended to be of Service in the Family, and is so worded as to be readily understood by all. Only

60 CTS. POST-PAID.

"Before and After Taking."

(The low price only being made possible by the immense edition printed). Not only does this Book contain so much Information Relative to Diseases, but very properly gives a Complete Analysis of everything pertaining to Courtship, Marriage and the Production and Rearing of Healthy Families; together with Valuable Recipes and Prescriptions, Explanations of Botanical Practice, Correct use of Ordinary Herbs. New Edition, Revised and Enlarged with Complete Index. With this Book in the house there is no excuse for not knowing what to do in an emergency. Don't wait until you have illness in your family before you order, but send at once for this valuable volume. ONLY 60 CENTS POST-PAID. Send postal notes or postage stamps of any denomination not larger than 5 cents.

BOOK PUBLISHING HOUSE 134 Leonard Street, N. Y. City.

LAKESHORE PRESS, BIRMINGHAM, ALA. 35209

WORK ORDER

MICROFILM DEPARTMENT

SAMFORD UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
800 Lakeshore Drive
Birmingham, Alabama 35209

7

220

[illegible] reproductions are made by the Samford University Library solely for the research or private study of the [illegible] copied, are not to be reproduced or distributed in full or in part, and no part of the photocopy will be [illegible] or use in his own works or elsewhere without the permission of the copyright owner. The applicant [illegible] liability for possible infringement of copyright or in the case of manuscripts literary property rights in [illegible] the materials or in the subsequent use of them.

[illegible] agrees to make proper acknowledgment to the publication from which the photocopy is made, or to the [illegible] in the case of manuscript material in its collections. He further agrees to secure permission from [illegible] to publish any part of such manuscript materials.

Microfilming—Xerox—Positive Prints—Photo Copies

Authorization Signature ______________________

No. M [illegible]